The Student Party will hold its first meeting of the quarter Monday night at 8:30 in Roland Parker lounges in Graham Memorial. Visitors and members are invited.

Veterans

All veterans, public law 550 and 346, who are entering the University for the first time this quarter must report to 315 South Building, if they haven't already done so.

When In Durham
VISIT
THE BOOK EXCHANGE
107 W. Chapel Hill St.
At 5 Points
Everything In Books

SAVE UP TO 50%
AND MORE
During Our January Clearance SALE on famous Brands of Clothing, Furnishings, and Shoes — Satisfaction Guaranteed on every purchase.
The Sport Shop
N. Columbia St.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR RENT

FOR RENT: ROOMS OR APARTment completely furnished by day or week. Phone 7456; 406 Camron Street.

FOR RENT OR FOR SALE. 5 room house, 32 Rogerson Drive. Call 9-5362 or 9-8687 after 5. (1-c3455-2)

LOST

GENEROUS REWARD FOR RETurn of family pet dog missing since December 16th from Greenwood Road, Chapel Hill. Medium sized male setter, dark brown with silver markings named "Pete". Reward for information as to whereabouts or facts. Call Schinhan, 9-1807, Chapel Hill. (1-c3454-2)

LOST: TOPCOAT, LEFT IN STUdent's car from Winston-Salem over holidays. Return to Bill Venable, 252 Cobb. N.C.

FOR SALE

VERY REASONABLE 1950 BUICK Special, 2-tone green. 4 Door. Contact John Rogers at Colonial Motors or Phone 9484. (Chg. 1x1)

1942 KOZY KOUCH TRAILER with room attached. Completely furnished. New Refrigerator; 2 yrs. old gas stove; new sink and tile; Contact John Manos, 96 UNC Trailer Court, Pittsboro Road.

ONE CUSHMAN MOTOR BIKE IN good condition for quick sale $75. Tel. no. 9-5638. (1-c3453-4)

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MASTER BRIDGE TEACHER available for lessons in Chapel Hill. Please call Mrs. Wade, 3661, Chapel Hill at once for reservations.

Gaiety Is Galore At Big ADPi Pledge Dance In Carolina Inn

A Mardi Gras atmosphere prevailed Friday night when Beta Upsilon chapter of Alpha Delta Pi presented its annual pledge dance at the Carolina Inn.

Music for the dance was provided by Jimmie Perkins and his orchestra. Decorations consisted of streamers of ivy and baskets of fern and woodwardia. An arrangement of blue and white carnations centered the punch table and a fan-shaped arrangement of white gladiolas was used on the bandstand.

Red and black silhouettes of each pledge were displayed on large white playing cards and hung along the columns. Two small colored boys acted as door marshalls and attended the pledges.

Following the formation of the figure, Lynda Vestal was presented the outstanding pledge award and Jett McFarland was named winner of the scholarship award. Favors presented to all pledges were small wooden paddles bearing the sorority crest.

Henry Cheney, Florence, Ala., served as master of ceremonies and announced pledgs as they formed the traditional diamond figure. Each girl carried a blue and white net muff covered with carnations.

Pledges introduced were the following:

Pat Bohnenkamp, St. Louis, Mo., with Reuben Leonard, Greensboro; Alyce Chapman, Blue field, W. Va., secretary, with George Heaton, Charlotte; Lynda Vestal, Liberty, social chairman, with Louie Simmons, Statesboro, Ga.; Letitia House, Beaufort, with Henry Knall, Lenoir; Mary Ann Russell, Charlotte, with Joe Mosier, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Norma King, Chapel Hill, with George McGinty, Chapel Hill; Ann Folger, High Point, with Bill Tuggle, DeRidder, La.; Kitty Lee, Lumberton, with Kenneth Pruitt, Winston-Salem; Betty Jean McFarland, Martinsville, Va., with Gene Bray, Reidsville; Mary Ammons, Mars Hill, with Brown Finch, Thomasville; Emily Adams Cook, Arlington, Va., with Stuart Goot Jr., Washington, D. C.

Betty Lou Wannamaker, Pickens, S. C. with Hartwell Conklin, Durham; Carolyn Johnson, Norfolk, Va., with Barry Pate, Canton; Betty Martin, High Point, with Bob Bundy, High Point; Frances Pickett, High Point, with Jack Hodgin, Thomasville; Nell Boone Crofton Wellington, Lumberton, with Tommy Wellington, Lumberton; Carolyn Hartford, Martinsville, Va. with Wayne Brown, Philadelphia, Pa.; Diana Pierce, Asheville, with Len Capel, Troy; Ann Jacobs, Chapel Hill, with Don Cheek, Shelby;

Thelma Souder, Westfield, N. J. with Clayton Boggan, Pee Dee; Billie Daniel, Waynesboro, Ga., with Charlie Macy, Morehead City; Phyllis Forrest, Hillsboro, with Donald Chanee, Hillsboro; Jean Ratliff, Chesterfield, S. C., with Bob Brannon, Charlotte; Carolina Traynham, Wilmington, with Fred Lee Block, Wilmington; Mary Leigh Hendee, Atlanta, Ga., with Jerry McMahan, Asheville; Mary Bascom Cook, Highlands, with John McKaskill, Durham; Martha Reeves, Thomaston, Ga., with George McKinney, Marshall; and Pat Seawell, Winston-Salem, with Baxter Miller, Durham.

Invited guests for the evening included Mrs. R. H. Wettach, Miss Katherine K. Carmichael, campus housemothers, sorority, Stray Greek, and Independent Coeds presidents. Assisting ADPi's in serving was their housemother, Mrs. Susie Dade.

KPsi Dance, Banquet Given At Country Club

Beta XI chapter of Kappa Psi pharmaceutical fraternity highlighted its pledge weekend with a formal dance and banquet last night at the Chapel Hill country club.

UNC Director of Admissions Roy Armstrong was guest speaker at the banquet which immediately preceded the dance. Dance music was furnished by Buddy Klein and his Statesmen.

Foliage studded with white candles decorated mantles of the clubroom and red carnations were arranged on each table. Favors of miniature beer mugs were presented to the fraternity's 17 pledges.

Steve Perrow, Bedford, Va., Kappa Psi president, acted as master of ceremonies for the evening. He announced the following pledges and their dates who took part in the figure at 10:30: Lionel Perkins, South Boston, Va., pledge president, with Ann Ritch, Charlotte; Bobby Matthews, Morehead City, vice president, with Joyce Marianna Walder, Raleigh; James W. Anderson, Durham, with Margaret Thompson, Wilmington.

Bob Coleman, Burlington, with Dean Stadler, Burlington; Phil Thomas, Roxboro, with Beth Lloyd, Chapel Hill; Steve Roberts, Marshall, with Woody Trosper, Greensboro; John Mills, Cliffside, with Barbara Sparks, Cliffside; Roy C. Shepherd, Lexington, with Joanne Ripple, Drapery.

David Hix, Harmony, with Viola Casey, Lexington; Jerry D. Rhoades, Robbins, with Sylvia McLeod, Southern Pines; Wayne Polk, Marshville, with Doris Thomas, Marshville; Wiley Harrell, Virginia Beach, with Virginia Ann Turlington, Dunn; Don Raper, Lucama, with Lois Barefoot, Benson; Hal Paderick, Kinston, with Mrs. Paderick; Walter Saunders, Thomasville, with Barbara Adams, Murphey; Russell Mitchell, Roseboro, with Anita Anderson, Wilmington;

Following the dance, breakfast was served at the Kappa Psi house. Chaperones for the evening were Dr. Fred Semeniuk, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hammerness and Mr. and Mrs. John Andrako.

--BA School--

(Continued from page 1)

first home, the school was moved to Saunders Hall and finally in 1928, Bingham Hall was erected for the exclusive use of students of business and econmics.

The strong pre-war trena toward professional business training was accentuated by the unprecedented increase in enrollment following World War II. Two temporary structures were erected to take care of the overflowing demands for space, and plans were made for another expansion.

FEAST OF LIGHTS

The annual Feast of Lights service will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Episcopal Church, as an observance of the epiphany season. All are welcome to participate in this service.

The Canterbury Club will meet tonight in the Parish House at 6 o'clock for supper, followed by a talk by Chancellor T. R. Milford of Lincoln Cathedral, Lincoln, England. The meeting will be over in time to attend the Feast of Lights.

BIBLE STUDY

A YWCA Bible Study Group meets tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the Y. All those interested are invited to participate in a discussion of "Corinthians, I."

CPU

The Carolina Political Union will hold its first meeting of this quarter tonight at 8 in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial to discuss "Limitation of Debate in the U.S. Senate". All interested persons are invited.

MEMORIES OF AN OLD TIME TAR HEEL
By U.N.C.'s Own Kemp Plummer Battle
NOW ONLY
$1.00
The Intimate Bookshop
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

—PLUS—
Latest News
TODAY AND MONDAY
Carolina

STARTS TODAY
For 3 Hilarious Days
Varsity

Sutton's Annual Cosmetic
SALE!
"VALUES GALORE ALL OVER THE STORE"

Dorothy Gray SPECIALS
$2.25 Value
Dry Skin Mixture only $1.00
$4.00 Value
Dry Skin Mixture only $1.75
$2.00 Value
Blustery Weather Lotion only $1.00
$2.00 Value
Dry Skin Lotion only $1.00

TUSSY SPECIALS
$2.00 WIND AND WEATHER
Hand Cream or Lotion only $1.00
$1.00 WIND AND WEATHER
Hand Lotion Only 50c
BEAUTY PLUS
Cream or Lotion Half Price
$1.50 TAJAMINA
Dusting Powder Only 75c

$1.00 Virginia Parks Stick Dorderant only 59c
98c Perfection Hand Cream only 69c
89c Perfection Hand Cream Only 69c
69c Maybloom Bubble Bath now while they last – 2 for 70c
89c Formula 20 Liquid Cream Shampoo with egg and lanolin – A $1.78 value – now 2 for only $1.29
Hinds Honey and Almond Cream Lotion with purse dispenser – $1.49 value – now only 98c
The Big 6 Comb – 98c value package of combs for only 23c
$3.75 Dermetics Hormone Lotion Special set for Only ... $1.95

—These Items Are Not Being Limited So First Come First Served While Supply Lasts—

THE TAR HEEL'S DRUG CENTER
Sutton's DRUG STORE
Rx SPECIALISTS
COSMETICS-MEN'S TOILETRIES-SICK ROOM SUPPLIES
5531 - COMPLETE FOUNTAIN SERVICE - JUST ACROSS FRANKLIN

U N C LIBRARY
Serials Dept
UNC Lib

WEATHER
Fair and rather cold with 56 high. Yesterday's high, 47; low, 25.

The Daily Tar Heel

TATUM
Sports Editor Roberts says an alumnus will return. See p. 3.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 72 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

Cordon Will Direct New Music Agency

DURHAM—The board of trustees of Watts Hospital has expressed approval of a proposal to use the old Watts Home here as an Institute of Opera or Music.

The institute will be operated under the University of North Carolina Extension Division and as headquarters for the North Carolina Symphony Society.

If present plans materialize, the institute will be headed by Norman Cordon, former Metropolitan Opera star who now is director of the North Carolina Music Program of the Extension Division of the University.

Contacted regarding the plans, Cordon said yesterday that although private donations have been given toward establishing the musical institute, appropriation by the State Legislature is needed to provide enough money.

Cordon said that sometime within coming weeks, he and others will appear before the Legislature's Appropriations Committee to request an amoun,t not yet determined, for the institute.

He said that if the Legislature appropriates the money needed, the money will not be available until next July, at the start of another fiscal year.

The building is "ideally suited" for a musical institute, Cordon said. He expressed the belief that no alterations will be necessary before the institute is established.

Headquarters of the Symphony Society are now located in Swain Hall in Chapel Hill. Dr. Benjamin F. Swalin is conductor of the Symphony.

In the event that the Symphony's headquarters are moved to the Watts Home, only the business phase of the group's activities will be conducted there. There will be no Symphony musical rehearsals.

Mrs. Herbert Fox, chairman of a Watts Hospital board committee said yesterday that since the building could not be used for any hospital functions, and since efforts had failed to sell it for a suitable purpose and reasonable price, the board felt that "a cultural use such as this would be ideal."

NORMAN CORDON

Glen Lennox Grade School Due By June

The Glenwood elementary school near Glen Lennox, is about half complete and probably will be finished by the end of the school year.

This was the essence of a report made to the School Board a last week's meeting. Board Chairman Carl Smith said that despite bad-weather holdups, the construction of the $165,000 six-class-room school is still going ahead of schedule.

The walls of the modernistic one-story building are up an work on the roof is expected to start soon. Although the board has been concerned over the possible steel shortage, it was reported that metal door and window frames and structural roof beams have been received and are ready for installation.

The Community Athletic Council, composed of interested Rotary and Kiwanis Club members, has embarked on a $2,000 improvements program in the high school athletic building.

They are using the money, most of which was raised from contributions, to install a steam boiler and a hot-air blower heating system in the building, which has never been adequately heated, officials say. At the same time the school board is having the basketball court floor rpeaired and the underpinning of the building strengthened.

In addition, the boiler in the shop building of the high school is being replaced and is expected to be ready in a few days. Recently the boiler blew up and nearly destroyed the building. The entire loss—estimated at $1,200—was covered by insurance.

At Lincoln High School the roof on the two-year old building is been. Officials reported the roof had ing taken off and a new one put leaked in a number of spots ever since the building was occupied.

Many Helped At Notre Dame By University

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 12—(Special)—A tradition founded on the University of Notre Dame campus over a hundred years ago makes it possible for present-day students to "pay-as-you-go" by holding full and part-time pobs.

A recent survey showed that one out of seven undergraduate students is working his way through school.

Students are employed by business and industry in the city as well as on the campus. Jobs range from motion-picture operators to hunters of bird specimen for the biology department. Night watchmen for 50 of the college buildings are drawn from the student body, as are editors of student publications, photographers, campus letter-carriers and swimming pool lifeguards.

The university employs student busboys, dishwashers and waiters in the dining room.

Despite the numerous opportunities for student employment officials reported that there are always more applicants than jobs. The university is required to select those to be employed.

Notre Dame's student employment tradition was begun in 1845 by the Rev Edward Sorrin, founder of the university.

ASKING QUESTIONS

Beginning Friday, The Daily Tar Heel will start a weekly campus opinion survey edited by Dave Herbert.

Herbert, junior from Rocky Mount, will interview students on pertinent topics affecting the campus, state, and nation.

Any student who has a question he wants Herbert to use, should send it in to: Dave Herbert, Daily Tar Heel Inquiring Reporter, Box 1080, Chapel Hill.

Grants Allow Foeign Study By Graduates

A brocure listing nearly 200 fellowship opportunities for American students to study abroad during the 1953-54 academic year were issued this week by the Institute of International Education.

The awards, which are largely for graduate study, are offered to American students by private organizations and by foreign governments and universities. Most of the awards are for study in European and Latin American universities. Grants are also available, however, at the University of Ceylon and at the University of Teheran.

In announcing the opening of the competition for these fellowships, the Institute of International Education emphasized the fact that although a good knowledge of the language of the country is a prerequisite, the awards are not limited to the study of languages and

(See GRANTS, Page 2)

Town Will Add More Phones

By Jim Wilkinson

Chapel Hill will get 600 new telephone lines by July and this should considerably ease the local jam, a telephone official said yesterday.

Installation of the lines will begin when the equipment arrives in April, the official said.

The town, campus included, now has 1,600 lines serving approximately 4,700 customers or stations. That averages a little less than three phones to a line.

With the arrival of more lines, first consideartion will be given persons who have applied for phones. There is a backlog of 250 such requests now on file. Secondarily, it will relieve the congestion of two and three-party lines After filling both these orders, telephone officials believe they will still have half capacity left for future expansion.

The equipment under order is of the intertoll dialing type which allows cross-country calls without the assistance of an operator. This doesn't mean that the intertoll system will go into effcet with the arrival of this equipment. It does mean that when this section of the country switches to that system, Chapel Hill will have the necessary equipment.

It doesn't mean, either, that there will be any change in the policy of placing telephones on the first and third floors only of dormitories. That, according to the phone official, was a decision reached some years ago by a meeting of dormitory managers. The reason is simply one of dollars and cents. As one-party lines, these phones cost $4 a month each. Another phone would only raise the dormitory fee by that amount.

"KOREA JOE"—OFFICIALLY Republic of Korea Cpl. Lee Yong Suk—is tended by a ROK medic at a rear area hospital near Pusan, Korea. Korea Joe is the second quadruple amputee of the Korean conflict. Members of the 27th "Wolfhound" Regiment, with which Korea Joe served, have asked that he be admitted to a United States Army Hospital, so that he can receive better treatment.—NEA Telephoto.

Some 19-Year-Olds In State's Feb. Draft Call

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(Special)—Approximately one out of every 13 men to be drafted from North Carolina in February will be 19-year-olds, a survey showed today.

The survey indicated that North Carolina is one of at least a dozen states in which this age group will be affected. While the number of 19-year-olds among the 53,000 to be drafted throughout the country in February will not be large, no exact figure could be arrived at because a number of state directors said they didn't know.

The present draft age is 18½ to 26. Since inductions started in 1948, draft boards have been taking the oldest men registered first. Now they have worked down from the 26 to the 20-year-olds and have drafted, deferred, exempted or rejected almost all the men between those ages.

Questioned about the survey's result, Brig. Gen. Louis H. Renfro, deputy director of national

(See DRAFT, Page 2)

Dean Phillips Gives Advice To Educators

The Dean of the School of Education, in an address in Plymouth last night, called for a "clearer identification of the problems in public education." He emphasized that members of the profession of education must assume their share in creating high professional standards of performance and integrity.

Addressing the Albemarle Schoolmaster's Club in Plymouth, Dean Guy B. Phillips said that teachers and administrators need to force out of the profession those who fail to live up to its high standards of performance and leadership.

The Albemarle group is composed of school personnel and 15 administrative units in northeastern North Carolina.

Discussing the problems facing education today, Dean Phillips cited the potential school population, which he said is a major concern and criticism against public education, which he said has been increased by the lack of understanding on the part of intelligent and loyal citizens.

School personnel, Dean Phillips suggested, stands in a key position to do something about these problems. "There is some evidence," he said, "to indicate that professional leadership has been limiting itself to a defense of educational activities rather than preparing a strong offense of great vision and creativeness.

GEORGES BIDAULT has been named to succeed Robert Schuman as French Foreign Minister. Premier Rene Mayer made the change in a step toward forming the new cabinet.—NEA Telephoto.

UN Committee Plans Session

The committee on the United Nations will meet in the upstairs dining room of Lenoir Hall at 1 o'clock tomorrow.

Featured will be further planning of the proposed model General Assembly and a chairman's report of the recent trip to UN headquarters in New York.

Those notified of the model assembly before Christmas are requested ot attend or send representatives. Other persons interested also are invited to participate

Religion Study Will Be Topic In YW Panel

Students interested in finding out more about other peoples' religions and their own have an opportunity to do so today in the second discussion of a series on American religions sponsored by the YWCA.

The Rev. Maurice Kidder, minister of the Church of the Holy Family, is the moderator of the lecture-discussion, which will be held each Tuesday afternoon, 4 to 5:30, in the YWCA Cabinet room. Mr. Kidder formally taught Religion 91 in the Religion Department here.

According to Jane Berryhill, chairman of the Christian Faith and Heritage Commission of the YWCA which has headed the arrangements for these discussions the first meeting last Tuesday afternoon was a "phenomenal success" coming out of the "desires and efforts of interested students."

Miss Berryhill said any person of any religion with questions in his mind about the religions of America will get "a great deal" from this series.

The topic for discussion this afternoon is "The Old Testament Background for Judean Christian Tradition."

Scabbard And Blade

A meeting of the Scabbard and Blade will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Naval Armory. Uniforms are required.

Carolina's NSA Affiliation Is In For Caustic Comment By Horton

By Louis Kraar

Carolina's affiliation with the National Student Association is in for caustic comment by President Ham Horton in his Thursday Legislature address, he hinted yesterday.

"I can't make any comment on NSA until Thuraday," said Horton in answer to queries concerning his opinions of the group. He has in the past, however, indicated that he does not agree with the policy of the National Student Association, commnoly known by the initials NSA.

NSA is a national college organizatino that acts as a clearing house for ideas on student governments and expresses an official voice in other organizations for students.

The committee representing NSA on campus has been relatively inactive thus far this school year. Wood Smethurst, chairman of the campus committee, has neither outlined any plan nor reported on any committee meetings.

Horton also commented on the check cashing service that student government "established" in Lenoir Hall saying, "I

(See NSA, Page 2)

State Is Set To Cut Student Union Off Budget This Week

By John Jamison

The Legislature appears almost certain to by-pass the University's request for big permanent improvements in Chapel Hill—an auditorium-armory and a student union building—when it divides up the State's money this week.

"The Advisory Budget Commission made its recommendations on the basis of the immediate needs of the State," David S. Coltrane, assistant director of the budget, said last night.

By implication, this means the September budget request from the Consolidated University was the object of considerable hacking by the advisory group.

Coltrane continued, "The Legislature will take up Governor Umstead's plea for a 10 per cent salary increase for State employees retroactive to July. This will involve about $41 million, and that kind of takes up the surplus." The state has a surplus now of about $40,000,000.

"There is not too much left over for permanent improvements," he said.

Coltrane and others conferred last night to set a definite time for presentation of the budget book. It was originally expected that the book would be taken up last night or tonight. However, the legislative schedule has been upset by Governor Umstead's heart attack yesterday.

An interesting sidelight to the disposition of State funds is Coltrane's recent return to authority. After a falling out with Governor Kerr Scott last June, he was stripped of most of the duties of his office. Coltrane, it seems, refused to support the Scott gubernatorial candidate, Hubert Olive.

One of Governor Umstead's first moves after the inauguration was to assure Coltrane that once again he was in the good graces of the administration. It is not known what Coltrane intends to do about the $3,460 in back pay he has left in the paymaster's care since Scott slapped his wrists.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

DURHAM—Gov. William B. Umstead's personal physician said yesterday that the Governor had suffered a mild heart attack and that his condition is much improved since he was admitted to Watts Hospital Sunday morning. The physician, Dr. Ralph G. Fleming, said that because of the heart attack, Governor Umstead was inaugurated last week in ceremonies at the State Capitol.

★

SEOUL—United Nations troops battered back three separate attacks by 1,500 Communists on the eastern front yesterday, killing 260 enemy soldiers participating in the heaviest Red attack of the year. At the same time Allied warplanes stepped up their three-day pounding of vital Red supply routes north of Sinanju. Chinese communists also threw an unsuccessful 2'0-mah attack against two allied advance positions west of Chorwon on the central front.

★

WASHINGTON—The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee yesterday urged further investigation of Red influences in the nation's schools and colleges and said there are "many hundreds of teachers who are Communists." The subcommittee said is has turned up evidence from all parts of the country on Communist penetration of colleges, high schools and elementary schools. During its public hearings in New York City last September and October, the group said, it became apparent it could only survey the situation in a broad fashion and submit an interim report to the new Congress.

★

WASHINGTON—Relief from bitter wintery storms came to most of the North yesterday but the East, still reeling under a week-end barrage of snow and ice, got another blanket of white. The Weather Bureau said rain or snow was reported from North Carolina to Maine yesterday morning, with the snow being confined to areas from New York northward. Snow and freezing temperatures made highway travel hazardous in western North Carolina yesterday.

★

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—The fate of a C-46 transport plane, missing since early last Wednesday in the wild, rugged country in the vicinity of the Utah-Wyoming-Idaho boundaries, remained a mystery yesterday as searchers prepared to cover the region for the sixth straight day. Several seemingly red-hot tips on the possible location of the missing aircraft have been thoroughly investigated without turning up any trace of the plane.

DR. ARCHIBALD HENDERSON

Dr. Henderson Will Address Phi Tonight

Dr. Archibald Henderson, mathematician, expert on North Carolina history and official biographer of George B. Shaw, will address the inaugural session of the Philanthropic Assembly tonight on the topic "Education—A Contemporary Review."

New officers for the quarter will be installed during the session, which begins at 8 o'clock.

Sol Cherry, as speaker of the Assembly, will deliver the inaugural address. Officers to be sworn in are Frank Roberts, speaker protempore; Wade Mathews, parliamentarian; Ham Horton, critic; Jack West, sergeant-at-arms; Syd Shuford, treasurer, and Don Angel, clerk.

A briet reception will be held following Dr. Henderson's address.

Chem Grants For Graduates

The University will receive new fellowships or grants in chemistry for the next academic year, it was announced yesterday.

The new program intended primarily to assist and advance the teaching of chemistry in American colleges and universities will be begun by the DuPont Company next fall.

Graduate fellowships offered here provide $1,500 for an unmarried fellow or $2,000 for a married man, $1,200 to support his work, and payment of tuition and fees.

RING SALE

Seniors and second quarter juniors may order official UNC class rings in the Y lobby from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. on Thursday.

Rings ordered now will be delivered in approximately eight weeks.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Delaine Bradsher | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgr. — Ned Beeker
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Joe Raff.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Buzzy Shull, Buddy Harper, Eleanor Saunders, Judy Taylor, Bozy Sugg, Nancy Perryman.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Alice Chapman, Jane Carter, Nina Gray, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jess Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Jay Zimmerman.

SPORTS STAFF—Vandy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, Charlie Dunn.

Night Editor for this issue: Everett Parker.

The Modern Federalist

ARTICLE II

So we have a United Nations. So what? Is it not doomed because of its own ineffectiveness, just like the League of Nations?

No, the United Nations is not doomed. Nor is it ineffective. Many major disputes have been settled by the UN, and if nothing else in the deadlock in Korea and in other major East-West issues the UN has acted as brakes from all-out war, and has afforded both sides TIME, time to cool off and compromise. No. On the contrary, the United Nations is growing stronger, gaining more support. Even the League of Nations, ,the Kellogg-Briands Peace Pact, etc. were not total failures and even supplied groundwork to the present UN. Similarly the present UN is good ground-wdork for a stronger UN. Unfortunately, these things need time to gain strength and support.

Today America is in a rather unique position. Whichever way we decide to vote in the UN, a large majority of nations will consistently fall in line and vote as we vote. Russia has a smaller bloc of supporrt herself. Yet neither America nor Russia will take steps to strengthen the UN, even though both nations know that these are countless smaller nations actually anxious to vote with them to strrengthen the UN. Why doesn't America lead the way? A curious dilemna exists. Most of our diplomats know that we should, and indeed would like to strengthen the UN, but FEAR, immediate fear, and lack of adequate enthusiasm and support from Americans at home, prevent them from taking the best steps.

American fears the immediate situation with Russia, just as Russia fears us. We know we now out-power Russia, but we fear we may not if we release our military and economic strength to th eUN. This fear is real and well-founded, but seems to me destined to lead us to tragedy in this atomic and hydrogen age.

Yet from the above it seems clear that if we get the United States to make the initial lead, the majority of the world will follow suit, and Russia and the minority block would he forced to fall in line or face the wrath of a free world. And America will be in the glamorous position of having led the world to a stronger United Nations and to means thereby of relieving international tensions.

Damn The Torpedoes, The Atom Bombs?

If the United States should take the lead to strengthen the UN—such as committing ourselves and all member nations to give full economic and military aid, if necessary, to enforce UN decisions about international disputes, for example—what will be the consequences? What will be the cost to American soverignty, to our national traditions and prestige and integrity? In short, what will we love and what will we gain by making the UN stronger?

We will lose much (although not as much as many claim), and we will not get the heaven-on-earth many dreamers insist we will. All we will get is a world (literally) of responsibility, tremendous moral

(See FEDERALISTS, Page 4)

3-10

HORIZONTAL
1. the heart
4. piece of property
9. dry, as wine
12. imitate
13. defaces
14. argument for
15. small valleys
17. adding pieces for enlargement
19. drudges
21. asterisk
22. seed integument
24. severe
27. appearance
29. church recesses
31. bombycid moth
32. annex
33. hits with open hand
34. father
35. symbol for neon
36. metric cubic unit
37. sapient
38. compound ether
40. stories
42. harvest
44. knave
47. breed of dog
50. the theater
51. restrict
52. food fish
54. city in Brazil
55. yelp
56. facing glacier movement
57. put on

VERTICAL
1. despicable fellows
2. iridescent gem
3. told
4. donkeys
5. therefore
6. small drink
7. nome of Greece
8. African flies
9. steeple
10. eagle
11. tooth of a wheel
16. equal
18. feline animals
20. insipid
23. asunder
25. narrow inlets
26. knob
27. horse's neck hair
28. March date
30. pointed weapon
33. connecting bodies of water
34. throw away
36. observed
37. the Occident
39. vagrant
41. endures
43. saucy
45. exchange premium
46. masculine name
47. timorous
48. edible green seed
49. game of chance
53. personal pronoun

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

T	A	P		I	C	E	D		R	A	T	E
A	L	E		R	U	S	E		E	T	O	N
C	O	N	V	E	R	S	E		A	T	E	S
T	E	N	A	N	T		R	I	S	E
			S	E	A	S		N	O	N	C	E
P	E	A	T		I	M	P	E	N	D	E	D
A	I	M		S	N	A	R	E		E	R	E
C	R	E	V	A	S	S	E		I	D	E	S
T	E	N	O	N		H	A	T	S
		D	I	E	S		C	R	A	V	E	S
A	L	E	C		E	T	H	E	R	E	A	L
F	I	R	E		A	R	E	S		I	S	O
T	E	S	S		L	I	D	S		L	E	E

3-10

Average time of solution: 21 minutes.
Distributed by King Features Syndicate

On Other Campuses

Several students at Southern California were caught recently dancing the "Cemetery Drag" in a graveyard. The students told police they went in for tombstone tangos and some beer drinking just for sport.

Business manager at the University of California is looking for his raincoat. Last week as a representative of the administration he attended the student discussion of the honor system. At the end of the meeting his raincoat was gone. He ascribes the disappearance not to the dishonesty of anyone attneding the honor session, but to a "mistake."

The engineering school at Tennessee has invented an ingenious device for student aid. Studnts press a button on their desk when they don't understand what's going on, and an electronic device lights up on the professor's desk. There is no excuse for a misunderstanding now but who will have time to take notes.

With final exams near at hand on some campuses, students working under the honor system must again make ready for the superme test—the test of personal integrity.

Here's what some college newspapers have to say about this test:

The Baylor Lariat—"Most of us watch people cheat, get hopping mad, but don't do anything about it except sit around and gripe. Some say they don't want to be a tattle-tale; all right, had you rather report them or sit around the rest of the quarter and watch them cheat all the time causing your grade to be lower.

"We must decide for ourselves. If we want the honor system to work, we must be the ones to make it workable."

The Tulane Hullabaloo — "If there is no honor system at Tulane, it is because there is no honor. If there is no honor it is the students' fault.

"The teachers have caught on. There is cheating, often obvious cheating . . . If the students won't stop it the school must.

"Therefore it is the duty of every student . . . to find this honor, or it is his duty to ask that the honor system be abolished so that he may be protected against himself like the intellectual midget that he is."

The Postscript, Richmond Professional Institute — "Cheating is the easy way of doing things, but it helps no one . . . Most of us would not take money or an article from a fellow student. Why steal his thoughts?"

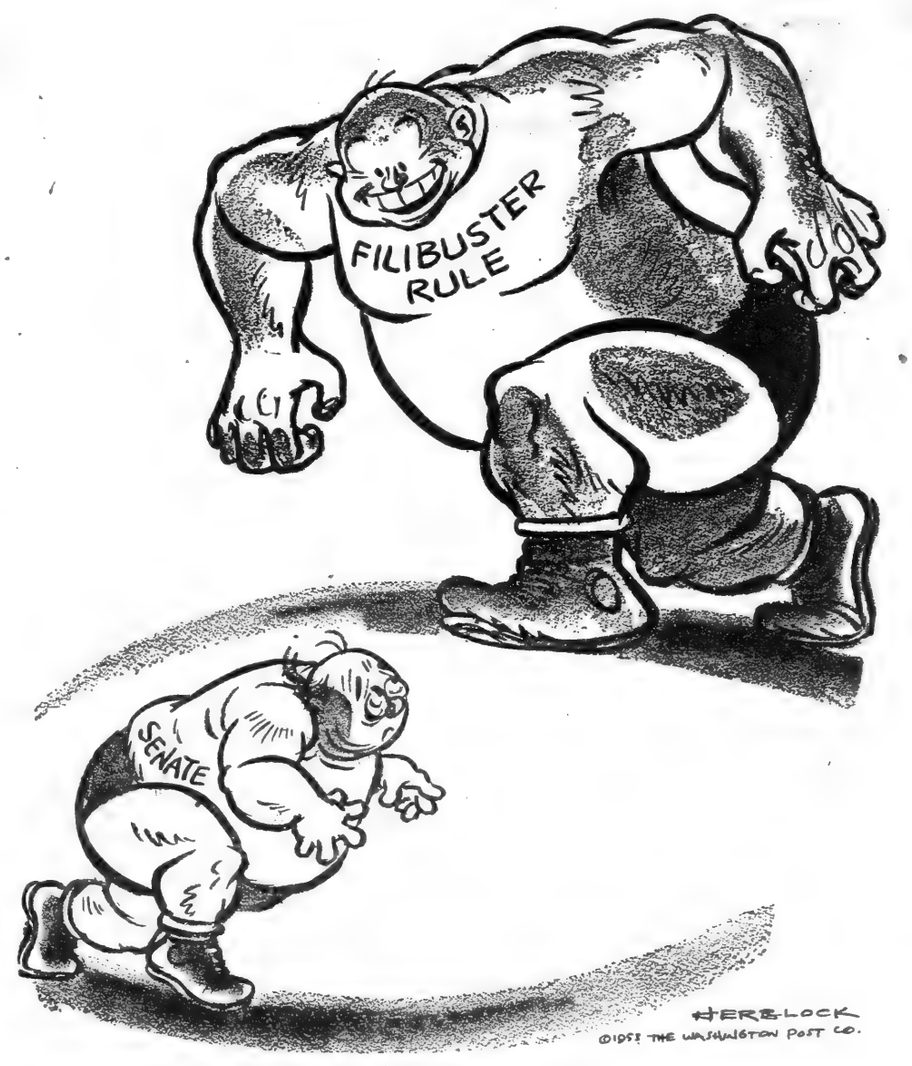
STUDENT IS MORE SERIOUS NOW THAN 50 YEARS AGO

NEW YORK, N. Y.—(I.P.) — The college student of today is a good deal more serious than his grandfather was 50 years ago. That's the conclusion of Dr. William L. Prager, who recently retired afte ra half-century of teaching chemistry at the City College of New York.

Reviewing their activities, Professor Prager decided that college students of 50 years ago were more boisterous than the present day crop, "panty raids" and similar exhibitions notwithstanding." Dr. Prager believes that "the modern college student is less naive than his predecessor and he approaches his work with greater strength of purpose."

Professor Pager finds that the relationship between student and professor has undergone considerable change during the last fifty years. "In my student days at CCNY, "he recalls, "the faculty was steeped in the West Point tradition and its members were strict disciplinarians.

"Today," he finds, "the relations between students and teacher are decidedly more friendly. And it's a change for the better I think, because more is accomplished by everyone in such an atmosphere."



-- Grants --

(Continued from Page 1)

literature. Suggested fields of study in the sciences, the humanities, and the social sciences are given with the listing of grants.

General eligibility requirements for the majority of the grants are (1(U. S. citizenship; (2) a Bachelor's degree; (3) a good academic record and (4) a good knowledge of the language of the country of study. The closing date for applications for grants given by the French government is February 1; for most of the other grants the closing date is March 1.

"Shall We Dance?"

DREW PEARSON

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON.—The man who will collect your taxes in the Eisenhower administration, who will partially determine how much those taxes are, and who will have a major voice in the question of inflation, deflation, loans to Europe and borrowings at nome, is a modest, unpublicized businessman from Cleveland, Ohio.

George M. Humphrey, the new Secretary of the Treasury, is chairman of seven big corporations, president of three, and on the board of directors of 34. They total assets of $2,600,000,000—almost as much as the national budget prior to the Roosevelt administration.

Looking over Mr. Humphrey's record and his prospective colleagues in the cabinet, you come to this conclusion: Gen. Eisenhower has picked a conservative businessman's cabinet, but he has picked the first team.

The general caliber of his appointees is far ahead of other GOP administrations under Hoover, Coolidge, Harding. And if a conservative government does not survive in this country it will not be because Eisenhower has picked second-raters.

He is definitely going to bat with the first team. And the next four years under it will be among the most important in recent history. They will also be extremely important—and fascinating—to watch.

Big Holding Company

The new Secretary of the Treasury typifies the first team. With almost no fanfare, he has built up one of the bigger holding corporations of the nation. The M. A. Hanna Company, which he heads; controls the biggest coal company in the world, steamship companies, steel mills, rayon factories, vast ore deposits, a sugar company, and one of the biggest banks in Cleveland.

This background has the advantage of bringing great ability to government, but it also puts a cabinet member under constant fire for possible favors to his own far-flung companies. In the past three weeks, for instance, two companies owned by the future Secretary of the Treasury received tax write-offs of more than $22,000,000.

One tax write-off was on an iron ore project in Dickinson County, Michigan, on which the Hanna Coal and Ore Co. got a 75 per cent tax amortization on a $11,345,000 investment. The other was a 70 per cent write-off on $22,00,000 to the Hanna Coal and Ore Co. in Douglas County, Ore., for ferro-nickel facilities.

Fortunately for Mr. Humphrey, these txa concessions were granted by a Democratic administration. But later, when he becomes Secretary of the Treasury, and when his many companies and their subsidiaries come up for government benefits, as is inevitable, the situation may prove embarrassing.

This is one reason why Senator Byrd of Virginia, no critic of either Eisenhower or big business, wants to question Ike's cabinet officers regarding their enterprises and get a record of their investments.

No one quite like Humphrey has sat in the cabinet since the days of Andrew W. Mellon. Born in Michigan 63 years ago, Humphrey began life as a small town Michigan lawyer, came to Cleveland where he joined the M. A. Hanna Company, founded by the famous—sometimes infamous—Ohio political boss who was the power behind President McKinley. At that time the Hanna Company was primarily engaged in hauling ore down from the Mesabi Range in great lakes ore boats and delivering it to the steel companies of Ohio and Pnensylvania.

Humphrey, however, saw no reason why his company should not process the ore as well as deliver it; so, just before the depression, he put together the National Steel Company. There couldn't have a worse time to start a new steel company. Nevertheless, National Steel not only weathered the storm better than any other steel company, but was generally admitted to have been ablest managed.

About this time it became ap that George Humphrey had an extraordinary gift for judgment. In fact, some of his competitors claimed it was a gift of prophecy.

During the depression, for instance, the most profitable part of the average steel company was the tin-plate division. And National Steel, of all the steel companies, had the greatest percentage of tin-plate capacity Humphrey had built the company with the tin-plate shortage in mind.

"I don't work here! I just got tired of waiting!"

-- NSA --

(Continued from Page 1)

realize that Lenoir has been cashing checks all quarter, but this establishes for students a time saving procedure.

When Legislature convenes for its opening meeting Thursday night, Horton's administration's views on a legislative policy will be disclosed. Meantime, key members of both parties seemed to think that Horton might urge disaffiliation from NSA. None would be quoted though.

It is generally believed that objections to NSA stem from disagreement wiht policies of certain organizations that it is associated with. Among these are the American Civil Liberties Union and the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students.

Carolina's NSA dues are $177 a year.

-- Draft --

(Continued from Page 1)

selective service, said:

"You've got more information on this than I have. Our records are almost always a month or so behind. But, I don't find the results at all surprising. We had expected all along that almost every state would be taking 19-year-olds in April."

U N C LIBRARY

Council To Meet; Tatum Seems Choice

Down In Front

BY BIFF ROBERTS

COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT

CAROLINA'S ATHLETIC COUNCIL will meet tonight in Woollen Gym and there's a good chance that Carolina fans who have been driven by wild speculation ever since Carl Snavely resigned the post, will get some idea as to who the new football coach will be. There may be no definite decision made tonight but there's little doubt that the announcement will come sometime in the immediate future.

Athletic Director Chuck Erickson returned from the NCAA meeting in Washington over the weekend completely talked out. His interviewing of prospective coaches was an extensive job and left him with a rasping voice and all these interviews added confusion to the Tar Heel coaching picture rather than clearing it up for after one of his meetings the name of Stu Holcombe, presently at Purdue was thrown into the picture.

Undoubtedly Erickson cut his list after those Washington interviews but there still seems to be some doubt in the minds of the Athletic drummers as to who will be the next coach. Of course, you continue to hear the name of Maryland's Jim Tatum. He has been mentioned prominently since Snavely resigned and while others have fallen by the side he has maintained his original popularity and has even increased it in some quarters. At the present time it seems that those who have the best chance for the job are Tatum, Holcombe, and George Barclay, Snavely's assistant during the past season.

RATIN' TATUM

ALL THREE HAVE PROVEN their ability as coaches but from here it seems that Tatum has the advantage. The ex-Tar Heel player and coach has had a rapid rise in the past few years. He built the Oklahoma football machine up and then handed the reins to Bud Wilkinson. His next move sent him to Maryland. The success of the Terps in the past three years is well known in the Southern Conference and the nation.

Tatum is the most controversial of the three candidates and there's no secret that he is violently opposed by some alumni. He has been criticized for popping off during speeches and off the cuff interviews which somehow appear in print the next day. This talent for talking has hurt him a lot and his friends and closest sympathizers have cringed many times in the past when he has spieled forth.

But there have also been those who have judged the "Bull" too harshly. The basic requirement for football coach is that he be able to coach the team with good results. Whatever criticism Tatum's adversaries can make of him, he still is as good a coach as there is in the business. There will be a lot of work to be done when the new coach takes over—a lot more than most people realize—and Tatum is the kind of coach that will be needed to do the work.

Holcombe impressed the Woollen officials at the NCAA meet in Washington but many people doubt that the attraction here will be great enough to take him from the Purdue campus. He's still working on a 10-year contract there and increased his popularity greatly during the past fall by winning the Big Ten tatle along with Wisconsin and missing the Rose Bowl trip only by the votes of the members schools.

THE NEXT COACH

BARCLAY WAS WIDELY ACCLAIMED as the next head coach when he was brought down here last year to help Snavely install the split-T formation. That popularity has waned somewhat during the past year however, and it seems now that any chance Barclay might have has been nilled by the circumstance of having been on the staff during the past miserable season. Alumni are hard to please and to many people the naming of Barclay will mean little change from this past fall. Whether that fact is true or not is in-consequental. What people want to believe is the important thing and it doesn't seem that the Council can afford to name Barclay as the new head.

So, considering all angles it seems that right now Tatum has the best opening for the spot. If he is named, whether it be tonight or later on, there'll be arguments from every corner of the State. Tatum is the kind of man who has yon one one side or the other, either you're with him or you are not. A lot of people say we'll have to put a gag on him before we bring him in. But regardless of this criticism Tatum still seems to be the man for our situation. He knows the school, the people of the state, and above all he knows his football. He seems the best man to handle the situation we have facing us here at Carolina. He may or may not be named at the Council meeting tonight—but it seems to me that Jim Tatum will be the next Carolina coach.

Freshman Wrestlers Have Meet

Carolina's Freshman wrestlers, coached by Johnny Guiton, will play their first match of the season when they take on Camp Lejeune on the opposition's mats tonight.

The Freshmen, who are allowed to play varsity under conference rulings, will start the season with the following men in their weight class: 123-lb. — Harry Schwartz; 130 lb. — Jack Watson; 137 lb.— John Tyndall; 147 lb. — B. Thompson; 157 lb. — Jim Ferrell; 167 lb. — Bill Ginn; 177 lb. — Tom Ferguson; and Heavyweight—Nick Marcopolis. The Camp Lejeune wrestlers have had one other match.

The varsity will get back in competition tomorrow night when it takes on Duke's Blue Devils at Duke. Both teams are undefeated thus far this season in single matches. The Tar Heel wrestlers defeated Davidson in their only meet 17-11. The match will be sponsored by the March of Dimes.

Next on the schedule, UNC will take on the University of Virginia in Woollen Gymnasium on Saturday.

The Tar Heel grapplers have been led by Captain Eddie Haines and Harry Pawlik thus far this season. Coach Sam Barnes has stated that he expects this to be one of the most successful in the last several years. He has also expressed that his team has more depth than any in previous seasons with several good Freshmen prospects coming up.

Navy Downs Gym Team

Coach Bill Meade's Carolina gymnastics squad opened its 1953 season last Saturday, losing to a strong Navy outfit, 72-23, at Annapolis, Md.

Check Goodin, senior co-captian, was top man in the scoring column for the Tar Heels with nine points. He grabbed second on the parallel bars, two fourth-place spots, and one fifth. Gordon Hudson, with four points, figured in the point-making along with Otis Hartsell and Pete Brumley.

Meade was well-pleased with his team's showing and feels confident of a win in the next match with Duke here on Jan. 29.

'MIKADO' CANCELLED AT DUKE

"The Mikado," scheduled as an extra attraction Jan. 19 at Duke, has been cancelled due to travelling and performance difficulties, it was announced yesterday.

Coming attractions at Duke's Page Auditorium are the Boston Pops on Feb. 10, pianist Rudolf Serkin on Feb. 26 and the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra on March 6.

Tar Heels Meet 'Cats; Duke Host To Jayvees

Carolina's league leading Tar of 1953 here tonight when they Heels make their first appearance tackle Davidson's tamed Wildcats in an 8 p.m. contest in Woollen Gym.

After building up their conference record to seven wins without a defeat last week with wins over V.M.I. and Washington and Lee, the Tar Heels should be in good form to take their eighth loop victory by dropping the 'Cats. Carolina has racked up nine decisions in eleven starts thus far this season.

High-scoring guard Vince Grimaldi will be the pace-setter in the contest, if his recent games have been any indication. Grimaldi is currently leading the team's scoring with an 18.3 average for the eleven contests, good for third place in the Big Five individual scoring race.

Grimaldi will be backed up by forwards Jerry Vayda and Al Lifson, centers Bud Maddie and Paul Likens, and guard Bob Phillips. Maddie has been one of the big surprises in the recent Carolina games, tossing 13 and 18 points through the net against Washington and Lee and V.M.I., to boost his overall average to 11.8 for the season. Maddie plays forward equally as well as at the center post, and will see action there.

Davidson, in 13th place in the Southern Conference, has won but one game in league play this season. The Wildcats surprised Furman early in the season, and have been unable to take a victory against league competition since then, with four defeats to their credit. Davidson has won two and lost five in overall play. Their most recent loss came at the hands of Tennessee, 85-56, last Saturday night.

Carolina meets V.M.I. in a return engagement here tomorrow night. The Tar Heels dropped the Keydets 79-62 last week. They round out the week's action by traveling up to College Park for another go at Maryland on Saturday night.

Coach Buck Freeman's Tar Babies get back into the groove tonight with the first of a two-game series with Duke University's freshman squad. The contest is scheduled for 6 o'clock in Duke Indoor Stadium.

The same two clubs will meet in Chapel Hill on Wednesday night in the preliminary contest to the varsity clash with V.M.I. Tonight's tilt is a preliminary to the Duke-V.M.I. game at 8 p.m.

Freeman is expected to start the same team that has paced the Tar Babies in racking up three wins against two defeats.

Glen Stephenson and Gerald McCabe will hold down the forward posts, with Hal Bowden handling the pivot duties. Tommy Shores and Jack Woods are the starting guards. Another lad who is expected to see plenty of action for Carolina is Jimmy Walker.

McCabe and Stephenson are potent scorers, as is Bowden. A slim, jumping-jack type of player. McCabe combined talents with Stephenson in the final quarter of the game with Raleigh High to narrow the final margin of defeat to only two points. The Caps had led by 15 points late in the third period.

A junior from Erwin, Stephenson has a deadly, one-hand push shot that is hard to stop from the corners. Bowden, a native of Durham, has shown precision-like accuracy in the center slot. Shores and Woods are steady contenders who are capable of changing the complexion of a game at any time.

Duke's freshmen have been battling all season to keep their heads above the .500 mrak. They were on the short end of an 89-61 game with the high-scoring N. C. State frosh in one of their more recent contests. The young Blue Devils have reportedly improved since the Christmas holidays and are expected to put a stiff battle for the Tar Babies.

Deac Tickets

Students and faculty members having athletic passbooks ending in an odd number have through tomorrow to claim their reserve seat tickets for the Wake Forest game on Jan. 20. Those people with even numbered books can pick up their tickets Thursday and Friday.

Tar Heel Trackmen Shine In Washington Star Meet

Carolina's participants in the Washington Evening Star track meet, staged last Saturday night in the nation's capitol, gave good accounts of themselves.

Sonny Bell won the first heat of the 70 yard high hurdles in the respectable time of 8:08 and then finished fourth in the finals.

Sam Jordan pole vaulted 13 ft. to wind up in a three way tie for fourth. First and second places in the pole vault were taken by Olympians Bob Richards and Don Laz, with Richards clearing 15 ft.

The mile relay team of Mac Ray, Morris Osborne, Lloyd Bostian, and Jack Bennett finished fifth and last.

FOR THE BEST FOOD IN TOWN
WITH A
FREE GLASS OF BEER OR WINE
WITH EACH MEAL
MEET THE GANG AT THE "RATH"
FOR QUALITY, PRICE, QUANTITY AND ATMOSPHERE
YOU CAN'T GO WRONG
EAT AT THE
RATHSKELLER
STEAKS—SPAGHETTI—PIEZA PIES

STOREWIDE
Clearance
Entire stock choice WORSTED FLANNEL SLACKS REDUCED
Entire stock SWEATERS reduced—still have a few part CASHMERE CHARCOAL SWEATERS in sizes 44 and 46
All TWEED and GABARDINE SPORT COATS drastically reduced
All SPORT VESTS REDUCED
Still have an extra choice selection of BERNHARD ALTMANN HAND FRAMED PRESHRUNK WOOL SOCKS drastically reduced
All $3.00 FULL LENGTH ARGYLES REDUCED to 1.99
All BASKET WEAVE and OXFORD CLOTH SHIRTS, values to $5.50—REDUCED to 3.99
Large group genuine SHELL CORDOVAN SHOES REDUCED
Group SPORT SHIRTS, values to $6.95. REDUCED to 3.99
Pacific Mills DOESKIN GABARDINE SLACKS REDUCED from 13.95 to 9.99
RAYON FLANNEL SLACKS reduced from 9.95 to 7.99
MANY OTHER TEMPTING BUYS
Milton's Clothing Cupboard
You'll find exactly what you want at MILTON'S —

MEET YOURSELF—
10 YEARS FROM NOW
Ever wonder what you'll be like when the class of '53 holds its 10th reunion? If you started to work for one of the Bell System telephone companies after graduation, here's a pretty good idea.
POSITION IN THE WORLD: On the way up! A Commercial Manager, the company's representative and spokesman to as many as fifty thousand customers. A Transmission Engineer, helping to provide the telephone needs of an entire state. A Supervisor in the Traffic Department, responsible for the speed and quality of local and long distance service in several cities and for the personnel relations of a large number of employees. In the telephone company, jobs such as these are held by relatively young men and women.
FUTURE: Unlimited! The Bell System continually progresses and expands and its personnel grows with it. In the past 25 years, the number of telephones has almost tripled. In the past 5 years, telephone companies have introduced such things as network television transmission, radiotelephone service and dialing of Long Distance calls. And the best is yet to come.
FRAME OF MIND: Confident and proud! You'll be satisfied because you have a rewarding job... not only in pay and security ...but in service. You'll be proud of your share in helping provide and develop a telephone service vital to the country's social and economic life.
Like the picture? For further information see your Placement Officer. He will be glad to give you details regarding the opportunities for employment in the Bell System.
BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S
Auto Biographical Writings
PUBLISHED AT $6.00
OUR SPECIAL
$1.00
The Intimate Bookshop
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

A FABULOUS NEW ADVENTURE IN MOTION PICTURE ENTERTAINMENT!
LONDON FILMS presents
A POWELL-PRESSBURGER PRODUCTION
Tales of Hoffmann
by Jacques Offenbach
color by TECHNICOLOR
co-starring
MOIRA SHEARER
LEONIDE MASSINE
ROBERT HELPMANN
ROBERT ROUNSEVILLE
ANN AYARS and presenting
LUDMILLA TCHERINA with
Sir Thomas Beecham and The Royal Philharmonic Orchestra
ALSO
LATEST NEWS
TODAY
Carolina

THIS WEEK'S SPECIAL

THE BANANA BOAT
LOADS OF BANANAS, HOT FUDGE, ICE CREAM AND WHIPPING CREAM
29¢
The Dairy Bar
203 E. FRANKLIN-TEL 9-8581

CLEARANCE
SALE
CONTINUING
BIG VALUES
IN MEN'S SUITS
SHOES
SHIRTS
UNDERWEAR
SLACKS
PAJAMAS
SPORT SHIRTS
BELTS
WOOL
SWEATERS
PLASTIC
RAINCOATS
JACK LIPMAN'S
"Serving the College man Since 1924"

WHAT GOES ON HERE

Di Senate

The Dialectic Senate will meet tonight at 8 o'clock on third floor of New West to debate a bill calling for the repeal of the MacCarran Act.

French Supper Club

Students wishing to speak French will meet for the French Supper Club tonight at 6 o'clock on second floor of Lenoir Hall.

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega will hold an open meeting tonight in the Ren- at 7 o'clock for persons interested dezvous Room, Grahma Memorial, in improving the campus and community. Pledges will be taken in.

Women's Glee Club

The Women's Glee Club will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Hill Hall. Dark suits are requested for Yack pictures to be taken at this time.

Freshmen Friendship Council

The YMCA Friendship Council will meet tonight for supper from 5:30 to 7 o'clock in Lenoir Hall, second floor dining room. The program for the Winter Quarter will be completed at this time.

Inter-Faith Council

A meeting of the Inter-Faith Council will be held in the Y Cabinet room at 7:30 tonight.

YMCA

The YMCA Cabinet will meet in the YMCA at 8:30 this evening.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR RENT

FOR RENT OR FOR SALE. 5 room house, 32 Rogerson Drive. Call 9-5362 or 9-8687 after 5. (1-c3455-2)

FOR RENT: ROOMS OR APARTment completely furnished by day or week. Phone 7456; 406 Cameron.

HOUSE AT 18 BARCLAY ROAD, 4 rooms. Call Mrs. Elam at 9-9301. (1-c3461-2)

LOST

GENEROUS REWARD FOR RETurn of family pet dog missing since December 16th from Greenwood Road, Chapel Hill. Medium sized male setter, dark brown with silver markings named "Pete". Reward for information as to whereabouts or facts. Call Schinhan, 9-1807, Chapel Hill. (1-c3454-2)

OVERCOAT LEFT ON RACK INside Lenoir Hall. Someone picked up the wrong coat and left his own in its place. I have his coat. My coat is marked just below inside pocket. Charles Niblack, 139 Cobb Dorm. (1-3459-1)

TAKEN BY MISTAKE, TAN Curlee "Baronet topcoat size 37 long last Friday morning from coat rack in Lenoir. Will person having coat return to Candy Counter attendant in Lenoir Hall. (1-3485-1)

CANVAS OVERNIGHT BAG. LEFT in front of Trailer Court on Sidewalk Saturday night. Phone 7971, Jim F. Hicks. (1-3457-1)

FOR SALE

VERY REASONABLE 1950 BUICK Special, 2-tone green. 4 Door. Contact John Rogers at Colonial Motors or Phone 9484. (Chg. 1x1)

ONE CUSHMAN MOTOR BIKE IN good condition for quick sale $75. Tel. no. 9-5638. (1-c3453-4)

1942 KOZY KOUCH TRAILER with room attached. Completely furnished. New Refrigerator; 2 yrs. old gas stove; new sink and tile; Contact John Manos, 96 UNC Trailer Court, Pittsboro Road.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MASTER BRIDGE TEACHER available for lessons in Chapel Hill. Please call Mrs. Wade, 3661, Chapel Hill at once for reservations.

Rheumatic Fever

Plans for a survey of rheumatic fever victims in selected areas in the Eastern, Piedmont and Western sections of North Carolina recently were made by a subcommittee of the Rheumatic Fever Committee of the North Carolina Heart Association.

Dr. Edward P. Benbow, Greensboro, chairman of the Rheumatic Fever Committee, presided.

The survey is planned to determine more exactly the extent of the rheumatic fever problem, to carry information concerning diagnostic criteria and prophlaxis for rheumatic feved to physicians throughout the state, and to make definite requests to local heart associations to for mrheumatic fever committees to work with the State committee.

BRITISH PRIME MINISTER Winston Churchill is on his way to Jamaica aboard the presidential plane "Independence" after a one-day visit with President Truman in Washington. In the top picture, Churchill pins a flower on the lapel of the President at a dinner given in Truman's honor by the Prime Minister. In the bottom picture, Churchill, with cigar at a jaunty angle, departs Washington on his vacation trip.—NEA Telephoto.

-- Federalists --

(Continued from Page 2)

obligations, but perhaps means much more adequate to cope with international problems than we have at present. There will always be the threat of international tyranny. There will always be the dangers from demagogues, power-seekers, conflicts, and tensions of one sort or another. Peace is not a thing that can be indefinitely secured. A utopia is neither promised or assured.

But peace can be made more or less enduring. Peace is only as enduring as the institutions and situations making for it. It is my opinion (and the recurrent, driving thesis of all these Articles) that the UN is an institution designed with superior means to achieve international law and harmony, and certainly better than the present international anarchy (every nation responsible only to itself) which exists. When the atomic age blasted itself in at Hiroshima and was shortly superceded by the hydrogen age, the world was in imperative need of law and order should have been emphatically clear. No longer can it be every dog for himself—with an A-bomb or H-bomb to prove it. The individual nations must give real authority to the UN. Even then the UN does not guarantee security from x, y, and z bombs and other little toys in the hands of maniacs and power-obsesses nations. A dam does not guarantee security from a flood (nor even that the dam will endure it), but it certainly holds back the raging waters of many a storm. Similarly, the UN is constructed to constrain boiling international tensions and bubbling conflicts and to secure as much peace and harmony as possible.

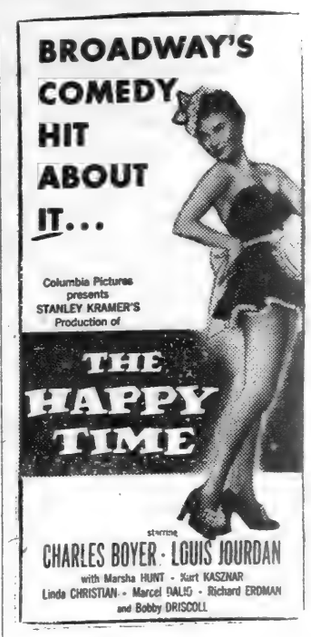
Extends Crusade

Fifteen counties in the State have gone over the top, and more than half of all the counties have made substantial progress in the annual Crusade for Freedom campaign."

The campaign has been extended until the end of this month and county chairmen are urged to reach their quotas by Jan. 24, so that the state may make its final report before the close of the fiscal year of the Crusade, Chairman Gordon Gray said.

He commended especially the work of Fred Folger of Mt. Airy, the Rev. C. E. Norman of Monroe, George H. Mills of Rutherfordton and Carroll P. Rogers of Tryon for outstanding results in their counties.

The Crusade for Freedom is the fund-raising and information of Rario Free Europe and Radio Free Asia, and all funds raised in this campaign go directly to these anti-Communist operations.



FIVE MOVIES FOR $1.50

"Metamorphosis," SUAB's first film offering for the Winter Quarter, comes to the screen at Gerrard Hall Friday at 8:30 p.m.

Series tickets for the five feature films this quarter are now on sale at Graham Memorial for $1.50.

DANCE COMMITTEE VACANCY

The Dance Committee has a vacancy. Those interested in applying contact Ham Horton at the student government office in Graham Memorial.

LAST TIMES T-O-D-A-Y

Varsity

Money? You can't take it with you! Knowledge no one can take from you. Get your share at the UNICORN BOOK SHOP over Sutton's—Dial 6173.

UNICORN
BOOKSHOP

The Season's Smartest Accessory

FOR WINTER AND SPRING
OF CANADIAN ARCTIC WOLF
Superb Quality — Doesn't Shed Like Fox
Also For Evenings With Contrasting Outfits
Collars and Small Hats To Match (extra)
Packaged In Its Own Transparent Plastic Box
The Muff Is Available In Seven Lovely Pastel Shades

CANARY - SAPPHIRE - PINK
ORCHID - PLATINUM - BISQUE
SUNBURST - BLACK

Identical Muff Sold by Leading Department Stores
AS ADVERTISED IN VOGUE AND HARPERS BAZAAR (December)
Save 35% — Immediate Delivery

Send $27.50

(Includes Tax and Postage)
By Check or Money Order

GOEBURY & COMPANY

333-7th Avenue, New York, N. Y.
'Phone Ch 4-6107 Ch 4-6494

U N C Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

U. N. C. LIBRARY

WEATHER
Cloudy and mild with 62 high. Yesterday's high, 56; low, 30.

The Daily Tar Heel

CUTS
A. Z. F. W. Jr. talks about not attending classes. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 73 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

No Decision Yet On New Coach

Education's Big Three Are Listed

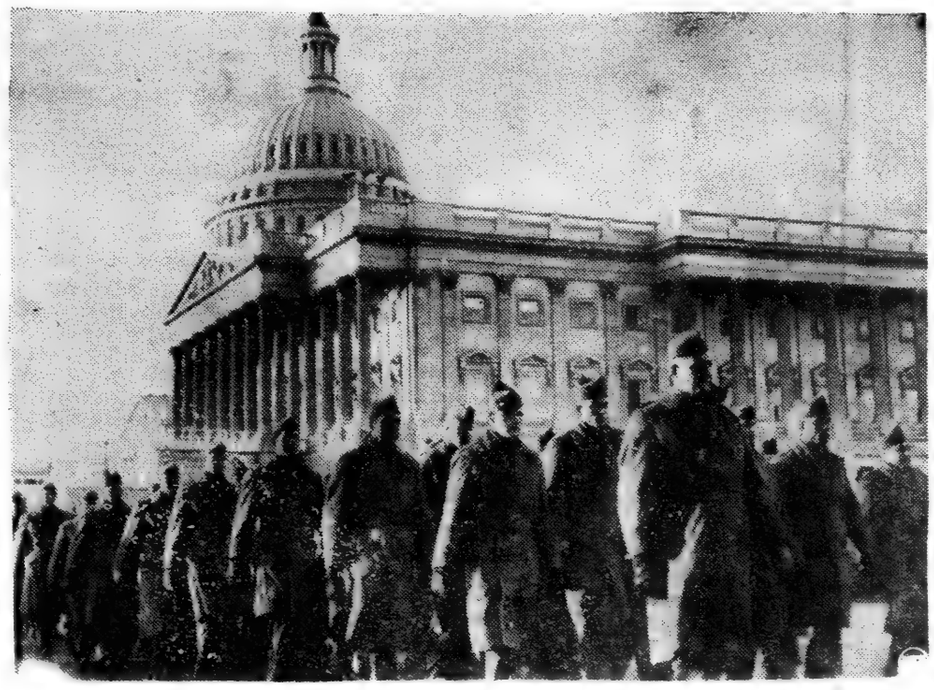
To be educated, Dr. Archibald Henderson said last night, there are three great realms of knowledge in which a person must be oriented: cosmos, society and art.

The distinguished educator, scientist and historian elaborated briefly on what he considers the fundamentals necessary for an education today in the true sense of the word. Dr. Henderson, for many years professor of mathematics here, spoke to the inaugural session of the Philanthropic Assembly.

He opened his address with the anecdote of the Yale graduate who, immediately upon receiving his diploma, rushed to the telegraph office and wired home—"Educated." A simple, eloquent but ridiculous word, said Dr. Henderson, ridiculous because there is no end, no finality to education. A university, he pointed out, can only offer a person the everlasting pursuit of education.

Touching first on the need for an orientation to the universe, Dr. Henderson said the immensity of the cosmos might tend to make men feel very small. Actually, he continued, an understanding of its size should heighten him immensely in dignity, greatness and significance, because it is his brain that has grasped and analyzed the cosmos.

"It behooves us then, each and everyone, to acquaint himself to the limit of his faculties with the nature of the cosmos." It is curiosity, but more a sense of insecurity that drives men on in quest of ways to command and control the forces of nature, he said.



Dr. Henderson emphasized a growing need for orientation in society at all levels—local, state, national and international.

"The recrudescence of giant trusts, the fascistic ditatorship of vast industrial organization, the formidable cycles of business variation known as 'boom and bust,' which seem inherent in a capitalist civilization, the global tyranny of king dollar, were mentioned as some of the conditions that greatly need our intelligent attention on the international scene.

On the local level, he named Jim Crowism, lobbyism, municipal corruption and slums as those things which are becoming glaringly apparent in America.

To correct these inconsistencies in our way of life will require the high patriotism, shrewd brains and liberal judgment which only true

(See EDUCATORS, Page 4)

A CONTINGENT OF 90 FRONT-LINE soldiers and Marines, who will carry the Regimental colors of Army and Marine Corps outfits now fighting in Korea in the inaugural parade, have arrived in Washington. Chosen by Gen. Van Fleet from combat veterans eligible for rotation from Korea, the men will form a color detachment to march in the giant inaugural parade on Jan. 20.—NEA Telephoto.

Horton For Continuing SEC Fare

By Louis Kraar

"SEC programs are as much for education as entertainment," said President Ham Horton yesterday, commenting on political rumors concerning possible abolishment of the programs brought here during the year on student fees.

He stated he was definitely for the programs. "If any change is made, it should be to spend more for them," he declared.

The high cost of these programs and relatively few students who can attend them has centered political and campus attention on them in somewhat more than a casual manner. Both Student and University Party leaders have indicated that Legislature may make revision in the present setup.

Horton did, however, say that he might consider appointing a committee to investigate the possibilities of a subscription type Student Entertainment program. This has been editorially suggested by The Daily Tar Heel.

University Party legisltaors supported a bill in Legislature last quarter to give SEC more money. "But you see how it was refused," Horton pointed out.

He indicated further that he doesn't particularly favor putting the programs on a subscription basis.

"Frankly," said President Horton, "I don't think students would pay to see a lot of the really cultured programs that are so much a part of their educations. But it's there for all now, and they are more likely to attend."

Asked if he would mention SEC in his Legislature address Thursday, he declined to comment.

He agreed with opponents of SEC who have pointed out that it was actually impossible for each student to attend because of the small size of Memorial Hall where the programs are held. Memorial Hall seats 1,600 of the 5,000 or more students enrolled..

He cited this year's programs as "good examples of how much students want them." The U. S. Marine Band and the Festival of Song have been presented thus far this school year. Both programs had

(See SEC, page 3)

Tatum Or Holcomb Is Probable Choice Of Athletic Council

By Biff Roberts
Daily Tar Heel Sports Editor

Carolina's Athletic Council, continuing its game of hide and seek, had failed last night by 10:45 to name a successor to Head Football Coach Carl Snavely.

In a meeting that started at 8 o'clock, the 10-man council threshed the problem over but could reach no definite decision.

Many people had expected the meeting to be a showdown between Jim Tatum and Stu Holcome for the job, and perhaps it was but, no definite answer was made public. Tatum is Maryland's coach and Holcomb is at Purdue.

The Woollen Gym rumor mill poured out name after name concerning the coaching spot before, during and after last night's basketball game, but none could be proved or disproved.

The Athletic Council adjourned at 11:20 last night without naming a new football coach here but reported they were "on the way to a solution." "We expect to have a decision within a week," a spokesman said. No names were mentioned by the spokesman.

Many observers felt that the delay would be a decision against Tatum but council members made no comment.

Others felt it meant Holcomb would not be asked and the delay meant that George Barclay, Snavely's assistant during the past season might again be gaining ground. The Tar Heel aide enjoyed early popularity in the race but was not as prominently mentioned of late.

Though the council's lack of decision leaves the race as wide open as before, observers continue to align on one of the three sides.

All three candidates have impressive coaching records with Tatum's probably the most glittering considering the one-loss aspect. His nine-year coaching record at Carolina, Oklahoma and Maryland is 68-18-5. Holcomb, who moved from West Point as an assistant to the top spot at Purdue, has a lifetime mark of 24-29-1 all of his games in six years of stiff Big Ten competition.

Barclay came to Carolina last Fall to assist Snavely in installing the Split-T formation after the Grey Fox switched from his old standby, the single wing. Barclay brought Washington and Lee its greatest success while head coach there, taking the Generals to the Gator Bowl in 1950. He has wide acclaim as one of the best offensive line coaches in the game.

Both Tatum and Barclay were players before going into the coaching end of the game. Tatum graduated here in 1935 and then followed Snavely to Cornell when the Carolina coach moved there.

Time-Life Man Slates 3 Talks For Tomorrow

Frank R. Shea, editor and foreign correspondent for Time Inc., will give a series of three speeches here tomorrow.

Shea will speak to Dr. David G. Monroe's political science 81 class at 10 a.m. on "Ridgway's New Right Flank—the Importance of Greece and Turkey to the West."

"What Makes Time Tick" will be his subject when he talks to the Journalism 53 class at 11 o'clock. Joe Morrison is the professor.

At 2 p.m. he will speak in the Grail Room, Graham Memoriral, on "Latin American Ferment—Peron Exploits our Neglected Good Neighbors." This speech will be made to a group of students interested in Latin American affairs, but it is open to the public.

Shea recently has returned from Argentina where he was chief of bureau for the magazines Time and Life. With Life photographer Leonard McCombe, Shea was arrested by the Buenos Aires "political police" in February, 1951 in connection with the peaceful attempt by the employees of "La Prensa" to return to work.

Coeds Invited To Apply For Scholarship

The 1953 Tri Delta general scholarship competition will be held Jan. 5 to Feb. 20.

Women students in colleges where there are chapters of the sorority are eligible to apply. They may, or may not, be members, but they should be well-qualified students, showing promise of becoming valuable citizens in their future communities.

The amount of the award on any one of the 94 campuses included in the competition will not exceed $200.

The Delta Delta Delta Committee on Awards shall be the sole judge of the respective merits of the applicants. The successful candidates will be notified by May 1, and the scholarships will be forwarded to them at the beginning of the term for which the awards are granted.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON — A Justice Department offer to compromise its antitrust action against an alleged international oil cartel bogged down yesterday amid hot words pointing to almost certain rejection. One major defendant, Standard Oil of New Jersey, turned down the offer and thus apparently killed hopes of compromise since the government offer was made on condition that all of the companies concerned accept it. Standard Oil has called the proposition "cold and outrageous blackmail."

★

DURHAM — Gov. William B. Umstead is resting well at Watts Hospital where he is reported recovering after suffering a mild heart attack here Sunday. His condition is described as "good." Dr. Ralph G. Fleming prescribed a "short period of rest" for Governor Umstead after his heart condition was discovered.

★

SEOUL — United Nations fighter-bombers unleashed two 220-plane attacks on the main Manchuria-to-Korea supply route yesterday while protecting Sabre jets destroyed or damaged four Communist MIG-15's attempting to break up the strike. An early morning attack by 220 planes on five bridges north of Sinanju was followed up by an equally large Allied strike yesterday afternoon.

★

RALEIGH — The 1953 General Assembly, now in its second week, likely will receive a bill calling for a $25,000,000 bond issue to improve facilities of the State's mental institutions. Some $13,000,000 or more would be spent at Camp Butner. This is the amount Gov. William Umstead had in mind in his inaugural address when he recommended a bond issue for the mental institutions, according to the governor's brother, Rep. John W. Umstead of Chapel Hill.

★

FISH HAVEN, Idaho — A big search party gathered at Beaver Basin south of here yesterday to set out for the burned, crumpled wreckage of a C-46 troop transport which crashed last week with 40 persons aboard. Two para-medic rescue troopers, who spent a lonely night long vigil in subfreezing weather by the wreck on White Pine ridge about seven miles west of here, found no survivors when they parachuted to the site Monday. The plane vanished Wednesday en route from Seattle to Ft. Jackson, S. C., carrying returning Korean War veterans. The 37 soldiers aboard were en route to their Southern homes. Six were from North Carolina.

Vets On GI Bill Given VA Advice

Veterans who will apply for education or training under the Korean GI Bill, got advice yesterday on two important items that must be listed in their applications.

The first is a listing of the veteran's educational or vocational goal and the second is a statement of how he proposes to reach the goal.

A careful consideration of both the goal and the means of reaching it is vital, the Veterans Administration said, because the Korean GI Bill provides that a veteran may may make one change in his course after he has started it, but no more than one.

Examples of goals would be law or medicine as professional aims; college diploma as educational aims, or carpentry or plumbing as vocational aims.

Examples of the listing for methods of reaching the goal would be a statement of the highest degree to be gotten, if a University course is involved. If the veteran does not aim for a degree in his educational training, he should list the actual subjects which will be taken under his plan. In vocational training, a description of the kind of work should be given.

Korean veterans wishing to apply for education or training who are not sure of their goal or method of reaching it may receive vocational guidance from the VA. On the application form they should check the box which requests guidance.

For benefits under the GI Bill, veterans who have served in the armed forces anywhere in the world may be eligible. There are now approximately 1,500,000 such veterans, the VA said, of whom many are expected to apply for education or training for the coming Spring term.

Nurses' Dorm Boasts Phone In Each Room

By Sally Schindel

How would you like to live in a dorm complete with a telephone in each room, modern kitchens on every floor and elevators?

You can have all these luxuries and more if you're in the School of Nursing, which moved into new living quarters the week before Thanksgiving.

On the first floor of this three story brick building, which resembles an apartment house from the outside, are three date parlors, all furnished like home, in different color schemes with soft rugs, comfortable furniture and paneled walls. The graduate students and visiting faculty each have private parlors. Also, with an eye toward comfort, on the main floor is the Reading Room or the Nurses' Library, a division of the Medical Library.

Another section of the same floor houses a practice lab for second year students with 10 beds and equipment similar to that found in hospital wards. In this part of the building are two classrooms, the dean's office and an ultra-modern faculty lounge on the same style as the date rooms.

The future nurses can impress dates with their domestic skills in the basement's complete kitchen unit equipped with a stove, refrigerator and sink combination. Adjoining this is a large recreation room, which has a piano and, soon, a juke box. Down the hall are several storage rooms.

With two elevators at their service, the students have no trouble reaching the second or third floors. Besides having a choice between blue, gray, pink or green walled-rooms, there are deep closets, venetian blinds, huge mirrors and telephones. The girls may receive calls only. The deck beds, one layer high, are deep enough to have two long drawers on the sides.

For nursing students who don't want to eat in the new Medical Cafeteria, opened during Christmas vacation, both floors have two lounges and kitchens, which can be used for snacks or entire meals.

Also on the second floor is the Nutrition Lab where a student learns to cook what she wishes.

SP Solons Tag Leader

Sophomore Joel Fleishman was picked Monday night to lead the Student Party's legislators, party officials announced yesterday.

Meeting in a special caucus SP legislators also picked Don Geiger as party whip and Jane Kottmeyer caucus clerk. Choices for legislature officers were also made, but officials would not release them.

The entire party met after the caucus. Included on the order of business was the planning of a party to be held Monday night.

Bill Acker To Head IDC

Bill Acker, a senior from Winston-Salem, recently was appointed president of the Men's Interdormitory Council, succeeding Paul Somerville, who resigned Monday. Acker was vice president of the council before the appointment.

Acker says plans for the future include the regular interdorm dance which will be held either April 11 or 18. An effort is being made to get Johnny Long or Woody Herman to play for the dance.

The job of amending council bylaws will begin Jan. 26. They will be voted on two weeks later.

Election of a new vice-president will take place at the council's next meeting.

NO SATURDAY PAPER

Readers of The Daily Tar Heel are reminded that due to financial difficulties the paper does not publish on Saturday mornings.

Persons with news for Saturday or Sunday should make suitable arrangements for its inclusion in some other issue. Deadline is 3 p.m. the day before publication, except Saturday when it is 10:30 a.m.

Carolina's Own Station Is On Air Each Day With Varied Programs

By Tom Parramore

"Ninety-one point five on your FM dial, this is the University of North Carolina . . . WUNC, Chapel Hill, with studios in the Communication Center."

Thus the voice of Carolina identifies itself seven days a week. Now in its second quarter of operation, the student station has put itself over to the student body and is working on plans to make it one of the finest.

For program material, WUNC calls on several sources. The National Association of Educational Broadcasting and many commercial and non-commercial agencies, including the British and French Broadcasting Companies, are sources of all types of programs ranging from educational talks to light and classical musical programs. WUNC also produces shows of its own and tape records speeches and special events around campus.

Among other sources of program material are Hill Hall, which provides records and recordings of recitals, and the School of Business Administration, which has discussions on business. The station also has reproduced talks by noted persons, including Governor Umstead's inaugural address.

As to the actual birth of a program:

Program Manager Mike Healy of Allendale, N. J. receives the program listings of the various agencies and orders from them sample recordings of series which seem interesting. From these sample recordings, Healy decides whether or not the broadcasts will be of interest to UNC students. By staying 6 or 7 days behind agency schedules, he manages to be prepared for strikes or other delays.

After being passed by Healy the selected programs go to Operations Director Bill Tally and Traffic Director Marilyn McKee

(See WUNC, Page 2)

MARINES OFFER COMMISSIONS TO SENIORS, GRADUATES

A majority of college seniors and graduates who enroll now for the Marine Corps Officer Candidate Course which will be conducted in March, will receive specialized training, Maj. F. C. Caldwell, USMC said, yesterday.

Major Caldwell said officer training programs are open to both college graduates and seniors who graduate between now and March 1. Applicants may be married or single. He advised interested college men to contact him at the Naval Armory 7246 for an interview.

HENDERSON TALKS TONIGHT

Dr. Archibald Henderson will speak on "Shaw and the Seven Deadly Virtues" to the English Club at 8 o'clock tonight in the Assembly Room of the Library.

The club invites those interested to attend. Coffee will be served at 7:30, preceding Dr. Henderson's talk.

Hoey Restraint

North Carolina's senior senator, Clyde R. Hoey, will continue his service on the Government Operations' Committee, which include membership on the Investigating Subcommittee.

The retention of Hoey comes as a surprise to himself as well as others. He had thought that membership on three committees (he is also on the finance and agricultural committees), was not possible as a member of a minority party. He now has, however, the distinction of being one of three Democrats holding three important committee posts.

Hoey is an investigator of the scientific, smooth operating, refined branch of Washington's chief occupation nowadays. His presence on the committee along with Senators Symington of Missouri, Kennedy of Massachusetts, and Jackson of Washington will lend a degree of balance to the leadership of the committee resting in the hands of Senator Joseph McCarthy. Hoey won the admiration of many Washington observers when he conducted the five per center investigation.

Chairman McCarthy has announced that he will turn to the colleges to seek out the Communist influence. As the Wisconsin investigator tracks down the whiff of Red infiltration, his able colleagues will be in a position to restrain any galloping, publicity-aimed measures that McCarthy may design.

More Electronic Music

July is a vacation month. We celebrrate the Declaration of Independence in July. There are birthdays, summer jobs, weekends, even school.

Now comes the announcement that by July, Chapel Hill will get 600 new telephone lines, which should relax the tension on the local wires. With more lines come more phones. Already, 250 citizens have requested phones.

We know slightly more than 250 people who need phones and need them before July. They are the men in Cobb dorm who have two phones, one on the first floor, one on the third—for four floors and 400 men. Have you ever tried calling Cobb at night? Or if you live in Cobb, have you ever tried to make a call, or answer the phone?

Dorm managers met several years ago and decided that phones o nthe first and third floors of dormitories would meet the demand. We believe that the demand has risen since that decision was made. We think dorm residents would be willing to pay for any increase in cost.

Originally, there were four phones in Cobb. In November, there were three. Now there are two. That's quite a party line for the first floor, for example. We suggest that the Inerdormitory Council investigate the possibility of getting more phones for Cobb and other dorms as well.

The Unsigned Letter

Some of the most caustic, stirring letters we receive everyday when the mail comes in makes lively copy.

We get the biting satire of a Westbrook Pegler, the inquisitive questions of a Drew Pearson, the able recommendations of a President's fact-finding board, and the advice of interested well-wishers. But generally we throw such notes in the basket, or at most, file them.

Is this the spider of fear weaving its web around the free expression philosophy which we've been brought up on? Perhaps, it's the "intimidation" angle, or the mystery motif "Whodunnit" line of reason. Yet Daily Tar Heel letters are kept in the closest confidence.

Often, students enjoy reading "Express Yourself" more than any other column in the paper. Your contributions, ideas, criticisms, suggestions about aything are welcome. Just sign them.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor ..... WALT DEAR
Managing Editor ..... ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager ..... JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor ..... BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. ..... Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. ..... Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. ..... Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. ..... Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. .. Delaine Bradsher | Asst. Spts. Ed. ..... Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. ..... Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgr. ..... Ned Beeker
Assoc. Ed. .... Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. ..... Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Joe Raff.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Buzzy Shull, Buddy Harper, Eleanor Saunders, Judy Taylor, Bozy Sugg, Nancy Perryman.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Alice Chapman, Jane Carter, Nina Gray, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jess Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Jay Zimmerman, Dave Herbert.

SPORTS STAFF—Vandy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, Charlie Dunn.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

Night Editor for this issue: Rolfe Neill

--WUNC--

(Continued from Page 1)

for final arrangements.

Program management so far has been surprisingly smooth but the staff members are beset by a few flubs and faux pas' which help keep them alert. One of the biggest came early during operations and is best related in Healy's words.

"We had been on the air for about six days. It was Saturday night and we were broadcasting the BBC version of the opera "King Arthur" which had been sent to us on two tapes, thereby necessitating the use of two recording machines.

"I was readying the second tape when I noticed some rather grotesque sounds coming from it. Thinking there was something technically wrong with the record, I asked the announcer who was supposed to fill in with gab between the recordings to stretch it as long as possible.

"But it took so long that the announcer exhausted his repartee and had to let the tape roll. Never thinking that the mike might still be on, I yelled as loud as I could to the engineer to 'fade it in,' (bring the music in slowly). As luck would have it, the mike was still on and my voice carried over the air. I have often wondered how far music lover's jaws dropped at the sound 'fade it in'."

WUNC now operates from 7 until '.. each night, having added 45 minutes to its normal broadcasting time this quarter. The extra time is devoted to classical music.

Plans for the future include new and larger supplementary control rooms in the basement of Swain Hall and some new equipment now being built in the Communication Center workshop. Next spring, station officials hope to be broadcasting their own productions to all parts of North Carolina, possibly through station WMIT on Mt. Mitchell which is able to pick up WUNC.

Other members of the WUNC staff include Kent Jackson, promotion manager; Tom Carroll, assistant manager; Gene Birke, News Director; Henry Irving, transmitting engineer and Wisner Washam, director of special events.

Manager John Young is the one non-student.

A. Z. F. Wood, Jr.

Roll Call

"Back when I was a student here," the professor was saying on the second day of classes, "A student could sleep for three days if he wanted to. They didn't check attendance. If you wanted to come to class or sleep or drink beer, that was your business. If you could do your work without coming to class, that was O.K."

The class nodded appreciatively. Here was one professor who was not a rigid conformist, who would not take it as a personal affront if you cut once or twice.

The professor went on about the unregimented life of the students of the old days, how a man could remain an individual—even an eccentric, and nobody would look askance. A mischievous twinkle came into his eye. "Indeed," he said, "You would be regarded as peculiar if you weren't eccentric!"

This paradox evoked hearty laughter from the now attentive and completely captivated class.

The professor continued, "College students should be able to decide for themselves about how they do their work, how they acquire their education. After all, they're paying for it. The professor is only hired to help them get it." A slight pause for approbation. "Emerson once said," the professor went on, "That you go to college and the students educate you. Not the professors, the students."

Bravo! Here, indeed, was a thoughtful man, a rebel, a progressive! A man who learned from other sources aside from books. Here was a rarity—a college professor who knows what college is for, who respects the individuality of college students, who deems them sensible enough to make their own decisions. Here would be a good course—a stimulating course.

The class sat transfixed as the professor continued. "If you want to learn something, you can." He was speaking slowly and emphatically now. "But nobody can make you—nor should anyone try to, for if they do they're apt to kill what latent desire for education exists. Leave the student alone. Don't push him. He'll get around to it sooner or later." He smiled expansively. "The way to learn is by doing—actual experience. A professor can tell you about it, but it will, in all probability, go in one ear and out the other."

The professor paused and smiled benignly once more. Then, abruptly, his benignity disappeared as he reached into his pocket for a little black notebook.

"Anderson!"

"Here."

"Bailey."

"Here."

"Brown. . . ."

WANTED: MAN TO GRIND AXE

DORMAN CORDELL

STEWPOT

Once upon a time there were two senators named Pat and Mike. And Pat said to Mike, "Since we are senators, we ought to be doing some investigating. Let's clean out all the Communists in this country."

"A fine idea," replied Mike. "Where shall we start?"

"First we'll round up all known Communists."

So they rounded up all the known Communists and sent them off to jail.

Then the two decided to clean out the government. And they rounded up the Communists in the government and threw them in jail. And there were a few guys Pat and Mike didn't like anyhow, so they just threw them in jail too, because they deserved to be there anyhow.

After the government was cleaned out, the senators turned to education. And they sent all the Communists in education to jail. And Pat decided he would just send that nasty old Miss Grump who used to teach him in the fourth grade, because she deserved to be in jail anyhow.

And so it went. After much time, Pat and Mike had all the Communists in jail. And there wasn't anything to do.

"Let's start around again," suggested Pat, "and this time we'll get all those who might turn Communist someday."

"A fine idea," agreed Mike.

So they went through the same process again, deciding who might turn Communist someday, and throwing them into jail. And while they were at it, they decided this was a good time to throw some guys in jail that should be there anyhow, because they were old meanies, in the first place.

And after much investigation and work, Pat and Mike had about half the people in jail. And some of the people still out of jail were beginning to be dissatisfied with the work of Pat and Mike.

So Pat said to Mike, "You know, I believe these people that are saying bad things about us are poor security risks. They may give out our country's secret recipe for bubble gum that makes the biggest bubbles in the world."

And all the disgruntled folks went to jail. Which is where they belonged in the first place, for what right has anyone got to question the authority of a senator? It's unpatriotic.

By this time, most everybody was in jail, and Pat and Mike were about out of work. But they rounded up the remaining people still out of jail and put them in so they could be with their friends and relatives.

Now everybody was in jail except Pat and Mike, and the country was free from Communists and all other subversives.

But one day, Pat looked at Mike. "You know, Mike, I've been thinking. Your nose is rather red in the wintertime. You just don't look right to me. For the good of the country, I'll have to put you in jail too, as a possible future Communist." And so Mike went to jail.

After awhile Pat got to thinking. "Well, here I am all alone," he said to himself, "and subject to all sorts of wrong ideas. In fact, that makes me a potential Communist." So Mike put himself in jail to save the country.

This made things unanimous. So everybody in jail decided they might as well expand the jails to cover the exact area formerly covered by the country. And they went back to all their old pursuits, but they always remembered they were really in jail.

But one day, an up-and-coming young man stood up and proclaimed, "I believe there are certain subversives in our jail. Let's investigate." And there was a great riot as 149,00,000 people vied for the privilege of strangling the young man.

The moral of this story: The trouble with hunting Reds is, they're not so uniform in appearance as squirrels.

Louis Kraar

Party Line

A new experience is slated for many students this week.

Thursday night Legislature convenes for its opening session this quarter. Many legislators are new, idealistic, and eager. Others are disinterested.

However, there is something important to be done.

The money collected in block fees from students will be appropriated this quarter for the following school year.

Secretary-Treasurer Ed Gross is busy outlining a budget for legislative approval. Most of it will probably be approved. But, like most things easily gained, it's basically neither new nor particularly worth too much argument.

Here's the scoop: Biggest things on Gross' budget are The Daily Tar Heel and S.E.C. Gross has indicated that these groups will get basically the same amount of money as this year.

Gross will do well to look into both these items with a sharp eye before making any decisions. He is capable and has the time. And then there are the legislators whom we hope will reconsider all the items carefully instead of just voting as parties tell them.

After all, it's the money of five thousand of us who like to see it used wisely.

CHECK ON CHECKERS: Student government did students a favor this week. They established check cashing service in Lenoir Hall. Students can now get checks for five dollars or less cashed in the cafeteria.

This reporter has been cashing five dollar checks there almost every week since September like all others who wanted to cash them in Lenoir. Thanks for making it official.

Now, why not set up a coffee counter in the Y?

IDEA OF WEEK: At least one legislator promised to correspond with the students he represents. Just a postcard to let a guy know you are voting for him, not yourself or a party, means a lot toward truly representative student government.

Spinsters

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(I.P.)—Catholic women's colleges are up in arms over increasing reports that students of these colleges are more apt to become spinsters than those of any other college. They fear that a "myth of the Catholic college spinster" will arise as a result of a series of recent conflicting reports on the subject graduates who marry or remain of the number of Catholic women single. They feel they have facts to support their contention that graduates of Catholic women's colleges are good marriage risks.

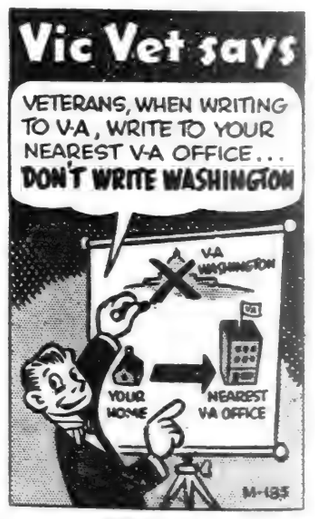
Latest of these conflicting reports appeared in a recent issue of Harper's in an article by President Lynn White, Jr., of Mills College, Oakland, Calif., who states that graduates of Catholic women's colleges have a marriage rate lower than that of all coeds or of graduates of non-Catholic women's colleges.

Time magazine's recent book "They Went to College" states that of all Catholic girls who went through college, 48 per cent remained unmarried.

Express Yourself

Editor:

Last night we experienced something which we will remember for a long time, and something which members of the Playmakers would have given much to experience. We saw "John Brown's Body" from backstage with Charles Laughton without paying one cent to do so. This came about in a manner which I think illustrates that great celebrities are very human.



After eating our dinner at the Porthole, we started back for the dorm so I could start on one of Professor McLeod's short social science assignments. On the way, I suggested we walk by Memorial Hall to see if by chance we could get in to see the play. Since no tickets were available we resorted to standing outside a window to get a glimpse of the stars. After perching ourselves on a road blocker which we borrowed from the constructioners of the B.A. buildings, we balanced ourselves, elevated the window slightly, and started taking in the show.

In about five minutes, an usher came out of the stage door and in no certain terms told us to put down the window since the audience was complaining of a draft. Reluctantly, and with a few curses under our breath we did so. About two minutes later a rather plump little fellow exited from the stage door and waddled over to our position. Gruffly he said, "Get down from there." With more reluctance and more curses under our breath, we descended, only to be filled with surprise when we recognized the fellow as Charles Laughton. We were further surprised when he said, "Follow me."

With our noses high in the air we marched through the stage door, triumphantly past the usher and with one other kid that seemed to appear out of nowhere, we crossed backstage to the other side where the stage manager and a technician were sitting. We sat there for over two hours, chatting occasionally with Mr. Laughton. At intermission time we were able to meet Mr. Massey and collect his autograph as we had already taken care to collect Mr. Laughton's. Since Ty, as Mr. Laughton referred to Tyrone Power, was busy at intermission, we did not get to meet him until the play's end.

All in all, it was something we will long recall and be grateful to Charles Laughton for.

E. L. Nance Jr.
Maurice L. Norton II

Tar Heels Tame Cats, 71-60; Junior Varsity Loses

Vayda Leads UNC Quintet With Eighteen

By Tom Peacock

The Carolina basketball team eased through a slight threat by the Davidson Wildcats to a spotless Southern Conference record, 71-60, last night in Woollen Gym.

Freshman Jerry Vayda resumed his scoring pace of early season to take honors for the Tar Heels with 18 points. Wildcat Captain Joe Dudley was the game's high scorer with 20 points.

Carolina will meet Virginia Military Institute in another Southern Conference game at 8:00 in Woollen Gym tonight.

Carolina grabbed a 5-point lead to open the first quarter and held on to that margin for most of the remainder of the game.

The Wildcats narrowed Carolina's lead to 13-11 at the end of the first period, but a scoring threat by Al Lifson and Bob Phillips increased Carolina's margin to 18-12 at the start of the second period.

Davidson's Gerald King tied for second high honors, equalling Vayda's 18-point total. Carolina's Lifson hit for 16 and Co-Captain Vince Grimaldi's pace cooled down to 13.

The difference in the game was the foul shooting, with UNC missing only 10 free throws while the Wildcats miscued on 20. The Tar Heels had a 37 per cent shooting average from the floor, hitting on 12 shots out of 71 attempts.

Carolina co-Captain Jack Wallace returned to the lineup and made a brief appearance in last night's game, his first since leaving the team with appendicitis.

CAROLINA

Player	FG	FT	PF	TP
Lifson, f	5	6	2	16
Schwarz, g	0	0	0	0
Vayda, f	7	4	4	18
Grimaldi, g	5	3	3	13
Likins, c	1	1	1	3
Wallace, g	1	0	4	2
Phillips, g	2	3	0	7
Carter, c	1	0	1	2
Winstead, g	0	0	1	0
Clancy, g	0	1	0	2
Totals	24	23	20	71

DAVIDSON

Player	FG	FT	PF	TP
Keith, f	0	0	0	0
Brown, f	5	1	2	11
Dudley, c	8	4	5	20
Fowle, g	0	1	2	1
Reams, g	0	0	1	0
King, g	7	4	4	18
Cobb, f	2	2	1	6
Howell, f	0	3	2	3
Milton, c	0	0	1	0
Bennett, g	0	0	0	0
Harding, g	0	0	1	0
Weeks, f	0	1	3	1
Totals	22	16	22	60

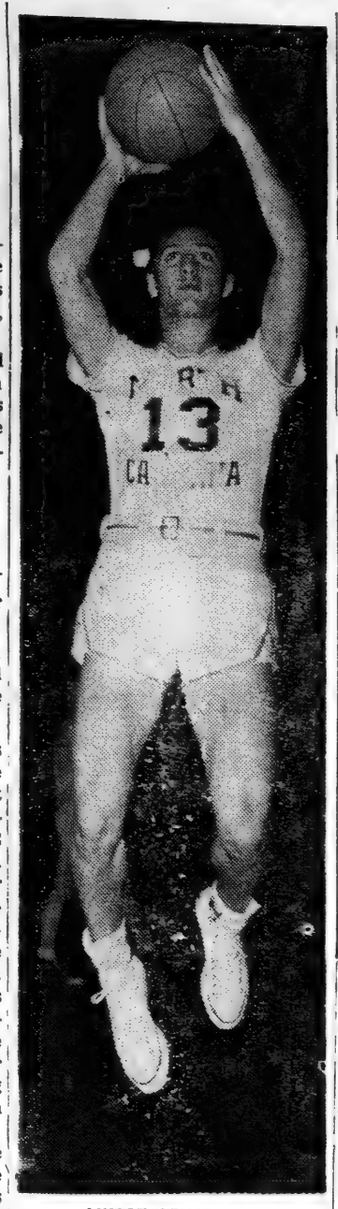
Score by quarters:

Carolina	13	18	20	20—71
Davidson	11	15	15	19—60

Half-time score: 51-41, Carolina.

KAPPA PSI PLEDGES

Beta Xi chapter of Kappa Psi Fraternity pledged eight boys Monday night.



The new pledges are Johnny Andrews, Winston-Salem; Stuart Rollins, Winston-Salem; Robert Gaines Wilson, Leaksville; Carl Baber, Mt. Airy; L. B. Doyle, Roanoke Rapids; John Barringer, Carthage; Acey Umphlett, Elizabeth City, and Sterling Grey Dixon, Davis.

--SEC--

(Continued from page 1)

large crowds, and both times students complained that it was difficult to find seats.

Meantime, campus politicians met in closed caucusses to map out plans and speculate just how Horton will suggest remedying what he called the "comparative medocrity" of SEC programs.

VINCE GRIMALDI
. . . gets 13 points

Davis Takes Tennis Crown

Mary Ruth Davis defeated Carolyn Johnson in the finals of the WAA tennis tournament to gain the campus women's tennis championship, Miss Davis, a graduate student from Robbins, N. C., won the final match by a three love count.

Other girls who finished in the final rounds were Frankie Allen, Sandra Donaldson, Dorothy Liggett, and Nancy Gerlach.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

The Women's basketball club will meet Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Women's gym and all interested students are invited to attend.

The club is trying to arrange games with other schools and hopes to schedule several contests for this season.

Imps Trounce JV's, 105-47, At Duke Gym

DURHAM, Jan. 13—(Special)—Duke's junior varsity basketball team ran Carolina's JayVees off the court here tonight, whipping the out-classed Tar Babies by the one-sided count of 105-47.

With every player except one on the squad hitting for at least two points, the Blue Imps scored at least 20 in each of the four periods to thrash Carolina in this little Big Four game which preceeded the clash between the Duke and VMI varsities.

The junior varsity will meet Duke again at 6:00 tonight at Woollen Gym in a game preceeding the varsity's game with VMI.

The Tar Heels were never able to get a consistent scoring attack going, their greatest effort being the 19 points they scored in the first period. In both the second and ourth quarters the Blue Imps held heir visitors to a meager six points.

Tom Shores and Glen Stephenson were the only two Tar Babies to hit in the double column. Shores had 15 and Stephenson 13 to collect over half of their team's points.

Although there was little doubt as to the outcome of the game from the start, it was not until the fourth period that the Blue Imps made a complete rout of it. They hit for 35 points in the final stanza while Carolina could get only six.

Larry Bateman, last year's all-tate high school center from Greensboro, led the Imps with 18 points on nine field goals. Tobin, Appleton and Simms all hit for 12 to tie for the runner-up spot.

The half-time score was 48-26 in Duke's favor.

NORTH CAROLINA

Player	FG	FT	PF	TP
McCabe	4	0	1	8
Neilson	0	0	2	0
Kinzey	0	0	1	0
Stevenson	3	7	5	13
Radovich	1	1	3	3
Walker	1	0	2	2
Whitley	0	1	2	1
Bowden	0	0	3	0
Dittmar	1	1	5	3
Woods	0	1	3	1
Williams	0	0	1	0
Osbourne	0	0	1	0
Shores	7	1	2	15
Wickham	0	1	1	1
Tyler	0	0	0	0
Ziggarelli	0	0	2	0
TOTALS	17	13	34	47

DUKE

Tobin	2	8	2	12
Duncan	1	2	2	4
Barnes	0	4	2	4
Alexander	1	2	2	4
Bateman	9	0	0	18
Thompson	1	0	0	2
Artus	1	1	1	3
Appleton	5	2	3	12
Morgan	1	2	1	4
Reese	0	2	1	2
Simms	6	0	1	12
Blackburn	1	4	1	6
Hettleman	3	1	1	7
Belmont	3	3	2	9
Axtell	2	2	0	6
Kehoe	0	0	0	0
TOTALS	36	33	19	105

Score by periods:

North Carolina	19	7	15	6— 47
Duke	28	20	22	35—105

Wrestlers At Duke Tonite In Benefit Match

Carolina's wrestlers, winners of one meet this season, meet Duke at Durham tonight in a benefit March of Dimes program at the Duke Gym.

The Tar Heels equaled their output for last year by defeating Davidson, 17-11, in a match last quarter. The Carolina team won one match while losing nine last season.

But Coach Sam Barnes has an improved squad over his 1952 team and the Tar Heels are given a good chance of taking their second straight win.

No admission will be charged for the match, which will be preceeded by the finals of the Duke intramural tournament. Instead contributions to the March of Dimes will be sought.

Coach Barnes will rely on a good many veterans in an attempt to beat the Blue Devils, with co-captains Harry Pawlik and Ed Haines being two of his standouts.

Pawlik is a junior and went to the finals of the Southern Conference consolations last year before being forced to forfeit his match because of broken ribs.

Other lettermen who will help are Earl Kendric, a sophomore, Tom Stokes, Pete McGehee, Harvey Bradshaw, Bill Hill, and Andy Holt.

In reserve Barnes will have Gordon Forrester, Arthur Gregory and Miles Gregory. Miles Gregory, a member of the football team this past fall, wrestled in 1950 before going back into the Marines.

The Tar Heels, who placed seventh in the Conference tourney last year, will meet Virginia here on Saturday.

WAKE TICKETS

Today is the last day that students, professors, and employees of the University holding pass books ending in odd numbers can exchange their passbooks for regular tickets to the Wake Forest game next Tuesday.

Students with pass books ending in even numbers will have a chance to get tickets starting tomorrow.

IN SOUTHERN CONFERENCE

Tar Heels Lead Conference With State, Deacons Close

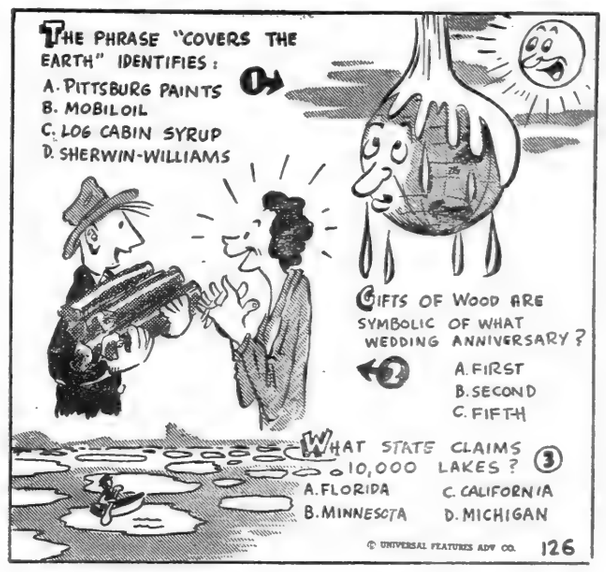
Coach Frank McGuire's Tar Heels are leading the Southern Conference pack as the cage season approaches the half-way mark. However, they are closely followed by N.C. State and Wake Forest, deadlocked for second place.

The Tar Heels, winners of eight games with no defeats, meet two more Southern Conference foes this week, playing host to V.M.I. and traveling to Maryland for a Saturday night contest.

N. C. State, boasting six wins against one loss in Conference play, takes on William and Mary and George Washington in games this week. The latter encounter is the Conference "game of the week" as the Colonials have a respectable 7-2 mark in Conference activity.

Other teams which may place in the Conference tournament are West Virginia with six wins and two losses, and Maryland, with five victories against one loss.

Important Conference games this week, besides the State-GW tussle, find Wake Forest at Clemson and William and Mary at Richmond.

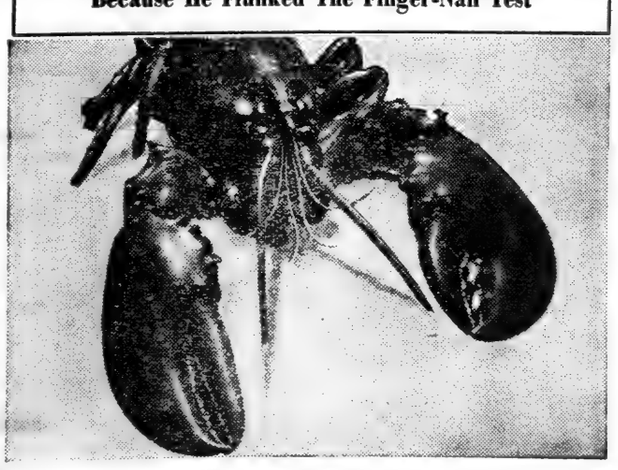


MURALS

Basketball

4:00: Court 3—Lewis 2 vs. BVP-1; Court 5—Emerson-1 vs. Joyner-2; Court 6—Alexander-1 vs. Joyner-4; Court 7— Law School-1 vs. Winston-2.

5:00: Court 3—Med School-1 vs. Dental School; Court 5—Winston-1 vs. Everett-2; Court 6—Ruffin-2 vs. Mangum; Court 7—Cobb-1 vs. Med School-3.



DR. QUIZ CONDUCTED BY— Sutton's

We want you to get the right answers . . . Sherwin-Williams, Fifth and Minnesota are correct for the quiz . . . the right place to get fine quality drug goods for every purpose is SUTTON'S DRUG STORE.

THE TAR HEEL'S DRUG CENTER — Sutton's DRUG STORE — Rx SPECIALISTS
COSMETICS - MEN'S TOILETRIES - SCHOOL SUPPLIES
5531 - COMPLETE FOUNTAIN SERVICE - JUST ACROSS FRANKLIN

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

HERE'S a sad Lobster tale. Sheedy was really in hot water. His girl kept saying, "The Maine thing I don't like about you is the way you pot your hair! Haven't you red about Wildroot Cream-Boil Hair Tonic? Non-alcoholic. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. Perfect for you 'claws you need Lanolin on that water-soaked hair." Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now he shore looks slick. In fact, he's in salad with every girl on campus. So if you're net-tled about your messy hair, butter shell out 29¢ at any toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil, "Your Hair's Best Friend." Ask for it at your barber's, antenna to one you'll be tickled pink!

 of 131 So. Harris Hill Rd., Williamsville, N.Y.*

Wildroot Company, Inc., Buffalo 11, N.Y.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S
Auto Biographical Writings
PUBLISHED AT $6.00
OUR SPECIAL
$1.00
The Intimate Bookshop
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

FOR Dry Cleaning
FOR Expert Service
SEE US—
Drive Out Or Phone For Our FREE Pick-Up And Delivery Service
NU-WAY CLEANERS
"WE MEAN — WE CLEAN"
N. Graham St. Phone 9-3498

Come Out To The Record PARTY Every Night . . .
Popular, Classical, Semi-Classical, Children's Records . . .
DALE FAIRLESS
"Where It's Fun To Shop"
Glen-Lennox Shopping Center

TODAY and Thursday
Varsity
Late Show Sat.: also Sunday Monday Tuesday

What Goes On Here

Folk Dance Club

Tar Heel 'n Toes Folk Dance Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 4:45 in the Women's Gym. It will be an organizational meeting and old members are asked to attend as well as those interested in joining A discussion will be held on a regular meeting time.

Chancellor Milford Talk

The second in a series of three lectures on the Trinity will be given at 4:30 p.m. today by Chancellor Richard Milford, Lincoln England. The lectures are held in the Faculty Lounge of Morehead Planetarium.

Card Board

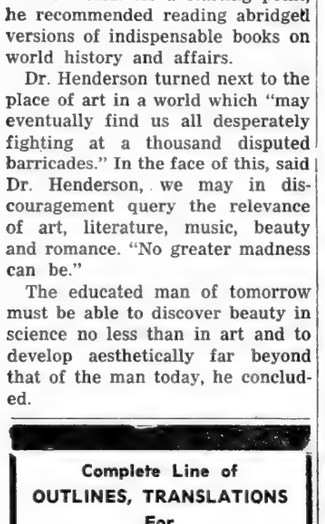
The Card Board will meet in Roland Parker Lounge 1 at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Stray Greeks

The Stray Greeks will meet at 7 p.m. today in Alderman parlor.

--Educators--

(Continued from Page 1)

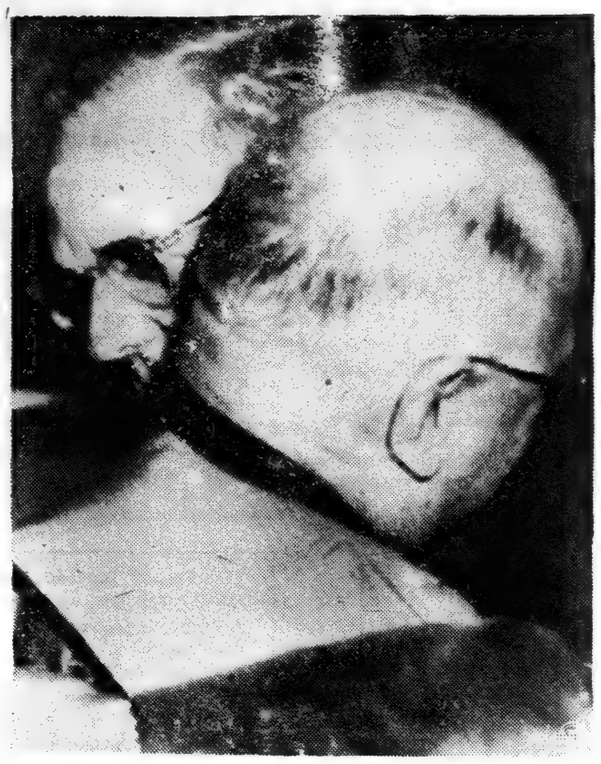


education can supply, he advised.

"Patient scrutiny, profound study and wise interpretation of world history are needed as never before." Dr. Henderson said it will take supreme diplomatic skill and wise statesmanship to correct the ills of the world. As a starting point, he recommended reading abridged versions of indispensable books on world history and affairs.

Dr. Henderson turned next to the place of art in a world which "may eventually find us all desperately fighting at a thousand disputed barricades." In the face of this, said Dr. Henderson, we may in discouragement query the relevance of art, literature, music, beauty and romance. "No greater madness can be."

The educated man of tomorrow must be able to discover beauty in science no less than in art and to develop aesthetically far beyond that of the man today, he concluded.



Complete Line of
OUTLINES, TRANSLATIONS
For
All Your Subjects
The Book Exchange
107 W. Chapel Hill St.
At 5 Points
Durham

"Imagine him threatening to knock my block off if I didn't use enough Angostura* in his Old Fashioned!"

ANGOSTURA®
AROMATIC BITTERS
MAKES BETTER DRINKS

*Angostura sharpens your taste so that your Old Fashioned seems zestier and richer. It does the same for your favorite cola drink, too! Use 5 or 6 dashes for a "Navy cola."

FRANCIS CARDINAL McINTYRE, Archbishop of Los Angeles, and Francis Cardinal Spellman (back to camera), Archbishop of New York, embrace as the two American prelates met in Rome where they are attending the consistory at which 24 new cardinals were elevated. Cardinal McIntyre is the only American among the new Cardinals summoned for elevation.—NEA Radiophoto.

POPE PIUS XII (left) arrives in the consistory hall with Msgr. Enrico Dante, prefect of the ceremonies, shortly before the Pope added 24 new cardinals to the Sacred College in a secret consistory. Tomorrow, 17 of the new cardinals will receive their tassled "galero" hats from the Pope in a public consistory. Seven of the new cardinals were unable to attend the ceremonies. — NEA Radiophoto.

HISTORY PROF GETS POST

Prof. Harold A. Bierch Jr., of the History Department, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Conference on Latin American History of the American Historical Association at the recent meeting of the organization.

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BEGINNING SHORTHAND CLASS, Monday and Thursday evenings, 7:30-8:30, Winter quarter. Call 2407 at 30 Davie Circle. (1-c3460)

FOR SALE

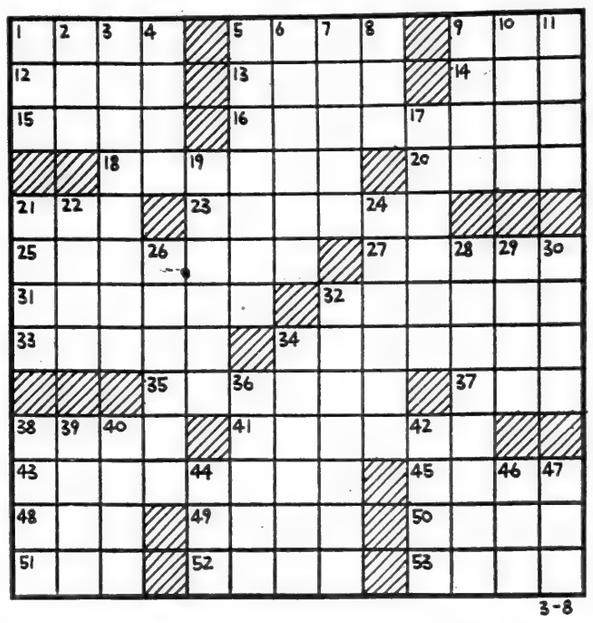
VERY REASONABLE 1950 BUICK Special 2-tone green. 4 door. Contact John Rogers at Colonial Motors or Phone 9484. (Chg. 1x1)

ONE CUSHMAN MOTOR BIKE IN good condition for quick sale $75. Tel. no. 9-5638. (1-c3453-4)

HOUSE AT 18 BARCLAY ROAD, 4 rooms. Call Mrs. Elam at 9-9301. (1-c3461-2)

IT'S LOVE, LOVE, LOVE
IN THE WORLD'S MOST ROMANTIC MUSICAL!

M-G-M presents
LANA TURNER
as
The Merry Widow
COLOR BY Technicolor
CO-STARRING
FERNANDO LAMAS
with UNA MERKEL · RICHARD HAYDN
THOMAS GOMEZ
NOW PLAYING
Carolina



COMPLETE GARAGE &
WRECKER SERVICE
NASH CARS — INTERNATIONAL TRUCKS
Chapel Hill Motors, Inc.
502 W. Franklin St.
Day Phone 9-3401
Night Phone 9-5352

$250 Awarded Ex-Student

First prize of $250 for a travel contest conducted by the "Instructor," national education magazine, was won by a former graduate student in the School of Education, Miss Letitia M. Frank.

Miss Frank, who attended the Graduate School of Education during 1951-52 at Chapel Hill, wrote on the subject, "New Vistas Opened for Me in Europe," describing her last summer's travel experiences. Her manuscript is being published in the February issue of the "Instructor" with illustrations.

She is at present teaching English, languages and psychology at the Ware Shoals, S. C., high school.

3-8

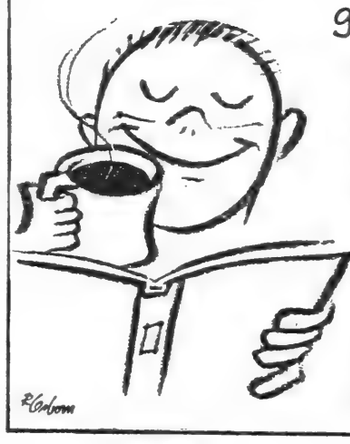
HORIZONTAL
1. simulate
5. apportion
9. dexterity
12. lifted with exertion
13. slightly elliptical
14. the turmeric
15. wide-mouthed jug
16. communications
18. experience sorrow for sin
20. swards
21. Oriental tea
23. buries
25. mourns
27. eagle's nest
31. Mohammedan princes
32. sweet singers
33. stingy hoarder
34. meat pies
35. city in Italy
37. born
38. altar end of church
41. Turkish decrees
43. a sponge (slang)
45. tissues surrounding the teeth
48. epoch
49. external: comb. form
50. clutch
51. title of address
52. observed
53. antitoxins

VERTICAL
1. personal pronoun
2. in what manner
3. general types
4. pond
5. instants
6. happenings
7. savor
8. street railways (abbr.)
9. Jason's ship
10. musical pipe
11. Russian news agency
17. affirm
19. capital of South Dakota
21. pack
22. prefix: half
24. elevated
26. wove rope
28. guarantee again
29. arrow poison
30. being
32. coarse grass yielding hay
34. sea brigand
36. female relative
38. citrus drinks
39. Persian fairy
40. European river basin
42. incites
44. Egyptian god
46. Russian community
47. Belgian health resort

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

3-8

Average time of solution: 32 minutes.
Distributed by King Features Syndicate



UN Committee

The United Nations Committee will meet at 1 p.m. today in the upstairs dining room of Lenoir Hall. Interested persons are invited.

Christian Rallies Chairman

The chairman of the Christian Rallies dinner scheduled for Sunday night in Lenoir Hall is asked to contact George Prillaman, manager of Lenoir.

give yourself a coffee-break

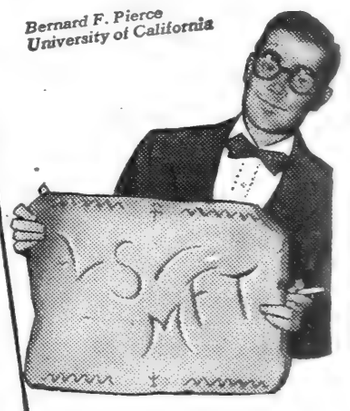
When you have to use your head... head straight for a cup of coffee! Coffee can help you think better... for coffee gently stimulates your mind. It can help you work better ... for coffee helps efficiency. You'll feel better every way ... after a coffee-break!

Pan-American Coffee Bureau, 120 Wall St., New York 5, N.Y.
Brazil • Colombia • Costa Rica
Cuba • Dominican Republic
Ecuador • El Salvador
Guatemala • Honduras
Mexico • Venezuela ©1953

Smart students know just how to treat Mid-term anxiety.
They take time out for Lucky Strike
It's good psychology!



Herbert Walker
Indiana University

Nothing-no, nothing-beats better taste
and LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!
Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

Ask yourself this question: Why do I smoke?
You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment. And you get enjoyment only from the taste of a cigarette.
Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother! Why? Luckies are made better to taste better. And, what's more, Luckies are made of fine tobacco. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco.
So, for the thing you want most in a cigarette ... for better taste—for the cleaner, fresher, smoother taste of Lucky Strike ...
Be Happy-GO LUCKY!

Some hieroglyphics stumped a prof
Of archaeology;
But when he worked them out, they said
That L.S./M.F.T.

Bernard F. Pierce
University of California

In home ec, math, or chemistry,
There's one thing you can't measure;
It is a pack of Lucky Strike
For deep-down smoking pleasure!

Lois Epstein
Buffalo State Teachers College

COLLEGE STUDENTS PREFER LUCKIES IN NATION-WIDE SURVEY!

Nation-wide survey based on actual student interviews in 80 leading colleges reveals more smokers prefer Luckies than any other cigarette by a wide margin. No. 1 reason—Luckies' better taste. Survey also shows Lucky Strike gained far more smokers in these colleges than the nation's two other principal brands combined.

LUCKY STRIKE
"IT'S TOASTED"
CIGARETTES

PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES ©A.T.Co.

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

WEATHER
Sunny and mild with 62 high. Yesterday's high, 65; low, 44.

The Daily Tar Heel

COACH
The sports editor writes about a mentor. See p. 3.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 74 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 15, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

Dr. Nelson Will Speak On Sunday

Dr. J. Robert Nelson, Methodist minister and study secretary of the United Student Christian Council, will deliver the second in this year's series of University Sermons sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Association at 8:30 p.m. Sunday in Hill Hall.

The Women's Glee Club will present several selections during the service under the direction of Joel Carter.

Pat Adylett is in charge of the program.

In June Dr. Nelson will become the executive secretary of the Faith and Ardor Commission of the World Council of Churches with offices in Geneva, Switzerland.

As former director of the Wesley Foundation here at the University, Dr. Nelson came to Chapel Hill in 1946 following duty in Guam, Japan, and China as a chaplain with the Marine Corps. He later served as director at the University of Illinois, 1950-51.

In the field of religious writings, Dr. Nelson is author of "The Realm of Redemption" published by Epworth Press in London, and he also edited "The Christian Student and the Church," "The Christian Student and the University," and "The Christian Student and the World Struggle," published by Heddam House in 1952.

The author graduated in 1941 from Depauw University, where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Beta Theta Pi, the varsity football squad and track team. He received his bachelor of divinity degree from Yale University and his doctorate in theology from the University of Zurich where he graduated "magna cum laude."

Experiences of the speaker include range from relief work in Berlin, Germany, during 1948 with Amreican Friends Service Committee to attending the first assembly of World Council of Churches in Amsterdam.

Dr. Nelson was a delegate to World University Service in Norway and the Ecumenical Methodist Conference held in Oxford, England, in 1951. During the past year he was a consultant to the Third World Conference on Faith and Order, which convened in Lund, Sweden.

Air Officers Coming Here Next Week

A team of Air Force officers and airmen will spend next Monday through Wednesday on campus where they will discuss the Aviation Cadet Training Program with Carolina AF ROTC cadets.

Presently undergoing an expansion program designed to man the 143 Wing Air Force authorized by Congress, the Air Force is pursuing the direct method of processing applications for aviation cadet training, Col. Jesse J. Moorhead of UNC said.

Qualifications for participation in the Aviation Cadet Program have undergone considerable revision, he said, and the team which will visit the University will discuss these changes and other subjects of interest with each of the Air Force ROTC classes.

Col. Moorhead said cadet training is available to all qualified men who have completed 60 semester hours or 90 quarter hours of college instruction. Applicants must be unmarried citizens and between the ages of 19 and 26 at the time of application.

MOVIE DUCATS

Tickets still are on sale at $1.50 for the series of five art films to be brought here during Winter Quarter.

The ducats may be purchased at the office of Graham Memorial or at the door of Gerrard Hall tomorrow night at the first showing. The movie will be "Metamorphosis."

DR. JAMES BRYANT CONANT (right), president of Harvard University, is congratulated by John J. McCloy after Conant was named by President-elect Eisenhower to the post of High Commissioner of Germany. McCloy formerly held hte job.—NEA Telephoto.

Pastor Cites Church Ties, Differences

By Manning Muntzing

The Rev. Maurice Kidder, pastor of the Church of the Holy Family, Tuesday pointed out the differences in modern day religions then turned to something "even more remarkable."

The "even more remarkable," according to Mr. Kidder, are the similarities and connections binding different beliefs." Mr. Kidder spoke at the second of a series of religious discussions sponsored by the YMCA.

Speaking on the Old Testament as a background for the Judean Christian traditions, Mr. Kidder stated, "No matter what end is accomplished, Judean Christian beliefs have deep ties if for no other reason than that Christianity was born and bred in Judism."

Mr. Kidder related such Judena Christian events as the journey of the Jews through the desert to the Promised Land, the preservation of Sohom for 10 good men and the last hour's reduction of Jesus's followers to two cross companions.

After answering numerous questions posed by the group, Mr. Kidder closed the discussion remarking, "God could shame man for certainty by coming to earth Himself showing the extent to which He will go for the salvation of man."

The series of discussions held each Tuesday afternoon, 4 to 5:30, in the Y Cabinet Room will be conducted by Rabbi Efriam Rosenzweig at the next meeting.

Arrangements for the series of lectures have been carried out by th YWCA Christian Faith and Heritage Commission. Jane Berryhill is chairman.

NEWS IN BRIEF

DURHAM—Gov. Umstead sent word to Raleigh yesterday that he wants "the business of the Legislature and the State to continue uninterrupted in any way by his illness." The Governor is at Watts Hospital where he was admitted early Sunday morning with a slight heart condition. Dr. C. H. Burnett and Ernest Craig, specialists from the University of North Carolina Medical School, met with the Governor's physician Tuesday night. They agreed that the Physician's diagnosis and treatment of the slight heart ailment suffered by the Governor was correct.

★

GRIDLEY, Calif.—Air Force investigators were on their way here yesterday to look ror the failure that caused a B-50 Super-fortress to crash, killing 12 crewmen. The Strategic Air Command plane, on a routine navigational flight out of Castle AFB, Merced, Calif., crashed in a flooded rice field 12 miles west of here Tuesday. It's entire crew of 12 men died. The crash was the 10th military air disaster in the Pacific Coast area in two months and brought the accumulated death toll to 288 for the period.

★

SEOUL—Allied Sabrejets yesterday destroyed or damaged 16 communist MIG-15 jet fighters as Americans Thunder jets and B-29 superforts kept the Red forces off balance for the sixth straight day by again blasting the main enemy supply route out of Manchuria. Eight of the Russian-built jets were destroyed and eight damaged in fights north of Sinanju. It was the greatest MIG-15 toll taken since Sept. 4 when 13 of theCommunist jets were destroyed and fourdamaged.

Well-Known Newsman Will Speak Here Friday

"Better Newspapers" will be the topic of an address by J. Russell Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post, at the annual sessions of the North Carolina Newspaper Institute to be held here and at Durham next week.

J. R. WIGGINS
Managing Editor
The Washington Post

He will speak at a Friday morning session in Chapel Hill.

Wiggins, a member of the board of directors of The American Society of Newspaper Executives, takes the place on the program of James S. Pope, executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, and who recently was taken ill and will be unable to attend the Institute.

Well-known throughout the nation as a topflight newspaper executive, he has been managing editor of the Washington Post for the past six years following his position as assistant to the publisher of the New York Times.

During the first hour of the two-hour session Friday week, Wiggins will talk about techniques for improving the quality and coverage of newspapers. After his address, the meeting will be thrown open to questions from the floor.

Horton's 'State Of Campus' Speech To Open Legislature

Institute Gets Gift If State Will Match

The Institute of Government has a chance at a half million dollar gift if the state will come through with the same amount.

The $500,000 is being condiionally offered by the Knapp Foundation of North Carolina which was created by the late Joseph Palmer Knapp, publisher of such magazines as Woman's Home Companion, American Magazine, Collier's and This Week.

As specified by the foundation, the North Carolina Legislature must at its 1953 session "appropriate not less than $500,000 toward the cost of the building." Such a request is in the University's request due before the Legislature this week.

President Gordon Gray hailed the proposed new government building as "symbolizing the University's tradition of training for public service. . . It will be the acknowledged center and symbol of (North Carolina's 300 city halls, 100 county courthouses and score of state capitol buildings.)"

Knapp came from New York to Currituck county in North Carolina in 1916 for rest, relaxation, and recreation. He loved to hunt and fish, and Currituck county provided happy hunting grounds and happy fishing waters.

In the years that followed he built a home on Mackay Island and began to make himself part of the life of the people of that section of the state.

In Currituck he found plenty of people with problems, particularly in those days when they were hard put to scratch a living out of the earth or to fish a livelihood out of the surrounding waters.

Official records show that Knapp made a gift of $50,000 to the Currituck schools in 1923, followed soon by another $50,000 gift, and a later contribution of $175,000 for a new building at Poplar Branch.

The late State Superintendent Clyde Erwin said at that time that ty to take the lead in the state in these gifts enabled Currictuck counthe nine months school and to become the first county in the state to adopt a free textbook plan, to serve free lunches, to employ a school nurse and to use methods of visual education.

Knapp also made substantial gifts regularly to the County Board of Public Welfare and to a North Carolina hospital in that section.

Mrs. Knapp also had a deep interest in the schools and supplemented her husband's gifts by building the first brick school house on Knotts Island—the first school in the county to be completely equipped.

The Knapps' intrest in North Carolina has continued through the years and additional gifts have been made by the Knapp Foundation. These include $200,000 toward the State School Survey, $30,000 for the Institute of Fisheries Research, and $20,000 for the State College Technical Institute at Morehead City.

Knapp early saw the need for trained public officials to handle the growing complexities of government. The story is told that while with some hunting companions he expressed the idea that state and local government officials needed to be prepared for their jobs—just as are dentists, doctors and lawyers, Knapp said.

One of hte hunters told Knapp of the work the institute of Government was doing under Albert Coates. Subsequently, Knapp wrote to Coates and established a firm interest in Coates' organization. That interest culminated with his recent gift to tne institute.

DR. ADKINS ELECTED

Dr. Dorothy C. Adkins of the Psychology Department has been appointed to the Committee on Ethical Standards for Psychology of the American Psychological Association for a three-year term.

Dr. Adkins also was recently elected a member of the association's Policy and Planning Board.

Figures Show Slight Drop In Enrollment

University enrollment figures for the Winter Quarter show only a slight drop from last quarter's total fo 5,352 students.

A statistical report released yesterday by Central Records Office shows that 5,218 students are enrolled for the Winter Quarter—134 less than in the fall.

The largest number of students is enrolled in General College where there are 1,058 freshmen. Th total number enrolled in General College is 1,899.

Students from North Carolina number 4,058. The next state in quantity of representation is Virginia with 148. There are 1,101 students from other states and 59 from foreign countries and U. S. Possessions.

Among the 624 veterans using the GI Bill this quarter are 131 Korean veterans. There are 22 women using the GI Bill. Total number of veterans enrolled is 1,056.

Shea To Give Three Talks Here Today

Frank R. Shea, editor and foreign correspondent for Time, Inc., will give the first of three campus lectures here this morning at 10 o'clock.

Shea will speak to Dr. David G. Monroe's political science 81 class on "Ridgway's New Right Flank—the Importance of Greece and Turkey to the West."

At 11 o'clock, Shea will speak to Prof. Joe Morrison's Journalism 53 class on "What Makes Time Tick."

"Latin American Ferment—Peron Exploits our Neglected Good Neighbors" will be the topic of Shea's final campus address. This speech will be made at 2 p.m. in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial to a group of students interested in Latin American affairs.

Leading Solon Issues In '53, NSA And SEC

By Louis Kraar

Campus lawmakers will meet tonight at 7:15 in Phi Hall to hear President Ham Horton's (UP) views on what should be done for the students this quarter.

Horton's address, which might aptly be called a "state of the campus" talk, is expected to deal mainly with the budget for next year, He has indicated he will have National Student Association and some extra words to say about the the Student Entertainment Committee.

Thirty-nine new legislators will be sworn in during brief ceremonies at the beginning of the meeting. Election of officers and standing commite chairmans is also schduld.

Alhough Horton's suggestions carry no real power, his advice as chief administrator will doubtlessly influence Legislature. It is expected that Horton's proposed program will suit both parties for the most part, since the University Party no longer holds a majority.

President Horton hinted earlier this week that he may launch forth with a strong censure of Carolina's affiliation with the National college group that, among other things, acts as a clearing house for ideas on student governments and expresses an official voice for students in other groups.

Rumors that some politicians favor abolishment of SEC support from students funds have been talked about campus during the past week. Commenting earlier on these rumors, Horton made it clear that he definitely favors the present system of support of SEC.

Student Entertainment Committee got $5000 this year from Legislature. Two programs have been presented so far, the U. S. Marine Band and the Festival of Song. Chief objection of opponents is that all students can't be seated in Memorrial Hall, which seats only 1,600.

"If any change is made, it should be to spend more for them," declared Horton earlier this week.

On the other hand, Joel Fleishman, newly elected SP floor leader, pointed out, "Our party is going to go over the budget item by item to re-evaluate the entire budget. Cuts will be made.

Officers to be elected tonight are speaker pro-tem, parliamentarian, clerk and sergeant-at-arms. The six standing committees to which chairmans will be appointed are Ways and Means, Finance, Rules, Elections, Coed Affairs, and Archives.

PRESIDENT HORTON
. . . something for the boys

Playmakers' Revels Slated For Saturday

By Betty Johnson

The ghoulish family familiar to many through the New Yorker cartoons of Charles Addams will move into the Playmakers Theater Saturday night when the Playmakers lay aside conventions in their 25th annual Twelfth-Night Revels.

The activities of Addams' popular characters have been assembled and directed into an hour of entertainment by Louise Lamont, with special music by Wisner Washam and scenery by Don Treat.

The cast includes the young mother-witch inspired by one of Gloria Swanson's early films, her block-shaped, Boris Karloff-ish butler, and the witch's mate, modeled after Thomas E. Dewey. Grandmother witch is Addams' own Grandma Emma Tufts, the way she looked to him early in the morning.

Person Hall Now Showing Children's Art

Currently on exhibition in Person Art Gallery are drawings, paintings, and modellings, by young artists from Chapel Hill.

The display, done by children between the ages of five and 13 enrolled in a Saturday morning art class, will be shown through Jan. 25. The techniques employed include potato block prints, collages, tempra, crayon and spatter work. The class was taught by David Huntley with assistance by Tom Brame and Jane Bolmeir. It was conducted in Person Art Gallery Fall quarter.

A collection of Hogarth prints continues on exhibition in the larger gallery. The original prints, presented to the University by Dr. William G. Morgan, deal with 18th century England. Notable among the satiric series for which Hogarth is famous are "The Rake's Progress" and "Marriage a la Mode."

SPLASH CLUB

The UNC Splash Club for coed swimmers will hold its Winter Quarter tryouts Monday night at 7 o'clock in Bowman-Gray Pool.

Interested swimmers are invited.

Party Line: Reporter Appraises Meeting

Carolina's Legislature meets today.

Because decisions made by this group will affect every student on campus, students are more or less interested. Some will claim to be totally disinterested, but they all will care where their money goes.

The Student Party has gained a majority this time. It's the first time in some 14 years, they claim. Naturally, they will be expected to please. No party can please everyone, but they should at least strive to please the majority of the students.

The definition of a politician that says he must be a fellow who can straddle the fence and yet keep both ears to the ground seems pretty true.

These 50 representatives of the student should make up a sort of majority, too. Instead of an SP or UP majority though, they should strive for a "representative" majority. The individual legislator should reflect the views of those he represents. Party interests should come second or not at all. It's idealistic, but a good idea.

PREVIEW: Student government is in for some structural revisions this quarter. Student Party members are busy now evaluating each branch and considering possible revisions. This reporter hopes redistricting is not on the slate of revisions as University Party key men seem to think it is.

OVERTIME: While 5,000 Tar Heels drummed up Yule joy, Ham Horton, Sol Cherry and Phinn Horton swung around to see Trustees on the still breathing monster issue of Saturday classes. The ones they saw were receptive enough. And it's only these individual meetings that will keep them out. Have you seen your Trustee?

AT DEADLINE: Horton's address to Legislature tonight will bring NSA into the political spotlight where it should have been long ago. But will we see action?—L.K.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Delaine Bradsher | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgr. — Ned Beeker
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Joe Raff.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Buzzy Shull, Buddy Harper, Eleanor Saunders, Judy Taylor, Bozy Sugg, Nancy Perryman.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Alice Chapman, Jane Carter, Nina Gray, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jess Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Jay Zimmerman, Dave Herbert.

SPORTS STAFF—Vandy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, Charlie Dunn.

Night Editor for this issue: Everett Parker

Proposals

You're minus 5 bucks each quarter.

That five accumulates. In less than two months the green stuff is to be divided into a dozen different sections. Whether you like it or not, whether you know it or not, a bunch of people, 50 students, decide the fate of that money. Multiply five by 5,000 and you have 25,000. Three a year gives you $75,000 a year. That's a lot of money.

This bunch of people, the Student Legislature, meets o-night. Fifty elected students may be there. Next week, we know maybe only 35 will be there. By the time March rolls around, there might be an average attendance of 30 to 35 with at least 10 to 20 seats vacated, members reappointed.

That's the group that handles your money. They'll show more, interest, go to more meetings, accomplish more if you let them know occasionally how you feel about them, their party or their efforts, or lack of efforts.

Both parties, the University party last spring, and the Student Party, this all have promised so many point programs. The SP is in power by a slim margin. That party has promised a positive program for two years in the legislative branch.

Whatever their plans or the plans of Prexy Horton, we have some suggestions, because we feel that any group of elected people having $75,000 to handle, has a lot of power. The Legislature starts from there, and can go on almost indefinitely. It has, therefore, more than just the budget to worry about.

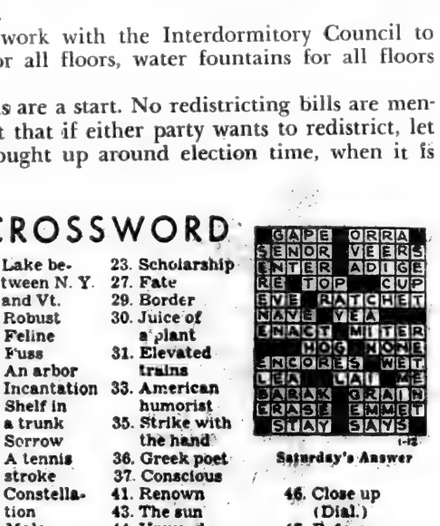
1. A Voluntary Student Entertainment Program, letting ALL students participate. It's physically impossible now to get 5000 into Memorial Hall for a good program.

2. Make the Debate Council a University project. Since one of the primary objects of the council is to spread good will around this region, investigate the posssibility of letting the Universiy provide funds for intercollegiate debates.

3. Strengthen the National Students Association program at Chapel Hill by making the local commttee report to the legislature periodically.

4. Reinstitute a committee to look into the mechanics of the Honor Courts.

5. Resolve to work with the Interdormitory Council to provide phones for all floors, water fountains for all floors of dormitories.



These proposals are a start. No redistricting bills are mentioned. We suggest that if either party wants to redistrict, let the subject be brought up around election time, when it is most pertinent.

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Large farm (West U.S.)
6. Taxicabs
10. City (Neb.)
11. Take as one's own
13. Artificial inland waterway
14. Citadel
15. Cry, as a cat
17. Guido's highest note
18. Artificial light
21. Too much
24. Verbal
25. Audience
26. Trite
28. Manage carefully
32. Electrified particle
34. A part of the telephone
35. Ramshackle house
38. Mischievous persons
39. Humble
40. Newt
42. Accumulate
45. Assistants
49. President of Argentina
50. Watered silk
51. Trust
52. Come in

DOWN
1. Fabulous bird
2. Wine cup
3. Girl's nickname
4. Lake between N. Y. and Vt.
5. Robust
6. Feline
7. Fuss
8. An arbor
9. Incantation
12. Shelf in a trunk
16. Sorrow
18. A tennis stroke
19. Constellation
20. Male adult
22. Carting vehicle
23. Scholarship
27. Fate
29. Border
30. Juice of a plant
31. Elevated trains
33. American humorist
35. Strike with the hand
36. Greek poet
37. Conscious
41. Renown
43. The sun
44. Upward curving of a ship's planking
46. Close up (Dial.)
47. Before
48. Varying weight (Ind.)

Saturday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is LONGFELLOW
AXYDLBAAXR

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

JV NOPVR TJK XOVR SK TOC F NFRSOCH CFLV—XGBLLKCX.

John Gibson

Pulque

Writing on Sunday, I assumed for the sake of argument that there was something more behind the Board of Trustee's order for Saturday classes than a mere attempt to utilize a few hours of that day. Today let's assume that there wasn't. Such a "let's-keep-the-kids-off-the-street" attitude betrays on the part of hte Board a rather striking belief in the fundamental immaturity of Carolina students. This is regretable, but on the other hand Carolina students often give veidnece of an immaturity which is indeed striking.

Let's also assume that the utilization of Saturday classes will put us on the semester system. What are some of the advantages and disadvantages of this system as compared to the quarter schedule?

Under both systems the student carries an average of 15 hours per week. By semesters, five three-hour courses over a six day week; by quarters, three five-hour courses over a five day week. With the quarter system, the student studies a smaller number of courses rather intensively. Under the semester system, it means studying a larger number of courses less intensively. The comparative advantages fo the two methods depend largely upon your point of view. This writer prefers the quarter set up, since it is hard enough to assimilate and associate three different subjects at once; five is impossible.

With the semester system a greater number of courses are taught per teaching unit, so the choice is somewhat greater. Couple with this, however, the fact that more courses must be taken and it about evens out. The semester system is used by many more colleges and universities, and this is a consideration to students transfering in or out of Carolina.

A switch to the semester system would result in an increase in the total number of jobs available to graduate instructors. By quarters, 6 courses are taught by two instructors who teach one class each quarter. By semesters, 6 courses would be taught by three instructors; one class each itme. (Unless they doubled up, which is not likely.) Though increasing the number of positions, the pay per month would be lowered if it were spread out pro rata over the additional time. This would reduce the already low monthly wage of an instructor to such a point that the University would find itself in an unfavorable competitive position with other good institutions, especially in the light of the new tuition policy.

It would seem that under the quarter system it would be easier for professors to take time off for research, since they could miss a third of a year, instead of half of it. It would also be easier to get replacements for them, since they would be teaching a smaller number of courses. Also there are many research professors who seem to feel that the quarter system lends itself particularly well to their purposes. And like it or not, the position of a University depends, more than any other single thing, upon the quality of the research done at that institution.

The Board is asked only to consider carefully the effects of a change to the semester system before authorizing it. If a number of Carolina's excellent faculty members would resent such a shift, and therefore look for greener pastures, the move should be carefully weighed. Though the University is run by the folks who sit behind the desks in Raleigh, its quality of instruction is determined by those who sit behind the desks in Chapel Hill!

"Anything Yet About Me Moving Somewhere?"

DREW PEARSON

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON — When Gen. Eisenhower appointed Charles E. Wilson of General Motors to his cabinet he automatically killed two birds with one political stone.

1. He paid off an important debt by rewarding the motor moguls who pressured Arthur Summerfield into switching from Taft to Eisenhower at the Chicago convention.

2. More important, he secured the best production man in industry to head up the Defense Department—a department which now puts tanks and guns on a par with men.

He also brought into his official family an earthy, warm-hearted individual who works long hours, sometimes spends the night in his office, drives his own car, and had the foresight to negotiate a labor contract which electrified the world.

Along with Wilson's production genius and his refreshing outlook on labor problems, Eisenhower has bought himself some headaches.

It is said that the sun never sets on the General Motors industrial empire. It operates four plants in England, two in Australia, one in Argentina, Belgium, Denmark, Brazil, India, Java, Peru, Mexico, New Zealand, Venezuela, Sweden and South Africa.

But it is likewise true that the American soldier does not fight without using some piece of General Motors equipment—from trucks to tanks, jeeps to airplanes, guns to refrigerators, AC spark plugs to locomotives, plus gas engines, diesel engines, airplane engines, and so on.

Thus, the new boss of the Defense Department will be in the embarrassing, sometimes almost untenable position of differentiating between Wilson's new interest as head of the armed forces and Wilson's old interest as head of General Motors.

Wilson will have to lay down general policy not only on contracts but on allocations of critical materials. And if he asks that he be relieved of these decisions, then it will fall to the lot of his deputy, Rober M. Kyes, who also is a General Motors man.

Furthermore, some of these general policies cannot be sidestepped or delegated. For instance, Wilson, when head of General Motors in 1942, argued in favor of continuing the production of automobiles — despite Pearl Harbor and despite the urgency of war production. Finally the War Department stepped in, ignored Wilson's arguments, closed down all auto production, turned the auto plants over to munitions.

In just one week, Wilson will be in a position where he will have to make similar policy decisions, whether his own companies are involved or not.

Not only will he have to decide such difficult problems as whether critical materials shall be allocated to industry or government; but he will also have to pass on the general policy of whether critical materials shall go to little business or big business.

Thus the new Secretary of Defense will meet himself coming round the corner as ex-head of General Motors at almost every turn of the road.

One of the first hot potatoes Secretary of Defense Wilson will have tossed into his lap is the question of profits on government contracts. For some years, military contracts have been renegotiated after completion and the profit scaled up or down so the contractor gets a profit of 6 per cent.

Recently some big government suppliers, including General Motors, have wanted the profit upped to 12 per cent.

"That," remarked Secretary of Defense Lovett when the problem was handed him, "is something I will let my successor decide."

So the ex-head of General Motors, one of six companies supplying the armed forces with 60 per cent of all munitions, will find this baby on his doorstep when he moves in Jan. 20.

Wilson got his humanitarian qualities from his parents who were small-town school teachers. . . . He began life as an electrical engineer at 18 cents an hour, designed the first automobile self-starter for Westinghouse. . . . After he joined General Motors in 1919, he took over its sales division, became executive vice president, and pushed G.M. to its biggest expansion. Bendix and North American Aviation were acquired; also Winton, Sunlight, Allison. . . . After going through one ofthe worst strikes in labor history, Wilson hit on the cost-of-living formula for wages and signed a long-term contract with the United Auto Workers.

Mrs. Wilson doesn't go in for much social life, probably won't care for Washington's gala dinners. . . . Wilson operates a farm, specializes in Ayrshire dairy cows and prize horses, once rode with the hounds but gave it up after a bad spill from a balky horse. . . . Wilson pays an income tax of around $430,000. His salary and bonuses in 1949 were $586,00. He also owns 18,742 shares of G.M. stock which he probably will not want to sell during his term in the Defense Department.

Norman Jarrard

Reviews

The two books which came to my hand to review this week are both reprints of novels which first appeared in the thirties. The later one is Aldous Huxley's "After Many A Summer Dies The Swan" (Avon, 35c), and the earlier, Christopher Isherwood's "The Last of Mister Norris" (Avon, 25c). As it happens, both of these writers have an interest in the religion of India and the East and mysticism in general. Huxley can point to his preserved eyesight as a fruit of his study in that field. The continuing interest of both is shown by a recent edition of the Bhagavad Gita of which Isherwood is a co-translator and which has an introduction by Huxyle. But all of this bears only indirectly on the two novels, although the theme of "After Many A Summer"—man's relation to time—does show the direct influence of Eastern thought.

On the plot level, "After Many A Summer" is the story of a sixty year-old California millionaire, Jo Stoyte, who is trying to find a way to live longer. In the meantime, he gets temporary boosts from testosterone. His incentive is his twenty-two year-old mistress, Virginia Maunciple ("Baby"), who adds necessary spice to the story. The climax comes when the living results of an eighteenth-century experiment in longevity are found.

Isherwood's "The Last of Mr. Norris" is written in a less heavy-handed manner and is appropriate to his use of irony as contrasted to Huxley's satire. In general, Isherwood's novel studies morals and feelings rather than a metaphysical problem. It pictures the political and moral confusion of Berlin in the days just before the Nazis took over. It is told choppily by William Bradshaw and is the story of his friendship with Arthur Norris, a man of peculiar sexual interests and a mysterious source of money. Both men are on the side of the communist party in Germany. Most interest for me was centered on the description of that period of unrest and on the characterization of Mr. Norris. If anyone wants more, there is Isherwood's "Goodbye ot Berlin" (Signet, 25c) the story from which the Broadway play "I Am A Camera" was taken.

Tar Heels Trounce VMI, 97-58 For Ninth S C Win

Down In Front

by Biff Roberts

NOT AS IT SEEMS

ON THE SURFACE and from the general public's viewpoint the meeting of Carolina's Athletic Council Tuesday night did little toward hiring us a new head football coach. But, it shouldn't be considered a surprise if a man were named to the position during the meeting. It will take a few days before all the details can be worked out—the appointee must be approved by President Gordon Gray and the Board of Trustees—and for that reason, plus the fact that an offer must be made to and accepted by the prospective mentor, the Council has withheld its decision. The Coaching Committee of the Council met yesterday afternoon and is scheduled to meet today. An announcement should be coming tomorrow or the next day, certainly before the week is out.

We may have a new coach but you can't find many people in the State, excluding the 10-men on the Athletic Council, who know exactly who he is. A week ago most people were giving good odds that it would be Maryland's Jim Tatum. Now you hear those same people swear that it will be Stu Holcomb of Purdue or our own George Barclay. The only thing that seems definite now is that the coach will be chosen from one of the three. You heard the name of Art Guepe mentioned a good bit in the early campaign, in fact it was falsely rumored that he was in Chapel Hill Tuesday night, but the fact is that Guepe was consulted but given little consideration. Johnny Vaught of Mississippi was also talked up, but he was not consulted. The names of Paul Brown of the pro Cleveland Browns and Frank Leahy of Notre Dame also made the rounds but their names are mentioned for almost every college job open in the country and there is little chance of weaning them from their present jobs. Two others who have been connected with the Carolina football scene, last fall's assistant, Jim Gill, and Marvin Bass, who served the last season as line coach with the Washington Redskins, were also considered, but there is good reason to believe that they are out of the race for the top spot.

WHO'S WHO

SO THAT LEAVES US with Tatum, Holcomb, and Barclay—you can take your own choice. Because the Council failed to name him last night may mean that Tatum has slipped from the favored position he was rumored to be holding. His name has been prominently mentioned ever since Carl Snavely resigned and it seems that if he were to be the choice he would have been given the nod by now. His name caused the greatest controversy in the chase for a coach and this controversy may have soured the Council on selecting him.

Stu Holcomb, whose name wasn't even mentioned until Athletic Director Hhuck Erickson did some interviewing in Washington at the NCAA meeting over the weekend, has been boosted into a leading position in only a few days time. Holcomb has six years to go on a contract at Purdue and is reportedly getting a salary of $12,500 there, which may make it tough to get him away from the Boilermakers. We would have to give him a boost in pay and also guarantee a few years on a contract. It is reported that he is peeved at his fellow Big Ten members, however, for voting Wisconsin, with whom he tied for the Big Ten championship this past fall, to the Rose Bowl instead of his Purdue team. For the most part, too, Purdue has had to take the "leavings" as far as talent is concerned in the Big Ten's yearly search of high schools. An increase in pay, a good contract, and these slights he has suffered at Purdue may bring him here—if he's the one who has been chosen.

BARCLAY COMES BACK

BARCLAY WAS ALMOST counted out a few days ago by most observers but he may have picked up some prestige after last night's meeting. He is well liked by Woollen Gym brass and had a good record before coming here, bringing Washington and Lee its best teams in recent years in his first college head coaching job. Like Tatum, he was mentioned a great deal when the search began, but his popularity dropped midway through the campaign. It seems to be coming back up again now.

As much as you may har the cry, "Nay," the selection will have to be one which will please alumni. It will have to be one which will produce a winning team. And it will have to be one which will sell tickets, which in turn will finance football and the rest of the Carolina athletic program. Think it over. Who would you have selected as our new head coach? Save for the "Silent Ten" on the Athletic Council and a few others, your guess is as good as anybody elses.

Lifson Leads UNC With 20

By Tom Peacock

North Carolina's basketball team breezed through its ninth straight SC win of the season last night in in Woollen Gym and equaled its highest scoring effort in a 97-58 rout of VMI.

Carolina's Coach Frank McGuire pulled the starting team in the last few minutes of the first half and again at the end of the third quarter. Not a starter played in the last period.

Carolina Forward Al Lifson was the high scorer for the contest with 20 points, and the Keydet's Karl Klinar was runner-up with 18. The Tar Heel Co-captain Vince Grimaldi scored 17 while playing with a badly bruised shoulder suffered in Tuesday's game with Davidson.

The Tar Heels' 97 point total was due largely to complete control of the rebounding and the smooth working fast break. UNC also scored 97 against W & L last week.

The Tar Heels took a quick 5-0 lead at the beginning of the game on two field goals by Lifson and a foul shot by Vayda, and quickly extended the lead to 10 points with the first quarter ending 28-18. VMI hung on for a few minutes and pulled up to 14-12 once but Co-captain Jack Wallace threw in five quick points for Carolina to start the rout.

Grimaldi's scoring was most spectacular for the Tar Heels, the six foot guard hitting on long push shots while Jerry Vayda and Bud Maddie controlled the backboards.

UNC's second team, playing almost half the game, continued the capable play of the starters and barely missed scoring the 100 points that the crowd screamed for. VMI lessened the pace in the last few minutes, and Skippy Winstead scored Caroiina's last two points on a lay-up from under the basket with 12 seconds left in the game.

burden for the winners in the first half and wound the evening with 18 points and high honors for both clubs. Joe Belmont, the scrappy little sub, pumped in 13 points for Duke as he led the fourth period spurt. Other scoring leaders for the winners were Dick Appleton with 11, Ron Barnes and Jim Duncan with 10 apicee, and Larry Bateman with nine points.

A newcomer led Carolina in its losing effort. Tonny Radovich dropped in 14 points for the Tar Babies as he put on what amounted to almost a one-man show in the closing minutes of the contest. Glen Stephenson, a steady performer from Erwin, also bucketed 14 for Carolina. Gerald McCade got 10 points for the losers.

Duke's enterprising Freshman Basketball team, trying to hit the century mark for the second consecutive night failed by only two points, as they routed the Carolina J. V.'s, 98-66 last night.

The Blue Imps slaughtered the same Carolina squad Tuesday night by a score of 105 - 47. Playing in the preliminary clash of the Tar Heel-VMI contest, in woollen Gym, Duke scored 8 points in the final two minutes of the game as they tried shot after shot for the 100 point mark.

VMI	fg	ft	pf	tp
McDowell, f	0	1	0	1
Ralph f,	4	3	4	11
Wentz, f	0	2	4	2
Pougherty, f	3	4	3	2
Hall, f	0	0	1	0
Klipar, c	6	6	5	18
Collman, c	0	0	1	0
Part, G	0	0	0	0
Fencel, g	0	0	1	0
Walter, g	3	2	4	8
Nyman, g	3	0	1	6
Gibson, g	0	0	0	0
Klinar, c	0	0	0	0
TOTALS	19	20	24	58
CAROLINA	fg	ft	pf	tp
Lifson, f	8	4	3	20
Vayda, f	3	4	3	10
Maddie, c	1	3	4	5
Likins, c	5	4	1	14
Schwarz, c	1	2	2	4
Carter, c	0	1	5	1
Grimaldi, g	8	1	1	17
Winstead, g	3	1	2	7
Glancy, g	4	0	2	8
Wallace, g	4	3	4	11
TOTALS	37	23	26	97

Score by periods:

VMI	18	15	16	9—58
UNC	28	26	22	21—97

Free throws missed: Ralph, 1.
Halftime: Carolina 54, VMI 33.

Carolina Matmen Lose First Meet Of 1952-53 Season

DURHAM, Jan. 14—Duke University put together five decisions and a fault to defeat the University of North Carolina wrestling team, 20-6, here tonight in a March of Dimes benefit match. It was a regularly scheduled Southern Conference match.

The Blue Devils took the first four bouts to build up a 14-0 lead in handing the Tar Heels their first defeat of the campaign. Carolina's Tommy Stokes decisioned Jerry Levine in the 157-lb division for the visitors' first points.

Harvey Bradshaw decisioned Fred Asccardo in the 167 division for the Tar Heels' only other score. Miles Gregory barely missed a victory in the 177 class when he lost a close one to Fred Buckheit.

The summary:

123 lb—Roth (D) decisioned Pawlik (C); 130 lb—Rowe (D) pimned Forester (C); 137 lb—Burrell (D) decisioned Haines (C); 147 lb—Rehor (D) decisioned McGehee (C); 157 lb—Stokes (C) decisioned Levine (D); 167 lb—Bradshaw decisioned Arccardo (D); 177 lb—Buckheit (D) decisioned Gregory (C); Heavyweight—Campbell (D) decisioned Holt (C).

MURALS

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 3, DKE-1 vs. SPE-1; Court 4, SAE-1 vs. Lamb Chi-1; Court 5, Cobb-3 vs. Aycock-2; Court 6, Chi Psi-1 vs Veta 1; Court 7, Cobb-4 vs. Lewis 4.

5:00—Court 3, Zeta Psi-1 vs. PiKA-3; Court 4, Chi Phi-1 vs. Phi Kap Sig-3; Court 5, Phi Gam-1 vs. Pi Lamb; Court 6, Delt Sig vs. Phi Delt-1; Court 7, Winston-3 vs Law School-3.

7:00—Court 3, Phi Delt Chi-2 vs. ATO-3; Court 4, Phi-4 vs. Kap Sig-1; Court 5, Aycock-1 vs. Lewis-1; Court 6, KA1 vs. ATO-4; Court 7, BVP-2 vs. Alexander-2.

8:00—Court 3, ZBT-1 vs. Chi Phi-2; Court 4, Sig Chi-4 vs. Zetes-2; Court 5, Grimes-1 vs. Med School-4; Court 6, Ruffin-1 vs. Everett-1; Court 7, Cobb-2 vs. Stacy.

WAKE FOREST TICKETS

Students, employees, and faculty members of the University, holding passbooks ending in even numbers will have today, tomorrow and Saturday in which to exchange their pass book tickets for regular reserved seat tickets to the Wake Forest-Carolina game here next Tuesday night.

The ticket office is open from 9-4:30 every day.

The Oriental
Air-Conditioned
CHINESE & AMERICAN
Open Daily 11-9:45
Sunday 12-9:45
116 E. Parrish St., Durham

Stationery—Books—Greeting Cards—Gift Shop
Esterbrook Pens—Picture Frames and Picture Framing
Thomas Book Store
Cor. Corcoran & Chapel Hill Sts., Durham
Phone J-2331
L. C. Smith & Corona Typewriters—Desk Pads
Shaeffer Pens—Kodaks & Supplies—Desk Lamps
Expert Repair on all makes of Typewriters

WE BUY
USED BOOKS
The Book Exchange
107 W. Chapel Hill St.
At 5 Points
Durham

NOTICE FOR R.O.T.C BOYS
Khaki Socks
Black Socks
Plain Toed Shoes
Black and Brown
Black Suitable for Formal Wear
Berman's
DEPARTMENT STORE

A Good Will Service For Case Beer Shoppers
For those who like to party or drink a bottle of beer at home the "Rathskeller" is featuring now, as a token of thanks for your past patronage, a
REDAELSSOL
IN CASE BEER
Milwaukee's first and finest ice-cold
Blatz Beer At Cost!
$4.17 plus tax per case in cans or throw-away bottles
Pick up your case at the
RATHSKELLER

Duke Takes Second Game From Jaycees; Wins 98 - 67

It was Duke all the way in last night's game, as the Durham boys took the lead soon after the opening whistle and gradually built it up past the comfortable mark. Duke led 17-8 at the close of the first period, and had increased it to 40-25 by halftime. Still going strong, the Blue Imps had run up a margin of 24 points, 62-38 at the three-quarter point. In spite of the presence of subs in the lineup for most of the quarter, Duke burned the nets for 36 points in the final period.

Carolina's best chance for a close ballgame came soon after the second half got underway. Trailing 40-25 Carolina's John Dittmar connected on a hook under the basket and then dropped a foul to narrow the margin to 12. Jack Woods, the freshman from Danville, Va., stole the ball on an inbounds play and went in for a snowbird to make the score 40-30 in favor of Duke. After that, the Blue Imps found the range and applied pressure once more.

John Tobin carried the scoring

Frosh Drop Match 36-0

Carolina's freshman wrestling crew suffered a 36-0 shutout at the hands of the Camp Lejeune Marines in a match staged at the leatherneck base Tuesday night. The Marine grapplers were all veterans of college wrestling.

Six of the eight Tar Heel competitors were pinned, with the other two losing in decisions. Four of the pinnings occurred in the first round. Harold Schwartz of Carolina lost to Wilson in two minutes and five seconds in the shortest match of the evening.

Bill Ginn made the best showing for the losers, dropping a close 11-9 decision to Warcewicz in the 167 pound class. Ginn almost pinned his opponent twice. John Tyndell also did well while dropping an 11-4 decision to Carmichael. Thompson was pinned by Lejune's John Gallaghan in five minutes and 35 seconds, but Gallaghan was by far the best man on the Marine squad.

The most uneven match from a standpoint of weight was the unliminted where Lejune's "Tiny"

(See FROSH, page 4)

How About You?
During the past week hundreds of students have taken advantage of—
The Sport Shop's
January Clearance Sale!

How about you? Have you cashed in on this big event? Remember, it will be a long six months before we hold a clearance sale again—so hury in now while your choice is still choice!
SAVE UP TO 50%
AND MORE
On Men's Fine Wearing Apparel—Nationally Known Makes Satisfaction Guaranteed – Or Money Refunded
THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

When It Comes To Good Food,
Everyone Comes To Us.
Join the crowd and bring your date, your family, and your friends out for a delicious meal cooked to perfection and served graciously.
THE PINES
Raleigh Road Phone 9-5539

What Goes On Here

WUNC

Today's schedule fro the campus radio station:

7 p.m.—Sketches in Melody.

7:30—"My Brother's Keeper" Let There Be Light.

7:45—English and Cathedral Music.

8 p.m.—"Our Daily Bread" Endless Frontier.

8:30—Voice of America, "The President Speaks."

8:45—Report From Europe.

9 p.m.—Matters of Note.

9:55—Local News and Coming Events.

10 p.m.—Evening aMsterwork.

10:45—Sign Off.

CARD BOARD

The Card Board will meet tonight at 7:30 in Roland Parker Lounge No. 1 of Graham Memorial.

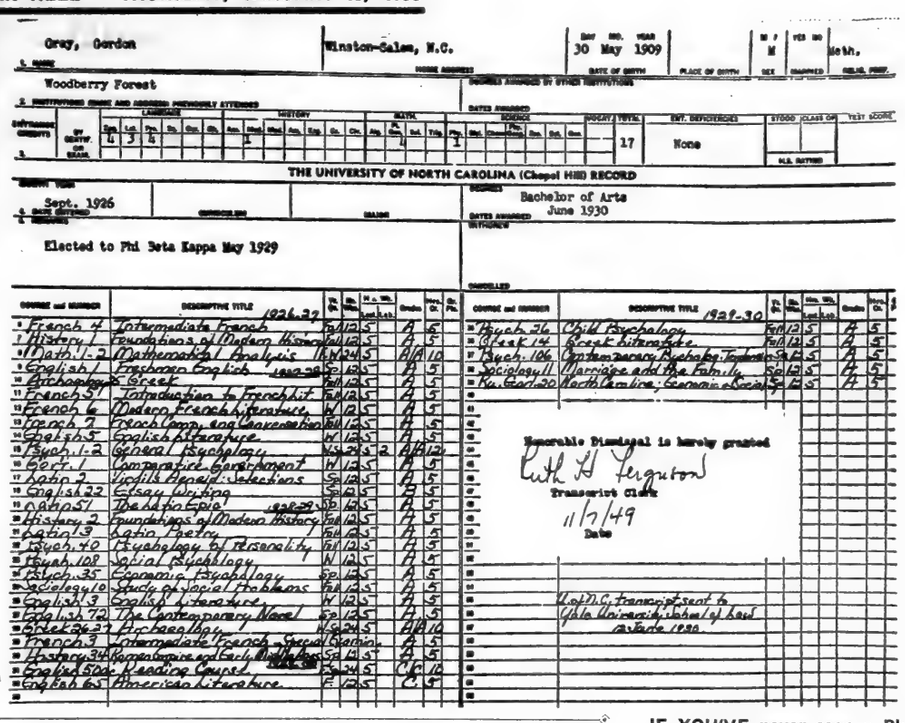
TH & T

Tar Heels and Toes, Carolina folk dance club, will meet this afternoon at 4:45 in Women's Gym. This will be the organizational meeting for hte Winter Quarter. Old members as well as interested newcomers are asked to attend the meeting for the Winter Quarter.

WASHINGTON—F B I Agents launched a hunt yesterday for "mystery" suspects in a top-secret spy investigation that some sources said might hit the major proportions.

LAST TIMES TODAY

Varsity



LATE SHOW
SATURDAY NIGHT
Regular Show Starts Sunday

"Represents motion picture making on the very highest level, and I doubt very much if there is going to be a funnier movie for a long time to come."—Sat. Review of Literature.

"A Sprightly Spoof"
—Time Magazine

ALEC GUINNESS as The PROMOTER
GLYNIS JOHNS
VALERIE HOBSON · PETULA CLARK
A J. Arthur Rank Organization Presentation

Gray, Gordon — Winston-Salem, N.C. — 30 May 1909 — M — Meth.
Woodberry Forest
THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA (Chapel Hill) RECORD
Sept. 1926
Bachelor of Arts June 1930
Elected to Phi Beta Kappa May 1929

1926-27

French 4	Intermediate French	Fall	3	5	A
History 1	Foundations of Modern Europe	Fall	3	5	A
Math. 1-2	Mathematical Analysis	Y	4	5	A/A
English 1	Freshman English 1926-27	Fall	3	5	A
Anthropology 5	Street	Fall	3	5	A
French 51	Introduction to French Lit	Fall	3	5	A
French 6	Modern French Literature	W	3	5	A
French 7	French Comp. and Conversation	Spr	3	5	A
English 5	English Literature	W	3	5	A
Psych. 1-2	General Psychology	Y	3	5	A/A
Govt. 1	Comparative Government	W	3	5	A
Latin 2	Virgil's Aeneid: Selections	Spr	3	5	A
English 22	Essay Writing	Spr	3	5	A
Comp. 51	The Iliad or Epic 1926-27	Spr	3	5	A
History 2	Foundations of Modern History	Fall	3	5	A
Latin 13	Latin Poetry	Fall	3	5	A
Psych. 40	Psychology of Personality	Fall	3	5	A
Psych. 108	Social Psychology	W	3	5	A
Psych. 35	Economic Psychology	Spr	3	5	A
Sociology 10	Study of Social Problems	Fall	3	5	A
English 3	English Literature	W	3	5	A
English 72	The Contemporary Novel	Spr	3	5	A
Chem. 3-4	Psychology	Y	4	5	A/A
French 3	Intermediate French Special Examin.				A
History 3-4	Contemporary Europe and Early				A
English 50c	Reading Course				C
English 65	American Literature				C

1929-30

Psych. 76	Child Psychology	Fall	3	5	A
Greek 14	Greek Literature	Fall	3	5	A
Psych. 106	Contemporary Psychology Textbook	Spr	3	5	A
Sociology 11	Marriage and the Family	Spr	3	5	A
Ku. Conf. 20	North Carolina; Economic Social	Spr	3	5	A

Honorable Dismissal is hereby granted
Ruth H. Ferguson
Transcript Clerk
11/7/49
Date

Mail U.C. transcript sent to Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, August 1930

IF YOU'VE never seen a Phi Bete transcript, here's one. It belongs to President Gordon Gray who graduated here No. 1 in his class of 1930. The transcript was released by Central Records office.

UNC Is One Of Three In Fete Of Sorbonne

The first of three celebrations this country commemorating the 700th anniversary of the founding of the Sorbonne of the University of Paris will be held at the University Feb. 14.

The only other celebrations in the United States will be in Chicago in April and in New York in December of 1953.

Following a formal program to be held at 11 a.m. on Feb. 14, a subscription luncheon will be given in the Morehead building.

According to Dr. Urban Tigner Holmes, Kenan professor of Romance Philology in the University, everyone in the Southeastern area of the United States who has received degres at the Sorbonne is being issued special invitations to attend. Others also are being invited and formal invitations to colleges in this area will be issued next month.

Sorbonne College was founded by Robert de Sorbonne, chaplain of Louis IX of France, generally known as Saint Louis. At his behest, the King turned over a row of private houses on the Rue Coupe-Gueule to 16 needy theology students, selected from the four principal nationalities at the University of Paris. These were torn down and a single large building erected.

There the students lived and studied and the street became a more savory spot and was approached by two handsome gates built by the King. The street was renamed Rue de la Sorbonne.

Frosh

(Continued tfrom page 3)

Albers weighed 280 pounds as against 205 for his foe Nick Michoplious.

The frosh grapplers take on the freshmen from the University of Virginia here Saturday in their second match of the season.

Results:

125 lb—Wilson (L) pinned Schwartz (C) 2:05; 130 lb—Richardson (L) pinned Waters (C) 2:35; 137 lb—Carmichael (L) dec. Tyndell (C) 11-4; 147 lb—Gallaghan (L) pinned Thompson (C) 5:35; 157 lb.—Britton (L) pinned Ferrell (C) 5:45; 167 lb—Warcewicz (L) dec. Ginn (C) 11-9; 177 lb.—Linstrom (L) pinned Ferguson (C) 2:55; unlimited—Albers (L) pinned Micropioulis (C) 2:45.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE

VERY REASONABLE 1950 BUICK Special 2-tone green. 4 door. Contact John Rogers at Colonial Motors or Phone 9484. (Chg. 1x1)

NOW PLAYING
Carolina

DR. MCCURDY NAMED

Dr. Harlod McCurdy of the Psychology Department has been named to the Editorial Council of the Journal of Aesthetics and Art Criticism for a two-year term.

This international quarterly is the official publication of the American Society for Aesthetics. Dr. McCurdy recently read an invited paper before the annual convention of the society at Sarah Lawrence College on the topic "Aesthetic Choice as a Personality Function."

A SECTION OF
Dropped Titles
AT ONLY
68c
The Intimate Bookshop
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

STOREWIDE
Clearance
ENDS THIS SATURDAY

Extra special—for last 3 days—1c sale on cotton socks—for instance, 1 pr. .85, 3 prs 1.71.
Still some choice sport coats available at 19.99
Last chance to get a charcoal flannel suit at 4.99
Harris Tweed sport coats rdeuced from 42.50 to 37.50
Selections extra good on those full length wool hand framed argyles reduced to 1.99
Windsor worsted lightweight flannel slacks. None finer. Reduced from 16.95 to 14.99
Rayon flannel slacks reducde from 9.95 to 7.99
Still have the choicest sweater assortment in the state—entire stock reduced including ladies' sweaters
All gabardine and Harris Tweed topcoats reduced
Group Howard and Foster's shell cordovan shoes reduced
All windbreakers reduced
Many choice suits and sport coats reduced
Our new 3 eyelet Custom Original Shell cordovans finally are herewith full pre-stitched welt and leahter lining—the finest you've ever seen—only 16.95
Next week look for our spring Brooks Cut Cotton Cord and Denim Suits

Milton's Clothing Cupboard
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

Like Good Food? Then You'll Certainly Like...
MICHAEL'S GRILL

The Complete ARROW Line At —

Arrow Par Hailed Widespread Favorite On America's Campuses
Popular Soft, Slotted Widespread
Collar Gives Collegians Comfort Plus Smart Appearance

According to style authorities, the college man's wardrobe is incomplete without several widespread-collared shirts. Most popular of these is Arrow Par—a soft, slotted collar with stays. Available at all Arrow dealers.

ARROW SHIRTS
SHIRTS · TIES · UNDERWEAR · HANDKERCHIEFS · SPORTS SHIRTS

ARROW SOLD AT
VARLEY'S MEN SHOP

LADIES SHOES
On Sale
6.95 Dress Shoes . . 4.98
Ladies' Suits, Coats, and Dresses and Children's Dresses—1-4 Off
One Lot Dresses—½ Pirce
Blouses On Sale 2.98 and Up
BERMAN'S
DEPARTMENT STORE

Only Time will Tell...

THERE MUST BE A REASON WHY Camel is America's most popular cigarette—leading all other brands by billions! Camels have the two things smokers want most—rich, full flavor and cool, cool mildness...pack after pack! Try Camels for 30 days and see how mild, how flavorful, how thoroughly enjoyable they are as your steady smoke!

More People Smoke Camels THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

R. J. Reynolds Tob. Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-31-49

U N C LIBRARY

WEATHER
Mild, possible showers with 55 high. Yesterday's high, 68; low, 47.

The Daily Tar Heel

BARCLAY
The sports editor says it's somebody else. See page 3.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 75 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

THE SENATE HAS FORMALLY voted to strip Sen. Wayne Morse (right) of the seat he formerly held as a Republican on the Senate Armed Forces Committee. The vote was 81-7 against the Oregon Senator, who bolted the Republican party during the recent Presidential campaign. Morse is shown chatting with Sen. Clinton Anderson, one of the seven men who voted for him.—NEA Telephoto.

IN DETROIT, LAWRENCE L. MAUER (left) stares with bewilderment at his 20-year-old son, Kenneth, who has confessed to the brutal ax-slaying of his mother and sister 14 months ago. The youth, who was arrested in Miami, broke down under questioning after his father told him, "Son, all I want you to do is tell the truth."
NEA Telephoto.

25 Percent Cut May Be Set Aside Here For Athletic Grants-In-Aid

Final Action Slated 'Soon' On New Policy

By Rolfe Neill

Campus store profits—probably 25 percent—will be turned into ahtletic scholarships if a plan under consideration goes through, it was revealed yesterday.

By Trustee order the profits must go for student scholarships, with the "nature, number and financial value" to be decided by the administration. Under the reported plan then, athletics would get $10,000 of this year's estimated $40,000 profit.

The plan to specify a certain amount for athletes, if passed by the special committee, then would go to Chancellor Robert House for his approval. From House it would go to Consolidated President Gordon Gray's desk.

The special committee was appointed by Chancelor House to devise a plan to disrtibute the funds. On the committee are Dean D. D. Carroll of the Business Administration School, O. K. Cornwell, director of physical education, and Claude Teague, University business manager. Student body President Ham Horton and several other students sat in on the committee's meeting Wednesday.

Whether or not to allot an amount to athletes will be definitely decided by the committee in a meeting "soon," according to Dean Carroll. The committee's plan then would start on its round for approval.

At present, practically all of the University's athletic scholarships are awarded by the Educational Foundation through the UNC Scholarship Committee. Money for these scholarships is subscribed by alumni who are members of the Educational Foundation.

Here's the chronological battle over athletic scholarships:

Feb. 29, 1952: Following a recommendation of W. D. Carmichael Jr., controller, the Board of Trustees appointed a committee of seven to investigate the student stores on the three campuses of the Consolidated University.

The situation prompting Carmichael's suggestion occurred when the Technician, N. C. State student newspaper, published stories showing that a large percentage of the campus store profits were going solely to scholarships for athletes. Shortly afterward, Carmichael was quoted by The Daily Tar Heel as saying, "My hope is that whatever profits made by the stores be devoted to scholarships for all students in need of financial aid. Athletes shouldn't get preferential treatment, but there should be more scholarships for everyone."

April, 18-19: The seven-member committee, headed by Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor, conducted hearings at State, Woman's College and Chapel Hill. At Chapel Hill two student factions were heard by the committee. One group wanted the book store profits to go to the Student Legislature to disburse as it saw fit. The other group asked that the funds go toward a student union or outfitting additional dormitory social rooms. The committee asked if it would suit for the profits to go entirely toward scholarships. Both factions agreed.

May 6: The investigative committee, after its three campus hearings, met with the president, vice-president, chancellors and business managers of all three institutions before drafting the final report to the Trustees. "All of the officials of

(See NEW POLICY, page 4)

PARTY'S PARTY

Student Party members will have a party Monday night at 6:30 on the 2nd floor of Watts Grill.

Dinner, consisting of fried chicken a la carte and costing $1.25, will be served. Dancing is also on the politicians' party agenda.

Transportation from Graham Memorial will be available between 6 and 6:15. The attire is informal.

Horton Asks For NSA Vote

Requests End Of Rebates To Yack Staffers

By Louis Kraar

Glib-tongued Ham Horton, president of the student body, had a long list of suggestions last night for student lawmakers at their first session in Phi Hall.

Following a short evaluation of his administration, he urged the following steps:

1. Referendum on the question of the National Student Association to remove "once and for all" this "political football" from politics.

2. Appointment of the Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Body to the Graham Memorial Board of Directors, which controls all activities of the student union.

3. "Appropriate" legislation to be carried out to forbid staffers of the Yack to accept rebates from publishers which are received for meeting datelines, and to put these funds back into the Yack budget.

Horton admitted "many informed students" felt that the Student Entertainment program should be put on a subscription basis. He appointed a "special executive committee to study the feasibility of a voluntary system."

Strongly censuring the recent move to give one-fourth of the Book Exchange's profits to athletic scholarships, Horton declared tersely, "I am certainly not opposed to giving these scholarships to athletics as long as they qualify in academic ability and financial need like any other student."

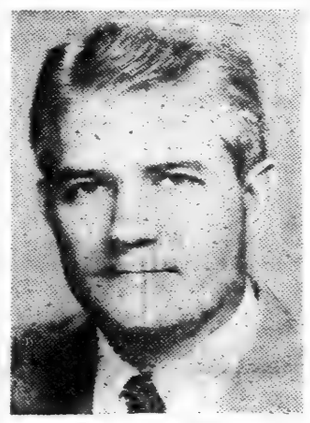
Ken Barton (SP), regional NSA president, curtly commented on Horton's attitude towards NSA saying, "I was not aware that NSA was a political football on the Carolina campus."

He added, "I hope that President Horton will make his position clear and submit to me a full report on NSA's status."

The Student Party's candidates for Legislature officers were, for the most part, victorious. However, legislators did not vote strictly along party lines. The consenus among most legislators was that the session was an excellent start to closer cooperation between parties.

Horton also suggested revision of the method of selecting head cheerleader. He outlined a plan of selection by a bi-partisan committee that would consist of members of both political parties, the retiring head cheerleader and representatives of the University and Monogram clubs.

Vice-President Logan Wilson Bound For Texas Presidency



Logan Wilson, academic vice-president and provost of the University, leaves that position Saturday to become president of the University of Texas at Austin.

Dr. Wilson yesterday had kind words to say about the university he has served since May, 1951, and about its president, Gordon Gray.

"The University has a great future under Gordon Gray. He has set up the most ambitious development plans the University has ever had. If these plans are carried through by persons of responsibility, he will then be able to devote more attention to the internal affairs of the University," Dr. Wilson said.

Continuing, he said, "I have deep regrets in leaving Chapel Hill. I have enjoyed my associations here, my congenial working relationship with Mr. Gray, Mr. Carmichael, and many others. My University experience will be invaluable to me at Texas. In fact, I'm not sure whether the University should have paid me or allowed me to pay it."

In assuming the presidency of the University of Texas, Dr. Wilson will head the education of over 13,000 students. Texas is one of the richest schools in the world, operating on an endowment of over $140,000,000. The University has not escaped the bigness associated with its state. The administraiton building is 27 stories in height.

DR. LOGAN WILSON

Educational TV Study To Be Made In States

University students may at some future date be looking at television for educational as well as entertainment purposes.

A bill has been passed in the General Assembly clearing the way for a state commission to study the role of television in North Carolina public education.

The bill notes that the Federal Communications Commission has allowed the state eight TV channels to be reserved until June 2 solely for non-commercial educational use. The act gives Governor Umstead power to have a 12 - member commission study what use should be made of these channels in education. The University has been allotted a channel.

The bill apparently contemplates control of these channels by the state, probably through the Department of Public Instruction, for use as a supplement to the teaching program. It notes that the General Assembly "is aware of the complex problems which would be posed by State control and operation of a basic means of communication."

In addition to deciding what use may be made of the eight channels, the bill assigns the commission the task of "devising a scheme for financing any arrangements." The bill carries an appropriation of $5,000 to finance the committee's study.

In his inaugural, Governor Umstead called for a "thorough investigation of TV possibilities to the end that we may avoid, if possible becoming involved in an unwise venture."

Educational TV already is under examination at the University. Last fall several instructional films for TV presentation were made under the supervision of the Department of Radio.

The extremely high cost of television production is likely to prevent any educational TV station or network financed by the State for some time to come, observers say.

European Crisis Is Past Peak, Shea Reports

By Bob Slough

Frank R. Shea, former member of the inter-departmental committee which set up military and economic aid missions for Greece and Turkey, told a political science class yesterday "Europe and ourselves are in for a long period of dangerous living."

But the Time-Life correspondent said he thought the peak of peril had been passed. "There already is a lot of unity existing in Europe," he added. "There is certain ground for disappointment at the moment," Shea said, "but I am heartened at what is going on in Europe."

The former member of ECA in Paris told the class that Ridgway's right flank, the Greek-Turk line, is the strongest point in the NATO line. He said that of the 65 divisions in East Europe, 31 are in Greece and Turkey.

The whole NATO idea, according to Shea, rests in the strength of the NATO line. NATO works under the assumption, Shea said, that Russia will not move into a strengthened line.

In December of 1945, the Communist took over all of Greece except 15 blocks in Athens, Shea said. "It was a very close call," he added.

He listed the following reasons why the Communist rebellion was put down: (1) stamina of the Greek people to resist, (2) vigorous American aid, and (3) Tito's defection from Stalin.

"If Greece had fallen," he said, "Turkey would have fallen and Russia would have realized an old dream of breaking into the warm waters of the Mediterranean."

Shea said the big problem in Europe today is the program of rearmament. "It is guns or butter," he said. "The only way to solve the question of the dollar gap is for those countries to send goods to us."

"The Russians are not knocking on the door as they were several years ago," he said. "But I don't want to preach relaxation."

"If you want to relax, just count the number of divisions in Europe," he said.

Deemphasis?

(An Editorial)

Students have always wondered what happened to book exchange profits. For years, the funds, amounting to over $50,000 at one time reverted back to the General University fund, a catch-all to pay salaries and improvements.

Last May the Trustees decreed that profits should "be devoted to grants-in-aid to students selected on the basis of character, citizenship, leadership, and complete compliance with all requirements of the institutions concerned pertaining to admission and normal academic progress." The Chancellor's special committee is now seriously considering a proposal to set aside a certain percentage of the profits for athletes. This year's profits may amount to $40,000.

The Daily Tar Heel thinks that the Book Exchange profits are student funds. We are oppposed to the idea that student funds should go directly to athletes. Any percentage, whether it's 25 per cent, 50 per cent, or one per cent—is too much. The principle remains the same. Profits are profits derived from our pockets. If the money is to be awarded for grants-in-aid, then there should be no qualifying clause for a certain type of human being versed in some extracurricular activity.

An athlete is a student first of all. The president of the student body, the editor, etc. are all students, first of all.

The philosophy of consolidation can sometimes be carried too far, especially when the point seems to run against established traditions and principles. Just because State College gives a majority of its book exchange profits to athletes doesn't make it right for UNC at Chapel Hill.

The Daily Tar Heel hopes the committee will consider these points: How many students leave school each year because of lack of funds? How many would-be students go to smaller schools throughout the State because of the relatively high cost of tuition and other fees here? How many people now applying for scholarships can't get them?

The object of the grants-in-aid system as we believe it was originally intended to be, was to establish a broad program of financial help for all types of future students.

To slap a percentage allocation on such a program is to disqualify eligible students. If an athlete is qualified, then let him have a grant-in-aid. But a separate and distinct ruling for a certain percentage of profits directed to athletes is not in keeping with the traditions of the University.

If the receipts of the Educational Foundation, the private financed athletic aid program, are low, then we suggest that the University dig somewhere else besides the Book Exchange profits.

Man Becomes Cockroach: Film Tonight

"Metamorphosis," the first in a series of five art films sponsored by the Student Union Board, will be shown at 8:30 tonight in Gerrard Hall.

Admission cards for the five films cost $1.50 with single tickets not being sold. Cards may be purchased tonight at the door.

"Metamorphosis," produced at the University of Michigan by an unsponsored group on campus, is based on Franz Kafka's tale of a man who turns into a five-foot cockroach. It represents the initial attempt to adapt Kafka to a feature production in this country on either professional or amateur level.

This film is recognized as a pioneering effort to incorporate all the features of the 35 mm. films into the 16 mm. film productions. Edmund Wilson has called the film "the realistic nightmare of Kafka."

THREE GUILTY

Three students appeared in Recorder's Court this week before Judge William Stewart. Twenty-one cases were heard in all.

Louie Elario Bonardi, 17, sophomore from Durham answered a charge of speeding. Bonardi plead guilty to driving at 55 mph in a 35 mph zone and was fined $15 and costs.

A third year dental student from Denton was fined $25 and costs for driving with an expired operator's license. He is Allen L. Stoddard. Judge Stewart remitted $15 of the fine.

Fined for public drunkenness was Marion Kelley, 35, graduate student from Atlanta. Kelley paid $5 and costs.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON — Two former U. S. Army men, Otto Verber and Kurt L. Ponger, both of New York City, were accused of spying for Russia yesterday in a plot linked to the Soviet Embassy here. Atty. Gen. McGranery announced that the two were arrested in Vienna, Austria, yesterday. The State Department also announced that it had Russia recall Yuri V. Novikov, second secretary of the Soviet Embassy, because he has "engaged in activities incompatible with his status as an accredited diplomatic official."

★

WASHINGTON — The Republican 83rd Congress showed a strong disposition yesterday to file and forget president Truman's last economic report. Most Republicans in Congress treated the report as a "lame duck" document and ignored it. The few who read the President's message were inclined t oshrug it off. "The new Republican administration can ably and fully cope with economic matters without Mr. Truman's conclusions which have been wrong so often," commented Chairman Leo E. Allen (R-Ill.) of the House Rules Committee.

★

RALEIGH — A bill introduced in the Legislature by Rep. W. B. Rodman of Beaufort and several other House members will revamp the State Paroles Commission if passed. Gov. Umstead said in his inaugural address that the number of prisoners "has grown to the point where it is impossible for one commissioner to conduct the affairs of the parole office." Under the provisions of the bill up for consideration the present single paroles commissioner would be replaced by a three-member Board of Paroles.

TRAIN GOES WILD IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON — A runaway passenger train crashed through a barrier into Union Station here yesterday. At least 49 patients were rushed to the hospital, but no one was reported killed. There was no immediate explanation as to why the brakes apparently failed as the train approached the station. The train demolished the station master's office and smashed a newsstand in the center of the concourse, and area separating the tracks from the main waiting room.

STEP-INS STEPPED OUT

Panty raids are here again.

It seems Carolina gentlemen aren't raiding the dorms for their loot this time, but are taking them from sorority clotheslines.

Nine pieces of dainty undies disappeared from the Alpha Gamma Delta clothesline this week.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Delaine Bradsher | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgr. — Ned Beeker
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Joe Raff.

Night Editor for this issue: Dorman Cordell

It's Time For A Change

"It's time for a change!"

The Republicans used it and they had a winner. Why can't Carolina?

We do not mean a new administration, but a revised grading system, and we need it badly.

Unfairness has been monopolizing the University grading system too long and a mild tinge of corruption has done anything but add luster to the already faded picture.

Before the time of Methuselah Carolina has been working from an A to F letter grading system. From the outside it seems like a good setup and could possibly be if it were operated properly. But it is not.

For example, one which happens more times than otherwise. Two students are in the same class. At the beginning of the quarter the professor emphasizes the point that all students should be working not for grades but for an education, for knowledge.

During the quarter both students work from the prof's viewpoint that they are here at Carolina for a college education, not merely just a string of grades. The pair settle down and the midnight oil flows.

Toward the end of the quarter they total their averages and both have equal numerical grades, a solid 89, one point shy of a B.

Here is where the fallacy in the present grading system lies. Both men, call them John and Joe for clarity, balance in class work but it seems that John is much the superior in one extra-curricular activity.

The term "apple polishers" is far from Greek to college folks.

And so it goes when the professor is determining the final grades.

He checks down the list writing the grade that will remain forever on the student's transcript. Thare's Joe's 89. The prof calmly scribbles down a "C." According to the grading system, that is what he averaged and that is what he got.

A dozen spaces down the line, the professor crosses John's 89. He chuckles slightly to himself.

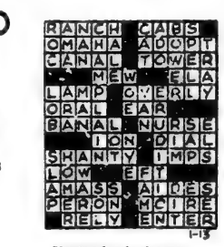
"Well," smiles the instructor, "John really only has 89, but that's just one point below a 'B'. And besides John is a fine boy. Yes sir, a mighty fine boy that John."

You have three chances to guess what John got and the first two do not count.

Perhaps that one 'C' did not hurt Joe. Perhaps it did. While Joe was making 'C's' John was perfecting his extra-curricular activity.

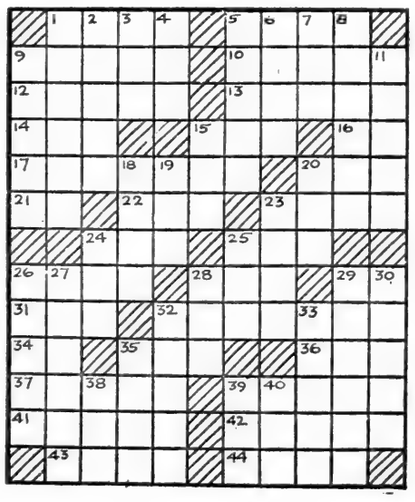
Three years later, the pair apply for an opening with a well-known chemical company. The interviewer surmised that both men were equally qualified for the job. But it seemed that John had a slight edge in the line of grades. The position was awarded "Honest John."

Had the professor followed the present grading system, Joe would have had an equal footing with John, but he did not. Joe followed the prof's viewpoint of working for knowledge, not grades.



A suggested revision of the backward grading system here at Carolina is to drop every phase of the present letter grading system and substitute a more definite and less impregnable numerical system. In other words, give the student what he earned, not what his personality learned a nice fellow he was, and we should follow the lead of the Republican party to a solid, undisputed victory.

—Charles Haskett



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Chief cook
5. Chafe
9. Constline
10. Potter's wheel
12. Having horns
13. Fluids in veins of the gods
14. Donkey
15. Some
16. Molybdenum (sym.)
17. Encountering
20. Owns
21. Half an em
22. Perform
23. Attitudinize
24. Lever
25. Witty saying
26. Short blast on a horn
28. Fuel
29. Therefore
31. Viper
32. Snake
34. River (Chin.)
35. Spring month
36. Cuckoo
37. Doctrine
39. Article of virtu
41. Rub out
42. Gaseous element
43. Resorts
44. Coffin

DOWN
1. Japanese name for Korea
2. A quadruped
3. Sea eagle
4. Visionary
5. Hurl
6. Spicy
7. Anglo-Saxon letter
8. One of the Apostles
9. Mortify
11. Appearing as if eaten
15. Emmet
18. Sour
19. Frigid
20. Torrid
23. A pillar
24. Small explosion
25. Cushion
26. One of the senses
27. Willows
28. Merry
29. Elder
30. Constellation
32. Values
33. Immense
35. Flat-topped hill
38. Short sleep
39. Part of a locomotive
40. Swiss canton

Yesterday's Answer

On Other Campuses

Alice Chapman

From Hawaii, from Mexico City, Europe, Texas, and Yankee-land student newspapers are sent to THE DAILY TAR HEEL.

These papers report that beginning with pink elephants on New Year's eve, 1953 is slowly turning red in a number of aspects for a number of schools.

Iowa State Daily reports a financial loss for last quarter with a balance in the red.

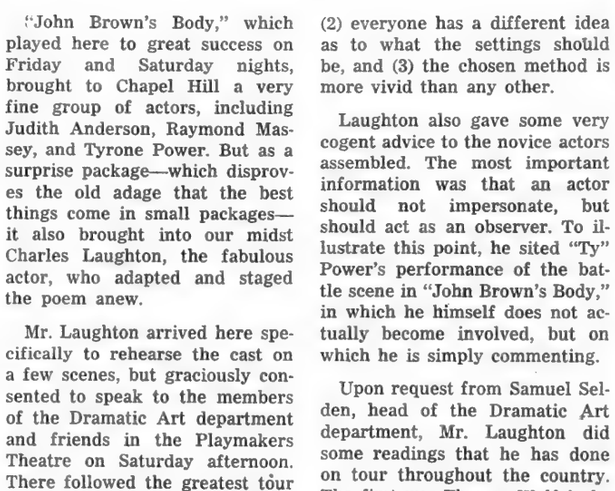
Troubles are greater elsewhere for at Northwestern headlines this fall proclaimed, "The Daily Is Going Broke". A few months later the editor was fired and the majority of the staff resigned after a policy disagreement with the publications board.

The Daily Cardinal at the University of Wisconsin was forced to cut its issues to twice a week while the Daily Nebraskan reduced its publications to four times a week.

The University of Colorado took the positive approach by asking for increased student fees or boosted advertising rates.

The other source of red difficulties is turning a number of U.S. students crimson with righteous and unrighteous indignation.

Senator Joe McCarthy recently stated that, "We (the Senate committee on government operations) are going into the educational system. It seems that parts of the educational system are most unreceptive to his suggestion that it be investigated."



An editorial in the Western-Reserve University paper pleads, "In order to preserve what we have, please . . . please, leave us alone. Let the university function as it should. A light in the darkness."

The University of Michigan listed on Joe's new probe has promised full cooperation to the House Un-American Activities Committee. The Daily newspaper is running a series of articles describing the activities of the Communist Party and its front organizations in Ann Arbor and on the campus.

The article describes the activities of the Labor Youth League which is the "party" group on campus. It makes public secret directive and report of the LYL which warned the group that "We ourselves have to go through a transformation, ridding ourselves of capitalist ideology and values and remaking ourselves into the kind of people who can carry on Leninist work."

At Marshall College in West Virginia several names that appear on the records of the House investigating committee were schedule on the college-sponsored forum. The American Legion post in Huntington demanded an investigation. The College president immediately announced the cancellation of the series. The student senate and faculty just as promptly passed resolutions to reinstate the series. The forum will be held as scheduled with Max Lerner, Margaret White and Paul Engle still engaged as speakers.

Whether the situation includes imaginary pink elephants or articles of a deeper shade, students have an opinion, a criticism, and sometimes a solution for it.

Shadrach, Meshach

John Taylor

"John Brown's Body," which played here to great success on Friday and Saturday nights, brought to Chapel Hill a very fine group of actors, including Judith Anderson, Raymond Massey, and Tyrone Power. But as a surprise package—which disproves the old adage that the best things come in small packages—it also brought into our midst Charles Laughton, the fabulous actor, who adapted and staged the poem anew.

Mr. Laughton arrived here specifically to rehearse the cast on a few scenes, but graciously consented to speak to the members of the Dramatic Art department and friends in the Playmakers Theatre on Saturday afternoon. There followed the greatest tour de force that has been witnessed in Chapel Hill for quite some time.

Stating that he would not give a speech, but would answer any and all questions, Mr. Laughton proceeded to describe the manner in which his memorable presentation of "Don Juan in Hell" came to be produced, and the trials and tribulations concerning the staging of "John Brown's Body."

Stage space limitations caused Laughton a lot of trouble. The small area for stage movement made Laughton remember the nights after the early rehearsals when he would wake up in the middle of the night yelling, "They're bumping into each other."

Asked if he had chosen the simplified form of production that he has used for the two plays for economic reasons, he replied with a very emphatic no and then added with a painful smile, "These are not cheap people." There were three explanations for the style of presentation that he adopted. They were the following: (1) the script calls for many abrupt changes of mood and set, (2) everyone has a different idea as to what the settings should be, and (3) the chosen method is more vivid than any other.

Laughton also gave some very cogent advice to the novice actors assembled. The most important information was that an actor should not impersonate, but should act as an observer. To illustrate this point, he sited "Ty" Power's performance of the battle scene in "John Brown's Body," in which he himself does not actually become involved, but on which he is simply commenting.

Upon request from Samuel Selden, head of the Dramatic Art department, Mr. Laughton did some readings that he has done on tour throughout the country. The first was Thomas Wolfe's famous selection on trains, the country they pass through, and the people that are connected with them. Through definite and abrupt changes in rhythm and dynamics, he conveyed with uncanny effect the train rushing across the country, stopping for awhile, and then continuing its trip. Different parts of the country were also described in brief, yet vivid sections.

Laughton then passed on to a reading from the Bible describ-Shadrach, Mishach, and Abednego in the fiery furnace. Before doing this, he commented on the frequent repititions and changes in meter of the section, stating that he thought that Gertrude Stein had conceived her idea for her famous "A rose is a rose is a rose, etc," from this selection. He then proceeded to demonstrate how a child does the Stein piece, leaping about in great abandon. The description from the Bible was notable, because even though the same long phrases were repeated many times, Laughton never once made them monotonous. This was a performance that befitted the very great man of the theatre that Charles Laughton is.

Making History

A. Z. F. Wood, Jr.

Unless you have an insatiable curiosity about history, you will probably avoid Saunders Hall like a communist with leprosy. The stereotyped idea of a history professor is that of a dried-up, absented-minded, bespectacled old gent who spends his life in musty old manuscripts and doesn't know what it is to watch the sun come up over the ocean. Unfortunately, in many cases, the idea isn't too far off.

Now, UNC has a good history department—one of the best, and many of its historians are as vivacious and interesting as they are erudite. But, even at UNC, the majority of historians or would-be-historians (instructors) fit into the stereotyped pattern very neatly.

Why is this? I believe part of the answer is that historians as a group are the lousiest writers on the face of the earth. They've got good vocabularies. They're not ungrammatical. And their sentences are clear enough.

But they're dry, repititious, and trite. Their facts are cold and unadorned. There is no warmth, no freshness. Just dull naked facts. Thus, Richard the Lion-Hearted is a big, mean, courageous man who beats hell out of Moslem people. That's all. He's not a human being with emotional problems. No sense of humor. No appeal. Just a name—a man with a blank face.

One thing we do know about Richard, though. He "sacked and plundered" captured Moslem strongholds. The definition of "sacked" is "plundered"; so Richard "plundered and plundered" Moslem strongholds. I guess Richard did a lot of plundering.

Then, were the Crusaders on the way to the Holy Land? Oh, no! They were enroute to the Holy Land, and, not only that, they were enroute to the Holy Land nine times in one chapter of some eighteen pages.

About two years ago, I wrote a term paper on the Boxer Rebellion for Social Science Two. The paper was acceptable except for the choice of words. My fat little instructor changed: "figured" to "reasoned"; "fired" to "discharged"; "fired" to "removed"; "to do business" to "to engage in this traffic"; "idea" to "conception";"badly whipped" to "won victory after victory"; and "had" to "were forced". In other words, the motto of most historians seems to be: "Always use a large word where a small one will do, and never use a descriptive word. Be as dry as possible."

Among the few glaring exceptions to this morbid aridity is Will Cuppy, the most delightful historian of this century, and, incidentally, one of the most accurate. If history textbooks were written like "The Decline and Fall of Practically Everybody" you'd have to build five more history buildings at UNC.

Inquiring Reporter

Dave Herbert

"Pardon me, but what is your opinion about the . . . ?"

If you haven't heard these words yet, your reporter has missed you. But don't go into hiding for this week your Inquiring Reporter will begin to feel out the campus pulse on matters which you readers think will be interesting and informative as well as humorous.

This week's question: "Who would you like to see as the next football coach?" stirred up an argument almost each time it was asked to a group of students, especially among the football players themselves.

While the reaction among the coeds was indifferent, most of the men asked had a definite person in mind and plenty of reasons to back up their candidate.

Outgoing coach Carl Snavely still has plenty of admirers and while most realized the futility of casting their vote for him, a few felt that they could not honestly vote otherwise.

Here are the results:

Questioned: 252 students from all walks of life.

Opinion:

Tatum, 36 per cent; University of Maryland.

Barclay, 11 per cent; Assistant UNC.

Wilkinson, 10 per cent; U. of Oklahoma.

Holcombe, 8 per cent; Purdue.

Gill, 6 per cent; Assistant, UNC.

Vaught, 5 per cent; U. of Mississippi.

Guepe, 4 per cent; U. of Virginia.

Brown, 4 per cent; Cleveland Browns.

Undecided, 6 per cent.

Others receiving votes included: Snavely, Otto Graham, Waters, Bob Waterfield (with Jane Russell, of course).

A $2.00 merchandise certificate will be given by the Sutton Drug Company for next week's winning question. It must be submitted by Tuesday, January 19, to Inquiring Reporter, Box 1080, Chapel Hill. Be seeing you around!

U R C LIBRARY

Down In Front

by Biff Roberts

BARCLAY NEXT COACH

JACK HORNER, SPORTS editor of the Durham Morning Herald, although he may have crossed Carolina and its fans several times in the past years, is still regarded as one of the outstanding sports writers in the State and can generally be counted on to give a straight honest story. I believe his column yesterday morning on the coaching job here at Carolina may prove to be one of his best. In it he predicted that George Barclay will be the next head coach. From this point of view it looks that way, too. George Barclay should be named head coach before too long, possibly today or tomorrow.

This column felt that Jim Tatum would be the head coach from the time Carl Snavely resigned up until only a few days ago. In fact Down In Front predicted that he would come here in a column last Tuesday morning. But it seems that the controversy which haunts Jim Tatum everywhere he goes was too much for the Athletic Council which selected the coach. I believe he was in the race until Tuesday afternoon. Evidently he was eliminated at the luncheon meeting of the Football Committee of the Athletic Council that day.

ADD SEVERIN AND BASS

ALL OF THE INFORMATION that I can gather coincides with Horner's column. George Barclay will be the next head coach and Marvin Bass, the ex-Carolina line coach who now assists the Washington Redskins, will come in as the line aide and Paul Severin, a former Carolina star who is now head coach at Randolph Macon, will be the end coach. It hasn't been announced by the Council and this information doesn't come from a Council member but from all the information that I can piece together this seems to be the latest word on the situation.

Barclay has one year to go on a $9,000 per year contract. Certainly he will be given a boost to take the head job. If he succeeds to any degree next fall, although miracles can not be expected, then he will probably get a longer term pact. If he can't bring us up, then the Athletic Department will be open to hire another.

The hiring of the three coaches may be announced as a package deal or Barclay's name may be the only one mentioned in the Council's upcoming statement. Some people had mentioned Bass as a candidate for the head job earlier in the race but he evidently was dropped from consideration awhile back. The question of the new assistants also raises another query—what will happen to the present staff? Amiable Jim Gill will probably stay on in some capacity. He, like Barclay is well liked by Woollen Gym officials and will undoubtedly be retained. The status of the rest of ex-coach Snavely's assistants will have to be decided by the new coach.

THE ALSO RANS

TATUM WAS LIKED by a great many Carolina people, who hoped he would get the job, but he was opposed by a like number. His position at Maryland is one of the best a coach could find in the nation—that of being head football coach and ahtletic director. Whereas there is little doubt that he did want the job badly, he made no outward commitment and still will hold on to his post at Maryland—according to the University's president Curly Byrd.

Stu Holcomb, of Purdue, who was also given a prominent place in the race, found the position at the Indiana school too good to leave. He has six years to go on a 10-year contract, makes $12,500 there, and should be getting better high school talent now that his Boilermakers tied for first place in the Big Ten this past fall. The rest of the many men rumored to be coming here were always in positions behind Barclay, Tatum, and Holcomb. Apparently it was a three-way race most of the way.

STICKING WITH HIM

SO IT SEEMS THAT after making a tour of the colleges in this part of the country the Athletic Council has come back home to roost. Barclay has proven himself as a head coach and there's no reason that he can't pull us up some next year. He's a worker and makes his boys work—that's a farmula which will certainly be needed to build up the team next fall.

There have been a lot of rumors and information "straight from the horse's mouth" during the whole campaign but this seems to be the latest in this on again, off again coaching affair. As Horner put he would "sink or swim" with Barclay being the choice. So my eleventh-hour prediction says Barclay—with no more changing of horses in Horner's mid stream.

League-Leading Tar Heels Play Maryland Tomorrow

The North Carolina basketball team goes on the road today after taking two Southern Conference victories eariler in the week and will play Maryland at College Park tonight in another conference contest.

The Tar Heels continue to set the pace in the conference with a 9-0 record, with N. C. State and Wake Forest close behind them with one loss apiece.

Carolina barely squeezed by the Terps in Chapel Hill Jan. 3, Co-captain Vince Grimaldi going on a scoring spree in the last few minutes to save the game, 59-49. Maryland is famous for upsets on its own court, and tonight's game is rated a tossup.

The Terps use a slow, methodical style that is designed to upset the team work of fast breaking teams as Carolina, but Tar Heel coach Frank McGuire threw a tight zone at Maryland in last week's game to use McMillan's own trick.

Grimaldi, who scored 17 points in Wednesday's game against VMI with a bruised shoulder, should be back in top shape for tonight's game, and Bob Phillips, reserve guard, will return to the lineup. Phillips couldn't see action against VMI after his hand was severely bitten in Tuesday's game with Davidson.

Grimaldi is pacing Carolina's scoring, and is followed by freshman forward Jerry Vayda and forward Al Lifson. Co-captain Jack Wallace, recently returned to the lineup after an appendectomy, and center Bud Maddie round out the probably starting lineup.

The Tar Heels have an 11-2 record, the best a Carolina team has had at this stage of the season in years.

This year will be the first in three seasons that Carolina has made the Southern Conference tournament. Games with Wake Forest and State coming up next week will be the most serious threat to the Tar Heels' spotless Conference slate.

UNC's subs have turned in excellent performances all season and have saved a few games for the Tar Heels. Coach McGuire kept the whole second team in for almost half the game in the 97-58 rout of Washington and Lee. Ernie Schwarz, Paul Likins, Phillips, Gene Glancy, and Jippy Carter lead the subs.

Tar Heel Wrestlers Meet Virginia Here Tomorrow

Carolina's matmen, winners of one of two matches, take on the University of Virginia in Woollen Gym Saturday in quest of their first non-conference victory of the young wrestling season. The grapplers defeated Davidson, 17-11, in their first match of their campaign.

The Tar Heels, who have equaled their winning record of the 1951-52 season with the Davidson win, have been led thus far this season by Captain Eddie Haines and little Harry Pawlik who wrestles in the 123 lb division. The only other meet that the UNC matmen have played, the Duke March of Dimes match, was lost by the score of 20-6 Wednesday night.

Several veterans on this year's squad have been giving the Tar Heels a boost in the first two matches. They are Tommy Stokes, who scored along with Harry Bradshaw the only points in the Duke meet with decisioned victories, and Miles Gregory, who wrestled before going into service. These two along with several good freshman prospects should give the depth on next year's squad.

The Freshman Wrestlers, who were soundly beaten by a strong Camp Lejeune mat team, will take on the University of Virginia freshmen here tomorrow also to round out the wrestling card for the week. Coach Guiton was not too upset about his young team's one-sided loss to the Marines as most of the winners' matmen had participated in the sport while going to college.

You not only protect your pictures, but you keep them all together . . . and you can always put your hands on them whenever you want.

Stop in and let us show you our wide selection of fine Kodak Albums. They're priced as low as $1.85.

FOISTER'S
Camera Store, Inc.

starring
STERLING HAYDEN
RICHARD CARLSON

Filmed with the cooperation of the U. S. NAVY

T-O-D-A-Y and SATURDAY
Varsity

LATE SHOW SATURDAY NIGHT
REGULAR SHOWING STARTS SUNDAY

STUDENTS: We think this is one of the finest and funniest movies we have ever had the privilege of presenting.
—The Management

Complete Line of
OUTLINES, TRANSLATIONS
For
All Your Subjects
The Book Exchange
107 W. Chapel Hill St.
At 5 Points
Durham

"One of the screen's most gifted and subtle comedians!" —Newsweek
Alec Guinness the PROMOTER
A Universal-International Release • A J. Arthur Rank Organization Presentation

Swimmers Seek Fourth Straight Against Georgia Tech Tomorrow

By John Hussey

The Tar Heel swimming team will take on the Engineers from Georgia Tech here tomorrow in their first home meet of the season.

In doing so the Carolina team will be trying to keep alive its win streak of twenty-nine consecutive dual meets. This amazing record has been compiled over the past four years and includes two undefeated seasons and three wins this year.

Georgia Tech is coached by hte highly regarded Freddie Lanoue who is known throughout the South for his exploits as a coach and a swimmer. However, Tech is not expected to give the Tar Heels too much trouble.

Warren Heeman, co-holder of the outstanding freshman award in '52, will be swimming the 200-yard backstroke event. He will be pitted against Tech's Strickland who is the SEC champion in that particular event.

Joe Kelso, Carolina's Southern Conference diving champion, will be performing on the three meter board and he is an odds-on favorite to win his fourth victory of the year.

Co-captain Donnie Evans and sophomore Jack Edwards will try their skill in the 100-yard freestyle event. Edwards broke the pool record at VMI in the first meet of the season and has shown considerable improvement since then. Evans set a new pool record at Bainbridge last week in the 200-yard breaststroke.

In the 50-yard freestyle, Buddy Heins and Stan Tinkham will represent the Tar Heels. Tinkham and Barry Wall will be placed in the 200 yard breaststroke competition Tommy Gill and Charlie Wolf, two sophomores with a lot of promise, will swim the 440-yard freestyle.

In the 220 yard freestyle, Larry Shannon, another sophomore, will try his hand. Shannon broke four freshman records last year and shared the outstanding freshman award with Heeman .

Evans and Gill will swim for Carolina in the 150-yard individual medley. This rounds out the individual events.

The medley relay team will consist of Buddy Baarke, Wall, and Edwards. Baarke will start it off with the backstroke, Wall will follow with the breaststroke, and Edwards will anchor the team swimming freestyle.

Tar Heel Swim Frosh Clash Tomorrow With High Point

By Benny Stewart

Carolina's freshman swimming squad, coached by Dick Jamerson, moves into action for the first time this season when it faces High Point High School in a 2 p.m. meet tomorrow in Bowman Gray pool.

The meet will precede the varsity meet at 4 p.m.

The visitors will be coached by Bob Ousley, former JV coach here.

Among the twenty boys slated to see action Saturday are Perry Veazey and Steve Owen in the 50 yd. free-style and Dick Baker and Pete Dannenbaum in the 100-yd. free-style.

Fred Diffenbach and John Woltz will be out for a win in the 100-yd backstroke with Gray McAllister and Jack Harden going for the Tar Babies in the 100-yd. breaststroke competition.

Carolina will be represented by Jack Parks and Lee Holmes or Charles Perry in the 200-yd. free-

A SECTION OF
Dropped Titles
AT ONLY
68c
The Intimate Bookshop
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

Deac Tickets

Holders of even numbered passbooks have today and tomorrow to exchange them for reserved seats to the Wake Forest game in Woollen Gym next Tuesday.

The ticket office in the Gym is open from 9-4:30.

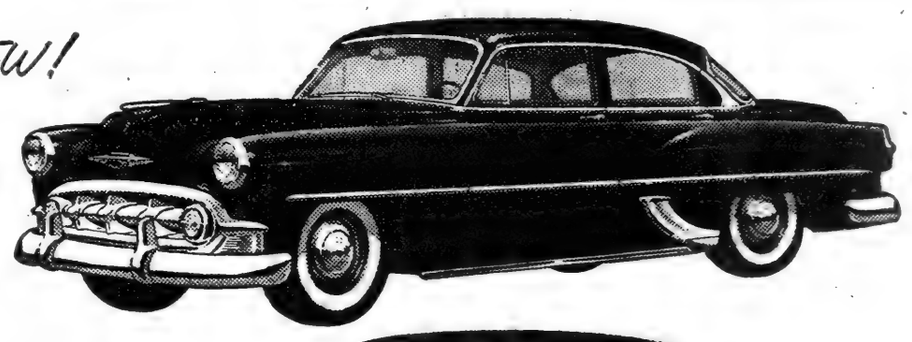
Now—see the cars that all the excitement's about!

CHEVROLET'S 3 GREAT NEW SERIES FOR 1953

Wonderfully different!

THE BEL AIR SERIES
to be compared only with higher-priced cars!

The glamorous Bel Air Series for 1953 is truly a new kind of Chevrolet. Four new Bel Air models—4-Door Sedan, 2-Door Sedan, Convertible, Sport Coupe—create a wonderful new class of cars.



An entirely new kind of Chevrolet in an entirely new field all its own

Startlingly NEW!

THE "TWO-TEN" SERIES
sensational advances from bumper to bumper!

The "Two-Ten" Series offers: two new station wagons—the Townsman and "Two-Ten" Handyman—the 4-Door, 2-Door, Convertible, Club Coupe and Sport Coupe.

Amazingly economical!

THE "ONE-FIFTY" SERIES
lowest priced of all quality cars!

Smart new Chevrolet styling and advanced features! Five models include the 4-Door and 2-Door Sedans, Club Coupe, Business Coupe, "One-Fifty" Handyman.

(Continuation of standard equipment and trim illustrated is dependent on availability of material.)

CHEVROLET
MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

The great new Chevrolet line for 1953 brings you a car for any purpose. Choose high-compression power with the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine teamed with new Powerglide* for the finest automatic driving. Or choose the high-compression 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine for finest standard driving. Choose the improved standard steering, or new Power Steering, optional at extra cost.

Come in and see the most wonderful selection in the low-price field—and it's yours at lowest cost!

*Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

Entirely NEW through and through!

SEE IT AT YOUR CHEVROLET DEALER'S!

Campus Carousel

By Deenie Schoeppe

Few parties among the pinnings, engagements and marriages this week.

First off there was the Pi Lam beer party tonight at the house.

Then today starts the big KA convivion in honor of the birthday of Robert E. Lee, suh! They'll have a banquet at the house with Dr. W. H. Poteat as speaker. Dee Breslow, Pi Phi from Rahway, N. J., will be presented as KA Rose for the year. Congrats!

Then tomorrow night is the KD pledge dance at the Inn. They'll have a party this afternoon at the home of alumna Helen Jane Wettach, and a dinner at the Ranch House.

Seems we missed a few pinnings and so forth at the Phi Kappa Sig house last week. Phi Kap Faye Culbreath, Rutherfordton, pinned Margaret Ann Howland, Jacksonville, and Wyatt Dixon, Durham, pinned Patsy Sherill, Chapel Hill. More news is the marriage of Phi Kap Jay Giles to Bert Ratledge. Both are from Winston-Salem. Jean Blackburn, WC student from Winston received a ring from brother Pete Holcomb, also from Winston.

Deke law student Hal Broadfoot, Fayetteville, is engaged to Holly Howard, Fayetteville, as of this Christmas. She's a student at Meredith.

St. A's appear to be having a small brawl Saturday night.

The Alpha Gam pledge dance tonight will come complete with dinner before and party afterwards at the house. The dance will be held at the Inn.

And though I don't see how, we missed a few more marriages and engagements at the Sigma Chi house. Fred Dale, Hickory, married Phyllis Mathison, also of Hickory and Buddy Polk, Mt. Olive, married Connie Edwards, Snow Hill. A new engagement is that of brother Lew Brown, Chattanooga, Tenn. to Sydney Walsh, Houston, Tex.

Sigma Nu's gonna live it up with a li'l beer party at the house tomorrow night.

Phi Delts and Tri Delts will party and have dinner Thursday night.

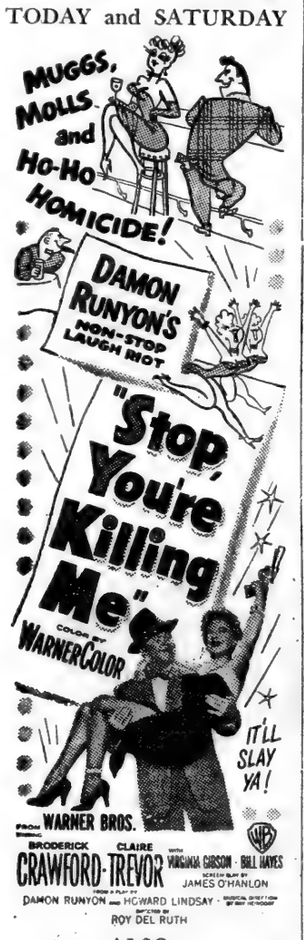
A dinner at the Chapel Hill country club and a party following will be given for the Pi Phi's by the Pika's Tuesday night.

Beer parties are really coming back into season. Sigma Chi's will have one tomorrow night at the Legion Hut.

Mary June Bailey, Hickory is now wearing the Phi Delta Chi pin of Harry Patton, also Hickory.

A part of Tri Delt pre-initiation week will be a coffee for all fraternities Wednesday after chapter meeting. Initiation will take place Saturday morning.

Ted Frankel, ZBT of Atlanta, Ga. has given his pin to home town gal Sidelle Simmons. While we're on the subject of ZBT's they'll have a party in Greensboro tomorrow night.

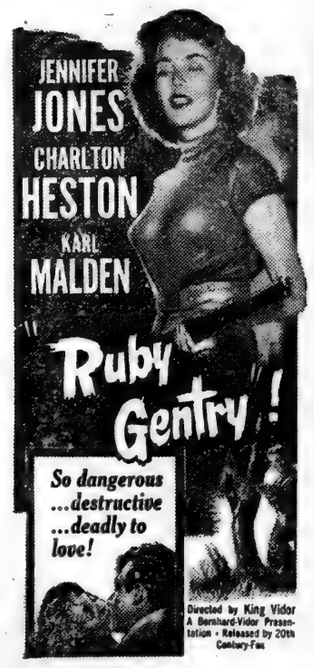


Carlla Sherman of Elizabeth City and AKPsi Charles Alderman of same are engaged.

That serenading you heard around Tuesday night was the KA's singing to pin-ups Sue Carter and Dee Breslow. Sue is pinned to Martin Jordan (the newly elected sweetheart of ADPi) and Dee's pinned to Randy Watson.

I'll close now with a request from a little friend to have his name in the column: Bud Maddie.

Carolina



TODAY and SATURDAY

ALSO
CARTOON — NEWS

LATE SHOW SAT. NITE
Reg. Showing SUN.-MON.

The Story Of The Flame Named Ruby Of The Tidewater Country Of N. C., Who Wrecked A Town Man By Man, Sin By Sin.

Concert Will Be Here Tonight

The first concert of the season by the Chapel Hill Choral Club, directed by Joel Carter, will be presented in Hill Hall tonight at 8:30.

The Choral Club is made up of townspeople, faculty and students. The concert will feature the University Symphony Orchestra and a number of local soloists. The first trumpet part will be performed by Gerrard Einhorn, University freshman from Norfolk, Va., who will use the special high trumpets in D acquired by the Music Department for this performance.

The Bach Cantatas No. 105 and 192 and the Handel "Dettingen Te Deum" comprise the program. Bach's Cantata No. 105 was written for the ninth Sunday after Trinity and is based on the text of Pasalm 143—"Lord, weigh us and just us not." The Cantata No. 192 is one of Bach's best known, "Now Thank We All Our God."

The public is invited. There will be no admission charge.

New Policy

(Continued from page 1)

the Consolidated University concurred in the recommendations of the Trustees' Committee," Carmichael said in a preface to the committee report.

May 26: Board of Trustees adopted the committee report unanimously. In its report, the committee asked abolishment of all forms of rebates, including those on books.

Dec. 10: UNC Business Manager Claude Teague announced that the profits for the scholarships here would be between $30,000 and $40,000 this year.

Jan. 15: Another tempest brews.

LAMBDA CHI ELECTS

Gamma Nu Zeta chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha has elected new officers.

They are President Bobby Glenn of Burlington, Vice-President John Rendleman of Salisbury; Secretary Bob Aldridge of Burlington, Treasurer Louis Parham of Charlotte, Ritualist Bobby Bell of Washington, N. C., Social Chairman Bob Leonard of Charlotte and Rush Chairman Bob Morris of Brevard.

Summer Jobs

Students who want help in finding summer jobs can register now with the Placement Service, 209 South Building. It will schedule appointments.

Chi O Dance Given at Inn

With a "Blue Moon" theme, Epsilon Beta of Chi Omega sorority presented its annual pledge dance at the Carolina Inn last Saturday night.

The ceiling of the Inn was covered with silver and blue, and each pledge carried a bouquet of silver sprayed cedar. The Duke Cavaliers furnished the music.

Alice Hicks, pledge president, led the figure which formed an X and a horseshoe and each pledge received a Chi Omega initialed bracelet.

The chapter entertained at a steak dinner at the Hope Valley Country Club before the dance.

The pledges and their dates were Mary Ida Brown of Asheville with Pete Sprague; Betty Burch of Bronxville, N. Y. with Jim Whitten; Betty Baucom of Southern Pines with Jim Webb; Margaret Cheatham of Henderson with Sonny Hood; Janie Carey of Southern Pines with Ervin Potts; Janie Carter of North Wilkesboro with Bill Bason; Janet Cozart of Wilson with Richard Smith; Mary Corsett of Ridgewood, N. J. with Johnny Ingram; Stella Eason of Tarboro with Earl Johnson;

Julia Kester of Winston-Salem with Julian Robertson; Judy Landauer of Red Hook, N. Y. with Pat Thomas; Jo Ann Murphy of Chattanooga, Tennessee with Dick Kocornic; Mary Jo Paul of Washington, N. C. with Peter Seaman; Ann Patterson of Edenton with Clayton Jackson; Ann Penton of Wilmington with Henry Longley; Anna Redding of Manhasset, Long Island, New York with Howard Pitt; Sheperd Rustin Smith of Gastonia with Lt. Charles Smith;

Pat Turnbull of Washington with Pete Alexander; Peggy Trotter of Chattanooga, Tennessee with Sam McLynch; Marnie Polk of Greensboro with Pete Clewis; Harriet Traynham of Warrenton with John Garret; Nancy Uzzelle of Joiner, Arkansas with Lee Osborne; Jo Ann Yokeley of Mt. Airy with Trueman Hon; Sandra Wright of Winston with Jimmy Ferree; Alice Hicks of Faison with Bill Hill; and Tollie Randolph of Chapel Hill with Rennie Randolph.

What Goes On Here

Playmakers

The touring company for "The Inspector General" will meet today at 4 o'clock in the Playmakers Theater for rehearsal.

Cosmopolitan Club

The Cosmopolitan Club will have square dancing at its meeting Sunday at 4 o'clock in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial.

Episcopal Party

A party at the Episcopal Parish house will be held for all students tonight at 8 o'clock for cards, ping-pong and dancing.

United Nations

The committee on the United Nations will meet in the YMCA library, Monday, at 7 o'clock.

BSU

A BSU planning and evaluation session will be held tonight at Camp New Hope for all council members and any Baptists interested in planning this quarter's program. Rides will be provided at 6:30 p.m. at the Baptist Church.

Revels

The annual Twelfth-Night Revels will be held Saturday night, 7:30 p.m. at the Playmakers Theater.

Unitarian Fellowship

Professor Phillips Russell will lead a discussion on "Prevailing Threats to Teachers" at a meeting of the Unitarian Fellowship at 8:30 p.m. in the YWCA Lounge.

WUNC

Today's schedule for the campus radio station:

7 p.m.—The Children's Circle.

7:30—"Man Who Hated Noise," Adventures in Research.

7:45—Carolina Sports Review.

8—People Under Communism.

9—Music Appreciation with Wm. Newman.

10—Local news and coming events.

10:05—Evening Masterwork.

10:45—Sign off.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE

VERY REASONABLE 1950 BUICK Special 2-tone green. 4 door. Contact John Rogers at Colonial Motors or Phone 9484. (Chg. 1x1)

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BEGINNING SHORTHAND CLASS, Monday and Thursday evenings, 7:30-8:30, Winter quarter. Call 2407 at 30 Davie Circle. (1-c3480)

TIMELY TIP FOR '53

Save on Food at A&P!

A&P

Save on Groceries in '53 with Big Values Like These

Thrift-Priced Pantry Needs

Armour's Star or Libby's Corned
Beef Hash - - - - - 16-Oz. Can 29c

Ann Page
Mayonnaise - - - - Qt. Jar 49c

Iona
Cut Beets - - - - 2 No. 303 Cans 29c

Ann Page Jelly
Strawberry - - - - 12-Oz. Glass 27c

A&P Yellow Cling—Halves or
Sliced Peaches - - - - No. 303 Can 19c

Sultana Large
Stuffed Olives - - - - - 10½-Oz. Jar 49c

Daily—Fish Flavor or Regular
Dog Food - - - - - 2 Cans 19c

Krey's In Brown Gravy
Sliced Beef - - - - - - 16-Oz. Can 57c

Mild and Mellow
EIGHT O'CLOCK 1-Lb. Bag 77c 3-Lb. Bag $2.25

Rich & Full-Bodied
RED CIRCLE 1-Lb. Bag 79c 3-Lb. Bag $2.31

Vigorous and Winey
BOKAR 1-Lb. Bag 81c 3-Lb. Bag $2.37

Ann Page Regular or
Elbow Macaroni - - - 8-Oz. Pkg. 10c

Scotties—200 Sheets
Facial Tissues - - - 2 Pkgs. 27c

Delrich—Green and White
Lima Beans - - - - 2 No. 303 Cans 25c

Domestic
Sardines - - - - - - - 2 ¼ Size Cans 15c

Come Save on Jane Parker
DEVIL'S FOOD SQUARE LAYER Cake

SPECIAL PRICE! 25c
Topped with chocolate and nuts, vanilla creme-filled, value-priced.

GRAND BUY IN BEANS
Ann Page VEGETARIAN BOSTON STYLE or WITH PORK
Sultana RED KIDNEYS or RED BEANS IN CHILI GRAVY
16-Oz. Can 10c

Ann Page Damson Plum
PRESERVES - 2-Lb. Jar 39c

Packer's Label Orange
JUICE - - - No. 2 Can 10c

Peter Pan
Peanut Butter 12-Oz. Glass 35c

Tenderleaf
Tea Bags 16-Ct. Pkg. 20c

Swift
Jewel Oil Pt. Bot. 29c Qt. Bot. 57c

Octagon
Soap Powder Lge. Pkg. 24c

Octagon Soap 2 Giant Bars 15c

Flakes
Blu White Pkg. 9c

SAVE ON "Super-Right" Meats

Choice Western Beef
CHUCK BLADE POT ROAST Lb. 59c

Wilson's Corn King
BACON 1-Lb. Pkg. 47c

Swift's Premium All Meat
FRANKS 1-Lb. Pkg. 53c

Standard Sealed
OYSTERS Pt. 85c

Pre-diced
Boneless Stew - - - - Lb. 63c

Freshly
Ground Beef - - - - - Lb. 49c

Fresh Pork Loin Roast
Loin End - - - - - - Lb. 45c

Fresk Pork — Market Style
Back Bone - - - - - - Lb. 45c

Center Cut — Pork
Rib Chops - - - - - - Lb. 59c

Center Cut — Pork
Loin Chops - - - - - Lb. 65c

Super Right Cut Up Pan Ready
Fryers Lb. 49c

Libby's Peas - - - - - No. 303 Can 23c

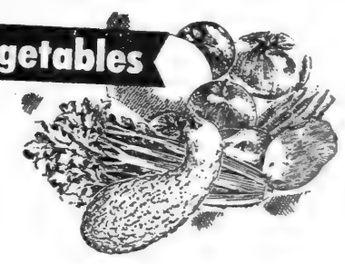
Tomato Juice Libby's - - - 46-Oz Can 29c

Ajax Cleanser - - - - - Can 12c

Sweetheart Soap - - 3 Bars 23c

Boraxo - - - - - - - - 8-Oz. Pkg. 20c

Lux Flakes - Reg. Pkg. 12c Lge. Pkg. 27c



Vel - - - - - - - - Lge. Pkg. 29c

Cocoanut Bars N.B.C. - - 7-Oz. Pkg. 26c

Fab - - - - Lge. Pkg. 26c Giant Pkg. 69c

Borax 20-Mule Team - - - - - 16-Oz. Pkg. 19c

Fruits & Vegetables

U. S. No. 1 White
POTATOES 10 Lbs. 59c

Green Heads
CABBAGE - - - - - - Lb. 4½c

Juicy Florida Size 54's and 64's
GRAPEFRUIT - - - 4 For 27c

Firm Golden Ripe
BANANAS - - - - - 2 Lbs. 25c

Juicy Florida
ORANGES - - - - - - - 8-Lb. Bag 43c

Firm Fine Flavor
RUTABAGAS - - - - 2 Lbs. 11c

Florida
TANGERINES - - - - - - Lb. 10c

These Prices Effective Thru Sat. January 17th.

A&P Super Markets

U N C LIBRARY

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Mild, possible showers with 55 high. Yesterday's high, 68; low, 47.

The Daily Tar Heel

ACT
McCarran's low will be talked about. See CPU, page 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 76 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, JANUARY 18, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

IN YOUR CHURCH

By Tom Neil, Jr.

Baptist

Dr. Preston Epps, Greek professor here, will teach Sunday School at the Baptist Church at 10 a.m. every Sunday.

The first in a series of programs on "The Origin of the Bible" is to be presented tonight at the BSU tures and charts depicting the be-Supper Forum at 6 o'clock. Pic-ginnings of the Bible will be shown.

Christian Science

"Life" is the subject of the lesson-sermon at the Christian Science organization this morning at the 11 o'clock service in New West.

Golden text is from Psalms: "The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot . . . Thou wilt shew me the pat hof life."

Selections from the Bible and Christian Science textbook, which constitute the sermon include:

"And he shewd me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the Lamb. In the midst of the street of it, and one either side of the river, was there the tree of life . . . and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations. Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and ma yenter in through the gates into the city." (Rev. 22: 1-2, 14)

And from Science and Health by Mary Baker Eddy: "The leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations." This tree is typical of man's divine Principles, which is equal to every emergency, offering full salvation from sin, sickness, and death." (p. 406: 12, 4-6)

Congregational Christian

This morning the United Student Fellowship will discuss various books bearing on the relationship of Christianity to man. These volumes are selected as to represented the beliefs of agnostics who later embraced the teachings of Christ Jesus.

Following the student supper at 6 o'clock, Dr. Preston Epps will speak to the group.

Presbyterian

Tonight the student group will discuss summer work camps and service projects. Glenn Fisher, who directed camps for th eAmerican Friends Service Committee in Mexico for several years, will lead the discussion. He will be assisted by students who have taken part in projects the past two years.

A square dance is being held in the large Sunday School room at the church Saturday night from 8 o'clock to 11 o'clock. Learners are welcome.

Roman Catholic

Members of the Newman Club are asked to bring their Sunday evening trays to the second floor of Lenoir Hall. The supper meeting begins at 5:30.

(See CHURCH, page 2)

Howl Begins Over Horton's NSA Plan

Reacting to President Ham Horton's suggestion to put NSA up to the student body for referendum for "its own, final decision," Ken Barton, regional NSA chairman, had this to say:

"I was not aware that NSA was a 'political football' on the campus. It is unfortunate if it is so as Carolina is important to us in the region. I hope that President Horton will make his position clear and submit to me a full report on NSA status at Carolina.

Lew Southern (SP), an advocate of NSA, declared, "It is obvious that NSA is a 'political football' from the lack of support from his (Horton's) party." He cited the present administration as the reason for an "unfunctioning" local committee.

National Student Association supporters and Yack staffers were disturbed yesterday.

NSA is a national student organization which, among other things, acts as a clearing house for ideas on student governments and expresses an official voice for students in other groups.

Wood Smethurst, campus NSA chairman, could not be reached for comment.

Yackety-Yack Managing Editor Bob Colbert commented strongly on Horton's suggestion to forbid staffers to accept rebates from publishers for meeting deadlines.

"As in the case of any publication, deadlines are essential. I believe that the meeting of deadlines of the Yack has nothing to do with the quality of material in the publication," stated Colbert.

He said students were notified of times and dates of taking pictures. Since many students did not meet appointments, the methods of taking pictures have been criticized. Colbert suggested that a possible rearrangement of next year's Yack will give students an extended period in which to have their pictures taken.

Publications Board Chairman Walt Dear said the board would bring up Horton's proposal at the next meeting.

AKPsi Rated Second Among 78 Chapters

Alpha Kappa Psi here, national professional fraternity in business administration has been rated second in the nation for efficiency. It is one of 78 collegiate chapters in the nation.

The rating was released yesterday by the national office in Indianapolis.

The point ratings are based on activities in seven categories: professional business activities, scholarship, research projects, service to school, membership, finances and genera administration. Florida State won first place honors.

Last year the University chapter was one of the six collegiate chapters to receive a perfect rating by the national office.

One of the fraternity's professional activities on the Carolina campus is the annual business fair which is to be held this year on March 2-3 in the new buildings of the School of Business Administration. The theme of this year's fair is "Personnel Key to Business Success," emphasizing Tar Heel jobs for Tar Heel graduates.

Staff Posts On Handbook To Be Filled

Applications for posts on the Carolina Handbook staff will be taken until Friday.

Main positions on the handbook, which is an illustrated guide to the University designed to give incoming freshmen a more personal look at the campus, are editor, business manager and writers.

Forms are available at the Y desk and applicants will be interviewed before final decisions are announced.

The business manager usually earns $100 to $150, which is 10 percent of the book's ad earnings.

Selections are made on the basis of experience and interest.

NEWS IN BRIEF

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland—An American C-54 military transport crashed Friday night near Harmon Air Base at Stephenville, on Newfoundland's rocky west coast, it was learned yesterday. All 14 persons aboard were believed to have perished. A U. S. Air Force spokesman at the base said all aboard the four-engine plane were believed to have been American military personnel.

★

NEW YORK—A witness at the second perjury trial of William Remington testified yesterday that the former Commerce Department official asked him to join the Communist party. Rudolph Bertram, personnel relations officer of the Tennessee Valley Authority, testified in Federal Court that Remington "asked me to join the Communist Party" in 1937 when both he and Remington were TVA employees.

★

WASHINGTON—President-Elect Eisenhower faced his first crisis with Congress yesterday when some senators held that Charles E. Wilson will violate the law if he retains his General Motors stocks while defense secretary. Senate confirmation of Wilson and his top defense aides seemed doubtful to come before inauguration day, as Eisenhower had requested.

★

SEOUL, Korea—American Sabre jet fighter planes chalked up a 13-0 triumph over Communist MIG-15's in last week's heavy air action over Korea, the 5th Air Force announced yesterday.

★

WASHINGTON — Government sleuths were working yesterday to finish investigation of an international Soviet spy ring involving two American veterans. More American citizens were rounded up in Vienna for questioning in the case amid speculation that there would be additional arrests.

★

SAVANNAH, G.a—The Atlantic Coast Line's fast Miami-to-Boston Miamian passenger train crashed into the rear of a freight train in the fog early yesterday and injured five persons, two critically. Two Diesel locomotives and at least eight cars were derailed, some twisted and shattered.

★

WASHINGTON — President Truman "compounded a felony" when he offered to stop a grand jury investigation into an alleged international oil cartel, according to Sen. Guy M. Gillette. The Iowa Democrat told the Senate that Mr. Truman interfered with the grand jury system when he offered Monday to drop the criminal anti-trust suit if the oil companies would submit documents to be used in a civil suit. The oil companies angrily rejected the offer as "blackmail."

12 Appointed To Study TV For Education

Governor Umstead yesterday appointed a 12-member commission to study the possible use of eight television channels for educational purposes.

The Radio and Television Commission was created Wednesday by joint resoution of the Legislature.

Named were Chairman Irving E. Carlyle, Winston-Salem; Reuben B. Robertson, Canton; L. Y. Ballentine, Raleigh; John Harden, Greensboro, Dr. John R. Cunningham, Davidson; Mrs. J. W. Bunn, Raleigh; F. J. Blythe, Charlotte; C. McD. Davis, Wilmington; Knox Massey, Durham; James Clark, Elizabethtown; W. B. Rodman, Washington, and Dr. Charles F. Carroll, state superintendent of public instruction.

Commission members will receive no compensation except necessary expenses. They are to make their report to the governor at the earliest practical date. A favorable report on educational TV would go well for the University.

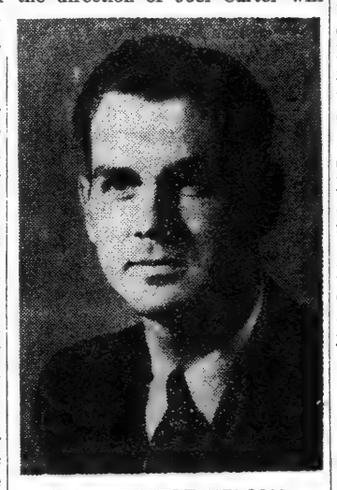
Noted Lawyer To Present Weil Talks Here This Week

Dr. Zechariah Chafee Jr., outstanding law professor and outspoken defender of freedom of speech, wil open the annual series of three Weil lectures on American citizenship Tuesday night at Hill Hall.

Speaking on the general topic of "Freedom in Special Situations," the Harvard Law School University professor will talk on "The School House," Tuesday night, on "The Ship" Wednesday night and on "The Beleaguered City" Thursday night.

Chafee occupies the Langdell Chair of Law at Harvard and frequenlty has been outspoken in his defense of freedom of speech. He once told the American Bar Association that loyalty oaths could create risks of grave injury to the careers of patriotic lawyers.

His first lectur,e slated for 8:30, will deal with problems of freedom in education and, according to Chafee, "the inevitable conflict between the principle of a free contest of truth and error."



Chafee, who has taught at Harvard since 1916, is chairman of the board of directors of the Builders Iron Foundry, Providence, R. I. He practice law in Providence from 1913-16 and was consultant to the National Commission of Law Observance and Enforcement from 1929-31. He is author of "Freedom of Speech," "American Now," "The Inquiring Mind," and a number of articles on specific legal situations.

The Weil lectures were established in 1914 by the families of Sol and Henry Weil of Goldsboro and have been given almost every year since.

Nelson Speaks In Hill Tonight--8:30

"The Time of Your Life" will be Dr. J. Robert Nelson's topic tonight at 8:30 when he delivers the year's second University sermon in Hill Hall.

The Women's Glee Club under the direction of Joel Carter will present several selections at the Y sponsored program. Pat Aydlett is in charge of Universiyt Sermons programs for the year.

DR. J. ROBERT NELSON

Dr. Nelson is a Methodist minister and study secretary of the United Student Christian Council. In June he will become the executive secretary of the Faith and Ardor Commission of the World Council of Churches with offices in Geneva, Switzerland.

Dr. Nelson has been director of the Wesley Foundation here and at the University of Illinois. He came to Chapel Hill in 1946 after serving in Japan, Guam and China as a chaplain with the Marine Corps.

Dr. Nelson has edited many religious works. Among them are "The Realm of Redemption," "The Christian Student and the Church," "The Christian Student and the University" and the "Christian Student and the World Struggle."

A graduate of DePauw University, Dr. Nelson was a member of Phi Beta and Beta Theta Pi, the varsity football squad and track team. He received his bachelor of divinity degree from Yale and his doctorate in theology from the University of Zurich where he graduated "magna cum laude."

Dr. Nelson was a delegate to World University Service in Norway and the Ecumenical Methodist Conference in Oxford, England in 1951. During the past year he has been a consultant to the Third World Conference on Faith and Order which met in Lund, Sweden.

UN Committee Meets Monday

The United Nations Committee will meet in the Y Library tomorrow at 7 p.m.

Those interested in helping to plan the model UN General Assembly are asked to attend. Tentative plans are being prepared and will be presented at tomorrow's session.

Bids will be sent out in a few days asking organizations to participate in the model Assembly. Those participating will be asked to designate nations they would like to represent.

General Celebration

KA's will gather 'round the Old Soldier (Confederate Monument ment) tomorrow at 2 p.m. for a dedication service in honor of General Robert E. Lee's birthday.

Hypnotist At Carrboro School

Preston, noted magician and hypnotist, appears tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday at Carrboro School Auditorium. Proceeds of the show will go toward building a new Boy Scout Hut.

UP Meet

UPers will meet tomorrow at 7 p.m. on the second floor of Graham Memorial to discuss reorganization.

YWCA Bible Study

Everyone is invtied to attend a YWCA discussion of Corinthians by Dr. Bernard Boyd tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock.

APO Meet

APO's have schedued an open meeting for Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial. The meeting will end in time for all to see the basketball game.

Refreshments will be served.

Dimes Drive To Be Lead By 3 Groups

PiKA, and DKE fraternities in conjunction with Delta Delta Delta Sorority are supporting the annual March of Dimes drive this year and have obtained permission to canvass and carry on the drive through the IDC, the IFC and South Building.

Sometime next week all dormitories will be canvassed in an effort to obtain financial support. This weekend contributions are being collected from fraternities and sororities. Next week, while fraternity men are canvassing the men's dorms, sorority women will canvass the Women's dorms.

The March of Dimes Foundation lends financial assistance to those requesting aid to pay treatment costs. Right now the foundation is $7,000,000 in debt, and it costs the foundation on an average fo $6,000 per person receiving aid each year. The foundation recently gave the University $21,000 for research.

The drive will be placed on a competitive basis and will be divided between the fraternity, sorority and dormitory groups. A free movie will be given by the Carolina Theater to the fraterniyt, sorority and dormitory having the highest per capita contribution on campus.

E. Carrington Smith of the Carolina Theater is head of the local foundation branch here in Chapel Hill and is responsible for the free movie as well as getting the drive off to a start. However, PiKA, DKE and the Tri Delts will be doing the actual canvassing.

Seven Attend Meet

Seven persons represented the University last weekend at a regional meeting of the National Association of College Unions in Athens, Georgia.

The meeting was for the purpose of discussing new trends in the administration of student affairs in six southern states. Attending from here were Dean of Students Fred Weaver, Student Union Director Bill Roth, Ken Penegar, Nancy Murray, Don Geiger, Dave Reid and Nancy Horn fo the Student Union Activities Board.

PAY RAISE

If the budget recommendation goes through, it'll be a happier pay day for several Consolidated University officials.

Recommended for raises are President Gordon Gray, $12,360 to $15,000 (Gray was promised $17,500 to become president); Controller W. D. Carmichael Jr., $11,160 to $13,500, and UNC Chancellor Robert House, $10,320 to $12,000.

Several other educational officials also got salary boosts.

TWO PICTURES — MORE EVIDENCE of man's inhumanity to man — have been smuggled to this country from Communist China. The photos, taken by an official Communist photographer, were obtained by Life Magaznie and show the trial at Fukang, China, before a "people's tribunal" of Huang Chin-Chi, whose crime was ownership of two-thirds of an acre of land. In the picture at left Chin-Chi, bound and guarded, kneels before the "court"; the righthand picture was made just before a rifleman carried out the death sentence by shooting Chin-Chi, still bound and kneeling through the back.—Life Magazine Photo.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Delaine Bradsher | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgr. — Ned Beeker
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jess Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Jay Zimmerman, Dave Herbert.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Charles A. Collins, Charles Haskett, Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

Night Editor for this issue: Louis Kraar

Some Educational Values

We know a lot of young folks who are about washed out. Their energy has evaporated. They seem to be like the burned out generator of the old Model T.

On the other hand, we know a lot of old folks who have such spirit, such charm, such delight in radiating happiness and knowledge, that it's a keen pleasure to converse with them. The scintillating personality of Dr. Archibald Henderson best typifies this younger outlook in the older folk.

Historian, scientist, biographer, among other things, he is a widely traveled, well-versed, man filled with the broad understanding that years of study, observation, and experience beget.

This week, Dr. Henderson spoke to two important organizations, the Phi Assembly and the English Club. Both talks were enlightening, both were delivered with a spirit and vim that made the audience listen.

His remarks on education were of particular value to students and to the University. Often, we have wondered what is the object of an education? Some rightly have said that the University seems not to know just what the objectives of education are. They vary from year to year, curriculum to curriculum, course to course. Some rightly have argued that education nowadays fails to teach people the three R's.

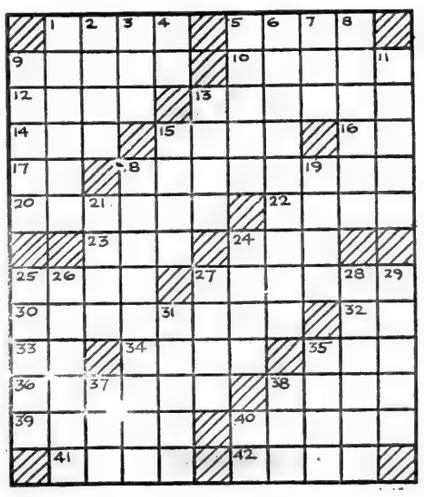
Dr. Henderson has a ready objective for education. A person must be oriented in the "three great realms of knowledge: cosmos, society, and art. When one grasps at a comprehension of the universe, he begins to realize that his place in the realm of nature is great because of his ability to understand the cosmos."

Societies on the international, national, and local level need to be studied. World history is a must for intelligent thinking on economic and political problems of the day. The contradictions of the American way facing us now—Jim Crowism, lobbyism, municipal corruption, and slums—must be met with "high patriotism, shrewd brains, and liberal judgment."

Art, encompassing literature, music, beauty, and romance can't be thrown away.

Perhaps these objectives of Dr. Henderson's aren't the only ones that education should offer. They afford, however, measures for understanding, and the best equipment for intelligent thinking, acting, and living.

Certainly, Dr. Henderson practices what he preaches. Formerly one of our ablest professors in the mathematics department, he is a gifted historian of the University and is the eminent biographer of George Bernard Shaw. Dr. Henderson at 75, spends much of his time traveling about the state—lecturing. He has sontinued to infuse knowledge and thought to students, as his recent talks prove. We hope that he will continue brringing his views and ideas home to the University.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Clenched hand
5. Shoot used for grafting
9. Article of virtu
10. Mountains (So. Am.)
12. Cuckoos
13. Turn aside
14. Opposite of "outs"
15. Unadorned
16. Virginia (abbr.)
17. Northeast (abbr.)
18. Flavorful
20. Loose-fitting trousers
22. Exclamation
23. Spawn of fish
24. Underworld deity
25. Mix
27. Doctrines
30. Snaring
32. Old Testament (abbr.)
33. Radium (sym.)
34. Electrified particles
35. Hint
36. Speak first to
38. A net-like fabric
39. Servants (Mex.)
40. Last
41. Measure of medicine
42. Paradise

DOWN
1. Steamship smokestack
2. Flower
3. Little girl
4. Toward
5. Capital (Egypt)
6. Reversing
7. Poem
8. A nerve (anat.)
9. Son of Adam (poss.)
11. Hide away (slang)
13. Dips lightly into water
15. Cook in an oven
18. Lobsterlike arachnids
19. River (Fr.)
21. Melody
24. Lairs
25. Thong
26. Mapped out
27. A tinge
28. Tropical bird
29. Metal
31. Force of men
35. Walking stick
37. Cry, as a dove
38. Cover
40. Iron (sym.)

Yesterday's Answer

Fred Crawford

CPU Roundtable

Practically any statement or summary concerning the McCarran-Walter Immigration and Nationality Act would be as incoherent, misleading, and confused as the Act itself. After much lengthy, heated debate in Congress, and after a concentrated appeal to public opinion following President Truman's veto and subsequent passage, there is an admitted air of ignorance concerning the exact nature of the Act by those who should know—especially the immigration officials who are now trying to enforce the Act.

Confusion regarding the Act comes from many sources. First is its bulky, 250 pages, much of it in fine print. Second it tries to do so many things—revising the old Smith-Mundt-Nixon Act changing quotas, providing preference for educated immigrants, inspecting all ship crews on political beliefs and activities, and in addition to all this, several different provisions on punishing government officials who have any smell of Communism. And, third, it seems to advance the theory that thought against the government is a punishable crime. It is around this last point that most of the controversy rages.

It is this act—one which determines traffic and communication into and out of this country and one which, broadly interpreted, can place a citizen in jail for his thoughts—which the Carolina Political Union will consider tonight. A question to which there are no right or wrong answers—a question which is desperately misunderstood, if understood at all, by most persons. We will take no votes and sign no petitions tonight. No viewpoints will be pushed down anyone's throat. Rather we shall attempt an open, serious, unbiased discussion of the issue—one which can, potentially, result in keeping you or your friends in or out of the country for political reasons; one which can place you in jail for your politics.

--Church--

(Continued from page 1)

Unitarian

"Prevailing Threats to Teachers" will be the discussion topic Sunday evening at the meeting of the Unitarian Fellowship of Chapel Hill. Professor Phillips Russell of the School of Journalism will lead the discussion.

The meeting will be held in the YWCA lounge at 8:30 p.m. It is open t othe public.

Episcopal

The York Club, an Episcopal dents and faculty, will meet tonight in the Episcopal parish house at 8:45. Dr. William Wells, of the Department of English, will lead a discussion on the topic "Is Christianity Compatible with Intellectual Maturity?"

Holy Communion wil lbe held at 8 o'clock this morning, in the Chapel of the Cross. At 11 a.m. wil be the Litany and anti-Communism.

Young Adult Group

The Young Adult Group of the Methodist Church will hold a supper meeting at 6:15 Tuesday at the Church. The Rev. William Howard will discuss "Fundamentals of Methodism." Those planning to attend are requested to notify the church office not later than 6 p.m. tomorrow.

"Gosh, Those New Atomic Weapons Are Fantastic"

John Gibson

PULQUE

Last Wednesday I discussed some, but certainly not all, of the changes a shift to the semester system might bring. In this final column on Saturday classes, I will suggest some uses for Saturday that would not necessitate a shift to the semester system.

First, the present system could be used simply by shifting some of the five-day-per-week classes to Saturday. For example, a course could meet on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. This would give the students and faculty a break in the middle of the week from that specific class. This could not be done with all the classes, because of the class room situation, but it could be don ewith a substantial number of them.

Another method to use Saturdays would be to have classes meet six day a week, and increase the time of the two hour seminars. This would telescope the usual 50 or so classes per quarter into a shorter time, and might permit a break of a week or so toward the end of the term for ilbrary research, term paper writing, etc. Of course it would intensify the work load, perhaps to a point where students could not take it. Also the difficulty with special class-less research time is that many students would not use it for its intended purpose, but would make a vacation out of it. This could be partially remedied by making sure that the assignments would keep them busy during this period. The more mature and hard working students woud certainly welcome a week or so during which they could examine all the odds and ends of special material they would like to look at but don't have time for.

The time on Saturday could be used for special voluntary or compulsory review sessions for students who are not doing well. Any plan which requires the Carolina students to do anything is met with much opposition, yet there are many students who certainly could use a little extra help. The variation in high school instruction present in the U. S. as a whole, and North Carolina in particular would certainly justify such a plan. Of course the professors would have to be willing to put in a little more time, or else special assistants could be hired for these extra sessions. Students who are doing very poorly in their classes might be required to attend these sessions. Granted that you can't force a horse to drink, you can put it in such a situation that it might as well drink because it has nothing else to do.

On the other hand, instead of utilizing Saturdays for helping the students who are having trouble the time could be given over to the students who want to do extra work in courses. There actually are such animals, though they are decreasing in numbers. Voluntary classes could be held in which the students who so desired could talk over special problems with their professors. There are many students who know that often the most useful information they have learned has been gained in out-of-class talks with professors. This system would sort of institutionalize the practice.

These ideas are just suggestions as to some of the ways Saturdays can be used under the quarter system. There are probably many others, most of them perhaps better than these. Do you have any suggestions?

Cosmopolitan Club

The Cosmopolitan Club at its meeting today at 4 p.m. in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial will stage a square dance. Sy Herzog will be present to lead the dancing and instruct.

Express Yourself

Editor:

Since coming to Chapel Hill I have been shocked by the number of persons who say "I never listen to the radio. "Shocked because Chapel Hill is supposedly an exceptionally intelligent community.

It happens that I have lived in other intelligent communities where people have exercised selected vision and recognized the privilege of listening to the really excellent programs furnished by the radio. Now what happens when they do not listen to such programs? They are often taken off, as was "Invitation to Learning," a panel of scholars discussing great authors and their books and furnishing the kind of intellectual pablum to listeners produced by the sparkling of superior intellects engaged in discussion.

Pressure to lower standards is always stronger than pressure to raise them. The outlets in the South therefore resort to the old alibi to a person who appreciates good programs and sees them listed in the New York papers, "We have to put out popular stuff." And popular stuff is usually crooning, would-be comedians, a surfeit of hill-billy moronism and the ubiquitous ball games.

We in Chapel Hill are sometimes treated to unusually good movies. Notice how few persons take the trouble to patronize them and to show any appreciation to Mr. Gutierrez or Mr. Carrington Smith.

Let us realize the forces at work to lower public taste and fight with all our might and main to preserve the fine programs now given us by WUNC, our new University radio station.

Mary B. Gilson

Cows, Pigs and People

The National Safety Council has again released its annual report on unusual accidents that have occurred during the past year. As usual animals were doing their best to get the upper hand over man in 1952.

For example, a Baltimore man awoke with a sharp pain in his hand to find his pet rabbit squinting at him over the sights of a .22 caliber rifle.

A German butcher was trying to kill a pig, when suddenly the animal turned the tables on him. It jumped to its feet, tripped the trigger with its leg and shot the butcher through the knee. A clear-cut case of self-defense.

A Denver, Colorado couple were out for what was to have been a uneventful drive, when a 1,300 pound cow dived onto the top of their car. The bovine bombshell had been scared by two cowboys and had leaped from an overpass.

A Nevada man got into a fight with a bumblebee while he was driving. He became so wrapped up in what he was doing that he forgot to drive. The car turned over three times.

The long-distance falling championship for the year was won by a California youngster. He slipped from the top of a 1,500 foot cliff, fell 200 feet, rolled 1,000, fell again, rolled some more and finally landed unharmed. That's what these breakfast cereals are doing for the younger generation.

A six-year-old New York boy fell five stories down a stairwell and landed on a German Shepard named Prince. Neither boy nor dog was badly injured.

Pedestrians are beginning to take up for themselves, too. In Portland, Oregon, a jaywalker strode into an automobile, demolished its radio antenna and kept walking. A 240-pound Atlantic City resident merely laughed and shook hands with the driver, when an automobile struck him. Then, he helped push the car to a garage, where a mechanic estimated damages at $300.

An airplane that crashlanded onto the top of a moving car, streetcars and bathtubs also contributed a share to laughable misfortunes of 1952.

PEPSI-COLA
DURHAM PEPSI - COLA BOTTLING CO.
305 South St. Durham

FLOWERS or GIFTS
WHATEVER YOUR NEEDS
— ITS —
University Florist
ROBBIN'S BLDG.

WE BUY OLD BOOKS
We'll be glad to make you an offer on anything from a brokendown text to that stack of books in grandpa's attic—and nine times out of ten our price will be higher than you can get anywhere else.!
The Intimate Bookshop
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

The Story Of The Flame Named Ruby Of The Tidewater Country Of N. C.
...who wrecked a whole town ...sin by sin!

Jennifer JONES
Charlton HESTON
Karl MALDEN
in Ruby Gentry!
with Tom Tully • Bernard Phillips • James Anderson • Josephine Hutchinson • Phyllis Avery • Herbert Heyes • Produced by JOSEPH BERNHARD & KING VIDOR
Directed by KING VIDOR • Screenplay by SILVIA RICHARDS • Story by ARTHUR FITZ-RICHARD • A BERNHARD-VIDOR Presentation • Released by 20th Century-Fox
— PLUS —
CARTOON—NEWS
TODAY AND MONDAY
Carolina

U N C LIBRARY

Carolina Gains All First Places In Sinking Ga. Tech

North Carolina's swimming Tar Heels gained their thirtieth consecutive dual meet victory yesterday by defeating Georgia Tech, 59-25.

Carolina started things off right by setting a new pool record in the very first event. This was the 300 yard medley relay. Carolinians Buddy Baarcke, Barry Wall, and Jack Edwards took the honors in turning in a time of two minutes, 52.8 seconds. In swimming the backstroke leg of the event, Baarcke did a time of 58.4. This is faster than any other Carolina swimmer as turned in, but it cannot be recognized officially because it was done as part of a relay.

The Tar Heels also finished things properly by setting a new University record in the 400 yard freestyle relay, which was the final event. Baarcke and Edwards teamed with Buddy Heins and Donnie Evans in setting the new mark at three minutes and thirty seconds flat. This knocked off approximately one and one-half seconds from the old record.

Others performing well were Larry Shannon in the 220, Barry Wall in the 200 yard breaststroke, Stan Tinkham in the 100, Joe Kelso in the diving, Warren Heeman in the 200 backstroke, and Tommy Gill in the 440. The total results of the meet were:

300 yard medley relay: UNC (Baarcke, Wall, Edwards) Time: 2:52.2 (new pool record).

220 yard freestyle: 1. Shannon UNC, 2. Browne GT 3. Mau GT. Time: 2:19.0.

50 yard freestyle: 1. Heins UNC 2. Walker GT 3. Widoff UNC. Time: 23.4.

150 individual medley: 1. Evans UNC, 2. Van Leer, GT 3. Herrara GT. Time: 1:33.0.

Diving: 1. Kelso UNC; 2. Hannah, GT; 3. Patton, GT. Scoring: 313.4.

100 yard freestyle: 1. Tinkham, UNC; 2. Walker, GT; 3. Purcell, GT. Time: 55.2.

200 yard backstroke: 1. Heeman, UNC; 2. Linker, UNC; 3. Strickland, GT. Time: 2:18.7.

200 yard breaststroke: 1. Wall, UNC; 2. Cildress, GT; 3. Herrara, GT. Time: 2:39.5.

440 yard freestyle: 1. Gill, UNC; 2. Wolf, UNC; 3. Browne, GT. Time: 5:14.3.

400 yard freestyle relya: UNC (Edwards, Evans, Baarcke, Heins). Time: 3:30.0 (new University record).

Virginia Grapplers Rout Tar Heels In 25-2 Bout

Virginia's powerful Cavaliers won a 25-3 wrestling match over Carolina last night, taking every bout except a close decision in the 137-lb. division.

The Tar Heels managed its points when Capt. Eddie Haines took a hard fought 6-5 decision over Harry Boccock.

One hundred forty seven-pounder Lee Marston and heavyweight John Bragdon pinned Tar Heels Lee Stevens and Karl Barkley for the visitors most impressive win.

Tar Heel footballer Miles Gregory dropped a close 7-4 decision to Neb Turner, losing out in the final seconds.

Gordon Forester turned in a good job in the 130-pound division but lost to Stuart Valentine, a veteran from Richmond, Va., 5-1.

The defeat left the Tar Heels' season record at one victory and two losses. Coach Sam Barnse' takes on the Citadel at Charleston on January 29 in the next match.

Summaries:

123—Thomas (Virg.) decisioned Pawlick, 10-2.

130—Valentine (Virg.) decisioned Forester, 5-1.

137—Haines (UNC) decisioned Boccsock, 6-5.

147—Morsaon (Virg.) pinned Stevens, 5:08.

157—Fitzgerald (Virg.) decisioned A. Gregory, 7-0.

167—Schwab (Virg.) decisioned Bradshaw, 14-4.

177—Turner (Virg.) decisioned M. Gregory, 7-4.

Heavyweights — Bragdon (Virg.) pinned Barkclay, 2:45.

Frosh Matmen Pinned, 23-9

The Carolina freshman wrestling team, coached by former Davidson football-wrestling star Johnny Guiton, gave evidence that it possesses good talent although beaten 23-9 by Virginia.

Carolina's Jake (Radar) Ferrell, a newcomer from Lexington, turned in the evening's best performance with a 10-5 decision over Ed Wagner in the 157 division.

Bill Ginn and Broadus Thompson scored the Tar Heel's remaining points, also on decisions.

Harold Schwartz, Jack Waters, J. B. Tuindall, Tom Furguson, and Mitch Marcopolus also turned in good work in defeat.

Guiton's young wrestlers, many of them on the mat for the first time, flashed as much promise as any young Tar Heel team in the last several years.

The summary:

123—Steele (Virg.) and Schwartz, 4:58.

130—Brown (Virg.) and Waters, 4:18.

137—Merriman ,Virg.) decisioned Tyndall, 10-4.

147—Tompson (UNC) decisioned Piper, 10-3.

157—Ferrell, (UNC) decisioned Wagner, 10-5 .

167—Ginn (UNC) decisioned Hjort, 4-3.

177—McWilliams ,Virg.) pinned Furguson, 2:59.

Heavy Weight—Schwab (Virg.) pinned Marcopuls, 1:52.

PICKS WRONG TARGET

Trowing a hamburger at the wrong man cost Philip Quenville, of Wisnoski, Vt., $20.65.

On tasting a hamburger served him in a diner, Quenville became infuriated and threw the sandwich at hte nearest customer — who turned out to be the town constable.

Tar Heels Suffer First SC Lose In Maryland Battle, 68-66

COLLEGE PARK, Md.,—(Special)—Carolina's basketball team dropped its first Southern Conference contest here tonight as Maryland squeezed by Coach Frank McGuire's squad, 68-66.

The Tar Heels were sparked by Al Lifson, freshman forward Jerry Vayda and center Bud Maddie in the see-saw battle.

Tonight's loss marked the first loss after a series of nine victories. Whether or not losing to Maryland would affect Carolina's hold on the top spot wasn't known at press time since other results were'nt in.

Only at one point in the game did Maryland step out ahead by as much as nine points.

Up until tonight the Tar Heels had a 9-0 record as compared to N.C. State and Wake Fores, who were close behind with one loss apiece.

Tar Heel Co-Captain, still plaguedfro a badly bruised shoulder received in the VMI game, also turned in a fair average scoring a total of eight points.

MARYLAND	fg	ft	pf	tp
Moran	5	12	4	22
Young	2	3	4	7
Shue	5	9	4	19
Greco	0	0	0	0
Levine	1	7	5	9
Brooks	2	2	2	6
Mains	1	0	4	2
Butler	0	1	2	1
Everett	0	2	5	2
TOTALS	16	36	30	68

CAROLINA	fg	ft	pf	tp
Lifson	4	4	5	12
Wallace	3	0	5	6
Vayda	5	7	5	17
Schwartz	1	0	5	2
Maddie	3	6	5	13
Likins	0	4	2	4
Carter	0	3	2	3
Grimaldi	3	2	1	8
Winstead	0	1	1	1
Phillips	0	0	2	0
Glancy	0	0	2	0
TOTALS	19	28	35	66

Score by periods:

MARYLAND	13	29	47—68
CAROLINA	14	27	39—66

MURALS

TOMORROW'S BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 3, Lewis 3 vs. TMA; court 4, Emerson 2 vs. Joyner 1; court 5, Sigma Chi 1 vs. Beta 2; court 6, Theta Chi 2 vs. TEP 3; court 7, Cobb 2 vs. Law School 1.

5:00—Court 3, PiKA 2 vs. Kappa Psi 1; court 4, TEP 2 vs. Sigma Nu 3; court 5, ATO 2 vs. AK Psi; court 6, Theta Chi 1 vs. Chi Psi 2; court 7, Kappa Psi 2 vs. TEP 1.

7:00—Court 3, Med School 2 vs. Graham 1; court 4 Sigma Nu 2 vs. Zete 3; court 5, Phi Delt 3 vs. Phi Gam 2; court 6, Victory Village vs. Lewis 1; court 7 Aycock 1 vs. Winston 2.

8:00—Court 3, Phi Delt Chi 1 vs. SAE 2; court 4, ZBT 2 vs. Lambda Chi 2; court 5, Phi Gam 3 vs. Delta Psi; court 6 KA 3 vs. Kappa Sig 3; court 7, Graham 2 vs. Med School 4.

TOMORROW'S TABLE TENNIS

4:00—Kappa Sig 4 vs. Lambda Chi 2; 4:30—Sigma Nu 1 vs. Pi Kappa Phi 1; 5:00—Zeta Psi 2 vs. Phi Delt 4; 5:30—KA 3 vs. Phi Gam 6.

7:00—TEP 3 vs. SPE 1; 7:30—ATO 1 vs. SAE 3; 8:00—Sigma Chi 1 vs. Phi Delt 5; 8:30—Kappa Sig 2 vs. Sigma Nu 3.

PRESTON
THE MAGICIAN AND HYPNOTIST
AT CARRBORO SCHOOL AUDITORIUM
Monday, Tuesday, & Wednesday
January 19, 20, and 21
8:00 P.M.
FOR BENEFIT OF THE BOY SCOUT HUT
SPONSORED BY
CARRBORO LION'S CLUB
ADMISSION: CHILDREN—50c Adults—$1.00

INTERESTED IN
ROBERT E. LEE
Your friendly old bookshop is the spot for a browse on Lee's birthday. Among other things you'll find:
FOR THE YOUNGSTERS —
AMERICA'S ROBERT E. LEE
by Henry Steele Commager $3.00
FOR THE STUDENT —
ROBERT E. LEE
by Douglas Southall Freeeman
Four Volume Set $25.00
FOR THE COLLECTOR —
THE POPULAR LIFE OF LEE
(Baltimore 1872) $3.00
Plus a complete set of Civil War battle reports.
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. FRANKLIN ST.
OPEN EVENINGS

You've waited for it . . .
Here it is!
OUR SEMI-ANNUAL SHIRT
SALE
3.95 TO 5.00 QUALITIES FROM
NATIONALLY KNOWN MANUFACTURERS
2 for $5.00
FAMOUS MAKE SHIRTS OF WHITE AND COLORED BROADCLOTH AND OXFORD. REGULAR AND SPREAD COLLARS, BUTTON AND FRENCH CUFFS. BUY THEM BY THE DOZEN. OUR ONLY SUGGESTION . . . BE HERE EARLY!
SORRY — NO PHONE OR MAIL ORDERS
THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

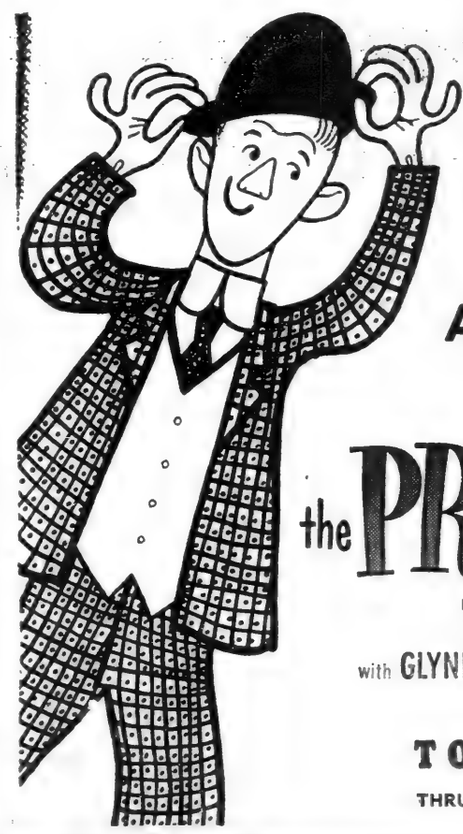
RUDY'S ORIGINAL
21 Shrimp in the Basket
LARGE FRIED BREADED
99¢
COMPLETE LINE OF SANDWICHES FOR CURB-SERVICE
COMPLETE LINE OF MEALS IN DINING ROOM
OPEN 6 A.M. —1 A.M. ORDERS TO TAKE OUT
Bill's Drive-In
GREENSBORO HIGHWAY AT CARRBORO

LARGEST STOCK OF BOOKS IN THE CAROLINAS
The Book Exchange
FIVE POINTS
Durham, N. C.
We Buy Used Books

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENTS

TIRED—WANTA SLEEP? MAKE $3.00 per hour while you're at it. Take a nap in Llyod-Ray Hardware show window next Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday afternoon, courtesy PRESTON the Hypnotist and Magician, sponsored by Carrboro Lion's Club. Apply before 3 P.M. each day. chg. 1x1



TYPESCRIPT SERVICE: THESES, plays, dissertions and similar work. Dial 9-3416 or go to 214 West Rosemary Street, Miss Kathryn McGalliard. (1-c3462-2)

WANTED

WANTED: WHITE MEN TO EARN $3 per our next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoons. Easy work, relaxing, restful. Apply Lloyd-Ray Hardward before 3 P.M. Chg. 1x1

DON'T FORGET
The Winter Dances Are Coming Up Soon. Come In And Let Us Help You With Your Formal Needs For The Formal Season ...
Tuxedos — "After Six"
All Formal Accessories
Town & Campus

LaMarick's Cold Wave Special!
LaMarick Custom Creme Oil Cold Waves . . . Nationally famous professional permanent.
$12.50 Value — $5.95
LaMarick Deluxe Creme Oil Wave for softer, longer lasting permanent.
$15.00 Value — $6.95
LaMarick Super Deluxe Creme Oil Frigid Cold Wave . . . new, natural-looking permanent.
$25.00 Value — $9.95
EACH PERMANENT WAVE INCLUDES
★ Personality Hair Cut
★ Shaping, Tapering, Thinning
★ Reconditioning Shampoo
★ Scientific Test Curls
★ Oil Neutralizer
★ Helene Curtis Creme Rinse
★ Setting
★ Free Consultation on All Work
We feature only professionally and nationally advertised products, or products by nationally known manufacturers such as Fashion-Wave by Helene Curtis, Roux, Breck, Clairol, Revlon, Flex-Wave and LaMarick Frigid Cold Wave.
All permanents individually priced and opened before you. This is for your protection as our customers. Request this always in your beauty salon.
Belk-Leggett Beauty Salon
PHONE DURHAM 29201
Hudson-Belk Beauty Salon
PHONE RALEIGH 3-1726
LaMARICK SHOPS

STUDENTS! NOT SINCE "THE QUIET MAN" HAS THE THEATRE BEEN BLESSED WITH ENTERTAINMENT OF SUCH HIGH CALIBRE.
— WE PRESENTED —
"THE LAVENDER HILL MOB"—"THE MAN IN THE MAN IN THE WHITE SUIT"—and NOW—
THE BIGGEST WINNER OF THEM ALL!

Lock Up Your Dollars And Your Daughters. 'Cause that mans' at the Varsity again!
ALEC GUINNESS
now . . . as
the PROMOTER
From Arnold Bennett's novel "THE CARD"
with GLYNIS JOHNS · VALERIE HOBSON
PETULA CLARK
TODAY THRU TUESDAY
Varsity

Only You Can Help Those Who Can't Help Themselves

Your dimes and dollars will help little defenseless children win their fight against polio. Research is making great strides toward the day when every child can walk, run, play and live free from the dread menace of Infantile Paralysis. Every dime you give is a milestone in their victorious forward march.

Those ten little pennies will march forward to bring closer that glorious day of freedom. Every dime you give helps restore thousands of children already stricken to useful, happy lives. Your contributions help protect all children from polio's grim threat, even your own brothers or sisters. Join the March of Dimes! Give freely, but above all, give from the heart!

This Ad Is Sponsored By The Following Public-Minded Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants

John M. Foushee Insurance Agency
Bennett & Blocksidge
Berman's Dept. Store
Andrews & Heninger
Eubanks Drug Co.
Lacock Shoe Shop
Town & Campus
Jack Lipman's
Ledbetter - Pickard
Sutton's Drug Co.
Foister's Camera Store Inc.
Wentworth - Sloan, Jewelers
Service Insurance & Realty Co.
Huggins Hardware
Fowler's Food Store
Colonial Motors
Dale Fairless, Inc.
Electrics Costruction Co.
Johnson - Strowd - Ward Co.
Jerry the Tailor
Lloyd Electric Co.
Carolina Flower Shop
Riggsbee - Hinson Furniture Co.
Pace, Inc.
Strowd Motor Co.

MARCH OF DIMES
FIGHT INFANTILE PARALYSIS
JANUARY 2-31

Abernethy's Music & Furnishings
University Lodge
Unicorn Book Shop
Chapel Hill Motors
Brady's
Brown's Auto Supply
Long Meadow Farms
Smith - Prevost Cleaners
University Service Station
Carolina Theatre
Carolina Coffee Shop
Carolina Sport Shop
University Printery
Robbin's
Fitch Lumber Co.
University Florist
The Pines
Hazzard Motor Co.
Obie Davis Esso Station
Elmer Pendergraft Atlantic Service Station
Danziger's Candy & Coffee Shop
Durham Road Dairy
Carolina Pharmacy
City Otical Co.
Chapel Hill Cleaners

Fight Polio — Join the MARCH OF DIMES — JANUARY 2 TO 31

U N C LIBRARY

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Mild, possible showers with 55 high. Yesterday's high, 68; low, 47.

The Daily Tar Heel

FUNNY
That man, Guinness that is, is at it again. See The Livespike, page 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 77 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

Ray Anthony To Play For Germans

Ray Anthony ,alias "The Young Man with the Horn" will again play for the Winter's biggest social event, the Midwinter Germans, Feb. 13 and 14.

Anthony's popular band will play for the initial formal on Friday, Feb. 13 from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. at Woollen Gym. The outfit will then present a concert on Saturday, from 4 to 6 p.m. in Memorial Hall, before appearing at the last dance from 8 to 12 that night.

RAY ANTHONY

Anthony has played here several times before.

Raised in Cleveland, Anthony rose to fame through such crack groups as those of Al Donahue, Jimmy Dorsey and Glenn Miller, with whom he began to achieve persona fame as featured trumpet star.

After a four year hitch in the Navy, Anthony formed his own dance orchestra and toured the country for three years before being signed by Capitol Records. Through his records and bookings at the Paramount Theater, Meadowbrook, Hotel Statler's Cafe Rouge and the Hollywood Palladium, he quickly rose to the top of the name band heap.

Showmanship, neglected by so many dance bands, is an important feature of the Anthony crew. Ray goes to extremes to provide a maximum of visual appeal with his music, utilizing such gimmicks as parading the band through the aisles and incorporating a versatile program including jazz, swing, novelties and ballads.

An important factor in Ray's success has been his popularity with the nation's disc-jockeys. They gave Anthony his first big boost in electing his the No. 1 dance band on records and it has been estimated that Ray's Capitol records are accorded more air play through the country than the combined total of any three other bands.

Featured vocalists with the Anthony orchestra are Tommy Mercer, Marcie Miller and the Skyliners, vocal quintet. Novelty and comedy are provided by trombonist Kenny Trimble.

MCFALL HEADS UP

Walt McFall has been elected University Party chairman, party officials announced yesterday.

Other UP officers are Archie Croxton, vice-chairman; Mary Helen Crain, secretary; Charlie Yarborough, treasurer and Tom Creasy, publicity chairman.

Time Concepts Compared In Sermon Here

By Jeanette Chance

"The Time of Your Life" as a Christian comes when you measure time by meaning rather than minutes, Dr. J. Robert Nelson told his Sunday evening listeners in Hill Hall.

Dr. Nelson, study secretary of the United Student Christian Council, dleivered the second in a series of University Sermons sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Association.

Comparing two concepts of time, the speaker used the Greek word "chronos' 'to designate the methodical measurement of chronological time in relation to "kairos," a time of fulfillment and meaningful living. He pointed out that many people fail to realize the difference.

All of us are slaves to time, explained Dr. Nelson, as we answer to clocks, bells, busses, meetings, radio programs, ball games and pay days.

"But," he continued, "for everyone of us there comes a time when chronological time is forgotten . . . when a person is lifted out of himself so that itme is measured by experience rather than minutes. This is the time of your life."

Comparing mankind to a sick, half-conscious patient when a surgeon examines him and says an operation is necessary, Dr. Nelson said the human race is almost unconscious that anything is wrong, while God is bending over the world, knowing both the ailment and the cure.

He also explained the possibility of a person in 1953 living "B.C." Noting that B. C. designated time before Christ and A.D. ("anno domini") meant "in the year of our Lord," Dr. Nelson said a person who had not accepted Christ was still living "B.C." while a dedicated individual was truly living "in the year of our Lord."

NSA Travel Woman Here

Ginny Callihan, National Student Association representative, will be here today to speak with interested students on NSA's travel program.

During the day she will be stationed at a booth in Y court. Tonight she will be in Thomas Wolfe Lounge, Graham Memorial, starting at 7:15.

The travel program is made up of special tours at prices that are in the reach of students. Some tours specialize in study of specific subjects as economics, politics and sociology.

PLANNERS ORGANIZE

The Planner's Forum, open to city planning students, has been organized on campus.

Officers are Barclay Jones, chairman; Bob Gladstone, program chairman; Gayle Harden, secretary-treasurer and Allen Jay, editorial chairman.

The group plans to present programs of public interest.

Politicos Exchange NSA Views

By Louis Kraar

Ken Barton, regional NSA chairman, and President Ham Horton yesterday exchanged ideas and attitudes on the National Student Association.

In way of answer to Horton's suggestion that continuance of membership in the national college group be put up to the students in a referendum, Barton said in a letter to Horton that he was "very concerned" over Horton's remarks.

"I sincerely hope that politics will not be responsible for wrecking NSA on Carolina campus," Barton added.

Horton, who has expressed adverse feelings towards NSA in the past, said his stand would be "impartial." He declared that there "seems to be some question about some of the associations" with which NSA is affiliated. He did not specify which associations.

"I simply do not see how anyone could object to letting the student body decide any question on which there may be a difference of opinion," Horton said. "Doesn't student government have a responsibility to the student?" he asked.

NSA is a national organization which carries on programs on the campus regional, and national level. One of its main functions is as a clearing house for ideas on student government. Other projects such as scholarship funds, travel tours and national conventions are carried on by the group.

Chief NSA opponents claim that the group performs no services on campus level. Proponents of the group, principally Student Party members, attribute the dormant campus program to the present chairman of the campus committee.

Wood Smethurst is campus committee chairman for NSA. Commenting on him yesterday Horton said, "Wood has done as good a job as any NSA chairman on campus."

Members of campus committee are R. B. Fitch, Joel Fleishman, Haywood Washburn, Jim Parker, Vardy Buckalew, Osborne Ayscue, Grace Gordon, John Ingle, Jody Levey and Sue Burriss.

CHANCELLOR T. R. MILFORD

Milford Talks To Di Senate Tonight At 7:30

Chancellor T. R. Milford of Lincoln Cathedral, England will be the guest speaker tonight at the Di Senate inauguration at 7:30.

The Di Senate beginning its 158th year of activity with tonight's meeting, will inaugurate Ken Penegar as president.

Tonight's Di inaugural will be held at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock as originally scheduled.

Chancellor Milford is Canon in charge of educational activities at Lincoln Cathedral and is head of the theological seminary there. He is also titular guardian of the Magna Carta.

He has been here since Jan. 7, delivering guest lectures for the Department of Religion and for the Inter-Faith Council.

Other officers to be inaugurated tonight for the winter quarter are president Pro-Tempore Gerald Parker, Critic Charlotte Davis, Clerk Bill Watt, Sergeant-at-Arms Joel Fleishman and Chaplain Dave Reid.

The history of the Dialectic Senate parallels that of the University, since the Senate was founded shortly after the University opened its doors.

The present student government, honor system, Dance Committee, debate team and many Carolina traditions had their beginning in the Di Senate, now principally devoted to forensics, parliamentary procedure, public speaking and free expression of ideas.,

Dr. Chafee To Present First Weil Talk Tonight

Noted Lawyer From Harvard Talks In Hill

Dr. Zechariah Chafee Jr. will give the first of three Weil Lectures on Citizenship tonight in Hill Hall at 8:30.

Speaking on the general topic of "Freedom in Special Situations," the Harvard Law School professor will talk tonight on "The School House." "The Ship" will be his topic Wednesday night and "The Beleaguered City" on Thursday night.

Tonight's lecture will deal with problems of freedom in education and, according to Chafee, "the inevitable conflict between the principle of a free contest of truth and error."

Chafee has taught at Harvard since 1916 and is chairman of the board of directors of the Builders Iron Foundry, Providence, R. I. He practiced law in Providence from 1913-1916 and was consultant to the National Commission of Law Observance and Enforcement from 1929-1931.

He is author of "Freedom of Speech," "America Now," "The Inquiring Mind" and a number of articles on specific legal situations.

As an authority on Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and of the press, he was a member of the Commission on Freedom of the Press from 1943 to 1947.

He has frequently been outspoken in his defense of freedom of speech. He once told the American Bar Association that loyalty oaths could create risks of grave injury to the careers of patriotic lawyers.

The Weil lectures were established in 1914 through the generosity of the families of Sol and Henry Weil of Goldsboro, and have been given almost every year since that time by notables in various fields.

DR. ZECHARIAH CHAFEE JR.

Presbytery Hears Jones' Case Today

The case of the Rev. Charlie Jones, liberal Presbyterian minister here asked to resign because of alleged doctrinal variations comes before the church's governing body today.

Orange Presbytery will meet at 10 a.m. in the First Presbyterian Church at Burlington to hear the report of its Judicial Commission which investigated Mr. Jones' church here. The meeting will be open unless the Presbytery votes to go into closed session, and if this is done it will be opposed by members of the Chapel Hill delegation, a spokesman said yesterday.

The commission asked Mr. Jones to resign his pastorate but he refused and subsequently was backed by members of his church in a 156 to 14 vote. The church has a membership of about 400.

The commission dropped an earlier demand that all of the church's officers resign.

Today's official group from Chapel Hill will be composed of Mr. Jones, Dr. R. J. McMullen, acting pastor in Mr. Jones' leave of absence, and Dr. Paul W. Wager of the UNC Political Science Department who was chosen by his fellow elders to represent the church. Both Dr. McMullen and Mr. Jones have votes in the Presbytery proceedings.

One of the charges leveled at Mr. Jones by the commission was that "through his philosophy, doctrines become what man thinks they ought to be, instead of what they are." Mr. Jones' supporters say he is a "thorough Christian and within Presbyterian doctrines."

NEWS IN BRIEF

PITTSBURGH—More than 1,100 rioting prisoners demanding a "better life" at Pennsylvania's Western Penitentiary hooted and jeered yesterday at more than 500 armed police awaiting a decision to move in to quell the uprising. The rioteers set fire to buildings and smashed windows Sunday night at the 75-year-old prison which they called a "flophouse." They demanded settlement of 13 grievances as the price for release of four guards held as hostages.

★

FAYETTEVILLE—The FBI arrested 14 men yesterday and charger them with kidnaping and conspiracy in the flogging of a South Carolina farmer Oct. 20, 1951. The FBI said all were alleged to be members or former members of the Ku Klux Klan.

★

WASHINGTON—This town was jumping yesterday as an estimated 200,000 visitors had already arrived and more were coming hourly. President-elect Eisenhower and his official and family party arrived Sunday night by train from New York. They hurried past 5,000 onlookers at Union Station to pre-White House headquarters at the Statler Hotel. One of Eisenhower's chief concerns here is that his appointee for Secretary of Defense, Charles E. Wilson will not be confirmed with the rest of the Cabinet today. He is clinging to $2,500,000 in shares of General Motors stock, and the law raises grave doubt whether he is eligible to head the Defense Department so long as he holds stock in a corporation which does vast business with the department.

★

SEOUL—American Superfortresses and fighter-bombers basted Red supply lines and troop concentrations yesterday as Allied tanks on the central front shelled Communist fortifications for the fourth straight day. American Superforts spilled 500-pound bombs on two important targets in North Korea as the Air Force used every available weapon in round-the-clock strikes.

SPEAKS TOMORROW

Herbert Aptekar, nationally known writer and practitioner in the field of social work, will address a joint meeting of social workers and students in the Morehead Building at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

He will speak on "The Current Theory and Practice of Social Case Work."

The Durham-Chapel Hill unit of the American Association of Social Workers and students of the University School of Social Work will attend the meeting. The meeting is also open to the public.

Honor Court Hears Cases; 3 Suspended

The Men's Council suspended three students last week, one for plagiarism in English 70 and 97, one for cheating on a Social Science I quiz and one for cheating on a Math 11x final.

The suspensions were the result of offenses at the end of the Fall Quarter. The three offenders may apply for readmission after one quarter out of school.

Five other cases completed the docket:

A student was found guilty of plagiarism (ignorance or unawareness on the part of the individual).

The court voted to lift the suspension of a previous offender and lift probation of another.

Two other cases were dropped on grounds of insufficient evidence, to be reopened if further evidence is presented.

Robert Frost Speaks Here Friday Night

Robert Frost, the poet, will deliver his annual University lecture-reading, under the sponsorship of the English Department, Friday night at 8:30 in Hill Hall.

Frost has been speaking and reading his poetry to Chapel Hill audiences annually for a number of years and has always appeared before capacity audiances.

Called the dean of American poets, Frost has received almost every honor an American writer can receive. He has been awarded the Pulitzer Prize four times, the Loines Prize for Poetry, the Mark Twain Medal, the gold medal of the National Institute of Arts and Letters and the silver medal of the Poetry Society of America.

He has been associated as a teacher with many American colleges and universities, and has been the recipient of a number of honorary degrees.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Vance Inn, University chapter of Phi Delta Phi, international legal fraternity, has elected new officers for th ecoming year.

Chosen to lead the Inn as Magister was Lucius W. Pullen, Rocky Mount. Pullen will replace James R. Trotter, Chapel Hill. Other officers elected were John R. Ingram, Asheboro, exchequer; John L. Sanders, Four Oaks, clerk, and Thomas W. Steed Jr., Raleigh, historian.

Physical Improvements Suffer In New Budget

Here's what the Consolidated University and its subdivisions will spend from the State till during the biennium, 1953-1955, if the Legislature approves the recommendation of the Advisory Budget Commission:

(First figure is the recommendation for the first year of the biennium, second figure is for the second year.)

University at Chapel Hill, $3,293,063 and $3,353,513; Division of Health Affairs, $1,465,968 and $1,475,748; University Hospital, $459,912 and $363,278; Institute of Fisheries Research, $82,569 and $65,769.

North Carolina State College at Raleigh, $2,503,246 and $2,562,453; Experiment Station $1,259,948 and $1,290,338; Cooperative Agricultural Extension, $1,687,401 and $1,751,561.

Woman's College at Greensboro, $1,364,821 and $1,379,321.

Chapel Hill gets a total of $6,646,576 under the recommendation. The bulk this figure is for operations. It includes some $400,000 for permanent improvements.

Notable omissions from the original University request are a new student building and an auditorium-armory. Also left out was an item of $500,000 to match a gift of that same amount from a private benefactor for the purpose of building a new home for the Institute of Government.

The Legislature appears almost certain to grant Governor Umstead's request for 10 percent pay raise for State employees. If passed this would absorb the State's surplus of $40,000,000.

Don't Mothball Your Longies; Winter Faking

Don't put those longies in mothballs yet, Old Man Winter is just playing possum.

PLEASANT.

According to the U. S. Weather Bureau at Raleigh-Durham Airport, enjoyable balmy breezes of late are just passing through. The weather is due to revert to the winter norm after a couple more days of warm sunshine. In the meantime, however, it has set a new record. Friday was the warmest January 16th on the books with the mercury nosing 73 degrees.

This welcome reprieve from winter's grasp is prevalent over most of the southeastern U. S. and northward to New York.

Today's order of weather? Continued mild with a pleasant 72, the weatherman reported. Last night's low was in the middle 30's.

Campus Seen

Boy and girl obviously affected by Spring weather as they race across Y court with arms about each other and broad smiles on their faces.

*

Petite coed balancing herself on the gutter as she walks. She stumbles, books fly and she lands on her. Picking herself up, she hobbles on, redfaced.

*

"You dropped something," coed acidly remarks after being splashed with coffee on South Building steps by boy juggling books and cigarettes and java.

High Draft Call Urged For Months To Come

The Defense Department's manpower chief said Saturday a 52,000 monthly draft call at least until summer, and a tightening up of deferments including those for some fathers are needed to keep military strength at 3,600,000.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna M. Rosenberg declared, among other things, that men who have become fathers since the Korean War started should be called up first and before any changes are made in student deferment policy.

While she indicated belief that no change in the draft law itself might be required, Mrs. Rosenberg asserted that it is necessary to "plug the leaks in our present deferments."

Without being more specific, she mentioned college deferments, declaring:

"College deferments are postponements in the national interest, to complete college training. They must not become virtual exemptions. When a man graduates, he should then enter the military service even though he may have become a parent in the meantime.

"Nor should he be further deferred for occupational reasons."

Since the draft started, there have been 1,067,706 deferments for dependency, including hardship cases, Mrs. Rosenberg wrote. She said there must be a reconsideration of dependency deferment policy.

"We believe that men who have become fathers since Korea should serve first," she said.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Delaine Bradsher | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgr. — Ned Beeker
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jess Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Jay Zimmerman, Dave Herbert.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Charles A. Collins, Charles Haskett, Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

Night Editor for this issue: Everett Parker

PURDUE EXPONENT

'Smash The Machine'

The National Collegiate Athletic Association gave the American Public a new topic of conversation Wednesday, but it will probably be several years before the question of the iron man as opposed to the specialization of the two platoon system will be settled—or at least quieted down.

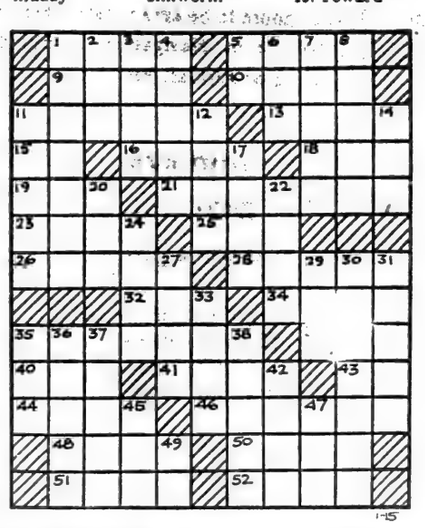
The new regulation, which kills the free substitution rule, can be argued pro and con and each side can be backed up by the able arguments of coaches, players, and spectators. We can lay no claim at being an authority on athletics, but as a spectator and follower of football, the new rule struck us as being very sound.

Coming at a time when football was under fire for being overcommercialized, it looks like this rule should alleviate part of this criticism. Competition for talent will be keener between schools, but the mass drafting of high school ball players should take a drop.

It seems to us that this will naturally raise the athletic standards, as it will take trained athletes to play the game, not just players to fill up a slot in the lineup. Coaches will have to start teaching the fundamentals of the game, instead of training specialists. Players should have a greater opportunity to prove their ability on both offense and defense, for the possibility of being sidetracked into one particular spot will be eliminated. The football spectators should see a return of the boys who play for sport of it and not for other considerations.

Obviously, with fewer numbers, football will be less expensive for the schools involved, and more universities will be able to field competitive teams. Schools, such as Chicago who dropped from the Big Ten because they would and could not compete with big business will be able to return to the game.

There is always criticism of those who suggest we return to the good old days, but perhaps the "golden era" of football was better than the two-platoon system. It seems that the idea of scientific specialization reaches a point of diminishing returns, and when this happens, it is time to go back. On the other hand, this seemingly backword movement is in reality progress, for when the machine turns on the man, it is time to smash the machine. Many people have said, "give it back to the boys," and this looks like the first step in that direction.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Bird's stomach
5. White matter of spinal cord
9. Long-eared rodent
10. Farm building
11. Spice
13. Swine
15. Overhead
16. Smell
18. Born
19. Enemy scout
21. Small sparkling object
23. Rip
25. Greek letter
26. Ear shell
28. Garden tool
32. Turf
34. Always
35. Meat pies
39. A wing
40. Wine cup
41. Tardy
43. Part of "to be"
44. Dips lightly into water
46. Search for provisions
48. Uprising
50. Desire
51. River (It.)
52. The Orient

DOWN
1. Spruce
2. Hastened
3. A constellation
4. Obnoxious plants
5. Jewish month
6. Fold over
7. Fetch
8. Celestial being
11. Zest
12. Thick cord
14. Observe
17. Rodents
20. Sweet potato
22. Back of the neck
24. Pause
27. Render muddy
29. Polynesian drink
30. Joyful satisfaction
31. Rub out
33. Unable to hear
35. Mat
36. Beetle
37. Nocturnal mammal (C. Am.)
38. American authoress
42. Assam silkworm
45. Male descendant
47. Beast of burden
49. Toward

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

Is L O N G F E L L O W
A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

C N L Y D G S V S M W V G V H H D G L-
P G L H N V S M J N L S D S L N W H R D H C
D S L ' H Y D S L A — T V H G W L R V.

A. Z. F. Wood, Jr.

The Failure

By A. Z. F. Wood Jr.

The date is September 10, 1974. The place is Charlotte, N. C. In a modest but comfortable living-room a father is talking with his eighteen-year-old son.

"Why do you want to go to UNC, son?"

"Well, pop, it's hard to say. It's about the best school in the south and one of the best in the country. I just like the place—I just got a feeling. Lot of my friends are going there. It's just the best college for me to go to. That's all."

"Sure you want to go to college at all?"

"Why, sure I am. Don't you want me to?"

"Oh, yeah. But why do you want to go?"

"To get an education, I reckon. Or get a start, at least."

"What makes you think you'll get an education at college?"

"Gee whiz, Pop, what is this? I sure can't get it throwing beer-cases on a truck like I've been doing all summer. What is this anyway?"

"What are you going to major in?"

"English or History. I don't know. I haven't decided yet. Maybe journalism. What the hell?"

"Now, don't get mad. I'm just interested. I went to UNC too, you know. And I didn't know what I wanted to do either. I didn't decide my major till the last minute. I wanted to write; so I picked Journalism. Now, I'm an insurance agent. Doesn't that strike you as sorta funny?"

"What do you mean?"

"Well, I'm not writing. I'm selling insurance."

"You've got a good job."

"I wanted to write."

"You are writing. You write stories and stuff all the time. Good too."

"Thank you, son, but I haven't sold a one."

"Hell, all the magazines want is junky love-stories."

"No, that's not it. If my stuff was good enough, it'd sell someplace. It's just not good enough, that's all."

"I don't believe it."

"Thanks for the loyalty. But it's so. And it's not that I haven't tried. Your mother and I starved for five years while I tried to write. Of course, it may be that I didn't have it to start with. But it also may be that I had it and lost it. And I may have lost it right where you're planning to go."

"Huh, what do you mean?"

"I may have written so many quizzes, memorized so much stuff out of textbooks, and listened to so many lectures where I took down word for word what the lecturer was saying, that I lost what life and freshness I had. UNC is a fine school, son, but it doesn't encourage creativeness and originality. Some of the professors do, but most of thme just want you to absorb a lot of facts and then write them down on quizzes. It's sort of like an assembly-line machine in a way. And if you're not careful, it'll crush you—so far as originality is concerned. I wasn't careful, and I want you to be, that's all. If you'll stay awake, you can guard against it and get an awful lot out of it too. Good courses up there. Good teachers, and you'll get an excellent education or a good start. But be careful. I don't think you want to be an insurance agent."

WE BUY OLD BOOKS

We'll be glad to make you an offer on anything from a brokendown text to that stack of books in grandpa's attic—and nine times out of ten our price will be higher than you can get anywhere else.!

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. FRANKLIN ST.
OPEN EVENINGS

"I Know, But It Makes Me Feel So Self-Conscious"

DREW PEARSON

THE WASHINGTON

Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON—It was just seven years and nine months ago on a balmy April afternoon that a frightened little man sitting in Speaker Rayburn's office got a phone call that something had happened to the President; come to the White House at once!

It was a humble, nervous vice president who rode down Pennsylvania Avenue that day on his way to become president. And it will be a somewhat different Harry Truman who rides up Pennsylvania Avenue tomorrow on his way to see another man become president.

A lot has happened in the seven years and nine months between those two rides. Harry Truman is not so humble now. He's a little more peppery, just as vigorous, and has a sublime self-assurance that history in the end will place him in his proper niche.

Reporting on that memorable night of Roosevelt's death I predicted seven years and nine months ago that President Truman would go out of office as severely criticized as Andrew Johnson in the post civil war days when a move was made for his impeachment.

The new President heard my broadcast that night and sent word to me next day that he didn't like it.

While I am not a historian, only a newspaper reporter, I see no reason materially to modify that 1945 prediction. In fact, the more I think of Harry Truman's tempestuous years the more I believe they resemble Andrew Johnson's.

Like Johnson's, the Truman Administration will go down in history for courageous policies which shaped American destiny. Also like Johnson's, it will go down in history for fumbling many of the policies Truman wanted most to carry out.

Harry Truman had the courage and foresight to rush aid to Greece and Turkey in 1947 when Congress was skeptical and the public unprepared, but when without aid this vital area would have fallen to Russia. He also had the courage to put across the Marshall Plan, without which Western Europe would have gone totally communist. And he had the vision to establish the North Atlantic Pact as a continuing means of keeping Western Europe beyond the reach of Soviet Russia. Not only did he not hesitate regarding the atom bomb, but he set up a civilian commission which has pushed atomic energy toward an early peacetime use.

And while the attempt to stop the march of communism in Korea is now the most unpopular of all Truman's policies, history may paint it in a different color.

In any event, Korea illustrates Truman's greatest failing—his inability to execute, his aptitude for setting farsighted policy, then spoiling it by faulty execution.

Korea, of course, never should have been started unless victory was certain. The potential losses were too great; not merely in lives, but in loss of faith in the great ideal of ensuring peace by international police.

Yet Truman relied upon the assurances of military men. He took for gospel MacArthur's glib assurance of victory by Christmas.

There were other ways in which Truman pulled down the great ideals and the great goals that he himself set for the nation. He took a courageous stand against the Kerr Natural Gas Bill which would have upped the price of gas to northern consumers; then turned round and let his own crony, Chairman Mon Wallgren of the Power Commission, nullify and undercut his courage.

He took a courageous stand against monopoly, including the monopoly of overseas air lines. Then he turned round and let a White House secretary, infatuated with an airlines official, maneuver him into OK'ing the most monopolistic of all airline combines.

The country doesn't realize it, but Mr. Truman even moved in on communists inside the government long before Senator McCarthy, and well before anyone else. His loyalty board was set up, with a Republican as chairman, to eliminate communists two years before McCarthy's first speech.

But some of Mr. Truman's press-conference remarks about "red herring" so confused the issue and gave the opposition such excellent ammunition that the public now believes Truman was really protecting communists.

These are some of the things Mr. Truman may be thinking about as he rides up Pennsylvania Avenue tomorrow.

He may be thinking about the time he bawled out Foreign Minister Molotov a few days after Roosevelt died when Molotov came over to pay his respects. Molotov has deserved plenty of bawlings-out in his day, but at no time less than on this particular occasion. Or Mr. Truman may think about the time he bawled out Stalin for being late at the Potsdam conference.

Or he might even wonder to himself in retrospect why he held so tenaciously on to Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan who caused him such grief and pain; or why he stuck to John Snyder whose tragic failure as Secretary of the Treasury got Truman into so much tax-corruption trouble.

Again, Mr. Truman may let his mind roam back to the sizzling letters he wrote Bernie Baruch and the Washington Post music critic; or the statement he made about the "demagoguery" of the man seated beside him as they ride together toward the capitol.

Harry Truman, however, is a man of great self-confidence and few regrets. And he may not think of these things at all tomorrow as he goes from the capitol to the Union Station to catch his train to Independence and the relatively humdrum life of the second living ex-President of the United States.

Rolfe Neill

The Livespike

The English, oft accused of having an odd sense of humor, seem able to get more laughs out of American movie audiences than our own film producers.

The best example I know of this is "The Promoter," which ends its three days at the Varsity today. It stars Alec Guinness with a sexy assist from Glynis Johns, a pert Briton miss whose sultry voice almost undoes The Guiness.

The plot . . . an ordinary success story of local boy makes good. But with Guinness playing the part of the washwoman's son who ends up as mayor of the small English town with a countess in his cheering section, it's a scintillating poke in the ribs of society.

Without resorting to slapstick or impossible situations, "The Promoter" makes you laugh and laugh often.

Part of its comedy comes from a gold mine which Hollywood so far has not dared prospect. In "The Man in the White Suit," Guinness took frequent digs at business and the people it exploits, and now in "The Promoter" he digs at everything in camera range. Reporters, public officials, snobs and others in the menagerie are dead ducks before the star's comedy gun.

A self-invitation to the countess' ball starts Guinness on his prosperous way but his career as the promoter dates back to his schoolboy days when he doctors up his grades and wins a scholarship. From that time he continues to assist fate and the riot's on.

Look out Hollywood, the English have done it again.—R & RN.

Louis Kraar

Party Line

Gripes against President Ham Horton's suggestions to Legislature are easier to get this week than coffee in the Y.

Some of the complaints are legitimate. Others are not. At any rate, the whole atmosphere after Horton's talk was one of lack of information on the part of legislators in general. Horton also was in need of more background on some of the issues, particularly that of Yack rebates.

Floor leaders and party wheels argued about SEC and NSA and Yack rebates. Half the legislators didn't know what the triple letter designations meant and the rest didn't seem to care.

Meantime, students on campus—the guys in lower quad and the girls who sit on South Building steps with them in the mornings—became lost in the jumble of alphabet organizations.

The point is: If a student is elected to represent others, to spend their money, he should take the effort to be informed. Then he can report to those he represents and do what they want rather than follow the wishes of a few party leaders.

HYPERBOLE KIDS: During floor elections at Legislature, some politicoes would have made writers of cigaret and beauty cream ads hock their typewriters. The superlatives used were not unlike those of a circus barker. Here's some samples: "If we took him out, it would be just like picking up South Building and hurling it in the river" . . . "He just oozes and uses ability" . . . "She has interest that will supercede all other interests" . . . "Why, he has a money mind."

GRID CLASSIC: The National Student Association kicked around like a pigskin this quarter.

POUNDING THE BEAT: Joel Fleishman's (SP) energetic execution of floor leader duties on his opening night . . . Prexy Ham Horton's (UP) fluent oratory charm . . . Bill Brown (SP) editing a party blurb sheet . . . and revamping plans under way for the University Party.

On Foreign Campuses. This story appeared in the Oregon Daily Emerald: "Alpha Tau Omega was fined $10 fall term for being one-half man over their quota, Dick Morse, Inter-fraternity Council president, announced Thursday evening.

In The South. Eight faculty members of the University of the South, Tenn., have resigned in protest over a decision by the trustees not to admit Negroes to the Theological school.

The resignations leave only one seminary faculty member, the Rev. Bayard H. Jones, who did not resign and took no part in the protest.

Classes Cut? A poll at Smith College, Mass., shows that sophomores do more class cutting than other students. Fifty-eight percent of the class cut at least once a week. Three main reasons for cutting were given: Studying for exams; dull classes; and out of town weekends.

U N C LIBRARY

Carolina Meets First Place Deacons In Big Four Opener

By Tom Peacock

North Carolina's Tar Heels, unseated from first place in Southern Conference basketball standings by Maryland University Saturday night, meets Wake Forest, the present number one team, in Woollen Gym tonight.

Tonight's game will be the first Big Four contest that the Tar Heels have played this season. Carolina now has a 9-1 record in Conference play, while the Deacons have a 6-0 slate, including a win over North Carolina State, eighth ranking team in the nation.

Carolina's high scoring guard and co-captain Vince Grimaldi is expected to start tonight, but he will still be favoring a shoulder that was bruised a week ago against Washington and Lee and has been re-injured twice since.

The Tar Heels will be meeting the highest scorer in the Conference in Wake Forest's Dickie Hemric, a sophomore sensation who scored 33 points in his last outing. Hemric and his teammate Jack Williams have been largely responsible for the Deacons excellent, 12-3 season record. Williams is the second highest scorer in the Big Four and Grimaldi is fourth behind State's Bobby Speight.

Carolina head coach Frank McGuire will probably go along with his usual starting lineup tonight of Grimaldi and Al Lifson at guards, freshman Jerry Vayda, at forward and Bud Maddie at center. The other forward post may go to Bob Phillips, or co-captain Jack Wallace may start at guard and Lifson will switch to forward. Wallace is still recuperating from an appendectomy.

Wake Forest coach Murray Greason says that he never expected his Deacons to be in first place in the middle of January, but he thinks they have a good chance of staying there. As for Carolina, Greason said ". . . they've got a fine team. The Tar Heels have rebound power we haven't seen in some of the other clubs we've played, and they have a lot of hustle."

The Deacs are still about 10-point favorites to keep their record spotless in Conference play tonight, but the Tar Heels are upset minded after being nosed out, 68-66, on two last second foul shots by Maryland. Carolina had defeated the Terps earlier in the season, 59-49.

Besides the scoring threat of Hemric and Williams, Greason has an experienced and tall starting lineup with Al DePorter, Ray Liptas, and Maurice George rounding out the lineup.

Wake Forest, Carolina JV's To Meet In Prelim Tonight

Carolina's junior varsity will open tonight's action against Wake Forest in Woollen Gym, meeting the Deaclets in a preliminary game at 6:00.

Although decisively beaten by the Duke jayvees in their last two outings, the Tar Babies will probably be favored tonight. They defeated Wake Forest 82-75, in a game played before the Christmas holidays.

In that game the Tar Babies had to overcome an erratic first half to get by the Deaclets. Tom Shores, Gerald McCabe and Jack Woods led the scoring in that game, Woods with 15 and McCabe and Shores with 14.

The Tar Babies have a 3-4 record going into tonight's game. In addition to the Baby Deacs they have defeated VMI and Washington and Lee but have lost two to Duke, one to Elon College, and one to Raleigh High School.

The Blue Imps have made it the hardest on the junior varsity, trouncing the Carolina team, 105-47, last Tuesday night in Durham and then coming to Woolen Gym the next night to win, 98-67.

The Tar Babies played both Elon and Raleigh on even terms most of the way but eventually bowed in both.

In addition to McCabe and Shores, Glen Stephenson has helped the Carolina scoring. The big center got nine points against the Deaclets in the first game here.

Although Duke and N. C. State appear to hold the edge in the little Big Four race, a win for the Tar Babies tonight would put them back into the running. Their record is now 1-2.

Opportunities in Optometry

Optometry is a profession offering special advantages to ambitious young men and women. Its scope is constantly expanding. Eighty per cent of the Nation's millions depend upon the Doctor of Optometry and his professional skill in conserving vision. There is a shortage of optometrists in many states.

The Doctor of Optometry possesses the dignity of being a professional man. He renders an essential service to the health and well-being of his community. Substantial financial rewards are obtainable almost from the beginning of his practice.

U. S. Department of Defense and Selective Service grant optometry students the same consideration accorded medical students.

The Doctor of Optometry degree can be earned in three college years by a student having sixty or more semester hours of Liberal Arts credits. Such students will be admitted at mid-year by Chicago College fo Optometry.

Chicago College of Optometry is centrally located in the heart of the world's greatest center for teaching in the healing arts. It is nationally accredited and is splendidly equipped. Clinical facilities are unsurpassed.

For catalog, address Registrar
Chicago College of Optometry
2307 N. Clark St., Chicago 14, Ill.

Bass Free

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. (Special) — Marvin Bass, assistant coach to the Washington Redskins this past season got his release from that team here today and is expected to join the staff of the University of North Carolina soon.

Redskin owner George Marshall, who issued the statement, did not say when he thought Bass would sign with the Tar Heels, who have yet to name their new head coach.

Council Gives Names Today

Recommendations on the appointment of a new Carolina head football coach will be formally made by the Athletic Council to Chancellor Robert B. House today. They were not completed until yesterday.

Council chairman A. W. Hobbs declined to divulge the recommendations but it was understood that they included not only a head coach but at least one assistant. Chancellor House would make no comment other than to say that approval must be obtained from the executive committee of the board of trustees.

It was not clear when action by the trustees would be taken.

There was no comment from any official source here about the report from Washington today that Marvin Bass had resigned his line coaching post with the Washington Redskins to join the North Carolina staff. Officials also have been noncommital over the widespread reports that George Bar-

(See COUNCIL, page 4)

MURALS

TODAY'S BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 5, Law School 2 vs. Graham 1; Court 6, Theta Chi 1 vs. Phi Gam 4; Court 7, Phi Kap Sig 1 vs. Kap Sig 3.

5:00—Court 5, Joyner 3 vs. Law School 3; Court 6, KA 2 vs. TEP 3; Court 7, Chi Psi 1 vs. ATO 4.

TODAY'S TABLE TENNIS

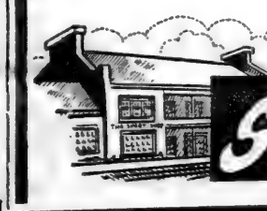
4:00 DKE 1 vs. Sig Chi 3; 4:30 SAE 1 vs. Chi Psi 2; 5:00 Delt Psi 1 vs. SPE 5; Beta 4 vs. Phi Gam 2.

If Valentines Are Here Can Romance Be Far Behind?

Our first Valentines are now on display on the card rack.

The Intimate Bookshop
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

LOCK UP YOUR DOLLARS AND YOUR DAUGHTERS . . .
here's that man again!



ALEC GUINNESS
now . . . as
the PROMOTER
with GLYNIS JOHNS · VALERIE HOBSON
PETULA CLARK
Screenplay by Eric Ambler. Directed by Ronald Neame.
Produced by John Bryan · A Universal-International Release
A J. Arthur Rank Organization Presentation

LAST TIMES
T-O-D-A-Y
Varsity

Just Received . . .
NEW SPRING
Sport Coats

DROP IN AND LOOK OVER THESE SPRING ARRIVALS.
YOU'LL FIND THE NEWEST PATTERNS AND STYLES—ALL REASONABLY PRICED!

THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

Tennis Pros Will Play Here

By Vardy Buckalew

The World Championship Tennis Tour, promoted by Jack Kramer and starring Kramer, Frank Sedgman, Ken MacGregor, and Pancho Segura, will make a one night stand in Chapel Hill on February 23 in Woollen Gym.

The tour, which features matches between Sedgman and Kramer, and McGregor and Segura, is currently making a tour of the United States and following that will broaden its travels to include a major part of the world.

Sedgman and McGregor were the two top amateurs in the world before their recent dceision to play the game for money. Both are from Australia and recently teamed up to hand the American Davis Cup team one of its worst defeats in history. That was their last appearance as amateurs.

The show will get under way at 7:30 with the Segura, McGregor match. Following that will be the feature match of the evening, between Kramer and Sedgman. To conclude the program there will be a doubles match between Kramer and Segura and Sedgman and McGregor.

Seats for the matches will go on sale in the athletic ticket office sometime this week. Students with their pass books may get tickets for $1.25 with general admission tickets being $1.75. There will be approximately 1,500 student and general admission tickets. The remainder of the seats, approximately 2,300, will be reserved and will sell for $2.50.

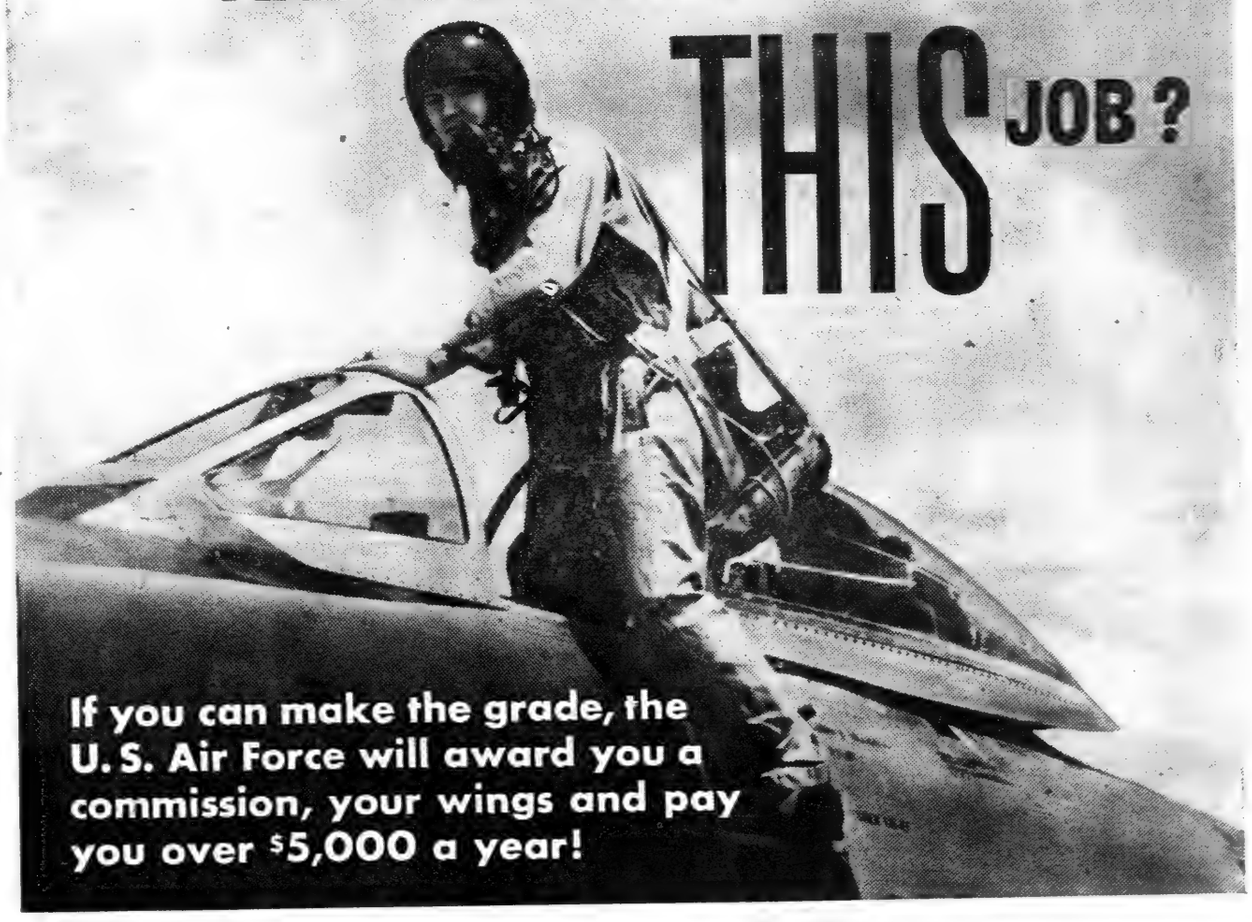
The matches will be played on a canvas mat which the pros will bring with them and will be put up in the approximate position of the basketball court in the gym. Spectators will use the same seats which are now in use for the basketball games.

The pros are playing the major cities of the United Statse now and Chapel Hill will be the only town of less than 100,000 in which they will stop. They will play in Richmond the night before coming here.

The tour was arranged by Kramer, who was the world's top amateur before turning professional about five years ago. He signed the two Australians to contracts guaranteeing, Sedgman $75,000 and McGregor $25,000. Kramer and Segura will make nothing until they have cleared these amounts.

There had been nine matches between the four principles through Sunday night and Sedgman is leading Kramer 6-3 in their series. McGregor has yet to beat the squat Segura who hits the ball with both hands on the raquet.

In the doubles, the Kramer-Segura combination holds an edge over the other pair.



Cheerleader's Meeting

There will be a meeting of the cheering squad at 4 p.m. this afternoon in Roland Parker Lounge No. 2.

Complete Line of
OUTLINES, TRANSLATIONS
For
All Your Subjects
The Book Exchange
107 W. Chapel Hill St.
At 5 Points
Durham

Stationery—Books—Greeting Cards—Gift Shop
Esterbrook Pens—Picture Frames and Picture Framing
Thomas Book Store
Cor. Corcoran & Chapel Hill Sts., Durham
Phone J-2331
L. C. Smith & Corona Typewriters—Desk Pads
Shaeffer Pens—Kodaks & Supplies—Desk Lamps
Expert Repair on all makes of Typewriters

ARE YOU TOUGH ENOUGH FOR THIS JOB?

If you can make the grade, the U.S. Air Force will award you a commission, your wings and pay you over $5,000 a year!

CAN YOU "take it" 6 days a week? For 52 weeks? Can you meet the high standards required to be an Aviation Cadet? If you can—then here's a man-size opportunity! An opportunity to serve your country and build a personal career that will fit you for responsible positions both in military and commercial aviation.

It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard—especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro—with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning—your opportunities for advancement are unlimited

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE?

To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

YOU CAN CHOOSE BETWEEN PILOT OR AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination.
3. Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet Training Class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

Where to get more details: Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Officer, OR WRITE TO: AVIATION CADET HEADQUARTERS, U. S. AIR FORCE, WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

U.S. AIR FORCE

What Goes On Here

Aviation Cadet Selection

An Aviation Cadet Selection Team under the direction of Maj. R. L. McGinnis will be in the YMCA lobby until 4 p.m. today and tomorrow. Members of the team will be available to discuss Air Force flight training with any interested student. They will also take applications from students who wish to go into flight training.

★

Red Cross Committee Meet

The Red Cross Entertainment Committee will meet tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the Director's Office of Graham Memorial. Old members and those interested are asked to attend.

★

Semper Fidelis Meet

The Semper Fidelis Society will meet Thursday night at 7:30 in the Naval Armory. All those not present must submit an excuse to any of the officers before the meeting.

★

Phi Assembly

The Phi Assembly will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Phi Hall, New East. The first bill on the agenda will be one concerned with the future and potentialities of the United Nations.

★

SUAB Film Committee

There will be a meeting of the film committee of SUAB today at 4 p.m. in the SUAB fofice in Graham Memorial.

★

SUAB Restaffing Meeting

Anyone interested in working on any committee of the Student Union Activities Board is invited to come to the General Restaffing meeting in the Roland Parker Lounges in Graham Memorial Thursday at 4:30.

★

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega will have an open meeting at 7 o'clock tonight in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial. All former Scouts are asked to attend. This meeting will be over in time for all to see the basketball game.

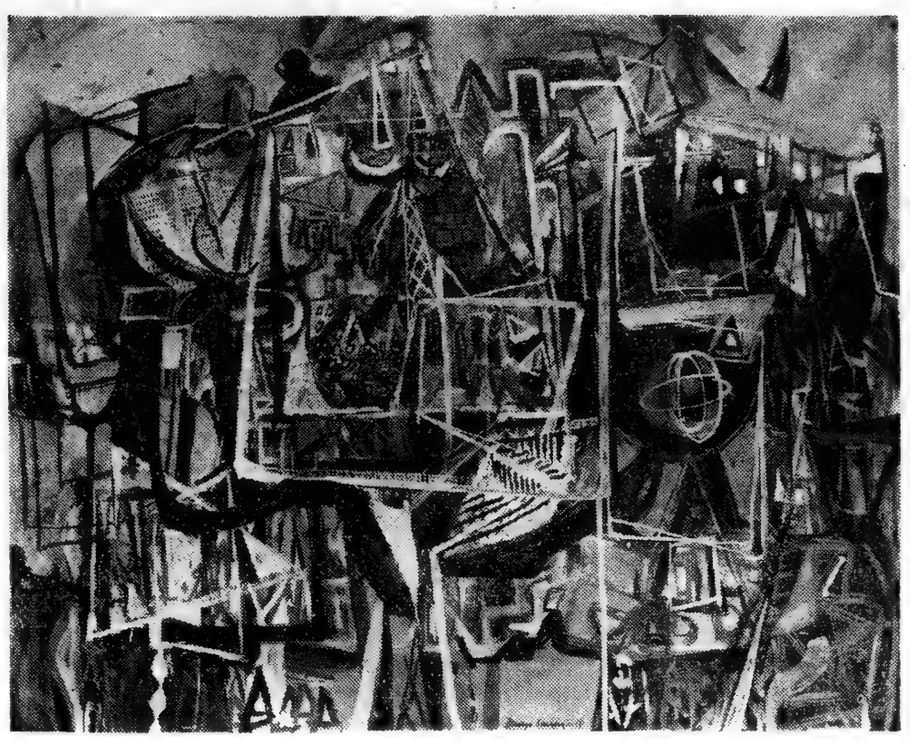
Carolina
TODAY

STARRING
HOWARD KEEL · JANE GREER
PATRICIA MEDINA
KEENAN WYNN · ROBERT BURTON

Plus
Sportlight—News

ALL DRESSES
ON SALE

1 Rack of Dresses



JANE EVANS
MARTHA MANNING
JUNE PATTON

At prices as advertised in Charm, Glamour, and Madamoiselle

Now ½ Price

All other suits, Coats, and Dresses
1/4 Off

BERMAN'S DEPT. STORE

"CITY FORMS" BY KACHERGIS

Local Artist Has Exibit In NY Show

George Kachergis of the Art Department is represented in a current art exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

His painting, "City Forms" is included in the series entitled Survey of American Art, which was initiated by the Metropolitan in 1950. The exhibit shows representative oil paintings, sculpture, watercolors, prints and drawings. Kachergis was represented in the 1950 oil painting series as well as in the 1952 show.

Kachergis will be represented in the Pennsylvania Academy 148th Annual Exhibition of American Painting and Sculputre. At this show "Studio,' 'an oil painting will be exhibited. Others of his works recently on exhibit include, "Mirrois and Windows" shown in the 50th Pennsylvania Academy International Exhibition of Watercolor Prints, and Drawings, and "Synchronous Forms Structurally Bound," displayed in the Annual Whitney Exhibition fo Contemporu American Painting.

Kachergis joined the Carolina Art Deparmtent in 1949.

--Council--

(Continued tfrom page 3)

clay would be elevated to head coach, succeeding Carl Snavely, who resigned in December.

Bass was here Sunday and conferred with members of the athletic committee it became known yesterday. He was a member of the N. C. staff during the 1949 season, after which he returned to his Alma Mater, William and Mary, where he was assistant coach in 1950 and head coach in 1951. He served the past season on the Redskin staff.

YW Will Hear Rabbi Speak

Rabbi Efraim Rosenzweig, speaking on "Modern Judaism," will be the guest speaker at the third of a series of YWCA religious discussions today in the Y Cabinet room, 4 to 5:30.

Rabbi Rosenzweig is the director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation.

The Rev. Maurice Kidder, minister of the Church of the Holy Family, is the regular moderator of the discussions being held by the Christian Faith and Heritage Commission of the YWCA with Jane Berryhill chairman.

According to Miss Berryhill, the discussions, "which were originated for all students interested in learning more about religions of America, have been very inspirational."

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE

SINGER SEWING MACHINE Console—Good Condition, $60 Rotary Bobbin. Call 9-5708.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

TYPESCRIPT SERVICE: THESES, plays, dissertions and similar work. Dial 9-3416 or go to 214 West Rosemary Street, Miss Kathryn McGalliard. (1-c3462-2)

18 Kappa Delta Pledges Honored at Rose Ball

The annual White Rose Ball of Beta Chi chapter of Kappa Delta sorority was held Saturday night at the Carolina Inn, honoring pledges.

Garlands of ivy interwoven with white roses were twined around each column in the ballroom. Green Greek letters were used on the curtains of the grandstand. Eighteen scrolls bearing the names of the pledges were hung on the wall above giant cardboard emeralds.

The Statesmen of Raleigh played for the dance, which was held from 9 to 12 o'clock. Hartwell Conklin of Durham announced the pledges as they formed the KD figure. Following the formation of the figure, pledges knelt and sang "KD Girl." They carried old-fashioned nosegays of white roses. Pledges received gold KD drop lettered necklaces as favors.

Leading the figure were Mary Jane Harrison, pledge president; Edith Rogers, vice-president; Hilda Simpson, secretary; and Connie Major, treasurer.

Invited guests for the evening included Chapel Hill alumnae of and Miss Katherine Carmichael, Dean of Women. The Kappa Deltas the sorority, campus housemothers, were assisted in entertaining by their housemother, Mrs. Ernest Graham.

The pledge class was entertained at a party at the home of Miss Helen Jane Wettach on South Boundary on Friday afternoon. A dinner followed, which was held at the Ranch House.

Pledges and their dates were Betsy Clark, Goldsboro with Douglas Ayres, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Janet Cornwall, Southern Pines with John Hasty, Maxton; Anne Guiton, Whiteville with Dick Coburn, Whiteville; Peg Hall, Salyerville, Ky. with Walt Ernst, Baltimore, Md.; Mary Jane Harrison, Montgomery, Ala. with Bob Clark, Auburn, Ala.; Alice Jones, Warrenton with Pete Seaman, Warrenton; Carolyn Little, Concord with Arlen Bramer, Mt. Airy; Connie Major, Hendersonville with Bob Ingram, Asheville; Katherine Marks, Wilmington with Billy Martin, Wilmington; Cathy Newlin, Burlington with Jerry Holt, Norfolk, Va.; Peggy Pierpont, Chapel Hill with Jimmie Robinson, Littleton; Mary Jo Radar, Miami, Fla., with Don Mitchell, Ahoskie; Edith Rogers, Wilmington with Raymond Bullard, Jacksonville, Fla.; Hilda Simpson, Buie's Creek with Julian King, Winston-Salem; Elizabeth Suddreth, Raeford with Karl Barkley, Raleigh; Elinor Taylor, Atlanta, Ga. with Joe Hodge, Bluefield, W. Va.; Betty George Williams, Leesburg, Fla. with Bud Bradshaw, Kinston.

Pledges Entertained At Alpha Gam Dance

Pledges of Gamma Epsilon chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority were honored at a dance Friday night at the Carolina Inn.

Couples danced to the music of Bell Hull's Duke Cavaliers in a ballroom decorated with white snowflakes. The floor was surrounded by snow covered pines and three old fashioned snow scenes. It was the traditional "Winter Wonderland" theme, and snow covered balloons floated from the ceiling. The Greek Alpha Gamma Delta letters were formed by the sorority flower the red rose, in back of the bandstand.

Pledges, carrying white satin muffs with red carnations, formed a rose figure. During the forming of the figure, the vocalist sang the sorority "Rose Song."

After the dance a coffee and sandwich party was held at the chapter house. Mrs. Lona Patee, housemother, assisted in serving.

Leading the figure were Nancy Horne, Norton, Va., pledge president, with Bob White, Bellmont, Mass.; Kathleen Dover, Shelby, vice-president, with Harvey Hamrick, Shelby; Barbara Mumaw, Charlotte, secretary, with Carl Warner, Charlotte; Jona Desmand, Charlotte, treasurer, with Dick Citriny, Durham; and Patricia Noah, Chapel Hill, chaplain, with Ernest Bumgarner, Kannapolis.

Members of the pledge class and their escorts were Mary H. Bryan, Huttey, N. J. with Herbert R. Dowd Jr., Charlotte, N. C.; Joan Mathis, Carthage, N. C. with Harley Jones, Washington, D. C.; Martha Neal Honeycutt, Oak Ridge with Hank Sneed, Raleigh; Jo Ann Jones, Wilson with Bobby Ratcliff, Reidsville; Emilie Patton, Chapel Hill with John Gilsdorf, Bangor, Wisc.; Martha Bridger, Bladenboro with W. D. Shipman, Bladenboro; Ellen Wood, Princeton, N. J. with Wilber Boice, Whitehall; Anne Stewart, Sewanee, Tenn., with John Poindexter, Burlington; Anne Fleming, Raleigh with Carey Hunter, Raleigh;

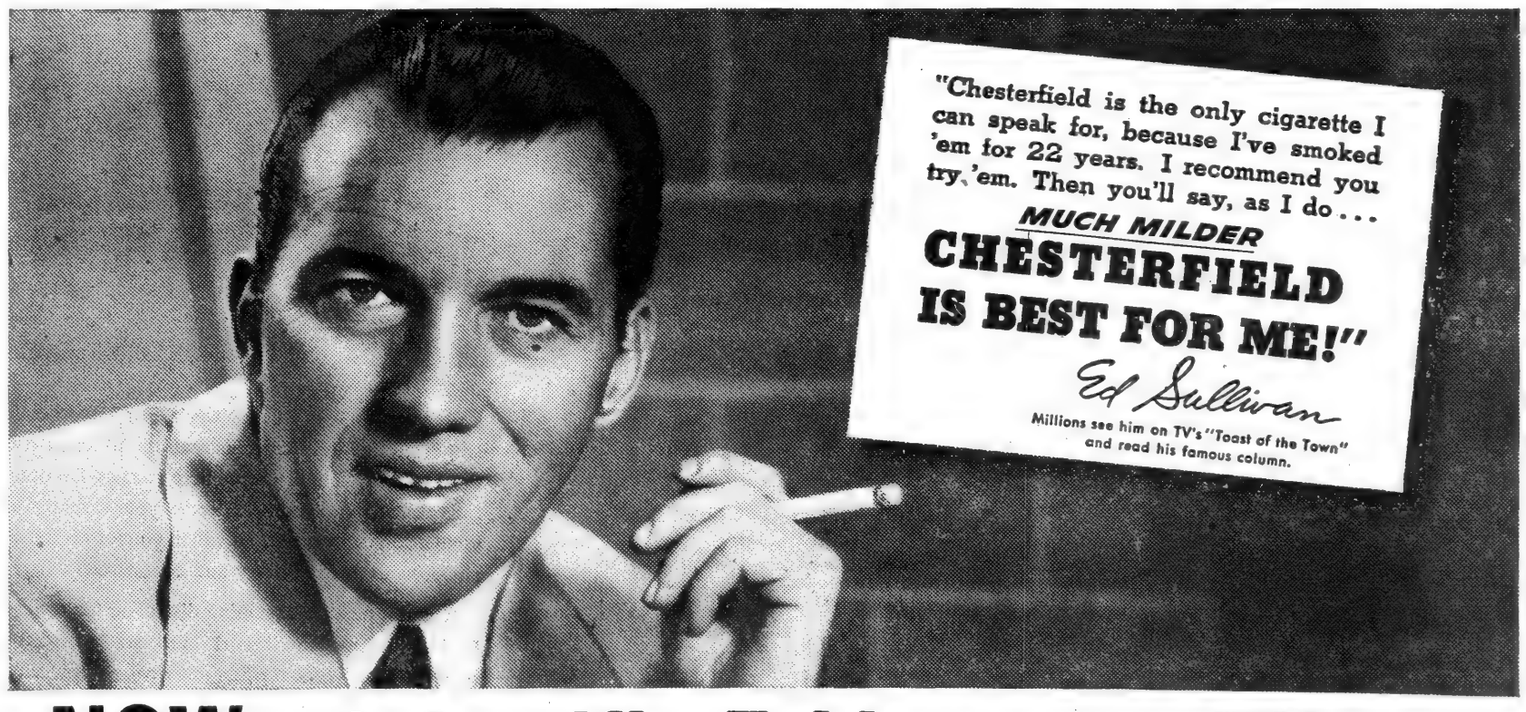
Bernie Hileman, Kannapolis with Buck Harris, Jr., Concord; Harriet Maynard, Fredericksburg, Va., with Ben Slosman, Asheville; Connie Williford, Plymouth with David Godd, High Point; Nancy Perryman, High Point with Richard Clement, High Point; Mary Lu Mercer, Baltimore, Md., with Bob Vinson, Ahoskie; Ann Underwood, Latrobe, Pa., with Walter Early, Rocky Mount; Joanne Jackson, Wallace with Bob Bell, Washington, N. C.; and Anne Turlington, Dunn with Jim Lehmann, Elnora, N. Y.

Men's Fruit of The Loom
Shorts and T Shirts 69c

Large Size
Navy White towels . . . $1.00

1 Lot Of
Single Sheets . . . $1.98

Bates Bedspreads
Single or Double Special . . . $5.75



Chenille
Bedspreads $5.95

BERMAN'S DEPT. STORE

S-A-L-E

BASKETWEAVE SHIRTS—WERE $4.50 ..... $2.95
100% CASHMERE SWEATERS—WERE $22.50 & $27.50
NOW ..... $15.95 and $19.95
BOSTONIAN SHOES, MANY STYLES—WERE $16.95
NOW $10.95
ONE RACK OF TIES, REG. $1.50 & $2.00
NOW ..... 75c Each

Varley's
MEN'S SHOP
Est. 1938

NOW...Scientific Evidence on Effects of Smoking!

A MEDICAL SPECIALIST is making regular bi-monthly examinations of a group of people from various walks of life. 45 percent of this group have smoked Chesterfield for an average of over ten years.

After ten months, the medical specialist reports that he observed...

no adverse effects on the nose, throat and sinuses of the group from smoking Chesterfield.

MUCH MILDER
CHESTERFIELD IS BEST FOR YOU

Copyright 1953, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

U N C LIBRARY

U N C LIBRARY
SERIAL
CHAPEL
8-31-

WEATHER
Partly cloudy and warm with 65 high. Yesterday's high, 65; low, 44.

The Daily Tar Heel

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 78 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

GOP
We've a Republican president, the editors note. See p. 2.

School Is Bulwark Against Commies

Delivering the first of three lectures here on citizenship, a noted authority on human rights last night called the schoolhouse "a chief defense of freedom against Communism."

"Through education we can establish among our youth faith in progress through law,' said Dr. Zechariah Chafee Jr., Harvard professor, former member of the Commission on Freedom of the press and in 1948 U.S. Delegate to the United Nations Conference on Freedom and Information.

"This defense would be gone if the advocates of violent revolution should share in the control of education," he said. "Widespread anxiety on this score has been whipped up by columnists and politicians who assert day after day that our schools and colleges are riddled with Communists . . . "

Dr. Chafee will speak at 4 p.m. today in the Law School court room on "The Lawyer's Responsibilities in the Protcetion of Civil Liberties." The public is invited.

Dr. Chafee said he agreed with those who say that one Communist in a university is one too many, but he also agreed with a dean at the University of California who said that the harm done to that university by the uproar over the loyalty oath far exceeded any possible harm that could have been done by any real Communist professors.

Dr. Chafee expressed the opinion that "the number of real Communists in schools and or in endowed or state universities is probably very small," but he contended that ferreting out the few possible Communists by loyalty oaths or other testing methods is "a grievous mistake."

Taking as his general theme, "Freedom in Special Situations," Dr. Chafee, who will speak again in Hill Hall tonight and Thursday nights at 8:30, discussed specifically the freedom of teachers in schools and colleges tonight. "The largest part of these lectures," he said, "will be devoted to freedom of speech because it is the most vulnerable human right.'

Tracing the conflicting views on freedom of speech from Plato's

(See WEIL, page 4)

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON—Dwight David Eisenhower promised to strive for peace but to reject any appeasement of Communist aggression as he became 34th President of the United States yesterday. Expressing his sentiments he said, "A soldier's pack is not as heavy as a prisoner's chains." Harry S. Truman, shortly before surrendering the Presidential office, said he had "no regrets," and continued to wind up last-minute details.

★

DURHAM—Gov. William B. Umstead's temperature returned to normal and doctors at Watts Hospital said he was feeling much better. He suffered a mild heart attack eight days ago with recent indications of developing influenza.

★

MANNING, S. C.—Two school buses crashed head-on in a heavy fog near here yesterday, killing two children and injuring 40 others. Both buses were demolished and two cars collided during efforts of their drivers to aid the injured.

★

WASHINGTON—Senator Morse (Ind-Ore) blocked Senate confirmation on Eisenhower's eight cabinet appointees yesterday and the new President faced his first day in office without a Cabinet. The name of Charles E. Wilson for Secretary of Defense was omitted from the list in view of his appearance before the Armed Services Committee today. Wilson may have to sell his General Motors holdings in order to get the top defense post.

★

RALEIGH — North Carolinians may face a straight three percent sales tax with all exemptions removed, according to a state legislator who predicts such action by the General Assembly to carry out Gov. Umstead's program. The present $15 maximum on a single article also would be removed.

Minnesota U Asks Gwynn To Lecture

Dr. J. Minor Gwynn, education professor here for many years and widely recognized authority in the area of school curriculum, has been invited to teach at both sessions of the 1953 Summer Session at the University of Minnesota.

In taking the summer lectures on curriculum at Minnesota, Dr. Gwynn will replace Dr. Nelson L. Bossing, a national figure in curriculum planning, who will teach for the summer at the University of California at Los Angeles. Dr. Gwynn will work with graduate students only, in the areas of curriculum and secondary education.

DDr. Gwynn is the author of "Curriculum Principles and Social Trends recently published in its second edition and widely used throughout the United States as a textbook in schools, colleges and universities.

At Chapel Hill he teaches regular classes in education, is director of the curriculum laboratory, the Peabody education library and serves on several permanent boards in the School of Education.

ALIEN REGISTRATION

Aliens are reminded that they must submit an address report to the Immigration and Naturalization Service by Jan. 31.

This is a recurring report and must be filed each January. The necessary forms and information are available at the Post Office.

Flu Serum Is Offered This Week

Influenza vaccine obtained yesterday will be available to students without cost the remainder of this week, according to Dr. E. McG. Hedgpeth, University physician.

Within the past few weeks outbreaks of influenza have developed in several sections of the country. Dr. Hedgpeth says it seems reasonable that this campus could be similarly affected.

To prevent an epidemic here, the infirmary has obtained enough vaccine for a majority of the student body, making it available on a voluntary basis, Dr. Hedgepeth said.

One dose of vaccine is sufficient, but the time element is most important, he added.

Hours for obtaining the vaccine are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today through Friday, and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. Students are requested to enter the Infirmary side door. This is the door nearest the Medical School.

Med School Test In May, November

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 20. (Special)—Candidates for admission to medical school in the fall of 1954 are advised to take the Medical College Admission Test in May, according to the Educational Testing Service.

These tests, required of applicants by almost every medical college throughout the country ,will be given May 9 and Nov. 2 of this year. Candidates taking the May test, however, will be able to furnish scores to institutions in early fall.

Application forms and a bulletin of information are available from pre-medical advisers or directly from Educational Testing Service, Box '92, Princeton, N. J.

Presbytery Puts Jones' Fate Up To Investigating Group

Carolina Prof Says Thanks For Fine Meal

By Rolfe Neill

BURLINGTON, Jan. 20.—It was a splendid meal that the pastor's wife had fixed; they all agreed.

And when the Presbytery decided to thank Mrs. Chester Alexander by resolution for her noontime efforts and the moderator put it to a vote, there was a question from the back of the sanctuary:

"Can visitors vote on this one?" Dr. Wallace Caldwell of the UNC History Department wanted to know. A visitor at today's Charlie Jones hearing, Dr. Caldwell had accepted the invitation to enjoy one of the 125 lunches Mrs. Alexander and her helpers prepared.

More than 30 from Chapel Hill were present in the beautiful old First Presbyterian Church of Burlington.

Dr. Frank Graham was a surprise principal in the meeting today. He flew in from his United Nations job in New York Monday night and returned back to the big city by plane last night. The former Consolidated University president, who is also an elder in the Chapel Hill Church, was the church's attorney here today.

Charlie Jones smiled through most of the proceedings even though he was suffering from a fever. The Chapel Hill pastor didn't eat any lunch and declined an invitation with the explanation that "I'm on terramycin." Mr. Jones was accompanied by his daughter to the Presbytery meeting.

The Presbytery met for nearly six hours but spent three of those six hours in reading mimeographed reports which were distributed weeks earlier in the case of two documents and several days earlier in the case of the third brief.

During the testimony on Chapel Hill some interesting statistics were bandied about. The Judicial Commission (investigating Jones and his church) said Chapel Hill now has about 15,000 year-round residents and that over 900 students in the University are Presbyterians.

Miss Mary Gilson, an ardent Jones supporter and daughter of a Presbyterian minister, forgot her rank as a spectator at one point in the deliberations and chorused a vigorous "No" when a parliamentary question was put to the ministers.

THE REV. CHARLES M. Jones dropped into town not long ago and his picture was taken shortly after arriving. The woodsmen garb is in keeping with his job with the Save the Children Foundation, Kingsport, Tenn., where he is serving during a year's leave of absence from his church here.—Daily Tar Heel photo by Ruffin Woody.

Pastor Feels He May Win Heresy Case

By Walt Dear

BURLINGTON, Jan. 20—A modern day heresy trial ended here this afternoon with the fate of the Rev. Charles M. Jones undecided.

The meeting was called to hear the report of Orange Presbytery's Judicial Commission, appointed six months ago to investigate the Chapel Hill church and its pastor.

After hours of argument which sometimes became bitterly personal, the Presbytery decided to let the Judicial Commission have the final say on whether Mr. Jones would go or stay.

From the makeup of the commission and the opinions expressed by some of its members here today, it appeared Mr. Jones is sure to go. However, supporters of Jones hope that differences can be resolved.

The commission had asked Jones to resign in December. He declined

With the go-ahead sign from Presbytery (by a 54-21 vote), the Commission can dissolve the pastoral relationship of Jones with his church, set up a church program that more nearly conforms to Presbyterianism, as outlined by the commission, or it can bring charges for unfrocking of Jones as a Presbyterian minister.
at the time.

While members of the commission were unavailable for comment, church officials seemed optimistic about future meetings with the commission to iron out differences. Yesterday's meeting served to clarify the authority of the commission.

A motion to let the commission supervise the church until December was soundly defeated. Introduced by Rev. Chester Alexander of Burlington church, the proposal would have suspended Jones from February to September and set up a period of "observation" for the commission to hear Jones preach on a trial basis and to find out his views.

Dr. Robert J. McMullen, acting pastor (Jones is on leave with the Save the Children foundation at Kingsport, Tenn.) pinpointed opposition to Alexander's proposal when he said "December 31st means a funeral of a wonderful church and the frustration of a wonderful people."

As spokesman for the congregation, Dean Henry Brandis also pointed out that the suspension and trial preaching period would be regarded as "deliberate humilation" of congregation and that such an act would leave the "deepest scars."

A motion to dissolve the commission and to accept the counter-proposals made by the local church to correct any "irregularities" was defeated.

Commenting on the commission's report, Brandis said, "It is possible to differ with the report. You get an impression of the church different from that held by those in the church itself. He noted that the questionaire given to church officers would prove a stumbling block for the officers of any church in the Presbytery. "The real issue is whether there is a place in the framework of Southern Presbyterianism for the officers and pastor.

Because several members of the Presbytery have questioned his beliefs, Jones himself spoke before the Presbytery. He outlined his religious beliefs, saying that the fundamental doctrines are so "simple" that when you tell the man on the street about them, he understands them."

Dr. Graham, in what some observers called one of his greatest speeches, was vehement in his de-

(See PRESBYTERY, page 4)

Chest To Operate 2 Campus Drives

By Manning Muntzing

The Campus Chest, previously the one drive on campus to eliminate many drives, will be split this year into two campaigns.

This is the decision of the Campus Chest Board. The idea of a split campaign will be the method used unless strong objection is voiced by a majority of the members of the Chest Board absent from Monday afternoon's meeting in the YMCA.

Chairman Stuart Jones pointed out, "The consolidated campaign conducted in last year's effort for funds for the different drives was extremely low in comparison to surrounding schools and the size of Carolina.

"The outstanding point for keeping the Campus Chest consolidated is the soliciting of students and faculty members only once. But it seems that only so much can be absorbed concerning the campaign. When there are so many causes represented in one drive, it is hard to make clear the entire purpose of each part of the drive. After all, people do like to know what they are giving to."

Using the split plan, Jones believes that more knowledge concerning the different aspects of the drive and their uses can be publicized resulting in higher contributions.

Jones said, "It's really not so much how the money is raised, but rather the problem of getting contributions up to where they have been previously and where they belong."

In 1949, $4,300 was raised by the Campus Chest here.

Under the two campaign plan, the international phase of it will be conduced first, with Feb. 15-22 the probable dates.

This aspect of the Chest includes the Worrld Student Service Fund commonly known as the WSSF.

Tht WSSF has among its activities the furnishing of books and supplies in countries that have a special need for them. The universities of Europe were helped considerably after World War II and aid has been extended in the Far East, as well, in the form of new buildings for universities.

The second phase of the campaign starting approximately two weeks later, Jones said, "will include the national, and more specically, the state or local drives which the Campus Chest covers as the cancer drive, heart drive, March of Dimes drive and others to be designated by the Chest Board.

The polio drive, though, will re-

(See FIRST, page 4)

Time Writer Tells Views Of News Mag

"Wherever history is in the making, there you'll find the reporter, particularly the American reporter," Frank Shea, foreign correspondent for Time magazine, said here recently.

During a day filled with talks to several different groups, Shea stopped to tell an assembly of journalism students, "What makes Time Tick."

"We (Time) like to present the news along with our view as to which side of it is right. We make no claim to complete objectivity," he said.

In setting forth Time's basic approach to journalism, he said, "We assume that there are several sides to a story, geographically speaking. The foreign correspondent writes his copy from the local angle. The Washington or New York editors then add the applicable points of view of other peoples and governments."

"There is a morally sincere effort to pour all the raw material possible into a published piece," Shea said. "Every correspondent has a researcher to assist him and check his accuracy. Often several books are read, thousands of words are written and submitted to the editors for one brief published story."

Until recently, Shea acted as Buenos Aires bureau for Time and its companion magazine, Life.—JJ.

Aviation Cadet Selection

An Aviation Cadet Selection team under the direction of Major R. L. McGinnis will be in the YMCA lobby until 4 p.m. today. Members of the team will be available to discuss Air Force flight training with any interested student. They will also take applications from students who wish to go into flight training.

Press Institute To Hear Several Top Newsmen

The complete program for the 28th annual North Carolina Newspaper Institute to be held at the University and Duke Thursday through Saturday was released yesterday.

Preceding the formal opening will be a luncheon session of the Associated Press Club of North Carolina at which Frank Starzel, New York, general manager, will speak. Carl Jeffress, Greensboro, president of the Club, will preside.

Sessions of the Institute will open Thursday night with an address by Demaree Bess, associate editor of the Saturday Evening Post, who will discuss the increasing importance of the reporter in American life today, particularly in foreign affairs. He will give examples from his own experiences as a foreign correspondent.

W. Randall Harris, Asheville, president of the North Carolina Press Association, will preside and D. Hiden Ramsey, Asheville, will introduce the speaker.

Chancellor Robert B. House will give the University's welcome to which Holt McPherson, High Point, will respond. There will be a breakfast session of the directors of the Association Friday morning.

J. Russell Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post, one of the nation's top-flight newspaper executives, will be the principal speaker at a forum Friday morning. His topic will be "Better Newspapers." Thomas L. Robinson, publisher of the Charlotte News, will preside at this session and will introduce the speaker.

The University Luncheon Friday will feature an entertainment program by Andy and Barbara Griffith, professional entertainers and members of the cast of The Lost Colony.

The afternoon session will be de-

(SEE INSTITUTE, Page 4)

DEMAREE BESS

SC Digging Deep To Help State Schools

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 20. (Special)—Two steps for a $21,680,000 permanent improvements program for state colleges and institutions were outlined by Gov. James F. Byrrnes recently in his annual speech to the General Assembly.

The colleges will be allowed to embark on a $10,000,000 long-range building program financed by bonds issued against tuition fees.

In addition, state colleges would split an immediate $11,681,000 appropriation from the state surplus with charitable institutions and the state penitentiary.

The Governor also came out for a 10 percent payhike for school teachers, a one-third increase in state aid for school construction and a training school for mentally retarded Negro children.

Billy Graham Movie Slated

"Mr. Texas,' called "the world's first Christian western," will be shown here at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow, in the Baptist Church as a feature of family night.

The film, the first major production of Billy Graham Evangelistic Films, Inc., features the famed young evangelist. Playing leading roles in the picture are Redd Harper and Cindy Walker, both professional stars who have recently joined the organization.

Campus Seen

Herd of profs who cut their own classes to listen to inaugural speech leaving students ecstatic at the unexpected freedom.

*

Undiminished stack of campus political pamphlets sitting un-noticed on table in Y Court.

*

Short Air Force ROTC instructor being led by large, economy size shepherd dog and finding it difficult to keep up with the canine's pace.

RED CROSS TODAY

The Red Cross Entertainment Committee will meet at 5 p.m. today in the director's office, Graham Memorial.

Old members are asked to attend and new ones are invited.

Right Foot

A Republican president.

That phrase seems like a new one to most of us who have lived under Democratic rule for so long. Yesterday, that rule faded for at least four years and now a new regime has an opportunity to serve the nation.

Dwight D. Eisenhower starts work for 150,000,000 people today. He will administer a 70 billion dollar budget, and lead the anti-Communist world in the sometimes hot, sometimes cold war against the Russians.

These are days of great expectations for the over 30 million people who voted for Ike. There are a skeptical 25 million who wish the new president well, but who have adopted the policy of "wait and see." There are even thos mothers of men fighting in Korea who asked several days ago, "Why hasn't Ike brought our boys home yet?"

We think the new president has already started on the right foot with the right words. A few days ago when bidding farewell to his colleagues at Columbia University, he talked about the loyalty of teachers. In effect, he questioned the need for the two-pronged Congressional investigation of Communist influence in colleges and secondary schools. He upheld the teaching profession as one of the greatest contributors to the nation's well being.

If General Eisenhower succeeds as President Eisenhower, we think it will be because of his outstanding qualities as an executive who coordinates, leads, and compromises. He has proved himself to be an able leader in Europe, a skillful administrator in the Army, and a worthy president of Columbia. The Daily Tar Heel wishes him the highest success as he tackles the most important and most difficult duty of a lifetime devoted to public service.

Important Personalities

The mailman is an important personality around campus. We would like to see him more often and we are happy to report that the new Postmaster General, Arthur Summerfield, feels the same way.

Last April, the delivery service to dorms and fraternities was cut to one visit a day. Now it is possible that we may have the two deliveries, pending Congressional action.

W. S. Hogan, Chapel Hill's postmaster has no objections to a return of the old system, but indicates that his hands are tied until new orders arrive.

At least one dormitory has decided to do something positive about the service while it waits for Congress. A petition to secure earlier delivery is being circulated. Som of the dormitory men wonder why it is that one man will drop all the mail in a dorm postoffice in the morning, and another man comes by in the afternoon to place the mail in the separate boxes.

Mr. Hogan thinks that the petition idea is a good one and recommends that if students want a change, they should submit a signed petition to him which he will pass on to higher authorities. The Daily Tar Heel suggests that the Interdormitory Council and the Interfraternity Council lead in this move to secure better postal service. —D.T.

An Opium Hoax

When Turkish professor Mahesch Helai appeared on the Oxford University campus to speak on opium, he had a packed house.

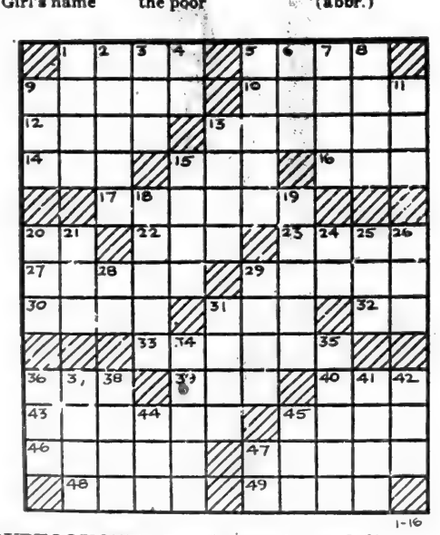
When he dwelled for an hour on the joys of opium smoking and wound up by recommending opium for mass consumption, he had a fascinated audience.

But when Professor Helai turned out to be not a professor but an Oxford student in the theater group, he had a great deal of explaining to do. And so did many British and American newspapers which had acclaimed his talk as a new note in academic research.

The Furman Hornet

The Furman Hornet has made a suggestion to freshman that is noteworthy. It concerns the marking system, and how it should be presented to parents. It goes as follows.

A—Above comprehension.
B—Brains only (Einstein, etc.)
C—Occasionally achieved by valedictorians.
D—Beyond the call of duty.
F—Average.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Doom
5. Dollar (Mex.)
9. Carting vehicle
10. Greek letter
12. Measure of land
13. Stepped
14. River (Scot.)
15. Habitual drunkard
16. Southeast by south (abbr.)
17. Exhibit
20. Exist
22. Male sheep
23. European shark
27. Musical instrument
29. A scolding woman
30. City in New York state
31. Solemn wonder
32. Earth as a goddess
33. Old age
34. High priest
35. Equip
36. Talk (slang)
38. Arranged like rays
39. Eye
40. Liquid measures
41. Branches
43. Erase (print.)
49. High, craggy hills

DOWN
1. Confront
2. Harmonize
3. Digit
4. Half an em
5. Bards
6. City (Pruss.)
7. Places
8. S-shaped molding
9. Mass
11. Public notices
13. Chamber
15. Reach across
18. Roentgen rays
19. Girl's name
20. Larva of the botfly
21. Blunder
24. Gold (Her.)
25. Wooden pin
26. Female sheep
28. Depart
29. Drink in long drafts (colloq.)
31. Dye indigo
34. Rub out
35. Moth
36. Unit of work
37. Placed
38. Not working
41. Gifts for the poor
42. God of pleasure (Egypt.)
44. Sick
45. Ear: comb. form
47. Street (abbr.)

Yesterday's Answer

1-16

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W
A X Y D L B A A X R

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

E H Z C R Y F Z T L O Z H L Y O C F Z G I D Q L Z U I R, G E C R Z H U E L Z P F T D Z U Z Y M C D Z U I R — P Z D R Y H.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THE MORNING AIR IS SO REFRESHING WHEN ONE HAS LOST ONE'S MONEY — DISRAELI

DREW PEARSON

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON — Inside fact about the confirmation fight of Charles E. Wilson is that Sena tor Byrd of Virginia telephoned Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, one week before the hearings, in order to warn of the law which might bar Wilson from becoming Secretary of Defense.

Byrd did this as a friendly gesture to Eisenhower, thinking that Eisenhower would want to thresh the matter out with Wil son in advance.

Eisenhower's headquarters was then alerted by Senator Saltonstall and Wilson was called in and advised on how to handle the Senate hearing.

However, Wilson's appearance before the committee flabbergasted not ony senators, but Ike advisers who had briefed him. Particularly surprising was his statement that he had planned to handle General Motors' contracts as Secretary of Defense. Also surprising was his attitude toward the senators. He acted as if he were doing them a favor by appearing before them. At times he was positively rude. Particularly antagonizing were his sermons on his own integrity and the implication that he belonged to the ruling class.

Senator Saltonstall, whose family dates back to the pilgrim fathers, is a mild-mannered, tolerant gentleman, but even he did not relish Wilson's behavior.

One of the most emphatic of the senators expressing doubts about Wilson was another Republican, Duff of Pennsylvania, former governor of that state. Duff pointed out that the law is the law and that every county, city and state has a law similar to the federal law making it illegal for a government official to handle contracts with companies in which he has an ownership. Senator Cooper of Kentucky, another Republican, also expressed his disapproval. Cooper disagreed slightly with Duff, but only on a technicality.

The facts then developed, which are now being reviewed by senators, showed that Boyer, chairman of the government's aircraft production board and a General Motors official, had urged military procurement officials to approve a contract with the Fisher Body division of General Motors for 757 vertical turret lathes, despite the fact that Fisher bodies had no experinece in his field. The price to be paid was $90,600 per lathe, although the Bullard Company, an experienced concern, chraged the government only $38,000 for the same lathe.

In addition, defense officials working in cooperation wtih Boyer agreed to "rent" General Motors all but 80 out of some 570 units of tooling machinery needed to fulfill th ecntract. Later it turned out that the units were not actually rented, but a free gift to the company.

Under cross-examination by Congressman Paul Cunningham of Iowa, a Republican, assistant air secretary R. L. Gilpatric admitted that General Motors official Boyer "personally recommended to me that the best way to get on with this job from a time standpoint" was to give it to Fisher Bodies.

One machine-tool "expert," Swan E. Bergstrom, replying to questions by Congressman Hebert of Louisiana, as to why General Motors was to be paid $90,600 each for the same turret lathe which other companies were selling for $38,000, said it was perfectly normal for Fisher to charge the government 2½ times as much, bcause Fisher was "inexperienced" in making machine tools.

"Does that answer your question?" asked the witness.

"It's as clear as mud," replied Congressman Hebert, who indicated later that he still can't understand why General Motors' inexperience should cost twice as much as experience.

While the senate balked over confirming General Motors' Charlie Wilson as Secretary of Defense, another General Motors man passed his senate inspection in a breeze. He is the new Postmaster General, Arthur Summerfield.

The public and press were barred from the hearing, and the official minutes were marked "confidential." However, this column can report what happened.

Summerfield frankly admitted that he still held an interest in three General Motors agencies—the Summerfield Chevrolet Company at Flint, Friendly Chevrolet Company at Grand Rapids, and Davison Chevrolet Company of Clio, Mich.

"I retain my holdings in each of these companies because they are closed corporations, but I have removed myself from the payrolls of two of them. I never did take a salary from the smaller one," Summerfield explained. "These are closed corporations, my son and I owning one of them, my son-in-law and myself owning another and one of my oldest employees is now my partner in the third one.

"I have resigned from two additional companies," he added, "These being the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company and the American Motorists Insurance Company. . . . I have a few real estate holdings, a few investments and the automobile business."

The new post office boss modestly claimed that he believed himself "qualified to do an acceptable job as your Postmaster General," though he acknowledged: "I know little about the department other than what knowledge I have acquired over the last two weeks."

Summerfield was escorted into the committee room by Michigan's flowing white-haired Sen. Homer Ferguson, who declared ringingly: "I can vouch for his (Summerfield's) loyalty, honesty and good reputation."

However, Sen. Olin Johnston of South Carolina was more interested in how Summerfield got started in the automobile business. Now reportedly the biggest Chevrolet dealer in the world, Summerfield explained he got his start after the crash of 1929.

"I had spoken to the assistant sales manager of Chevrolet one evening at a dinner party and said that some day when there was a Chevrolet agency available in that area I would like to be considered," he recalled. "Then one day he told me, 'I understand you are interested in an agency.' I said yes. He said, 'Come on down to Chevrolet and bring your pen.' I went down . . . and they gave it to me."

Thus Summerfield was confirmed to the cabinet about as easily as he got started selling Chevrolets.

Dixie

Dixie, the affectionate nickname for the southern part of the United States, probably came about in this way. A kindly slave owner named Dixie, in New York, sold his slaves to a Southern cotton planter, when slavery was mer slaves talked so much of "Dixieland," where they had been forbidden in the North. His forhappy, that it came to be regarded as a sort of Paradise. When D. D. Emmett wrote the song DIXIE he may not have known that "Dixie's Land" was in the North, or he may have thought the song would have more appeal if it were placed "way down south in de land ob cotton." At any rate nowadays when we speak of Dixie we are referring to hte South.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Delaine Bradsher | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgr. — Ned Beeker
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jess Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Jay Zimmerman, Dave Herbert.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Charles A. Collins, Charles Haskett, Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

Night Editor for this issue: Rolfe Neill

DAN DUKE

The Modern Federalist

Point Counterpoint

What I cannot understand is why the more conservative groups of America not only denounce the UN in practice but also its ideals. They seem to insist that the UN contradicts American traditions and the American way of life which generaly turns out to be whatever they define it!) I cannot help but listen to those who emphasize the toughness, the vastness of the problems to realize and maintain world government and who even conclude that our efforts will be wasted and our goals unattainable. Although I cannot agree with them that it is a hopeless situation, I am quite aware that a score of economic political, and social questions and consequences must be considered and resolved. But how the UN can be construed to contradict American democracy and traditions is beyond me.

Indeed, I see the UN as the highest compliment to American history and democracy. What more is the UN than a personification of America's system of democracy? The UN charter, except that it lacks power of authority, is quite similar to our own American Constitution. It was created by the same driving credo, "united we stand," and further insisted upon by the corollary fear, "divided we fall." It aspires to the same majority rule with respect of minority rights. It has its constitutional limitations on world government, its own checks and balances and means for change of that government. It even has its own "Bill of Rights" of the free peoples of the earth. You tell me how the UN deviates from our own democratic institutions and ideals, except that it lacks authority comprehensive and effective enough to carry out its programs.

The American government will continue to be Democrat or Republican. Our habits and customs and traditions and legal procedures won't change. No national unity will be sacrificed, nor any democratic ideal. No national integrity or pride will be forfeited. But we, like all nations, will not be permitted to act secretly or unrestrained. We and all nations will be subject to international law and arbitration.

Personally, I can see no reason whatsoever to block the development of the UN. I can see problems, and cautions, and dangers, but no reason to block the UN—unless we Americans are becoming defenders of the status quo, instead of crusaders for freedom and democracy, as traditionally we have been.

U N C LIBRARY

Tar Heels Beat Deacons 72-68, Regain SC Lead

Down In Front

by Biff Roberts

OLD MAN RIVER

IT LOOKS AS THOUGH Carolina's swimming team is back at it again. The Tar Heels, or Blue Dolphins as many people prefer to call them, have had four meets already this season and have won them all to extend their dual-meet winning streak to 30 straight, certainly the tops for any Carolina team. They haven't been pushed yet and seem to get stronger meet by meet.

Coach Ralph Casey, who took over as head coach this year after assisting Dick Jamerson for a good many years is fortunate in having one of the most well-balanced teams here in years. He has a potential Southern Conference champion in each event and some of his men have yet to be pushed to win.

The team met VMI at Lexington, Va., in its opening meet back on Dec. 6 and won all but two first places while defeating the Keydets, 47-37. Jack Edwards, one of Casey's best freestylers, took the individual prize in that meet by breaking the VMI pool record for the 100-yard freestyle in 53.7.

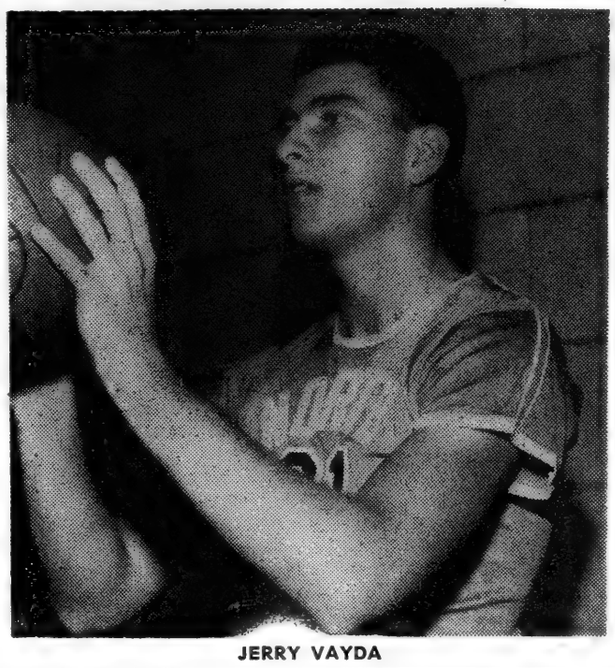
MORE MEETS—MORE RECORDS

Casey's men had one more meet before the new year, going to Duke two days later to swamp the Blue Devils, 47-35. The Tar Heels continued the domination of first places by getting six out of seven. No records took a beating that day but the team looked stronger.

And that increasing strength came out in the team's next try when it traveled to Bainbridge, Md. to swim Bainbridge Naval Training Station. Five Bainbridge pool records went down the drain in that meet on Jan. 10—quite a feat when you consider that a good many of the country's Olympic swimmers had been stationed there earlier in the year. Donnie Evans, co-captain of the team along with Stan Tinkham, took the nod for the best job of the day, breaking the pool record and tying the Carolina mark in the 200-yard breastroke. His time was 2:24, equalling the effort made by Dick Twining, a former Carolina great, in 1949. The two relay teams, which have been consistently good but still show consistent improvement, also broke records that day. Evans, Tinkham and Buddy Baarcke broke the medley mark, and Tinkham, Baarcke, Edwards, and Warren Heeman combined to break the record in the 400-yard freestyle relay. Buddy Heins, Casey's regular in the 50-yard freestyle, racked up a new record in that event, too.

NEVER SATISFIED

So, it seemed that the Carolina team had enough records stacked away for the season when it met Georgia Tech here last Saturday. But the Tar Heels showed that they needed a home crowd to really get them going. The two relay teams already record holders for the year, broke the Bowman Gray pool marks. The 300-yard medley group of Baarcke, Barry Wall, and Edwards set a new mark in its event, a good-sized accomplishment when you consider that the previous mark had held up since 1949 when Iowa set it in the NCAA meet here.



In the final event of the day Edwards, Evans, Baarcke, and Heins dropped the record for the 400-yard freestyle relay by one and one-half seconds to 3:30, a mark which also betters the existing Southern Conference standard. With the meet already in the bag most of the team members were batting the breeze on the team's efforts for the day when it was discovered that the third man was not at the edge of the pool. Evans was nearing the end of his stint. The casual Baarcke dashed to the edge just as Evans reached the wall and made it without losing a second. No record could stand up after that.

THE WORST IS YET TO COME

THE CAROLINA TEAM has the brunt of its season to go, of course, with six dual meets, including tough ones with Florida and Georgia, last year's Southeastern Conference champions. Then comes the SC championships with a strong N. C. State to threaten the team's Conference supremacy. State is blessed with a good many individual stars but the Tar Heels still seem the pick, considering their all-around ability. The State swimmers won eight of the 14 individual titles in the meet last year but Carolina still took the team race.

The team appears to have the best diver in this area in Joe Kelso and, although you can't set a record in diving ,Kelso has shown vast superiority in his event in the first four meets. Other of Casey's men, Larry Shannon, Tommy Gill, Duke Widoff, Bob Linker, have contributed to the teams all-winning efforts.

That factor seems to be the main reason the Tar Heels continue to win. Swimming is essentially an iindividual sport, save for the two really events, but the way the Carolina team works it you'd never get that idea. When one man is swimming you feel that every man on the team is swimming—old team spirit wise. It might jerk crocodile tears in print but it wins meets in swimming.

JERRY VAYDA

Deaclets Whip JV's As Davis Nets 36 Points

By Melvin Lang

Wake Forest forward Lowell Davis tossed in 36 points from all corners of Woollen Gymnasium last night in leading the Deaclets in a 98-85 revenge victory over the Carolina JV's.

The game was a preliminary to the Carolina-Wake Forest varsity game.

Davis was hot as the proverbial fire cracker as he paced the baby Deacs to their easy decision. The 6 foot 2 inch freshman from Johnson City, Ill. hit on 13 shots from the floor and connected for 10 points at the free throw line. The Wake Forest crack shot poured in nine points in each of the first two quarters, hit for seven in the third period and wound up the night with 11 in the final period.

The winners, who lost an 82-75 game to the Tar Babies earlier in the season, took the lead soon after the opening whistle and were never threatened. Carolina scored first in the high-scoring fray but Tom Bobbitt put Wake Forest ahead for the first time, 5-4, after two minutes in the game.

After their early spurt the Tar Babies slowed down, almost to a standstill, midway in the initial period. They trailed 27-12 at the end of the quarter. Carolina recovered its stride late in the second period, however, and matched Wake Forest shot for shot the remainder of the game.

Guard Tommy Shores led the Tar Babies against the Deaclets with 28 points to his credit.

Gerald McCade was next for the losers with 19 points. Glen Stephenson with nine points and Jack Woods with eight led the floor play for Carolina.

Carolina's JV's have now won three games while losing five. They meet the high flying N. C. State freshman squad Saturday night in Reynolds Coliseum in Raleigh. It will be the first meet of the two teams this season.

Wake Forest	fg	ft	pf	tp
Phillips, f	5	6	2	16
Weatherspoon, f	1	3	4	5
Davis, f	13	10	0	36
Swicord, f	0	1	3	1
Howell, c	2	6	5	10
Bobbit, g	4	4	2	12
Abbot, g	1	2	1	4
Howard, g	5	4	4	14
Johnson, g	0	0	1	0
TOTALS	31	36	31	98

Carolina	fg	ft	pf	tp
McCabe, f	8	3	4	19
Neilson, f	0	1	0	1
Stephenson, f	4	1	5	9
Walker, f	1	3	3	5
Bowden, c	2	1	4	5
Dittmar, c	2	2	5	6
Woods, g	4	0	5	8
Wickham, g	0	3	2	3
Tyler, g	0	1	1	1
Shores, g	10	8	4	28
Zagonelli, g	0	0	1	0
TOTALS	31	23	33	85

Score by periods:

Wake Forest	27	27	22	22—98
Carolina	12	23	27	23—85

Riot Mars Game As UNC Regains Conference Lead

By Tom Peacock

North Carolina's Tar Heels, practically helpless in the first half, made up a 13 point deficit and went ahead to defeat Wake Forest, 72-68, and regain the Southern Conference title in a brawling, bruising game in Woollen Gym last night.

A partisan full house of 6,000 roared approval for a solid hour and took part in a riot on the floor as Carolina spurted in the third quarter to wipe out a 37-26 Wake Forest half time lead.

No single Carolina player starred, but the whole team played a prominent role in shaking off a terrible first half and whipping the conference's leading team to retake its first place standing. It was the first Carolina victory over Wake Forest in two years.

Freshman Jerry Vayda scored 15 points in pacing Carolina and was a key man in the Tar Heel comeback. Al Lifson hit on a jump shot with six seconds gone in the fourth period to climax the rally and put Carolina ahead, 51-49, for the first time in the game.

Lifson was second high man with 13 points.

The leading conference scorer, Wake Forest's Dickie Hemric, was held to 15 points on masterful guarding by Bud Maddie and Paul Likins. Deac Jack Williams was the game's high scorer with 22 points, and Billy Lyles was runner-up with 16.

Carolina could score only eight field boals in the first half, and Coach Frank McGuire had his whole starting team benched at one time in an atempt to find a winning combination. The team played good defensive ball even when not hitting, however, to keep Wake Forest's lead to 11 points at the half.

The Tar Heels outscored Wake Forest, 23-13 ,in the thrd quarter to narrow the lead to 50-49, and then Lifson sank his game-winning jump shot in the first seconds of the last quarter.

Vayda, after scoring eight points i nthe Tar Heel third period, rally, went up to make an easy layup with 8:05 minutes gone when Deac Al DePorter threw a block at him. Vayda furiously hit DePorter in the head with the ball from point-blank range, and both benches cleared along with part of the stands in a free-for-all.

CAROLINA Player	fg	ft	pf	tp
Lifson, f	4	5	5	13
Vayda, f	6	3	2	15
Maddie, c	2	4	5	7
Likins, c	3	3	5	9
Schwarz, c	0	2	5	2
Carter, c	0	0	0	0
Grimaldi, g	5	2	3	12
Winstead, g	0	0	0	0
Glancy, g	0	1	1	1
Wallace, g	0	2	2	2
Phillips, g	1	3	2	5
Radanich, g	2	2	1	6
TOTALS	23	26	31	72

Wake Forest	fg	ft	pf	tp
Williams, f	4	15	4	23
Lystar, f	1	0	4	2
George, f	2	1	4	5
Preston, f	0	0	0	0
Hemric, c	5	5	5	15
McRae, c	0	0	0	0
Lyles, g	6	4	3	16
DeVas, g	0	0	1	0
DePorter, g	1	5	5	7
Davis, g	0	0	0	0
TOTALS	19	30	266	68

Score by quarters:

UNC	9	17	23	23—72
Wake Forest	21	16	13	18—68

CLASSIFIEDS

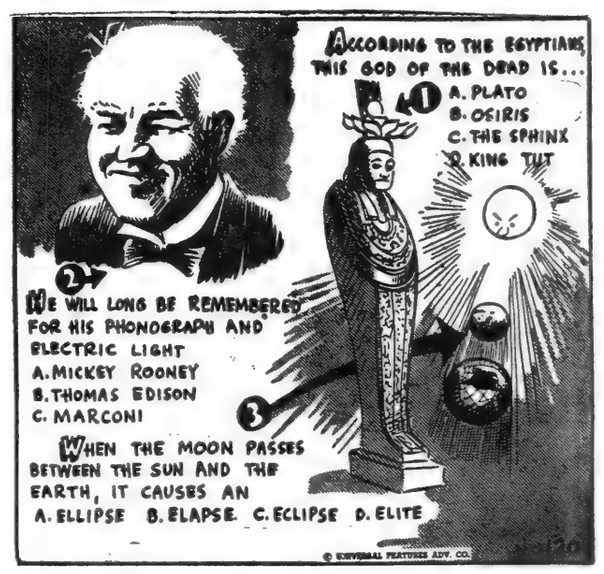
FOR SALE

FOR SALE: COMPLETE LAW OFfice, all-metal furniture. Books: U. S. and N. C. Digests, U. S. Blashfield's Automobiles, 230 N. C. Reports, N. C. General Statutes, textbooks, etc. Reasonably priced. Telephone Winston-Salem 7644 or 2-1389 after 6 p.m.

Chg. one by one

State Ducats

Tickets for the Carolina-State basketball game at the Reynolds Coliseum in Raleigh Saturday night cannot be purchased at the athletic ticket office here, but must be obtained in Raleigh.



If Valentines Are Here Can Romance Be Far Behind?

Our first Valentines are now on display on the card rack.

The Intimate Bookshop

205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

DR. QUIZ CONDUCTED BY— Sutton's

Searching for the right answers? They're Osiris, Thomas Edison and Eclipse. Searching for the best in men's toiletries and supplies? You'll find them at SUTTON'S DRUG STORE.

THE TAR HEEL'S DRUG CENTER — Sutton's DRUG STORE — Rx SPECIALISTS

COSMETICS - MEN'S TOILETRIES - SCHOOL SUPPLIES

553! - COMPLETE FOUNTAIN SERVICE - JUST ACROSS FRANKLIN

Full Cage Slate Today; Handball Entries Close

Every court will be put to use today for the first time this year in the Intramural Department's basketball tournament with courts one and two, which are usually covered by the stands, being open.

The mural office also announced that entries for the handball tourney, a non-point system veent, will close tomorrow. It is a team event, however, with one singles and two doubles matches.

TODAY'S BASKETBALL

4:00—court 1, SAE 1 vs. Phi Delt 1; court 2, Phi Gam 1 vs. Delta Sigma Pi; court 3, KA 3 vs. Phi Gam 3; court 4, Sigma Nu 2 vs. Lambda Chi 2; court 5 Zeta Psi 3 vs. Chi Psi 2; court 6, Law School 2 vs. Emerson 2; court 7, Phi Delt 4 vs. Befa 1.

5:00—court 1, Chi Phi 1 vs. Lambda Chi 1; court 2, Phi Kappa Sig 3 vs. Pi Lamb; court 4 Alexander 1 vs. Med School 3; court 5, Kappa Psi 2 vs. Delta Psi; court 6, Mde School 1 vs. Emerson 1; court 7, Kappa Sig 1 vs. Zeta Psi 2.

7:00—court 1, Joyner 4 vs. Everett 2; court 2, Winston 1 vs. Ruffin 2; court 3, Cobb 3 vs. Everett 1; court 4, Cobb 4 vs. Alexander 2; court 5, Grimes 1 vs. BVP 2; court 6, Lewis 3 vs. Med School 2; court 7, Cobb 2 vs. Aycock 1.

8:00—court 1, Cobb 1 vs. Mangum; court 2, Winston 3 vs. Ruffin 1; court 3, Lewis 2 vs. Joyner 2; court 4, TMA vs. Joyner 1; court 5, Stacy vs. Law School 1; court 6, Victory Village vs. Winston 2; court 7, Lewis 4 vs. Graham 2.

TODAY'S TABLE TENNIS

4:00—ATO 2 vs. Chi Phi 1; 4:30—TEP 2 vs. Chi Phi 2; 5:00—PiKA 1 vs. KA 2; 5:30—Sigma Chi 4 vs. PiKA 2.

7:00—Stacy vs. Emerson; 7:30—Alexander vs. Law Schol; 8:00—TMA vs. Med School 2; 8:30—Med School 3 vs. Old East.

ICE CAPADES OF 1953
THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE
Mail order for tickets

COLISEUM IN RALEIGH
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
N. C. State College—P. O. Box 5905
RALEIGH, N. C.

Children ½ Price Friday Matinee Only

Mon. Eve. Feb. 16 ☐
Tue. Eve. Feb. 17 ☐
Wed. Eve. Feb. 18 ☐
Thur. Eve. Feb. 19 ☐
Fri. Mat. Feb. 20 ☐
Fri. Eve. Feb. 20 ☐
Sat. Mat. Feb. 21 ☐
Sat. Eve. Feb. 21 ☐

Enclosed is $..... for ..... tickets at $..... each
Price: $3.00 ..... $2.50 ..... $2.00 ..... $1.50

Name ..... Address .....
City ..... State ..... Phone No. .....
PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS

More People Smoke Camels THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

'Don Juan' Presented In Record Form

A recording of George Bernard Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell," featuring the First Drama Quartet, will be presented tonight at 7:30 in the Green Room of the Playmakers Theater.

Latest of a series of famous recordings sponsored by the English Club, the program is open to students and faculty. Coffee will be served.

Voices familiar to those who saw the performance here several years ago of "the greatest moral document of our century," as Jacques Barzun calls "Don Juan in Hell," will be heard in the four roles: Charles Boyer as Don Juan, Charles Laughton as the Devil, Cedric Hardwicke as the Commander and Agnes Moorehead as Dona Ana.

"Of course he was subversive! He was ruining morale by making Old Fashioneds without enough Angostura*!"

ANGOSTURA.
AROMATIC BITTERS
MAKES BETTER DRINKS

*It's the zesty tang of Angostura that puts so much morale in an Old Fashioned. Try it on fruit pies, in puddings and hard sauces, too!

If you own a camera— you'll want a copy of

"HOW TO MAKE GOOD PICTURES"

$1 [illegible]

It's brand new . . . you'll find all the answers in 224 easy to read pages, with hundreds of pictures . . . designed to give you the most enjoyment from your camera. Stop in now for your copy.

Foister's Camera Store, Inc.

AEC Offers Study Grants To Seniors

Seniors majoring in chemistry, physics or engineering are eligible for Atomic Energy Commission-sponsored graduate fellowships in radiological physics for the 1953-54 school year.

Radiological physics is a new and expanding field of science. It is concerned with health physics, radiation monitoring and control, radioisotope measurements and similar activities associated with the use of radioisotopes or the release of nuclear energy.

Up to 75 fellowships may be awarded, with fully-accredited graduate study to be carried out in three locations. One program is operated by the University of Rochester and Brookhaven National Laboratory, another by the University of Washington and the Hanford Works of the AEC, and the third by Vanderbilt University and the Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

In each case, nine months of course work at the university is followed by three months of additional study and field training at the cooperating AEC installation. The program is accredited for graduate-level training leading toward an advanced degree.

Basic stipends for fellows is $1,600 per year, with an allowance of $350 if married and $350 for each dependent child. University tuition and required fees will be paid by the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, which administers the program for the AEC.

Additional information on the program may be obtained from science department heads or direct from the Institute at Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

PRESIDENT-ELECT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER and Mrs. Eisenhower greet the crowd as they arrived at Washington's Union Station from New York. Eis nhower remained at the Statler Hotel in Washington until after his inauguration yesterday as the nation's Chief Executive.—NEA Telephoto.

VICE PRESIDENT-ELECT Richard Nixon and his wife drink a pre-inauguration toast with coffee after their arrival in Washington for the Inauguration. They are pictured as they attended the governors' reception.—NEA Telephoto.

Presbytery

(Continued from page 1)

clarations for Jones. Indicating that Jones was a thorough Christian, Graham touched on one of the main issues about Jones' ministry: "He disturbs the social order of our society and anybody that does that is prone to attack. He practices Christianity. It takes courage to tell society how unChristian it is.

" . . . If you're going to put people in a strait jacket, you'll lose the youth of America. Jones and McMullen are on the front line for Christianity."

Answering charges that the Chapel Hill church had a secular atmosphere, Graham observed that Christ had advised his disciples to preach the gospel throughout the world. Referring to the suspension and trial period proposal Graham said, "If there's any one here who has suffered more than Charles Jones for Jesus Christ, let him throw the first stone."

Presbytery appointed the Judicial Commission last June to organize a new Presbyterian church to comply with the petition of a group of Chapel Hill Presbyterians dissatisfied with the present church's program. The commission was also authorized to "investigate thoroughly the total situation in the Chapel Hill Church and to report back to the Presbytery."

Establishment of the new church comes this Sunday when the commission meets with the petitioning group. No official date was set for the meeting of the commission with Mr. Jones and the church officials. Church officials here expressed optimistically that the commission and church could get together on differences.

SUAB Calendar Deadline

The deadline for information for the February issue of the SUAB Calendar is 1 o'clock Monday. Information can be sent to Box 30, called in to 5641, SUAB office, or brought in. All organizations are asked to get information in early.

Golden Bear To Meet

The Order of the Golden Bear will meet today at 5 p.m. at The Shack.

Heels 'n Toes

The Tar Heels 'n Toes square dance club will meet today at 7 p.m. in the Women's Gym.

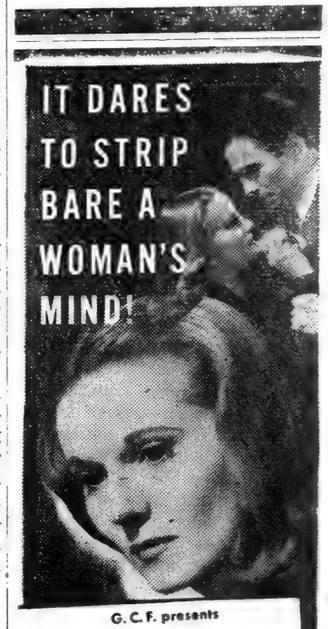
Stray Greek Supper

There will be a meeting of Stray Greeks for supper this evening. They will meet at 5:45 in the parlor of Alderman.

Handbook Staff

Applications for the staff of the Carolina Handbook including editor and business manager will remain open until Friday. Those interested should pick up application blanks at the Y office this week.

Semper Fidelis



The Semper Fidelis Society will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Naval Armory.

SUAB Restaffing Meeting

Anyone interested in working on any committee of the Student Union Activities Board is invited to come to the general restaffing meeting in the Roland Parker Lounge in Graham Memorial Thursday at 4:30.

See Friday's Tar Heel For The News of Our Annual Madness

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. FRANKLIN ST.
OPEN EVENINGS

G. C. F. presents
James Mason Ann Todd
The Seventh Veil
with
HUGH McDERMOTT HERBERT LOM
DAVID HORNE YVONNE OWEN
JOHN SLATER MANNING WHILEY and ALBERT LIEVEN
UNIVERSAL
The Magnificent Music of THE LONDON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
Original Story and Screenplay by Muriel and Sydney Box
Directed by Compton Bennett Produced by Sydney Box
A SYDNEY BOX-ORTUS PRODUCTION
A UNIVERSAL RELEASE 108
T-O-D-A-Y ONLY
Varsity

Weil Speaker Says College Isn't Equipped To Weed Out Communist

(Continued from page 1)

time, he said the "greatest value of freedom of speech is not to the minority who want to talk but to the majority who do not want to listen."

Dr. Chafee said he believes it is the government's job to get out the Communists and not the school's. The Communist fear in education, he said, has brought about attacks on teachers who are not Communists . . . "The trustees at the University of California expressly stated that none of the professors they threw out were Communists. The faculty there got one man discharged who was later cleared by the FBI for a job with the Atomic Energy Commission.

A good many teachers in the last few years have lost their positions because they presumed to differ from opinions held by the group among their fellow-citizens which happened to be dominant for the time being . . . The fear of Communism offers a long-wished opportunity to hit hard at teachers who are on the opposite side of any hot current controversy," he declared.

Dr. Chafee said there are two "rational arguments against letting a teacher claim so wide a right to say what he pleases as a newspaper editor or an author. The first is the immaturity of those to whom the teacher speaks . . . and the second is the need for education to pass on the basic traditions of the community to a new generation." A transmitting of tradition, which, he said, is a large part of education but not the whole of it, should be a "progressively smaller part as the youngster gains in power to decide for himself."

Dr. Chafee said the best a student can get in his education after the early grades is not information but method and the spirit of exploration . . . "The greatest need of our schools and colleges, therefore, is not to avoid radical teachers or conservative teachers, but stupid or uninspiring teachers stuffed shirts, men who can't get over the footlights, dispenses of handed canned goods."

Referring to the ferreting out of suspected Communists by institutions themselves, Dr. Chafee said "a university is not properly equipped to determine a suspect's acknowledged membership in the party, unless his activities in the classroom or on the campus are notorious. It cannot compel witnesses to testify against him or summon the witness he wants for his defense."

Dr. Chafee asserted that he thought the non-Communist teacher who keeps silent is making a serious mistake. "Keeping silent hurts one's institution and the causes of academic freedom and freedom of speech. Although by numerous Supreme Court decisions, the claim of privilege is not an admission of guilt, nevertheless the public regards it as proof that his school or university did have a Communist teaching there.

He said the method of the loyalty oath for teachers is not advisable because "any real Communist would not hesitate to sign it. When you are ready to help a foreign power against your own country, why boggle at a little thing like perjury?"

GOLFER TOMMY BOLT kisses the check—for $2,000—which he received as first prize money after he won the San Diego Open Golf Tournament at San Diego, Calif., with a 72-hole total of 274—14 strokes under par.—NEA Telephoto.

First Campaign Slated During Mid-February

(Continued from page 1)

ceive less support most likely this year since a third drive is being sponsored especially for polio on campus.

Operations of the Chest Drive this year will be born by various chairmen or co-chairmen drawn from the Chest board.

Assisting Jones as head chairman directly will be Don Angell, personal assistant and Harry Young, treasurer.

Other committee chairmanships include Gil Marsh social representative; Sue Fink and Bob Jackson, faculty solicitations; Bill Acker and Fred Mewhinney, student solicitors, and Pepper Tice and Joan McLendon, unusual publicity.

Terry Chhronaki and Tony Kelly, unusual stunts; Vance Moore, group projects and annnouncements; Laurence Stith, printing and posters; Louis Kraar, Daily Tar Heel publicity, and John Taylor, variety show.

Chairman Jones hopes students "will render willingly any help asked of them by the different chairmen during the campaign."

The next meeting of the board will be Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the YWCA at which time Wilmer Kitchen, executive secretary of WSSF, will be present to discuss the campaign with the board members in preparation for starting the campaign.

Institute

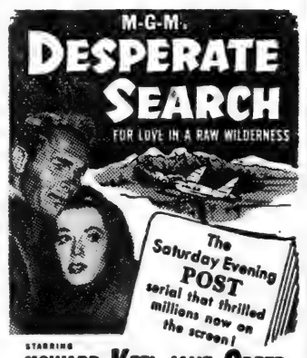
(Continued from Page 1)

voted to meetings of the Associated Dailies and the non-dailies. D. A. Rawley, High Point, chairman of the Associated Dailies, will preside over that session and Weimar Jones, Franklin, will preside over the non-dailies.

Alison Simonton Jr. of the Covington, Tenn., leader, one of the judges of the non-daily contests, will address that group.

The annual meeting of the trustees of the University Journalism Foundation will be held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Holt McPherson, chairman, will preside.

Learning To Dance
Is More Fun Than A Night at the Theatre
!
Studios Air Conditioned



Yes, a night at the theatre is over when the curtain falls, a football game is over when the final whistle blows, but your fun is just beginning when you learn to dance at Arthur Murray's. Win new friends and popularity with your dancing skill at proms, parties, and campus activities.

ARTHUR MURRAY
104½ Morris St., at 5 Pts., 2-7872

Carolina
TODAY

STARRING
HOWARD KEEL · JANE GREER
PATRICIA MEDINA
KEENAN WYNN · ROBERT BURTON

Plus
Sportlight—News

THE WORLD'S FIRST CHRISTIAN WESTERN
Billy Graham presents...
REDD HARPER and CINDY WALKER
A Continental Production
Mr. Texas
MUSIC
★ Musical setting—Sons of the Pioneers "Chant of the Wanderer"
★ Famous Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band
★ Redd Harper . . . "Wide Rollin Plains"
★ Cindy Walker . . . "Beloved Enemy"
★ Cindy and Redd . . . "Each Step of the Way"
★ George Beverly Shea . . . "Just a Closer Walk"
★ Fort Worth 1000 Voice Crusade Choir . . . "The Railroad Song"
★ Hour of Decision Choir . . . "Wonderful Peace" IN GLORIOUS COLOR
FEATURING
BILLY GRAHAM
CLIFF BARROWS
Supported by: GRADY WILSON • JERRY BEAVAN
GEORGE BEVERLY SHEA • PAUL MICKELSON • TEDD SMITH Released By
BILLY GRAHAM EVANGELISTIC ASSOCIATION
AT THE CHAPEL HILL BAPTIST CHURCH
Thursday, Jan. 22—7:15 p.m.
A FAMILY NIGHT FEATURE

U N C LIBRARY
SERIARS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

WEATHER
Cloudiness and mild with 60 high. Yesterday's high, 57; low, 40.

The Daily Tar Heel

SPORTS
The editors talk about a basketball game. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 79 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

Dr. Chafee Schedules Final Talk

A middle course has to be steered in allowing freedom of speech among subordinate members of organizations—a factory, the Army, the State Department, a church—Dr. Zechariah Chafee Jr. said here last night.

"Although forcing men to say too little is a mistake, some subordinates talk too much," he said. "Their views are trivial, or they go on asserting them pertinaniously after they have been rejected. Yet there is always the possibility that the views which are rejected are much more useful to the enterprise than the views of the superior official who did the rejecting."

Dr. Chafee, a member of the Harvard Law School faculty since 1919, delivered in Memorial Hall the second in the series of three annual Weil Lectures at the University.

With "Freedom in Special Situations" as his general theme, Dr. Chafee, who was introduced by Dean Henry P. Brandis Jr. of the Law School, took freedom of speech in organizations, under the specific title, "The Ship," as his subject last night. Tuesday night he discussed freedom of speech in education. He will conclude the lectures tonight at 8:30 with a discussion of freedom in the time of crises, entitled "The Beleaguered ed City."

Dr. Chafee was guest of honor at luncheon at the Carolina Inn yesterday, given by the Committee on Established Lectures of which Dr. Alexander P. Heard is chairman.

Dr. Chafee said that "internally, the power to make decisions has to be concentrated. Considerable despotism is inevitable in any enterprise. Yet sound decisions emerge from discussion—from information about facts and from opinions expressed by men in close contact with facts. Though subordinates cannot decide, they may often be allowed to persuade . . . How far should they be able to express views of facts and policies which differ from the views of their superiors?"

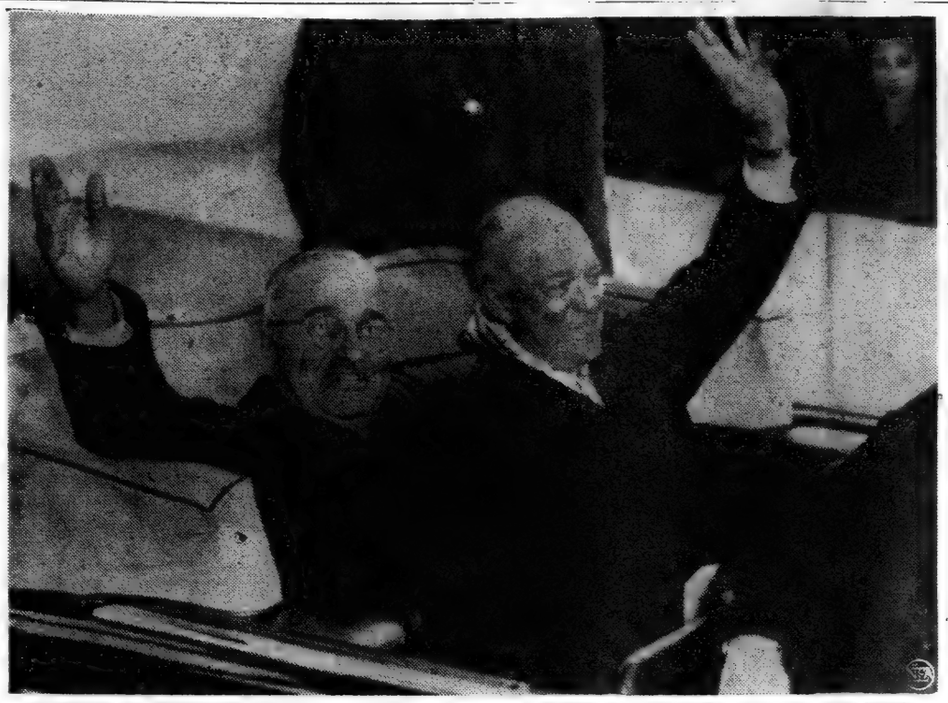
To illustrate, Dr. Chafee told a story of a passenger on a ship who told the captain about a submerged rock ahead. The captain denied it. When the passenger insisted, the captain had him thrown into the sea. Soon afterward the vessel hit the rock.

"The attitude of superiors toward what their subordinates say can increase or decrease the value of cooperation," he declared. "Moreover, it has marked effect upon the esprit de corps—upon the happiness with which subordinates do their work . . . On the other hand, the possibility that the expression of unpopular views will be punished by lack of promotion, assignment to disagreeable tasks, or dismissal makes many subordinates silent and sullen."

Dr. Chafee said the external problem involves a contest between "truth inside the enterprise and truth outside. Complete frankness inside is essential to efficiency, but compulsory disclosure to outsiders may interfere with frankness, especially if the subordinate fears that he will be penalized years later by saying what the outsiders will dislike."

Wellman To Talk

Manly Wade Wellman, Chapel Hill author, will be guest speaker at a Bull's Head Bookshop tea to be held in the Assembly-Exhibition room of the Library this afternoon at 3:45.



He will discuss "Writing in North Carolina."

POSITIONS OPEN

Interviews are being held for girls interested in holding positions on the Women's Residence Council.

Applications will be accepted for chairman of the May Day Committee, chairman of the Leadership Training Program, orientation chairman and editor of the coed handbook. The orientation chairman must be a junior and the leadership chairman, a senior. The other two positions may be filled by a junior or senior.

Girls interested may obtain application forms from house managers.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND DWIGHT David Eisenhower wave to the crowd as they ride along Washington's Pennsylvania Ave. enroute to the Capitol where Eisenhower was sworn in as the 34th president of the U. S. Ex-President Harry is headed for show-me land and his plans for a Harry Truman library.—NEA Telephoto.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER and his wife are accompanied by the Rev. Edward L. R. Elson as they leave National Presbyterian Church in Washington after attending services.—NEA Telephoto.

NEWS IN BRIEF

SEOUL—American Sabrejet pilots stormed up near the Yalu River yesterday to rip apart formations of Communist MIG-15's and blasted seven of the Red jets out of North Korean skies. Col. Royal N. Baker, McKinney, Texas, the country's second ranking jet ace, knocked out two of the Russian-built planes in the MIG alley battles. His Korean war kill total stood at nine MIG's shot down and one propeller-driven craft bagged.

★

WASHINGTON — Sen. Wayne Morse said yesterday he has no further objections to Senate confirmation of eight of President Eisenhower's cabinet selections. Other legislators reported that Charles E. Wilson's chance of becoming defense secretary remain "up in the air." The White House said that President Eisenhower still intends to name Wilson to the post.

★

WASHINGTON—Happy Republicans waltzed on into the wee hours of Wednesday in a last great and gala jubilee marking the inauguration of President Eisenhower. The Eisenhowers didn't hold out until the final curtain at 3 a.m., but departed at 1:18 a.m., while long lines of limousines and taxis, still stalled in traffic, were still bringing guests.

★

MOSCOW—The inauguration of President Eisenhower was reported yesterday in 83-word dispatches from Washington on the back pages of all Moscow newspapers.

Cast Complete In Playmakers' 'Princess Ida'

William M. Hardy, director of the forthcoming Playmaker production "Princess Ida," yesterday announced his cast for the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta. It is scheduled for three evening performances Feb. 6-8 in Memorial Hall. Tickets will go on sale Tuesday at Swain Hall and Ledbetter-Pickard.

Principals in the cast include Lanier Davis of Chapel Hill as King Hildebrand; William Whitesides of York, S. C. as Prince Hilarion; James T. Pritchett of Lenoir as Cyril; Harold England of Mars Hill as Florian; Tommy Rezzuto of Asheville as King Gama.

Nancy Murray of Raleigh as Princess Ida; Wade Williams of Savannah, Ga. as Arac; George Boozer of Lexington, S. C. as Guron; Barclay Gordon of Huntington, L. I., N. Y. as Scynthius; Jo Jurgensen of Chapel Hill as Lady Blanche.

Jean Hillman of Newark, Del. as Lady Psyche; Ann Davis of Chapel Hill as Melissa; Nancy Green of Chapel Hill as Chloe, and Mary Helen Crain of Durham as Ada.

Members of the choruses include Joanne Murphey, Lookout Mountain, Tenn.; Anne Mackie, Chapel Hill; Letitia House, Beaufort; Neta Whitty, New Bern; Frances O'Neal, Chapel Hill; Dorothy Liggett, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Virginia Young, Chapel Hill; Eugene Wagoner, Yadkinville; Charles Johnston, Decatur, Ga.; Jack Phillips, Durham; John Humber, Greenville; Dan Reid, Raleigh; John Taylor, Wheeling, W. Va.; Dan McFarland, Durham, and James Pruett, Mount Airy.

5-State Tour For Symphony Gets Started

By Tom Neal Jr.

Symphonic music has been rising to the rafters of a near-empty Memorial Hall here these past eight days.

Dr. Benjamin Swalin, distinguished Tar Heel conductor, with his North Carolina "Suitcase Symphony" has been rehearsing day and night in the Universtiy hall for the current Symphony tour. Rehearsals began in Chapel Hill on Jan. 13, and the musicians started on the road yesterday afternoon for two months of engagements with small communities.

The 25-piece Little Symphony of the North Carolina Symphony tours its namesake state for the majority of its performances. But the orchestra also offers programs for children and adults to neighboring Tennessee, South Carolina, West Virginia and Alabama.

The most unusual aspect of the Symphony work is that half of its 130 concerts are free, educational programs for school youngsters. The North Carolina legsilature appropriates one seventh of the Symphonie's budget to help defray expenses for these concerts.

In addition to the free chidren's orchestral programs, the Symphony plays evening adult concerts.

When the Little Symphony tour winds up on March 20, rehearsals will begin with the Full Symphony. This complete symphony tours larger cities of this state from April 9-May 13. They will play here on May 6.

Conductor Swalin and his wife make their home in Chapel Hill at 303 North Columbia Street. Symphony offices are housed in Swain Hall.

The complete Little Symphony tour schedule has been released by the North Carolina Symphony Society. Part of it follows:

During January: Louisburg, 21; Roanoke Rapids, 22; Camp Butner, 23; Elizabeth City, 26; Henderson, 27; Robersonville, 28; Morehead City, 28; Smithfield, 29; Lumberton, 30.

Connor Dorm Social Rooms Opened To Women Visitors; Victory Will End Long Battle

7 Bills On Spike For Solon Action

By Louis Kraar

Student Legislature convenes tonight at 7:30 in Phi Hall with virtually the entire Student Party's fall platform up for discussion.

Seven bills were introduced by SP legislators last week in the opening session which correspond to planks in the party platform. The bills move to:

1. Establish a committee to investigate possibilities of open quiz files.
2. Look into a more liberal class cut policy.
3. Amend the general elections law to make candidates include samples of cigarettes, candy, etc. in their expense accounts.
4. Revise the selection of candidates for the Student Council.
5. Soundproof dormitories "at the earliest possible moment."
6. Get better communications facilities in dormitories.
7. Appoint a committee to look into having coed visiting hours for social rooms in men's dormitories.

The new chairmen of the standing committees, which were selected last week, are expected to appoint committee members. New committee chairmen are Jack Stilwell (UP), Ways and Means; Bill Acker (SP), Finance; Wade Matthews (SP-UP), Rules; Jane Kottmeier (SP), Coed Affairs; and Al Baylor (SP), Archives.

Although SP has a working majority, the key post of chairman of the Ways and Means committee went to a UP legislator, Stilwell. Consensus among politicians was that neither party would completely dominate legislative action because of the election of Stilwell to this position.

All bills which do not specifically fall into the catagories of any of the other committees are given to the Ways and Means committee. In practice, most bills go through this committee.

Skillan Elected

In elections held last week by the Card Board, Bob Skillan was elected president succeeding Jim Stegall.

Other election results were Bob Bell, chief usher; Lib Suddreth, secretary; Laura Holoman, chief of the artist staff and Carl Gregory, chief of the office staff.

LATE REGISTRATION

The dean of students office added to its accomplishments yesterday morning when Fran Weaver, wife of Dean Fred Weaver, gave birth to a daughter, Elizabeth Gail (6 lbs., 11 ozs.) at Memorial Hospital here. Mrs. Weaver is a former Carolina coed. The daughter is their first child. Just last week, Mrs. Roy Holsten, wife of the assistant dean of students, gave birth to a son.

Construction Drafts Due

Fraternity and sorority presidents should turn in their approved remodeling plans to the dean of students office by tomorrow, Roy Holsten said yesterday.

P. L. Burch, Chapel Hill building inspector, must agree that the plans fulfill the state's requirements for removal of fire hazards.

Holsten said five construction companies will be asked to submit bids for the collective job of installing fire escapes in the fraternity and sorority houses.

Sheps Named To Beth Israel Hospital Post

Dr. Cecil G. Sheps, director of program planning and research professor of health planning in the Division of Health Affairs in the University, has been appointed executive director of Beth Israel Hospital in Boston.

Beth Israel Hospital is one of Boston's leading teaching hospitals and is associated with Harvard University and Tufts Medical College.

Dr. Sheps will remain in his position here until next summer and take up his duties in Boston in September.

Dr. Sheps came to the University six years ago as a member of the School of Public Health faculty and was named the first director of Program Planning, a part of the Division of Health Affairs, which was begun a year ago to speed the extension of services from the Division to the people of the State.

His work in promoting the Program Planning project has now been established and will continue under a new director to be selected later in the year.

The initiation of the project here was made possible by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation to the University to sponsor a planning staff for the Division of Health Affairs. It forms one arm of the administrative offices of the Division and works with the Division Administrator, Dr. Henry T. Clark Jr., and the various health deans.

New Setup May Begin This Weekend

Connor Dormitory for male graduate students will soon have the privilege of unchaperoned women visitors in the social rooms three days a week.

Connor President Earl Diamond, who has led a committee towards the gaining of visiting privileges, said yesterday it appears likely that the first women guests will be entertained this weekend. Open house has been tentatively set for Sunday afternoon.

The right of visiting privileges for coeds in men's dormitories has been fought for over the years. In nearly every year's Legislature there is a bill asking for the privileges and nearly every year one of the campus political parties puts such an idea into its platform.

Visiting privileges for the graduate dormitory were granted conditionally by the dean of students office. Connor agreed to obtain four faculty members and their wives to serve as a visiting committee. As of yesterday afternoon the committee was but one member short of the requirement. Diamond said.

The visiting committee will serve an advisory function, suggesting entertainment ideas and social room improvements. Its presence will not be required at parties and dances, however.

Visiting will be permitted on Fridays (8 to 12 p.m.), Saturdays (2 to 12), and Sundays (2 to 7).

"Connor ought to be complimented for the work it has done in improving social facilities," Assistant Dean of Students Roy Holsten said.

He added, "This is not a test case to see how well the dormitories in general can handle visiting privileges. It is based on the graduate students' needs and their mature fulfillment of other obvious qualifications."

Manning Muntzing (SP) Thursday night introduced a bill to have the Student Legislature appoint a committee to "negotiate with the dean of women and the dean of students for coed visiting hours in the social rooms of men's dormitories.

Auto Owners Reminded To Get New Tags

RALEIGH, Jan. 21—(Special)—Sales of ney license tags continue to lage with little more than one week to go before 1952 plates become invalid, the State Department of Motor Vehicles said today.

News of the puzzling decline of new tag sales had Motor Vehicles Commissioner L. R. Fisher worried. He reminded Tar Heel auto and truck owners that long waiting lines would be the inevitable result unless sales picked up rapidly.

From the Registration Division, Director Foy Ingram said through January 12 only 505,892 new tags had been issued. This compares with 535,699 sold through the same date last year.

In the Raleigh area Fisher reminded motorists that the Motor Vehicles office will be closed Saturday, Jan. 31, as are all state offices. Thus Friday, Jan. 30 will be the last day new tags may be secured from the Raleigh office.

(See NEW TAGS, page 2)

ONE STUDENT

William G. Howe, statistics grad student from Rochester, N. Y., was the only student on the Recorder's Court docket this week.

Howe was found not guilty before Judge William S. Stewart after being charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Socialism Working In England, Here To Stay, Milford Thinks

By Jim Wilkinson

Socialism has done much for the ills of Great Britain, according to a prominent church figure of that country, and is pretty much "here to stay."

That's the opinion of Chancellor T. R. Milford, a visitor here as a lecturer for the Department of Religion and the Inter-Faith Council. One of four Canons on the staff of ancient Lincoln Cathedral in England, he is also titular guardian of the Magna Carta.

In an interview, Chancellor Milford voiced approval of many of the changes which Socialism has brought to England. The average wage earner in Britain today is better off than before the war.

He maintained, and pointed to the number of new television antennas on rooftops as an indication.

But the Chancellor had far more concrete evidence for his belief. Despite continued rationing and scarcities, he said, the lower working classes have benefitted greatly from programs like the health plan, aid to education and nationalization of certain industries such as the mines and railroads.

To a large extent, he affirmed, "Socialism is here to stay." He does not believe that the Churchill government will be able to push back the inroads of socialism made under the Labor Party. And, he continued, the Conservatives are apparently coming to the same conclusion since their campaign promises to de-nationalize certain industries has come to naught after more than a year in power. To erase these measures, he averred, "would be wrecking a system that has just begun to work."

Why then was the Labor Party turned out? For much the same reason the U. S. had a party switch, he opined—"It was time for a change."

A very complex tax system has been formulized in England, the Chancellor explained, to distribute the wealth more evenly and equalize opportunity among all classes. It is similar to the U. S.

(See BACKWARD, page 4)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Delaine Bradsher | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgr. — Ned Beeker
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jess Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Jay Zimmerman, Dave Herbert.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

Night Editor for this issue: Dorman Cordell

Weighed, Found Wanting

A plague upon your house, Carolina.

So could a Wake Forest man justly say after our disgusting student body conduct at the Tuesday night basketball game. We won the game, it is true, and thereby taught the Deacons a lesson on the court, but we gave plenty of evidence to indicate that we have a long road to travel before we can teach them—or anyone—anything whatsoever regarding sportsmanship, friendliness, or even civility.

The time has come—indeed it is long overdue—for us to stop living on the laurels of our past greatness on the field, on the court, and in the spectator stands; we must re-orient ourselves to reality and accept the only conclusion possible on the mob hysteria and asininity of Tuesday night as being totally foreign to what we like to think of as the Chapel Hill way of doing things.

The bitterness, the booing, and the vociferous condemnation of the opposition players when attempting foul shots, and of the referees for decisions against us, was below and beyond the meaning of the word "disgraceful;" it was not only extremely unsportsmanlike but almost uncivilized.

The sense of hatred was such that one felt he could but take a knife and carve out a sample for documentary evidence.

It is now obvious that the sweet and sugary talks and speeches and articles about sportsmanship have accomplished a little less than nothing around here. What this student body clearly needs as more acid and less sugar; more talking to and less talking back; more responsibility and less stupidity.

We could perhaps salvage some consolation from the event if we could say that most of the booing and downright unpleasantness was the product of an un-indoctrinated freshman class, which will soon fall in line with the upperclassmen. But such was not true—for the bearded and beardless alike were too much alike in their animal-like hysteria.

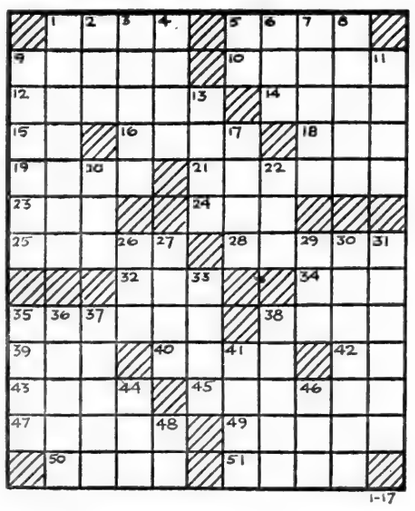
Fortunately, however, the season is not yet over. We can show a better facet of our university, and thereby of ourselves, if we but THINK, when we entertain other teams and student representatives down Woollen way in the weeks ahead. This is not something to which we can pay half-hearted support in our daily avtivity, yet completely ignore as if we were several thousand Mongol idiots at a ball game, when the opposition gets a break.

Now, this university has received a great deal of criticism at various times in the past, and there are those in the state who want to "Straighten out things in Chapel Hill." It is not idle speculation to say that performances such as the one Tuesday night will give them ample reason to look closely, and suspiciously, at Chapel Hill.

No one expects—much less desires—that the students become Silent Cal Coolidges at the gym. The spirit and support given the squad was quite pleasing to the ear, and the cheer leaders should take a bow for their splendid acceptace of rulings against Carolina infractions and Wake Forest foul attempts would have been equally splendid.

And so, students, we have been weighed in our hospitality and sportsmanship and found wanting. What do YOU plan to do to even up the scales?

DAILY CROSSWORD



ACROSS
1. Enormous
5. Expression of sorrow
9. Reigning beauty
10. Stops
12. Comes in
14. Small blast on a whistle
15. Close to
16. Enough (dial.)
18. Friar's title
19. Submerged
21. Quicker
23. Attempt
24. Cravat
25. Appears
28. Clan
32. Ancient
34. Large carting vehicle
35. Blossom
38. Northern constellation
39. Tennis stroke
40. Walk through water
42. Officer commanding (abbr.)
43. Female sheep
45. An instant
47. River (Ger.)
49. Centers
50. Network
51. Mend, as a bone

DOWN
1. Hazard
2. High (mus.)
3. Smooth and glossy
4. Gull-like bird
5. Exclamation
6. Monetary unit (Latvia)
7. Above
8. Shop
9. Animals
11. Asterisk
13. Pliable
17. Remain in readiness
20. American humorist
22. Varying weight (India)
26. Cut grass
27. Killed
29. Climbing plant
30. Lesser baron
31. Performs
33. Unit of measure
35. Soared aloft
36. Sink
37. Fat
38. Citrus fruit
41. Wharf
44. Place
46. Assam silkworm (var.)
43. Music note

1-17

Yesterday's Answer

1-17

Louis Kraar

Party Line

The intricate mechanism of student government was given a thorough oiling last Thursday night.

Wheels began rolling with the swearing in of 39 new legislators, a speech by Ham Horton and the introduction of eight bills. It was a smooth running session and, for a change, something was accomplished.

Wade Matthews (UP-SP) introduced a bill to "look into the possibilities" of unlimited excused cuts, and unlimited unexcused cuts when a C average is maintained. Although it may cover some politico's platform with rose petal covered planks, it's not the kind of bill that will really accomplish anything.

If the bill, which so generally states it will "look into the possibilities", was passed, it would do nothing. The administration would hardly consider the suggestion, and if they did, classrooms would be as empty as Y court on Sunday.

Students would not get those extra cuts. But it might glorify the party sponsoring the bill.

Other bills, more practical and a lot less ridiculous, were introduced by the same party, the Student Party. Among them were moves to consult the administration on the telephone situation in dorms, to see about soundproofing dorms and to amend the general elections law so sample packs of cigarettes would be included in candidates' expense accounts.

Perhaps a little more lubrication thru compromises will give Legislature the momentum that it deserves to have. The students are waiting.

POUNDING THE BEAT: Secretary-Treasurer Ed Gross (UP) taking time out from budget duties to speak to Gastonia high schoolers on the Honor System . . . Student Party partying at Watts in their annual wingding . . . University Party revamping steps underway with new chairman Walt McFal at the helm . . . SP's favorite son, Ken Penegar, fluently orating to Di fans . . . and the fight against Saturday classes is still on.

Chinese students in America are caught between two governments. Recently the United States government banned Chinese studants majoring in science and technology from leaving the country.

The law, passed to prevent American - trained Chinese students from being of service to Communist China, makes it impossible for many of the students to return to their famiies in their homeland. Some of the students don't want to return anyway, for they have heard that American-trained Chinese find life difficult in Red China. At the same time, these students know they will have trouble getting good jobs in America. Those with M.D.'s are refused permission to practice in most states. Result: many highly trained Chinese students are doing menial labor.

History instructors shouldn't wave their hats when the President of the United States drives by. That's what a University of Minnesota history instructor learned recently—from an FBI man at his elbow.

The instructor was standing by his car waiting for President Truman's car caravan to pass. When it did, the instructor smiled broadly and started to wave his hat.

Suddenly a "big, burly" FBI man stepped up and poked his elbow into his ribs—preventing him from raising his arm. The instructor backed away and started to wave again. Again the elbow.

By this time the President had passed. Said the instructor: "I'm hurt."

--New Tags--

(Continued from Page 1)

Many of the department's branch offices, which are staffed with personnel of the Carolina Motor Club, will be closed too, the commissioner stated.

Auto and truck registration normally tops the one million mark before the end of January according to registration officials. If sales continue as slowly as they have clerks will be unable to cope with the rush on the last day or two before 1952 plates become invalid.

Motorists driving with last year's tag on Feb. 1 will be violating the law, Commissioner Fisher declared.

"The President Of The United States"

John Gibson

PULQUE

Last fall the Republicans promised to reduce the vast and "unnecessary" expenditures made by the Democrats. They began this process of fiscal belt-tightening last Tuesday by holding the first million dollar inauguration in history. Doubtless they will continue in the same spirit. They have, after all, a 20 year record to beat, and there is no assurance they will have that much time to spend. (That's a pun, son.)

The Democratic plumber who is now secretary of labor is not the only stray in the Republican administration, though there are not many. A big shake-up has taken place in the government sign painting office A pre-election pro-Republican who turned out all those "It's Time for A change" jobs has been summarily canned, and the new chief is a Democrat who thought up all those "Don't Change Horses" and "Stick With What You've Got" slogans.

Last week I decided to take the bull by the horns, and went down town to get my copies of the 1952 tax forms, both state and federal. The national government has simplified things a great deal with the form 1040A, or is it 4010B? At any rate, the general principle of the thing is that you send the government all the money you made last year, and they send you back whatever they feel is yours.

Two new changes have been made in the 1951 return. First, the rate has been bumped up some 2%, and to off set that the name of the central office has been changed from Collector of Internal Revenue, to Director. Big deal.

But those state taxes, they really take the prize. North Carolina is a very progressive state. It has copied many good features of many other states. It has also adopted every single kind of tax ever made by any other state. There is the county tax on tangibles, and the state tax on intangibles. Whatever is left goes to the state gasoline taxes, unless it goes to the city taxes. And so on.

All this makes life very hard. For example, a student here at Carolina, Ray Newnam by name, was faced with a very important decision the other day. In flipping the quarter, he succeeded in plopping it in the only open drain pipe within 100 yards of where he was standing. Now, this is his problem. Does he deduct this two bits from his tax, and if so where? From schedule H, Business Expenses? (He lost it in the persuance of his duties as a student.) From schedule J, Contributions? (The twenty-five cents is now somewhat unwillingly the property of the University of North Carolina.) From schedule M, Other Deductions? (This is a catch-all category, and the drain pipe certainly rates as a catch-all.) Any one with the solution to this problem is encouraged to write in the answer. Address all letters to TAX, % of the Daily Tar Heel. Your information will be forwarded to the proper party. Ray can always be found at proper parties.

As for myself, I now find that had I not been in the blissful state of happy singleness last year, I would have saved about $99.00 on my federal income tax. Therefore, any young lady who can live on $95.00 per year (I would like to show a little profit) and would like to help remedy this situation is cordially invited to write to the author of this column. Address all replies to, SUCKER, % Daily Tar Heel.

A professor of sociology on campus was lecturing on the social customs and sex habits of a certain African tribe. Two young and flustered freshmen, unable to bear the embarrassment any longer, attempted to make an unnoticed exit. Just as they were about to leave, the professor, trying to hide a devilish grin, called after them, "Don't go now girls, the boat doesn't leave until Monday!"

Express Yourself

Editor:

Last Friday there appeared an article in The Daily Tar Heel, entitled "Making History." It stated that "even at UNC, the majority of historians or would-be-historians (instructors) fit into the stereotyped pattern," which had previously been defined as "a dried-up, absent-minded, bespectacled old gent who spends his life in musty old manuscripts and doesn't know what it is to watch the sun come up over the ocean." Why do historians fit this pattern? "I believe part of the answer is that historians as a group are the lousiest writers on the face of the earth." In support of this the author referred to an account of the Third Crusade, condemning its literary quality vigorously without naming its author or the title of his work. Further, the author of "Making History" cited an instance in which a professor had changed slang into literary expression on one of the author's term papers.

"Making History" is highly critical in its approach; it would seem only fair, then, for this letter to attempt to show another side to the matter.

First, the reasoning in "Making History" could be improved It does not necessarily follow that part of the reason that a man is ludicrous lies in the fact that he is a poor writer. If this were true, most of the human race would be laughed to scorn.

Secondly, the author's observations are incomplete and somewhat inaccurate, as well as biased. This is the heart of the matter, for it appears that the conclusions reached by the article are only rationales for introducing their supporting evidence.

Very possibly, for reasons that will appear presently, the author of "Making History" chose his passage about the Third Crusade from a textbook. Contrary to thought in some quarters, historians write other types of reading matter than texts, and when they sit to compose a text they are faced with many difficulties, not the least of which is abridgment. Most texts cover large spans of time; descriptive passages must therefore be cut to the barest essentials. But "Making History" deplores "dull naked facts." Such dissatisfaction would give heart to most any professor, for if the student can be moved to go outside the text for additional information, the professor has succeeded in one of his aims. And with practically no exceptions, any man, war, battle, religion, or philosophy mentioned in a text will be adequately treated in other works. Back to the matter of dull texts: some are not dull; Professor Beard has produced very readable texts, and Growth of the American Republic by Morison and Commager is interesting, to cite only three authors who have produced other than "dull naked facts" in text form.

The author complained that his choice of words was questioned by a professor in examining a term theme. Now slang and colloqualisms have their place in the language. They are the life blood of any live and growing language. But their value in a term paper is small. One of the purposes of such writing is to develop in the student the ability to communicate his thoughts to an audience of wide and varied background; he must learn to confine his choice of words to those whose meaning is clear to anyone who might read them, regardless of his age or locale, assuming only an above-average amount of formal education.

It would not be out of place at this point to mention the names of a few historians who have managed to combine readability with erudition and a use of the English language that even a grammarian could not criticise: Prescott: his story of the conquests of Peru and Mexico by the Spanish is a classic; Parkman: his account of the French in Canada is full of details of the personal lives of his characters; Macaulay: his history of England has a graphic description of the beheading of Charles I. These three are the greatest of a whole body of men, "the literary historians," who believe that history should be readable, and have made it such.

As to the stereotype of history professors: there is one thing that sets a professor off from his fellow mortals, and only one; otherwise professors have no other oddity or genius that can be detected by one who knows not that he gazes on a "prof": In almost all other fields men think in order to act; in teaching men think for the sake of thought alone. But this does not make them "rare birds." The present author knows professors who have such "regular" hobbies as photography, tennis, golf, farming. Most professors seem to enjoy life and living.

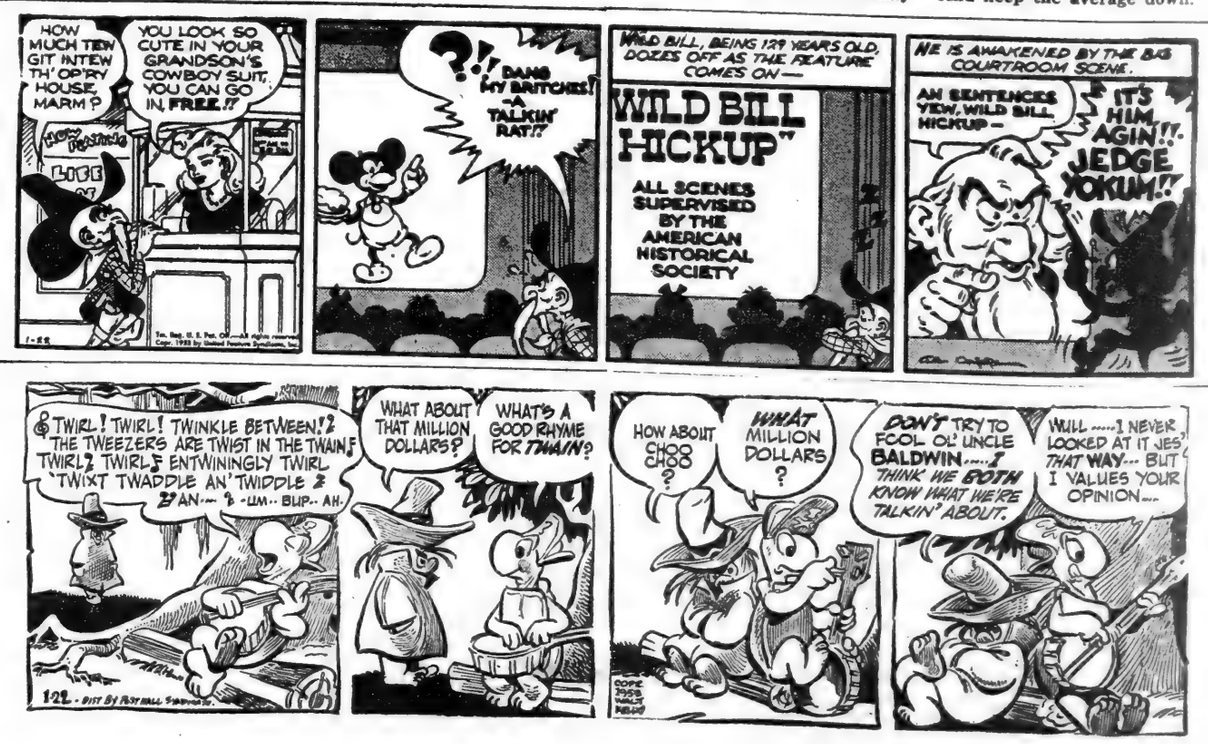
There are men and there are men. Some can write; some can't. Some can speak well; some can't Some are gregarious; some aren't. Professional historians are no exception, but most of them know a litte more about what has happened to the race in years gone by than other men, and most can pass this knowledge along. As long as people ask questions about the past, there will be historians to answer them, and survival of the fittest will eliminate those who are uninformed. Those who are informed but uninteresting will find popularizers. Take heart, ye citizens! Rigor mortis and historians have not joined forces, foul villains to the contrary!

D. Allen Stokes, Jr.

Other Campuses

Students go to college 14 days out of every year, according to the Southeastern at Southeastern State College, Oklahoma. Here's how the paper figures it:

Out of 365 days a student sleeps away a third of this—8 hours a day. This leaves 243 days. Then there are 52 Sundays. Take at least half an hour per day for lunch and three months for summer vacation.



This leaves 91 days.

Now subtract 52 Saturdays, a couple of weeks for Christmas vacation; throw in spring vacation and the Thanksgiving weekend. We're left with two weeks of school each year.

Scholastic Goal

From the Varsity News, University of Detroit:

I serve a purpose in this school
On which no man can frown—
I quietly sit in every class
And keep the average down.

U N C LIBRARY

Win Over Deacs Gives Tar Heels SC Lead Again

Down In Front

by Biff Roberts

WELCOME BACK, LITTLE SHEBA

CAROLINA BASKETBALL CAME back home to stay Tuesday night. For the past three years the sport has been the dis-owned daughter of the UNC athletic family. In fact, for the past two years she has been barred from the Southern Conference tournament door because of infidelity in basketball courting. Her reputation fell to the bottom of the hoop. Carolina fans moaned her misconduct.

Then right before she was to go into her fourth year of disgrace she snared a new beau, one Frank McGuire. He coaxed her along for months, made her give up old degrading ways, and then presented her to the family once again for approval. At first she was received by doubting eyes. Not until she continued to win did her family make the step to take her back in. Her courting conduct was a complete reversal over her previous actions, and many people claimed her as a woman changed. But there were also those who doubted the calibre of the crowd she had been playing around with. Pretty weak sisters they thought. And perhaps they were right.

But Tuesday night she erased any doubt about her new conduct. When the Tar Heels beat Wake Forest, 72-68, all Carolina supporters were ready to take her back in the fold. She's back to stay now.

A JOB WELL DONE

THE BEATING OF WAKE FOREST was an accomplishment in itself, but when you consider how it was done, the feat is even more amazing. At one point in the game Carolina was behind by 17 points, 33-16. Even at half-time the Deacons were 11 points up. The come-back, carried on in the third and early part of the fourth period, was as great a job as you can ever expect to see.

The Deacons had every reason to beat us. They were leading the Southern Conference with a 6-0 record going into the game and had two of those victories over N. C. State and Duke. They had the two top scorers in the Big Five in Dickie Hemric and Jack Williams. There was some doubt on our side that little Vinnie Grimaldi would be able to play at peak efficiency because of an injured shoulder. The odds seemed definitely in Wake's favor.

After the first quarter the odds were all in Wake's favor. The Carolina team was the best cooling system in the over-hot Woollen Gym. The Tar Heels came out of the quarter with nine points, the Deacons had 21. The second quarter looked like more of the first during the opening minutes but when McGuire inserted some of his reserves into the lineup things took a slight change to the right. We closed that gigantic 17-point gap to 11 by halftime. But people still had no idea of what was coming.

A JOY FOREVER

THAT DRIVE IN THE THIRD quarter was a thing of beauty. You can't say that it was any one man that brought us through. Paul Likins played the best game he has ever played in a Carolina uniform when he held Dickie Hemric, the holder of a 24-point per game average before game time, to 15 points, five of them on free throws. Bud Maddie had a hand in holding Hemric, too, and with Likins outdid Hemric and Black Jack Williams in keeping the boards cleaned. Grimaldi again did a great job as quarterback for the team. His ability to dribble the ball was an important factor in our late-game freeze. In the final minutes when it looked as if the Deacs were coming back and Maddie and Likins were both out, things looked bad. But then Grimaldi got off the bench after re-injuring his shoulder and most Tar Heels knew we would hold it.

Jerry Vayda, McGuire's freshman find, took the scoring honors with 15 and also did a good job on the boards. A new gunner, Tony Radavich, a freshman who entered this quarter, added his bit, too. He seems to have a good pair of hands and a good shooting eye. He made one tip in that Hemric had a chance to grab and also looked good on a two-hand jump shot from the corner. Bob Phillips and Gene Glancey added a steady influence to the riotous atmosphere, especially in the final minutes of controlling the ball. Glancey's free-throwing gave us our final point and killed any chance of any more Wake Forest scoring.

ON OFFICIATING

IT WAS TRULY A GREAT game—marred only by loose officiating. The near riot which resulted from a tussle between Vayda and Al DePorter could easily have been avoided. In the first quarter when we were having a hard enough time finding the basket, it seemed to the partisan Carolina fan that the officials were trying to give the game to the Deacons. But then as the game went on you could spot as many bad calls going against Wake Forest. The officiating Tuesday night, to put it in the terms of the end-zone fanatic, was for the birds. Lou Bello (or Bellow, if you prefer) can usually be counted on to call a good game. But Tuesday night even he missed a lot of them. His cohorts, Dalton Williams, doesn't hold Lou's reputation, however, and has been cussed many times before.

You can't have loose officiating when two Big Four teams get together. The rivalry is too great and, as was the case in this game, the players are going to get away with anything they can. The players saw that the officials were calling them loosely and played the game accordingly. It reached a peak when DePorter threw a block into Vayda. Vayda in turn hit him with the ball and the whole game was almost ruined.

A CHANGE OF PACE

YOU GET A LOT OF ANSWERS on how to improve officiating but it seems to me that the best thing would be to import officials for big games. On games played in the Big Four it seems that it would be worth the extra effort and expense to bring them in from the outside, say Washington or New York. Any slight bit of partiality, whether expressed or felt by a referee can send a Big Four game into a riot—as evidenced by Tuesday night's fiasco. The rivalry is too keen for the loose calling we had then.

But barring the officiating and the extra rough play, the game showed that we're back where we ought to be in Southern Conference basketball. We've still got some tough ones to go, especially with State College at Raleigh Saturday. We will be expected to lose that one and it will certainly be tough to make it go any other way. But when you win games like we did Tuesday night then you know you're on the way. We'll lose a few more this season, but we're definitely in the Conference tournament. The Carolina victory garden has been a barren waste during these past few years. It's good to see a change in the weather.

Need Victory On Saturday To Hold Spot

Carolina's rampaging Tar Heels grabbed the Southern Conference lead again Tuesday night by edging past a hard-playing crew from Wake Forest, 72-68.

The Tar Heels, with the exception of a brief tenure by the Deacons, have occupied the leading position for the entire season. Frank McGuire's team jumped into the lead during the first week of action, and with the lone exception, have held it ever since.

At the current time, Wake Forest has slumped to fourth place in the conference standings behind the Tar Heels. N. C. State moved into second as Wake fell, while Maryland's Terrapins hold the third best record. The Terps are the only team that has dumped the Tar Heels in league play thus far this season, edging Carolina 68-66 last Saturday night in College Park.

Tough Time

The leaders had a tough time on their hands in dropping the hard playing Deacs, having to stage a long-shot comeback in the second half to take the victory. Wake Forest grabbed a quick lead in the contest and led 37-26 at halftime, but the pace-setting Tar Heels came back to go ahead a few seconds after the fourth quarter opened.

At this stage of the season, the teams are shaping up rapidly for the conference tournament March 5-7 in Raleigh. North Carolina, N. C. State, Maryland, Wake Forest, George Washington, Furman, West Virginia, and Richmond have just about assured themselves of berths in the post-season affair.

Carolina currently has a 10-1 mark, with ten more games to play against conference competition. Included in this list are two games with State, two with Duke, one with Wake Forest, and one with Richmond. The remainder of the schedule is with second division teams. There is only an outside chance that the Tar Heels will not make the tourney after a two year's absence.

Strong Test

Carolina will have its strongest test of the season Saturday night when it travels over to Raleigh for a game with the State Wolfpack. The Pack, ranked eighth in the national standings this week, have beaten Carolina each time that the two schools have met during the last six years.

This will be the first meeting between coaches Everett Case of State and Frank McGuire since the latter took over at Carolina. McGuire came to Chapel Hill this year from St. John's of Brooklyn, replacing Tom Scott. Case ruled supreme over Scott in their meetings, winning every game in which the two coaches met. However, McGuire was recently quoted as saying that Case has been ahead of Carolina for seven years, but that the Tar Heels would catch up with him one of these days.

On N. C. State

Speaking of N. C. State, the Wolfpack is virtually a shoo-in for the tourney and a good choice to repeat as champions of the conference, a position that they have held for the past six years. State does not have any games that could stand in doubt other than the two contests slated with Carolina, and home matches with Wake Forest and Duke.

Wake Forest has been the club to defeat the State cagers so far this season, and could give them a rough time in Raleigh. Led by Mel Thompson, Bobby Speight, and Dave Gotkin, the Wolfpack has racked up a loop record of eight wins and one loss this season.

Wake Forest has a tough schedule for the remainder of the season, but is expected to come through with a good enough average for the Raleigh affair. The Deacons have games left with State, Carolina, Duke, George Washington, and William and Mary that could give them plenty of trouble. Wake Forest has a 6-1 mark at the present time.

Maryland is currently in third place with a 7-1 record, with their only loss at the hands of Carolina. Frank Selvy, the loop's high scorer, is a good bet to land his teammates at Furman into the championship playoffs. George Washington, loser to State twice this season, and West Virginia, always a strong contender for conference and national honors, are likely bets also.

JACK WALLACE
. . co-captain Tar Heels back into SC lead

VINCE GRIMALDI

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Riots Trouble Others; Bevo Gets Held To 38

TROY, Ohio—A near riot resulted here night-before-last when the cagers from Cedarville College used some unusual stalling tactics to hamper the activities of Clarence (Bevo) Francis, Rio Grande College's phenomenal scoring ace. After a group stormed the box office in the first half demanding their money back, things settled down and Rio Grande went on to take a 66-29 win. The main victim of the outburst was Francis who was held to a mere 38 points for the night, well under his 50-point per game average.

★

PHILADELPHIA—Now that Gil Turner has defeated Bobby Dykes, the 22 year old Philadelphia welterweight thinks he is ready for another crack at champion Kid Gavilan. Turner hopes to not only capture the welter crown, but also avenge an earlier loss to Cuban Gavilan. Gavilan will first have to dispose of Chuck Davey, before Turner's hopes can be realized.

★

WAKE FOREST—Sonny George, a 185 pound quarterback from Brunswick, Ga., has been chosen to captain the 1953 Wake Forest football team. George was the high scorer for the Deacons as a Junior this past season with 48 points. He was also the second ranking passer in the Southern Conference. George succeeds All-Southern end Jack Lewis as captain of the Deacs.

★

MELBOURNE—Australia's John Landy, fastest known miler in the world today, will be out to capture the elusive four minute mile when he runs in the Australian Championship Meet at Perth, West Australia Saturday. Landy, an agricultural student set a world record for the mile run for active runners when he made it in four minutes and 2.1 seconds on December 13. He is considered to be the best prospect for a four minute performance. This time has eluded such great runners as Gunder Haag, Glenn Cunningham, and Gil Dodds in the past.

★

PHILADELPHIA—Bob Bickel, a former defensive halfback for Duke's Blue Devils, has signed to play for the Philadelphia Eagles in 1953. Bickel briefly played with the New York Giants. He was seected the most valuable player on the 1951 Blue Devil squad.

Wolfpack Practices Hard For Game Against Carolina

RALEIGH, Jan. 21—N. C. State head basketball coach Everett Case began bearing down on his Wolfpack today in preparation for Saturday night's contest with North Carolina, the number one team in the Southern Conference.

State's only Conference loss this season was to Wake Forest, and a win over the Tar Heels Saturday will probably put the Wolfpack in first place for the first time this year.

Bobby Speight, co-captain forward of State, led the Wolfpack in the practice along with his running mate and the other co-captain, Bill Kukoy. Kukoy and star guard Dave Gotkin were in the hospital with flu last week, but they saw limited action against Gearge Washington Saturday night, and will be in top shape for the game with Carolina.

Coach Case was much impressed with Carolina's victory over Wake Forest yesterday, and he told his team that the Tar Heels will be tougher this year than they have been in seven seasons.

MURALS

Today's Basketball

4:00—court 1, Sig Chi 1 vs. Phi Gam 2; court 2, Phi Delt 3 vs. Sig Nu 3; court 3, Law School 3 vs. Ruffin 1; court 4, Theta Chi 2 vs. ATO 2; court 5, Manley vs. BVP 2; court 6, Kap Sig 2 vs. Pi Kap Phi 2; court 7, Victory Village vs. Law School 1.

5:00—court 1, Beta 2 vs. Kap Psi 1; court 2, Pika 2 vs. Old East; court 3, BVP 1 vs. Old East; court 4, Sig Chi 4 vs. KA 1; court 5, Sig Chi 2 vs. Beta 3; court 6, SAE 3 vs. ATO 1: Zete 4 vs. PiKa 1.

7:00—court 1, ZBT 1 vs. PiKa 3; court 2, Zete 1 vs. SPE 1; court 3, Sig Chi 3 vs. Pi Kap Phi 1; court 4, Sig Nu 1 vs. Chi Psi 3; court 5, Phi Delt 2 vs. SPE 2; court 6, SAE 2 vs. KA 2; court 7, Lewis 2 vs. Med School 1.

8:00—court 1, Chi Phi 2 vs. ATO 3; court 2, Phi Delt Chi 2 vs. DKE 1; court 3, Phi Kap Sig 2 vs. DKE 2; court 4, Phi Delt Chi 1 vs. AK Psi; court 5, Alexander 2 vs. Grimes 1; court 6, Aycock vs. Joyner 3; court 7, Med School 4 vs. Cobb 4.

Today's Table Tennis

4:00—KA 1 vs. SPE 2: 4:30, SPE 3 vs. Beta 2; 5:00, Kap Sig 3 vs. Phi Delt 1: 5:30, Phi Kap Sig 1 vs. Delta Psi.

7:00—Beta 1 vs. ATO 3; 7:30, Pi Lamb vs. DKE 2; 8:00, Zeta Psi 1 vs. Pi Kap Phi 2.

8:30—ZBT 1 vs. Phi Gam 5.

Monogramers

The Monogram Club will meet in the Club room tonight at 7:15 to elect officers for the winter and spring quarters.

President Bob Phillips asked yesterday that all members be present for the elections.

See Friday's Tar Heel For The News of Our Annual Madness

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. FRANKLIN ST.
OPEN EVENINGS

Monroe Kinds presents
REX HARRISON
MERLE OBERON
"OVER THE MOON"
In Technicolor

T-O-D-A-Y
—ONLY—
Varsity

ICE CAPADES OF 1953
THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE
Mail order for tickets
COLISEUM IN RALEIGH
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
N. C. State College—P. O. Box 9905
RALEIGH, N. C.
Children ½ Price Friday Matinee Only
Mon. Eve. Feb. 16 – ☐
Tue. Eve. Feb. 17 – ☐
Wed. Eve. Feb. 18 – ☐
Thur. Eve. Feb. 19 – ☐
Fri. Mat. Feb. 20 – ☐
Fri. Eve. Feb. 20 – ☐
Sat. Mat. Feb. 21 – ☐
Sat. Eve. Feb. 21 – ☐
Enclosed is $_____ for _____ tickets at $_____ each
Price: $3.00 $2.50 $2.00 $1.50
Name _____ Address _____
City _____ State _____ Phone No. _____
PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS

Prepare Now!

. . . to be more popular at your next party
See how much better you'll dance after a few private lessons at Arthur Murray's
Arthur Murray
104¼ Morris St.—Ph. 2-7872
Studios Air Conditioned

When It Comes To Good Fod,
Everyone Comes To Us.
Join the crowd and bring your date, your family, and your friends out for a delicious meal cooked to perfection and served graciously.
THE PINES
Raleigh Road
Phone 9-5539

Win Over Deacs Gives Tar Heels SC Lead Again

Down In Front

by Biff Roberts

WELCOME BACK, LITTLE SHEBA

CAROLINA BASKETBALL CAME back home to stay Tuesday night. For the past three years the sport has been the dis-owned daughter of the UNC athletic family. In fact, for the past two years she has been barred from the Southern Conference tournament door because of infidelity in basketball courting. Her reputation fell to the bottom of the hoop. Carolina fans moaned her misconduct.

Then right before she was to go into her fourth year of disgrace she snared a new beau, one Frank McGuire. He coaxed her along for months, made her give up old degrading ways, and then presented her to the family once again for approval. At first she was received by doubting eyes. Not until she continued to win did her family make the step to take her back in. Her courting conduct was a complete reversal over her previous actions, and many people claimed her as a woman changed. But there were also those who doubted the calibre of the crowd she had been playing around with. Pretty weak sisters they thought. And perhaps they were right.

But Tuesday night she erased any doubt about her new conduct. When the Tar Heels beat Wake Forest, 72-68, all Carolina supporters were ready to take her back in the fold. She's back to stay now.

A JOB WELL DONE

THE BEATING OF WAKE FOREST was an accomplishment in itself, but when you consider how it was done, the feat is even more amazing. At one point in the game Carolina was behind by 17 points, 33-16. Even at half-time the Deacons were 11 points up. The come-back, carried on in the third and early part of the fourth period, was as great a job as you can ever expect to see.

The Deacons had every reason to beat us. They were leading the Southern Conference with a 6-0 record going into the game and had two of those victories over N. C. State and Duke. They had the two top scorers in the Big Five in Dickie Hemric and Jack Williams. There was some doubt on our side that little Vinnie Grimaldi would be able to play at peak efficiency because of an injured shoulder. The odds seemed definitely in Wake's favor.

After the first quarter the odds were all in Wake's favor. The Carolina team was the best cooling system in the over-hot Woollen Gym. The Tar Heels came out of the quarter with nine points, the Deacons had 21. The second quarter looked like more of the first during the opening minutes but when McGuire inserted some of his reserves into the lineup things took a slight change to the right. We closed that gigantic 17-point gap to 11 by halftime. But people still had no idea of what was coming.

A JOY FOREVER

THAT DRIVE IN THE THIRD quarter was a thing of beauty. You can't say that it was any one man that brought us through. Paul Likins played the best game he has ever played in a Carolina uniform when he held Dickie Hemric, the holder of a 24-point per game average before game time, to 15 points, five of them on free throws. Bud Maddie had a hand in holding Hemric, too, and with Likins outdid Hemric and Black Jack Williams in keeping the boards cleaned. Grimaldi again did a great job as quarterback for the team. His ability to dribble the ball was an important factor in our late-game freeze. In the final minutes when it looked as if the Deacs were coming back and Maddie and Likins were both out, things looked bad. But then Grimaldi got off the bench after re-injuring his shoulder and most Tar Heels knew we would hold it.

Jerry Vayda, McGuire's freshman find, took the scoring honors with 15 and also did a good job on the boards. A new gunner, Tony Radavich, a freshman who entered this quarter, added his bit, too. He seems to have a good pair of hands and a good shooting eye. He made one tip in that Hemric had a chance to grab and also looked good on a two-hand jump shot from the corner. Bob Phillips and Gene Glancey added a steady influence to the riotous atmosphere, especially in the final minutes of controlling the ball. Glancey's free-throwing gave us our final point and killed any chance of any more Wake Forest scoring.

ON OFFICIATING

IT WAS TRULY A GREAT game—marred only by loose officiating. The near riot which resulted from a tussle between Vayda and Al DePorter could easily have been avoided. In the first quarter when we were having a hard enough time finding the basket, it seemed to the partisan Carolina fan that the officials were trying to give the game to the Deacons. But then as the game went on you could spot as many bad calls going against Wake Forest. The officiating Tuesday night, to put it in the terms of the end-zone fanatic, was for the birds. Lou Bello (or Bellow, if you prefer) can usually be counted on to call a good game. But Tuesday night even he missed a lot of them. His cohorts, Dalton Williams, doesn't hold Lou's reputation, however, and has been cussed many times before.

You can't have loose officiating when two Big Four teams get together. The rivalry is too great and, as was the case in this game, the players are going to get away with anything they can. The players saw that the officials were calling them loosely and played the game accordingly. It reached a peak when DePorter threw a block into Vayda. Vayda in turn hit him with the ball and the whole game was almost ruined.

A CHANGE OF PACE

YOU GET A LOT OF ANSWERS on how to improve officiating but it seems to me that the best thing would be to import officials for big games. On games played in the Big Four it seems that it would be worth the extra effort and expense to bring them in from the outside, say Washington or New York. Any slight bit of partiality, whether expressed or felt by a referee can send a Big Four game into a riot—as evidenced by Tuesday night's fiasco. The rivalry is too keen for the loose calling we had then.

But barring the officiating and the extra rough play, the game showed that we're back where we ought to be in Southern Conference basketball. We've still got some tough ones to go, especially with State College at Raleigh Saturday. We will be expected to lose that one and it will certainly be tough to make it go any other way. But when you win games like we did Tuesday night then you know you're on the way. We'll lose a few more this season, but we're definitely in the Conference tournament. The Carolina victory garden has been a barren waste during these past few years. It's good to see a change in the weather.

Need Victory On Saturday To Hold Spot

Carolina's rampaging Tar Heels grabbed the Southern Conference lead again Tuesday night by edging past a hard-playing crew from Wake Forest, 72-68.

The Tar Heels, with the exception of a brief tenure by the Deacons, have occupied the leading position for the entire season. Frank McGuire's team jumped into the lead during the first week of action, and with the lone exception, have held it ever since.

At the current time, Wake Forest has slumped to fourth place in the conference standings behind the Tar Heels. N. C. State moved into second as Wake fell, while Maryland's Terrapins hold the third best record. The Terps are the only team that has dumped the Tar Heels in league play thus far this season, edging Carolina 68-66 last Saturday night in College Park.

Tough Time

The leaders had a tough time on their hands in dropping the hard playing Deacs, having to stage a long-shot comeback in the second half to take the victory. Wake Forest grabbed a quick lead in the contest and led 37-26 at halftime, but the pace-setting Tar Heels came back to go ahead a few seconds after the fourth quarter opened.

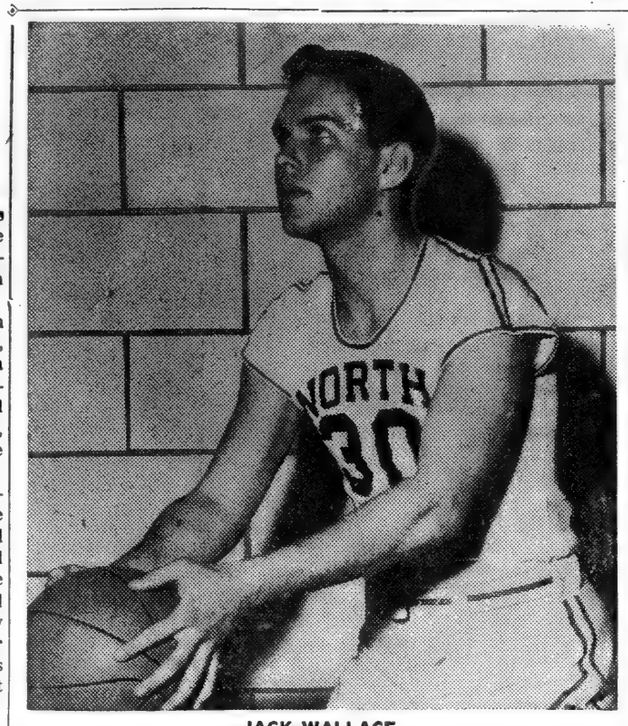
At this stage of the season, the teams are shaping up rapidly for the conference tournament March 5-7 in Raleigh. North Carolina, N. C. State, Maryland, Wake Forest, George Washington, Furman, West Virginia, and Richmond have just about assured themselves of berths in the post-season affair.

Carolina currently has a 10-1 mark, with ten more games to play against conference competition. Included in this list are two games with State, two with Duke, one with Wake Forest, and one with Richmond. The remainder of the schedule is with second division teams. There is only an outside chance that the Tar Heels will not make the tourney after a two year's absence.

Strong Test

Carolina will have its strongest test of the season Saturday night when it travels over to Raleigh for a game with the State Wolfpack. The Pack, ranked eighth in the national standings this week, have beaten Carolina each time that the two schools have met during the last six years.

This will be the first meeting between coaches Everett Case of State and Frank McGuire since the latter took over at Carolina. McGuire came to Chapel Hill this year from St. John's of Brooklyn, replacing Tom Scott. Case ruled supreme over Scott in their meetings, winning every game in which the two coaches met. However, McGuire was recently quoted as saying that Case has been ahead of Carolina for seven years, but that the Tar Heels would catch up with him one of these days.



On N. C. State

Speaking of N. C. State, the Wolfpack is virtually a shoo-in for the tourney and a good choice to repeat as champions of the conference, a position that they have held for the past six years. State does not have any games that could stand in doubt other than the two contests slated with Carolina, and home matches with Wake Forest and Duke.

Wake Forest has been the club to defeat the State cagers so far this season, and could give them a rough time in Raleigh. Led by Mel Thompson, Bobby Speight, and Dave Gotkin, the Wolfpack has racked up a loop record of eight wins and one loss this season.

Wake Forest has a tough schedule for the remainder of the season, but is expected to come through with a good enough average for the Raleigh affair. The Deacons have games left with State, Carolina, Duke, George Washington, and William and Mary that could give them plenty of trouble. Wake Forest has a 6-1 mark at the present time.

Maryland is currently in third place with a 7-1 record, with their only loss at the hands of Carolina. Frank Selvy, the loop's high scorer, is a good bet to land his teammates at Furman into the championship playoffs. George Washington, loser to State twice this season, and West Virginia, always a strong contender for conference and national honors, are likely bets also.

JACK WALLACE
. . . co-captain Tar Heels back into SC lead

VINCE GRIMALDI

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Riots Trouble Others; Bevo Gets Held To 38

TROY, Ohio—A near riot resulted here night-before-last when the cagers from Cedarville College used some unusual stalling tactics to hamper the activities of Clarence (Bevo) Francis, Rio Grande College's phenomenal scoring ace. After a group stormed the box office in the first half demanding their money back, things settled down and Rio Grande went on to take a 66-29 win. The main victim of the outburst was Francis who was held to a mere 38 points for the night, well under his 50-point per game average.

★

PHILADELPHIA—Now that Gil Turner has defeated Bobby Dykes, the 22 year old Philadelphia welterweight thinks he is ready for another crack at champion Kid Gavilan. Turner hopes to not only capture the welter crown, but also avenge an earlier loss to Cuban Gavilan. Gavilan will first have to dispose of Chuck Davey, before Turner's hopes can be realized.

★

WAKE FOREST—Sonny George, a 185 pound quarterback from Brunswick, Ga., has been chosen to captain the 1953 Wake Forest football team. George was the high scorer for the Deacons as a Junior this past season with 48 points. He was also the second ranking passer in the Southern Conference. George succeeds All-Southern end Jack Lewis as captain of the Deacs.

★

MELBOURNE—Australia's John Landy, fastest known miler in the world today, will be out to capture the elusive four minute mile when he runs in the Australian Championship Meet at Perth, West Australia Saturday. Landy, an agricultural student set a world record for the mile run for active runners when he made it in four minutes and 2.1 seconds on December 13. He is considered to be the best prospect for a four minute performance. This time has eluded such great runners as Gunder Haag, Glenn Cunningham, and Gil Dodds in the past.

★

PHILADELPHIA—Bob Bickel, a former defensive halfback for Duke's Blue Devils, has signed to play for the Philadelphia Eagles in 1953. Bickel briefly played with the New York Giants. He was seected the most valuable player on the 1951 Blue Devil squad.

Wolfpack Practices Hard For Game Against Carolina

RALEIGH, Jan. 21—N. C. State head basketball coach Everett Case began bearing down on his Wolfpack today in preparation for Saturday night's contest with North Carolina, the number one team in the Southern Conference.

State's only Conference loss this season was to Wake Forest, and a win over the Tar Heels Saturday will probably put the Wolfpack in first place for the first time this year.

Bobby Speight, co-captain forward of State, led the Wolfpack in the practice along with his running mate and the other co-captain, Bill Kukoy. Kukoy and star guard Dave Gotkin were in the hospital with flu last week, but they saw limited action against Gearge Washington Saturday night, and will be in top shape for the game with Carolina.

Coach Case was much impressed with Carolina's victory over Wake Forest yesterday, and he told his team that the Tar Heels will be tougher this year than they have been in seven seasons.

MURALS

Today's Basketball

4:00—court 1, Sig Chi 1 vs. Phi Gam 2; court 2, Phi Delt 3 vs. Sig Nu 3; court 3, Law School 3 vs. Ruffin 1; court 4, Theta Chi 2 vs. ATO 2; court 5, Manley vs. BVP 2; court 6, Kap Sig 2 vs. Pi Kap Phi 2; court 7, Victory Village vs. Law School 1.

5:00—court 1, Beta 2 vs. Kap Psi 1; court 2, Pika 2 vs. Old East; court 3, BVP 1 vs. Old East; court 4, Sig Chi 4 vs. KA 1; court 5, Sig Chi 2 vs. Beta 3; court 6, SAE 3 vs. ATO 1; Zete 4 vs. PiKa 1.

7:00—court 1, ZBT 1 vs. PiKa 3; court 2, Zete 1 vs. SPE 1; court 3, Sig Chi 3 vs. Pi Kap Phi 1; court 4, Sig Nu 1 vs. Chi Psi 3; court 5, Phi Delt 2 vs. SPE 2; court 6, SAE 2 vs. KA 2; court 7, Lewis 2 vs. Med School 1.

8:00—court 1, Chi Phi 2 vs. ATO 3; court 2, Phi Delt Chi 2 vs. DKE 1; court 3, Phi Kap Sig 2 vs. DKE 2; court 4, Phi Delt Chi 1 vs. AK Psi; court 5, Alexander 2 vs. Grimes 1; court 6, Aycock vs. Joyner 3; court 7, Med School 4 vs. Cobb 4.

Today's Table Tennis

4:00—KA 1 vs. SPE 2; 4:30, SPE 3 vs. Beta 2; 5:00, Kap Sig 3 vs. Phi Delt 1; 5:30, Phi Kap Sig 1 vs. Delta Psi.

7:00—Beta 1 vs. ATO 3; 7:30, Pi Lamb vs. DKE 2; 8:00, Zeta Psi 1 vs. Pi Kap Phi 2.

8:30—ZBT 1 vs. Phi Gam 5.

Monogramers

The Monogram Club will meet in the Club room tonight at 7:15 to elect officers for the winter and spring quarters.

President Bob Phillips asked yesterday that all members be present for the elections.

See Friday's Tar Heel For The News of Our Annual Madness

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. FRANKLIN ST.
OPEN EVENINGS

Alexander Korda presents
REX HARRISON
MERLE OBERON
"OVER THE MOON"
in Technicolor

T-O-D-A-Y
—ONLY—
Varsity

Prepare Now!
. . . to be more popular at your next party
See how much better you'll dance after a few private lessons at Arthur Murray's
Arthur Murray
104¼ Morris St.—Ph. 2-7872
Studios Air Conditioned

ICE CAPADES OF 1953
THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE
Mail order for tickets
COLISEUM IN RALEIGH
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
N. C. State College—P. O. Box 5965
RALEIGH, N. C.
Children ½ Price Friday Matinee Only
Mon. Eve. Feb. 16 – ☐
Tue. Eve. Feb. 17 – ☐
Wed. Eve. Feb. 18 – ☐
Thur. Eve. Feb. 19 – ☐
Fri. Mat. Feb. 20 – ☐
Fri. Eve. Feb. 20 – ☐
Sat. Mat. Feb. 21 – ☐
Sat. Eve. Feb. 21 – ☐
Enclosed is $ ____ for ____ tickets at $ ____ each
Prices: $3.00 $2.50 $2.00 $1.50
Name ____ Address ____
City ____ State ____ Phone No. ____
PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS

When It Comes To Good Fod,
Everyone Comes To Us.
Join the crowd and bring your date, your family, and your friends out for a delicious meal cooked to perfection and served graciously.
THE PINES
Raleigh Road Phone 9-5539

Backward Lands Want Vital Aid, Not Luxuries

(Continued from page 1)

income tax in that it hits the higher wage brackets heaviest. The British have gone so far, however, as to limit the amount of money a person can earn in one year—6,000 pounds or approximately $16,800.

The great losses suffered in Africa, India, Malaya and Iran, he pointed out, have had a drastic effect on the economy and social conditions of crowded England, which has never been self-providing.

This series of breaks with the West is an emotional factor which continues to spread, he said, and he feels that Russia's retreat behind the Iron Curtain is further evidence of that fact. And there are ominous signs of more trouble to come, he said. In Kenya, for instance, where there is an underground revolt against the white man and all his wares, including the church.

"It is our duty," said the Chancellor, "to help backward countries all we can," but he added we must get away from the idea that our way is The Way. On this point he takes issue with the United Nation's Declaration of Human Rights as "unrealistic."

The policy of a "Frigidaire in every igloo, holidays with pay, insurance against sickness" is not the answer. Not luxuries but assistance in the basic needs of survival is what these pepole want, according to the Chancellor.

When asked about the attitude of Britishers toward the stalemate in Korea, he said "the degree of frustration over the Korean War is very much the same as it is here."

CHIANG KAI-SHEK
. . . he missed his chance

"In moments of temper," he continued, "the English might be tempted to say America involved us, but they know that is not true. We are all in a tight spot."

It is the Chancellor's opinion that the tension in the Far East would be considerably eased if the island of Formosa were taken out from under our protection. "Chiang Kai-Shek had his chance and missed it," he said. The position on Formosa, he concluded, gives the Russians a wonderful opportunity to increase feeling against the West by pointing out the constant threat of an invasion of the China mainland.

What Goes On Here

SUAB Calendar Deadline

The deadline for information for the February issue of the SUAB Calendar is 1 o'clock Monday. Information can be sent to Box 30, called in to 5641, SUAB office, or brought in. All organizations are asked to get information in early.

★

Handbook Staff

Applications for the staff of the Carolina Handbook including editor and business manager will remain open until tomorrow. Those interested should pick up application blanks at the Y office this week.

★

Semper Fidelis

The Semper Fidelis Society will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Naval Armory.

★

SUAB Restaffing Meeting

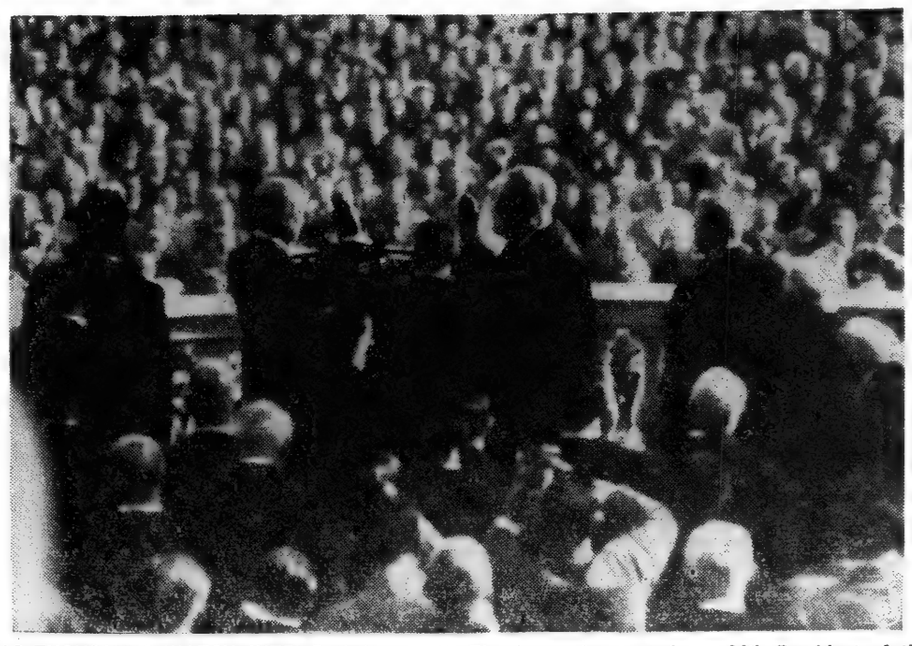
Anyone interested in working on any committee of the Student Union Activities Board is invited to come to the general restaffing meeting in the Roland Parker Lounge in Graham Memorial today at 4:30.

★

Pharmacy Wives Meeting

There will be a meeting fo the Pharmacy Wives tonight at the Institute of Pharmacy at 8 o'clock. Guest for the evening will be Mrs. Bonnie Drumm who will give the second in a series of instructions to beginners in bridge.

★



WUNC Program Schedule

7 p.m. Sketches in Melody.
7:30 Let There be Light, "Old First Church."
7:45 English Cathedral Music.
8 Endless Frontier, "Only One to a Customer."
8:30 Man and the Universe, "Building Blocks of the Universe".
8:45 Report from Europe.
9 Matters of Notes.
10 Local news and coming Events.
10:05 Evening Masterwork.
10:45 Sign off.

★

Dental Dames Society

Dr. Deborah Leary of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, who was scheduled to speak at the Dental Dames Society last Tuesday, will speak instead on Tuesday, Jan. 27 at 8 p.m. in the Assembly Exhibition Room in the Library.

AS THOUSANDS WATCH INTENTLY, Dwight D. Eisenhower is sworn in as 34th President of the United States during ceremonies on the Capitol steps. Supreme Court Chief Justice Fred Vinson administers the oath of office.—NEA Telephoto.

Box To Give Lecture Here On Statistics

"The Experimental Determination of an Optimum" will be the subject of a talk before the Statistics Colloquium at Chapel Hill Monday by George E. P. Box.

Box, internationally known for his contributions to mathematical statistics and the techniques of designing experiments, has been associated with Imperial Chemical Industries at its Manchester research laboratory. He is a graduate of the University of London and a holder of the British Empire Medal awarded for his scientific contributions toward winning the war.

The meeting will be in Room 206 Phillips Hall at 4 o'clock.

Two Pledges Bum From NJ To Carolina

Two exhausted pledges from Beta Xi Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity at Rider College in New Jersey knocked on the Delta Sig door here recently.

Their's was an initiation tale of woe. In 24 hours the pledges had been in and out of 21 cars in their attempt to reach Chapel Hill by bumming rides.

Six of these rides were necessary to get out of New Jersey—a 60 mile trip. Baltimore brought them snow, Washington contributed rain and sleet, and Richmond, fog.

After a two-hour rest, they set out on the long trip back to Trenton. They had received only one consolation—they were not sent to Boston where two of their buddies ran into a five-foot snow.

Noted Scientist Coming

The North Carolina Chapter of the Society of Sigma Xi is sponsoring a public lecture in Wilson Hall in Chapel Hill Monday at 8 p.m. by George Glockler, chairman of the Department of Chemistry of the State University of Iowa.

He will speak on the subject "Originality and Simultaneity of Human Thought." Prof. Glockler is on temporary leave from the University of Iowa while serving as director of the Chemical Sciences Division of the U. S. Army Office of Ordinance Research at Durham. A distinguished scientist in the field of theoretical chemistry, he possesses unusual ability in making scientific topics clear to the layman.

His book, "Chemistry in Our Time," written in collaboration with his wife, has been widely acclaimed. He has had notable success in presenting a series of popular lectures on atomic and nuclear structure in various towns and cities in Iowa.

Dr. Glockler has received many honors for his scientific work, and in 1952 he was the recipient of the Iowa Award in recogniation of meritorious achievement in teaching and research.

Like Good Food? Then You'll Certainly Like . . .
MICHAEL'S GRILL

JUST RECEIVED
BROWN FLANNEL SLACKS
$12.95
100% WOOL
COME EARLY WHILE SIZES ARE COMPLETE
THE Sport Shop
N. COLUMBIA ST.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE

FOR SALE: COMPLETE LAW OFFICE, all-metal furniture. Books: U. S. and N. C. Digests, U. S. Blashfield's Automobiles, 230 N. C. Reports, N. C. General Statutes, textbooks, etc. Reasonably priced. Telephone Winston-Salem 7644 or 2-1389 after 6 p.m.
Chg. one by one

WANTED: YOUNG LADY TO ASSIST in dental office. Qualifications necessary: typing, knowledge of bookkeeping. Answer by letter. P. O. Box 1078, Chapel Hill.

School Of Pharmacy Releases Honor Roll

Dean E. A. Brecht of the School of Pharmacy has announced the names of pharmacy students making the dean's list (average of 90 or better) and Honor Roll (average of 92.5 or better) for the fall quarter.

Twenty-seven of the students, representing 12 1-2 per cent of the student body, received recognition for the high quality of their scholastic work.

Mrs. Don Hedrick Kepley, Denton, received the top honor by earning two A's and one B, 95.73.

The honor roll included Junious F. Ferguson Jr., Durham; Jerry Thomas Gaylord, Winterville; Don Hedrick Kepley, Denton; Waller Stephen Perrow, Bedford, Va.; William Paul Powell, Horse Shoe; William Louis Scarboro, Thomasville; William Darle Snouse, Rural Hall; Edith Woodman Trosper, Greensboro; Patsy Ruth Upchurch, Morrisville; William Potter Wells, Burgaw; Kenneth L. Wiggins, Goldsboro; Robert Gaines Wilson, Leaksville; Robert Payne Wolfe, Monroe; John Dee Wood, Wilmington.

The dean's list also included Charles Donald Blanton, Kings Mountain; Thomas Reeves Burgiss, Sparta; Rowe Bogle Campbell, Taylorsville; Clarence Graham Fisher, Clinton; Christopher Barker Hargett, Chapel Hill; James Theodore Moore, Wilmington; Billy Roger Murray, Virgilina; Lionel Parker Perkins Jr., South Boston, Va.; Billy Lee Price, Newton; Joanne Eileen Schell, Wilmington; Roy Cornelius Shepherd, Lexington; Joe Donald Stone, Dobson, and Nancy May Woodard, Hamlet.

PREMIER MOHAMMED NAGUIB of Egypt has proclaimed himself a one-man boss for three years, in his most sweeping action since kicking out King Farouk last July. He dissolved all Egyptian political parties, confiscated their funds and announced a three-year transitional period following the discovery of a plot to overthrow his Government. Naguib is shown here (left) with his experts on Sudan, Major Salah Salem (dark glasses) and Sheikh Hassan El Bakouri (right).—NEA Telephoto.

You can study all your life
To get a Ph.D.,
But you've learned nothing till you've found
That L.S./M.F.T.
David G. Altemuehle
University of Kentucky

No messy ends get in your mouth—
It's fully packed you see;
For cleaner, fresher, smoother smokes,
It's Lucky Strike for me!
Irwin Ross
New York University

Nothing-no, nothing-beats better taste
and LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!
Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

Ask yourself this question: Why do I smoke?

You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment. And you get enjoyment only from the taste of a cigarette.

Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother! Why? Luckies are made better to taste better. And, what's more, Luckies are made of fine tobacco. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco.

So, for the thing you want most in a cigarette . . . for better taste—for the cleaner, fresher, smoother taste of Lucky Strike . . .

Be Happy-GO LUCKY!

Where's your jingle?

It's easier than you think to make $25 by writing a Lucky Strike jingle like those you see in this ad. Yes, we need jingles—and we pay $25 for every one we use! So send as many as you like to: Happy-Go-Lucky, P.O. Box 67, New York 46, N.Y.

It's always an occasion when
A box comes from the folks—
'Cause inside are those Lucky Strikes
For cleaner, fresher smokes!
Beverly Daniels
Oberlin College

© A. T. Co.

PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company — AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Increasingly cloudy and mild with 60 high. Yesterday's high, 56; low 33.

The Daily Tar Heel

CC
The initials are for Carolina Carousel. The rest in on p. 4.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 80 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, JANUARY 23, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

Gridiron Coach Still Un-Named

Reading Is Tonight By Noted Poet

Poet Robert Frost will deliver his annual University lecture-reading, under the sponsorship of the English Department tonight at 8:30 in Hill Hall.

Frost arrived here yesterday morning, and spoke to English classes during the day.

He is staying at the home of Dr. Clifford P. Lyons.

Frost has been speaking and reading his poetry to Chapel Hill audiences for a number of years and always has appeared before capacity audiences.

Called the dean of American poets, Frost has received almost every honor an American writer can receive. He has been awarded the Pulitzer Prize four times, the Loines Prize for Poetry, the Mark Twain Medal, the gold medal of the National Institute of Arts and Letters and the silver medal of the Poetry Society of America.

He has been associated as a teacher with many American colleges and universities, and has been the recipient of a number of honorary degrees.

Frost plans to leave Chapel Hill Sunday.

Perry Makes 5 Senior Class Appointments

Five Senior Class committees and their chairmen were named yesterday by Class President Dan Perry.

Named to serve on the Finance Committee were Chairman Jim Neely, Tom Bulla, Archie Fort, Goldston Harris, Jane Webb, Don Seifert, Tom Alexander and Dick Painter.

Serving on the Publicity Committee will be Chairman Dot Smith, Bev Baylor, Walt Dear, Kent Jackson, Jim Lindley, Sue Burress and Bob Slough.

The Social Committee, which will plan the spring social activities, includes Chairman Steve Perrow, Buddy Baarcke, Grace Doar, Grace Gordon, Judy Taylor, Toni Kelly, Jim Lester, Charlie Trent and Chuck Haywood.

Gene Oberdorfer was named chairman of the Gift Committee which will select the Senior Class gift to the University. Serving on that committee with him will be Rennie Biggers, Sally Bette Cunningham, Donnie Evans, Carman Nahm, Gerry Wagger and Bob Simmons.

Serving on the Senior Class Alumni Committee will be Chairman Heywood Washburn, Jane Adams, Ken Barton, Anna Beason, Sara Lyn nBonowitz, Mary Lilla Browne, Fred Coker, Ralph Craver, Ted Frankle, Buddy Heins, Gill Marsh, Clem Johnson, Virginia Hall, Teansy Matthews, Jim McLeod, Bob Neal, Jule Rosseau, Arthur Spaugh, Pepper Stetson, Ben Tison and Tom Wooten.

Dental Dames Society

Dr. Deborah Leary of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology who was scheduled to speak last Tuesday at the Dental Dames Society will speak instead this Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Assembly Exhibition Room in the Library.

COMING SOON

A comprehensive accounting of all scholarships given by the University is in the hands of Chancellor Robert House.

The report, ordered by the Board of Trustees last spring, was compiled by Central Records Director Edwin Lanier.

Chancellor House will release the student aid study in the next few days, as soon as the University accountants have double-checked it. Similar reports have been released by Duke and North Carolina State.

650 Students Get Flu Innoculations

By Hubert Breeze

Dr. E. McG. Hedgpeth announced yesterday that 650 students have been inoculated with flu preventive vaccine.

The Infirmary plans to continue inoculations, which are on a voluntary basis, through tomorrow, he said.

Dr. Hedgpeth said he strongly recommends that every student come to the Infirmary for an inoculation. "It is the way to prevent an epidemic that could seriously hamper the University's activities," he said.

Dr. Hedgpeth reported that there are a good many patients in the Infirmary with respiratory infections, but there is no true epidemic as yet.

The reason for stressing the innoculations is that they are preventive medicine, he said. It takes two weeks to develop immunity to the disease after the inoculation. For this reason it would be of little use to administer the serum after an epidemic had started, Dr. Hedgpeth said.

One does of vaccine is sufficient, but the time element is important, he stated.

Hours for obtaining the vaccine are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. Students are requested to enter the In firmary side door. This is the door nearest the Medical School.

Within the past few weeks outbreaks of flu have grown to serious proportions in several sections of the country. The midwest has been particularly hard hit. Several public schools in North Carolina have been closed temporarily as a result of the epidemic.

NEWS IN BRIEF

TOKYO—Red China's No. 2 boss charged yesterday that a U.S. B-29 Superfort violated Manchurian skies Jan. 12 and was shot down by Communist night fighters. U.S. Far East Air Forces confirmed the loss of the bomber but asserted it was 12 to 15 miles inside North Korea—well below the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria—when crippled.

★

WASHINGTON—The District of Columbia Court of Appeals ruled five to four yesterday that restaurants here legally may refuse to serve Negroes. The case tested the validity of two "lost" laws of 1872 and 1873 which barred discrimination in eating places on account of race.

★

WASHINGTON—Charles E. Wilson was reliably reported yesterday to be considering selling his 2,700,000 General Motors stock—which Senators said he must do in order to become Defense Secretary. A source close to the former GM president said he was still reluctant to part with the controversial stock, but "probably" would do so if no other way can be found to bail the Eisenhower administration out of the politically-embarrasing dilemma. Senators of both parties were emphatic in saying there is no other way to get Wilson confirmed. Some even thought the situation had gone so far that President Eisenhower might find it politically expedient to drop Wilson, stock sale or not, and find a new Defense Secretary.

★

SEOUL — American Sabrejets, again outnumbered two to one, shot down four Communist MIG - 15's and damaged three others in air duels over North Korea yesterday.

The American kills came on the heels of yesterday's seven sure kills, two possibles and three damaged to bring this year's MIG total to 28 destroyed, four probably destroyed and 25 damaged.

Campus Seen

"We've got a lot of Rhodes scholars here," the prof told the class yester. "Just look at any of our roads on Friday afternoon."

•

Students stealthily removing newspapers from Y court display racks, reading them thoroughly and then replacing the papers.

•

South Building steps gaining sitters everyday as Spring-in-winter weather continues.

Tickets For Puppet Plays

Tickets go on sale today at the Playmakers Business Office in Swain Hall for two performances of the Puppet Playhouse of Augusta, Ga., which will appear here on Jan. 31 at the Playmakers Theater.

"Beauty and the Beast," an entirey new adaptation of the children's story, will be presented at 2:30 p.m.; also scheduled is an unusual production of Gilbert and Sullivan's famed operetta, "The Mikado," at 8:30 p.m.

Since its opening in 1950 in the first theater building consrtucted for the exclusive showing of puppet plays, Puppet Playhouse productions have been marked by the high artistic standards set by the Plyahouse founder and director, Louisa Mustin, who is a former Playmaker and resident of Chapel Hill.

Rabbi Traces Growth Of Jewish Doctrine

"The influences of Protestantism have played a large part in Jewish reforms," Rabbi Efraim Rosenzweig said recently in evaluating the beliefs of the modern Jew.

"As people turned to Protestantsm, reforms were of necessity sometimes instituted. Modern Judism began actually with the Enlightment. The French Revolution evolution evolved, and the two together can be credited with the start of the reforms now in use in the Jewish religion."

Speaking before the third YWCA Tuesday afternoon religious discussion group, Rabbi Rosenzweig stated that throughout the period following the French Revolution shorter services, translation of services into native languages, use of organs and choirs and Sunday rather than Saturday services became tthe common procedure.

Today the Jews, either accepting the Jewish faiths in whole or in part as they wish, believe that the best way for salvation is through self-analysis, he noted. They see no original sin, no need for the death of a Messiah as the Christian's Jesus, and are not looking for a Messiah, but rather a Messianic situation where all people are good.

Concluding his analysis of the Jewish faith in today's world, the Rabbi said, "Many Jews don't believe in a life after death as Christians do but follow a more earthy belief of faiths. The Jewish faith is a harder way of life as a result than the Christian religion."

The fourth of a series of lectures on American religions will be conducted by the regular moderator, the Rev. Maurice Kidder, next Tuesday afternoon in the Y cabinet room, 4 to 5:30. —MM.

Bold New Anti-Red Plan Seen

An associate editor of one of the country's leading magazines believes "a bold new foreign policy has been adopted by the Eisenhower Administration, designed to force a showdown with Russia."

Demaree Bess of the Saturday Evening Post expressed the opinion in a speech here last night at the opening session of the 28th annual North Carolina Newspaper Institute.

Continuing to talk about the new foreign policy, Bess said, "The new Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, made that clear to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the week before he took office, and the first few months of the Eisenhower Administration are likely to show whether or not World War III is just around hte corner."

Bess has had more than 35 years of experience as foreign correspondent in the Far East, Near East and Europe.

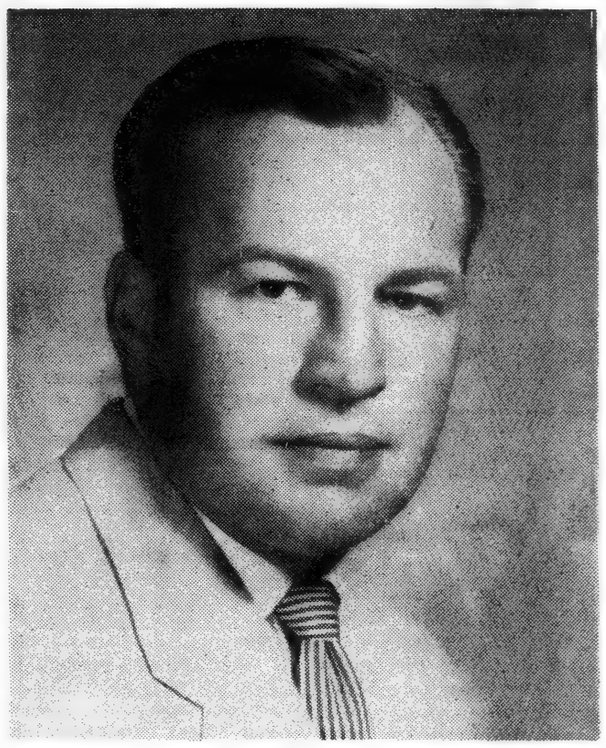
Bess said the question of a new show-down with Russia was made even clearer "by the open dispute on the Russian question between Mr. Dulles and George F. Kennan, jected by the Russians.
American Ambassador recently re-

"Mr. Kennan is one of my oldest and most respected friends, and I have talked with Mr. Dulles on several occasions in the course of my work. I have therefore found especially interesting. Of course the clash between the two men both men are of the highest integrity, and their differences are differences of principle and judgment."

Bess said the issue seemed to him to be whether the new Soviet empire can be overthrown by Dulles and Kennan argue that it means short of all-out war. "Both can, but Dulles is less patient than Kennan and wants to force the issue," he said. "Kennan believes that if we 'contain' the Soviet empire within its present borders, it will sooner or later fall of its own weight or at least lose its expansive force. Dulles says we must promise 'liberation' right now to peoples enslaved by communism.

"What disturbs Kennan about Dulles' 'liberation' policy is that it amounts to a declaration of all-out war, just as Franklin Roosevelt's proclaimed aim to 'destroy Hitlerism' long before Pearl Harbor was equivalent to a declaration of war. That also disturbs me. I suspect that we are beginning to kid ourselves again, easing into an all-out war while pretending that we are keeping out."

Bess said that "a continuous battle has been raging between the reporter, on the one side, and what might be called anti-reporters on the other—propagandists of every variety, crusaders with causes. It is the reporter's function to prevent people from fooling themselves, to see that at least the facts are given to them.



"Among other examples, I cite that of a friend I have known intimately for 25 years, John Carter Vincent, whose dismissal from the State Department recently was urged by the President's Loyalty Review Board. In my opinion, this is not only a gross miscarriage of justice but a threat to every reporter in the United States. The most shocking feature of this affair was the reasons given by the Loyalty Review Board for its ruling on Mr. Vincent."

The sessions, some of which are being held at Duke University, will continue through tomorrow noon.

WUNC

Today's schedule for the campus FM radio station:

7 p.m.—Children's Circle.
7:30—Adventures in Research.
7:45—Carolina Sports Review.
8—People under Communism.
9—Music appreciation with Dr. Newman.
10—Local news and coming events.
10:05—Evening Masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.

GEORGE BARCLAY
Next head football coach? . . .

Students Won't Be In Rest Of Money-Meets

The University Scholarship Committee met again Wednesday to continue its study of the allocation of campus store profits.

It was learned that no action was taken on a previously reported idea of granting a set percentage of the profits to athletes.

When asked yesterday if students would take part in the next session of the committee, Chairman D. D. Carroll said they would not. "The students have already presented their case," he said.

Any plan determined by this committee regarding the use of profits will have to gain the approval of the Administration. Several top sources have expressed doubt that the Administration would approve giving a fixed yearly percentage ot the subsidization of athletics.

Heart Attack Proves Fatal For Gouger

John Lewis Gouger, University utilities accountant, died of a heart attack yesterday morning about 10 o'clock. He was 39 years old.

Mr. Gouger suffered the attack at his office in the Utilities Building. He was taken to his home and died there.

He graduated from the University in 1937 with a degree in commerce and began work in the Utilities Department at that time. He was a member of the First Baptist Church here and the North Carolina Association of Certified Public Accountants.

Mr. Gouger is survived by his wife Jessie Sifford Gouger, and two children, Judy and John.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

NAVY BALL

The annual Navy Ball will be held at the Naval Armory Friday night from 9 until 12 o'clock, featuring the Duke Cavaliers.

There will be a caberet style area set up for refreshment. The queen and her court will be chosen by an outstanding Chapel Hill celebrity and crowned at intermission.

Chairman for the dance is Jake Rountree. He is assisted by June Lovelace, Rufus Sherrill, and Carl Litencerger.

SUAB Calendar Deadline

The deadline for information for the February issue of the SUAB Calendar is 1 o'clock Monday. Information can be sent to Box 30, called in to 5641, SUAB office, or brought in. All organizations are asked to get information in early.

Lenoir, Y Paper Sales May Be Cut

The selling of newspapers at Lenoir Hall and the Y may be discontinued if the money boxes continue to check short, according to the students who are in charge of the papers.

Bruce Martindale, Doug Dailey and Jim Dinsmore, three of five daily newspaper salesmen on campus, reported yesterday that about $4 a day is being lost among the five. Some of the money has been lost at the Y but most of it has disappeared from Lenoir Hall, the trio said.

When the Lenoir Hall cash boxes were kept locked one quarter the salesmen lost only about 25 or 30 cents a day. However, when the boxes are left unlocked to facilitate making change, the boys are losing several dollars daily.

The salesmen explained the boxes have to be left open for change making because the cigar stand cashier in the dining hall cannot handle the volume of students needing change to buy a paper.

Two students were expelled several years ago after they were found guilty of taking money from the newspaper boxes.

Delegates Needed

The National Association for hte Advancement of Colored People Youth Conference will be held at Bennett College in Greensboro Feb. 7.

Interested students from Carolina have been invited to attend and observe the conference which will stress the part that youth must play in the racial revolution.

Ham Horton has requested that any students who wish to attend this meeting come by the student government office.

Adams Appointed

Student body president Ham Horton announced yesterday that Jimmy Adams, junior from Warrenton, has been appointed to the president's cabinet.

Adams belongs to Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, is a two time member of the Student Council, and past president of the Carolina delegation to the consolidated university student council.

Horton said that Adams will be in charge of committee work.

Confirmation Is Expected Momentarily

By Biff Roberts

The official naming of Carolina's next head football coach, repeatedly rumored to be present assistant George Barclay, was all but affirmed last night. The final decision should come some time today.

The naming needed only the approval of President Gordon Gray, Chancellor Robert House, and the executive committee of the board of trustees before becoming official. All members of the executive committee had not been contacted last night, however, the announcement was held off another day until approval could be secured from the rest of the committee.

The recommendation of the athletic council was presented to Chancellor House on Wednesday by Dr. A. W. Hobbs, chairman of the football committee of the council. It was believed last night that both House and Gray, plus several members of the executive group, had ratified the appointment.

It has been widely speculated for the past weeks that Barclay would be the new coach, in that Marvin Bass, formerly of the Washington Redskins, and Paul Serverin, former Carolina all-american now at Randolph-Macon, would come here as two of his top assistants.

Bass, a former aide to the resigned Carl Snavely, got his release from the Washington professional club on Tuesday, reportedly to sign here. He was a line coach for the Redskins, and would have that job here if chosen.

Carolina has been without a coach for six weeks, but it seems certain now that the announcement will come today. Coach Snavely resigned on Tuesday, Dec. 6, and the athletic council has searched since then to find a replacement.

Barclay was always at the top of the list in the search, and, according to some sources, was never rated less than second.

He came here last year from Washington and Lee to help Snavely switch from the single wing to the split-T formation. He had great success at W & L, leading the Generals to the Southern Conference championship in 1950, and went to the Gator Bowl the same year.

Bass served here as line aide in 1949, went to William and Mary as an assistant in 1950, took over as head coach there the next year, and then moved to Washington this past season.

Barclay was an all-american here in 1935 and 1936. He helped coach at V.M.I., Oberlin, Dartmouth and Maryland before moving to Washington and Lee. It was not disclosed whether a single appointment would be made or whether assistant forces would be named too, but most observers felt that at least two men would be officially accepted.

The whole board of trustees, which meets next month, will have to give full ratification to the appointment, but its vote usually adheres closely to that of the executive board.

Other candidates who have been mentioned in the race, but who are now considered as out of the running, are Jim Tatum, Lou Holcomb, Art Guepe, and Jim Gill.

MONEY DAYS

The Consolidated University will have its day, budgetarily speaking, Feb. 4.

At that time the Joint Appropriations Committee of the State Legislature will hear its plea for larger appropriations than have been earmarked for the three educational institutions.

The hearing will be held in the Revenue Building, Raleigh.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Charles A. Collins, Charles Haskett, Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Melvin Lang

Infirmary Acts Fast

Once again, the Infirmary has acted quickly and efficiently to prevent a possible outbreak of disease.

This time it is flu. Last time it was polio. Football activities were suspended in the fall quarter for two weeks and students were given worthwhile advice on how to protect themselves in some measure from polio. Now there is a fifty-fifty chance of an outbreak of influenza which would "seriously disrupt" the University's activities, according to Dr. Ed Hegepeth. This is no scare alarm. This announcement comes after a careful watch of trends throughout the world, nation, and state, plus weekly surveys conducted by the medical profession.

And students, 300 of them on the first day, responded quickly to the call for voluntary vaccinations. The vaccine is a good preventive, primarily because it counteracts the work of the flu virus. The important thing about a vaccination is the necessity to take advantage of it now. It has no value when the epidemic surrounds the campus.

Students are reminded of the value of having an infirmary and a wide awake staff. As soon as enough information had been gathered to show that a campus wide flu attack was possible (populated centers in Germany, France, England, Texas, and Tennessee have already been affected), vaccine was shipped in from Detroit and Atlanta and the infirmary was ready to receive students the next day.

Action in this case as in many others indicates that the Infirmary is doing the kind of job necessary to maintain student health. The Daily Tar Heel commends the staff of the Infirmary for its continuing efforts to keep us in shape.

Paper Thieves

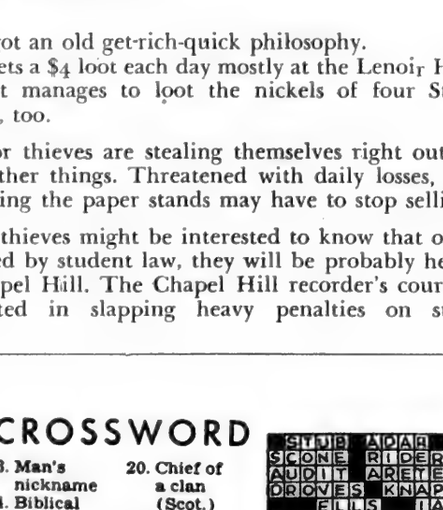
Someone's got an old get-rich-quick philosophy.

He or she nets a $4 loot each day mostly at the Lenoir Hall newsstands, but manages to loot the nickels of four State dailies at the Y, too.

The thief or thieves are stealing themselves right out of a job among other things. Threatened with daily losses, the students operating the paper stands may have to stop selling.

The nickel thieves might be interested to know that once they are pinched by student law, they will be probably heading out of Chapel Hill. The Chapel Hill recorder's court is always interested in slapping heavy penalties on such miscreants.

DAILY CROSSWORD



ACROSS
1. Rascal
6. A size of paper
9. Come back
10. Genus of the lily
12. Insects
13. The ear shell
14. Court
15. Audience
17. Luzon native
18. Wooden hammer
21. Inferior parish official (Brit.)
23. Warmth
27. Sea eagles
28. Italian poet
29. Pant
30. Use a pincers
31. Republic (Asia Minor)
33. Milkfish
36. Spawn of fish
37. Cry of a dove
40. Long nail
42. Arabic letter
43. Always
44. An advocate of geometric art
46. Affirmative vote
47. Swiftly

DOWN
1. City (Nev.)
2. Upholstered footrests
3. Man's nickname
4. Biblical city
5. Half an em
6. Basket of a balloon
7. Egyptian dancing girl
8. Bard
9. Uncooked
11. Epoch
13. Metallic rock
15. Old measures of length
16. Malt beverage
19. An expert
20. Chief of a clan (Scot.)
21. Plead
22. Epoch
24. Encyclical
25. Devoured
26. Thrice (mus.)
28. Levee
30. For
32. Footed vase
33. Goddess of mischief (Gr.)
34. Full of waves
35. Toward the lee
38. River (Fr.)
39. Often (poet.)
41. Openings (anat.)
42. Sleeveless garment (Arab.)
44. Calcium (sym.)
45. Aloft

S	I	T	B		A	D	A	R
S	C	O	N	E		R	I	D	E	R
A	U	D	I	T		A	R	E	T	E
O	R	O	V	E	S		K	N	A	P
		E	L	L	S		I	A
S	A	A	R		Y	E	A	R	N	S
A	N	I	S	E		S	W	E	E	T
U	N	L	E	S	S		A	D	D	S
S	A		S	A	C	K
A	M	B	O		P	U	E	B	L	O
S	E	A	R	S		S	N	E	E	R
E	S	S	A	Y		H	E	A	V	E
	E	S	N	E		I	D	L	Y

1-22

Yesterday's Answer

1-22

A. Z. F. Wood, Jr.
Utopia

There has been much investigation by congressional committees lately. They've investigated water-front racketeers, Communists, Trumanites, Dean Acheson, McCarthy, people investigating McCarthy, and tired old schoolteachers. Now they've just completed an investgiation of obscene literature. They began with comic books and juvenile pulp magazines like "Keyhole", "Titter", "Foo", and "Wink", but, carried away with their piety, they commenced to condemn at random. Books by Steinbeck, James Farrell, and Erskine Caldwell were branded as obscene by some of the more upright committeemen. One witness, who had indignantly decried "pictorial prostitution on the newsstands" found that some of her own literature was not exempt from this arbitrary condemnation.

Soon, however, it became evident that there could be no line drawn as to what was art and what was obscenity for obscenity's sake; so the committee refrained from tightening any of the statutes which might have resulted in arresting someone for reading "East of Eden". They recommended that publishers be more discreet, and let it go at that.

But there remain many staunch proponents—influential proponents—for the banning of "obscene literature". The way to fix an evil situation, say these protectors of American morals, is to pass a law. They did it back in 1919, too. They got the Volstead Act passed and everybody had to make their own whiskey or take the word of the boot-leggers that the stuff was more than two weeks old.

Well, the American people weren't quite ready for national prohibition; so, notwithstanding much righteous exhortation, it was repealed.

But give the Ftderal Government a little more time to regiment the American people, to stagnate their minds, and crush individuality, and you can be sure there'll be other attempts at prohibition (not only of alcoholic beverages, either). And they're apt to be successful. Fill the courts and the Pentagon up with a few more political cronies, pass a few more guilt-by-association statutes, refuse admittance to a few more aliens, convict a few more people of crimes when they leer at other people, pass a few F.E.P.C. laws, get a few more UN lawyers to jump out of windows, accuse a few more people of being Communists, and we'll all be robots. We'll be scared to do or say anything unconventional, and the Federal Government will lead us around on a leash.

And after the last vestiges of individuality and imagination have disappeared we will have a Utopia. True, there'll be no novels, no symphonies, no cartoons, no Dixieland, and nobody will play the violin, but, as compensation, we wlil be protected from the evils of twelve - year - old Scotch, books like "From Here to Eternity" and "Eternity" and "Generation of Vipers, and blasphemous music like Satchmo's "When the Saints Go Marching In".

For some time the United States proceeded under the assumption that the least government was the best government. This philosophy was not completely practical as unforeseen difficulties arose; so the Federal Government was given a couple of reluctant inches for modification. It took eight miles, and the original philosophy was closeted. Old Harry locked it up for good in his steel seizure last summer, for even though the Supreme Court ruled against him, the precedent remains.

The thing that scares me the most, though, is the relentless technological "progress". They are close to contriving a machine that is capable of ascertaining your thoughts. Boy, will I ever be banned for obscenity!

A Problem

The Daily Texan editor wasn't really complaining; but she had a problem: "Along with the press releases from railroads, manufacturers, political parties, and an occasional letter, the editor's mail includes free subscriptions and trial samples.

Such a one came the other day, in a neat interesting little box. To any other editor it probably would have been welcome. But this editor is finding it difficult to create uses for a trial jar of shaving cream.

"Everybody Up! Rise And Shine!"

DREW PEARSON
THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

Washington—Mamie Eisenhower has had time to look around the White House and discover that she is mistress of a kitchen establishment which is the modern housewife's dream.

In fact, she is the mistress of a sort of entertainment factory, with three kitchens and several dining-rooms. She also faces the problem of feeding the president's staff, her own large retinue of servants, plus White House guests.

And there will be times when she will wish that congress had acted on that last request of Harry Truman's to increase the White House expense allowance, bacause, unless she's extremely careful, she and the new president will find themselves dipping into their own pockets to pay for White House upkeep.

Another thing Mamie will find, after she gets settled, is that Sen. Kenneth McKellar, a bachelor and a parsimonious one at that, will cause her a lot of headaches. For the penny-pinching senator from Tennessee, who presided over the White House appropriations committee, scrimped on thermostat head regulators. Thus the White House heat is not controlled by individual thermostats in each room, as in every modern hotel, but by a main thermostat.

This means that the sun-room upstairs where the Trumans liked to breakfast is ike a refrigerator in the winter and a furnace in the summer.

What Mrs. Eisenhower seemed to like most when she inspected the White House with Mrs. Truman last month was the big cedar room on the third floor. For a moth-harassed housewife, this room is Heaven. Every inch is lined with cedar, even the cabinets and drawers; and the room is plenty big enough to hold every piece of wool around the White House, including Ike's old army uniforms which have been a mecca for moths at Morningside Heights.

Mrs. Eisenhower didn't get a chance to inspect the White House kitchens when she looked over the place with Mrs. Truman, and they happen to be an intriguing modern food factory.

The main kitchen is a huge room in the equivalent of the White House basement, and contains every imaginable modern device for food preparation. Most of this was installed by Mrs. Roosevelt and still is in excellent condition. A large electric range covers one side of the kitchen. There are also work tables with built-in warming trays, a large soup kettle, barbecue spit, coffee grinder, garbage disposal beneaht gigantic sinks, and overhead utensil hangers.

The whole thing is entirely air-conditioned with special blowers to remove cooking odors. Mrs. Truman used to enjoy shooing out the servants and bringing her Spanish class down to the kitchen to cook onions, spanish style, amid many odors which were not always absorbed by the blowers, however.

The kitchen contains no dishwashing facilities. All dishes are removed to a separate room. A special refrigerator room is on the far side of the kitchen, featuring a special cold locker for fish, plus a walk-in storage room.

Food for the first family is prepared in the big kitchen, hoisted on an electric dumb-waiter, and served from the first floor butler's pantry next to the president's private dining-room.

In addition to the main kitchen, there's a small diet kitchen on the third floor about the size of the kitchen Mamie Eisenhower used at the Wardman Park Hotel where she lived during the war years. The third-floor kitchen is used for early morning coffee or a late night snack.

Kitchen No. 3 is under the west wing of the White House, and serves the so-called "Luncheon Club" or the president's staff. About 35 of Truman's male assistants lunched here every day, getting a bill at the end of the month for their food. Under Truman it was a strictly stag affair, with lady members of the president's staff required to lunch in restaurants outside or else bring their lunch to work.

Mamie Eisenhower will not be able to do much shopping in Washington markets, even if she has the time. All food for the first family is carefully tested in advance, and the grocery stores where the food is bought remains a security secret.

Alice Chapman
Exchange Column

While the Carolina campus has been guest to temperatures ranging from late winter to the upper 60's of a mild spring day, midwest colleges have also been suffering from these rapid fluxuations of weather.

The pneumonia weather has been living up to its name. An influenza epidemic hit the University of Minnesota affecting approximately 2,000 students within 10 days. Campus police have been busy driving students out of the dorms to the Health Service since the virus began, but 40 to 50 really sick students were discovered in a dorm check. Director of the Health Service stated that the peak of the epidemic passed last onday. He attributed the campus outbreak to the general spread of infection around the country since Christmas.

The virus swept Iowa State and Kansas University this past week reducing class attendance and thining office staffs.

Depauw University in Greencastle, Indiana closed its doors this week when 10 percent of the student body was confined to the infirmary.

Northwestern infirmary is filled to capacity, has issued a plea for studen tnurses, and is giving free vaccine against the virus at all office hours.

Flu hit the University of Missouri so hard that 60 beds were moved into the ballroom of the student union to provide for the university hospital overflow.

Further south Louisiana State is preparing for a possible outbreak of respiratory ailments. Dr. Dougherty of hte Student Health Service warned students to take all precautions. Students should avoid crowds and personal contact. This, he said, means no kissing.

At least 40 elementary and secondary schools have been closed due to the virus infection.

In addition to the germ battle our college cousins on the semester system are building up their defenses for final exams.

The Independent Student Association at Oklahoma University announced the opening of a quiz file recently. Professors and departments contributed old quizzes. Five hundred old tests from past years are now available for Independent review.

At Kansas University teacher evaluation sheets are passed out just before finals begin. The student rates the instructor's teaching methods and hands the sheet back—but not until grades are out and on the cards.

Northwestern, still on the quarter system, is having difficulties now that grades are out. The student handbook states that no undergraduate on academic probation may hold an extracurricular office. Investigation by the dean of students revealed that 29 holders of major campus offices were on the winter probation list. Fourteen fraternities will lose officers via enforcement of the rule rule. Students themselves initiated the probation system to prevent failures due to participation in extracurriculars. A student editorial again reminded the campus, "Grades, books, knowledge. They always come first in a place of learning. The titles and honors can play second fiddle."

Northwestern

Grades, panes, and aches went hand-in-hand for a disappointed student recently, and they came in that order.

Bill Megowen, LA '53, vented his disappointment about grades by shoving his hand through a large plate glass window in Pearson Hall. He was taken to Evanston hospital for emergency treatment.

University officials are trying to decide whether the student should be charged for the window.

Ticklers — By George

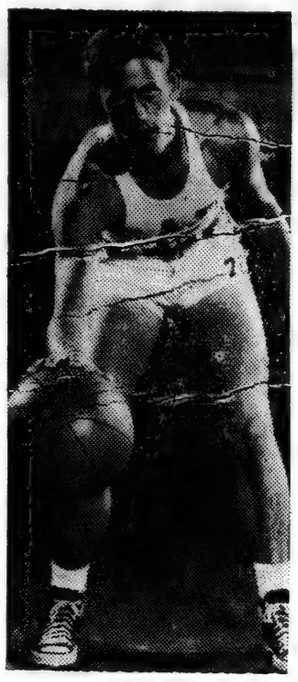
"Better slow down! They say the cops are really on the job in this area!"



Tar Heels' Toughest Battle At State Tomorrow

Wolfpack Is Heavy Favorite Over Carolina Cage Squad

By Tom Peacock

Carolina's basketball team meets its arch rival and the toughest team on the Tar Heel schedule tomorrow night when it takes the floor against North Carolina State's Wolfpack in the William Neal Reynolds coliseum in Raleigh.

State is favored to knock Carolina out of its first place spot in the Southern Conference standings. The Tar Heels unseated Wake Forest from the top spot Tuesday night with a 72-68 victory and pushed their Confernece record to 10-1. The Wolfpack is second with 8-1, and a win over Carolina will put it in undisputed first place for the first time this season.

DICK TYLER
. . . N. C. State forward

Coach Frank McGuire's Tar Heels, who out-fought and out-hustled Wake Forest Tuesday to steal the game, will be led by co-captain Vince Grimaldi, the Conference's fourth leading scorer. Grimaldi has paced Carolina all season, and came off the bench with an injured shoulder against Wake Forest to add the extra spark that the Tar Heels needed.

Carolina students who hope to see the game against N. C. State at Raleigh tomorrow night will have to purchase their tickets at the Reynolds Coliseum. The ticket office there reported that some 1,500 tickets remained early yesterday afternoon.

Carolina hasn't beaten the Wolfpack in six years, and State, ranked eight nationally, is expected to keep the string going. The Tar Heels are given their best chance to upset State this year, but the Wolfpack is usually invincible in Reynolds coliseum. Wake Forest is the only Conference team with a win over N. C. State.

Same Team

Coach McGuire will probably depend tomorrow night on the same team that was so effective in killing the Deacons. In addition to Grimaldi, sophomore Al Lifson will start at the other quard, Bud Maddie and freshman Jerry Vayda at forwards ,and sophomore Paul Likins at center. Likins and Maddie combined to keep Wake Forest star Dick Hemric nine points below his scoring average, and Vayda was high scorer for the Tar Heels in Tuesday's contest.

State coach Everett Case was looking ahead when he made his 1953 schedule, and the Wolfpack have had a full week to prepare for Carolina. The engineers haven't played since they defeated George Washington in the Coliseum a week ago.

Speight, Kukoy Lead

Leading the Wolfpack are co-captain forwards Bobby Speight and Bill Kukoy. Speight is the third leading scorer in the Conference, and was honorable mention All-America last year. Kukoy and Dave Gotkin, an outstanding guard, were sick last week, but will be in top shape for Carolina. Bernie Yurin will start at the other guard, and Mel Thompson is slated for center.

State is the second Big Four game that Carolina has played this season, the first being the win over Wake Forest. Tickets for the game will not be sold in Chapel Hill, but can be obtained in Raleigh.

Badminton

Anyone interested in playing badminton is invited to Women's Gym at 7 p.m. Monday evening. Instruction will be provided for those who wish to learn the game.

Exchange Set For Tickets To Duke, NYU

Holders of passbooks ending in even numbers will have first chance to get reserve seat tickets to both the Duke and NYU basketball games on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 6 and 7.

Even-numbered passbooks must be exchanged at the Woollen Gym ticket window on Monday Tuesday, or Wednesday of next week, however.

Holders of passbooks with odd numbers will have a chance to get tickets on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. No passbooks will be valid at the games.

The ticket office is open from 9 to 4:30 on weekdays and from 9 to 12:30 on Saturdays.

TENNIS MEETING

Coach John Kenfield has called a meeting of all varsity and freshman tennis candidates for room 301 of Woollen Gym this afternoon at 3:00.

Plans for practice and qualifications will be made at the meeting.

HEMRIC NINTH

NEW YORK (Special) — Wake Forest's Dickie Hemric was ranked ninth among the nation's major colleges today. Hemric has scored 360 points in 15 games for an average 24 points in games played through Jan. 17.

Walt Dukes of Seton Hall moved into the top position with an average of 27.8 points per game, replacing Ernie Beck of Pennsylvania. Beck slipped to second with a 27.6 mark, while Seattle's Johnny O'Brien is third with 26.8.

Tar Heel Swimmers To Meet VPI In Home Loop Opener

By John Hussey

More records are due to fall when Ralph Casey's swimming team takes on VPI tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the first Southern Conference dual meet in Bowman-Gray Pool this year.

If the Carolina swimming team merely duplicates its last week's performance against Ga. Tech, they will establish two new marks.

The present mark for the medley relay in Southern Conference dual meet competition stands at two minutes, 54.4 seconds. Last week the Tar Heel relay team consisting of Buddy Baarcke, Barry Wall, and Jack Edwards turned in a time of 2:52.2 which established a new pool mark but could not be counted in SC competition because they were opposing Tech. a member of the Southeastern Conference.

The same thing holds true in the 400 yard freestyle relay, as last week's time of 3:30.0 bettered the standing Southern Conference record by 5.9 seconds. Baarcke, Edwards, Buddy Heins, and Donny Evans will represent the Tar Heels in this event.

The other Tar Heel entries will remain practically the same with Warren Heeman and Bob Linker in the backstroke, Barry Wall in the breaststroke, Stan Tinkham in the 100, Tommy Gill and Charlie Wolf in the 440, and Donny Evans in the 150 indivdiual medley.

Joe Kelso will be diving on the low board this time. He is not expected to have much trouble in winning his second home meet of the season.

Larry Shannon will be helped by Smith Jewell in the 220. Jewell was unable to swim last week because of illness.

resent Carolina in the 50 yard free-

Heins and Duke Widoff will repstyle event. Heins' time of 23.4 seconds against the Engineers was only two-tenths of a second away from the existing Southern Conference standard.

In meeting the Gobblers from Virginia, the Tar Heels will be seeking their thirty-first consecutive dual meet victory.

HIGGINS CHOSEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(Special)—Tom Higgins, star tackle for the University of North Carolina, was drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles here this afternoon and then traded to the Chicago Cardinals as the National Professional Football League held its annual selection of college football players.

Higgins, who was kept from peak efficiency by a broken hand and a sprained ankle for most of the season, was chosen by the Eagles on the sixth draft and then shifted to the Cardinals.

Maryland Defends SC Indoor Track Crown Here Next Month

Maryland's Terps will defend its Southern Conference Indoor Games championship here on Feb. 28. The games, one of the more spectacular affairs of the season, will be held in Woollen Gym.

As in past years, the event will be divided into three main divisions. Besides the Southern Conference bracket, there will be several independents and Southeastern Conference schools competing for the non-conference title. Several of the outstanding high school squads from North Carolina and its neighboring states will be included in the scholastic division.

Won Last Year

Maryland won its Southern Conference title here last year, while Duke University finished second. Carolina and Virginia Military Institute wound up in third and fourth place, respectively, in the conference division. All of these clubs will be on hand again this year.

Included in the schedule of events for the conference division are the shot put, high jump, one-mile run, 440-yard run, 70-yard hurdles, one-mile relay, broad jump, pole vault, 60-yard dash, 70-yard high hurdles, and the 880-yard run.

Alabama, winner of the 1952 non-conference division, is a top contender for honors in that bracket again this season. Georgia Tech, also of the Southeastern Conference, and Virginia, astrong independent, are expected to be the chief contenders for Alabama's crown.

Events Seated

The events slated for the non-conference meet are, the shot put, pole vault, 70-yard high hurdles, 880-yard run, one-mile relay, broad jump, high jump, 60-yard dash, 70-yard low hurdles, and the one-mile run.

Craddock High School, from Virginia, is expected to be back to defend its high school championship. Other leading contenders that are expected to compete include Woodbury Forest and Mount St. Joseph.

Events for the scholastic division are the high jump, 70-yard high hurdles, one-mile relay, 60-yard dash, and the 1000-yard run.

Carolina will have several boys who finished high in their respective brackets last year returning to the games for another try. Tom Higgins, second place winner in 1952, will be back in the shot-put division, while Bobby Bell will attempt to better his second place finish in the high jump. Bobby Barden will go for the Tar Heels in the two-mile run, and Sam Jordan will be in the pole vault event. Jordan won the pole vault division last year, while Barden finished third in his section.

Jayvees Play Prelim Game

Coach Buck Freeman's jayvee basketball team goes up against what will probably be its strongest opposition of the year tomorrow night when it meets tthe N. C. State Freshman squad in Reynolds Coliseum in Raleigh at 6:15.

Carolina has run into trouble in its recent games, losing the last three played. At the present time, the Tar Babies hold a 3-5 record in over all play. Three of the defeats are at the hands of little Big Four opponents .

On the other hand, State's freshman squad is reputed to be one of the best ever assembled at the Raleigh school. Under the eyes of Vic Bubas, a former varsity great, the Wolflets have been made into a hard-playing unit.

State is expected to start Ronnie Shavlik, Whitey Bell, Vic Molodet, Lou Dickman, and Dave Kelly. Carolina will probably send Gerry McCabe and Glen Stephenson to the starting forward posts, Hal Bowden at center, and Jack Woods and Tommy Shores at the guards.

UNC's Freshman Swimmers Meet Greensboro Tomorrow

By Benny Stewart

Coach Dick Jamerson's freshman swimming team goes after its second win of the season here tomorrow when it takes on Greensboro High, coached by Pat Eary.

The meet is slated to get under way at 2.30 p.m. in Bowman Gray pool.

The Tar Babies more than fulfilled their expectations in their opening last Saturday as they swept by High Point High 59-11.

Several changes in the line-up will be made to give all the candidates experience in various events, Coach Jamerson said.

The probable line-up for the meet tomorrow is as follows:

50 freestyle—Eldridge and Veazey.

100 backstroke—Diffenbach and Woltz.

200 freestyle—Parks and Owen.

100 breaststroke—McAllister and Harden.

100 freestyle—Baker and Holmes.

Diving—Hussey.

150 individual medley—Boyd and Tice.

150 medley relay—Cook, Huntingdon, Dannenbaum.

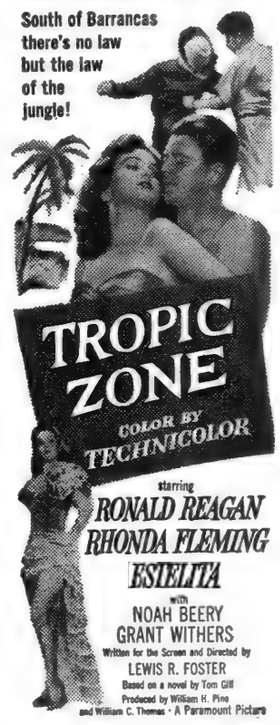
200 relay—Davis, Hester, Smith, Williams.

Burk, Armfield, Smith and Harden will be swimming for the first time in this meet, as they did not compete in last week's meet.

Carolina Press Club

The Carolina Press Club will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in 106 Bynum. Students interested in newspaper work are asked ot attend. The Club is always open to new memberships.

Pro Tennis



Tickets for the professional tennis matches, featuring Jack Kramer, Pancho Segura, Frank Sedgman, and Ken McGregor, to be staged here on Monday night, Feb. 23 have gone on sale at the Woollen Gym ticket office.

Student tickets may be purchased for $1.50 while general admission seats will go for $1.75. There will be only 1,500 of these tickets offered for sale, however.

Reserved seats will cost $2.50.

LOVING... FIGHTING... OR FORTUNE HUNTING...

South of Barrancas there's no law but the law of the jungle!

TROPIC ZONE
COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR
starring
RONALD REAGAN
RHONDA FLEMING
ESTELITA
with
NOAH BEERY
GRANT WITHERS
Written for the Screen and Directed by
LEWIS R. FOSTER
Based on a novel by Tom Gill
Produced by William H. Pine and William C. Thomas · A Paramount Picture

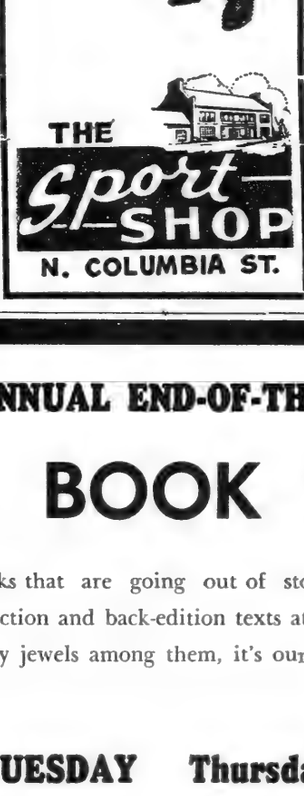
— ALSO —
SPORTLIGHT NEWS

TODAY AND SATURDAY

Carolina

LATE SHOW SATURDAY
SUNDAY — MONDAY

LAUGHS! SONGS!
BALI-BALI GIRLS!



BING CROSBY · BOB HOPE
DOROTHY LAMOUR
in
ROAD TO BALI
COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR

In Durham---------
HARVEY'S CAFETERIA
AND
BANQUET SERVICE
Breakfast 6:30 - 9:15
Lunch 11 - 2.30
Supper 5 - 8:05
Special Facilities For All Fraternity & Sorority Functions
103 E. MAIN STREET, DURHAM

ICE CAPADES OF 1953
THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE
Mail order for tickets
COLISEUM IN RALEIGH
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
N. C. State College—P. O. Box 2966
RALEIGH, N. C.

AUTHENTIC Formal WEAR
• TUXEDOS
• FULL DRESS
• DINNER JACKETS
• ACCESSORIES
THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

JUST RECEIVED
A New Shipment of Spring Sport Jackets Styled by English Sportswear 100% All Wool
Drop by Today for Best Selections
Town & Campus

ATTENTION NIGHT OWLS
Now you can forget about who's going to have that awful task of going out to get the midnight snacks. All you have to do is find out what everybody wants and take a quick hop out to Bill's Drive-In. Or better yet, just get a $5 order or more, and i will be delivered right to your door at no extra charge. Full dinners or just sandwiches, we've got'em all.
OPEN 6 A. M. TO 1 A. M.
Bill's Drive Inn
GREENSBORO HIGHWAY AT CARRBORO

THIRD ANNUAL END-OF-THE MONTH
OLD BOOK SALE
Hundreds of old books that are going out of stock, regardless of cost. Novels, poetry, non-fiction and back-edition texts at blood-curdling deductions. If there are any jewels among them, it's our oversight, but they're mighty cheap!

MONDAY	TUESDAY	Thursday	SATURDAY
January 26th	January 27th	January 29th	January 31st
Your Choice	Anything left	Anything left	Anything left
29c	19c	9c	FREE

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. FRANKLIN ST. OPEN EVENINGS

Campus Carousel

By Deenie Schoeppe

So what are you doing? Initiating? Certainly not studying? Something's wrong somewhere. Even the Deke's have called off their beach party this weekend.

The Phi Delts are still giving farewell parties nightly for Putt Davis though.

And the Chi Psi's are going to have another great big party at the Saddle Club tomorrow night.

Sigma Nu's will tip on over to the Saddle Club too, tonight.

Tri Delts and Chi Phi's will have dinner and a party at the Legion Hut Thursday night.

Pinnings this week include Pi Kappa Phi Wint Wilkes, Richmond, Va., and Barbara Braxton, Whiteville.

Pi Lam Seymour Bates, Greensboro, will soon marry Joyce Cohen, Petersburg, Va. Nuther Pi Lam, Jerry Moff of Burlington, pinned Roberta Palay of Miami Beach, Fla.

ADPi's will present pledge awards tonight at their banquet to be given at the house.

St. A's party given by the pledges Saturday must have been up to their usual. Dixie Land combo and beer.

Beta's are having a some kind of party at the house tomorrow night.

SPE Lacey Lucas of Greensboro will marry Emily Stonestreet, Winston-Salem.

Has everybody met Bill Current at the Kappa Sig house?

Lambda Chi's are having beer and party at the house tomorrow night.

Phi Delt pledges and their dates will have big party at the Legion Hut tonight.

Phi Kappa Sigs must be having big doings for their annual house-party the end or February cause cause they've started plans for it already.

Coffee this Sunday for all fraternities. Alpha Gam House, and it'll be held from 4:30 to 5:30 .

KD's are entertaining all professional fraternities with a coffee Sunday. Sounds like a real fine idea.

TEP's have some news over that way. Brother Alan Gordon, Raleigh pinned Betty Eaton, also of Raleigh. Newly engaged TEP is Eddie Goodman, Charlotte, who'll marry Shirley Klein, Atlanta.

AKPsi's will party Saturday after the State game. The word from them is that Bob Skidmore, Charlotte ,pinned Doris Campbell and Don Burton also of Charlotte pinned Bonny Mundy.

Pi Phi's will celebrate their weekend with a dinner and party tonight at the Saddle Club and a dessert party at the home of Jane Berryhill tomorrow before the pledge dance at the Inn.

Med student Herman Lineberger, Alpha Kappa Kappa from Charlotte, pinned Roberta Jones, also of Charlotte.

20 Students On Dean's List In Journalism

Twenty students in the School of Journalism made the Dean's List Fall Quarter.

To be eligible for the Dean's List a student must make not less than a B on all subjects.

On the list are—John L. Booker, Plymouth; Harvey D. Bradshaw, Greenville; Jane L. Carter, North Wilkesboro; Wallace E. Harrison, Spencer; Charles W. Haskett Jr., Elizabeth City; Samuel S. Holmes Jr., Fernandina, Fla.; Betty Ann Kirby, Winston-Salem; Frances M. McColl, Bennettsville, S. C.; Mary Louise Marks, Asheville.

Joseph H. Nelson, Rocky Mount; Carmen Oastler, Atlanta, Ga.; James R. O'Connor, New York; William J. O'Sullivan, Urbana, Va.; Neal W. Reichle, Durham; Jenkins M. Robertson, Charlotte; Robert McLean Upton, Godwin; J. Robert Ward, Caroleen; Florence Ann Williams, Washington; Albert Z. F. Wood Jr., Lancaster, S. C., and Elinor Wrenn, Greensboro.

Zuckerman Elected

Bill Zuckerman has been elected to the Debate Council.

WASHINGTON — Gen. Lucius Clay, Eisenhower's former chief of staff in Europe, was reported under consideration for the top defense post if the Senate does not confirm Charles E. Wilson.

TOPS IN HER CLASS
Named the nation's most beautiful schoolteacher in a nationwide contest, lovely Mrs. Nell Owen of Dallas, Tex., grades papers of her stduents who sent her picture in for judging. She won the prize which is an all-expense trip to Hollywood.

Wives To Be Entertained By Women's Auxiliary

The Women's Auxiliary of North Carolina Memorial Hospital will entertain members of the Sir Walter Cabinet, composed of wives of the State legislators and State officials Tuesday at the Hospital.

The Sir Walter Cabinet has a membership of 165.

Preliminary plans for the event were made by Mrs. W. W. Pierson, auxiliary president, and Mrs. W. R. Berryhill, chairman of the Public Relations Committee.

The program will begin at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning with a general meeting of the auxiliary in the auditorium of the Hospital when President Gordon Gray of the Consolidated University will speak.

Reports, to acquaint the visitors with the work of the auxiliary, will be made by Mrs. W. B. Abernethy, chairman of the Volunteer Services Committee; Mrs. Louis MacMillan, chairman of the Hospitality Shop; Mrs. J. C. Lyons, in charge of Information Desk and Miss Cornelia Love, chairman of the Library Committee.

There will be a coffee hour for the group in the lounge of the Nurses' Home at noon and afterward the visitors will be taken on a tour of the Hospital with Auxiliary members serving as guides.

MRS. NASH TO SPEAK

"Courtship for Moderns" will be Mrs .Arnold Nash's topic Sunday night when she speaks at the Hillel House.

Mrs. Nash, a native of England, is the wife of UNC Religion professor Dr. Arnold S. Nash. She was delegate to the White House Conference on Family Life and to the British Marriage Guidance Conference. In 1953 and 1954 she will accompany her husband to India where, under the auspices of the Harvard-Yenching Foundation, she will lecture on "Marriage Counseling Techniques".

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE

FOR SALE: COMPLETE LAW OFfice, all-metal furniture. Books: U. S. and N. C. Digests, U. S. Blashfield's Automobiles, 230 N. C. Reports, N. C. General Statutes, textbooks, etc. Reasonably priced. Telephone Winston-Salem 7644 or 2-1389 after 6 p.m.
Chg. one by one

WANTED: YOUNG LADY TO ASsist in dental office. Qualifications necessary: typing, knowledge of bookkeeping. Answer by letter. P. O. Box 1078, Chapel Hill.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

TYPESCRIPT SERVICE: THESES, plays, dissertions and similar work. Dial 9-3416 or go to 214 West Rosemary Street, Miss Kathryn McGalliard. (1c3462-2)

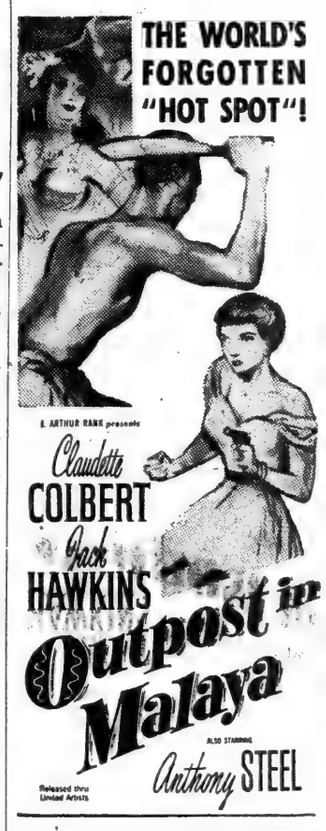
FOR RENT

ROOMS FOR WEEKENDS OR BY the day or week. Phone 7456, 406 Cameron Ave. Chg. one by one

ANNOUNCEMENTS

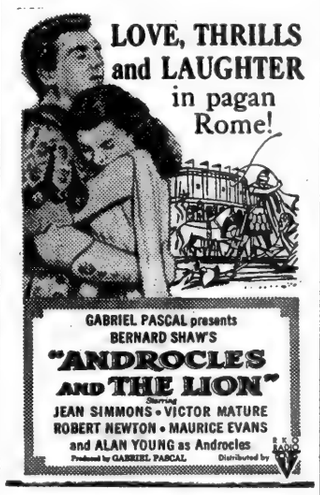
MANY USED GREEK AND LATIN Classics at the Unicorn, above Sutton's. Dial 9-6173, open 9-6.
Chg. one by one

New Officers Named By SAE Pi Kappa Phi



Pi Kappa Phi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities have elected officers this week.

Xi chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon elected Jim Whitton, Larchmont, N. Y., their new president. Other officers include Alex McMillan, Charlotte, vice-president; John Gold, Wilson, Secretary; John Mac DuBose, Chapel Hill, treasurer; and Henry Conner Charleston, S. C., rush chairman.



Alfred F. Cole Jr., Raeford, is the new president of Kappa chapter of Pi Kappa Phi. Other officers are William S. Bason, N. Wilkesboro, treasurer; Jerry A. Campbell, Taylorsville, secretary; Elmon S. Russell, Albemarle, warden; James Gulledge, Moncks Coner, S., historian; Ernest McInnis, Clio, S. C., chaplain.

Varsity

T-O-D-A-Y
SATURDAY

LATE SHOW
SATURDAY NIGHT

Starting Sunday

BROADWAY'S BEST COMEDY ABOUT THE BEST FRIEND ANY MARRIAGE EVER HAD!

A&P

Come See at A&P during '53

BIG VALUE!
ANN PAGE BEANS
YOUR CHOICE OF Vegetarian
Boston Style
Or With Pork
16-Oz. Can
10c

LIBBY'S CANNED MEATS
Corned Beef Hash - 16-Oz. Can 29c
Vienna Sausage - ½ Size Can 21c
Deviled Ham - ¼-Size Can 19c
Corned Beef - 12-Oz. Can 49c
Potted Meat - ½-Size Can 14c
Beef Tripe - No. 1 Can 27c
Roast Beef - 12-Oz. Can 55c

Ann Page
MAYONNAISE - - Qt. Jar 49c
Ann Page Regular or Elbow
MACARONI - - - 8-Oz. Pkg. 10c
Del Monte—Dole or Libby's Sliced
PINEAPPLE - - 1-Lb. 4-Oz. Can 29c
Del Rich Green & White
Lima Beans - - - - - - 2 16-Oz. Cans 25c
Daily — Fish Flavor or Regular
Dog Food - - - - - - - 2 1-Lb. Cans 19c
Packers Label
Orange Juice - - - - - - - Pt. 2-Oz. Can 10c
Sultana Flaked Light Meat
Tuna Fish - - - - - - - 2 6-Oz. Cans 45c
Ann Page — Preserves
Damson Plum - - - - - - 2-Lb. Jar 39c
Ann Page Sparkle
Puddings - - - - - - - 3 4-Oz. Pkgs. 17c

"Super-Right" Meats
Choice Western Beef—Porterhouse or—
T-BONE STEAK - - - Lb. $1.09
Choice Western Beef
SIRLOIN STEAK - - Lb. 99c
Choice Western Beef—7-in. Cut Boneless
RIB STEAK - - - Lb. 99c
Choice Western Beef—Chuck Blade
POT ROAST - - - - Lb. 59c
Freshly
GROUND BEEF - - Lb. 49c
Swift's Premium All Meat
FRANKS - - - - - 1-Lb. Pkg. 53c
Super Right Cut Up Pan Ready
FRYERS - - - - - Lb. 47c
Fresh Pork Loin Roast
LOIN END - - - - Lb. 45c
Center Cut—Rib
PORK CHOPS - - - Lb. 59c

Wilson's Corn King
SLICED BACON
1-Lb. Pkg. 49c

Fresh
PORK SAUSAGE
1-Lb. Pkg. 57c

WARWICK
Chocolate Covered
THIN MINTS
1-Lb. Pkg. 39c
Chocolate Covered
CHERRIES
1-Lb. Box 49c

Cut-Rite
Wax Paper
Roll 25c
Lifebuoy Soap
3 Reg. Bars 23c
Lifebuoy Soap
2 Bath Bars 23c

Rinso - - - - - Lge. Pkg. 27c Giant Pkg. 53c
Lux Toilet Soap - - - - - - - 3 Reg. Bars 23c
Lux Toilet Soap - - - - - - - 2 Bath Bars 23c
Swan Soap - - - - - 2 Lge. Bars 27c
Swan Soap - - - - 3 Reg. Bars 23c
Silverdust - Lge. Pkg. 28c Giant Pkg. 55c
Ivory Snow - - - - - - Lge. Pkg. 27c
Tide - - - - - - - Lge. Pkg. 29c Giant Pkg. 69c
Cheer - - - - - Lge. Pkg. 29c Giant Pkg. 69c
Dreft - - - - - - - - - Lge. Pkg. 29c
P&G Soap - - - - - 3 Bars 22c
Cocoanut Bars N.B.C. - - - 10-Oz. Pkg. 23c
Surf - - - - - - - - - Lge. Pkg. 29c

FRUITS & VEGETABLES
Crisp — 4 Doz. Size
Lettuce - - - - - 2 Heads 23c
Juicy Florida—Size 54's-64's
Grapefruit - - - - 4 For 23c
5 Doz. Size
Celery - - - - - - - - Stalk 8c
Juicy
Tangerines - - - - - Lbs. 10c
Crisp
Carrots - - - - - - - 1-Lb. Cello Bag 15c
Firm Golden Ripe
Bananas - - - - - 2 Lbs. 25c

These Prices Effective Thru Sat. January 24th

A&P Super Markets
THE GREAT ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC TEA COMPANY

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
6-31-49

UNC Conquers Pack, 70-69

SEE STORY ON SPORTS PAGE

WEATHER
Nice Sunday weather today. Enjoy yourslef.

The Daily Tar Heel

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 81 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, JANUARY 25, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

GONE
Logan Wilson is on a one-way journey. See ediotrial on page 2.

UNC Gifts Will Go To Korea

Manning Muntzing

Korea, a focal point in today's history, has been chosen recipient of the contributions made by Carolina students and faculty members to the international phase of the Campus Chest drive.

Addressing the Campus Chest Board after their decision, Wilmer Kitchen, executive secretary of the WSSF, said, "Korea is not Korea's fight, but rather the entanglements of a diversified world. This world has destroyed many of the institutions in Korea—over issues, for the most part, entirely foreign to its victim.

"It is this same world, which having destroyed, must now consider the problem, and it is their problem, of restoration. It must consider the problem; but above all, it must act on this problem."

As executive secretary to the World Student Service Fund which offers assistance to international universities, Kitchen told the Campus Chest Board in its Friday afternoon meeting of the "desperate need" for assistance to the war-ravaged universities of Korea.

The United Nation forces have asumed the responsibility of food for the children and homeless in order to prevent any hunger riots, and the fighting of diseases also has been assumed to protect the fighting men.

"Only the WSSF has risen to the task of education for the Koreans," declared Kitchen. "A task that can not be done empty handed or alone."

The Carolina Campus Chest group was shown a letter written by President Eisenhower, commending the World Student Service Fund, for its job done so far in Korea.

Stuart Jones, chairman of the local Campus Chest campaign, announced that the decision to split the program this year into two drives was final since no objections were raised by the board.

Commenting on this, Kitchen was "pleased to know that a split has been made. A successful cam-

(See CAMPUS CHEST, page 4)

NO, THEY'RE NOT BARBECUING THEIR socks. Seems that it's just so cold in Korea that wet socks freeze solid before they have time to dry, so these ingenious soldiers, Cpl. Malcolm L. Eastlick and Pfc. Fred Leblanc, have devised this "sock-roaster" to dry them out.—NEA Telephoto.

Consumers To Receive Natural Gas In April

Natural gas piped in from Texas will be in use in Chapel Hill by late April, according to the Durham office of the state Public Service Company.

Installation of the 30 miles of line extending from Burlington to Chapel Hill should begin shortly after the arrival of the first shipments of pipe expected within two weeks.

The change-over from the present manufactured gas will involve not cost to the 600 gas customers here. Harold P. Richmond, vice-president of the Public Service Company, predicts the natural gas will cost most customers considerably less since it generates nearly twice as much heat per cubic foot as does manufactured gas.

The complete switch-over to natural gas in this area is costing th ePublic Service Company about $2,750,000, Mr. Richmond said. It will also cost the company about $15 a customer to change over gas appliances for the use of the new product.

Sensationalism Bad For Press Warns Russell

By Dave Dear

"Sensationalism in the newspapers of today is one of the factors that make for poor relations with the readers," Phillips Russell, professor of journalism, told the final session of the Newspaper Institute of the North Carolina Press Association yesterday morning.

Speaking on "Great Phases in Modern Journalism" he pointed out that sensationalism isn't to be confused with yellow journalism, but rather the misrepresentation of actual facts.

Picking out small and incidental parts of news copy and playing it up in the lead paragraph and headlines is bad practice, Russell observed. He noted that many of the large metropolitan publications in the recent presidential campaign did this frequently.

Noting the trends toward pictorial newspapers, Russell commented, "Now we are in the picture age. Many newspaper subscribers are lookers, not readers. All they are interested in is the story in the picture with an explanatory caption. Proof of this is the story in Life Magazine.

North Carolina newspapers are slow in the realization of the importance of pictures, he pointed out. Lack of local news on the front page of our state papers is also deplorable. There should always be at least one local, one state, one national, and one international article on the front page.

Cassel Talks Tomorrow On Race Situation

"The Background of the Racial Problems in South Africa" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. John Cassel tomorrow at 5:30 p.m. in the Lenoir Hall upstairs dining room.

Speaking before a combined meeting of the Chapel Hill unit of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom and the YMCA World Understanding Supper Forum, the South African born physician is expected to tell of his experiences while practicing in a rural African area.

Chemist's Talk Set Tomorrow In Wilson Hall

Prof. George Glocker, chairman of the Department of Chemistry, Iowa University, will deliver a public lecture on "Originality and Simultaneity of Human Thought" in Wilson Hall Tomorrow.

The North Carolina chapter of the Society of Sigma Xi, chemistry fraternity, is sponsoring the lecture, which begins at 8 o'clock.

Prof. Glocker is on temporary leave from the University of Iowa while serving as director of the Chemical Sciences Division of the U. S. Army Office of Ordinance Research at Durham.

A distinguished scientist in the field of theoretical chemistry, he possesses an unusual ability to make scientific topics clear to the layman. He is the author, along with his wife, of a book, "Chemistry in Our Time," and has been a notable success in presenting series of popular lectures on atomic and nuclear structure in various Iowa cities.

COME ONA MY HOUSE

Connor Dormitory will make history today.

The dorm is holding open house this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock and has invited faculty and students. Its open house is the result of visiting privileges just granted. It is the first dormitory to be given the privilege of unchaperoned women visitors.

Carolina Coed To Report For Mademoiselle

Virginia Breece, Carolina student, has been chosen to serve on the national College Board of the fashion magazine Mademoiselle.

As a College Board member, Miss Breece will represent the University and report to Mademoiselle on college life and the college scene. She will be given three assignments in competition for one of 20 guest editorships to be awarded by the magazine at the end of May.

The guest editors will be brought to New York for four weeks next June to help write, edit and illustrate Mademoiselle's 1953 August College Issue. Their transportation will be paid to and from New York and they will receive a regular salary for their work.

Chafee For Rosenberg Leniency

The death sentence for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted atomic espionage agents, should be commuted, according to Dr. Zachariah Chafee Jr., Weil lecturer.

Dr. Chafee spoke here at Memorial Hall last week for three nights on "Freedom of Speech." He is a professor at Harvard Law School and has been a prominent figure in American civil liberty causes.

The fate of the Rosenbergs rests in the hands of President Eisenhower. The case has gone through appellate courts and the supreme court.

"There is some doubt of their guilt. They should live. Other people have committed worse offenses and have been allowed to live," he said. He cited the case of a man who helped sabateurs during World War II and was sentenced to death for treason. President Truman reduced this sentence to life imprisonment. Only one woman has ever been executed for treason. She was hanged in a bag because she was allegedly mixed up in the assination of Lincoln.

Trial judge Kaufman's statement that the Rosenbergs were responsible for death of hundreds of boys in Korea is questionable, Dr. Chafee declared.

Those who have asked for commutation of the sentence include Dr. Albert Einstein, columnist Dorothy Thompson, and atomic scientist Harold Urey.

Dr. Hurlburt Will Preside Over Meeting

Dr. Allan S. Hurlburt, director of the Bureau of Educational Research and Service in the School of Education, will spend this week in Atlanta where he will serve as chairman of a meeting of leaders on the Southern States Cooperative Program in Educational Administrational Administration.

The conference will bring together the directors of all the Kellogg Projects in educational administration now active in the Southern region, as well as others intimately associated with research. Dr. Hurlburt is State Director of the Kellogg Project in North Carolina.

Also attending from the University School of Education will be Dr. Samuel M. Holton, a member of the Kellogg Project staff in the state.

NEWS IN BRIEF

BOSTON—New Haven Railroad officials reported yesterday another case of brake trouble on a passenger train and said it didn't happen "accidentally." It was the sceond case of brake trouble since the Federal Limited from Boston plowed into the Union Station concourse at Washington when its brakes failed. The Senate Commerce Committee, which investigated the Union Station wreck, has turned its findings over to the FBI for investigation of possible sabotage. A New Haven spokesman disclosed here that a partly - closed angle cock valve was discovered Friday on the railroad's Boston to New York train, the New Yorker, during a routine inspection.

★

WASHINGTON — Charles E. Wilson finally seemed assured of Senate approval as defense secretary yesterday but at least one of his top defense aides faced possible rejection. Two prospective service secretaries—Robert T. B. Stevens, Army, and Harold E. Talbott, Air Force—appeared headed for confirmation trouble unless, like Wilson, they shed stock in companies doing business with the Defense Department. Stevens owns stock in a textile firm selling to the Defense Department and Talbott owns stock in three companies doing business with the department.

Morehead Has Life Exhibit

"The Medieval World," a photographic exhibition prepared by the editors of Life Magazine, is being shown in the Morehead Building. The exhibit will close Feb. 7.

This exhibition is made up of photographs which were published as a two-part pictorial essay in Life (April 7 and May 26, 1947) and also includes many pictures that had to be omitted from the magazine for lack of space.

Twenty-four panels, each containing from one to six photographs and captions delineate the roles of the church, the town and the castle in the day-to-day life of medieval man. The section devoted to the church reflects the medieval spirit in a sequence of panels which include the cathedral of Chartres, the Abbey church at Vezlay Fountains Abbey, sculptural details and color reproductions of stained glass from Bourges and Chartres.

The second division of the exhibition treats town life, late in the Middle Ages. Here are seen engravings of anonymous streets and street scenes as well as such centers of medieval life as Nuremburg, Dinkelsbuhl, Constance, Carcassone and Avignon.

'Larger Ears, Eyes Coming,' Says Yale Graduate Hersey

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 24—(Special)—The oldest college daily newspaper in the country will be 75 years old next Wednesday and to mark the occasion a distinguished group of Yale faculty members and alumni have helped the student editors publish an unusual anniversary book.

The student paper is the Yale Daily News, founded in 1878 and now serving the entire Yale community with a readership of some 8,000 persons.

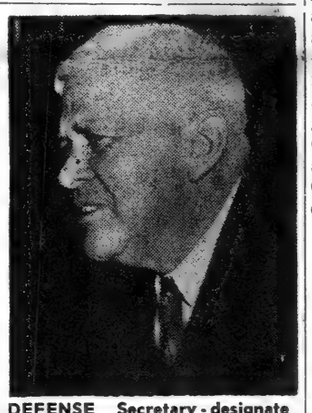
Their anniversary book, entitled "Seventy-five," contains original articles discussing the problems of the young man today and the uneasy world he lives in. And the authors of the articles which offer a great deal of advice and occasionally some praise and sympathy to the younger generation are men representing a wide range of activities.

Two noted writers, John Hersey, Class of 1936, and Archibald MacLeish, 1915, sound a pessimistic note in advising the young writers. Senator Robert A. Taft, 1910, warns that liberty is threatened by big government, while Robert A. Lovett, 1918, retiring Secretary of Defense, and Robert Moses, 1909, New York park commissioner, call for more college men to enter public service.

John Hersey, who served as a news editor while a Yale student, writes that "this is the age of th evacuum tube. We are evolving larger and larger ears, and soon we will be keeping ourselves cool in summertime by flapping grand, elephantine appendages at the sides of our heads, and though our eyes are still keen, and will probably stay small enough to swivel within sockets they have been given, they strain at anything but pictures-landscapes, roomscapes on brilliant screens, images transmitted by vacuum tubes . . .

"Ours is becoming a cultude of slogans, headlines, digests; the classics are done over as comic books; a candidate for the vice presidency of the land speaks to us in the accents of soap opera; news comes to us, not as stately procession of facts, but as a dance of epithets, a shower of untrustworthy kernels."

In contrast, Senator Robert A. Taft discusses government and freedom. "I am convinced," he declares, "that all our progress in the past 165 years is due to liberty, and the hope of progress in the future



Vaccinations Will Be Given Thru Tuesday

The deadline for influenza vaccinations has been extended to Tuesday, Dr. E. McG. Hedgpeth announced yesterday.

About 1200 students responded to the call for vaccinations last week, but this is not enough, Dr. Hedgpeth said. There is enough vaccine to serve another 1200. "We will keep vaccinating through Tuesday," Dr. Hedgpeth said. Vaccination hours are 9-5 with no break for lunch.

An influenza epidemic in Chapel Hill is possible. In fact, there is a fifty-fifty chance of such an outbreak. Students have been hit at the University of Florida and DePauw University in Greencastle, Ind. Flu has spread throughout the South with schools closed in Tennessee and South Carolina. Overseas, American soldiers in Europe and Korea have been struck down by the winter disease.

Scientists have isolated the flu virus and the vaccine, which includes a chicken embryo, is the best-available counter measure.

DEFENSE Secretary - designate Charles E. Wilson, who agreed to get rid of his $2,700,000 in General Motors Stock, undergoes questioning before Senate Armed Services Committee.—NEA Telephoto.

Researcher To Discuss Statistics

Dr. George E. P. Box, an Englishman who is this year engaged in research in the Institute of Statistics here, will address the Statistics Colloquium at 4 o'clock tomorrow.

The meeting will be held in room 206 Phillips Hall. It will be preceded by a tea at 3:30 in the statistical laboratory for statisticians and their friends.

Dr. Box, who is internationally known for his contributions to mathematical statistics and the techniques of designing, has been associated with Imperial Chemical Industries at its research laboratory in Manchester, England. He is

11 Initiated By Phi Delts

Eleven students have been initiated into Beta Theta chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary educational fraternity.

They are James J. Coley, Selma; Joseph G. Fallon, Angwin, Calif.; Hughes B. Hoyle Jr., Charlotte; Julian King, Winston-Salem; James A. Kiser, Newton; Carlton W. Sprague, Danville, Va.; Raymond A. Stone, Louisburg; William G. Teachey, High Point; Jesse M. Vuncannon, High Point; Richard B. Wilson, Chapel Hill and Jay V. Wise, Kannapolis.

Presbyterians To Plan New Church

Formal organizational services for the second Presbyterian church here will be held at 3 p.m. today in the Institute of Pharmacy auditorium on Church St.

The Orange Presbytery Judicial Commission charged with setting up the new church will supervise the services. As yet no name has been selected for the church.

D. J. Walker of Burlington will lead the invocation prayer. A statement of purposes and introduction of members of the commission will be made by the Rev. Z. T. Piephoff, commission chairman. E. Frank Andrews, Greensboro, will give the scripture reading, the Rev. John C. Whitley, Leadsville, reception of members and baptism, M. E. Yount, Graham, delivering of the covenant and prayer, and Charles W. Perry, High Point, welcome to the new congregation.

The Rev. Connelly Gamble of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, will deliver the sermon. Mr. Gamble was a signer of the petition for a new church while here at the University last year. Mrs. Robert O'Briant of Fayetteville will sing a solo and Thomas D. Rose, acting chairman of the congregation, will present the membership list. Following the services the congregation will elect its elders and deacons.

According to the petition of March 2, 1952, the forming group asked that a new church be organized "in order to meet more adequately the spiritual and pastoral needs of Chapel Hill." Most of them are former members of the congregation of th Rev. Charlie Jones, Chapel Hill pastor who has been asked to resign by the Judicial Commission because of some of his doctrinal views.

Negro Seeks Public Office; Is UNC Grad

The University's second Negro graduate yesterday entered the Greensboro City Council race.

J. Kenneth Lee, 29, Greensboro attorney who last summer graduated from the Law School here, is the third candidate to file for the race.

Lee was admitted to the University following a long drawn-out legal battle in June of 1951 when the Supreme Court refused to review a lower court decision which opened the Law School to Negro students.

He began the general practice of law in Greensboro last September, after being admitted to the state bar in August.

A native of Charlotte, he received his bachelor's degree from A. & T. College, Greensboro, in 1944, served two years in the Navy, returned to A. and T. as an instructor in electrical engineering, then entered the Law School of N. C. in Durham where he remained until admitted to the Law School here.

POLITICAL UNION TO MEET

The Carolina Political Union will meet tonight in the Grail Room to discuss the confirmation of Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense.

"There are only two possible courses of action consistent with our American principles," said Donald Sherry of the CPU. "We may repeal the law or we may reject Mr. Wilson; to overlook the law would be to establish a bad precedent."

STUDENT BUDGET

Campus organizations desiring to receive funds from the student budget for 1953-54 should submit their budget estimates to Ed Gross, secretary-treasurer, in the Student Government office, first floor, Graham Memorial, prior to Feb. 1.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. — Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

Night Editor for this issue: Tom Parramore.

The Eyes Of Texas

Probably many students haven't noticed the disappearance of a tall gray-haired and mild-mannered Texan.

If they knew Dr. Logan Wilson, now president of the University of Texas at Austin, they may have known that he was Academic Vice-President and Provost of the Consolidated University. What that title meant, however, to students, would be a good quesion.

Dr. Wilson's duties were largely "unpublicized" as President Gordon Gray points out. When Gray first came here two years ago, he knew that he needed a right hand man in academic affairs, for after all, one of the chief consolidation aims was to provide for an integrated curriculum for all three branches.

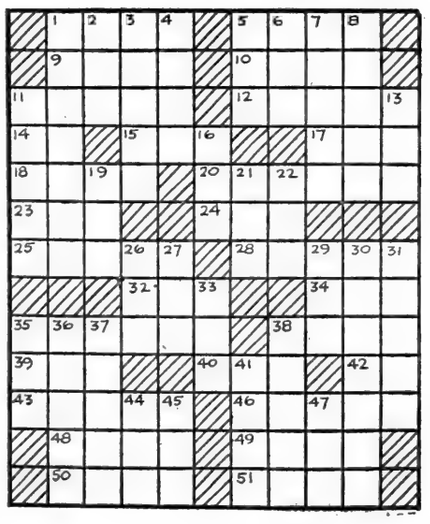
The main problem facing Dr. Wilson was probably "Who should do what?" Is that a State College job, a task for Woman's College, or should the University at Chapel Hill handle the work? This allocation of functions was a matter of chief concern to Dr. Wilson during his short two year stay. Other duties of his post included the composition of a consolidated faculty manual, in which identification on policies of tenure, etc., were stated, a "Who's Who" of the Greater UNC, and committee leadership on varied acadmic matters, including the educational television work. Dr. Wilson sliced in half Gray's burden in the most trying of times for the former Secretary of the Army. Here was a transitional period of the most difficult type. A man trained to administer newspapers and armies, had to begin all over again and administer a great University, over 12,000 strong. Dr. Wilson made possible the concentration of Gray's efforts in other equally important areas, areas that might not have been touched if such a position had not been created.

Mr. Gray described the departure of Dr. Wilson for the Lone Star state as a "real loss to all three institutions. He noted, "I'm sorry that they had the wisdom to offer him the job. We regret that he received the call from Texas but not that he saw fit to take it."

It is always difficult for students, particularly, to visualize the program of the Consolidated University. It seems that the State Legislature's Advisory Budget Commission has the same difficulty. (The Commission refused a request for the inclusion of salaries for the academic vice-president's job and others connected with Gray's office). If we are at Chapel Hill, then we want Chapel Hill to be first on the lists for consideration. This applies to students at State and W. C.

The purpose of consolidation, however, is one of economy of effort, greater utilization of resources, and development of an enlarged program for the benefit of all citizens of the State. Dr. Wilson's post is a key one, and his departure leaves a vacancy that will be hard to fill.

The Daily Tar Heel recommends that Greater UNC seeks out another scholar, one with a broad educational background and a man with a cooperative nature who will continue and enlarge upon the programs already initiated by Dr. Wilson.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Speedy
5. Father (A title of honor)
9. Poker stake
10. Farm building
11. Thresh
12. Edge
14. Actinium (sym.)
15. Important branch of Tai race
17. Observe
18. Tardy
20. Sociable
23. Pig pen
24. Attempt
25. Weird
28. Pinaceous tree
32. Rotating piece (mach.)
34. Epoch
35. To cleave to
38. A fuel
39. Female deer
40. Thrice (mus.)
42. Twice (prefix)
43. Arrange, as folds
46. Means of communication
48. Man's name
49. Portico (Gr. arch.)
50. Luck (Anglo-Irish)
51. Gull-like bird

DOWN
1. Sickle-shaped
2. Miscellany
3. Steps over a fence
4. Web-like membrane
5. Warp-yarn
6. Stripe
7. Sharp
8. Girl's name (poss.)
11. Deceptive
13. Part of a lock
16. Often (poet.)
19. God of war (Norse)
21. Grampus
22. Lixivium
26. Frozen water
27. Organ of hearing
29. River (Eng.)
30. Native of Arabia
31. Rate
33. Encountered
35. Affix
36. Type of architecture
37. Lift with exertion
38. Talk at length
41. Formerly
44. A dance step
45. Half ems
47. June bug

Yesterday's Answer

John Gibson

Pulque

Everybody's Going to Connor Dorm Today, Are You?

The Open House at Connor dorm, between three and five this afternoon, is rather a significant event. It is important not only to the graduate students, but to all the campus. For this is the first time that visiting privileges have been granted a men's dorm.

Today's gathering will mark a milestone in the school's social life, and more particularly in the graduate social life. And, as they say in the movies, it happened because of years of planning and hard work on the part of a determined group of people. The Committee that finally put it across was made up of Earl Diamond, Paul Somerville, Conrad Warlick, Dan Fabb, and Jay Hodes. Those graduate students who have taken the time to climb out of their self-imposed shells of academic boredom will know that all of these men have contributed a great deal to this campus, besides being good scholars in the process. Earl was one of the stalwarts behind the successful but short lived run of the Graduate Club last year.

Indeed, Connor dorm has been the main, perhaps the only force behind what few social activities the graduate students have had. The open houses at that building, and the dances at Kenan, are hte bright spots on an otherwise rather dull mural of graduate life. And they are important spots too. Many graduate students are able to convince themselves that they have much too much work to do to get out and mingle with others. Every once and a while they are right, but more often it is simply a handy rationalization to cover up a plain social laziness. To the students who argue that we are here to learn, I say "granted." But we are also here to become academic people, not academic minds. We live in a milieu of other individuals, and if we would enjoy life to the utmost, we must learn to get along wtih our neighbors. We should, perhaps, imitate the undergraduate in this respect, just making sure we don't carry it quite so far.

But getting back to the men at Connor (and I sincerely urge you to go to Connor today) they deserve a lot of credit for their work. And so do some others. This action has been made out as a battle royal between the students and the administration. This makes good newspaper copy, but it is not the whole story. There have been many folks in South Building working along with the students most of the time. The main force acting against the scheme was tradition, and you can't blame that on any particular individual. Today's open house should be regarded more as a cooperative success, than a smashing victory. So to the folks in the administration, who usually get more brick-bats than flowers, this columnist would like to say, "thanks a lot." Ditto to the students who had a finger in it.

There remains but one thing for the fellows in Connor to do. That involves solving a rather difficult paradox. There is little doubt that the graduate students, more than any others, needed a place of their own to meet. Yet one very much fears that they will not take advantage of it. Graduate students sort of float around in an academic limbo, isolated from each other, and from the rest of the students on campus. They come here, live here, and leave here, without ever getting to meet many of the really wonderful people who make Chapel Hill their temporary or permanent address. Lost in a disciplinary specialization, they soon fall into a social sone. Today's party offers a chance to begin the breakdown of that isolation. Let's make it a good start.

AT N. Y. U.

Student reaction to a recent snowfall on the New York University campus evoked the following statement from two NYU deans:

"When snow is on the campus, we ask you to please refrain from throwing snowballs in front of the buildings, into or out of classroom windows, and along heavily-travelled walks and roads . . ."

And so another of life's little pleasures is restricted.

RAH!

In Richmond, Ind., after seeing her first football game, three-year-old Candice Elias, daughter of the Richmond High School coach, devised a new bedtime prayer: "God bless Mommy, God bless Daddy, Rah, rah, rah, rah."

Dorman Cordell

STEWPOT

Once, many, many years ago, there was a first-class confidence man in an ancient civilization, who saw the follies of man, and how easy most persons could be hoodwinked.

And this man saw that people wished to be "cultured" above all things, and would pay all sorts of money to reach that goal. They bought pictures, went to concerts, and read books, all to be cultured. And all those who called themselves cultured were constantly on the lookout for new art, music, and literature.

And a great inspiration came upon this first-class confidence man. He said to himself, "I will create new art, music, and literature for all these cultured folks."

First, he decided to enter the field of art. Gathering around him several kinds of paints, he took a smidgin of this, and a bit of that, and a little of this, closed his eyes, and smeared it all together on a piece of canvas. When he looked it was horrible.

"Ah, just what I wanted," he exclaimed. And off he went to the nearest art exhibit, to enter his painting.

And all the patrons strolled by to gaze at all the cultured paintings. But when they came to the confidence man's painting, they all stopped and stared.

"Ah, my friends," said the confidence man, "I see you recognize true genius at a glance."

And each patron turned to the other, and said, "Yes, it is wonderful, isn't it?" Because they didn't wish to show their ignorance of true culture.

The paintings were shown all around the land, and all who wished to be cultured mused, "I don't understand it, so it must be great." And they called the confidence man blessed.

But the peasants were ignorant, and lacked feeling for the finer things of life. And one peasant said to another, "It is just a garble of colors, and is utterly senseless." And the cry went up among all who heard.

And great cultured persons all over the land rose to the defense of the modernistic art. They used much space and many spoken and printed words to express the feelings and artistic expressions shown in the paintings.

And other artists also seriously began to paint the new modernistic kinds of paintings, and a whole new school of art was founded.

But the first-class confidence man had by now tired of his sports, and was fabulously wealthy from his paintings. So he decided to reveal the truth about his paintings. And he stood before the world, and said, "The paintings were all hoaxes. There was no meaning to them at all. It was all a joke to play on you would-be cultured people."

However, the cultured folks and the critics and the artists all rose up, and decried the words of the confidence man. "Oh, yes, your paintings did depict great inner emotions and feelings, whether you knew it or not, and you are unconsciously a genius." And none would believe they could have been fooled so thoroughly.

But this was, of course, many, many years ago in another civilization, which crumbled with the advance of time and learning. And today we rejoice that men could never be fooled by such a confidence man. For after all, today our artists are sensible, and the people are sensible, and they would never stand for such tomfoolery.

Ah, it's wonderful to be living in the age of enlightenment!

LAND OF THE FREE

"The increasing divorce rate is rapidly making America the land of the free, all right," a visiting Englishman said to an American friend.

"Yes," said the American, a somewhat hen-pecked husband, "but the marriage rate is increasing too, showing that America is still the home of the brave."

Norman Jarrard

Review

All campus coffee-cup and dormitory philosophers — and some who are more advanced—should run a copy of Bertrand Russell's Unpopular Essays (Simon & Schuster, $1.00). It will provide some good lean meat to go along with the fat that is chewed in the ordinary bull-session. Since sex and women are frequent topics among the men (I wont' presume to speak for co-eds), knowledge of the greatest living philosopher's opinion on the subject should make anyone automatically one-up on his opponent in any discussion. Such opinions are scattered here and there in the book. At one place he talks about the times when sex is and isn't "sin." He says, "One eminently orthodox Catholic divine laid it down that a confessor may fondle a nun's deletion, provided he does it without evil intent." But, as Russell goes on to say, "I doubt whether modern authorities would agree with him on this point."

There are many other things in this book, though. Altogether there are twelve relatively short essays (although the cover advertises fourteen). The thread that holds them together is Russell's consistent opposition to any and all kinds of dogmatism, or, stated affirmatively, support of the Liberal creed of "live-and-let-live, of toleration and freedom so far as public order permits, of moderation and absence of fanaticism in political programs."

Appropriately, the longest essay is titled "An Outline of Intellectual Rubbish," from which the above quotation was taken. In it he discusses "sillinesses of our day" and former times. A reader may want to turn to it first, before turning to more serious parts. A less interesting essay is "The Functions of a Teacher," in which Russell sees part of the business of teachers in endeavoring to "instill into the young the habit of impartial inquiry, leading them to judge issues on their merits and to be on their guard against accepting ex parte statements at their face value." Other essays that I particularly liked were the following—with a quotation from each: "Philosophy and Politics": "That Plato's Republic should have been admired, on its political side, by decent people is perhaps the most astonishing example of literary snobbery in all history"; "Philosophy's Ulterior Motives": "I should define it 'philosophy) rather as 'an unusually ingenious attempt to think fallaciously"; "Ideas That Have Helped Mankind": "If we wish to understand natural laws, we must get rid of every kind of ethical and aesthetic bias"; and "Ideas That Have Harmed Mankind": "It is one of the drawbacks to asceticism that it sees no harm in pleasures other than those of sense, and yet, in fact, not only the best pleasures, but also the worst, are purely mental."

All this is topped by Russell's own "Obituary", in which he says, "His principles were curious, but, such as they were, they governed his actions." Another of his books within the means of students is The Conquest of Happiness, Signet, 25c.

Norman Jarrard

OBSERVANT

The most observant person in the world was the one who noticed Lady Godiva was riding a horse.

Tom Parramore

Ambition

Economy just on the verge of collapse,
A public now waiting in panic.
Enemies lurking to strike us, perhaps,
With terrible weapons titantic.

Government reeling, corrupt to the core,
Congress, a subject of mirth.
Sons gone to fight a perpetual war,
In a land at the end of the earth.

Crime taking hold at a furious rate,
Threatening shouts from the mob.
Down by the hull is the old ship of state.
(And to think that he ran for the job!)

Express Yourself

Editor:

Hissss . . . no, you are not in the Reptile Division of the Bronx Zoo, but rather in the Carolina or Varsity Theatres here in Chapel Hill. Any night you might feel brave enough to sally forth and attempt to enjoy a movie, (which, by the way, Hollywood tells us are getting better than ever, and I might name "Pony Soldier", "Flat Top", "The Wizard of Oz") you will invariably prick up your ears at some wierd sound that would seem to be the mating cry of the East Indian Cobra (backed by Percy Faith and the Crew). What you hear is the war cry of the Chapel Hillian Cobra, species Collegus, josephus. (References taken from Carl Ditmar). Whether it be a good or bad movie, half the lines will be lost in this veritable onslaught of hisses and you will need to take you a portable combination radar - snorkel-sonar system to pick up any lines of the dialogue that might accidentally seep through. If Truman's picture is flashed on the screen . . . Hiss. If President Eisenhower's . . . Hissss. I don't doubt that if the countenance of Zapata, Pogo, (Copyright 1952 Walt Kelly All Rights Reserved) or Disgusting Yokum were flashed on the result would be the same. Please, in the future for the sake of those who would like to enjoy the movie let us confine this imitation of a giraffe with laryngitis and hoof and mouth disease (mit complications yet) to the Jan Garber shorts, pictures of McCarthy (not of E. Bergen fame), or stuff like "Ride the Nag Down" or Mack Sennett comedies and let us leave the good pictures alone.. Guess everybody will read this, laugh, throw the paper away and wonder who wrote it. Let's go watch the fights on TV!!!

Ron Levin

WORKING OUR WAY

The old romantic concept that students who work their way through college get more out of it was dealt a low blow recently by an administrator at Michigan State Normal college, whose survey of students working showed that out of 110 students surveyed, 29 had less than a C average and 12 withdrew before the semester ended.

Fighting Cagers Finally Strike Out 'Mighty Case'

Vayda's Basket With Seconds Left In Game Good For Victory

By Biff Roberts

WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM, Raleigh, Jan. 24—There was no joy in Raleigh tonight—Mighty Case finally struck out. Carolina's Tar Heels, shackled by 15 straight defeats by Everett Case and North Carolina State Wolfpack, quenched a seven year drought here tonight, outfighting, outplaying and out scoring the Pack, 70-69, to win their eleventh Southern Conference victory of the season.

Decided underdogs before the game, the Tar Heels got off to an early start, held a slight lead throughout the third and fourth periods, and then dropped State to its third loss of the season when Jerry Vayda scored with only 24 seconds remaining in the game.

The Wolfpack had a chance to go ahead after Vayda's last basket, but they missed with only 15 seconds to go. Al Lifson got the rebound, brought it upcourt and passed to Gene Glancey who was fouled by Bill Kukoy. Glancey missed both free throws, but Lifson got the ball and the game ended with it in his hands.

The Tar Heels took an early lead, moving out front 8-1 in the opening minutes, and stayed ahead until midway in the fourth quarter.

Then, with four minutes to go, Bobby Speight put the 'Pack in the lead 63-62. Eddie Morris added one more point on a free throw.

But then Bud Maddie tied it back up with two free throws, 64-64. From there on it was almost point for point. The closest State could come to victory came when Mel Thompson hit on three free throws for a 67-64 State lead.

Carolina newcomer, Tony Radovich hit on two free throws and pulled the Tar Heels back in favor of State 69-68. But then came Vayda's push from the side to make it 70-69. That was it.

For the Tar Heels, victory brought a firm hold on the southern Conference lead. They now have an 11-1 record in the Conference. The loss was State's second in the family and temporarily dropped the 'Pack from the race for first place.

It was only the second Conference loss for State in Raleigh since Case came here seven years ago.

It was definitely a pro-State crowd here but there were times during the night when cries of "Beat State" threatened to drown out the cheers for "Go State."

Lifson was the high Carolina man tonight, pacing the Carolina scoring with 19 points. Vayda hit for 18 and Maddie for 12.

Dave Gotkin was the only thing that kept State in the game during the early part of the battle and he ended up with 20 points to tie Speight for scoring honors.

Slim Paul Likins, Carolina's 6-9 center, was the rebounding master for the Tar Heels, taking 17 off the boards, before fouling out midway in the fourth quarter. For the Carolina team it was a great victory.

Carolina	fg	ft	pf	tp
Grimaldi	4	0	5	8
Vayda	7	4	3	18
Likins	2	3	5	7
Glancey	0	0	0	0
Wallace	2	0	0	4
Lifson	9	1	3	19
Maddie	4	4	5	12
Radovich	0	2	0	2
Totals	28	14	21	70

State	fg	ft	pf	tp
Tyler	4	0	1	8
Gotkin	8	4	0	20
Scheffel	0	0	0	0
Kukoy	3	2	3	8
Speight	9	2	1	20
Applebaum	0	1	0	1
Yurin	0	0	3	0
Thompson	1	5	3	7
Morris	0	3	2	3
Knapp	1	0	1	2
Totals	26	17	14	69

Double Fault

The prices for the professional tennis matches to be played in Chapel Hill on February 23, as quoted in the Tar Heel yesterday were incorrect.

There are approximately 1500 student and general admission tickets on sale with the student tickets selling for $1.25, instead of the $1.50 stated yesterday. General admission tickets are $1.75 as quoted. Reserved seats will sell for $2.50.

JV's Trounced 113-71 By Big State Frosh

RALEIGH, Jan. 24 — (Special)— Ronnie Shavlik, N. C. State's 6 foot seven inch center from Denver, Colo., scored 35 points against Carolina's J.V.'s here tonight as the State J.V.'s, trounced the Tar Heels 113 to 71.

Carolina's own Gene McCabe hit for 29 points but it wasn't near enough to keep his team in the ball game.

State took an overwhelming lead from the start, leading 25 to 15 at the first quarter, and romped home from there.

Coach Buck Freeman substituted freely throughout the game but his Tar Babies were unable to close the gap. The halftime score was 49-36 in State's favor.

State's big quarter came in the fourth period when the Wolflets threw in 33 points against the Tar Heels.

State's Vic Molodet was second high tonight, hitting for 30 points while Bill Bell found the range for 26. Runner-up for Carolina was Tommy Shores with 11 points.

The Wolflets, using a free-running game were charged with 32 fouls but the Tar Babies could connect on only 15 of those free tosses.

State, on the other hand, went to the free throw line 46 times and connected on 31, more than enough to make the difference.

Shavlik hit 14 field goals and 7 free throws for his top effort, while Molodet hit on 11 goals and 8 free throws for his 30 points. McCabe also had 14 filed goals but could get only one free throw.

It was 80 ot 56 at the end of the third quarter but the Wolflets ran away with it in the final quarter, getting 33 while limiting the Tar Heels to 13. Gene Nielson, Carolina guard, played a good floor game and contributed 8 points.

FLOWERS or GIFTS

WHATEVER YOUR NEEDS

— ITS —

University Florist

ROBBIN'S BLDG.

Barclay Is Named Head Coach Here

The long awaited announcement of George Barclay's appointment as head coach of the Carolina football team was finally made Friday afternoon by the University.

Barclay's salary was not announced, but the unofficial estimate is $10,000, a one-thousand dollar increase over his salary as assistant to Carl Snavely last year. Barclay received a three-year contract.

C. P. Erickson, director of athletics, and Chancellor of the University R. B. House also announced that Marvin Bass had been given a three-year contract as line coach, upon the recommendation of Barclay. Bass is a former Carolina assistant coach and recently resigned as line coach of the Washington Redskins professional football team.

Gordon Gray, president of the University, polled members of the trustee's Executive Committee Thursday night, and they approved Barclay's appointment.

Barclay said he would appoint a backfield coach, an end coach, and a freshman coach, subject to approval of University officials.

Barclay succeeds Carl Snavely, who was his coach in 1934 when the former guard was an All-American for the Tar Heels. Snavely resigned under pressure on December 2, and speculation as to his successor ran high for over a month before Barclay's appointment became obvious last week.

Barclay left his position as head coach at Washington and Lee University to come to Carolina and help Snavely install the split-T last spring. He began coaching at VMI in 1936, then moved to Carolina as frosh coach. He went to Oberlin College for a year, and followed that with two years on the Dartmouth staff.

While in the Navy he coached at Georgia Pre-Flight under Rex Enright, Don Faurot, and Jim Tatum. After his discharge he returned to Dartmouth for a year, then moved to Maryland for two years under Tatum. He spent the last three years as head coach of Washington and Lee.

WORLD AFFAIRS MEET

The third annual conference on world affairs arranged by the Extension Division for women's church and civic leaders over the state will be held here Feb. 4.

Carolina Jayvee Mermen Win Second Swim Meet

Coach Dick Jamerson's freshman swimming team notched their second win of the season in as many starts as they took an easy 51-22 victory over Greensboro High yesterday afternoon in Bowman Gray pool.

The "Baby Dolphins" placed first in all but two events, the 150-yard individual medley and the 200-yd. relay. The freshmen swimmers also won second place in most of the events.

In the diving event, Carolina's John Hussey turned in a very good performance as he rolled up 197 points against his opponents 114.

The closest contest was the 200-yd. relay event, where Carolina's anchor man, Perry, came within two yards of overtaking his opponent in the final fifty-yard lap.

Freshman swimmers representing V. P. I. also took part in the event, but were in competition against Carolina only. Carolina also won their meet over them, the score being 48-26.

The summaries are as follows:

50 freestyle—Eldridge (C) Dannenbaum (C) Atwater (G) Time—25:5.

100 backstroke—Diffenbach (C) Harden (C) Coberlin (G) 1:06.2.

200 freestyle—Parks (C) Holmes (C) 2:14.2.

100 breaststroke—McAllister (C) Woltz (C) Tunstall (G) 1:07.5.

100 freestyle—Baker (C) Shipman (G) Davis (C) 56:8.

Diving—Hussey (C) Carson (G).

150-yd. individual medley—Colson (G) Tice (C) 1:57.2.

150-yd. medley relay — Cook, Boyd, Owen (C) 1:38.8.

200-yd. relay — Greensboro — 1st 1:55.3.

PEPSI-COLA

DURHAM PEPSI - COLA BOTTLING CO.

305 South St. Durham

Especially For You. . .

STEAKS THE BIGGEST, JUCIEST T-BONES AND TENDERLOINS THIS SIDE OF TEXAS.

FRIED CHICKEN EVERYBODY'S ALL-TIME FAVORITE.

SEA FOODS SIZZLING SHRIMP AND OYSTERS SERVED AT THEIR MOUTH-WATERING BEST FOR YOU.

ALSO-- Rudy's Original 21 Shrimp in The Basket 99c

YOU JUST CAN'T BEAT THESE COMBINATIONS OF SOUTHERN STYLE COOKING SERVED WITH GOOD OLD FASHIONED SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY AT —

Bill's Drive-In

GREENSBORO HIGHWAY AT CARRBORO

ICE CAPADES OF 1953

THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE

Mail order for tickets

COLISEUM IN RALEIGH

WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
N. C. State College—P. O. Box 5905
RALEIGH, N. C.

Children ½ Price Friday Matinee Only

Mon. Eve. Feb. 16 ☐
Tue. Eve. Feb. 17 ☐
Wed. Eve. Feb. 18 ☐
Thur. Eve. Feb. 19 ☐
Fri. Mat. Feb. 20 ☐
Fri. Eve. Feb. 20 ☐
Sat. Mat. Feb. 21 ☐
Sat. Eve. Feb. 21 ☐

Enclosed is $..... for ..... tickets at $..... each

Price: $3.00 ..... $2.50 ..... $2.00 ..... $1.50

Name ..... Address .....

City ..... State ..... Phone No. .....

PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS

Swimers Set SC Dual Meet Record In 400 Yard Relay

Carolina's unbeatable swimming team came through again with another record while they were defeating the Gobblers from Virginia Tech by a score of 54-30. It was the fifth win of the season for the Tar Heels and extends their overall mark to thirty-one consecutive dual meets.

The best performances of the meet came in the last event, the 400 yard freestyle relay. In this event, Buddy Heins, Buddy Baracke, Donnie Evans, and Jack Edwards teamed together to set a new Southern Conference dual meet record and also a new University record. Their time was 3:28.6. This cut 5.3 seconds from the old SC standard. Each one of the four swimmers individually bettered the conference record for the 100 yard dash, but of course this cannot be official because it was done in a relay. Sophomore Jack Edwards turned in the best time with a 51.8.

The overall time for the relay is the best time turned in this year by any team in the country.

Buddy Heins tied the Conference dual meet record when he did a 23.4 in the 50 yard dash. The record was set by Rick Levy of UNC last year.

Joe Kelso performed well on the low board and won handily. Tommy Gill and Charlie Wolf placed first and second in the 440 yard freestyle race. Warren Heeman and Smith Jewell took honors in the 200 yard backstroke. One of the closest races of the day came in the 200 yard breaststroke when Stan Tinkham of UNC was touched out by Jones of Va. Tech. Barry

(See SWIM, page 4)

MURALS

Tomorrow's Basketball

4:00—Court 1, Emerson-2 vs Lewis-3; Court-2, Phi Delt-4 vs Zeta Psi 2; Court 3, Beta-1 vs ATO-4; Court 4, Phi Gam-4 vs Chi Psi-2; Court 5, Phi Kap Sig-1 vs Phi Gam-3; Court 6, Chi Psi-1 vs Pi Lamb; Court 7, SAE-1 vs Phi Gam-1.

5:00—Court 1, Graham-1 vs TMA; Court 2, Kap Sig-1 vs KA-1; Court 3, Psi-1 vs Sig Chi-4; TEP-1 vs Delt Psi; Court 5, Kap Psi-2 vs KA-3; Court 6, Lamb Chi-1 vs Phi Delt-1; Court 7, Phi Kap Sig-3 vs Delt Sig Pi.

7:00—Court 1, Alexander-1 vs Everett-2; Court 2, Joyner-4 vs Ruffin-2; Court 3, Cobb-1 vs Winston-1; Court 4, SAE-2 vs AK Psi; Court 5, KA-2 vs ATO-2; Court 6, SAE-3 vs Pi Kap Phi-2; Court 7, Aycock-2 vs Winston-3.

8:00—Court 1, ZBT-2 vs Zeta Psi-3; Court 2, Theta Chi-1 vs Sig Nu-2; Court 3, Phi Delt Chi-1 vs Theta Chi-2; Court 4, Beta-3 vs PiKA-1; Court 5, Sig Chi-2 vs ATO-1; Court 6, Zeta Psi-4 vs Kap Sig-2; Court 7, Joyner-3 vs Cobb-3.

Tomorrow's Table Tennis

4:00—Sig Chi-2 vs KA-4; 4:30—Sig Nu-2 vs Theta Chi; 5:00—SAE-2 vs Phi Gam-3; 5:30—PiKA-3 vs ATO-4; 7:00—ZBT-2 vs Kap Sig-5; 7:30—Kap Sig-1 vs Phi Delt-3; 8:00—Phi Delt-2 vs Chi Psi-1; 8:30—Phi Gam-1 vs SPE-4.

TODAY AND MONDAY

PLUS McDOAKES NOVELTY NEWS

Carolina

FINAL WEEK

OF OUR GREATEST

JANUARY Clearance

WE ARE HAPPY OVER YOUR ENTHUSIASTIC RESPONSE TO OUR SALE! BUT WE'RE NOT SURPRISED, FOR WE KNOW THAT THE VALUES WE ARE OFFERED ARE THE MOST OUTSTANDING.

SAVE UP TO 50% AND MORE

NATIONALLY KNOWN MAKES

OF MEN'S FINE WEARING APPAREL

HOW ABOUT YOU? HAVE YOU CASHED IN ON THIS BIG EVENT? REMEMBER, IT WILL BE A LONG SIX MONTHS BEFORE THE SPORT SHOP HOLDS A STORE-WIDE CLEARANCE SALE AGAIN — SO HURRY IN NOW WHILE YOUR CHOICE IS STILL CHOICE! SALE ENDS SATURDAY!

THE Sport SHOP

N. COLUMBIA ST.

Chapel Hill, N. C.

BUY NOW!

VALENTINE CARDS

NOW ON DISPLAY

LEDBETTER-PICKARD

Feb. 14th IS THE DAY

Laughton Cites Playmakers As Among 'Busiest'

By William Hardy

"It seems to me that we and you people here in Chapel Hill are the busiest theatre people in America today."

This rather broad statement came from the world renowned actor, Charles Laughton, as he prepared to meet with a group of drama students in the Playmakers Theatre at the University of North Carolina.

Laughton was in Chapel Hill with his production of "John Brown's Body" which played to capacity audiences recently in Memorial Hall for two performances.

Getting back to that opening statement, the "we" referred to Laughton and his manager, young Paul Gregory, who have provided the impetus for a real revolutionary movement in bringing the best talent in the theatre out of Hollywood and New York to people all over the country.

The "people in Chaple Hill" are, of course, the famed Carolina Playmakers. Laughton was talking specifically about the outdoor summer dramas which have sprung from the pens of Paul Green and Kermit Hunter and which draw their lifeblood from the staff and students of the Playmakers.

Charles Laughton is no stranger now to Chapel Hill or North Carolina. Two years ago, the Playmakers sponsored an appearance of a group which was called The First Drama Quartette.

Laughton, who directed "Don Juan in Hell" as well as playing in the piece, was delighted with the reception in Chapel Hill. He was delighted also with the people he met here, the beauty of the campus in the spring, and the stimulating effect of playing to audiences already well attuned to good theatre by the work of the Playmakers.

The following summer, Sam Selden, director of the Playmakers and also of the outdoor drama, "The Lost Colony," was surprised and pleased to get a phone call from Laughton. Selden was on Roanoke Island and Laughton had just arrived from England with Paul Gregory. He was eager to get down to see Paul Green's famous drama. Selden assured him that he would be most welcome, and the next day Laughton and Gregory arrived and saw the show.

Although they were scheduled to leave right away, the beauty of Dare county and the friendliness of the people made them decide to delay their departure for several days.

Laughton's unscheduled visit here with the company of "John Brown's Body" then was a most pleasant surprise for Chapel Hillians who had been privileged to meet him on his previous visits.

Both Laughton and Gregory have felt for some time that there is a great and good theater audience in America, an audience away from New York which has been for the most part totally deprived of really topnotch dramatic fare. They refused to believe the moans of many theater and movie people that the living theatre was dead or dying. It was with the firm belief that there was an audience which wanted to hear the great works of the theatre that Gregory sent Charles Laughton out on a reading tour.

This was a step only. The man who was remembered by most people as the villainous Captain Bligh of the Bounty or as the Hunchback of Notre Dame came on stage carrying only some books. For an hour or so, he merely read passages from various of these books. They varied widely, the Bible, Shakespeare, the works of Tom Wolfe. The venture was an immediate success, and requests for bookings poured in from all over the country.

Fired by this initial success, Gregory approached Laughton with the idea of doing "Don Juan in Hell." Asked what artists should do the piece, Laughton promptly named himself, Charles Boyer, Agnes Moorehead and Cedric Hardwicke. All three accepted the proposal without hesitation. Their success is history.

It is of special interest that Boyer who was known to most Americans as an ultra romantic movie star, proved to be an actor of the most tremendous statue and versatility. The final triumph came when, after playing to enthusiastic audiences all over the country, the Quartette came to New York and was accliamed by every critic in that city. Without great expensive settings or elaborate costumes, these people had proven that really good theater performed by artists of the highest calibre could be successful both artistically and commercially.

Pi Phi Pledge Dance Theme To Be "Stairway To The Stars"

"Stairway to the Stars" was the theme of the pledge dance of North Carolina Alpha chapter of Pi Beta Phi, given last night at the Carolina Inn.

Sorority members and their dates danced to the music of Herb Gupton's orchestra in a ballroom decorated with silver stars and blue crepe paper. Stars were suspended from a blue ceiling and angel's hair in the railings around the room also held stars bearing the pledges' names. A backdrop behind the bandstand had a silver "stairway to the stars" on it.

Each pledge was introduced in front of a screen with a large star on it. Pledges led by their officers, formed an arrow figure and were announced by Ray Jeffries, Assistant Dean of Students. Gifts of silver, Pi Phi bracelets and a wine carnation were given pledges.

Other activities of the sorority's weekend included a banquet and party Friday night at the Saddle Club in Durham and a dessert before the dance at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Berryhill.

Pledges presented last night were: Ann Fitzgerald, Princeton, president, with Dwight Elting, Roanoke Rapids; Lane Buchly, Tryon, vice-president, with George Neel, Laredo, Tex.; Joan Gant, Atlanta, Ga., secretary, with Thurman Cowper, Tampa, Fla.; Mary Lowrey, Atlanta, Ga., treasurer, with Tex Sluder, Thomasville; Betty Otto Anderson, Port St. Joe, Fla., with Marion Tuttle, Elizabeth City; Lucy Briney, Madisonville, Ky., with Ned Harbin, Winston-Salem; Mary Jane Bumpous, St. Petersburg, Fla., with Jim Farber, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Barbara Burgess, Maplewood, N. J., with Don Reilly, Millburn, N. C.; Ann Benton, Wilmington, with Kaye Wilson, Atlanta, Ga.; Edith Cross, Gatesville, with Bill Carter, Pinehurst; Nancy Davis, Rainelle, W. Va., with John Boushall, Tampa, Fla.; Len Daniel, Miami, Fla., with Barry Rizzo, Monmouth Beach, N. J.; Joe Deming, Cynthiana, Ky., with Bruce Holt, Durham; Rosalyn Gasque, Rockingham, with Hal Rollins, Rockingham; Sara Leek, Thomasville, with Lee Clark, Everetts; Jennie Lynn, Savannah, Ga., with John Jamison, Charlotte; Joanne Massee, Atlanta, Ga., with Charlie Butler, Elizabeth City; Ann McCulloch, Bluefield, W. Va., with Bob Angle, Bethal, Conn.; Connie Moore, Norfolk, Va., with Dick Lackey, Shelby; Betty Parsons, Jasper, Ga., with Milner Watson, Sanford; Ellen roll, Chapel Hill; Tish Rodman, Prouty, Dalton, Ga., with Don Car-Norfolk, Va., with Sol Cherry, Roxabel; Eleanor Saunders, Chapel Hill, with Julian King, Winston-Salem.

In Your Church

By Tom Neal Jr.

Christian Science

Regular Christian Science services are held each Sunday at 11 a.m. in New West. The service consists of alternate readings from the Holy Bible and from Science and Health, With Key to the Scriptures, the denominational textbook by Mary Baker Eddy. The lesson-sermon for today is "Truth."

Congregational-Christian

The student discussion for hte United Student Fellowship is this morning at 10 o'clock.

In observance of "Elon College Community Sunday" throughout the Southern Convention of Congregational-Christian Churches, Dr. J. Earl Daniely will conduct the 11 a.m. service.

The United Fellowship supper this evening is at 6 o'clock and boys from Camp Butner have been invited for the supper and program. Slides which were taken by Richard L. Jackson while he was a missionary to China, will be shown to the group.

Methodist

Dr. Eugene Soos, outstanding lecturer from Montreat College (Montreat, N. C.) will speak to the Wesley Foundation here, tonight, on the "Fundamentals of a Christian Faith."

Dr. Soos is Hungarian, and has been in the country for several years. He was active in the NIN movement in Hungary.

"Different Religions in the World" will be the topic of a series of lectures Dr. Soos will deliver in Raleigh today and tomorrow. Camp Butner boys will also be guests during the evening program.

The Wesley Foundation lists its weekly schedule as follows: Monday, 5:45 p.m., vespers; Thursday, 5:45 p.m., vespers; Friday, 7:30 p.m., fireside; Sunday, 9:45 a.m., coffee and doughnuts; 10 a.m. Sundya school; 5:45 p.m. Fellowship; 6 p.m. supper and program.

Roman Catholic

The Newman Club will offer a series of lectures each Sunday at 5:30 p.m. in Lenoir Hall, entitled "Catholic Courtship and Marriage." The meetings are held on the second floor of Lenoir and the first talk is this afternoon.

Quakers

The Religious Society of Friends (Quakers) will meet in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial this morning at 11 o'clock.

Baptist

This quarter hte BSU has planned a series of discussions each Sunday night which will be led by students. The theme for the quarter is the "Origin of the Bible."

Tonight's discussion will be led by Bob Hyatt and Bob Hughes, students, who will speak on the Old and New Testaments.

The supper forum is held at 6 o'clock at the church. Supper will be served for 50 cents. Students are invited to attend.

Vespers are held in Gerrard Hall Monday through Fridya each week at 5 p.m. They last from five to 10 minutes and are led by students.

Episcopal

Jack Sponge, a former student here and now at Virginia Theological Seminary, will speak to the Canterbury Club tonight. He also will preach this morning at the 11 o'clock service at the church. Communion will be held at 8 a.m.

Presbyterian

Dr. James Sprunt, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Raleigh and nephew of the donor of the present church building here, is the guest minister at the Presbyterian Church today. He will preach at both the 9:45 and the 11 o'clock services.

Students are invited to attend a breakfast and Bible study group that meets at the manse on Sunday mornings at 9:30. At prseent the group is near the end of its study of "Revelation." Tonight the student group will meet in the Annex for supper at 6 o'clock. Albert Lovejoy will lead the discussion period on the topic "Dating and Courtship."

--Swim--

(Continued tfrom page 3)

Wall, the regular breaststroker, was unable to swim due to illness.

The next home meet for the Tar Heels will be with the University of Florida on February seventh. This should be the closest meet of the season for Carolina as the Gators are ranked first in the Southeastern Conference.

Official Results:

300-yard medley relay: 1. UNC (Linker, Tinkham, Baarcke) Time 3:10.3.

220-yard freestyle: 1. Shannon UNC 2. Murrie VPI 3. Linewaver VPI. Time 2:20.4.

50-yard freestyle: 1. Heins UNC 2. Emmons VPI 3. Miller VPI. Time 23.4* (Ties the SC record)

150 Individual Medley: 1. Evans UNC 2. Jones VPI 3. James VPI. Time: 1:33.6.

Diving: 1. Kelso UNC 2. Sheetz VPI 3. Ellison VPI. 80.2 points

100-yard freestyle: 1. Miller VPI 2. Shannon UNC 3. Emmons VPI. Time: 56.2.

200-yard backstroke: 1. Heeman UNC 2. Jewell UNC 3. Porter VPI. Time: 2:22.1.

200-yard breastroke: 1. Jones VPI 2. Tinkham UNC 3. Morgan VPI. Time: 2:38.9.

440-yard freestyle: 1. Gill UNC 2. Wolf UNC 3. Lineweaver VPI. Time: 5:13.2.

400-yard freestyle relay: 1. UNC (Edwards, Evans, Baarcke, Heins) Time: 3:28.6 (New SC dual meet record and new University record.)

-Campus Chest-

(Continued from page 1)

paign," said Kitchen, "must contact everyone personally. These campaigns are just a big job of salesmanship where the students must be made to want to give. A split can accomplish this more effectively."

Using this method has been such universities as Yale and North Carolina State. The former received contributions equivalent to $10 or more per student. State College has also maintained a high ratio and a successful campaign.

"Steeped always in the feeling of good will, the University of North Carolina," said Kitchen, "has lost its momentum" as shown by last year's $300 contribution as compared to its $4,300 contribution in 1949.

A member of the board remarked, "Students here aren't interested in giving anything, not even for worthy causes."

Kitchen retorted, "I've traveled a lot and seen many things. The inauguration in Washington recently was certainly a sight to see with all its silk top hats.

"But the spectacle there is a fleeting impression when compared to the contrasts I have seen in Asia and Korea. University students like yourself live in the gutters of the streets for lack of housing. Such conditions can not create good-will among such needy nations and nations of the world able to help them as our own."

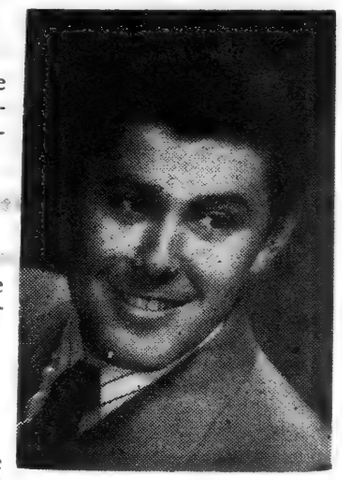
Suggestions were presented to the board that could be possible aids in the campaign. Ideas used by other schools were offered by Kitchen with the board also developing plans for a successful drive.

Chairman Jones said the board, "inspired by Kitchen," will meet Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the YMCA for some "down to earth business.

CLASSIFIEDS

HELP WANTED

WANTED: YOUNG LADY TO ASsist in dental office. Qualifications necessary: typing, knowledge of bookkeeping. Answer by letter. P. O. Box 1078, Chapel Hill.



BOY WANTED TO WORK IN Subscription Dept. Contact Carolyn Richard, 210 Graham Memorial or Phone 9-3371.

LaMarick's Cold Wave Special!

LaMarick Custom Creme Oil Cold Waves . . . Nationally famous professional permanent.
$12.50 Value
$5.95

LaMarick Deluxe Creme Oil Wave for softer, longer lasting permanent.
$15.00 Value
$6.95

LaMarick Super Deluxe Creme Oil Frigid Cold Wave . . . new, natural-looking permanent.
$25.00 Value
$9.95

MR. ANGELO
IN OUR DURHAM SALON

EACH PERMANENT WAVE INCLUDES

★ Personality Hair Cut
★ Shaping, Tapering, Thinning
★ Reconditioning Shampoo
★ Scientific Test Curls
★ Oil Neutralizer
★ Helene Curtis Creme Rinse
★ Setting
★ Free Consultation on All Work

We feature only professionally and nationally advertised products, or products by nationally known manufacturers such as Fashion-Wave by Helene Curtis, Roux, Breck, Clairol, Revlon, Flex-Wave and LaMarick Frigid Cold Wave.

All permanents individually priced and opened before you. This is for your protection as our customers. Request this always in your beauty salon.

Belk-Leggett Beauty Salon
PHONE DURHAM 29201
Hudson-Belk Beauty Salon
PHONE RALEIGH 3-1726
LaMARICK SHOPS

THIRD ANNUAL END-OF-THE MONTH

OLD BOOK SALE

Hundreds of old books that are going out of stock, regardless of cost. Novels, poetry, non-fiction and back-edition texts at blood-curdling deductions. If there are any jewels among them, it's our oversight, but they're mighty cheap!

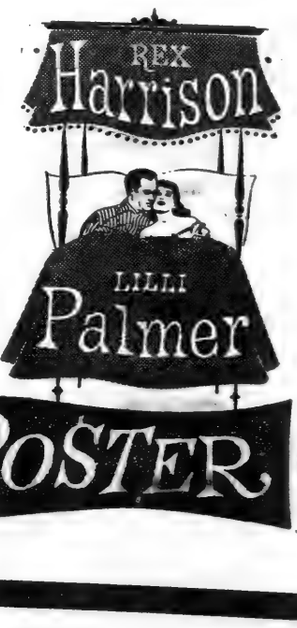
MONDAY	TUESDAY	Thursday	SATURDAY
January 26th Your Choice	January 27th Anything left	January 29th Anything left	January 31st Anything left
29c	19c	9c	FREE

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. FRANKLIN ST. OPEN EVENINGS

A FOUR SQUARE LOOK BETWEEN THE BEDPOST. . .

This Movie Begins Where Other Movies Leave Off

It begins with a bride and a groom and a room --and a bed. Not a modern Reno-bound twin bed. But an old fashioned Heaven-bound double bed.



It shows that you can't win in a twin bed, that separate rooms can lead to separate lawyers. It shows that familiarity breeds content. And families.

A four poster is half the work--easier to make up--and much easier to make up in.

Take the night Lilli shouted: "These are positively my last words. I'll take the house, the children, and all the money. You can have her!"

Naturally, they weren't her last words. We don't know what the last words were. But we do know they were spoken--as always--in the Four Poster.

THE CASE FOR THE DOUBLE BED

STARTS TODAY
Varsity
A STANLEY KRAMER Production
THE FOUR POSTER
A COLUMBIA PICTURE

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
6-31-49

WEATHER
Partly cloudy and mild with high of 60; yesterday's high, 52; low, 30.

The Daily Tar Heel

$$$$
There's a big book just published. See editorial p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 82 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

New Move Made Here For Funds

By Tom Parramore

Something is being done about furthering the University's development.

An organization known as the University Development Council is presently getting up steam to launch a drive for gifts, grants—and bequests from UNC faculty and friends.

The idea for such a council originated with President Gordon Gray, who spoke of its need in his inaugural address. Since that time, a group of North Carolina business men have set up committees, acquired offices and begun what will become a barrage of printed matter on the subject.

Original chairman of the Development Council was the late James A. Gray, but it is now operating under the acting chairmanship of J. Spencer Love of Greensboro, chairman of the board of Burlington Mills.

Purpose of the organization is to "attempt to derive maximum benefit from present and potential resources to make them more active, more serviceable and to unfold latent possibilities." To further this purpose the Development Council has sent or will send letters and descriptive booklets to University alumni and friends soliciting their aid. In addition to this, a Committee on Alumni Annual Giving will present to all alumni the opportunity of annually assisting the University by contributing to an unrestricted fund.

Director of the Council is Charles M. Shaffer. Mr. Shaffer is also director of the General Alumni Association, president of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Alumni Association and former All-Southern halfback at Carolina.

One of the main interests of the council at present is to attempt to keep a central record office for records of gifts, grants, and bequests and to act as a coordinator of all campus foundations and fund-raising organizations. Among projects under consideration are a student union, a new auditorium and a museum.

Some of the prominent businessmen who have volunteered their services to the council are Robert M. Hanes, Winston-Salem, president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Co.; George Watts Hill, Durham, chairman of the board of the Durham Bank and Trust Co. and the Home Security Life Insurance Co. and Holt McPherson, editor of the Shelby Daily Star.

Question On Spying Case Wins Prize

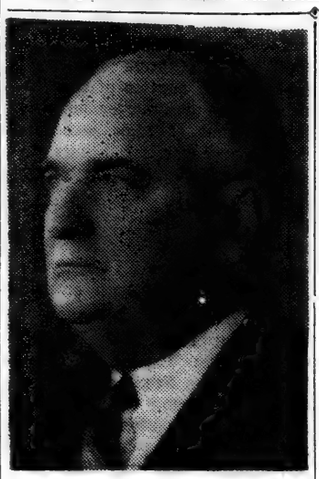
"What do you think should be done with the Rosenbergs?" was last week's winning question for Dave Herbert's "Inquiring Reporter" column.

Forty students were interviewed, but few had any definite comments. (See page two.)

Howard Finley, U. S. Navy Lieutenant who is a senior here submitted the question and wins the $2.00 gift certificate from Sutton's Drug Store.

In his first column, Herbert interviewed over 250 students, asking them who they wanted for the new head football coach. Jim Tatum, Maryland coach, was the top choice, with George Barclay recently elected to the job, coming in second.

You can win $2 by submitting a question or as many as you like, to Inquiring Reporter, Box 1080, Chapel Hill, or drop by The Daily Tar Heel office, second floor, Graham Memorial.



BUDGET REQUESTS

Campus organizations desiring to receive funds from the student budget for 1953-54 should submit their budget estimates to Secretary-Treasurer Ed Gross, in the student government office, first floor Graham Memorial, prior to Feb. 1.

Lenoir Rules Out Cashing Facilities

Student government leaders admitted defeat yesterday when their plans of supplementing check cashing services at Lenoir Hall fell through.

The plan which failed was devised to save time in cashing checks in the cafeteria. It simply was the installation of a rubber stamp approval service. The clerk at the cigar counter in the lobby indicated approval with the rubber stamp provided by student government. Then, cashiers in meal lines accepted checks as cash and without further checking of ID cards.

CLAIBORN McD. CARR

"The first attempt to establish a complete check cashing service in Lenoir Hall failed miserably. We're going to keep trying," declared President Ham Horton in announcing the defeat.

Chief cause of the failure, student leaders say, was the lack of support from the operators of the cigar stand in the lobby. They complained of having to approve the checks and said it overworked them, according to student government officials.

Commenting on future plans for renewing the improved service, H. R. Ritchie, manager of the University retail store, declared, "We met with Ham Horton and Stuart Jones and discussed the pros and cons of the situation. We haven't just dropped the thing, but are still trying to work out a way."

Stuart Jones, who worked out the original arrangements with George Prillaman, Lenoir Hall Manager, Ritchie, and Archie Christopher, manager of the Scuttlebutt as well as the cigar stand in Lenoir Hall, said that he is still working on the project.

"Mr. Prillaman and I are going to work out our own solution, separate from the Book Exchange," declared Jones.

Lenoir has been cashing checks since September, according to Prillaman, so the new service was just a supplement to the old one. The new plan, engineered by Jones, lasted only about two weeks.

Checks may still be cashed in Lenoir, as always, as long as they are for $5 or less.

Heart Fund Head Picked

Claiborn McD. Carr, of Biltmore, well known executive consultant for industry, has been appointed state campaign chairman of the 1953 Heart Fund Drive.

The appointment was announced yesterday by Dr. Edward S. Orgain of Duke Hospital, president of the North Carolina Heart Association, which has headquarters here.

Colonel Lawrence Simpson, U. S. Army retired, of Charlotte, was named vice-chairman. He was chairman of the Mecklenburg county campaign last year.

Goal of the drive, in the state, to be held during the month of February, is $125,000.

A native of Durham, Chairman Carr retired in 1951 after serving more than 20 years as commercial vice-president of the American Enka Corporation. Prior to becoming associated with American Enka in 1929 he was president of the Durham Hosiery Mills for five years. He is a 1905 graduate of the University of North Carolina.

UNC History Given Space In Magazine

The University has received a plug throughout the country by way of an illustrated feature article in a nationally circulated magazine.

Paul Green has written an interesting history of the oldest state university from the point of operation, illustrated by a colored map painted by a North Carolina artist which appears in the current issue of the Lincoln-Mercury Times, which has a circulation of 300,000.

The North Carolina playwright, writing of his alma mater, says the University "has poured her graduates into the structure and the making of a vital and dynamic democracy in the United States."

"She has provided a president and vice-president for the nation, five secretaries of the Navy and many other cabinet members, numerous United States senators and congressmen, ambassadors and government officials, presidents and faculty members of other colleges and universities, and 26 governors of the state."

His article occupies the four center pages of the 34-page magazine.

Artist for the two-page map of the campus is Corydon Bell, former advertising artist of Cleveland, Ohio, who now lives at Sapphire in the mountains of North Carolina where he paints and writes and illustrates his wife's books for children.

Author Green traces the growth of the University from the laying of the cornerstone of Old East, oldest state university dormitory in the nation, in 1793, to today when, he says, even while expanding the village of Chapel Hill "still remains a typical college town with an atmosphere conducive to study and devotion to learning."

Campus Seen

Bird Sanctuary? Recent bird-shooting tournament in front of Abernethy's . . . bagged: one woodpecker . . . in broad daylight.

*

Every break in the Chapel Hill rain and cold, bringing art majors and drawing boards to the center campus, New Orleans style.

*

Gentlemenly disagreement in the Rathskeller . . . ushered discreetly to the outside and arbitrated by the local constabulary . . . first fight there in 5 years.

Shay-dzov Barrymore He-zdrunk

By Bel-ty—John-son

If you see a slightly dishevelled, very distrait character pacing the campus and mumbling, "O-wizn-chore li-feck-strem-ly flatwith no-thing wha-teh-ver-to grum-buh-lat," he's not drunk.

Nine times out of 10 he's not delirious with flu—he's in the chorus of "Princess Ida."

Dr. Wilton Mason of the Music Department, choral director for the Playmakers' production, has complicated the lives of some twenty-five aspiring singers with his "syllable sheets," designed to carry Gilbert's very funny lyrics across to the audience without slowing the pace of Sullivan's tunes. And—how weh-ver strange thi-smeh-thud may see-mit doe-zgeh-treh-zults! Sometimes (in rehearsal, at least) the dramatic effect is lost in choice expressions of deep concentration on the faces of the chorus, but the words come through, and regardless of the great mental strain on these denizens of Hill Hall, it's the words that are important now.

Wheh-nyou see "Prin-ceh-sida" a-tMeh-mo-ri-yul Hall-lon Feh-bru-wary six-tho-reighth, bee shu-rto ap-pree-shi-yate the wunder-fool cla-ri-tee yuv the words. Geh-tyou-rti-ket-snow-wat-tSwain Hall.

Skretting Will Direct Study Of Economics

A new emphasis on the teaching of economic concepts in the public schools will be felt throughout Norht Carolina this year when the first Economic Education Workshop convenes here from June 10 to July 1.

Dr. J. R. Skretting, director of the Workshop and assistant professor of education in the School of Education, said yesterday that this important new development will be brought to the people of North Carloina by the School of Education and the School of Business Administration of the University in cooperation with the national Joint Council on Economic Education.

The importance of this movement to improve economic instruction in the schools is indicated by the fact that a group of business leaders in North Carolina, under the leadership of Dean Thomas H. Carroll has agreed to finance the entire expense of the three-week workshop, including 70 scholarships for full room, board and tuition to administrators, supervisors, curriculum men, elementary and secondary teachers interested in economics and social studies.

Mrs. Roosevelt Is Scheduled To Discuss UN Here Feb. 4

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON — Republican leader Robert A. Taft promised to hold the Senate in overtime session yesterday if necessary to confirm Charles E. Wilson as defense secretary and complete formation of the Eisenhower Cabinet. Indications are that the former General Motors president would win Senate approval by an overwhelming vote, now that he has agreed to sell his $2,700,000 worth of GM stock.

★

BOSTON—FBI agents and special railroad police rode trains of the New Haven Railroad yesterday to guard against a recurrence of what is believed to be three cases of brake tampering within nine days. Howard A. Moulton, public relations representative for the New Haven line, said railroad officials were checking former employees who were familiar with train braking systems, especially those who had been discharged in recent months.

★

SEOUL—Allied fighter-bombers blasted the vital Pyongyang-Kaesong "truce road" yesterday over which Communists have moved western front war supplies in violation of an Allied-Red agreement. The road had been set aside for safe-conduct of truce teams to Panmunjom where the now-stalled Armistice talks were held.

★

WASHINGTON—House leaders are raising a go-slow signal on a drive by Rep. Reed (R-NY) for early passage of his bill to cut income tax rates 11 per cent annually starting June 30. Reed, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee which starts all tax bills through Congress, said yesterday he plans to seek committee action on his tax-cutting proposal early next month.

★

SEOUL—Gen. J. Lawton Collins arrived in Korea yesterday for a two-day series of conferences with outgoing Gen. James A. Van Fleet and other top UN commanders of the stalemated war. It was thought possible that Collins' discussion with Van Fleet and other commanders could affect the UN conduct of the Korean War.

★

MORGAN CITY, La. — Wind-whipped flames visible for 50 miles billowed from a stubborn, million-dollar fire engulfing five gas wells at an off-shore oil drilling platform early yesterday. A spokesman for the Pure Oil Co., said a shift in wind direction to the southeast lessened a threat to two nearby equipment platforms

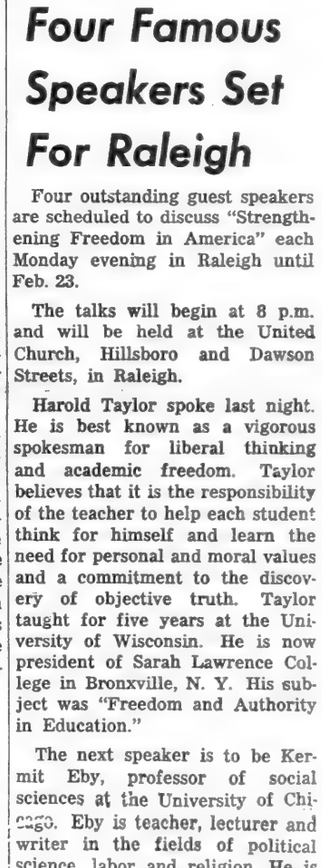
To Give Views On U.S. Role In World Body

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, world-famous woman diplomat and wife of the late President, will speak on the UN here Feb. 4, Ken Penegar, chairman of the Carolina Forum, said yesterday.

Often called the most influential woman in America today, Mrs. Roosevelt was a U. S. delegate to the General Assembly during the Truman administrations. Until resigning recently, she was chairman of the Human Rights Commission and was chairman of the committee which drew up the "Human Rights Covenant" in 1945.

Scheduled to arrive here in mid-afternoon of the 4th, Mrs. Roosevelt will meet with University officials in South Building after which she will speak to a coed gathering in Hill Hall, sponsored by the Valkyries. She will be entertained at the Carolina Inn with a dinner given by the forum.

The main address will follow the afternoon activities at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall. The topic will be the role of the U. S. in the United Nations.



Mrs. Roosevelt last visited the campus in 1950 when she came here as Weil Lecturer to deliver a series of lectures on the United Nations. She delivered the University Commencement in 1935, and was also here for the President Diamond Jubilee Birthday Ball in 1942.

A great champion of the United Nations, Mrs. Roosevelt has kept up a constant campaign to inform the public on the values of such a world organization. She is expected to recount some of the accomplishments and goals of the UN and to review the U. S. role in past and future policies with emphasis on how the United States may further cooperate and improve the plan for world peace, Chairman Penegar said.

Di To Debate Free Trade

Lively debate is expected tonight when the Di Senate meets in third floor of New West to hear a bill read calling for world free trade. The meeting will open at 8 o'clock.

Thus far this quarter the Senate has debated two bills. One bill, calling for compulsory FEPC, failed. Another bill, calling for the repeal of the McCarran- Walter Immigration Act, passed.

MRS. ROOSEVELT, GRANDSON

Four Famous Speakers Set For Raleigh

Four outstanding guest speakers are scheduled to discuss "Strengthening Freedom in America" each Monday evening in Raleigh until Feb. 23.

The talks will begin at 8 p.m. and will be held at the United Church, Hillsboro and Dawson Streets, in Raleigh.

Harold Taylor spoke last night. He is best known as a vigorous spokesman for liberal thinking and academic freedom. Taylor believes that it is the responsibility of the teacher to help each student think for himself and learn the need for personal and moral values and a commitment to the discovery of objective truth. Taylor taught for five years at the University of Wisconsin. He is now president of Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, N. Y. His subject was "Freedom and Authority in Education."

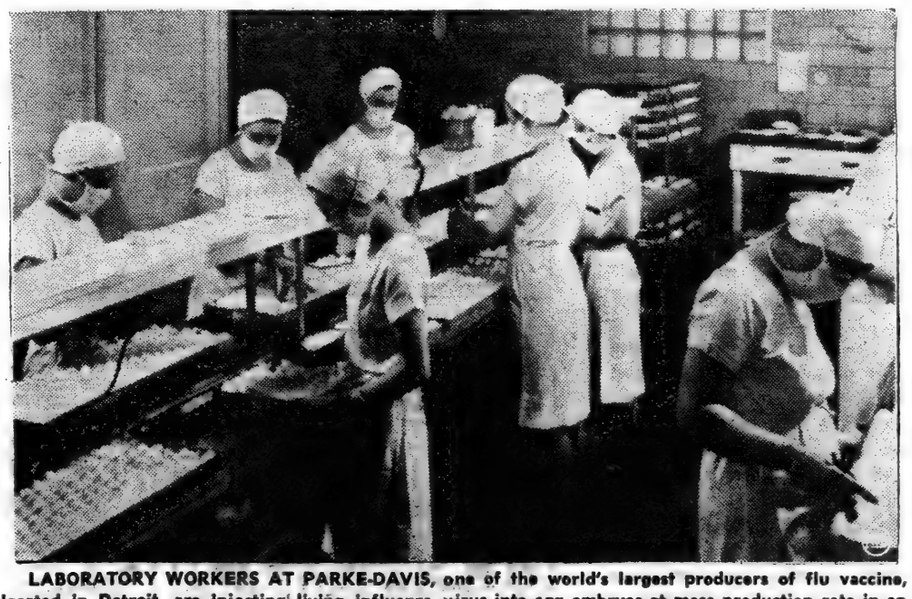
The next speaker is to be Kermit Eby, professor of social sciences at the University of Chicago. Eby is teacher, lecturer and writer in the fields of political science, labor and religion. He is a board member of the University of Chicago Round Table and a member of the National Council of Churches and an ordained minister in the Church of the Brethren. His topic will be "The Expedient Is Not the Moral."

John B. Thompson, dean of Rockefeller Chapel, University of Chicago, will speak Feb. 9. Dean Thompson has been associate professor of Christian Ethics in the Divinity School for the past five years. Thompson is active in work for civil liberties and better race relations, and was a member of the executive board of the Southern Conference Education Fund. Thompson's topic will be "The Fear of Freedom."

United States Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon will be on the program Feb. 16 and his subject will be "Ethical Standards in Government." Morse is a distinguished educator, lawyer and independent political leader. He was elected to the Senate in 1944 and re-elected in 1950. He is a member of the Congressional Christian Church.

"Can Americans Export Freedom?" is the subject of the last speaker, Springfield Barr, who is the president of the Foundation for World Government. As lec-

(See SPEAKERS, page 4)



TRUSTEE

Student leaders yesterday asked students who talked to Trustees over the weekend to report by the student government office as soon as possible.

Student leaders said they would have an announcement soon about the fight against the institution of Saturday classes here.

THE BEST COUNTER MEASURE

Last Day For Flu Vaccinations

LABORATORY WORKERS AT PARKE-DAVIS, one of the world's largest producers of flu vaccine, located in Detroit, are injecting living influenza virus into egg embryos at mass production rate in an effort to keep up with the demand during the present epidemic. Stocks which ordinarily would not be used until December of this year already have been sold, and present demand is at least 10 times greater than in normal or non-epidemic times.—NEA Telephoto.

Some 1,200 students responded to the call for influenza vaccinations last week, but according to Dr. E. McG. Hedgpeth there is enough serum left for over 1,000 more innoculations.

Deadline for innoculations is 5 o'clock this afternoon.

"We will keep vaccinating through today," Dr. Hedgpeth said. Vaccination hours are 9-5 o'clock.

The flu epedemic, which caused some schools to be shut down in Tennessee and South Carolina, has now spread around the globe. American soldiers in Europe and Korea have been stricken down with flu.

An influenza epidemic is possible in Chapel Hill, the University physician said. "There is a fifty-fifty chance of such an outbreak," he added.

Scientists say the vaccine is the best available counter measure to combat flu.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Charles A. Collins, Charles Haskett, Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Dorman Cordell

It's NOT In The Book

We have just seen RED.

Red, and white spots, too.

We are referring to a recently published volume printed by the state, written by the State Legislature's Advisory Budget Committee, and entitled "State Budget." This massive red-covered heavily figured document has two columns of figures of particular interest.

And this is where the white spots, or rather white spaces for pages and pages fit in. One column, called "Requests" has plenty of figures; another, called "Recommendations" has few. To say that State agencies have had their financial proposals cut, slashed, or even murdered would hardly be an overstatement.

Here is what we mean:

	Requests	Recommendations
Physical Improvements:
UNC	$5,660,600	$170,000
STATE	6,180,379	580,000
WC	3,366,000	295,000

These totals are just the physical improvement requests. There are present needs in the internal makeup of the Consolidated University, also.

The committee said NO to a new student union, NO to the renovation of Bingham Hall, NO to an armory-auditorium, NO to new seats in Memorial Hall, NO and NO to the Institute of Government building.

The Institute of Government NO is particularly significant in that the proposed $500,000 would be matched with another $500,000 from private funds. We think this sums up the committee's whole viewpoint. A request such as this would mean the acquisition of the long awaited and long promised help to Dr. Albert Coates' program. What has happened to all the encomiums and laudatory words that State officials have passed down this way for the Institute's highly beneficial services in the fields of state, county, and local govrenment?

The committee's recommendations represent a slap in the face to President Gray and his consolidated program. One of the implied mandates given Mr. Gray when he took over as president almost three years ago was to provide an effective program of consolidation. When Gray was appointed to the job, he was advised that he would get a salary of $17,500. His salary this year is $12,360 and for next year will be $15,000, if the committee's increase is made law. But this is still short of the $17,500 and we think that this is setting a bad precedent —promising a salary and not carrying through with the promise.

Requests for the salaries of the academic vice-president's job (formerly that of Dr. Logan Wilson, now president of the University of Texas), plus the salary requests for Gray's assistant, affable Bill Friday and others were completely ignored. These important posts will be abolished if the committee has its say. It also means that Gray's staff would be sliced from 10 to five.

A check of the figures for internal improvements is revealing. Inadequately staffed, the Library has had to limit many of its services since the opening of the new addition. The Library needed $285,156 for salaries and wages. The committee recommends $265,956. Any hope of having a permanent planning and development program for UNC seems dim, because the salary of Charles Shaffer, Chancellor House's helpful assistant in that department has not been authorized.

We read from a recent ediorial in the Greensboro Daily News which chides the committee for not recommending changes in the state Revenue Act, which has not been substantially changed in 20 years.

The committee asks, "Where shall we get the money for these huge requests?" They point out that this biennium's proposal, the biggest on record, will "only be sufficient to round out the program as envisioned in 1947 and 1949." One of the essential projects of the committee, it would seem, would be to figure out a way to provide for the "necessities." The committee has not done this.

The Consolidated University and North Carolina's other institutions of higher learning are not the only ones left out in the cold. There are many, many more state agencies that urgently need funds. Even the proposed appropriations for state mental units, highly commendable recommendations, fall way short of actual needs.

Governor William Umstead made one suggestion for finding new funds for the state. He proposes that "the schedule of exemptions under the Sales Tax be revised." The Governor notes that "civilization never stands still." We believe that North Carolina must move forward and if it be necessary to increase revenues to do this, then new channels must be found to keep the Old North State rolling along the progressive highway.

English Club

Introduction

With the feeling that graduate and undergraduate students majoring in the "Humanities" are an integral element of the University student body, the editor has invited the English Club to sponsor a series of essays in The Daily Tar Heel. Since we in the Club feel that we are vitally interested and somewhat involved in the cultural life of the whole student body, we have gratefully accepted this invitation in the belief that we might contribute something of interest to DTH readers.

But since the English Club's membership is determined by interest and not by creed, the contributions made here by its members will not necessarily approach conformity. Thus the Club itself can assume only sponsorship, not responsibility, for what is presented here.

The attitudes and ideas set forth will not be limited in subject matter. This we feel to be of basic importance within a community of students. The subjects dealt with will be restricted only to activities and issues which we feel to be of importance to the whole student body. While we ourselves might deal in reviews, criticisms, discussions, squabbles, and the humor and seriousness of things in general, we would welcome comments in any of these modes about any of our topics from any of our readers. For we believe that complacency is the undoubted sign of a "fool among knaves."

Yr Mst Obt, Hmbl & Dvtd Srvts

J. B. Stroup
William Wiatt
Lee H. Potter

Express Yourself

While I am writing this I suppose Everett Case is ripping his brown Carolina Victory Suit into shreds and cramming it into the garbage can from which he so dramatically "rescued" it prior to the game tonight. I imagine also that several of our sportswriters in the state are busy pulling their foot out of their mouths at this moment for having said or intimated that Carolina's record was all right, but it would be a different story when we left the weaker conference members and to contend with State and Wake Forest. Maybe they can exchange condolences with the State crowd which roared "Poor Carolina" when their team managed to get one point lead in the opening quarter. Ha!

Now each member of the Big Four has at least defeated the Coliseum Crew. No one will deny our right, however, to claim the greatest win. The first reason for saying so is that we achieved our victory without a great All-American like Groat. Second, we had no national scorer such as Hemric to hook under the basket and stand at the free-throw line; in fact, we hardly had anyone standing there tonight because he was fouled. Third, ours was a team victory (that is, what team the referees left us to play with). Fourth, we had not scored a victory over State since 1946 in their old gym. Fifth, I was told by a boy after the game that he heard Carolina's "favorite" referee, Mr. Williams, (remember the Wake Forest game?) was officiating. Assuming this to be true and having only heard the game, I cannot testify of course as to what type of calls he made; but, judging from the number and type fouls, the amazement of my radio announcer and my memories of the Wake Forest game's fouls so aptly criticized by Dick Herbert, I am thoroughly convinced our accomplishment was the greatest of them. However, should I be informed that the game was actually very well called, I will most humbly turn in apology to the southeast, bow towards the cow college, and with my best efforts "moo" three times. In closing I would like to pass on a comment heard after the game, "Man, oh man, we beat 'emall! We beat their referees, we beat their crowd and we beat all three of their teams."

Carlyle Campbell, Jr.

I'll Learn Ya

A. Z. F. Wood, Jr.

1853 Or 1953?

In English 82, we are now in the process of studying Herman Melville. Not only that, we're studying his poetry. Melville wrote the celebrated "Moby Dick," which tome I have not had the courage to read. He also wrote a novelette called "Billy Budd, Foretopman," a nauseating narrative about a nineteenth century Adam who isn't too bright and gets hanged for it. But he isn't hanged before Melville has a chance to show off his metaphorical and pseudo-rhetorical acumen, which obviously results in the reader's not being able to see the forest for the trees. For the story is secondary to the expression of Melville's ego.

Yet, Melville and his aristocratic contemporaries are regarded by many English professors as literary zeniths, and the American school-boy is crammed with their works before he even gets to college. For Whittier, Lowell, and Melville are classicists and no man's education is complete without a study of them. Indeed, you cannot be a parlor intellectual unless you can say, "Melville? Ah, yes, the author of "Moby Dick. A transcendentalist." (I don't know what a transcendentalist is either, but that's what they tell me he is.)

The fact that most of these so-called classicists are verbal acrobats, complete with flowery phrases and obscure metaphors is of little consequence. The fact that the writing style of these people has been outmoded through the course of a hundred years doesn't matter. The fact that most people don't enjoy reading this stuff any more because of the obsolete style, and allusions to problems and customs of that day are meaningless now, either because the problems no longer exist or other problems have taken their pace; the fact that what was humorous in 1850, what was odious in 1850, what was interesting in 1850 is not particularly humorous, odious, or interesting today, because it's a hundred years later—all this the English professor blandly dismisses as unimportant.

I don't wish to say that nothing that was written before the twentieth century is worthwhile or interesting today. There were many fine writers in the nineteenth century: Twain, Poe, Emerson, Thoreau, etc. And many problems that are interesting are timeless. But like an antique chair, the literature of the nineteenth century is deemed valuable solely because it is old—the whole kit and kaboodle, not just some of the writers, all of them.

The twentieth century is no better than any other century. It's just like all the rest. But to the people living in the twentieth century, it is the best and most important. They are interested in what goes on at present, first, then they might be interested in what went on a hundred years ago. And there are some fine twentieth century writers: Hemingway, Steinbeck, James Jones, O'Henry, Ring Lardner, Robert Frost, Ogden Nash. And what they write is bound to interest people living now more than what was written a hundred years ago. The problems, the characters, the situations are real, and the reader can identify and live the story, for he has encountered similar people and situations in his own life.

Writing as a whole has improved since 1850. Words and phrases are no longer ends in themselves. They are the means to the end of communication to the reader. They are tools and that's all.

Times change and Time Marches On. Why doesn't the English professor?

Streitizia Nicola don't grow on trees.

Or at least that's what Phi Gamma Delta at UCLA has found out. Members spent a day laboring in the University botanical laboratory to pay off a $350 bill for damages.

The loss was incurred just prior to the Homecoming game. Pledges, dispatched to find banana leaves for a sign carried a bouquet of Streitizia home to their big brothers.

Dave Herbert

Inquiring Reporter

This week, as was feared, your reporter's question box collected only dust. However, by word of mouth, one question was submitted, it being: "What do you feel should be done with Ethel and Julius Rosenberg?"

Armed with this query your reporter went rorward only to find very few who were willing to give an "autographed opinion, and while there was unanimity of agreement among those interviewed that the fate of the Rosenbergs should either be execution or life imprisonment, there was a lack of firm reasoning behind the majority of answers.

To impress the need for us to intelligently express ourselves, especially on matters of this importance, your reporter submits the opinions of some who are extremely eager for others to know and accept the way they feel.

These are excerpts taken from a periodical New World Review which is sent monthly to our library and is, displayed on the shelves.

Speaking of the New Year the editor writes: "It does not mean happiness for Ethel and Julius Rosenberg facing electrocution unless the million-tongue protest here saves them, or for their two children they will leave behind if this cruel and inhuman act born of war hysteria goes through.

"In passing sentence the judge made the fantastic statement that the defendants had been responsible for the more than 50,000 casualties in Korea, an implicit admission that the case was being utilized to justify the warmongers in their own criminal adventures.

"Read this pamphlet, spread it far and wide and wire at once to the President urging him to commute their sentence. You will by this action not only help save the lives of two young working people but also help safeguard your own liberties, so gravely jeopardized in these days of war hysteria and reaction."

After reading the foregoing Communist propaganda, it must be evident how important it is for us to form and express intelligent opinions and personally voice them, unafraid of criticism. An opinion is soon dead if not shared. Speak up!

Howard Finley was the winner of last weeks question prize, a $2.00 gift certificate from Sutton's Drugs.

Send your questions to Inquiring Reporter, Box 1080, Chapel Hill.

The Daily Californian

A thirsty great dane has been causing quite a commotion in the usually sedate halls of the library.

The canine souse stands next to the drinking fountain in the second floor hall of the old building and gazes up at passers-by with eyes that plead, "Please give me a drink." When some kind-hearted student turns on the water the dog laps it up gratfeully.

The great dane will have to find a new place of refreshment soon because the library is planning to install a new fountain that will be too high for him to reach.

Louis Kraar

Party Line

POUNDING THE BEAT: Mr. President Ham Horton extolling the virtues of the "many" UP presidential prospectives . . . Ken Barton making ready for the five day NSA regional conference here in February. . . . Dick Murphy, president of NSA and from UNC, to be here for confab. . . . Jerry Snider (SP) a nice new face in Student Party . . . and Joel Fleishman (SP) happy she's there.

STILL POUNDING: Ed Gross and Bob Gorham high on the list of University Party Presidential possibilities. . . . Ken Penegar definitely high man for Student Party. . . . Walt McFall, UP's new chairman, still talking of revamping plans for party . . . and what ever happened to SP's ace in the legislative majority hole, Frank Plott?

MORE BEAT: Manning Muntzing (SP), Jimmy Turner (SP), and Don Fowler (SP) busy being active legislators. . . . And where's Anne Mackay this quarter? . . . Bob Pace (SP) telling pert lady soldier about "SP since you left" and did you notice the clock in the main library is running now?

INNOVATION: President Horton suggested in his Legislature speech that the plan of electing cheerleader be revised. Sounds like a needed improvment. Horton's plan requests the formation of a bi-partisan committee to select the candidates. The committee suggested should be formed of representatives of both political parties, the retiring head cheerleader and representatives from the Monogram and University Clubs.

DOUBLE CHECK: Check cashing services in Lenoir flunked. Student Government leaders are going to try again. If they keep trying, they hope to finally establish a service as complete as the one in the Y. It's only sad that they got so little co-operation from many officials involved.

FINAL BOUT: Trustees get together next month. And if things work out they will be talking about Saturday classes. A new committee, a very active one, is approaching students in an effort to make them pay their trustees a visit. Only close student co-operation will help lick the dreaded extra day. Have you talked to your trustee lately?

APT ACCOLADE: Stuart Jones, the kind of guy who doesn't quit trying when attempts to set up check cashing service in Lenoir fizzle out, is heading the campus chest drive with the same endless energy. Only this project is going to be backed up because it has to be. Stuart will see to that for he is one of the many cogs in student government that let students know "What does student government ever do?"

At Oklahoma A&M, as well as at other institutions, a policy of charging students one dollar for every class they drop, add, or change after registration, has worked exceptionally well. This plan, we understand, wa sproposed at UT, but quickly dismissed for fear of upsetting the nation's economic stability.

Folks up at Kansas State can't tell who's who.

College officials have decided to outlaw the nation-wide Who's Who selections from the K-State campus, because, so the administration says, there is a lack of uniformity in the system.

Down In Front

by Biff Roberts

THE EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION

THE SLAVES GOT freed for the second time in 90 years Saturday night when the new Great Emancipator, Frank McGuire, and his abolitionist Tar Heels overthrew N. C. State at Raleigh, 70-69.

The basketball series between Carolina and State had just about reached the slave-master relationship when Jerry Vayda threw in that basket from the side with only 25 seconds left in the game. It gave us a one-point margin, something we were able to hold for the final pressure-packed seconds of the game, and brought us our first victory over State in seven years. Going into the game we had lost 15 straight to the Wolfpack and the series had almost reached the point of being ridiculous. But with Saturday's win the scene is a bit more sublime.

The Tar Heels were 12-point underdogs when they came on the floor and there seemed little chance that they could win. When you play State on the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum floor you give them about a 10-point head start—like the greyhounds and the rabbit, the rabbit's got about a 10-yard lead at the start and stays there. State has been able to get out front and stay consistently. In fact, the Carolina victory was only the second by a Southern Conference team in Raleigh since Everett Case came there seven years ago. Duke squeaked by last year.

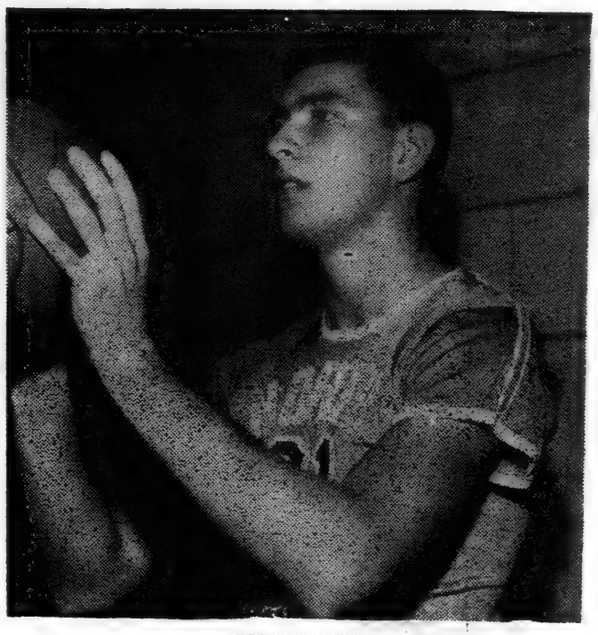
OUR BALL GAME

FROM THE START it looked as if the two teams had changed roles. State, usually the methodical stalker, looked like the scared team. The Tar Heels took control at the beginning and held their poise until the finish. Even when State tied the score, 64-64, and went ahead 67-64, we had control of the game throughout. It was State that was the challenger. We seemed the champions.

In fact, with a little cool thinking the Pack could have scored after Vayda made his basket. There were 24 seconds to go and if they had weaved into the basket that extra one point might have been on the other side of the score board. As it was, Dave Gotkin tried to dribble the ball by himself, got under the basket and bounced the ball off his foot. We got the ball and for the scoring that was the finish. In Gotkin's defense, though, it was his shooting and working that kept State in the game during the early part of the game. He scored 20 points to tie Bobby Speight for scoring honors for the night. He was entitled to one mistake—but this one proved extra costly.

THE VICTORY STORY

THE WHOLE VICTORY STORY can be told by the fact that we were in control of the game all of the way. In the closing minutes of the first half when we had a slim lead the team kept weaving, almost freezing the ball, waiting for a good shot. We went out ahead at the half, 40-34. Again in the last minute and a half, when State was leading, 69-68, the Carolina team played it frigidly. They went into that weave and kept passing the ball around. Then Vayda got it in the corner, took a jump, pushed with both hands and we had a ball game.



Like the Wake Forest game it was a team victory. Al Lifson played probably his best since coming to Carolina, and he has had some good ones in the past, leading the team in scoring with 19 points. Vayda got 18, including that last famous one. Paul Likins was the backboard eraser, grabbing 17 rebounds before fouling out midway in the fourth period. Bud Maddie held State's hustling center, Mel Thompson to a lone field goal and also grabbed 14 rebounds. The rest were in there, too, Vince Grimaldi quarterbacking, Jack Wallace, Gene Glancey, Tony Radovich giving a hand and even the boys on the bench playing just as hard as the boys on the floor.

ON UNDERSTATEMENTS

FOR THE GREAT EMANCIPATOR, McGuire, it was a second amazing victory in a week. The team had taken Wake Forest Tuesday night, 72-68, in a game which also had the Tar Heels as underdogs. Both victories eliminated any doubt as to the team's power. Many people had complained that the victories in the Conference had come over the weak sisters of the family. The story's different now.

We can move with freedom now that the manacles and shackles have been shed. State will certainly come here on Feb. 21 with the idea of recapturing the runaways but things may be somewhat easier on us playing before the amicable Chapel Hill cheerers. When you get a taste of freedom its pretty hard to make you give it back up—Simon Legree, Everett Case, et al, take note.

Understatement of the week: Frank McGuire—"Everett Case has had a seven year start on us, but we'll catch him some day."

JERRY VAYDA
. . . his basket beat N. C. State, 70-69

Passbook Trade For Duke, NYU Games Set This Week

The remainder of the games played in Woollen Gym this season will be reserved, with students, faculty members, and employees of the University having priority for them, providing the passbooks are turned in on time.

Students, who have even numbered passbooks, will be able to get seats by exchanging their coupons today and tomorrow for the Duke and New York University games to be played here Feb. 6 and 7. Holders of odd numbered books will be able to exchange their coupons on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, January 29, 30, and 31.

The students who wish to go to these games must exchange their coupons on the dates specified. After the above dates all tickets left will go on sale to the public.

An announcement will be made later about the passbook exchange for the final game with N. C. State on February 21. For this contest holders of books with odd serial numbers will have priority on exchanges.

Pawlik Elected Monogram Club President

Harry Pawlik, of Albemarle, was elected President of the Monogram Club at a meeting last Thursday in which the lettermen named their officers for the winter and spring quarters.

Pawlik wrestles on the Varsity squad in the 123 lb. division and also plays on the Soccer team. He has been a standout wrestler in the Southern Conference for the last two years, reaching the finals of the tournament in his division last year, only to forfeit because of a back injury. Harry has been elected Co-captain of the soccer team along with Renny Randough for the 1953 campaign.

Others elected were: Vice President—Joe Pazdan, Trenton, N. J.; Secretary—Biff Roberts, Louisville, Ky.; Treasurer—Sam Handel, Philadelphia; CCA Representative—Bob Phillips, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Social Committee Members—Andy Bell, Greensboro, N. C., and Bruce Holt, Durham, N. C.

Only members of the University's athletic teams or managers of the teams who have won letters in a sport or sports can be a member of the club.

MURALS

TODAY'S BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 1, Beta-2 vs. TEP-2; Court 2, Pi Kap Phi-1 vs. SPE-2; Court 3, Phi Kap Sig-2 vs. Chi Psi-3; Court 4, Reserved for Gymnastic team; Court 5, Emerson-1 vs. Old East; Court 6, Sig Chi-2 vs. PiKA-1; Court 7, ATO-1 vs. Pi Kap Phi-2.

5:00—Court 1, Sig Chi-1 vs. Kap Psi-1; Court 2, Phi Gam-2 vs. Sig Nu-3; Court 3, Phi Delt-3 vs. PiKA-2; Court 4, Reserved for Gymnastic team; Court 5, Sig Chi-3 vs. DKE-2; Court 6, TEP-1 vs. KA-3; Court 7, Phi Delt-2 vs. Sig Nu-1.

7:00—Court 1, ZBT-1 vs. ATO-3; Court 2, PiKA-3 vs. SPE-1; Court 3, Chi Phi-2 vs. DKE-1; Court 4, Zeta Psi-1 vs. Phi Delt Chi-2; Court 5, Zeta Psi-3 vs. Kap Sig-2; Court 7, Lewis-1 vs. Winston-2.

8:00—Court 1, Joyner-2 vs. Med Sch-1; Court 2, Kap Sig-3 vs. Phi Gam-3; Court 3, ZBT-2 vs. Theta Chi-1; Court 4, KA-2 vs. Phi Delt Chi-1; Court 5, Stacy vs. Aycock-1; Court 6, SAE-3 vs. Zeta Psi-4; Court 7, Victory Village vs. Cobb-2.

TODAY'S TABLE TENNIS

4:00—Ruffin vs. Aycock; 4:40—SPE-1 vs. Phi Gam-6; 5:20—Stacy vs. Emerson.

7:00—TMA vs. Med School-2; 7:40—Phi Kap Sig-2 vs. Phi Delt-1; 8:20—Lewis-1 vs. Winston-1.

Tar Heels Idle Until Davidson Game Friday

Coach Frank McGuire's Tar Heels are firmly lodged in the first place spot of the Southern Conference race after their "premature" win over the State Wolfpack Saturday night, and their lead shouldn't be threatened for at least 10 days.

The Tar Heels play three Southern Conference games between now and next Friday when they meet Duke, but they will be heavy favorites to win all three. Coach McGuire and his team aren't nearly as confident as their supporters, however.

Carolina plays Davidson at Davidson Friday night, and the Wildcats whipped the Tar Heels last year when Carolina appeared on the Davidson court. The Wildcats are probably the most serious threat to Carolina, and the Tar Heels are wary in spite of an early season win over the Wildcats in Woollen Gym.

After Davidson comes Clemson Saturday night, and then Duke University back in Woollen next Friday. Duke is hte last Big Four team the Tar Heels have to meet, and the most inconsistent. The Blue Devils are a hot and cold team, score a lot of points, and get scored on a good deal, too. McGuire and his men will have their hands full trying to stop high scoring Duke.

Carolina's chances to step into the Southern Conference Tournament in Raleigh on March 5-7 as the first seeded team are much brighter after the win against State. Coach McGuire was pleased and a little surprised with the win over the Wolfpack. He had said earlier in the year that "We don't hope to beat them until the 1954-55 season. We'll be ready for teams like State then . . ."

The most noticeable attribute of McGuire's team is its teamwork. Every Tar Heel fan had his own ideas as to who was the star in the win against State, but each would admit in the end that there really was no star—just a good ball club.

TRACK MEETING

There will be an important meeting of the track team this afternoon at 4:00 in room 304 of Woollen Gym. All men who have been issued equipment plus any new candidates are asked to attend.

Opportunities in Optometry

Optometry is a profession offering special advantages to ambitious young men and women. Its scope is constantly expanding. Eighty per cent of the Nation's millions depend upon the Doctor of Optometry and his professional skill in conserving vision. There is a shortage of optometrists in many states.

The Doctor of Optometry possesses the dignity of being a professional man. He renders an essential service to the health and well-being of his community. Substantial financial rewards are obtainable almost from the beginning of his practice.

U. S. Department of Defense and Selective Service grant optometry students the same consideration accorded medical students.

The Doctor of Optometry degree can be earned in three college years by a student having sixty or more semester hours of Liberal Arts credits. Such students will be admitted at mid-year by Chicago College fo Optometry.

Chicago College of Optometry is centrally located in the heart of the world's greatest center for teaching in the healing arts. It is nationally accredited and is splendidly equipped. Clinical facilities are unsurpassed.

For catalog, address Registrar
Chicago College of Optometry
2307 N. Clark St., Chicago 14, Ill.

Henderson Rites Today

Funeral services will be held in Graham this afternoon for John Jay Henderson, former Carolina football coach and prominent North Carolina lawyer who died in Arlington, Va., Sunday after a long illness. He was 70.

Known by the courtesy title of "Major" because of his association with military schools in the south, Mr. Henderson moved to Arlington from Graham about two years ago.

LAST TIMES TODAY

Varsity

LATE SHOW FRIDAY

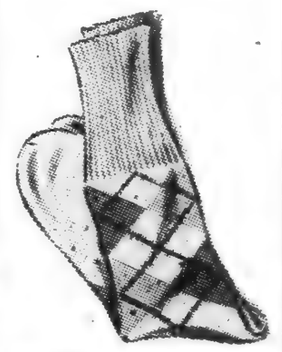
We predict this will be one of the greatest movies shown this year in Chapel Hill.

This Week's Special

Stop and Go Sundae

Made with three scoops of Gold Seal Vanilla ice cream, topped with crushed pineapple, and garnished with whipped cream, pineapple chunks, and red and green cherries.

27c



The Dairy Bar

SALE

Fine Pure Wool ARGYLES

$1.98

REGULAR 2.95 TO 3.95

The same soft, finest quality socks that were all real values at regular prices. All wool reinforced with nylon. Shrink resistant and put together perfectly for exact fit and long, comfortable wear. Assorted colors. Sizes 10½ to 12.

THE Sport—SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

Books In Our End-of-the-Month Sale

Are Only 19c Each Today

STARTING THURSDAY WHAT'S LEFT WILL BE 9c EACH!

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. FRANKLIN ST.—OPEN EVENINGS

SPORTS BRIEFS

Vic Seixas Beaten By Mervyn Rose For South Australian Tennis Title

ADELAIDE, Australia — Lefty Mervyn Rose of Australia defeated Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 2-6, 11-8 yesterday to win the South Australian Tennis Championship.

Maureen Connolly of San Diego continued her unbeaten tour of this country by winning the women's singles title. She defeated Julie Sampson of San Marino, California, 6-3, 6-2.

Seixas had a great chance to win the title. He took a 7-6 lead in the fifth set by breaking Rose's service in the 13th game.

But from deuce in the next game, Rose tied it up 7-7. He gained the advantage by smacking one down the sideline, then pulled even in games with a neat passing shot.

They fought hard until the 20th game, when Rose crashed through Seixas to wrap it up.

★

BATTLE CREEK—Robin Roberts, ace pitcher of the Philadelphia Phillies, today won the 1952 outstanding graduate award of the American Baseball Congress.

J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the Sporting News, announced the award, which will be presented to Roberts here Feb. 7.

★

DALLAS—Plans were disclosed here Saturday night for the formation of a Southern Football League by J. Curtis Sanford. The league will be a six-club professional circuit embracing Dallas, Houston, Mexico City, New Orleans, Atlanta and Birmingham.

Sanford, originator of the Cotton Bowl game, admitted that plans for the new pro circuit were still in the discussion stage. He said there would be no "all out" war against the NFL, such as the one which almost wrecked professional football while the All-America Conference operated in competition with the NFL.

He said the Southern Football League definitely would compete for players with the NFL, but that "I feel that the established clubs have learned their lesson in regard to exorbitant bids for talent."

★

CLEVELAND—Cleveland's three big twenty-game winners of last season—Early Wynn, Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia—continue to give general-manager Hank Greenberg a headache over their 1953 contracts.

You Can Get

BLATZ BEER AT COST $4.17

LOSSLEADER

AT THE RATHSKELLER

ICE CAPADES OF 1953

THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE

Mail order for tickets

COLISEUM IN RALEIGH

WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
N. C. State College—P. O. Box 8905
RALEIGH, N. C.

Children ½ Price Friday Matinee Only

Mon. Eve. Feb. 16 ☐
Tue. Eve. Feb. 17 ☐
Wed. Eve. Feb. 18 ☐
Thur. Eve. Feb. 19 ☐
Fri. Mat. Feb. 20 ☐
Fri. Eve. Feb. 20 ☐
Sat. Mat. Feb. 21 ☐
Sat. Eve. Feb. 21 ☐

Enclosed is $ ..... for ..... tickets at $ ..... each

Price: $3.00 ..... $2.50 ..... $2.00 ..... $1.50

Name ..... Address .....

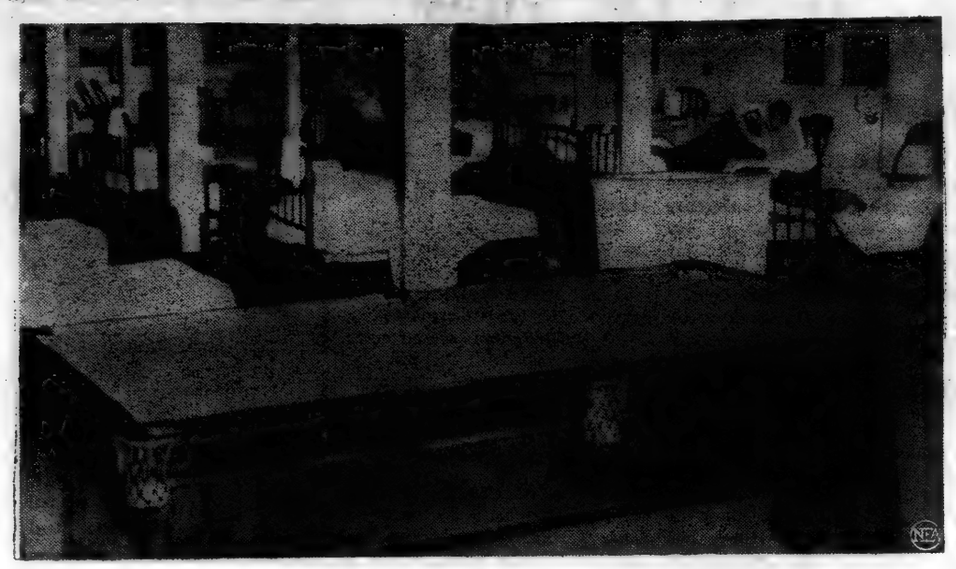
City ..... State ..... Phone No. .....

PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS

This Label Tells You What You Get

We're proud to show the ingredients of Budweiser.

Do you know of any other label that shows exactly what you get?



Our rigid standards allow no variation in Budweiser quality.

Only choicest hops, rice and best barley malt are good enough for Budweiser.

That's why . . . there's nothing like it, absolutely nothing.

Budweiser®
LAGER BEER
ANHEUSER-BUSCH, INC., ST. LOUIS

Ace Distributing Co.
DURHAM, N. C.

THE EPIDEMIC of influenza which last week forced the closure of schools and colleges in the Midwest, has spread to the Southeast. Authorities at the University of Florida at Gainesville reported that more than 600 cases of "flu" have occurred in the school in the past two weeks. The epidemic, described as "mild" by doctors, filled the college infirmary to overflowing, and forced some victims into the school's faculty club. All furniture in the club with the exception of the pool-table (foreground) has been removed to make room for beds.—NEA Telephoto.

Mid-Winter CLEARANCE S-A-L-E

Further reductions on desirable apparel in year round weight.

Entire stock gabardine suits, windsor worsted flannel suits, reduced from 65.00 to 39.95.

Large group Hockanum Flannel suits in Charcoal, light gray, skipper blue, light tan, reduced from 55.00 to 44.99.

Group suits values to 50.00, reduced to 29.99.

Entire stock Harris Tweed sport coats reduced from 42.50 to 34.99.

Large group new sport coats reduced from 35.00 to 24.99.

Over 16 different shoe styles reduced.

Our famous Howard & Foster fully leather lined shell cordovan shoes in the 3 eyelet v-throat, reduced from 18.95 to 14.99.

Our better C. H. Alden white buckskin shoes reduced from 16.95 to 11.99.

Our geuine cordovan loafers reduced from 15.95 to 13.99.

Entire stock wool imported socks reduced including Austrian Hand Framed argyles reduced from 3.00 to 1.99.

Windsor worsted flannel slacks reduced from 16.95 to 14.99.

Entire stock charcoal flannel slacks reduced.

Basket weave wide spread button-down shirts reduced from 5.00 to 3.99.

Entire stock men's and girl's sweaters reduced. All girl's sweaters reduced $3.00.

Entire stock tweed and gabardine topcoats drastically reduced.

Choice assortment of imported shetland sport coats reduced from 39.95 to 32.99---this includes our spinning wheel shetlands.

Group sport shirts, values 6.95 to 3.99. Get a jump on spring---check our new spring arrivals.

BILLS MAILED HOME AT YOUR REQUEST

YOU CAN COUNT ON MILTON'S FOR THE SMARTEST TRENDS IN CAMPUS APPAREL.

Milton's Clothing Cupboard

University Graduates Commissioned Marines

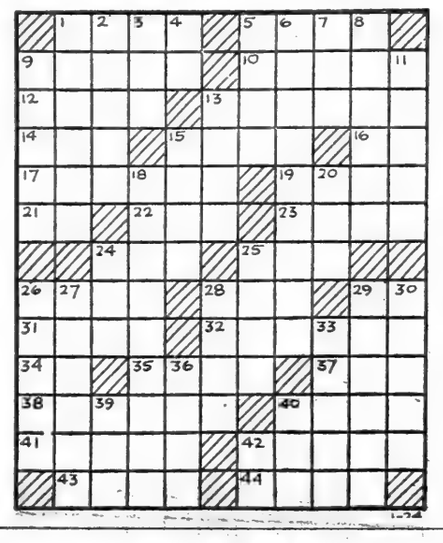
QUANTICO, Va., Jan. 26. (Special)—Five University of North Carolina grdauates recently were commissioned second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve after attending a 10 week officer candidate course at the Marine Corps School in Quantico.

The Marine lieutenants, Roger A. Carr of Plymouth, N. C., James L. Seay, Spencer, David A. Kelley, Culpepper, Va., and Joseph O'Brien and Glendon Nickerson, both of Needham, Mass., are now attending the five months basic officer training course.

After the basic course half of the officers will be assigned train elsewhere in engineering, supply, tank, naval gunfire, motor transport, communication, or naval flight.

Married or single college graduates between 20 and 27 are eligible for Officer Candidate Courses. The next OCC course begins March 12, 1953. College seniors are being accepted for classes convening in Juy and October.

Reserve officer graduates of the CCC may qualify for regular commissions upon graduation from the Special Basic Course. The active duty tour for these officers is two years.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Midday
5. Swine
9. American author
10. Rugged mountain crest
12. Competent
13. Simferopol is its capital
14. Spawn of fish
15. Seize
16. Postscript (abbr.)
17. Trace
19. The bullfinch (Eng.)
21. Exclamation
22. Spring month
23. Bound
24. Coin (Peru)
25. Chum
26. Petty quarrel
28. Consume
29. Music note
31. Monkey
32. To put at the beginning
34. Mulberry
35. Leave out
37. Evening (poet.)
38. An infirmary connected with a hospital
40. Affirm
41. Mohammedan bible
42. Flintlike rock
43. Unite, as two pieces of metal
44. Rowing implements

DOWN
1. Owner of a vineyard (Bib.)
2. Tanker carrying oil
3. Undivided
4. Northeast (abbr.)
5. Listen!
6. To face east
7. Precious jewel
8. Vast tract (SE. Eur.)
9. Describe, as a word
11. Relieved
13. Like a cake
15. Afrikaans
18. Of strong feeling
20. Lubricate
24. Perched
25. Portion
26. A pile
27. Headrest
28. Kind of poem
29. Streams of water
30. Put forth, as effort
33. A high temperature
36. Recollection
39. Anger
40. Exclamation
42. Cobalt (sym.)

Yesterday's Answer

Coast Guard Raisds Officer Requirements

The U. S. Coast Guard is discontinuing its practice of tendering direct commissions to applicants except to professionally trained persons.

In the future the officer procurement and training program will be conducted as an Officer Candidate Program.

Candidates selected from civilian life will be enlisted for three years in the Coast Guard Reserve in the rate of Seaman Apprentice, Officer Candidate. All candidates will be ordered to a 16-week training course at the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Connecticut.

Graduates of an accredited college who successfully complete the course will be appointed in the grade of Ensign, USCGR. Unsuccessful candidates will be required to serve on active duty for a period which will meet the requirements of the then current Selective Service legislation.

Paper Heard Ou Statistics At Grad Club

Harold T. Conner, graduate student in education, presented his proposed topic for dissertation to the Advanced Graduate Cub recently.

Conner's paper was concerned with the subject of predicting student success by statistical methods.

Seventeen doctoral students and advanced graduates in education, as well as five faculty members, were present. Principal business taken up, prior to Conner's presentation of the dissertation topic, was election of officers for the first winter term.

John R. Peck was elected president to succeed outgoing President Herman Preseren; A. J. Atkins was named vice-president to succeed former Vice-President Peck, and Thad Hollingsworth was chosen to succeed Jean O. Love as secretary.

CLASSIFIEDS

LOST

GOLD BOW-KNOT PIN LAST FRIday possibly in library or Fowler's. Reward. Call 9-5483. Charge 1x1

TAKEN BY MISTAKE FROM LEnoir Hall Monday morning between 8:30 and 9. Grayish-tan overcoat with a STEIN'S label. I have a tan coat I took by mistake with same label. Please return to Rosser Bunch, 112 Joyner (1-3464-2)

RIDES WANTED

RESIDENT OF 48-B GLEN LENOX. Will pay well for ride to Hope Valley School around 8 a.m. Phone 9-6654. Chg 1x1

WANTED: YOUNG LADY TO ASsist in dental office. Qualifications necessary: typing, knowledge of bookkeeping. Answer by letter. P. O. Box 1078, Chapel Hill.

What Goes On Here

Dental Dames

The Dental Dames will not meet tonight as scheduled, due to the illness of speaker Deborah Leary.

★

Open House

There will be an open house for all independent coeds this afternoon from 4:30 to 6 o'clock in the Horace Williams Lounge at Graham Memorial.

★

Scabbard and Blade

There will be a meeting of the Scabbard and Blade tonight at the Naval Armory. Uniforms are required.

★

Women's Glee Club

The Women's Glee Club will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Hill Hall.

★

Internes and Wives

There will be a meeting of internes and wives tonight at 8 o'clock in the Internes and Residents Lounge of the University Hospital. Mrs. Richard Peters will be guest speaker.

★

French Supper Club

The meeting of the French Supper Club will not be held this week.

★

WUNC

Today's schedule for campus FM station WUNC. The frequency is 91.5 mc.

7 p.m.—Sketches in Melody.

7:30—The Price of Liberty, "Trial of Peter Zenger."

7:45—Vistas of Israel, "Music of Israel."

8—Ways of Mankind, "A Desert Soliloquy—Education."

8:30—Weil lecture.

9:30—Paris star time.

10—News.

10:05—An evening masterwork.

10:45—Sign off.

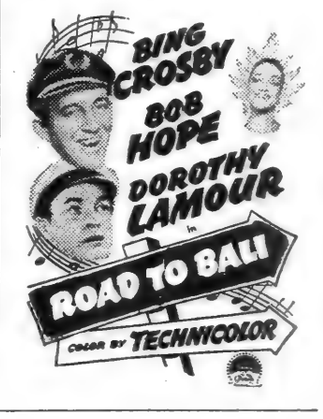
Speakers

(Continued from page 1)

turer, traveler, and writer, Barr is a keen analyst of our time and has gained fame as an educator. He abolished the elective system at St. John's College at Annapolis and eliminated textbooks upon which contemporary education was founded.

Barr initiated a curriculum based upon 100 great books from Homer to present-day writers. Barr is the author of the pamphlet "Let's Join the Human Race," and his popular book "Citizens of the World" was published this fall. He will conclude the series on Feb. 23.

In addition there will be courses on Problems of Organized Public Recreation, Health and Medical Care in Modern America, and Problems and Background of the Near and Middle East in India. These courses will be held each Monday evening at 7 o'clock preceding the scheduled discussions.



UNC professors taking part in or leading the courses are Dr. Cecil G. Sheps speaking on "New and Promising Health Programs," Feb. 9, and Dr. Arthur Fink speaking on "Is A National Health Service the Answer?" on Feb. 23.

GETS AUBURN POST

Leon M. Sahag has been appointed head of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute of Engineering, Drawing, and Designing at Auburn, Ala.

Carolina

LAST TIMES TODAY

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Partly cloudy and warmer with 65 high. Yesterday's high, 63; low, 40.

The Daily Tar Heel

PERCENT
It's not right, say the editors. No special deals. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 83 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

GORDON GRAY

Gray Member Of President's Planning Staff

The bosses have changed positions.

Gordon Gray, Consolidated University president, former secretary of the Army, has been appointed by President Eisenhower, former general under Gray, to serve on a psychological warfare committee.

Gray is a member of an eight-man committee known as the President's Committee on International Information Activities. Its purpose is to search for ways to make American strategy in psychological warfare more "unified and dynamic."

Gray said that before accepting appointment to the president's Psychological Strategy Board, he told University trustees the job would not interfere with his present duties.

He said the total time involved would not require more than five working days per month for longer than three or four months. He plans to attend the first meeting of the committee in Washington Friday.

William H. Jackson, New York investment banker heads the group.

The White House said the committee will "survey and evaluate the government's information and related policies and activities."

Recital Tonight Will Feature Father, Son

The Music Department will present a recital of violoncello music performed by Louis Potter Jr., who will be accompanied on the piano by his father, Louis Potter Sr., at 8:30 in Hill Hall.

The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

Potter Jr., is at present professor of cello and theory at the University of Illinois, and during the summer is head of the cello department at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich.

He received his training at Peabody and Juilliard music schools, and has done considerable concert work in various American cities of the East and Midwest. His father, formerly of Washington, D. C., is living in Winston-Salem, where he is organist and choir director of the Centenary Methodist Church. Potter Jr., has an aunt, Mrs. R. J. Jackson, living in Chapel Hill. Her husband is pastor of the Congregational Church.

The program tonight will feature a considerable amount of contemporary music. After the Sonata No. 4 in B-flat by Vivaldi and Beethoven's Sonata Op. 5, No. 2, Potter will present three works written within the last four years by American and British composers, "Three Pieces for Cello and Piano" by Anis Fuleihan, Thomas Pitfield's Sonata in D Minor, and A'llegro for Cello and Piano" by Thomas Frederickson.

LAZY LITERATES

The Lazy Literates Committee of the YWCA begins its Winter program today with Chancellor T. R. Milford, Lincoln Cathedral, England as guest speaker.

His subject will be "Why Be Literate, Anyway?"—discussing the relation of secular studies to Christian faith. He will speak at 4 o'clock in the YWCA lounge.

Campus Groups Given Chance To Help Needy Waif Abroad

Under an adoption plan sponsored by Christian Children's Fund Inc. fraternities, sororities and dormitories are being offered an opportunity to have a special brother or sister.

Here's how the plan works: Christian Children's Fund Inc. is an international, interdenominational association administering to the needs of underprivileged children from all over the world.

The organization wishing to adopt a child applies to fund for adoption papers. The group will receive a picture of the child, a description of his personality and background on the activities he participates in.

Ten dollars feeds, clothes and educates the child for one month.

Children may be adopted from any of the following countries: Brazil, Burma, Finland, China, India, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Korea, Lapland, Lebanon, Malaya, Mexico, Okinawa, Pakistan, Philippine Islands, Puerto Rico, United States and Western Germany.

Carr Dormitory, the first to take advantage of the plan at Carolina, has been helping its little sister Hah Ah Kan, from Hong Kong, since last year.

Other groups who already have received their adoption papers are Pi Phis, who have a brother from Brazil, Alderman Dorm, a brother from Korea, and the Tri Delts, a sister from Germany.

Address of the fund is Christian Children's Fund Inc, China Building, Richmand, 4, Va.

Student Gets Arrested In Robbery Case

A student was removed from his classroom last Wednesday as police cracked down on a gambling-thievery outfit operating in a dormitory and fraternity.

The student was taken into custody at the complaint of several residents of the dormitory who had watched him rob the wallet of another student last Wednesday at 4 a.m. Witnesses to the robbery did not apprehend the man during the act, because he was known to own a converted .38 caliber revolver. He did not, however have the gun at the time he was called from his class by the police. The weapon was in his room. He has a permit for it.

Until confronted by his accusers, the student denied any knowledge of the thefts. He then promised to pay his victims and has since made restitution, it was learned.

According to residents of the dormitory, gambling affairs have been staged with regularity for several weeks, with this man, who lived in town, dropping in to participate. He is alleged to have won considerable amounts of money for a while before his luck changed.

At about the same time it was discovered that the winner of the evening's game began to be robbed of his spoils. Someone was dropping in on the victor after he went to bed and cleaning out his wallet. The dorm men then decided to set a trap to nab the loser who insisted on getting the proceeds regardless of how he fared at the table. The result was to catch this boy attempting to remove the loot of the evening's victor.

This is the first serious student gambling condition on a North Carolina college campus since December, 1949, when Raymond Hair shot and killed Roy Coble at Wake Forest College. This was the result of a quarrel over a gambling debt which Hair owed Coble. Hair is now serving a 20-25 year term in Central Prison.

The residents of the dormitory involved in the present situation, said their dorm should not be singled out for special criticism. They contended that gambling is not confined to any dormitory but is prevalent in almost every dorm on campus. "A man can get in a game any night he wishes," one individual noted.

REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL leaders have attended their first conference with newly-inaugurated President Dwight Eisenhower. In high spirits as they arrive at the White House for the conference are Senate Majority Leader Robert Taft (left) and Senator Eugene Millikin, Chairman of the GOP conference.—NEA Telephoto.

HARRY S. TRUMAN, a fellow who used to be president, was in fine spirits, too (see above), but for a different reason. He started taking early morning strolls while in the White House and says the habit has stuck with him. Newsmen had to get up early in Independence, Mo., to catch Truman who stands before a plaque marking the former site of a pioneer blacksmith shop.—NEA Telephoto.

Exhibit On Architecture Showing In Morehead

The Display Committee of SUAB has arranged to show U. S. A., 1607-1936, a comprehensive, photographic history of American architecture prepared by Life Magabine.

The 47 panels in this exhibition will be on view until Friday in the Morehead Building.

Houses U. S. A. was organized by the editors of Life for the Inter-American Office of the National Gallery of Art, Washington. Sets with Portugese and Spanish texts have been prepared for circulation by the Inter - American Office throughout Latin America.

Enlarged photographs mounted on aluminum panels trace the history of American architecture as illustrated by single dwellings from its earliest beginnings to the present day. The theme is developed an dexpanded in seven general divisions: First Houses, Colonial, Houses of the New Republic, Greek Revival, Gothic Revival, Eclectic and Modern. Each section of the exhibition is introduced by a short explanatory paragraph which constitutes a brief history of American architecture of the last 300 years.

The exhibition opens with maps and drawings of the importation of 17th century European building forms and their adaptation to changes in climate, materials, etc., in the new world.

Eighteenth century houses show the developing colonial style in various parts of the coulntry. Four leading architects, McIntire, Bulfinch, Jefferson and Latrobe, were chosen to represent the transition from colonies to Republic.

Campus Seen

Old woman standing on tip-toe atop a stack of Esquires in local drug store as she reaches for her favorite science-fiction pulp mafazine.

*

Infirmary halls packed with students waiting for flu vaccine shots—and others, with flu, waiting to see docs.

*

George, the campus dog, eating the offerings of generous students with nary a thought for his fattening frame.

NEWS IN BRIEF

AIKLN, S. C.—A shattering gas explosion in the basement of a downtown store killed one woman yesterday in this atomic boom town and trapped at least nine other person sunder flaming wreckage. They were believed dead. Two stores were demolished and two others badly damaged in the blast which occurred about 8:30 a.m., at the Jones Electric company.

★

SEOL — Four rampaging Allied Sabrejets tangled with 20 Communist MIG-15's yesterday 20 miles south o fthe Suiho Reservoir on the Manchuria nborder and damaged two of the Red jets. On the ground, the war slacked to a near stop. Only scattered patrol action and light Communist probes were reported along the front Monday night. In another air action, Japan-based B-29 superforts dropped 120 tons of bombs on two Red targets.

★

TOKYO—An American pilot saw a small metal disc make a "sweeping pass" at a U. S. Thunder jet in northern Japan last March, the Air Force disclosed yesterday, nearly a year after it happened. A spokesman for the Far East Air Forces said Lt. David Brigham of Rockford, Ill., saw a disc sweep by a jet on a routine patrol mission in the same general area where American pilots and radar experts reported earlier this month seeing cluster of colored lights. Brigham said the disc was about eight inches in diameter, very thin, round and shiny.

★

LONDON—A Communist court in Poland yesterday sentenced two Roman Catholic priests and a layman to death on charges of spying for the Vatican and the United States. Warsaw radio said three other priests got prison sentences ranging from eight years to life.

★

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower sent the Senate yesterday the nomination of Roger M. Kyes to be deputy defense secretary but again deferred formal appointment of the men he wants as Army, Navy and Air Force secretaries. Kyes, a former vice president of General Motors Corp., has agreed to sell his GM stock, following the pattern set by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson whose nomination the Senate confirmed Monday.

★

WASHINGTON—Atomic officials were flabbergasted yesterday by a report (INS) that former President Harry S. Truman is still "not convinced" that Russia has a workable atomic bomb. They said the doubts attributed to Mr. Truman in a published interview are in direct conflict with official statements issued from his own White House office and repeated public declarations by high officials of his own administration in the past two years.

★

NEW YORK—Scientists now have a vaccine which they have good reason to believe will protect humans against polio, ending the dread scourge of a crippling and killing virus. The vaccine has stimulated a few humans, and many monkeys and chimpanzees, to make their own antibodies of disease-fighters against all three types of polio virus. Proof of the effectiveness of the vaccine will come through tests on many children, probably to be run this year.

IDC Takes Stand Against Fireworks

The Interdormitory Council passed a resolution Monday against the shooting of firecrackers in or near dormitories. The vote was 17 to 10.

Only last week a student was suspended from the University for discharging fireworks in a residence hall. Several dormitories have reported increasing trouble due to firecrackers exploding in the dorm area.

The new act is designed to give strict enforcement power to the IDC court. It says: "Any person found guilty of discharging fireworks in a dormitory or the immediate vicinity thereof will be subject to a minimum sentence of one full quarter of suspension from the University residence halls."

Another resolution concerning property damage to dorms was approved, but it must also get approval from the Student Council and Dean of Students office before it can become a court by-law. The resolution:

"The Interdorm court shall have jurisdiction over a dormitory as a whole: in cases concerning misuse of the dormitory social rooms in which property damage responsibility cannot be placed upon one or more individuals; in cases involving management or conduct of dormitory social functions or misconduct associated therewith for which responsibility for such misconduct cannot be placed upon one or more individuals; in any case of misconduct or ungentlemanly behavior which is associated with the dormitory as a unit and is representative of it."

Two new officers were elected at the IDC this week. Former secretary Walt Guriey was elect-

(See IDC, Page 4)

Dorm Resident Is Booted For Firecrackers

A firecracker-tosser got his fingers burned last week.

The Interdormitory Council Court began its crackdown on dormitory disturbances by suspending one student from the University residence halls for the remainder of the Winter Quarter, and placing four others on probation.

The court's action came in the midst of a current firecracker barrage which has rendered several dorms almost uninhabitable, according to IDC officers.

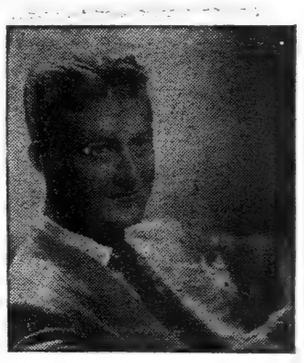
The suspended student was apprehended in his dorm room at 1 o'clock on the morning of Sunday, Jan. 10, after setting off a firecracker within the dormitory. Dorm advisers entered his room with a pass key. The student's roommate was first accused until it was found that he already had a burned hand from a previous experience.

The guilty student told advisers that he had fired the one firecracker he had left over from Christmas. He has appealed the court's action to the Student Council .

Four other students were given probation for creating a disturbance in their dormitory during quiet hours. Probation means that if a student is reported for any other disturbance, his case will go gemore the Men's Council and he will be liable to suspension from the dormitory.

Presbyterians Form Second Church Here

A second Presbyterian Church for Chapel Hill was organized Sunday afternoon with 35 charter members.



Eight of the members were formerly with the First Presbyterian Church here.

Regular services will be held in the Institute of Pharmacy auditorium beginning Sunday and supply pastors will serve the church pending the selection of a full-time minister. The first sermon will be delivered by Dr. Carl Brown of the University faculty.

Elected elders of the new church were Dr. C. Hugh Holman, Dr. Carl Brown and Thomas D. Rose. Named as deacons were Miles M. Fitch, Fred W. Teare, John Hinson and Dr. James P. Alexander.

Dr. J. Minor Gwynn was named Sunday School superintendent.

Persons interested in becoming affiliated with the church are invited, a spokesman said.

JOHNNY LONG
. . . scheduled by IDC

Princeton Dean Speaks Today About Religion

The Interfaith Council will present Dr. Hugh S. Taylor in an address today on, "Science and Religion: A Roman Catholic View", at 7:30 p.m. in Gerrard Hall.

A faculty seminar will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'cock in the lecture room of the Library to discuss this address.

Dr. Taylor is the dean of the Graduate School of Princeton University, physical chemist and an author of scientific books. He is a native of Lancaster England and a graduate of Liverpool University and the University of Louvaine. He holds seven honorary degrees.

Dr. Taylor's other engagements include a student lecture on science as a vocation, this morning at 11 o'clock in Venable Auditorium, a supper meeting with the Newman Club, this evening at 6 o'clock in Lenoir Hall and a chemistry seminar on catalysis, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Venable Hall.

LOWER AGE

Bob Pace, political science major here and chairman of the Carolina Political Union, yesterday said he intends to circulate a petition here for 18-year-old voting and present it to the Legislature.

He said that he had received favorable replies from two of Wake County's three solons and a s yet, no reply from the other one.

Pace said he hopes to set up tables in the Y-Court and Lenoir dining hall where students may sign the petition.

Ray Anthony Climbed Ladder Of Success By Giant - Steps

By Alice Chapman

Music, music, music, with a strong emphasis on the brass section will provide the atmosphere for midwinter Germans as Ray Anthony and his orchestra swing into Carolina social life.

The big weekend includes a formal on Friday, Feb. 13 from 9 to 1 during which the traditional figure will be performed, a concert Saturday from 4 to 6 p.m. in Memorial Hall, and a formal dance that evening from 8 to 12 in Woollen Gym.

Famed as the "Young Man With The Horn," Anthony will provide during the weekend orchestral presentations running the gamut from jazz and swing to novelties and sweet ballads just to prove his versatility.

Born in Bentlyville, Pa., the musician's success story moves from a local band in his Cleveland high school, past Al Donahue, lingers briefly with Jimmy Dorsey, joins Glen Miller in 1940, and stops with a Navy enlistment in 1942—but only until the Navy morale division sighted his musical ability.

At request Anthony collected a service dnace band. Hustled off to the Pacific to entertain troops, the group was named the top band in the entire Pacific area.

After a Navy discharge, the "Young Man" and horn appear in the midwest with a dance orchestra of their own. After a three year tour of the country, Anthony was signed by Capitol Records. These records plus bookings at the Paramount Theater, Cafe Rouge of the New York Statler and the Paladium in Hollywood brought him to hte top of the name band heap.

Of be-bop, Ray Anthony says, "A horrible noise." He feels that "Boppers" have been primary in turning the public interest away from band music. He will have no part in the weird sounds associated with "bop."

In trumpet conversation he favors a full open-trumpet style. He dislikes the mute because "it spoils the trumpet sound."

His showmanship is noteworthy especially when it means parading the band through the aisles of the theater.

Athletics And Academics

The current committee study concerning the disposition of the "profits" from the Book Exchange brings to mind a host of questions.

One might ask, for example, why there should be any profits at all. A sum of 40 or 50 thousands dollars has been, heretofore, paid by students each year through the Book Exchange, into the General Fund where it was used to pay operating expenses. The Board of Trustees has recently ruled that such monies will be used for scholarships. Thus, in effect, the student body (plus the faculty and others who trade at the Book Exchange) is sponsoring scholarships, presumably for needy students. Money, then, which comes from all pockets hereabouts, will go to those qualified students who need assistance.

Certainly no one will deny the worthiness of such a plan, although it would be preferable to many if the prices of the Book Exchange were lower in the first instance. But if such were the case, there would be no profits to dispense, and, therefore, no scholarships.

So, assuming that we must have profits (evidently to testify to our efficiency in the book business), they will henceforth go into scholarships. But the Chancellor's committee is considering setting aside some 25 per cent of the money for athletic scholarships.

We strongly oppose this scheme. It is morally indefensible. It sets up a double standard where there should be one standard. It divides the student body where there should be no division. Students who are athletes should take their chances along with the student body at large. If they deserve the scholarships the most, then they should get the scholarships. If they do not deserve scholarships, they should not get scholarships. One standard, that of scholastic excellence coupled with need, should be applied to all applicants, athletes and non-athletes alike.

The "Educational Foundation," a private organization supported by alumni and friends of the University, is currently awarding "scholarships" to athletes. These awards are based upon the athletic ability of the individual students involved, assuming, of course, that the students have grades which render them eligible for continued inter-collegiate competition. The awards should in no sense be confused with the ordinary "scholarship" which is precisely what the term implies, namely, an award based upon scholastic excellence.

As long as support for semi-professional athletics comes from private sources, the University's skirts are clean. However, when the University, an agency of the state of North Carolina, begins to provide funds for athletes, as such, whether they are scholarly or not, the time has come to draw the line. A subsidy in the amount of a few thousand dollars is the same, in principle, as a subsidy of the whole amount. It is unethical, therefore, to create these "second-rate" scholars, for that they would be. If they were "first-rate," they would not suffer through being placed with the non-athletic applicants. Thus, to set up a separate fund for athletes is, in reality, to do a disservice to the dignity of scholarship and athletics as well.

There are already signs of a double standard. For example, it is possible to represent the University on the gridiron from Notre Dame to Miami with an academic average which is below that required for graduation. According to the current University catalogue (page 129, paragraph 4) "there shall be a scholastic requirement of 35 hours, half C grade or better, during the preceding three quarters of residence . . ." for a student to be eligible to represent the University in any dramatic, musical, debating, oratorical, or similar event, or any other leading activity. Yet, to graduate, as everyone knows, it is required that a student have a grade of C or better in at least 30 hours in his major plus an over-all C average (one quality point for each course undertaken). Therefore, it is possible for a student to represent the University throughout the land and be ineligible for graduation!

This is a rank dis-service to a student. To keep him in residence and have him represent the University on the one hand, and to deny him graduation on the other, is to abdicate the responsibility for academic integrity which the name "University" implies.

It is anextremely fortunate circumstance that Student Government, for the past several years, has seen fit to uphold the academic standards of the University by requiring, as a prerequisite to office-holding throughout the entire student government structure, a C average for the three quarters prior to the quarter in which the election to office is held. From the President of the Student Body, to the Editors of publications, down to the officers of the individual dormitories, this inflexible standard is applied.

This salutary law, passed by the Student Legislature, stemmed from the legitimate and proper feeling among the student lawmakers that a student who does not have a C average should apply himself to his studies rather than to extra-curriculars.

It is a tribute to Student Government that such a rule is in force. It is clear that a similar rule should be incorporated into the official regulations of the University. Under such a rule, inter-collegiate athletics, to which the current Student Legislature law does not apply, would be included.

The Chancellor's committee, in considering the allocation of a special percentage of funds for athletic personnel, is not aiding the scholarship situation. Rather ,it is verging upon introducing the concept of a second-class student into the field of scholarship.

To repeat: to award an athletic grant to a student because of his athletic ability, to allow him to play for four years with his "eligibility" based upon standards inferior to those required for graduaion, leaving him at the end of that time with a possible great deficiency of quality points, left to fend for himself, on his own, is to do him and the University a great dis-service, the legitimate desire to have a winning team not withstanding. To directly involve the University by granting University scholarships from a separate athletic fund, while the existing rules concerning eligibility remain in force, is to compound the dis-service to the athletes and University alike.

Join the MARCH OF DIMES

JANUARY 28 29 30 31

Dorman Cordell

Too Green To Burn

Joe Doakes, an old alum, returned to Carolina for a short visit and wandered over by his old fraternity, Rho Dammit Rho, to see all the frat heads. However, he was greatly surprised to se a large "Condemned" sign hanging on the door.

"Ah, I see the boys have been stealing signs off the Chapel at Duke again," he mused. But when he entered, the men were all in deep discussion about fire escapes and things.

When they saw Doakes, they greeted him, but he noted despair in their voices, and even when they gave the old lodge grip, he noticed several limp hands in their midst.

"What's the trouble boys?" he asked benevolently, and then they told him the horrible news.

"We fraternities and sororities are being discriminated against," the president said. "Since the Republicans won the election, too many people are getting bold enough to speak. First the trustees spoke up to propose Saturday classes, and now this condemning by the fire inspector. It's awful. Why, even the Daily Tar Heel in getting anti-fraternity. The first issue this quarter ran a banner head extolling the students to 'Condemn Greek Letter Houses.' Yessir, the DTH suggested condemning us. And after us reading it every day."

The various fraternity members explained to Doakes how the fire board had decreed they must have fire escapes and eliminate other fire hazards.

"It's so ridiculous, too," moaned the house manager. "After all we have a perfectly good stairway upstairs which is all of three feet wide. And hardly ever more than once a week does anybody fall down it and break his arm.

"And the upstairs is practically fireproof, except for the cardboard we use for room partitions and the straw the mattresses are stuffed with. Anyhow, the second floor is so close to the ground that anybody could jump out without hurting himself badly. Of course, there aren't any windows on the third floor, but the 15 guys living up there could climb down the ladder to the second floor in no time at all and jump out the second floor windows. At least they could jump out the windows that weren't stuck—if they could get some of those stubborn doors open."

Doakes was incensed. "Boys, I agree with you. This nonsense of condemning fraternity and sorority houses has been carried too far. In my capacity as a lobbyist, I'll see that the laws are changed at once." And he was off in a cloud of dust and a hearty cry of "Hi Yo Silver."

Sure enough, the very next week the legislature changed the silly old fire laws, and announced they would, in the future, not apply to any buildings housing college students.

"After all," as one legislator put it, "anybody knows college students are too green to burn."

Express Yourself

Editor:

A. Z. F. Wood's article on English 82 and Melville is one of the most asinine pieces of prose I've run across in months. Wood has jumped into the water and is complaining because it's wet.

If he doesn't like Melville and much other nineteenth century writing, why the devil did he sign up for a course in which it is taught? If he likes modern prose, why didn't he sign up for a course which concerns itself with modern prose?

It would be a blessing to the student body if The Daily Tar Heel columnists would remain silent on those days on which they have nothing to say.

Pryor Smith

ITALY: Cash On the Side

A professor at Turin university has been arrested on charges that he sold 1,000 copies of the questions he was planning to ask on examination, before the exams were held.

RUSSIA: Med Schools

There are at present 76 medical schools in the Soviet Union, serving more than 100,000 students. Four new schools have recently been established.

Harrison Dunlop

Personality Of The Week

Have you ever stopped to wonder who sees to it that George, Carolina's capricious canine, gets fed regularly, or how it is that all our campus canine population manages to stay in such good squirrel-chasing condition? If you have ever seen Mrs. A. M. Jordan on her frequent errands of mercy, you know the answer. On almost any given day she may be seen tramping the campus paths in search of hungry or hurt canine waifs, invariably accompanied by Rebel, her monstrous, black St. Bernard, who does his bit by lugging a battered shopping bag filled with cans of dog food for his hungry fellows.

Mrs. Jordan, wife of Dr. Arthur Melville Jordan of the Psychology Department, has devoted her boundless energy to her favorite hobby for all of her thirty-year stay in Chapel Hill, sometimes in her official capacity as Treasurer of the Chapel Hill Humane Society, but more often merely as a compassionate person who says with a smile, "Why, I couldn't sit down to a meal myself if I had left a hungry or hurt stray untended!"

Her philosophy is based on the fact that law-enforcement officers are too busy and the public in general too apathetic to handle adequately a serious problem. "Animals are dependents, just as children," says Mrs. Jordan with asperity. "They should be placed where they can neither be hurt nor hurt others."

Such an attitude can lead to complications. For instance, there was that day in 1945 when the Navy, with its accustomed efficiency, moved out wiht something less than forty-eight hours notice, leaving behind some seventy canines of varying ancestry which the lonely gobs had adopted. "We picked them all up," says the gracious little lady with a twinkle in her eye, "but goodness knows how!"

And, there are touching stories of generosity and kindness, too. There was the almost destitute family out on the Durham road that found two beautiful redboned hounds during hunting season—obviously extremely valuable animals. Rejecting the opportunity to sell the dogs at a very handsome price, they boarded the voracious hounds while eliciting Mrs. Jordan's aid in a search for the owner. Eventually he was found, but not before the family had been forced to kill their last goose to feed the dogs. Perhaps it is examples of devotion such as this that inspire Mrs. Jordan in her work.

There are others, of course, who contribute to this humane cause here in Chapel Hill; Mrs. Otto Stuhlman, for instance, another professor's wife who has been active in this work even longer ago than 1923. But it is with Mrs. Jordan that we at Carolina have become most familiar, for it is she who has adopted the large canine population of our tree-shaded campus. In her, we see some trace of that village community spirit for which Chapel Hill has been known and loved for so many years.

Shades Of Rupert Brooke?

THESE I DISLIKE

By Thor Leif

A rainy day when hunting trip
I've planned,
And smeary lipstick on a drinking glass,
That slimy spinach Mom and Sis
have canned,
The girl who talks so much in history class,
Conceited persons—thinking of themselves,
And men who ride and let a
walker tire,
The "friend" who keeps good novels from my shelves,
And relatives who come and
never wire,
The man who sleeps and snorts
and snores in church,
A little "scamp" who in the movie
cries,
The boy next door who cut my
nicest birch,
The lovely girl who told me only lies.
If you notice such and "rules of etiquette" I break,
Correct me, please; I beg, for Heaven's sake!

John Taylor

Previews

On Wednesday two very fine films will be playing the Chapel Hill theaters. They are "The Red Badge of Courage" which will be seen for only one day at the Carolina, and "Androcles and the Lion" showing for two days at the Varsity.

Since "The Red Badge of Courage" has been shown here before, not too much space will be allotted it in this column. Suffice it to say that it is a magnificant work, that it was on many lists of the ten best pictures of 1951. Audie Murphy and cartoonist Bill Mauldin star in this Civil War movie which tells the story of the coming of age of a young soldier in the midst of battle. The movie deserves the highest recommendation.

If evaluated as simply another motion picture, "Androcles and the Lion" would be classed as an extremely entertaining movie. But if judged from the viewpoint that this is a film adaptation of the great Bernard Shaw play dealing with a group of carefree Christians about to be martyred in Rome, it must be admitted that much of the wit is more Hollywood than Shaw.

Before your reviewer progresses any further, he must concede that he has never read the original play. But the humor in the movie, particularly that of Alan Young, who portrays Androcles the gentle tailor whose love of animals saves him from martyrdom, seems more farcical and obvious than in any of the Shaw plays that he has read. The work as done on the stage lasts about an hour, while the movie has a running time of an hour and forty-five minutes. So apparently little was cut, but a tremendous amount added. It can safely be assumed that it is the new material plus the fact that Mr. Young is a broad comedian that lowers the level of the film.

Producer Gabriel Pascal has recruited some excellent actors to bring "Androcles and the Lino" to the screen. Three of the principals, Jean Simmons, as the beautiful Christian, Lavinia, Maurice Evans, as a foppish Julius Caesar, and Robert Newton, as the ferocious man of God, Ferrovius, come closest to bringing the brillinace of the play to the screen. There are also able performances by Elsa Lancaster, Alan Mowbray, Gene Lockhart, Jim Backus, and many others of the supporting cast.

Tom Neal, Jr.

Ruff Drama

Anyone with the intelligence of a collie or higher can enjoy Robert Frost! The appearance on campus of American's Dean of Poets last Friday—an evening styled in the Frost manner of rare and charming humor—reminds me of an incident that occurred some ten years ago.

It happened in the home of Dr. George Ehlhardt, a very good friend of mine who was a former administrator at Duke University, and past president of Brevard College.

The scene is in Uncle George's living room at Deland, Fla. Robert Frost sits leisurely in a rocking chair. Enter, RUFF, Mr. E's collie.

Action! "WOOF-WOOF?" encourages Mr. Frost, as he holds candy for the dog. "ARF," responds the young pup. And the candy is his.

Shift of action: nightfall, the library. Re-enter, RUFF, into the darkened study. A light gnawing is heard from the unlighted room.

Morning: Ehlhardt and Frost discover the poet's volume, A WAY OUT, has its corner chewed off! Frost speaks: "Collies are intelligent dogs, and he appreciates good verse."

If you'd like to check this story, motor over to Durham. Housed in the Rare Book Room at Duke University is the Ehlhardt Frost Collection, one of the larger Frost collections in this country. And there, with numerous first editions and other valuable papers and poems from the pen of Robert Frost is a dog-eared book: A WAY OUT.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. — Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Charles A. Collins, Charles Haskett, Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Biff Roberts

Kramer, Pro Tennis Champ, Risks Title In Sedgman Tour

By Vardy Buckalow

Jack Kramer, once the ruler of world amateur tennis, now king of the professionals, having succeeded Bobby Riggs in 1948, is currently touring the continent with Frank Sedgman, Ken McGregor, and Pancho Segura. The all-star troup will be in Chapel Hill on February 23.

Tickets for the pro tennis matches are on sale at the Woollen Gym ticket office. Prices are $1.25 for students; $1.75 general admission; and $2.50 for reserved seats. Only 1,500 student and general admission seats are being offered for sale.

JACK KRAMER

Kramer has placed his professional crown on the line against Sedgman, who just concluded an amateur career as brilliant as his own, and the winner of the current series will be the professional champ of the world. Also on the program is a match between Segura and McGregor.

Kramer is a product of Montebello, Calif., and was only five years old when he first took tennis racket in hand. He was born on August 1, 1921, in Las Vegas, Nev., and is now 31 years old.

He started winning titles early, taking the U. S. Boys' championship in 1936 and the National Interscholastics for Montebello High in 1938. In 1939 at the age of 18, his game was so highly regarded that he was thrown into the Davis Cup doubles with the late Joe Hunt against Aussies John Bromwich and Adrian Quist. He and his partner lost in four sets.

In the following years, Kramer emerged as one of the top players in the country, but a series of bad breaks, caused the U. S. singles crown to elude him until 1946. In 1942 he assumed the favorite role and was stricken with appendicitis. In 1943 he was stricken with a case of ptomaine poison and lost in the finals.

Following this loss, he switched from tennis tours to a tour in the Coast Guard and was stationed most of the time on an LST, which participated in five invasions of New Guinea. After being discharged as a lieutenant (jg), ill luck continued to follow him in his quest for world tennis honors.

He got to the 1946 Wimbledon semifinals, despite a severely blistered racket hand, and there bowed to Jaraslov Drobny while playing with a glove on his hand. However, since then, he has been unbeatable.

In the Davis Cup matches the same year he beat Dinny Pails and then Bromwich in straight sets, and teamed with Ted Schroeder to down Bromwich and Quist in a straight-set doubles. Again in '47 he beat the same pair without losing a set.

In 1947 he cleaned up on the U. S. and Wimbledon titles after having taken his first U. S. crown the year before. It was at this point in his career that he turned professional.

The first thing on his all-conquering pro-schedule was to dethrone Bobby Riggs, then the pro champion of the world. This he did with ease, beating Riggs in a long series, 69-20.

Since then he has beaten off the challenges of Pancho Gonzales, and Segura. Now it is Frank Sedgman whom Kramer must beat, the lad referred to by many without reservations as the "No. 1 tennis player in the world." At present, Sedgman leads in the series, 8-6.

Carolina Rated In Cage Polls

Coach Frank McGuire's Tar Heels, unranked in the nation previous to their win over N. C. State Saturday night, vaulted into the number 17 spot in United Press ratings and were ranked 18th by the Associated Pres si nthe weekly polls.

Surprisingly, however, the Wolfpack remained in the number eight spot in the UP ratings. The AP dropped State out of the first ten and placed it in 12th place.

The Tar Heels received one first place vote in the AP balloting, as opposed to 44 for first-ranked Seton Hall, The AP ratings are based on votes by leading sports writers across the country, while the UP slate is decided by the United Press Rating Board comprised of basketball coaches.

Both news services agreed on the number one team. Seton Hall, the only major undefeated team in the nation, ran its string to 19 straight and won the AP poll, 679-595 ,with Indiana placing second. Seton Hall beat Indiana by only 14 ballots in the UP voting, and the UP rated the first eight places the same as last week, and reversed the ninth and 10th teams.

Seton Hall coach Honey Russell retains an odd, pessamistic view towards his team's 19-0 record, and isn't at all confident about the res. of the season.

"Weather clear ,track fast, and Walter Dukes is still galloping. But let me tell you, we easily could lose all 11 of our remaining games," was Russell's comment.

Behind Seton Hall and Indiana in UP ratings in order come the Washington Huskies, Kansas State, Illinois, La Salle, Oklahoma A.&M., North Carolina State, Notre Dame and Kansas.

The second ten are: De Paul, Louisiana State, Fordham, California, Brigham Young, St. Louis, North Carolina, Southern California, Minnesota, and Holy Cross.

The Tar Heels, Southern Conference leaders, are unbeaten in Big Four competition, and hold an 11-1 Conference record. Besides the win over State, the other Big Four victory to their credit is a 72-68 win over Wake Forest. Holy Cross, Pennsylvania and Maryland are the only teams with wins over Carolina this season.

AP ratings are as follows (votes in parenthesis): Seton Hall (679), Indiana (595), Washington (545), La Salle (485), Kansas State (439), Illinois (335), Fordham (183), Oklahoma A. & M. (171), Western Kentucky (129), De Paul (104).

The second are: Louisiana State, N. C. State, Seattle, Kansas, Eastern Kentucky, Navy, Notre Dame, North Carolina, Manhattan, and Tulsa.

Carolina polled 49 points.

The University of Richmond has 13 freshmen on its 16-man basketball squad.

Today Last Day To Trade Even Passbooks For Ducats

The remaining three home games on the North Carolina basketball schedule will be reserved, with faculty, students and University employees receiving the choice seats if they turn in their passbooks.

The games, Duke, New York University, and N. C. State, are among the best on the Tar Heel schedule for the season.

Today is the last day for students with even numbered passbooks to turn in their coupons for the Duke game next Friday night, and the NYU game next Saturday night. Students with odd numbered books may exchange their coupons on tomorrow, Friday, and Saturday, Jan. 29, 30, and 31.

Passbooks will not be valid at the games, nor will they be exchangeable after the above-mentioned dates. Tickets for the contests go on sale to the general public after Saturday, January 31.

A later announcement will be made concerning the exchange of passbook coupons for the N. C. State game scheduled February 21. Odd serial numbers will receive priority for this game.

COMPLETE GARAGE &

WRECKER SERVICE

NASH CARS — INTERNATIONAL TRUCKS

Chapel Hill Motors, Inc.

502 W. Franklin St. Day Phone 9-3401

Night Phone 9-5352

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Jury In Spivy Trial Is Dismissed By Judge Streit; LeBaron Honored

NEW YORK—The jury in the perjury trial of former University of Kentucky All-America basketball player Bill Spivey was dismissed by Judge Saul S. Streit after it claimed to be "hopelessly deadlocked." The jury had deliverated for 10 1-2 hours.

No date has yet been set for a new trial.

The jury, composed of eight men and four women, began work at 11:20 Monday morning. It twice revisited the court room for further instructions, took time out for two meals, and was finally dismissed by Judge Streit at 1:28 yesterday morning.

It was reported that the jury favored 9-3, an acquital for the seven-foot Spivey, accused of lying about fixing basketball games.

★

PHILADELPHIA — Little Eddie LeBaron, quarterback for the Washington Redskins, was named the most courageous athlete of 1952 by the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association.

LeBaron was given the award for his fighting in Korea while leading a platoon as a Marine lieutenant. He was hit in the right leg and shoulder by shell fragments while over there.

After constant practice he was able to get his shoulder back in shape and he ranked as one of the top five passers in the National Football League this past season.

★

NEW YORK—Danny Nardico was rated as the Fighter of the Month for January by Ring Magazine in recognition of his knock-out of Jake LaMotta, who had previously never been knocked off his feet.

Also given recognition were Eddie Chavez, Kid Gavilan, and Gil Turner.

Gymnastics Team To Meet Duke Here Tomorrow Night

Carolina's gymnastic team will oppose Duke in the first home meet of the season tomorrow night in Woollen Gym at 7:30. Each team will be seeking its first victory.

The two rival schools faced rugged competition in their opening meets as Duke lost to Syracuse, 72-23, in December, and Carolina was defeated by Navy, 69-25, January 10.

Tar Heel coach Bill Meade believes that his team has improved considerably since the Navy meet, and he is confident of a strong comeback against Duke.

The rivalry will be particularly sharp since Meade and Duke coach Raymond Sarensen were both high school and college teammates.

Carolina will be led by Check Goodin, who was high point man against Navy, and Gordon Hudson, the team's second leading scorer. Goodin specializes in the sidehorse, high-bar, parallel bars, and rings, while Hudson performs in the sidehorse, parallel bar, rings and tumbling events.

Bill Riviera, a mere sophomore, has been outstanding in the rope climbing event, and Coach Meade believes he has the potential to break the conference mark by the end of the season.

The tumbling event shapes up as a two man duel between Carolina's Pete Brumley and Dick Heckert of Duke.

MURALS

TODAY'S BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 1, TEP 3 vs. ATO 2; court 2, SAE 2 vs. Theta Chi 2; court 3, Phi Delt 4 vs. ATO 4; court 4, reserved for gymnastic team; court 5, Beta 1 vs. Sig Chi 4; court 6, Delt Sig Pi vs. Pi Lamb; court 7, Lamb Chi 1 vs. Phi Gam 1.

5:00—Court 1, Dental School vs. Lewis 2; court 2, Phi Kap Sig 1 vs. Kap Psi 2; court 3, Zeta Psi 2 vs. KA 1; court 4, reserved for gymnastic team; court 5, Phi Gam 4 vs. Sig Nu 2; court 6 vs. Chi Psi 1; court 7, Chi Phi 1 vs. Phi Delt 1.

7:00—Court 1, Manley vs. Alexander 2; court 2, Med School 4 vs. BVP 2; court 3, Lewis 4 vs. Grimes 1; court 4, Graham 2 vs. Cobb 4; court 5, Alexander 1 vs. Mangum 2.

8:00—Court 1, Joyner 4 vs. Cobb 1; TMA vs. Med Sch 2; court 3, Ruffin 1 vs. Cobb 3; court 4, Everett 1 vs. Joyner 3; court 5, Lewis 3 vs. Graham 1; court 6, Med Sch 3 vs. Winston 1.

TODAY'S TABLE TENNIS

4:00—Kap Sig 2 vs. Sig Chi 3; 4:40—ATO 1 vs. Sig Chi 1; 5:20—KA 1 vs. SPE 2.

TUXEDOS FOR RENT

Varley's Men's Shop

Phone 6291

Nu-Way Offers You the Quickest Dry Cleaning Service in Chapel Hill and Better Yet, It's All

FREE

When you send your clothes to Nu-Way Cleaners you automatically know they'll be treated as if they were our own. They'll receive the special care that only experts put in their work and you can get 24 hour service at the Nu-Way Cleaners. For FREE pickup and delivery service call

NU-WAY CLEANERS

"WE MEAN —— WE CLEAN"

N. Graham St. Phone 9-3498

Wrestlers At Charleston Tomorrow; Meet The Citadel

Carolina's wrestling team, winner of one match in three attempts, will meet The Citadel tomorrow night at Charleston, S. C.

Although defeated by Duke and Virginia in their last two matches, the Tar Heels are given a good chance to even up their record against the Cadets. In last year's match between the two teams, The Citadel won, 19-10.

Coach Sam Barnes will probably go along with the same team which lost to Virginia, 25-3. That would put Harry Pawlik at 123; Gordon Forester at 130; Captain Ed Haines at 137; Arthur Gregory at 147; Pete McGehee at 157; Harvey Bradshaw at 167 Miles Gregory at 177; and Andy Holt or Karl Barkley at heavyweight.

Haines was the only Carolina wrestler to win against the Cavaliers, taking a 6-5 decision. Bradshaw won his match against Duke.

The Tar Heels will have their toughest matches to come after tomrorow's meet. Included on the future agenda are West Virginia, Maryland, VMI, Washington and Lee, VPI, and N. C. State.

The team, which won only one dual meet last year but finished strong in the Conference tournament to take seventh place, got its lone victory over Davidson, 17-11, back on Dec. 12.

The Tar Heels will not have a meet at home until Feb. 20 when they meet W&L in Woollen Gym.

Have You Missed A Bargain In Our End-of-The Month Sale

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. FRANKLIN ST.

OPEN EVENINGS

Carolina

TODAY

NOT SINCE "GONE WITH THE WIND" . . . such a powerful drama of the war between the states!

A JOHN HUSTON Production

Plus

CARTOON—NEWS

Eclipse By Radio

In connection with the total eclipse of the moon tomorrow night, Dr. M. S. Davis, astronomer and narrator at the Morehead Planetarium, will give a description of the eclipse over a Raleigh radio station from 7:15 to 7:30 that evening.

Dr. Davis will be the guest of Phil Ellis, of Radio Station WPTF, on his weekly program, "Reporter at Large," Weather permitting, a running account of the eclipse will be given by Dr. Davis from the terrace of the Planetarium.

The radio audience will hear a detailed description of that portion of the eclipse which will have occurred below the borizon, and the precise times to expect the final sequences of the lunar spectacle.

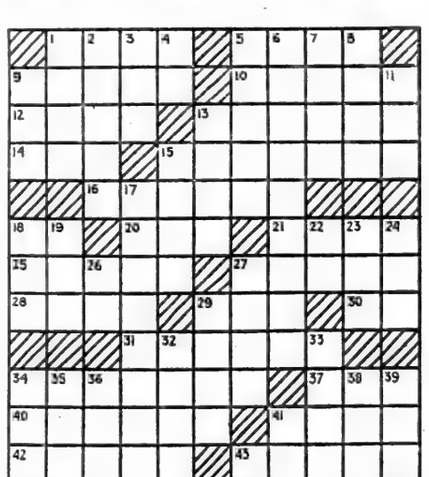
In the event of cloudy skies, Dr. Davis will present an alternate program on eclipses.

This and other eclipses in 1953 are included in the current Morehead Planetarium demonstration which is given every night at 8:30 and on Saturday afternoons at 3 o'clock and Sunday afternoons at 3 and 4 o'clock through Monday evening, Feb. 2.

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS

1. Father
5. Run before the wind
9. Sharp cutting implement
10. Hourly
12. Poker stake
13. Perform clumsily
14. Tiny
15. Leather leggings
16. Select
18. West Africa (abbr.)
20. Some
21. A star
25. Run away and marry
27. Scatter
28. Heavy blow (slang)
29. Owing
30. Half an em
31. Corrects
34. Ancient female warriors
37. Astern
40. Locality
41. An artificial bait
42. City (Vt.)
43. Confronted
44. Spreads grass to dry
45. S-shaped molding



DOWN

1. Part of a window
2. Mexican Indian
3. American poet
4. Land measure
5. Closes
6. Satisfied
7. Impel
8. Small valley
9. Uncooked
11. Man's nickname
13. A channel marker
15. A corn bread
17. Accident
18. Network
19. A wing
22. Gold (Her.)
23. Letter V
24. Beard of rye
26. Bone (anat.)
27. Basks in solar rays
29. Sand dune (Eng.)
32. Burrowing animals
33. A dressing for meat
34. Linen vestment (Eccl.)
35. Ditch around a castle
36. Measure of land
38. Liberate
39. Man's nickname
41. Loiter
43. Field officer (abbr.)

2-2

Saturday's Answer

You Can Paint Beautiful Pictures

In Oil The Very First Time

You don't have to be a professional artist to paint beautiful pictures in oil. Dale Fairless Shop has the new Craft Master and Picture Craft oil painting sets. They include brushes, pre-mixed oils and a pre-drawn genuine canvas in a variety of subjects.

No Experience—No Mixing—No Lessons

DALE FAIRLESS SHOP

GLEN LENNOX

Mr. Merchant

Last quarter the Tar Heel's advertising staff was inconveniently understaffed. This meant that a number of Chapel Hill and Carrboro merchants were not regularly contacted who were interested in using Daily Tar Heel as their medium for contacting the students, the faculty and the families of the community.

However, the advertising department is under new management this quarter and the staff has been increased to sufficiently contact merchants who have been and who are interested in advertising.

The new managers are vitally interested in helping all advertisers with any problems that may arise; such as which items to feature, what issues of the paper will be of greatest value to them and any other problems that may occur. Layouts and full copy will be available to all advertisers.

Since the management changes have been made this quarter, there is a possibility that some merchants have been overlooked. If you are interested in advertising in the Daily Tar Heel and have not been contacted as yet, please call us. We want to meet you and be at your service.

THE DAILY TAR HEEL

Phone 9-3371 Charles Collins, Charles Haskett Phone 9-3371
(Managers)

What Goes On Here

Religious Education

Students interested in the field of religious education are invited to hear Dennis W. Hockaday, minister of education in the First Baptist Church, Durham, who will speak tomorrow evening at 7:15 at the Baptist Church here. Hockaday will answer any questions. He will discuss the necessary years of training required, the duties of a religious education director and a new type of program which is being sponsored in churches throughout the U.S.A.

★

Unitarian Fellowship

The Unitarian Fellowship will meet Sunday night in the YWCA lounge to hear Dr. I. O. Kattsoff discuss "Freedom in the Modern World." The meeting will begin at 8:30.

★

Student Union Activities Board

There will be a meeting of all committee chairmen of SUAB at 4:30 tomorrow in the SUAB office. Students interested in working with the Public Relations Committee of SUAB will report to the SUAB office today at 4:30.

★

UNC Philosophy Club

Prof. Harold G. McGurdy of the Psychology Department will speak on "A Psychologist Looks at Philosophy" tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Library Assembly Room.

★

WUNC

Today's schedule for campus FM station with a frequency of 91.5 mc:

7 p.m.—Holland Calling, "The Orchestra of the Swing College."
7:15—The UN story, "Story of Grace Bok Holmes."
7:30—Alcoholics series, "The Long Night."
7:45—Famous Belgians, "The Belgians at Home."
8—The Jeffersonian Heritage, "The University of the United States."
8:30—Masterworks from France.
9—Concert favorites.
9:30—Everybody's Business.
10—News.
10:05—An evening masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.

Polio Attacks Billfold ,Too, Says Tall Man With Cane

By Josephina Niggli

(Miss Niggli is a well known Chapel Hill author)

In Beverly Hills, Calif., a penthouse apartment with two bedrooms and two private baths costs $700 a month. In a polio hospital one bed in a 20-bed ward costs $420, plus extras.

Today we buy a lot of things "plus extras." A car, for instance, F.O.B. Detroit. But you can drive a car without a radio, or a cigarette lighter, or a heater.

In a hospital you need the small economies. The "extras" pay for the doctor, for the nurses, for the medicine. And if you've got polio, sometimes the "extras" buy the air you breathe in an Iron Lung, or keep your heart beating on a Rocking Bed, or pay for a wooden cane so that you can walk like other men.

That's your personal bill, you in the bed with polio. But what about the bill you never see? The bill that reads: one gamma globulin test, Houston, Tex., at $500,000?

Or, Account Rendered: 1949, 40,000 cases; 1952, 57,000 new cases plus backlog of 50,000?

The figures are too big. They don't mean anything. Let's talk about a dime, 10 cents. A dime will buy 10 licorice sticks. It will clink as it drops in a piggy bank. Three hundred dimes will pay for a bicycle. How many are needed to buy a wooden cane?

"Listen," said the tall man with the cane. "I found out the hard way. I make a good salary when I'm working." He said he was personal manager for a movie star. "Two years ago I had $10,000 in my savings account. I thought I was ready for any emergency." He laughed at the joke on himself. "I had a wife and two kids and I thought I could take care of anything." He looked through the two years at himself, tall and confident without the can. "Do you know how long that $10,000 lasted? Four months and two weeks."

He looked down at the cane. "When polio hit me I wasn't scared. My wife's father said not to worry. He said he could take care of Mary and the kids. But I had $10,000. I thought could swing it alone."

When he shifted the cane, it left a small dent in the carpet. "At the end of three months I looked at my checkbook. Deposits, zero. And the other side almost zero. I tell you, I was scared. I've never been so scared in my life. I was with the Marines in the war, but at least then I had a gun in my hands. Now I didn't have anything, and no way to fix it. I couldn't sleep. I couldn't eat."

He moved the cane again. "My chart said I was getting worse. The doctors told my wife I might have to go into the lung. A semi-private room and three private nurses cost $75 a day, but the lung! That would send the bill up to a hundred. My father-in-law wanted to help, and my wife found a job, but a hundred a day for thirty days is $3,000!

"And there were the kids. They had to have clothes, and school books, and ribbons for their hair. Little girls need ribbons for their hair. I tell you, it was cheaper for me to die. It was a whole lot cheaper to die."

His cane moved again and now there were three small dents in the carpet. They formed a triangle, like the dents a three-legged stool leaves. The tall man had three legs: Two of flesh and one of wood.

He laughed again, with no over tones of self pity. "I guess I went down as low as a man can get. And then my wife brought a letter from the Polio Foundation. It said a lot of things, but what it didn't say was the best thing. It didn't say, 'Don't worry. We'll take care of the Lung. We'll take care of the $3,000 a month. Don't worry, just get well.' The words were business words, but they added up to security. And the signature wasn't the right signature. It should have been signed "The Brotherhood of Man."

"Maybe it's sentimental to think of it that way. But it makes you sentimental to realize that folks you've never met think your life's worth more than an entry in a business ledger."

He shifted the cane again, and now there were four dents in the carpet. And each dent was just the size of a dime.

Outlook Fine, Work Ahead For Drive

The outlook for a successful March of Dimes campaign in North Carolina appears to be good at this stage, but the big task comes this week, Mrs. Phillips Russell, director of the state organization, said at headquarters here yesterday.

She joined State Campaign Chairman Thad Eure, Raleigh, in asking volunteer workers "to redouble their efforts during the final days of the campaign. Chairman Eure said he believed if the army of volunteers "would turn on the heat this week" North Carolina will reach and probably exceed its $1,250,000 goal.

He emphasized the point that there were more cases of polio in the nation last year than during any previous year and that four out of five of the 100,000 victims were helped by polio funds.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has sent far more money to North Carolina for treatment of polio patients than has been raised in the State campaigns, he added.

Chairman Eure praised the press and radio and television stations for "having done a marvelous job in informing our citizens of the importance of meeting our goal this year," but added that there is "no substitute for the follow up job of getting the money and that is the special job of our workers this week."

Discussing the progress of the campaign, Mrs. Russell said that a number of Mothers' Marches will be held in various communities this week. One is being scheduled for Fayetteville, Thursday night between 7 and 8 o'clock. There 638 mothers have volunteered to go out and make collections where porch lights have been turned on, reports Mrs. Russell Wood, in charge of the March.

The tri-cities of Leaksville-Spray-Draper are also conducting a Mothers' March on Thursday night, J. O. Thomas, director, Rockingham County campaign, reports.

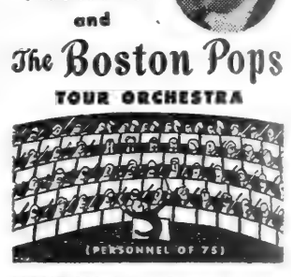
Richard S. Clark, co-director for Randolph County, says that three communities, Seagrove, Farmer and Worthville, have exceeded their quotas.

Troy McPherson, director of the Columbus County campaign, reports that one community, Guideway, has reached its quota.

-IDC-

(Continued from page 1)

ed vice-president, and Jack Gooch, Greensboro, was elected to fill the secretary vacancy.



It was announced that Johnny Long has been contracted for the IDC dance on April 18. Long's band will give a concert from 4 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and play for the dance that night from 9 until 12.

Ray Jefferies, assistant to the dean of students, attended the meeting and urged dorm officers to start campaigns to get their social rooms fixed up.

HEAR YOUR FAVORITE MUSIC!

Arthur Fiedler and The Boston Pops

TOUR ORCHESTRA

MONDAY, FEB. 9th, 8:30 P.M.
Prices: $2.50, $2.00, $1.50, $1.00
Children ½ Price
N. C. State College
COLISEUM IN RALEIGH

As an Arthur Murray Student

YOU'RE SURE OF POPULARITY

Yes, good dancers are the sought-after partners at parties. How popular are you? Why not come in to Arthur Murray's now and let one of his experts develop your dormant dancing ability?

ARTHUR MURRAY
104½ Morris St. at 5 Points
Durham Phone 2-7872
Studios Air-Conditioned

STUDENT CLUB
Being Organized!

BRITISH PRIME MINISTER Winston Churchill and his wife are shown as they boarded the liner Queen Mary in New York for their return trip to England. The Prime Minister, who visited with President Eisenhower, several weeks ago, has been vacationing in Jamaica. —NEA Telephoto.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR RENT

ROOMS FOR WEEKENDS OR BY the day or week. Phone 7456, 406 Cameron Ave. Chg. one by one

LOST

GOLD BOW-KNOT PIN LAST FRIday possibly in library or Fowler's. Reward. Call 9-5483. Charge 1x1

TAKEN BY MISTAKE FROM LEnoir Hall Monday morning between 8:30 and 9. Grayish-tan overcoat with a STEIN'S label. I have a tan coat I took by mistake with same label. Please return to Rosser Bunch, 112 Joyner (1-3464-2)

RIDES WANTED

RESIDENT OF 48-B GLEN LENOX. Will pay well for ride to Hope Valley School around 8 a.m. Phone 9-6654. Chg 1x1

HELP WANTED

WANTED: YOUNG LADY TO ASsist in dental office. Qualifications necessary: typing, knowledge of bookkeeping. Answer by letter. P. O. Box 1078, Chapel Hill.

Offers Scholarships

The University of Oslo is offering full and partial scholarships for the Summer School session from June 27 to August 8, 1953.

Students who have finished their Freshman year are eligible. Scholarships will be granted on the basis of financial need, provided the applicant meets all other requirements for admission.

ICE CAPADES OF 1953
THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE
Mail order for tickets
COLISEUM IN RALEIGH
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
N. C. State College—P. O. Box 3995
RALEIGH, N. C.
Children ½ Price Friday Matinee Only
Mon. Eve. Feb. 16 — Tue. Eve. Feb. 17 — Wed. Eve. Feb. 18 — Thur. Eve. Feb. 19 — Fri. Mat. Feb. 20 — Fri. Eve. Feb. 20 — Sat. Mat. Feb. 21 — Sat. Eve. Feb. 21
Enclosed is $_____ for _____ tickets at $_____ each
Prices: $3.00 $2.50 $2.00 $1.50
Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Phone No. _____
PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS

U N C LIBRARY
SERIARS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Clearing and cold with 48 high. Yesterday's high, 60; low, 29.

The Daily Tar Heel

NSA
There'll be some words on three letters. See editorial p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 84 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

Crime Doesn't Pay At State Fraternity

RALEIGH, Jan. 28. (Special)—Life at State's Kappa Sig house changed abruptly from cherries to three straight lemons recently when local police nabbed a nickel slot machine in the house basement.

Police visited the fraternity house with a search warrant and found one student operating the machine. He was convicted of operating a gambling device and ordered to pay court costs. Cleared of the gambling charges were the fraternity president, house manager and dining room manager.

According to testimony, they were of the opinion that it was not illegal to have a slot machine in a private home or club. The case of the four students is up before the Student Council.

The Beta Upsilon Housing Corporation, an organization of Kappa Sigma Alumni which owns the local fraternity house, was taxed with $50 fine and court costs.

Judge Albert Doub ordered the slot machine destroyed.

Robert Meresith Gunn, 19, Charlotte, was convicted of operating a gambling device and assessed costs of court. He reportedly was operating the machine when police arrived.

Campus Chest Kickoff Features Variety Show

The date for the first part of the Campus Chest drive will be March 2 to 6.

Previously the Chest board considered the week of February 15 to 22, as it is Brotherhood Week. However, as it conflicts with other scheduled events on campus the board chose the later date.

Since the date now set is just a week before final exams, Chairman Stuart Jones feels "that there will still be a lot of brotherhood left in the hearts of students and teachers alike at about this time."

A variety show is being planned for the campaign and will be presented in Memorial Hall, March 4. John Caroll, chairman of the show, is planning an hour and a half show.

This early March campaign, the first of two Campus Chest drives, will feature aid to international causes, principally the World Student Service Fund. The WSSF, which is also connected with CARE, is mainly concerned with aid to universities and education in foreign countries.

Korea has been selected to be recipient of the money contributed here.

Details of the campaign will be ironed out in a meeting Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the YMCA as each committee chairman presents his draft of campaign procedure.

TV Committee To Be Picked In Chapel Hill

Mayor E. S. Lanier of Chapel Hill was pondering appointments to a committee yesterday.

The committee is to be concerned with radio and television education and will work with the state commission recently appointed by Gov. Umstead to investigate the possibilities of using these media.

Mayor Lanier said he expected to have his local group selected within the next few days.

The State Educational Radio and Television Commission will meet in Raleigh, Feb. 12 to map preliminary plans for an eight-station television network devoted solely to educational uses. The 12-member commission will complete its formal organization in a meeting on that date in the governor's office. It will open a public hearing on the question in the Senate Chamber at 2:30 p. m.

Commission has specified that the network must be activated prior to June 2 or the channels will be made available to commercial applicants. hannel 4 is open to Chapel Hill.

Others cities with educational channels available to them are Winston-Salem, Asheville, Charlotte, Durham, Greensboro, Raleigh and Wilmington.

DRAFT TIGHTENS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (Special)—Tightening of the reins on men of draft age, especially young men just finishing school, is most likely to go into effect this year, Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey said today.

Hershey said there is a growing awareness that the draft will get young men early or late, and that they had best get in their 24 months of duty early.

Campus Seen

Impeccably dressed prof, in rapturous, oratorical heights, unmindful that a huge laundry tag protudes from his neatly pressed vest.

★

Visiting lecturer assailing American newspapers, telling how "you start a story on page one and then have to go through a barrage of brassieres and lipstick to finish it on pages 12, 13, and 14.'

★

Phys ed instructors competing for floor space in gym as wet weather forces classes indoors.

GRETA GARBO

'Anna Christie' Movie Version Shows Tonight

"Anna Christie," the screen adaptation of Eugene O'Neill's story of a degenerate girl trying to regain her place in society, will be shown tonight at 8:30 in Gerrard Hall.

The film is the second in this quarter's series being presented by the Student Union Activities Board Film Committee. Tickets still are available at $1.50 for tonight's movie and the three remaining shows. Ducats may be obtained at the Graham Memorial office or by calling 5611.

"Anna Christie" stars Greta Garbo, Marie Dressler and Charles Bickford. It is an MGM release.

Other movies scheduled for the quarter are "The Marriage of Figaro," Mozart's famous opear; "M," a psychological murder thriller starring Peter Lorre, and "Carnival in Flanders."

RED CROSS

American Red Cross First Aid classes will begin Monday.

The classes will meet every Monday night from 7 to 9 o'clock in room 309 of the Howell Hall of Pharmacy. It is for nine weeks.

Dr. E. A. Brecht, Dean of the School of Pharmacy and chairman of First Aid in the Chapel Hill Chapter of the American Red Cross will teach the course.

4 Gospels Include All Christianity

By Manning Muntzing

"To what does the entire Christian tradition owe its background?" asked the Rev. Maurice Kidder.

"The answer ot this question," said Mr. Kidder, "is the New Testament. Especially are the rudimentary roots of Christianity in the first four books of the New Testament, known collectively as the Gospels."

Through the years people have wondered and asked, just how accurate is this background? Speaking before the Tuesday afternoon YWCA religious panel, Mr. Kidder answered this question pointing out.

"Mark, the first of the Gospel writers, wrote just 35 years after the death of Christ. Thus he was able to do a very thorough work. Any events that he was not an eye witness to were passed to him and later writers from mouth to mouth.

"At first glance this appears to be a rather shaky argument, but in Biblical times the spoken word was honored and deemed an even better contract or recorder of events than was the written word. Quite a contrast to today's world."

Mark, and later Matthew, followed by Luke and John wrote the Gospels in Greek for the most part. Different translations of the Bible have given different interpretations of certain words.

"It is very important that the Gospels be translated correctly as their writer intended them to be," stated Kidder. "The new revised Bible just out seems to be a very fair translation although it has met with criticism especially over the virgin birth of Christ being translated to birth by a young woman."

But regardless of different interpretations, "the stories in Mark written for the Romans, in Matthew written for the Jews and the other two books of the Gospel tell the story of Christ's baptism, rise from the dead, and many other events as only eye witnesses or people in close contact with eye witnesses could have written it."

Mr. Kidder called Christianity "a historical religion and not one that has just been thought up. The Gospels, written thoroughly and critically, form its foundation and this base is a solid one."

Lecture Will Open Exibit

Dr. Clemens Somner will present a lecture tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in Person Hall Art Gallery to formally open an exhibition of work done by contemporary North Carolina architects.

The lecture, entitled "The Squares of Rome", will deal primarily with 17th century Baroque architecture of Rome.

The talk is to be given in connection with the 1953 Annual Meeting of the North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

UP Will Hike Dorm Power

Non-Fraternity Voice Louder In Party Plans

By Louis Kraar

The University Party, whose traditional fraternity tag has hurt it in every election, made some changes yesterday.

Equal representation in the party for dormitory and fraternity men was the purpose of the change, according to UP leaders, who hailed the move as the first major structural change in 28 years.

The reorganizational plan is this: Every dormitory, fraternity and sorority would have one representative on the steering cmomittee, the party's governing body, plus one representative for every 25 residents.

The steering committee is, in effect, the party. It makes all nominations for all offices, handles publicity and manages financial affairs of the party.

If the plan is utilized to the full extent, there will be 137 dormitory men on the steering committee to 70 fraternity-sorority members. In other words, the move will remove fraternity domination from the party if fully carried out.

Machinery to put the new system into operation is in the form of a committee headed by Archie Croxton. The reorganizational committee will see all the dormitory presidents about getting steering committee representatives from the dormitories. It is expected that steering committee members from dorms will be chosen by special elections or appointment by dormitory presidents.

Other dormitory residents who want to join the party must submit petitions with at least 25 names.

New members of the party representing dormitories won't have to pay fixed dues, according to party officials. Fraternities pay $10 annually for membership in the party. UP leaders did say, however, that dorm members could make "voluntary contributions in support of the party.' '

The University Party has in the past made other similar structural changes to foster dormitory interest in the party. This change, however, differs slightly from those in the past in that it provides at least one definite seat for every dormitory.

"I am really happy that I had the privilege of being chairman of the University Party when this decision was made. It is a great step forward for both the University Party and the campus," declared Walt McFall, UP chairman.

CAA BASKETBALL

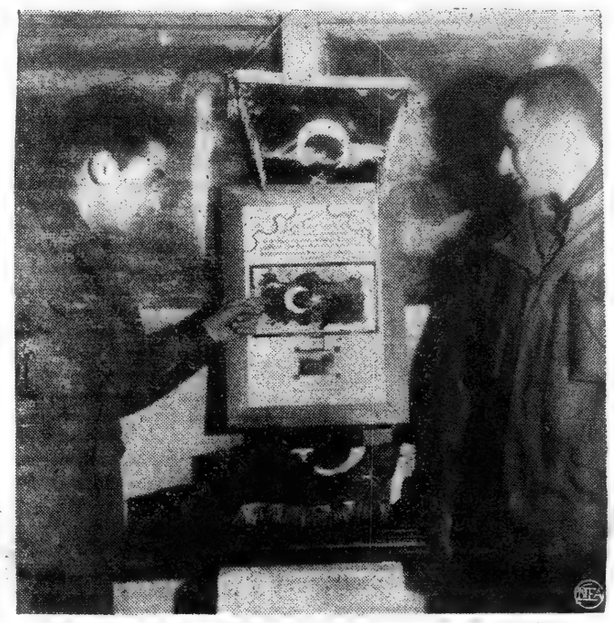
7:00—Smith vs. Nurses; 7:50—Chi Omega vs. Pi Phi; 8:40—Alpha Gams vs. Kappa Delta.

Legislature Meets Tonight, Equipped For Busy Session

Legislature, fully equipped for passing bills for the first time this quarter, will convene tonight at 7:30 in Phi Hall.

Until now only introduction of bills has been possible. All bills have to be considered by one of the standing committees, and the committees had not been named.

Committees were named and held meetings last week, so Legislature is expected to be ready for complete functioning.



Although the Student Party has a slight majority, University Party control of the vital Ways and Means committee tends to balance the power. Most bills have to go through the Ways and Means committee.

Bills on the spike for consideration include a group introduced by the SP which virtually comprise their entire fall platform. The measures range from revamping election of Student Council to the soundproofing of dormitories.

Last week's session was characterized by its brevity and lack of attendance. Few bills were introduced and the only vital thing done was the naming of the standing committees.

Members of the Ways and Means committee are Jack Stilwell, chairman, Charles Yarborough, Ben Tison, Ray Long, Jerry McBrayer, Joel Fleishman, Gordon Battle, Tom McDonald, Charles Swaim and Toby Haynesworth.

Finance committee includes Bill Acker, chairman, David Brown, Don Geiger, Ed Nelson, Lynn Chandler, R. B. Fitch, Gordon Forester, Baxter Miller, Seymour Bane, Dave Clinard and Ed Stevens.

TURKISH ARMY LIEUTENANTS Acrument Acar (left) and Ercrument Anar examine the map, made with the blood of Turkish school children, which they have received at their front line post in Korea. The children sent the map to show that they are as willing to spill their blood as are Turkish troops, who are famous for their combat courage. The Turks have hung the map above a copy of the Koran, the Holy Book of the Moslems.—NEA Telephoto.

YMCA Needs Posts Filled

Job opportunities are open for YWCA directors and secretaries in various sections of the country, and Mrs. Louise Pfuetze, personnel director of the YWCA National Board, will be on campus today and tomorrow to interview interested ested in physical education and students.

Interested persons are to meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon upstairs in the Y building. Those who cannot meet at this time may call the Placement Bureau and arrange for an interview.

Mrs. Pfuetze is especially interested in physical education and sociology majors who are graduating in June.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, heeding an urgent plea by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, decided yesterday to clear top diplomatic appointments without prior FBI investigation. The decision affected the nominations of Gen. Walter Bedell Smith to be undersecrtary of State; President Bryant Conant of Harvard University to be U. S. high commissioner to Germany, and Winthrop W. Aldrich, to be ambassador to Britain.

★

WASHINGTON—The U. S. atomic project is plunging into a new era of super weapons and super power. That is the gist of the Atomic Energy Commission's 13th semannual report to Congress, issued yesterday . The current $4,000,000,000 expansion program greatest in the project's history, will give the nation a capital investment in atomic energy of $7,500,000,000-five times what it was when the AECC took over six years ago.

★

RALEIGH—Legislation calling for a primary at which Tar Heels could indicate their preference for party presidential nominees was proposed in the State Senate yesterday. Sen. Terry Sanford of Fayetteville, a former president of the state's Young Democrats, introduced a bill providing for primary elections which would not be binding on delegates to national party conventions.

★

TOKYO—Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters charged last night that bloody uprisings in Communist prisoner of war camps, a "second front of the Korean War," were masterminded by the senior delegates of the Red truce delegation. A hitherto secret intelligence report said that Red truce chief Gen. Nam Il—"a former Soviet officer and a USSR citizen of Korean ex-

(See NEWS, page 3)

Talent Needed To Entertain Lonely GI's

Talent among students is being sought by the campus chapter of the American Red Cross for an entertainment troop to travel to nearby military installations and hospitals.

Hartwell Conklin and Jerry Reece, chairman of the local chapter, say "to put it bluntly we need your help. If you sing in the shower, do bird imitations, pay the jug or washboard, or by chance have ever done either amateur or professional entertaining, several thousand lonely GI's are waiting to hear, see and appreciate your own particular talent."

The local chapter of the Red Cross has been sponsoring an entertainment committee for several years for this purpose. This year they have been requested to produce three shows during the month of February.

Students "interested in helping the GI's out in any way" are asked to attend tryouts in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial tonight from 7 until 8:30.

Muntzing New Head Man For Y's Handbook

Manning Muntzing is the new editor of the Carolina Handbook —the Freshman Friendship Council of the YMCA said yesterday.

The handbook, which is sent to all freshmen before they come to Carolina, is for the purpose of giving information to newcomers.

It tells them what to bring to Carolina, what they can expect the first few days, and gives them an insight into the various organizations here.

Clay Johnson was elected business manager to serve with Muntzing.

The first staff meeting will be at 4:30 Monday afternoon, in the information offices at the YMCA. Anyone interested in working on the handbook staff should attend this meeting, Muntzing said.

"Plans have been made to get out an entirely new handbook this time," said. Muntzing is a staff writer for The Daily Tar Heel.

INCOME TAX

When making out federal income tax returns, veterans should remember that payments received as veterans' benefits are generally not taxable and do not have to be reported as income received during the year.

Such payments would include compensation, pension, subsistence for education under the GI Bill, dividends on government life insurance and any proceeds from such insurance.

The same applies to payments made to dependents of veterans due to their death.

Monster Machine At Hospital Accomodate 526 Telephones

By Sally Schindel

(First in a series of periodic articles on the UNC medical center.)

"This is the hospital paging service . . . Long distance? Just one minute. . . . I'm sorry but the dcotor isn't in right now."

So goes a typical day at the North Carolina Memorial Hospital's switchboard which rates the distinction of being the newest in Chapel Hill.

Not only does the three position switchboard accommodate the hospital's 526 telephones, but it also takes care of all patient outgoing and incoming personal calls as well as long distance calls.

With its red, white and green lights continually blinking, this monster machine has an attachment for a paging system used for the entire staff of nurses and doctors. The operators on duty are kept busy with about 150 paging calls a day.

In addition they keep a daily register for interns and residents in order to know where they can be located at all times, an on-call sheet for all services connected with the hospital (listing the individual, his occupation, and where he can be reached) and a roster of all present and discharged patients. The 24-hour service even wakes doctors and nurses who are on call.

The home of the switchboard is a restfully painted room with many conveniences, such as forced, cooled air, and every precaution—for example, a fire alarm system direct to the fire station and an oxygen alarm system which goes off when the oxygen supply for patients gets low.

Even more amazing than the switchboard itself is the unattended office, better known as the equipment room, in the basement. One machine in this subterranean fortress handles all inter-hospital dial phone calls, another takes care of dial tones and busy signals, and another operates the switchboard. A small power supply plant, which charges batteries like an automobile, is responsible for all the telephone equipment.

All the automatic mechanisms have "substitutes" ready for instant action in case one stops.

All telephone lines come into the hospital through long tubular lead cables which climb one whole wall, some of which include as many as 300 pairs of wires.

The telephone service is the nerve center of the hospital, officials say.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. — Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Charles A. Collins, Charles Haskett, Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue Everett Parker

Library Disturbance

"See you at the Library tonight, Charley."
"O.K. Sue--about eight thirty."

And so another Carolina tradition is perpetuated— library dating. On any given night there may be as many as three hundred people taking advantage of the facilities of the library to study. All well and good—far be it from us to criticize either studying or dating. We do, however, question the good manners of the students who use the library as at date bureau, thus disturbing those who need to use it as a haven of peace and quiet. There have been valid complaints from both library officials and annoyed students to the effect that excessive noise, particularly at night, has severely impaired the once-considerable value of our library as the only quiet place on campus in which to work.

The objectionable disturbance stems mainly from the corridors and stairways, where groups congregate under the mistaken impression that their none-too-gentle conversation cannot be heard in the reading rooms. Actually, even whispers carry a long distance through the maze of marble.

Neither the facilities, acoustics, nor atmosphere lends it self to sweet nothings whispered in a shell-pink ear, particularly if they are not whispered and the owner of the ear insists on talking back. The Pine Room is not a hundred yards away; take her there for your study breaks.

Nobody wants library officials patrolling the aisles on an anti-noise campaign, empowered to eject anyone creating undue noise, but the alternative is clear: be quiet! Not just in the reading rooms, but everywhere in the building. It is up to the student body to corrcct an unpleasant situation caused by mere thoughtlessness. All that is needed is consideration.

NSA

A penny a quarter.

That's the cost of being a member of the Natonal Students Association. The $1?7 financial burden, distributed among over 5,000 students is light compared to the values of membership in the only collegiate outfit organized on a country-wide basis.

Carolina has contrbuted two presidents--Al Lowenstein and now Dick Murphy. NSA has been organized for only five years, yet has proved to be successful in fighting Communist student-led eruptions in the Far East, in Europe, in Iran, and elsewhere.

The student community in the U. S. has lacked organization. Most student bodies lack good self-government and many have problems that can be best solved by an exchange of ideas with other campuses. There is a need to represent maturely and intelligently the needs and opinions of a vast body of college students to the public, state, and federal agencies.

With these facts for background, The Daily Tar Heel will publish a series of articles written by Ken Barton, NSA regional chairman, and members of the local NSA committee, to explain the whys and whats of NSA.

What has made former President Harry Truman, Mutual Security Administrator Harold E. Stassen, and Ms. Eleanor Roosevelt endorse the association? Whay are there over 350 leading schools (including Notre Dame, Ohio State, Wake Forest and Duke) that are members of NSA? These questons and more wll be answered by our local NSA in their series of articles to follow.

O.K.

Undoubtedly The Louisville Courier-Journal is right when it declare that "OK" comes about as close as any phrase to being universal. Even Russians know how to say "hokay" although they make rare use of the knowledge. There are several explanations of how it came into the American language. Some say that Andrew Jackson started it by writing "oil correct' for "all correct", but Jackson was not really unlettered. Woodrow Wilson thought that the expession came from the Choctaw word" okeh" meaning 'it is so". But Professorr Allen Walker Reed of Columbia claims that "OK" started with Martin Van Buren, who was referred to as "the Red Fox of Kinderhook", referring to his wilinness, the color of his hair, and his place of residence. The nickname was shortened to "Old Kinderrhook" and Reed says that in the campaign of 1840 some of Van Buren's followered formed "OK Cubs" and that's how it got starrted. Harrison beat Van Buren, however, and the Courier-Journal says: "OK thus lost its first battle, but like chewing gum, it seemed to fill some basic need in the American system. Dictionaries werre reluctantly forced to recognize it. GIs helped to export it."—RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER.

Sam Regan

John Gibson

A Travelog

By John Gibson

Outside many of the residences women could me seen. Some were standing in groups by themselves, others were leading bunches of visitors about the place. A few wore grey and white uniforms, evidence of their advanced status along the path toward their ultimate goal. The rest, the neophites, were dressed in the everyday wear of college girls. As I entered the front door, I was greeted by the leaders of the group. All wore friendly smiles, and responded with quick and eager answers to the many questions of the visitors. I paused a while to talk with a few of the ones whom I had previously had the pleasure of meeting. Theirs is a big responsibility, yet this day their only concern was that the stranger have a good time, and see all there was to be seen.

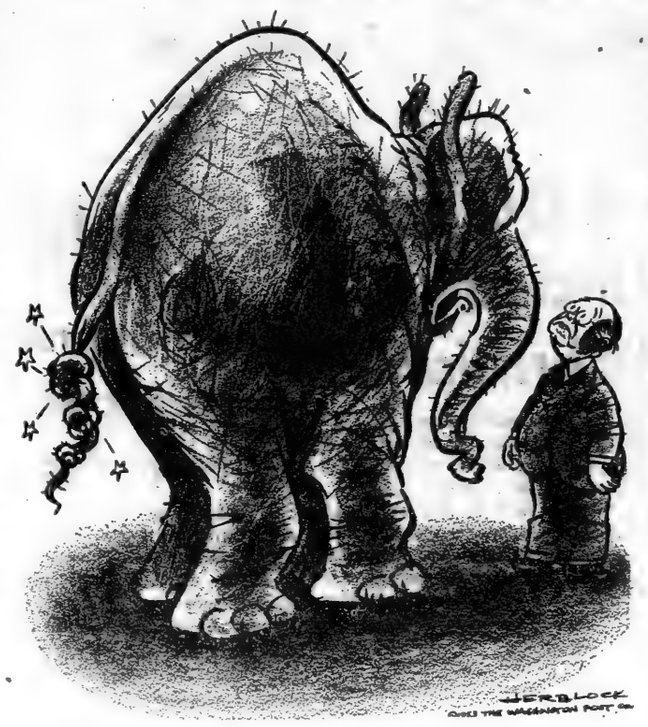
And plenty to see there was. At the beginning of the trip I was assigned a guide all my own. She was an exceedingly pretty miss, who very capably directed me through the many rooms and catacombs of this vast training center. We began our journey in a large social room which was well appointed in a contemporary style. It was one of the finest such rooms I have seen on a college campus.

We moved on to other rooms for similar purposes. They were smaller, but furnished in the same excellent taste.

A long corridor led to the living quarters. The ample rooms were of all different colors, as if a rainbow had been captured and spread out in the building. A striking contrast to the monochrome decorations of similar type dwellings not too far distant from this site. Each room was decorated according to a standard pattern, yet each was just a little different, a tribute to the craftsmanship and ingenuity of these peoples. At one end of the hall was a small kitchenette, where sustinance could be prepared when the weather outside seemed too forbidding to go afield for food. At the other end, near a rear entrance, was a small room were folks could gather and talk during the few free moments each day.

We passed through a fine library and across a small roadway, to the training center itself. There was a fully equipped ward room, with the most modern appointments. Indeed, one wondered, would these trainees ever again work with such splendid equipment? Then two classrooms, bright and freshly painted, with facilities for the best visual education as well as regular lectures. A small hall led to the offices of the high command. Business-like, they were yet friendly and warm, a personification of the profession itself. Near the end of the long trip we were shown a fine auditorium. Seats carefully placed so all could hear and see, this room too was a testament to the fine planning behind this city within a city.

Our journey finally came to an end as we entered a large informally appointed downstairs room. Tired from our long trip, we welcomed the refreshment offered us by the courteous hostesses. I chatted a while with my pleasant companion, and then very reluctantly had to bid my leave.



My brief visit to the Open House of the Carolina Nurses Quarters had been a most pleasant one. Certainly with this fine equipment and excellent staff should come many of the very finest women in white.

San Jose State college's Student court found itself ironically "fighting for its life" when a student brought up for trial upon the grounds that he had violated election rules retaliated by challenging the court as ineffective and weak. The court and not the culprit seems to have suffered the worst from the association as student reaction termed it "useless to student government." In trying to ease out of its ungraceful situation, the collegiate justices decided to classify offenses and set penalties. As to the violator's guilt or innocence, they didn't seem to say.

Most Likely To

The University of Washington Daily, in a romantic mood, chose its "ideal couple" on campus. The lucky duo consists of the guy who kicks points after touchdown and the guy who holds the ball.

"You've Got To Do Something About Wayne Morse"

DREW PEARSON
THE WASHINGTON

Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON — One thing very much on President Eisenhower's mind as he said goodbye to new U.N. Commander General Maxwell Taylor was the ammunition shortage in Korea.

Ike fears we won't have enough ammunition on hand to launch a full-scale offensive for some time. When he was in Korea he found that howitzers were limited to five rounds a day—though this has been improved since he left. He is also worried over the small amount of heavy ammunition in the front lines, as differentiated from reserve stores behind the lines.

Real fact is that we are short of ammunition, not only in Korea, but have fallen down in our shipments both to Indo-China and Formosa. This will be one of Charles E. Wilson's first jobs to remedy as Secretary of Defense.

New Ike appointments in the works: Robert Sprague of the Sprague Electric Co., North Adams, Mass., to be undersecretary of the Air Force. . . . Harold Vance, head of Studebaker, to take over the National Production and Defense Mobilization. . . . Bernard Shanley of Newark, N. J., counsel of the New Jersey Republican state committee, is getting an FBI clearance for Arthur Vandenberg's job on the White House staff. Tom Stevens will then move up to be Ike's appointment secretary—the job held by Matt Connelly under Truman. . . . On the Monday before inauguration, Maj. John Eisenhower walked all over Washington without a single soul recognizing him. . . . Ike has tried to entice Fred Seaton, the Nebraska publisher who made such a fine senator, back to Washington as a member of the White House staff. So far Seaton has resisted.

Regardless of protests from Messrs. Taft-Millikin-Knowland, the White House just isn't going to clear all job appointments with the Senators the way the Senators want.

What the Solons want is for Eisenhower to give them the initiative, let them propose the names, then have the White House appoint. What the White House is going to do, on the other hand, is to propose the names, then let the Senators O.K.

This is what FDR did when his administration was in top gear. FDR never let the Senators initiate, except for minor jobs and except for his favorite senators. Truman, in trying to appease the Senate, let it get the upper hand on jobs and never really recovered his appointive power. The more he appeased, the more the Senate demanded.

Credit Gen. Wilton "Slick" Persons, the new White House contact man for Congress, with tipping the scales with Eisenhower to have Charles E. Wilson sell his General Motors stock.

Persons used to be army contact man with Congress during the war, knows what makes the boys on Capitol Hill tick.

From the first, he kept telling Ike that Wilson would have to divest himself of G.M. stock. Later, Persons went further, told the President Wilson was in trouble not merely over his stock but because of his arrogant attitude toward the Senators.

Certain others around the President didn't agree, argued that if Ike surrendered on Wilson he could get no experienced businessmen in his cabinet would end up with hack politicians around him.

Ike sided with General Persons, put the heat on Wilson, told him he'd fight for his confirmation and fight for a chance for him to do a good job at the Pentagon—if he divested.

Note—At a famous dinner party at the F Street Club in 1948, Ike horrified Senator Taft and some other Republicans by saying that when a boy was asked to give up his life for his country he saw no reason why businessmen should not give up their profits in wartime. Perhaps that was in the President's mind when he pressured Wilson.

Louis Kraar

Party Line

Superlatives sometimes flow in long, easy strings from politicians when they make announcements. But on a campus where politicians are in competition with themselves as well as so many other interest groups, superlatives are one method of pulling attention.

The University Party, for instance, waved their dictionary of synonyms around this week in search of more words to describe a "reorganization plan that will be the first major change the party has made in 28 years." But it wasn't new. Nor was it the first time they had made a major change.

Basically this year's reorganization provides for dormitory representatives on the UP steering committee. In fact, if the plan is actually fully carried out, there will be more dormitory men on the steering committee than fraternity men.

Ironically enough, the switches have always occurred in January, the time when political parties begin to think about Spring elections.

In January, 1950, UP gave dormitory representatives seats on the steering committee. Seven seats in all were given. Student Party, who opposed the move, called it "political reputation and not democratic representation." UP answered and the verbal battle began. By the time elections rolled round, everyone had forgotten the plan and the argument.

Again in January, this time 1951, the University Party changed its meeting place from Graham Memorial to dormitories, fraternity and sorority houses. It was a move to rejuvenate interest in student government and to give the dorm dwellers representation in the party.

This reporter takes no stand on the UP's reorganizational switch, but feels students should know the facts about firsts, and politicians should hold down their superlatives.

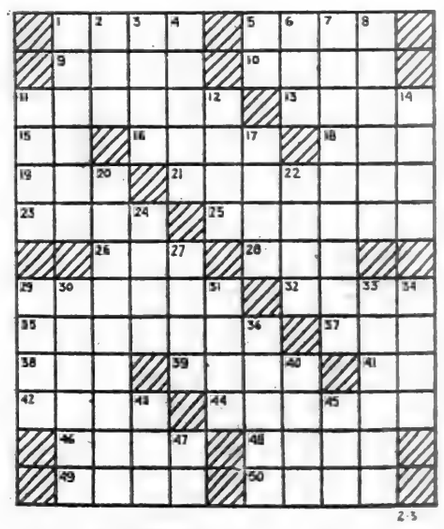
PEP: Tonight will be the first time the Legislature can do anything. Up till now, the absence of standing committees has limited action just to introduction of bills. Let's see some action now that they've gotten organized.

POUNDING THE BEAT: Julia Shields heading a committee to put the final pressure on trustees in the Saturday class clash. . . . Joel Fleishman (SP) speaking in Legislature about "parleeayamentareee" procedure. . . . Walt McFall, new UP chairman, finally coming up with the big story on reorganization . . . and who asked what happened to the third party?

Brown Un

By Thor Leif

I saw a funny-lookin' dog one day,
A sandy brown 'un.
'e pranced along. I thought 'e looked right gay,
Dis longish brown 'un.
But wid de udder dogs 'e did not play,
Dis little brown 'un;
For when 'e came de udders did not stay
To greet dis brown 'un.
De poor dejected dog appeared forlorn,
De saddened brown 'un.
Dese "could-be-frien's" I hate wid bitter scorn;
I like de brown 'un.
It wasn't 'is intention to be born
A fuzzy brown 'un.
A friendy attitude dey could 'uv worn
To cheer de brown 'un.
I took 'im 'ome wid me to love 'n' fede,
Dis no-tail brown 'un.
"A frien' in need" is termed "a frien' indeed."
My frien'—dis brown 'un.
A dirty dog washed clean can intercede
Jus' like my brown 'un,
An' help to make one laugh when dere is need;
Dis does my brown 'un.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Tatters
5. Reality
9. Send forth, as rays
10. Genus of the lily
11. Platforms
13. Biblical name
15. Measure (Chin.)
16. Observes
18. Resort
19. Fortify
21. Cooking directions
23. Skin
25. Cinemas
26. Larva of an African worm
28. Sailor
29. A woman's garment
32. Snares
35. Devices to determine direction (naut.)
37. Solar deity (Egypt.)
38. Cuckoo
39. Troubles
41. Music note
42. Prison (Eng.)
44. Sounds
46. Parson birds
48. Entreaty
49. Anglo-Saxon serf
50. Classify

DOWN
1. Go to bed
2. Wine receptacle
3. Light, two-wheeled vehicles
4. Guide
5. Music note
6. A wing
7. Plots
8. Wigwam (var.)
11. Strike with the hand
12. Appear
14. Bulk
17. Native of Scotland
20. Agreeable to the car
22. Man's name
24. Noisy
27. On the ocean
29. Roast
30. Crescent-shaped
31. Ireland
33. A menace
34. Prosecutes judicially
36. Spills over
40. Fodder vat
43. Lineal (abbr.)
45. Varying weight (Ind.)
47. Southeast (abbr.)

Yesterday's Answer

Wrestlers At Citadel; Duke Gym Team Here

Grapplers Seek Second Dual Victory

CHARLESTON, S. C., Jan. 28 (Special) — Carolina's wrestling team arrived here early this afternoon and went through light workouts for tomorrow's match with The Citadel.

The Tar Heels, who have won one meet while losing twice this season, are given an even chance of defeating the Cadets. The victory came over Davidson, 17-11, while losses were to strong Duke and Virginia.

Coach Sam Barnes brought a squad of eight men with him for the match, led by Captain Ed Haines at 137.

In addition to Haines were Harry Pawlik at 123; Gordon Forrester at 130; Tom Stokes at 147; Pete McGehee at 157; Harvey Bradshaw at 167; Miles Gregory at 177; and Karl Barkley at heavyweight.

Last year the Cadets won 19-10 over the Tar Heels in the opening match of the season.

The Tar Heels have had a hard time of it in recent meets. They lost to Duke on Jan. 14, 20-6, and then were almost whitewashed by Virginia three days later, 25-3.

Bradshaw and Stokes were only two to win against Duke, both getting decisions, while Haines gave the team its only two points against Virginia by winning a 6-5 decision.

Most of the Carolina wrestlers have been improving, however. however. Stokes, who has asthma trouble, was forced out of the Virginia meet and will be a big help tomorrow for his team. A junior, he is considered one of the best prospects in the Conference.

Haines is the only senior making the trip. Pawlik, Stokes, and Bradshaw are juniors, while Forester, McGehee, and Barkley are sophomores.

— NEWS —

(Continued from page 1)

traction"—and his deputy Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Jo were responsible for the uprisings they always have contended were spontaneous.

★

WASHINGTON—Th Eisenhower administration was reported authoritatively yesterday to have well-advanced plans for trying to end the Korean and Indochinese wars by denying Russia any "advantage from them. Secretary of State Dulles, discussing this subject publicly for the first time since the new administration took power, told a national radio and television audience "I believe Gen. Eisenhower will find the ways to make the enemy change his mind in that respect so that they too will want peace."

THE PHILADELPHIA SPORTSWRITERS' Association has presented its annual "outstanding" awards to prominent figures of the sporting world. Three of those honored by the association are shown here (left to right) with their awards. They are: Don Moomaw, Outstanding Lineman of the Year; Al Simmons, newly elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame; and Bobby Shantz, Philadelphia A's pitcher who was named Outstanding Athlete of the Year.

Surprise Party Planned For Cagers At Davidson

DAVIDSON, Jan. 28—Structural engineers have been crawling all over the place . . . demolition experts checking every nook and cranny, and all state that Davidson's Johnston Gymnasium is ready and able to handle the big blow off that's coming off this Friday night at 8:15.

That particular time is when North Carolina's sensational Conference rocking Tar Heels invade the Davidson campus to tangle with Coach Danny Miller's ever-dangerous Davidson Wildcats in a basketball game that offers all the thrills in the book.

Look at the record—Carolina is perched atop the Southern Conference with an eye-brow raising 11-1 mark, including two recent upset wins over Wake Forest and North Carolina State.

Davidson, on the other hand, is down among the pack, but past records and incidents have revealed that this bunch of Wildcats are tamely named when it comes to playing in their home environs.

Last year Carolina felt the fury of a Davidson team at home when they went back to Chapel Hill nursing a bruising 76-71 defeat at the hands of the Cats. This was the game that knocked the Tar Heels out of the Southern Conference tourney berth signed, sealed and delivered at this date, a defeat at the hands of Davidson's highly unpredictable forces would be a stinging blow for the proud owners of wins over Wake Forest and State.

And just such a thing might happen. Though Carolina will be favored anywhere from 15-30 points, the Wildcats give no heed at all to odds .

Though Miller's cagers have been going through a strenuous examination period, they have been hitting the practice court at every opportunity, and the lean Wildcat mentor will have them going top speed the rest of this week to be ready for the Tar Heel invasion .

The Wildcats will be banking upon some out-burst of scoring by members of the squad who as yet have not broken any records in this department. To date only Joe Dudley and Gerald King have had the most to say about Davidson scoring columns, but the potential is there in the persons of Ish Bennett, Graeme Keith, George Melton, and Ed Weeks, and should that group start finding the range Friday night—Carolina could be embarrassed, but good!

Both Seek First Win Of Season

By Al Long

Tonight at 7:30, the gymnastic teams of Carolina and Duke will square away at Woollen Gym in what should be a close contest. Both Carolina and Duke were defeated in their opening meets.

Duke mentor Ray Sarensen, a former coach at Colorado State and the University of Florida, is counting heavily upon talented Dick Heckert and Bob Coleman in quest of victory tonight. Heckert is a threat in four events: the side-horse, parallel bars, tranpoline, and tumbling. Coleman is a side-horse and rope climbing specialist.

Coach Bill Meade, who rates his Tar Heels a slight favorite against the Blue Devils, is relying on a well-rounded 14 man squad to score tonight. Carolina, Meade claims, should pick up points in every event.

Expected to lead Carolina scoring will be Co-Captain Check Goodin, high point man in December's meet against Navy. Close behind Goodin in scoring is sophomore Gordon Hudson, a four event man. Another outstanding performer for the Tar Heels is Otis Hartsell, who will head Carolina in the spectacular ring event.

Co-Captain Andy Bell of Carolina, who was injured earlier this season, will not be available for tonight's meet. Another early casualty, tumbler Frank Williams, who recently had his appendix removed, is slated to return to action.

Meade has chosen the following lineup to oppose the Devils: Gordon Hudson, Frank Williams, and Pete Brumley — tumbling; Milt Scott, Check Goodin, and Gordon Hudson—side-horse; Biff Howard, Check Goodin, and Rupert Phipps —high bar; Jack Mearne, Rupert Phipps, and Bill Rivera—rope; Biff Howard, Check Goodin, and Gordon Hudson — parallel bars; Check Goodin, Gordon Hudson, and Otis Hartsell—rings; Dusty Samson, John Rhoades, and Dick Hallden—trampoline.

Jungle Boy On Mat Card At Burlington

BURLINGTON, Jan. 28. (Special) —Jungle Boy, a South American who plays the part of a hideous brute from the Amazon wilds, will be the top attraction on a firemen's wrestling card at the City Hall here Friday night at 8:15 o'clock.

Jungle Boy, whose face is hidden most of the time by a huge mop of hair, is slated to meet former University of Wisconsin football star Jack Witzig, of Eu Claire, Wis. The main event will be settled by two falls out of three, with a one-hour limit. Both men are heavyweights, each tipping the scales at about 220 pounds.

Two preliminary bouts are also slated: Tony Cosenza of New York City faces Jack Kelly of New Orleans for two out of three fais with a 45-minute limit; and Johnny Heideman of New York City (Bronx) is to take on Irishman Tinker Todd in a one-fall 30-minute opener.

Television has projectde Jungle Boy to the top among professional wrestlers, and every appearance he has made in North Carolina has brought out an overflow crowd. He is exceptionally strong and quick. Witzig is a comparative newcomer to the sport on a pro basis, but has proved able to contend with some veterans of long experience.

Carolina Fans Take A Likin' To Likins

By Jake Wade

If anyone 12 months ago had told this observer, whose powers of perception surely must be going with the years, that Paul Likins would ever turn in basketball performances the likes of which he did against Wake Forest and North Carolina State last week, we would have thought such a dreamer was off his rocker.

Not that we did not think highly of the Carolina sophomore center as a willing lad. He was all of that from the time he matriculated here. We also knew he was capable of playing a good run-of-the-mine game, as he demonstrated on occasions in the ill-fated 1952 campaign. Moreover, the slender, gangling Indiana boy enjoyed the respect of everyone here because of his top drawer character and the fact that he knocked off his studies at a consistent straight-A clip.

But good old Paul, who had been a lumbering, awkward operative, sans fire and finesse, had never given any indication to us that he would ever be a truly skilled, scrapping, battling, torrid competitor who would ring the bell when the blue chips were down. Tom Scott always confidently predicted that some day he would be a top-flight player. And Frank McGuire, after working with him awhile, was of the same opinion. We remained skeptical.

Comes Through

Which shows how wrong a fellow can be! Analyzing those two spectacular Tar Heel conquests last week, one comes to the conclusion that Paul was the key man in both triumphs. He was positively sensational in the rough-and-tumble Wake Forest number, as a foil for the great Dick Hemric, and almost equally as potent in matching prowess and cunning with State's Bobby Speight.

Those were team victories for the Tar Heels, with all hands collaborating, and we open this essay with observations about Likins merely because he seems to have come along faster in the skills than the others. More important to the Tar Heels, in their hopes of rounding out a good season, is the fact that Frank McGuire and his terrific assistant, Buck Freeman, has instilled in Likins and all the others a burning desire to win.

Around here we say that the spectacular win over Wake Forest, after trailing by 18 points in the second quarter, and the follow-up win over State after seven years of famine against that powerhouse, has been the best thing that has happened to Carolina in athletics in years. And we mean athletics, not merely basketball. McGuire and Freeman truly have some magic touch as psychologists as well as a sound coaching philosophy and technique, and it's so nice to be happy again.

Fingers Crossed

That was the golden week in basketball for Carolina and, of course, fingers are crossed now as the Tar Heels swing down the stretch. . . . This has been an amazing Tar Heel cage team, but no one here expects too many more miracles and well we realize that some defeats, probably when most unexpected, are virtually sure to come before the tournament festival in the Coliseum in March. . . . Anyhow, Coach McGuire got a bang out of a 4 a.m. far away long distance call Sunday morning from some convival old basketball friends, who had just heard the news and wanted to congratulate him. . . . And the music box, presented by a local admirer, which has the figure of a string bean basketball player on top ("Looks like Likins," says Frank) and which plays the Carolina fight song. . . . And the Tar Heel necktie, in the mails from an alumnus in South Carolina. . . . "People sure are nice around here," says Frank. "I hope we win some more and make them happy."

Football Postscript

George Barclay, Carolina's new head football coach, was as ebullient as any citizen of Chapel Hill over the basketball wins over Wake Forest and State. . . . Which is the tip-off on Barclay. . . . It may or may not help him as a football coach, but George just happens to be one of the most rabid sports lovers within our acquaintance. . . . While some coaches confine their enthusiasms to their own field, Barclay is the gent who attends practically every basketball practice, never misses a game (Jayvees included), sees all swimming, wrestling and gymnastics matches this time of the year, takes in baseball, tenis, golf and the other sports of the spring season. . . . He goes for them all as a red hot, keen and well-posted fan, and he knows all the local athletes on all the teams. . . . Just thought that this might be worth mentioning.

Odd Coupons

All students who are holders of athletic passbooks with odd serial numbers should turn in their coupons today, Friday, or Saturday if they wish to attend the Duke and NYU basketball games next Friday and Saturday.

Seats for those games are reserved, and tickets go on sale to the public Monday morning.

Track Team Holds Warm-Up For SC Indoor Games Here

Carolina's track team will stage its initial warm-up for the coming track season today, Friday and Saturday in an Inter-Class meet. Featured in this meet will be competition between freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors of the Carolina squad.

This event is scheduled as a preliminary practice for the Eighteenth Annual Southern Indoor Games, which will be held here on February 28. Carolina finished third in the Conference Division last year in these games; and despite the loss for several good performers, it is again expected to be a strong contender.

Carolina coaches Dale Ranson and Joe Hilton expect to obtain some idea from this Inter-Class meet of what performance they may expect this year from the team as a whole, and especially from the many untried freshmen who have come out for track this year.

The main part of the meet will be run off Friday afternoon, but because of the time element, it will be necessary to hold the 880 yard and two mile runs Saturday morning. All other runs and all the field events will be staged today and Friday afternoon, starting at 2:30 p.m.

JUNGLE BOY

Charity Team Formed Here

Harold (Bull) Davidson, University of North Carolina football star who was stopped by polio last season, has organized a basketball team to play for March of Dimes benefits.

The team is available at no charge for bookings in the Chapel Hill area and has played as far away from home as Wilson.

George Norris, Bill Baker, Dick Kocornik, Dick Lackey, Charlie Poindexter, Doug Bruton, Francis Fredere, Dave Mullens, and Bill Kirkman are team members. Almost everyone of these boys was a basketball standout in high school but dropped the sport in favor of football at UNC.

The Tar Heel team will play a team of Duke footballers here February 5 in Woollen Gymnasium in a benefit contest.

UNICORN BOOKSHOP
Over Sutton's
Phone 96173

LAST TIMES TODAY
SPECTACLE! LAUGHTER! THRILLS!
GABRIEL PASCAL presents BERNARD SHAW'S "ANDROCLES AND THE LION"
Starring JEAN SIMMONS • VICTOR MATURE ROBERT NEWTON • MAURICE EVANS and ALAN YOUNG as Androcles
Produced by GABRIEL PASCAL

Varsity
Late Show Friday
"IN LINE FOR THE 'YEAR'S BEST' PRIZE!"
—N. Y. Times

The Greatest Adventure Story Of Our Time!
JET-Packed Excitement!
BREAKING THE SOUND BARRIER
Starring RALPH RICHARDSON ANN TODD • NIGEL PATRICK JOHN JUSTIN • with DINAH SHERIDAN

SALE
All Wool POLO SHIRTS
$4.95
VALUES TO 9.95
Fine French spun wool jersey—light, easy and pliant — it's creaseless, moves as you do. Tailored with long sleeves, pick stitched collar and placket in navy and white, grey and green heather.
Sizes S-M-L-XL
THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

Like Good Food? Then You'll Certainly Like . . .
MICHAEL'S GRILL

All Our Jackets
INCLUDING
A-2 and A-3 Leather Jackets
REDUCED TO
Half Price
SURPLUS SALES
332 W. Main Street Durham

DINE OUT OFTEN
Give yourself a break from your day after day eating place and let us serve you one of our many delicious dinners. Bring the whole crowd out for an enjoyable evening.
THE PINES
Raleigh Road Tel. 9-5539

What Goes On Here

Spanish Club

Spanish Club will meet tonight in the upstairs dining room of Lenoir Hall. There will be a speaker from South America.

Cheerleaders

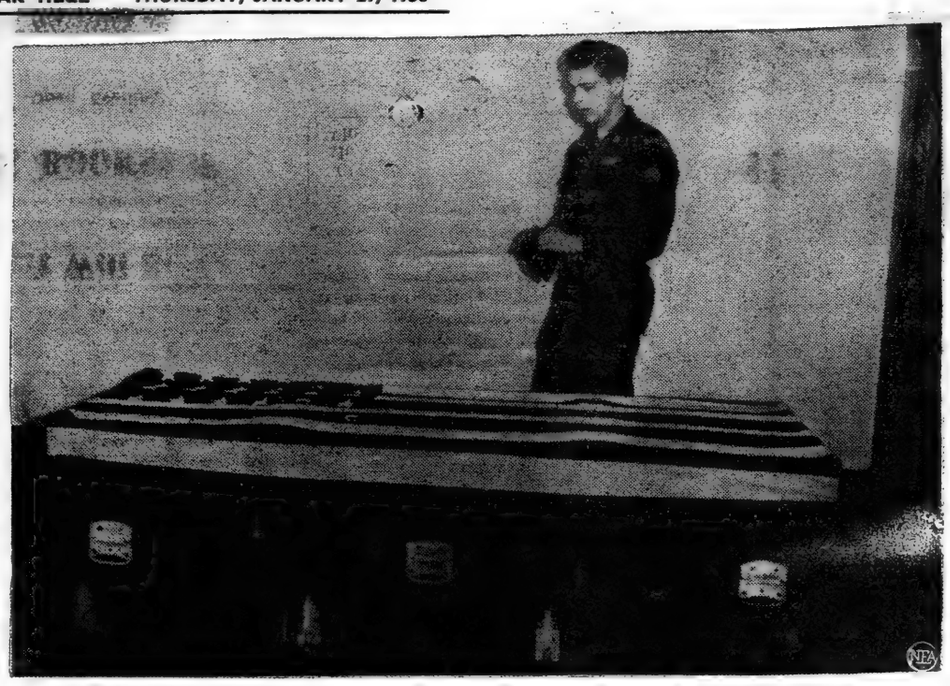
There will be a meeting of the cheerleaders this afternoon at 4 o'clock, in Roland Parker Lounge No. 2.

Rides

There are 30 foreign students at the University who have been invited to Mt. Airy for the week-end as guests, but they need rides. People who make the trip are offered $5 to carry some of the students. They may, if they so desire, also stay as guests of the people in Mt. Airy. Those interested see Ham Horton in the student government office or John Ribel in the YMCA.

Dean Carroll Speaks

Dean Thomas H. Carroll of the School of Business Administration, will speak tonight at 7:30 to Alpha Kpapa Psi, national professional fraternity in business administration.



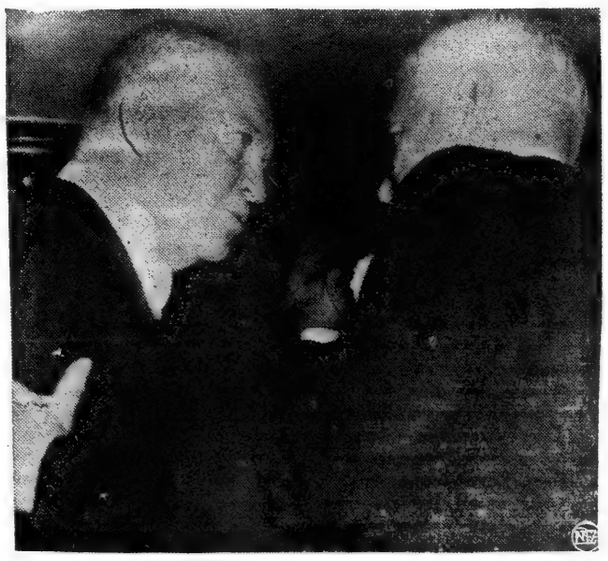
The meeting will be held at the chapter house, at 214 Rosemary Street. The meeting will be informal, and after brief introductory remarks, Dean Carroll will lead a discussion of problems now facing students of the School of Business Administration.

The members will assemble at 7 o'clock for a brief business session prior to the meeting with Dean Carroll.

WUNC

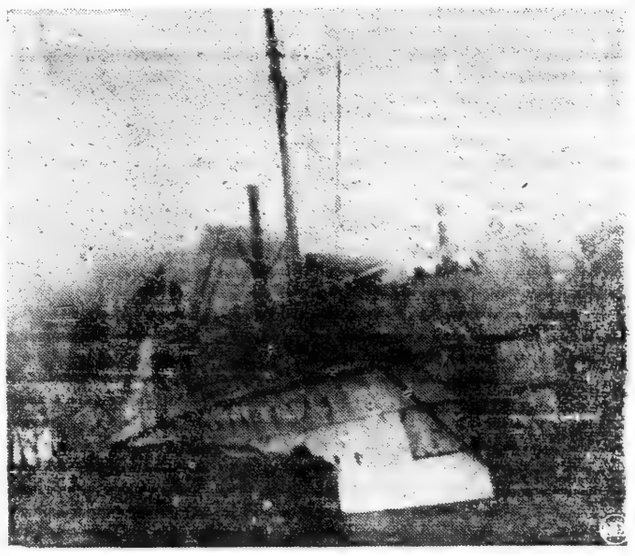
Today's schedule for campus FM station with a frequency of 91.5 mc:

7 p.m.—Sketches in Melody.
7:30—Let There Be Light.
7:45—To be announced.
8—The Endless Frontier.
"The Trouble Shooters."
8:30—Man and the Universe.
"Talking Over a Wire."
8:45—Report from Europe.
9—Music commentary by Dr. Wilton Mason.
10—News.
10:05—An Evening Masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.



A LONG JOURNEY HAS ENDED for the Matonis brothers, Kenneth and Mike, of Cleveland, Ohio. When Kenneth was assigned to a front-line unit in Korea, his brother volunteered for service with the same outfit to "look after" his younger brother. The pair were stringing telephone wire when a Communist shell exploded and killed Mike. The two are home again—but this time it was Kenneth in the role of "protector" as he guraded Mike's coffin during the long journey from Korea.—NEA Telephoto.

Kattsoff Talks At Y Sunday



"Freedom in the Modern World" is the topic of the Unitarian Felowship's regular meeting Sunday night with Dr. L. O. Kattsoff of the Department of Philosophy as speaker.

The meeting will be held in the YWCA lounge of the University Y Building, at 8:30 p. m. Discussion will follow Dr. Kattsoff's informal talk, and those interested are invited to attend.

Dr. Kattsoff will discuss pressures against freedom which attempt to keep people from speaking and thinking freely. He is well-known throughout the state and has made more than 150 talks on basic freedoms and on democracy and communism. In addition to a number of articles, he has written several books and his "Elements of Philosophy" will be published in the Spring.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER TAKES time out to chat with Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.—NEA Telephoto.

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE Canadian Pacific Railway Company has said that his company's ship, "The Empress of Canada," is a total loss, after a mysterious blaze swept through the vessel as it was undergoing repairs at Liverpool, England. The British Home Office is investigating the blaze to determine if sabotage could have been involved.—NEA Telephoto.

ALBEN W. BARKLEY, former vice-president, smiles as he tells newsmen in Washington that he will begin a new career. Barkley will become a television commentator next month when he appears on a series of programs entitled "Meet the Veep."—NEA Telephoto.

NSA Slates Interviews Here Soon

Representatives of the National Security Agency in Washington, will visit the campus soon to interview qualified students for permanent career positions.

No Civil Service status is required, and the jobs are located in the metropolitan area of Washington.

Mathematics majors and language students of the Slavic, Germanic, and Near, Far and Middle Eastern areas will be considered for professional and trainee-professional positions with starting salaries ranging from $3410 to $5060 per year.

A limited number of analytic aide vancancies are available for students graduating by June with a combination of 36 quarter hours in languages, athematics and the physical sciences.

To assure an interview, students must be registered for placement at one of the following: University Placement Service; Graduate School Appointments Office or Teacher Placement in the School of Education.

Additional information and interview appointments are available at the Placement Service, 209 South.

Radio Staffer Will Judge U.S. Contest

Charles Kuralt, an announcer for the campus FM radio station, has been named one of the judges of the nation-wide Voice of Democracy contest.

Kuralt, a national winner of the 1948-49 contest, will be on a panel of judges with Dr. Ralph Bunche, director of the department of trusteeship, United Nations; Joseph Johnson, president of Carnegie Endowment for International Peace; Henry R. Luce, pubisher of Time, Life and Fortune; Rev. G. B. Oxnam, Methodist Church bishop; T. S. Reppier, president of the advertising council; Dr. Susan B. Riley, American Association of University Women; John D. Rockefellerr, III; Anna Rosenburg, former assistant secretary of defense; Eric Sevareid, news analysit; Paul A. Walker, former chairman of the Federal Communications Commission; and Judith Walker, NBC Director of Education.

Puppet Plays Are Art Form

Puppet plays are usually thought of as purely children's entertainment, but the work of Louisa Mustin's Puppet Playhouse has disproved that idea, and brought the puppet actors into their own as interpreters of a unique and distinctive art form.

In adapting plays for the puppet stage, Miss Mustin keeps the adult level, even in such productions as "Beauty and the Beast," which will be one of the plays to be shown here Saturday. In this adaptation the characters are developed sufficiently to interest adult audiences, still keeping the magic tale simple enough for children.

Since its opening, with Eugene O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones," in December, 1950, Puppet Playhouse productions have been marked by high artistic standards and a mature and intelligent approach to each succeeding play by the professional staff. An honest, thorough-going endeavor to present plays that will be entertaining to the most sophisticated and theatre-wise play-goer will be the keynote of the Playhouse's presentation of "Beauty and Beast (2:30 p.m.) and "The Mikado" (8:30 p. m.) here, under the sponsorship of the Carolina Playmakers. BJ.

CPU Gives Chance To Let Off Steam

Carolina students have an opportunity to air their feelings on world affairs.

The Carolina Political Union meets every Sunday night at 8 o'clock in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial. The meetings are open to the public and afford an opportunity to all who attend to express themselves.

The CPU was organized in the 1930's under the leadership of Prof. E. J. Woodhouse of the Political Science Department. It started as a non-partisan discussion group to hold discussion on topics of interest to students and to present outstanding speakers to the campus.

Since the creation of the Carolina Forum, the union has concentrated on the discussion phase of its activities more than on the speaker phase. However, last year it presented Sen. Paul Douglas and Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin to the campus. Its most famous speaker was President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Bob Pace, CPU chairman, emphasized the fact that the discussions are open to all interested students.

Y Recreation Room Opening Doors Monday

The second floor of the YMCA is being converted into a place of student recreation and relaxation, according to Social Committee Chairman Neil Satterfield.

With the opening date tentatively set for Monday, the floor is being equipped for table games, card playing, coffee drinking and reading. Hours will be from 9:30 to 12:30 pm.

Donations by local merchants have supplied the Y with the initial equipment, and the success and continuance of the program will depend on the interest exhibited by the students, Satterfield says. More facilities will be added if student attendance merits it, he added.

There will be a host and hostess on hand to assist in the activities. A number of persons are still needed to act as hosts and anyone interested is requested to file application at the Y office.

SEE EUROPE IN '53
67 DAYS—9 COUNTRIES
$1,125.00

The tour to Europe that seems to offer most for the money for college students and teachers is that operated by Educational Travel Asscoiates of Plainfield, N. J. You sail from New York via the gay Mediterranean route on the Italian Line's SATURNIA, June 19, or the VULCANIA, July 7. The two tours cover 67 days in Italy, Austria, Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Belgium, England and France, with shore excursions in Spain and Portugal.

EDUCATIONAL FEATURES

Educational features include a prgoram of orientation aboard ship, extensive sightseeing in Europe under the direction of well-known University guides and lecturers and visits to art exhibits, plays, operas and music festivals when available. Sufficient leisure time for individual explorations is also provided.

FIRST CLASS HOTELS

Hotel accommodations are not de luxe but are first class in every respect and include such well-known hotels as the Grand Victoria Jungfrau in Interlaken, the Ambassador in Paris and the Atlantic in Nice. Transportation in Europe for the most part is by chartered de luxe pullman motor coach and a guide and hostess travel with the party throughout the tour. The tour price of $1,125 includes almost every expense except luncheons and dinners in Paris and London.

For Folder and Information
Write Or Call
NOEL SULLIVAN
615 E. Rosemary
Telephone 4451 after 6 p.m.

ICE CAPADES OF 1953
THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE
Mail order for tickets
COLISEUM IN RALEIGH
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
N. C. State College—P. O. Box 5985
RALEIGH, N. C.
Children ½ Price Friday Matinee Only
Mon. Eve. Feb. 16 ☐
Tue. Eve. Feb. 17 ☐
Wed. Eve. Feb. 18 ☐
Thur. Eve. Feb. 19 ☐
Fri. Mat. Feb. 20 ☐
Fri. Eve. Feb. 20 ☐
Sat. Mat. Feb. 21 ☐
Sat. Eve. Feb. 21 ☐
Enclosed is $..... for ..... tickets at $..... each
Price: $3.00 $2.50 $2.00 $1.50
Name ..... Address .....
City ..... State ..... Phone No. .....
PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS

THE COMPLETE ARROW LINE AT
THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

As an Arthur Murray Student

YOU'RE SURE OF POPULARITY

Yes, good dancers are the sought-after partners at parties. How popular are you? Why not come in to Arthur Murray's now and let one of his experts develop your dormant dancing ability?

ARTHUR MURRAY
104½ Morris St. at 5 Points
Durham Phone 2-7872
Studios Air-Conditioned

STUDENT CLUB
Being Organized!

Books In Our End-of-the-Month

Are Now Only

9c

Saturday What's Left Will Be FREE!

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

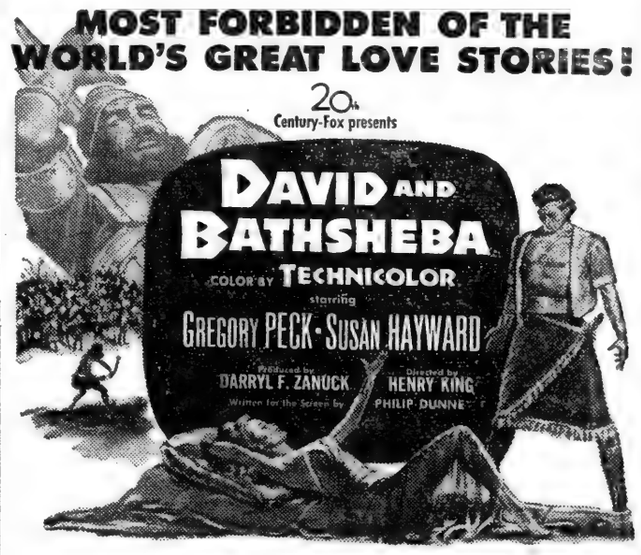
205 E. Franklin St.—Open Evenings

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR RENT

ROOMS FOR WEEKENDS OR BY the day or week. Phone 7456, 406 Cameron Ave. Chg. one by one

LOST



GOLD BOW-KNOT PIN LAST FRIday possibly in library or Fowler's. Reward. Call 9-5483. Charge 1x1

LOST: ONE PAIR OF GLASSES IN Alumni Building — Call James White—9-8000. 1-3465-2

RIDES WANTED

RESIDENT OF 48-B GLEN LENOX. Will pay well for ride to Hope Valley School around 8 a.m. Phone 9-6654. Chg 1x1

MOST FORBIDDEN OF THE WORLD'S GREAT LOVE STORIES!

TODAY ONLY

Carolina

"A-1 Fit!" Collegians Say Of Arrow Gabanaro Sports Shirts

College students report that precision-sized Arrow Gabanaro sports shirts bring them greater comfort—plus neater, smarter appearance. Gabanaro—washable rayon gabardine—is available in exact collar sizes and sleeve lengths, in a wide range of colors, at all Arrow dealers.

ARROW

SHIRTS · TIES · UNDERWEAR · HANDKERCHIEFS · SPORTS SHIRTS

ARROW SOLD AT
VARLEY'S MEN SHOP

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Sunny and cool with 58 high. Yesterday's high, 54; low, 31.

The Daily Tar Heel

PROTEST
The editors speak to the professors. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 85 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

SP Raises Brows At UP's Move

By Louis Kraar

Student Party leaders were skeptical yesterday.

Commenting on the University Party move, which would virtually turn the fraternity dominated party over to dorm dwellers, key SP members were somewhat doubtful.

SP Chairman Lew Southern said, "This is something they (UP) have done every year since I've been here. It will probably fizzle out like it always has."

Floor Leader Joel Fleishman (SP) declared with raised eyebrows, "This is an example of an old political trick that the UP brings out every year about this time. Instead of proposing continually to give the dorm man representation why not do something concrete about it?"

Fleishman added, "It's far cry from democratic political words to democratic political actuality—from theory to practicality—from the UP's present indifference to the ordinary students to the real concern of working to improve the situation."

Ken Barton, SP's presidential candidate last year, said, "I think that if the plan worked it would be a great aid to the political situation on campus. But if past experience is any criteria, I doubt sincerely that the move will mean much more than similar moves in the past."

"If UP wants equitable dorm representation, why don't they do away with the organizational representatives and allow individual membership in the party?" commented Ken Penegar, long time Student Party member.

Meantime, University Party workers were visiting dormitory presidents in order to get dormitory representatives for their meeting next week. Walt McFall, UP chairman, called it an effort "to fill Roland Parker lounge with as many dorm representatives as possible Tuesday night."

The reorganizational move by UP provides that every dormitory, sorority and fraternity would have one representative on the party's steering committee. The steering committee is the governing body in the party and makes all nominations, handles all publicity, and regulates finances.

In addition to the one representative for each residence house, there will be additional ones for every 25 students.

Announcing the revamping move as the "first major structural change in 28 years," UP leaders made it clear they were trying to make the party lose fraternity domination. If the plan is carried out, there will be more dormitory representatives in the party than fraternity and sorority representatives.

UP has, however, made structural changes in the past of a similar nature to foster dormitory interest in the party. This change does differ slightly from those in the past in that it provides at least one definite seat for every dormitory.

Former Student Party floorleader Gene Cook commented doubtfully on the change too. He said, "Just wait and see who their candidates will be this spring.

Student Party supporters hinted that the UP plan may set off earlier campaigning in the battle for spring elections.

A MISUNDERSTANDING

A Yack office boy came up yesterday with this ditty:

"There seems to be a misunderstanding regarding the pictures to be used in this years' Yackety Yack. Due to the time element involved, there can be no more changes in pictures or layouts. The book is now behind schedule and must go in as it is now.

"The Yack office is open daily between 2 and 4 for any organizations to come up to see if their pictures are back."

Carry on.

THE TOKYO HEADQUARTERS of Gen. Mark Clark has charged charged North Korean Generals Nan Il (left), chief Red armistice negotiator at Panmunjom, and his deputy, Lee Sang Cho (right), with directly masterminding the riots at United Nations prisoner-of-war camps. A secret intelligence study recently released said that these two men "hold direct responsibility for the conduct of the Communist campaign on the second front of the Korean War."—NEA Telephoto.

Polio Drive Going Well As End Nears

Reports on the progress of the polio campaign, pouring in from all sections of the state gave state headquarters here a big lift yesterday.

However, Mrs. Phillips Russell, state director of organization, cautioned volunteer workers against a let-up.

"The campaign is nearing a close and this is the time to put forth our best effort," she urged. Campaign workers should be sure that every person is given a chance to contribute, she said.

State Campaign Chairman Thad Eure, Raleigh, who spent several hours at state campaign headquarters here Wednesday, stressed the fact that a successful vaccine against polio appears to be in sight. This, he said, "should provide an added incentive to all our citizens to make a special effort to assure success of this year's campaign."

He expressed confidence that this year's record state quota of $1,250,000 will be met "provided the volunteer campaign workers put forth their best efforts during the few remaining days of the campaign."

"With a signal victory over this dread disease, which strikes more victims each year, apparently not far away, we cannot afford to falter in our efforts at this stage Chairman Eure said.

One of the most unusual activities reported so far, Mrs. Russell said, was a massive parade in Robbinsville in which some 1500 school children marched. Also in the parade, riding in convertibles, were local children who had been stricken with polio. The polio victims were escorted by the Girl Scouts to places of honor during a short ceremony, according to Dr. Nettie Parrette, chairman of the Graham county drive.

Dr. Riley Jordan, Raeford, chairman for Hoke county, reports that various activities, including benefit suppers, a beauty contest, and a Mothers' March have been held.

Caldwell county has scheduled a Mother's March tonight (Thursday). Kearney C. Pearce, Lenoir, county MOD chairman, reports that this is the "Big" week in Caldwell county, with schools, industrial and merchants divisions to wind up their drives."

A Mother's March is planned in Ahoskie and Murfreesboro tonight according to L. K. Overton, Hertford county chairman.

In New Hanover county, William

(See POLIO, page 3)

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's controversial nominees for Army and Air secretaries promised yesterday to get rid of their vast stock holdings, apparently clearing the way for Senate confirmtion of the appointments. Army Secretary-designate Robert T. Stevens told the Senate Armed Services Committee he will dispose of about $1,444,523 stock if the comittee insists—and it appeared the committee would insist. Air Secretary-designate Harold E. Talbott promised flatly to get rid of all stock and business interests which might conflict with his government duties.

★

WASHINGTON— Chairman Dewey Short of the House Armed Services Committee promised yesterday that Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, will give Congress "the full story" on Sunday's ill-fated United Nations T-Bone Hill attack in Korea. The House Armed Services Committee called the Army to account after individual congressmen had asked whether the United Nations attack had been staged as a bloody show for visiting officers.

★

SEOUL—Retiring Gen. James A. Van Fleet yesterday was cheered by 50,000 South Koreans at a farewell demonstration as he told them, "I shall come back." Before leaving his command to be replaced by Lt. Gen. Maxwell Taylor he told the throng standing in sub-freezing weather: "I leave my heart with you . . . I only wish that I could have successfully finished my job

(See NEWS, page 4)

6-Day Week, Semester Plan Endorsed By Faculty Group

Final Hearing Due Today At Meeting

It will be recommended to the Faculty Council at its meeting today that Saturday classes be instituted in September, putting Carolina on a semester system.

These and other suggestions will be put forth by the Committee on Instructional Personnel, Chairman Clifford P. Lyons said yesterday. His committee was told earlier by Chancellor Robert House to draw up a program for adding the Saturday morning classes here.

It was pointed out yesterday that this should not be considered a move against the student program opposing Saturday classes. A South Building official reminded students that "we following orders. The Trustees didn't ask us if we wanted them; they told us to put them in." The Administration has opposed Saturday classes.

The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees voted Nov. 10, 1952 to put in the six-day system here. (State and Woman's College already have it). The Executive Committee said it was concerned over the number of students leaving the University on the weekends.

Dean Lyons said yesterday that his committee will make the following recommendations to the Faculty Council which will meet at 4 p.m. in the Manning Hall courtroom:

"1. That the Saturday class requirement be implemented by the adoption of the semester system.

"2. That the semester system begin with the Fall term, 1953.

"3. That in converting from the quarter to the semester system adjustments be worked out at the nearest possible equivalents: courses, curricular requirements, budgets and teaching loads.

"4. That the administration require a balanced distribution in class scheduling by departments and schools of the M-W-F, T-Th-S, sequences, and require a reasonably balanced registration by students in the two sequences.

"5. That the administration allow deviation from the normal calendar pattern which is adopted to an extent clearly required by exceptional circumstances in post-baccalaureate professional programs.

"6. That, further, with respect to 'a more effective utilization of students' time throughout the week' the excellent suggestions made by departments, schools and colleges be summarized and submitted to appropriate undergraduate faculties and boards for their consideration and action."

The University's plan will be presented to the Executive Committee at its meeting Feb. 9 in Raleigh.

Campus Seen

Die hards shivering in icy, early morning hours, but still huddling on South Building steps with coffee, Tar Heels and gossip.

*

Coed with surprised "Oh!" as Library lights go off, then regaining composure with delighted "Ah!" as they come on again.

*

Economics prof ending lively discussion on bankruptcy: "I wouldn't trust my money with my own grandmother."

3 From Here May Be Given Study Grants

Three outstanding UNC seniors out of a field of 58, have been nominated for consideration for 1953 - 54 Morehead Scholarship awards.

The three are James Andrew Bell Jr., Greensboro; Hamilton Cowles Horton Jr., Winston-Salem, and Robert Chandler Vaughan Sr., also of Winston-Salem. These students will appear before the Central Committee in Chapel Hill along with nominees from other institutions on March 2 or 3.

The value of a Morehead Graduate Scholarship is $1,500 a year. The value of a Morehead Undergraduate Scholarship is $1,250 a year. The tenure of a Morehead Scholarship is dependent upon the maintenance by the scholar of a standard of work and conduct which, in the opinion of the trustees, justifies his scholarship.

In making the appointments, nominating committees regarded the qualities laid down by J. M.

(See MOREHEAD, page 4)

DEAN C. P. LYONS
. . . a six-day week

Solons Revise Election Law, OK Six Bills

The legislature last night changed the method of nominating Student Council members and breezed through six other Student Party-sponsored bills in about an hour.

An impartial Selections Board will be established under the new law, to make nominations for the Student Council. Proponents of the bill, primarily SP, indicated that political feeling had prejudiced decisions of the Student Council in the past. The move, according to John Ammons (SP) who introduced the bill, is to "take our highest court out of politics."

Tom McDonald (UP), sitting in as UP floor leader during Jack Stilwell's illness, voiced opposition to the bill. He said the move was not done by the political parties, but it "snatched it away from them without their consent."

The six other bills had little or no opposition. The absence of seven UP legislators gave the majority SP an even greater edge, and bills were passed rapidly.

Passed were moves to: 1—require candidates for office to put sample cigarettes and candy on their expense accounts. 2—resolved that dorms should be sound-proofed and "at the earliest possible moment funds must be appropriated under Permanent Plant Improvement to be used for sound proofing purposes." 3—established a committee to work out coed visiting hours to dormitory social rooms. 4—establish a committee to "investigate the possibility of open quiz files." 5—establish a committee to work on better communications in dormitories. 6—resolved a more liberal cut policy and to appoint a committee to confer with the Administration on the matter.

Manning Muntzing (SP), speaking on the bill advocating setting up of coed visiting hours in men's dormitories, cited the significance of the coed visiting agreement worked out at Connor dormitory. The bill was passed without opposition.

During debate on the Student Council bill, Gordon Battle (UP) asked Gene Cook, former SP legislator who was speaking on the bill, "Do you know of any issues where the Student Council voted strictly along party lines?"

"Yes," replied Cook. He explained after the session that he was referring specifically to election issues last spring.

Absent legislators were Jack Stilwell (UP), Caroll Brady (UP), Sandy Dann (UP), R. B. Fitch (SP), Bob Grimes (UP), Gerry McBrayer (SP), Gordon Forrestor (SP), Jake Rountree (UP), Al Salley (UP), Charles Swain (SP), and Charles Yarborough (SP-UP).

Horton Sees Semester As Aid In Fight

Student President Ham Horton hailed the proposed semester system as something that "may be a strengthening point for our argument against Saturday classes."

His complete statement:

"The decision of the faculty committee was, of course, expected. They received instructions from the Trustees 'to utilize Saturday time' and had no choice but to carry out those instructions.

"Their preference for a semester system may be a strengthening point for our argument against Saturday classes when we consider that:

"1. Under a semester system each piece of scientific etc. equipment is used only twice a year. We now use the apparatus three times a year, resulting in a definite saving to the University.

"2. Under a semester system we could have only one session for summer school. The two sessions we now have under the quarter system make it possible for N. C. public school teachers, for example, to get their MA in one summer.

"3. The Trustees are justly concerned with student-faculty relaeach student will have twice as tions. Under a semester system each student will have twice as many teachers as he now has. Each teacher could have twice as many students to know."

Student Party To Nominate

Student Party will begin nominations for spring elections Monday night, party chairman Lew Southern said yestedray.

The party is slated to meet at 8:30 in Roland Parker lounges of Graham Memorial.

Agenda includes nominations for Legislature seats from men and women dormitory districts, campaign manager and publicity coordinator.

The following week nominations from men and women town districts are scheduled, according to Southern.

Two Students Held Guilty By Recorder

Three students' names appeared on the docket heard by Judge William S. Stewart in Recorder's Court here this week.

John J. Wallace III was found not guilty by the court of a charge of parking on a sidewalk near the Sigma Chi House. Chapel Hill police officer Ned B. Diggs ticketed Wallace's automobile while the Elkins, W. Va., senior parked near the fraternity house long enough to run in for a forgotten text book.

Steve Bernard, junior from Anderson, S. C., pleaded guilty to a larceny charge and was found guilty by the court. A 90-day sentence awarded Bernard was suspended by the court in favor of restitution and good behavior probation.

Tarboro student William Grimes Clark III, was granted a suspended sentence for a campus parking violation.

BODICE BOOSTED

Wilbur Bodice Jr. was elected chaplain Tuesday in a meeting of the Di Senate. Bodice fills the position vacated by David Reid of Durham.

Ed Smith, a past president of the Di, was unanimously elected to receive the highest award of merit of the Senate.

The Di voted to represent the United Kingdom in the model UN General Assembly tentatively set for April 24-25. A bill calling for world free trade passed.

Planetarium Showing Depicts World's End

In the past weeks preparations have been underway at the Morehead Planetarium for the opening of the new production, "Birth and Death of the Earth."

The first presentation will be given Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. Thereafter, performances will be given every evening in the week at 8:30 and in the afternoons on Saturdays at 3 and Sundays at 3 and 4 p.m. Special presentations for school children are given on Wednesdays at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. and on Thursdays at 2 p.m. by advance reservation only.

"Cosmogony" is a very unfamiliar word to many. It names the branch of astronomy that specializes in theories aimed at accounting for the birth, evolution and final destiny of the universe. It is this branch of science that forms the basis for the dramatic production at the Morehead Planetarium in February.

The magic of the great Zeiss projector and numerous special effects is used to present and dramatize some of the most startling of the concepts, and to create the illusion that the visitor is actually a witness to the formation of stars and galaxies out of chaos—as they grow and mature —as the sun acquires its system of planets—as, finally, the end comes to the earth and all life here ceases.

NO REPORT

The Navy and investigating officers remained silent yesterday concerning the Christmas holiday theft of eight pistols and some ammunition from the Naval Armory here.

The weapons were removed after thieves forced their entrance into the locked armory sometime during the weekend preceding Monday, Dec. 29.

EXTRA-HUMAN ACTORS are shown in a scene from the specially adapted version of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado," to be presented tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. in the Playmakers Theater. The presentation is sponsored by the Playmakers and directed by Louisa Mustin, herself a former Playmaker.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgrs. Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Assoc. Ed. Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT—Curt Ratledge, Harry Runlop, Tom Parrimore, Lou Graar, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Charles A. Collins, Charles Haskett, Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Tom Parramore

"Speak Up, Mr. Professor"

To submit to authority with complacency is one thing.

To submit under protest is another.

We recommend the latter to the Faculty Council today as it meets to discuss adoption of the semester system in carrying out the mandate of the Board of Trustees' Executive Committee, a mandate that was pigeonholed for four years, but which finally cropped up again in September with the committee's stipulation that Saturday classes be put into effect immediately.

The Trustees well know how students feel about Saturday classes. They haven't heard from the faculty in four years, however. The administration's viewpoint has already been cast aside. We suggest that the Faculty Council make a minority report on the values of the quarter system, plus a protest against the installation of Saurday classes.

* * *

The board of trustees set a dangerous precedent when they in effect rebuked the administration for not adopting the Saturday class plan. The administration and the faculty are also partly at fault for not coping in years past with trustee demands. All this is in the past. And in spite of these past failings, the full board should duly consider the opinions of its appointees, the administration and the faculty. We ask that the matter be brought up before the full board with a review of the success or failure of the present quarter system included.

Study Tax Problem

Failure of the State Advisory Budget Commission to present a revenue bill, for the first time in history, is open to sharp questioning.

The revenue act under which the state presently operates was adopted approximately 20 years ago, and there has been little change indeed—no basic alteration as we recall, during the interval.

Yet during these 20 years the state itself has changed immeasurably. Its complexion has changed; its economy has changed; its pattern of needs, responsibilities and obligations has changed; and, along with all these changes, tax patterns and trends must have changed too.

In our thinking North Carolina's revenue act should be under continuous study. We should make sure that any loopholes and inequities are eliminated. We should keep it abreast of all factors, considerations and forces which affect the state's life and economy. We should be careful indeed that it applies fairly and effectively, that new sources of taxation which are doubtless developing all the while are tapped and bear their proportionate share of the public expense. Taxes, revenue acts, become out-moded and ineffective with the passing of time and the changing of underlying conditions just as everything else does. Certainly North Carolina's long-standing revenue act, however good, fair and effective, is not perfect. Then why not take a look at it, not merely during legislative sessions but in continuing study all the while?

Does failure of the advisory budget commission reflect its own indifference to what may be happening or satisfaction with what we have or does it go still farther and raise the question of the effectiveness, the adequacy, the vigor and serviceability of existing tax research facilities?

The easiest way to pass a tax measure may be anything but the best way in so far as the public interest and welfare are concerned. —GREENSBORO DAILY NEWS

A New Slant

Ever see a Bible Study group? Dry, wasn' it? Some older person in the capacity of leader pointed out his views while his audience nodded their heads in agreement, more or less. The net value? Almost nil.

Here is a new concept. Students decided that they wanted a student-led group, organized it last week, and are just about to tackle Genesis on Saturday, at 9:30 a.m. in the Congregational Church Hut. It's not a denominational meeting, and it's run on the principal of open discussion, so if you're interested, you're welcome to come.

Jim Wilkerson

Old Enough?

From time to time the question of lowering the voting age to 18 in North Carolina and other states comes up for discussion. Such a proposal was renewed recently at the opening of the state General Assembly.

So far only one of the 48 states—Georgia—has taken this step, which places several thousand new voters on the books. But I don't think Georgia need set a precendent for Uorth Carolina.

The idea has wide superficial appeal. The most popular argument in its favor is that anyone old enough to fight for his country is old enough to vote—a high-sounding, though not necessarily logical deduction. If we were forced by a manpower shortage to start drafting 16 and 17-year olds, as some countries did in World War II, would that argument still hold true? If not there is a fallacy in the argument.

Would we revert to the 21-year requirement when and if a peaceful world no longer made soldiering a prerequisite for citizenship?

What about the girls? They aren't drafted at 18. Shall we tell them to come back in three years or just throw them in as a bonus?

It is a regrettable state of affairs that young men who have not yet exercised the most precious right of a democracy must serve as the advance guard of that democracy.

Is it unfair? Of course it's unfair! The whole concept of war is outrageously unjust to all youth. To reach into the maelstrom of war, isolate one situation and say, "This is unjust," is a pathetic almost useless gesture.

The eligibility to vote boils itself down purely to the question of whether or not a person is able to exercise this right in a wise and intelligent manner.

The average 18-year old is still in high school, usually his last year. He is about to graduate from America's greatest training ground in democracy—the public school. He has been studying how our government should work and how he as a citizen can improve it.

Many of these youngsters are serious-minded and mature beyond their years, but the majority, as we all know, are rather carefree and limit their profound thoughts and observations for the classroom.

They are well-informed to the extent of the views they garner from newspapers, civics class discussions and dinner table conversation. Since their teacher's interpretations exert a great deal of influence on their thinking, most of their ideas are formulated in the classroom.

But again, the classroom should be a training ground for citizenship, not a final test.

There should be a period when these academic ideas have time to fall into their proper relation to actual conditions, a period of crystallation, of adjustment to reality as opposed to theory. We all see big changes in our attitudes and our beliefs since we left high school. Some of them we recognize as juvenile and characterized by immature thinking. Leaving the protection of home and classroom, we find ourselves reassessing, taking a new account.

"But I always thought . . . " or . . . "But I was always told . . ."—these are the signs of awakening that come when a person actually has to fight City Hall, resist the pressure of politics in his business make out an income tax report or wear a uniform. In short, it's the experience of watching this thing called democracy at work that counts.

I'm sure that the people advocating the 18-year-old vote are guided largely by their conscience and their intentions are the very best.

But issues are easily confused when viewed in the light and shadows of war, valor and death. It is therefore doubly important that the issues be lifted out, carefully scrutinized and evaluated on their own merits.

The Michigan State News, with unconcealed pride, tells of a student who became so engrossed in reading the News one day while walking to class that he walked spank into a deep construction hole.

"Ah, Just Like The Good Old Days"

DREW PEARSON

THE WASHINGTON

Merry-Go-Round

Washington — When the bands played back in Oregon, new Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay was usually to be found dressed up in a white cowboy costume and 10-gallon hat riding at the head of the parade. Here in Washington, as head of hte 65,000-bureaucrat Interior Department, Governor McKay is more diffident, so far is not riding at the head of the parade.

Perhaps this is because so big a bureaucracy is new to him. Or perhaps it's because every new cabinet member, even the old curmudgean Harold Ickes, feels shy about commanding bureau chiefs who have been 30 years in government as against his seven or eight days.

Several days before inauguration, conscientious Secretary McKay came to Washington, was given a desk in the Interior Department, attended staff conferences with retiring Secretary Oscar Chapman, and created quite a sensation in the Interior Department cafeteria by balancing his own tray and lunching with Commissioner of Reclamation Mike Straus.

If there is a controversial figure in all the Interior Department, or in all the West for that matter, it's Mike Straus. He has fought the big power interests, the big landowners, and most of the policies championed by the conservative wing of the GOP. Nevertheless, it was on Mike Straus that the new Secretary of the Interior leaned when, alone and uncomfortable amid a sea of staring faces, he ate his first lunch in the department of which he is now boss.

Douglas McKay is a friendly, energetic fellow who will probably get along well in Washington. He knows government far better than his General Motors cabinet colleague, Charles E. Wilson. As the biggest Chevrolet-Cadillac dealer in Oregon, for instance, McKay used to sell a lot of cars to the state. But when he became governor he quit selling cars to the state.

For the law or Oregon is similar to the federal law, and no state executive can buy from his own company.

Aside from minor ignorance, McKay is not likely to make major mistakes. He's too smart and too cautious. He plays his cards close to his chest and he waits for a signal from the White House.

He has been slow filling new Interior Department jobs, for instance, because he wants to see exactly whom his chief in the White House wants. And when put on the griddle by the Senate Interior Committee regarding the red-hot issue of private power vs .public power, he carefully took a stand midway between. The two should cooperate, he said.

With the headlines focused on war and the threat of war, many people have forgotten about the Interior Department. In the days of honest Harold Ickes, it was considered so unexciting as far as honesty was concerned that the press seldom pried into it. And this rigorous, fish-bowl policy was continued under Secretary Oscar Chapman.

However, it was only about 30 years ago that the Interior Department was the biggest boodle-bag in Washington and that a Secretary of the Interior, Albert Fall, went to jail for giving away the public domain—when oilman Doheny's little black bag was passed his way.

Today, the Interior Department, though less in the headlines, is probably even more important than it was 30 years ago. Aside from the Defense Department it is the biggest dispenser of molasses in the entire United States. To it the lobbyists come flocking like flies around the Molasses Bowl.

For a lot of new things have been discovered in "them thar hills" which Secretary Douglas McKay now holds under his command.

Alice Chapman

On Other Campuses

The State Legislature's Advisory Budget Committee may intend that Carolina have little expansion money this year, but funds for other schools in the U.S. seem to be more readily available.

Since age has taken the beauty and time has left its sad scar on the journalism building at Kansas University, the "shack" is going down. The 70 year old structure has been home of the pharmacy, medicine, and journalism schools in turn. Since new buildings have been provided to house the departments, the wooden frame is being torn down.

As the budget committee said NO to a new UNC student union, students at West Virginia were compiling arguments for a new union there. Mountainlair, the old institution, will burst at the seams by 1960 if the university enrollment reaches the expected 10,000 mark. Complaints registered against the present union are that you can't get your shoes shined, your hair cut, mail your laundry box, or have a formal dinner. Student unions at Iowa State, Oregon University, Ohio State, or University of Minnesota offer these luxuries. So why can't we have them", the argument goes.

The president at Purdue has released his annual report for 1950 boasting the new improvements of his university. He lists the new engineering building as a milestone in the widening scope of university activity. The school is proud of its new special services. Among them are the Hall of Music, a statistical laboratory and a math placement service.

Little red-topped stakes dot the Air Force drill field at Tulane. They represent not a giant game of croquet but the approximate site of two brand new dormatories. Next May the field will be crowded with construction. There will be no more drill teams, no more intramurals run there. But modern buildings of spacious living quarters and lounges will occupy the area.

Three institutions of higher learning have decided that it is high time they tackle the job of selling themselves to prospective customers.

San Diego State College is campaigning to clear up the vague idea that it is a college located somewhere "out in the sticks" of San Diego. The publicity committee plans to entertain high schools in their area each spring with variety shows and melodramas. Both types of program will be followed by explanations of campus life. The drive to educate will be climaxed with a senior day when the high schools will send their senior over for a guided campus tour and tea.

"Visitation project 1953" is underway on the Minnesota campus. Freshmen are being drafted to serve in the March and April attack on state high schools. About 100 schools will be rushed by the frosh who carry weapons of real enthusiasm for the university, knowledge of its ways and means, and good salesmanship.

Second and third year men at the UVA are plotting to snag a number of recruits for Virginia during the short vacation between semesters. Over 100 undergraduates will talk, chat, persuade, orient, explain, and encourage university prospects from their secondary schools. The proposal was born this winter and is yet in the experimental stages.

Express Yourself

Editor:

In regard to your editorial entitled, "Weighed, Found Wanting" which appeared in the Thursday issue of the DTH, I find that the writer of the editorial played right into my hands when he used the phrase, Mongol idiot, because THAT description best fits my idea of what he must certainly be.

Of all the disgusting editorials I have ever read, I believe that it must take all honors. The Daily Tar Heel must be extremely pushed for material when it has to print such a narrowminded editorial as that one. The writer obviously believes that he is a great "thinker" and formulator of public opinion. Well, somewhere along the line he lost a few screws out of that machine which he calls a brain.

In my three years at Chapel Hill I have read countless editorials and articles on the lack of school spirit. So what happens? We finally regain that spirit during the Wake Forest game and get slaped in the face by your Mongol idiot for doing so.

I'm not denying that there was plenty of bitterness over that officiating of the game, but with such sloppy officiating as Mr. Bello and Mr. Williams performed, I see no reason why the booing should be condemned to the point of being called "uncivilized". You don't see the famous Brooklyn Dodger fans being lam basted in editorials for their booing, do you? What do you want us to do—sit on our fannies and say, "Bless you, Mr. Bello, but do you think that last call was cricket?"

You say also that there are various individuals in the state who will—on the basis of Tuesday's performance—look closely and suspiciously at Chapel Hill. I doubt that seriously when I find that most of the state newspapers devote a large part of the write-ups of the game to the "marvelous Carolina spirit".

And I guess you think you know more about it than our great coach, McGuire, who was quoted as saying, "I've appeared in many close game in Metropolitan New York, both as a player and as a coach, but I have never felt the impact of student support more than this night. It was the kind of spirit you get only in this part of the country. It's one big reason why I decided to accept the Carolina job." There's no slur in that statement.

You, Mr. Editorial (?) Writer call it animal hysteria. I call it appreciation—for a job well done by the players and the coach.

The title of the discussed editorial was most aptly named, "Weighed, Found Wanting". I weighed the editorial and found it wanting–wanting for the slightest iota of constructive criticism. Alexander Pope hit the proverbial nail on the head when he wrote—

" 'Tis hard to say if greater want of skill Appears in writing or in judging ill."

Jenks Robertson

Gym Team Tramples Devils, 79-31

Six Of Seven First Places Go To UNC

By Al Long

Carolina's gymnastics team scored a one-sided 79-31 victory over Duke last night at Woollen gym. It was the first win for the Tar Heels, who lost to Navy in their only other meet, and the second loss for Duke in as many attempts.

Carolina took first place in six out of seven events and was never threatened by the Devils. Co-captain Check Goodin of Carolina led individual scoring with 16 points. Dick Heckert captured Duke's lone win in the tumbling event.

UNC tumbler Pete Brumley and four-event man Gordon Hudson suffered minor injuries during the match.

Scoring, based on 6, 4, 3, 2, 1, ran as follows:

Rope climb— 1—Bill Revera, UNC; 2—Rupert Phipps, UNC; 3—George Sherrard, Duke. Time—6.6 seconds.

Side horse—1—Gordon Hudson, UNC; 2—Bob Coleman, Duke; 3—Art Denoise, Duke.

High bar—1 — Check Goodin, UNC; 2—Biff Howard, UNC; 3—Rupert Phipps, UNC.

Parallel bars—1—Check Goodin, UNC; 2—Gordon Hudson, UNC; 3—Ed Chapman, Duke.

Rings—1—Otis Hartsell, UNC; 2—Gordon Hudson, UNC; 3—Jack Evans, Duke.

Tumbling—1 — Dick Heckert, Duke; 2—Pete Brumley, UNC; 3—Frank Williams, UNC.

Trampoline—1 — Dick Hallden, UNC; 2—Dusty Lamson, UNC; 3—John Rhoades, UNC.

Davidson, N. C.—In statistics recently released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, Davidson's Jimmy Thacker, sensational sophomore halfback, made the longest run from scrimmage in the nation last fall—98 yards against George Washington.

THE BAT HELD BY Ferris Fain, two-time winner of the American League hitting crown, looms mighty big as the star first baseman tries a few swings at his Walnut Creek, Calif., home. Fain has been acquired by the Chicago White Sox from the Philadelphia Athletics in a trade involving five players.—NEA Telephoto.

Carolina's League-Leading Cagers Back In Action Tonight In Davidson

The Carolina basketball team makes its first appearance in six days tonight at Davidson, with Coach Frank McGuire's Tar Heels 10 to 15 point favorites over the Wildcats.

Carolina has already beaten Davidson once this year, but the Wildcats are tough to stop on their home floor and they always give Carolina a lot of trouble. Last year Davidson beat Carolina once, and lost the other game by one point.

Carolina's basketball taem will Carolina's basketball team will play Clemson tomorrow night at to Chapel Hill.

The game will be Carolina's 13th Conference contest, and the Tar Heels are expected to run their record to 12-1 and retain the number one spot in the Conference standings. Carolina has a 13-3 overall record so far this season.

Al (Fuzzy) Lifson, high scorer for the Tar Heels in their surprise, one-point victory over State last Saturday, is favoring an injured ankle and may see limited service. Coach McGuire may make Lifson take it easy against Davidson and Clemson tomorrow night so he will be ready for the important Duke and NYU contests next week.

McGuire will probably go along with the same team that has given North Carolina's its 18th place ranking it national standings and defeated N. C. State for the first time in 16 games.

At guards are co-captain Vince Grimaldi and Lifson, Bud Maddie and Jerry Vayda start the forwards, and Paul Likins is the number one center. Gene Glancy or Bob Phillips could start for Lifson, as could Jack Wallace. McGuire has taken pains to make sure all his reserves are versatile.

Center Paul Likins, a six-foot eight-inch sophomore, is the most improved player on the team, and is given a good deal of the credit for Carolina's success this year. After a season of instability, he is now one of the most aggressive men on the team and always keeps the Tar Heels alive under the basket.

The Wildcats have had a recent layoff because of exams, but coach Danny Miller expresses confidence that his team will be ready for the Tar Heels. Miller will be counting on the usual high scoring of captain Joe Dudley and Gerald King to keep Davidson alive, and hopes that such potential standouts as Ish Bennett, Groene Keith, George Melton, and Ed Weeks will give the Wildcats the extra punch they need against Carolina.

— POLIO —

(Continued from Page 1)

G. Smith, Wilmington, reported that tag sales netted almost $1500 for his county's campaign. A March of Dimes Musical Marathon is planned for Saturday, January 31.

Orange County chairman E. Carrington Smith reports that a benefit basketball game is to be played in Chapel Hill and that a Mother's March will be held with more than 500 mothers making collections.

Tar Heel Swimming Squad To Meet Davidson Tankers

By John Hussey

The Carolina swimming team will travel to Davidson tomorrow to encounter the Davidson Wildcats. The Tar Heels will be looking for their sixth win of the season.

To prove the versatility of his team, coach Ralph Casey will make several changes in the lineup. Co-captain Donnie Evans will swim the 200 yard breastroke event. He swam in this event against Bainzridge Naval Station and in doing so, set a new University record.

Saturday he will be aiming for a Southern Conference dual meet record. The present mark is the oldest standing record in the SC, having been set by Carolinian Bill Kelly at 2:25.9. Kelly swam this time in 1945. Evans bettered it by one and nine tenths seconds at Bainbridge.

Swimming the 300 yard medley relay will be Evans, Buddy Barcke, and sophomore Jack Edwards. It will be the first time this year that these three have teamed together in this event and their time should better the present Conference record of 2:54.5.

Co-captain Stan Tinkham will perform in the 220 freestyle and Larry Shannon and Tommy Gill, two sophomores, will swim the 440. Warren Heeman, who usually swims the backstroke event, will be placed in the 150 yard individual medley. Joe Kelso will be on the one meter diving board again this week.

Edwards will swim the 100 yard freestyle and if he swims as well as he has in previous meets, should be accredited with a new record in that event. Buddy Heins will have another try at the 50-yard freestyle record that he tied last week against VPI.

The Tar Heels will probably be using the meet with the Wildcats as a warm up for the encounter with the Florida Gators next week. Florida is rated as the best team in the Southeastern Conference and it should be the toughest meet of the season for the Carolina team.

Duke, NYU

Holders of odd numbered passbooks will have today and tomorrow to exchange their books for tickets to the Duke and NYU game here next weekend.

The ticket office will be open until 4:30 this afternoon but will close at 12:00 noon tomorrow.

Spiders Add Men To Meet

The arrival of Coach John Hardy and seven of his track men from the University of Richmond will add an additional feature to the Inter-Class Track Meet, which is taking place this afternoon and tomorrow in Woollen Gym.

These men are scheduled to participate in the 60 yard dash, the 70 yard high hurdles, the 70 yard low hurdles, the 440 yard run, the mile run, and the two mile run.

DURHAM—Gov. William B. Umstead's condition is "very good," Dr. Ralph G. Fleming, his personal physician, reported yesterday. The Governor is recuperating at Watts Hospital with a slight heart condition.

All Our Jackets

INCLUDING

A-2 and A-3 Leather Jackets

REDUCED TO

Half Price

SURPLUS SALES

332 W. Main Street Durham

DR. QUIZ CONDUCTED BY— Sutton's

Pony Express, Edgar A. Poe and Pisa answer the quiz . . . and SUTTON'S DRUG STORE can answer your cosmetic needs with our complete line of Elizabeth Arden and Helena Rubinstein cosmetics and beauty aids. We can please.

THE TAR HEEL'S DRUG CENTER Sutton's DRUG STORE Rx SPECIALISTS

COSMETICS - MEN'S TOILETRIES - SCHOOL SUPPLIES

553 - COMPLETE FOUNTAIN SERVICE - JUST ACROSS FRANKLIN

SOLVE YOUR LAUNDRY PROBLEMS HERE!

AUTOMATIC . . . . .

Faculty and Students will find this service SANITARY . . .

SAFE . . . ECONOMICAL and SPEEDY

FLUFF DRYERS available RAIN or SHINE

Trained attendant on hand to advise you

We use ELECTRIC OPERATED machines

Join the many people who have used our service since 1947

VILLAGE SELF SERVICE LAUNDRY

402 W. Franklin St. Telephone 9-5766

ICE CAPADES OF 1953

THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE

Mail order for tickets

COLISEUM IN RALEIGH

WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM

N. C. State College—P. O. Box 5905

RALEIGH, N. C.

Children ½ Price Friday Matinee Only

Mon. Eve. Feb. 16 ☐

Tue. Eve. Feb. 17 ☐

Wed. Eve. Feb. 18 ☐

Thurs. Eve. Feb. 19 ☐

Fri. Mat. Feb. 20 ☐

Fri. Eve. Feb. 20 ☐

Sat. Mat. Feb. 21 ☐

Sat. Eve. Feb. 21 ☐

Enclosed is $ ____ for ____ tickets at $ ____ each

Prices: $3.00 $2.50 $2.00 $1.50

Name ____ Address ____

City ____ State ____ Phone No. ____

PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS

In Durham

HARVEY'S CAFETERIA

AND

BANQUET SERVICE

Breakfast 6:30 - 9:15

Lunch 11 - 2:30

Supper 5 - 8:05

Special Facilities For All Fraternity & Sorority Functions

103 E. MAIN STREET, DURHAM

AUTHENTIC Formal WEAR

- TUXEDOS
- FULL DRESS
- DINNER JACKETS
- ACCESSORIES

BILLS MAILED HOME

THE Sport SHOP

N. COLUMBIA ST.

KODAK DUAFLEX II CAMERA

Its big reflex finder makes picture composing easy. And indoor flash shots are as simple to get as outdoor pictures. The "Duaflex" takes black-and-white and color pictures —12 shots per roll. With Kodet Lens $14.50; de luxe model, $22.50. Prices include Federal Tax. Flasholder, $4.25. See them here.

FOISTER'S Camera Store, Inc.

Books In Our End-of-the-Month

Are Now Only

9c

Saturday What's Left Will Be FREE!

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. Franklin St.—Open Evenings

Don't Let Ugly Scars Mar The Beauty of Your Car

WE HAVE THE BEST BODY AND FENDER MEN IN THE STATE. THEY HAVE THE ABILITY, THE EXPERIENCE, AND THE FACILITIES TO DO ANY AUTO BODY REPAIRS. FROM FENDER SCRATCHES TO COMPLETE SMASH-UPS . . . WE'RE YOUR BOYS.

HAZZARD MOTOR CO.

T-O-D-A-Y and SATURDAY

Varsity "KANSAS CITY CONFIDENTIAL"

Starring JOHN PAYNE — COLEEN GRAY

SPECIAL PREVIEW PERFORMANCE Tonight 11:15

"TERRIFIC DRAMATIC IMPACT! EXCELLENT!"

—Archer Winsten, Post

"Highest Rating! Staggers The Imagination!"

—N.Y. Daily News

"BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR!"

—Jay Carmody, Washington Eve. Star

And On Every "YEAR'S BEST" LIST!

National Board of Review; N.Y. Times; Daily News; Journal-American; World-Tel. Sun; Daily Mirror; N.Y. Post; Morning Telegraph; Brooklyn Eagle; Washington Eve. Star.

"Best Actor of the Year" RALPH RICHARDSON

—N.Y. Film Critics Award

". . . THIS STRIKING NEW DRAMA IS A NIGH PERFECT JOB OF FILM-MAKING IN EVERY ESSENTIAL WAY!"

—Bosley Crowther, Times

The Greatest Adventure Story Of Our Time!

BREAKING THE SOUND BARRIER

Starring RALPH RICHARDSON ANN TODD • NIGEL PATRICK JOHN JUSTIN • with DINAH SHERIDAN

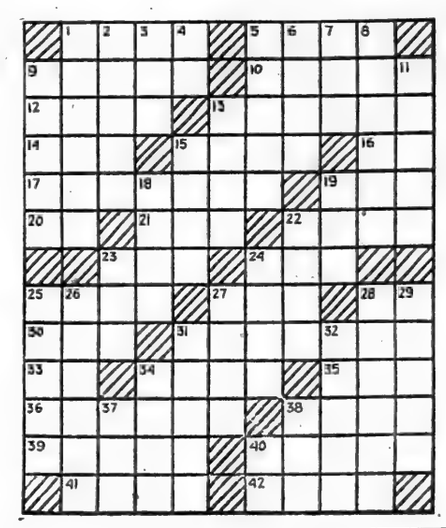
A David Lean Production • Story and Screenplay by Terence Rattigan • Released by Lopert Films Distributing Corp. A London Films Presentation • Distributed thru United Artists

Middie Officers Named For Winter Quarter

Midshipman officers for the Winter Quarter in the NROTC here were announced yesterday.

They are Battalion Commander, Bruce A. Bauer, Arlington, Va.; Battalion Executive Officer, William D. Smith, Bethel; Battalion Operations Officer, Walter T. Porter, Flat Rock; Battalion Communications Officer, Clarence A. Poppleton, Summerville, S. C.; Battalion Supply Officer, Henry B. Patterson, Hickory.

Drum and Bugle Corps Commander, Jonas W. Kessing, Chapel Hill; Drum and Bugle Corps Executive Officer, David B. Cole, Farmington, Conn.; "A" Company Commander, John M. Peek, Roanoke, Va.; "A" Company Executive Officer, Herbert B. Cohn, Chattanooga, Tenn.; 1st Platoon Commander, William A. Rankin, Reidsville; 2nd Platoon Commander, Lloyd V. Hinton, Washington, D. C.; 3rd Platoon Commander, Jerome W. Bolick, Newton.



"B" Company Commander, Arthur J. Eagan, Portsmouth, Va.; "B" Company Executive Officer, Joel S. Watkins, Warren, Ark.; 1st Patoon Commander, Julian B. King, Winston-Salem; 2nd Platoon Commander, Robert S. Webb, Asheville; 3rd Platoon Commander, Earle D. Litzenberger, Bethlehem, Penn.

"C" Company Commander, Thomas D. Gaines, Jamesville; "C" Company Executive Officer, James C. Goodin, Waynesville; 1st Platoon Commander, Julian B. A. Stevens, Tarpon Springs, Fla.; 2nd Platoon Commander, Joseph A. Arnold, Atlanta, Ga., and 3rd Platoon Commander, Jesse H. Washburn, High Point.

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Fellow
5. Peer
9. Kind of rock
10. Bay window
12. Minute skin opening
13. Revolve
14. Fortify
15. Drinking vessels
16. Affirmative vote (var.)
17. Strong fortresses
19. Morsel
20. Elevated train (shortened)
21. Coal scuttle
22. Cavity
23. Fish
24. Forbid
25. Needy
27. Conjunction
28. Personal pronoun
30. Humble
31. Iced mixtures
33. Mulberry
34. Internal decay of fruit
35. Half ems
36. Oriental laborer
38. Pilaster
39. Wading bird
40. Rot
41. Evergreen shrubs
42. Oriental weight

DOWN
1. A hymn tune
2. Injures
3. Malt beverage
4. Hebrew letter
5. Bends in strings
6. Food leavings
7. Narrow inlet (geol.)
8. Minor part
9. Distance
11. Island (P. I.)
13. Regretted
15. Lump of earth
18. God of war (Norse)
19. Japanese holiday
22. Musical instrument
23. Bovine animal
24. Water craft
25. Set
26. A branch of ornithology
27. Independent
28. Of the mind
29. Literary composition
31. Darts
32. Pennies (Eng.)
34. Sounded a trumpet
37. Coin (Swed.)
38. Cord of candlenut tree
40. Dental technician (abbr.)

Yesterday's Answer

Carolina

NOW PLAYING

WARNER BROS. presents RANDOLPH SCOTT in THE MAN BEHIND THE GUN — COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR

— PLUS —

COLOR CARTOON — LATEST NEWS

LATE SHOW SATURDAY NIGHT — SUNDAY — MONDAY

20th Century-Fox presents Olivia de Havilland, Two-time Academy Award winner in Daphne du Maurier's "My Cousin Rachel" with the exciting new star discovery RICHARD BURTON

Produced by NUNNALLY JOHNSON

Directed by HENRY KOSTER · Screen Play by NUNNALLY JOHNSON

— NEWS —

(Continued from page 1)

and gained the ultimate objective —an honorable peace."

★

WASHINGTON—Air Force and Coast Guard disaster centers put "maximum" strength behind searches for two military planes missing in the crash-conscious Pacific Northwest yesterday and reports were received that a third plane was down in a remote section of British Columbia. In New Orleans, the Coast Guard called off a search of the Gulf of Mexico which it launched after reports that an unidentified plane had plunged into the water some 250 miles southeast of New Orleans. They said they were satisfied that no plane had gone down there. The military planes missing in the northwest with a total of 17 persons aboard were a U. S. Navy Privateer bomber and a Royal Canadian Air Force Dakota bomber.

Morehead

(Continued from page 1)

Morehead in the indenture which created the foundation. These qualifications are: (a) Scholastic, ability and attainments, (b) Qualities of manhood, truthfulness, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindliness, unselfishness and fellowship, (c) Evidence of moral force of character and of capacities to lead and to take an interest in his schoolmates, and (d) Physical vigor, as shown by interest in competitive sports or in other ways.

Each university, college or junior college on the list of eligible institutions has a nominating committee of three to five members of its faculty and administration. The nominating committee of each institution submits its list of candidates to the central committee by Jan. 15 of each year.

Members of the University's nominating committee were Chancellor Robert B. House, chairman; D. D. Carroll, vice chairman, T. H. Carroll, Clifford Lyons and Guy B. Phillips.

Assisting the nominating committee was a rating committee composed of Roy Armstrong, chairman, Roy Holsten, C. O. Cathey, Samuel B. Knight, Cecil Johnson, Alfred Engstrom and J. M. Parrish.

What Goes On Here

Handbook

A meeting will be held Monday afternoon at 4:30 in the YMCA information office for all students interested in being on the staff of The Carolina Handbook. Photographers, make-up artists, writers, and business personnel are needed.

WUNC

Today's schedule for campus FM station with a frequency of 91.5mc.:

7 p.m.—The Children's Circle.
7:30—Adventures in Research, "Are There Sea Monsters."
7:45—Carolina Sports Review.
8—People under Communism.
9—Music Appreciation by Dr. William S. Newman.
10—Local news and coming events.
10:05—Evening Masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.

SATURDAY'S SCHEDULE:

7 p.m.—Sketches in Melody.
7:30—Treasure Island.
8—Paris Startime.
8:30—Folksongs and Footnotes.
9—Hill Hall Hour.
10—News and Coming Events.
10:05—Evening Masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.

CLASSIFIEDS

LOST

GOLD BOW-KNOT PIN LAST FRIday possibly in library or Fowler's. Reward. Call 9-5483. Charge 1x1

LOST: ONE PAIR OF GLASSES IN Alumni Building — Call James White—9-8000. 1-3465-2

LOST 12

CHILD'S SPECTACLES, BLUE RIM in Blue Leatherette case on Franklin Street, between Presbyterian Church and Boundary Street. Reward: Call Ann Branch at 9-1891. Charge 1x1

YOUR SHARE OF AMERICA IS GROWING BIGGER!

Now the Value of Your Maturing Series E Bonds Grows For Ten More Years...at 3% Interest

Do you have any United States Series E Defense Bonds maturing this month? Now they can still go on earning interest—at 3% compounded semiannually—for ten more years! And you need not do anything at all with your Bonds. The continued earning period is automatic.

The Bond you got for $18.75 can now pay you $33.67 . . . a $37.50 Bond will be worth $67.34 . . . and so on. Your return may amount to as much as 80% on your original investment!

This applies to all Series E Bonds—those you already own and those you're now investing in. Every Bond you invest in now starts earning interest sooner and matures earlier, too.

Any Series E Bond may still be redeemed at any time after you have held it for two months. But the smart thing to do is to hold on to your Bonds, as you hold on to savings in any form.

Are you one of the 7½ million Americans who are saving regularly with Defense Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan? Doing something concrete to make their dreams of the future come true? If not, why not start now? Invest in Bonds regularly through the Payroll Savings Plan in the shop or office where you work. It's one sure way to save because it saves something out of every check before you have a chance to spend it.

You may ask your pay office to save as little as 25c a week for you, or as much as you are able. If you can save just $5 a week regularly through the Plan, in five years you will have $1,367.90 . . . in 9 years and 8 months, you'll have $2,850.70 . . . in 19 years and 8 months, $6,872.45! All in safe, sure Series E Bonds.

No matter how small your income, you can't afford not to put something aside for yourself. So join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work today. Or, if you are self-employed, start the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank. Strengthen your own future and that of your country by saving your money through Bonds.

NOW EVEN BETTER!
INVEST MORE IN DEFENSE BONDS!

The U. S. Government does not pay for this advertising. The Treasury Department thanks, for their patriotic donation, the Advertising Council and

A&P Invites You to Save Money on Your Food

Ann Page Fancy Tomato KETCHUP - - - - 2 14-Oz. Bots. 35c

Ann Page Sparkle PUDDINGS - - - 3 4-Oz. Pkgs. 17c

Iona Sliced or Halves—California PEACHES - - - - - No. 2½ Can 27c

Ann Page Creamy Smooth PEANUT BUTTER 24-Oz. Jar 49c

Top Grade Only! Dependable Quality Always! A&P's "Super-Right" Meats

Super Right Choice Western Beef Bone-In Sirloin Steak Lb. 99c

Super Right Choice Western Beef 7-In Cut Boneless Rib Steak Lb. 99c

Super Right Shoulder Or Chuck Roast Boneless - - Lb. 79c

Loin End Pork Roast - - - - - Lb. 45c

Morrell's Pride Smoked Short Shank Pork Shoulder Picnics 4 To 6 Lb. Avg. Lb. 39c

Super Right Ground Beef - - - - Lb. 49c

Fresh Pork Back Bones - - - - - Lb. 45c

Morrell's Pride Smoked Short Shank Skinned HAMS 12 To 16 Lb. Avg. Half or Whole - - Lb. 65c

BUTT PORTION Lb. 57c — SHANK PORTION Lb. 49c

Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour 20-Oz. Pkg. 17c

Nabisco Premium Crackers 1-Lb. Pkg. 23c

Rinso Lge. Pkg. 27c Giant Pkg. 53c

Lux Toilet Soap 3 Reg. Bars 23c

Gerber's Strained Foods 3 4½-Oz. Jars 29c

Gerber's Junior Foods 8-Oz. Jar 14c

For Wide Variety, High Quality and Lowest Possible Prices, Pick A&P's Fresh Fruits & Vegetables

Size 54's Juicy Grapefruit 4 For 23c

Firm Fresh Size 4's Lettuce 2 For 23c

Crisp — Size 3's Celery - - Stalk 8c

Temple Oranges 2 Lbs. 17c

Fresh Pole Beans - - Lb. 23c

Crisp Carrots - Cello Pkg. Lb. 15c

Idaho Baking Potatoes 10 Lb. Bag 79c

Firm Slicing Tomatoes Ctn. 19c

Armour's Star or Libby's Potted Meat - - - - ½-Size Can 13c

Scott Paper Towels - - - - - 2 Rolls 35c

Ann Page Sparkle Gelatin Desserts - 3 Pkgs. 20c

Mild and Mellow 8 O'Clock Coffee - - 1-Lb. Bag 77c

Jane Parker Angel Food Ring - Each 49c

Duke's Mayonnaise - - - - Qt. Jar 33c

Grandma's Molasses - - - - - - 12-Oz. Jar 22c

Del Rich's Green and White Lima Beans - - - 2 No. 303 Cans 25c

Iona Cut Beets - - - - 2 No. 303 Cans 23c

Whole Kernel Niblet's Corn - - - 2 12-Oz. Cans 35c

Luscious Preserves at Thrifty Prices!

ANN PAGE PURE STRAWBERRY PRESERVES 2-Lb. Jar 59c

Air Wick - - - - - - - Bot. 59c

Spry Shortening 1-Lb. Can 31c 3-Lb. Can 85c

Breeze - - - Lge. Pkg. 30c Giant Pkg. 59c

Camay Soap - - - 3 Reg. Bars 23c

Oxydol - - - Lge. Pkg. 27c Giant Pkg. 65c

Spic and Span - - - 2 16-Oz. Pkgs. 47c

Facial Soap Woodbury - 3 Reg. Bars 23c

DEL MONTE FOODS

Delmonte Sliced Pineapple 20-Oz. Can 29c

Delmonte Sliced or Halves Peaches - - 29-Oz. Can 29c

Delmonte Pineapple Juice - - - - 46-Oz. Can 31c

Shortening Snowdrift 3-Lb. Can 85c

For Cooking Wesson Oil Qt. Bot. 63c

All Prices In This Ad Effective Thru Sat., Jan. 31st.

A&P Super Markets

Come See At A&P

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Cloudy and mild with 55 high. Yesterday's high, 56; low, 28.

The Daily Tar Heel

JETS
The air age has come of movie age. See The Livespike, p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 85 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

AF ROTC Review Will Honor Coeds

Navy Field Ceremony Scheduled Tuesday At 3 O'Clock; 19 Girls To Be Presented

Nineteen Carolina coeds will be presented as sponsors to units of the AF ROTC Wing during a formal review on Navy Field Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The first such organization to be established in this area, the Sponsor Corps was initiated to add to the esprit de corps of the ROTC unit and to assist in the planning and execution of social functions.

Members of the Sponsor Corps were selected from a field of 63 girls nominated by the various sororities and women's dormitories on campus. The basis for selection included beauty, brains, social graces and interest in aviation and air power.

The organization of the Sponsor Corps parallels that of the AF ROTC Wing, and is commanded by Diane Breslow, Rahway, N. J., who holds the rank of Honorary Cadet Colonel. Miss Breslow was elected to her office during the first meeting of the Sponsor Corps. Her staff is composed of Judy Landauer, Honorary Cadet Lt. Colonel, Red Hook, N. Y.; Dorothy Smith, Honorary Cadet Maor, Hickory, Pepper Stetson, Honorary Major, West Chester, Pa., and Sue Ambler, Honorary Major, Chicago, Ill.

sors, one for each of the ROTC

There are three groups spon-

Wing's three groups, who hold the honorary rank of Lt. Colonel. These are Mary Ellen Daniel, Coral Gables, Fla.; Judy King, Savannah, Ga., and Virginia Wilson, Jackson, Miss.

Squadron Sponsors, holding the honorary rank of Cadet Major include Betty Jean Schoeppe, St. Petersburg, Fla., for Squadron A; Sara Bostic, Gainesville, Ga., for Squadron B; Paige Moore, Charleston, S. C., for Squadron C; Jo Ann Yokeley, Mt. Airy, for Squadron D; Cathy Widman, Jacksonville, for Squadron E; Jane Costello, Bib Horn, Wyo., for Squadron F; Kitty Barton, Centerville, Md., for Squadron G; Pat Noah, Chapel Hill, for Squadron H; Sandy Donaldson, Wilson, for Squadron I; Mary Helen Crain, Durham, for the Band, and Ann Flemming, Raleigh, for the Drill Squadron.

'Princess Ida Opens Friday For 3-Day Run

In the words of Princess Ida, headmistress of the exclusively female university at Castle Adamant, "chaos rules again" as the Carolina Playmakers prepare for their colorful production of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Princess Ida," to be presented in Memorial Hall Friday through Sunday.

Mid-Gothic spears are stacked in a dressing room where recently Judith Anderson made ready for another brilliant performance of "John Brown's Body;" racks of bright costumes stand in another corner; and dozens of University students and townspeople can be heard at all hours and odd places, mumbling the lyrics of this masterful satire on mid-Victorian poetry, Wagnerian opera, feminism, and any other inanity of life that happened to catch Gilbert's eye.

"Princess Ida" is not a new undertaking of the Playmakers—the group did a highly successful production during the 1933-34 season, directed by Harry Davis, who is staging this season's touring production, "The Inspector General."

An intriguing feature of this production, and one which audiences will be unaware of, is the syllable sheet prepared by Dr. Wilton Mason of the Music Department, choral director for "Princess Ida" and co-author of last season's original

(See PRINCESS, page 4)

Away From Home

The YMCA will hold a general meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the building.

Students who have worked in summer projects in this country and abroad will tell of their experiences as well as offer information to those who desire to apply for similar employment this summer.

Campus Seen

Crowd congregating in front of Alumni Building to listen to hoot of unseen owl.

★

Three tittering tipplers disrupting the midnight show with loud comments and a running commentary.

★

Appealing looking little Girl Scout standing in front of post office in early morning to solicit for the March of Dimes.

Display Shows Bookbinding By Swedes

By Betty Johnson

A display of Swedish bookbinding is now in the lobby of the Library.

The display was arranged by George Bentley, a library administrative officer, in cooperation with the Swedish Association of Master Bookbinders, the Swedish Institute of Stockholm and the Swedish Embassy at Washington.

The books have been chosen primarily for the quality and beauty of their bindings, in order to give a picture of Swedish craftsmanship in bookmaking, library officials said.

Both hand-bound and machine volumes are included in the exhibit.

"As most Swedish books are published in paper covers, many publishers there have their own bookbinders who make high quality bindings for the books at a special price," a library news bulletin said. "Most books are available in three different editions, paper cloth or leather binding.

"The publishing companies, as well as the master bookbinders, often employ well-known artists to design the bindings for them. Some of the best known publishing houses have sent examples of their bookbinding to this exhibit."

The practice of Swedish booklovers of having their favorite volumes bound by a master bookbinder is rapidly disappearing because of the high costs of making hand-bound leather bindings, the bulletin said.

However, some book collectors in Sweden are still buying the custom-made bindings and some well-known master bookbinders have contributed volumes to the exhibit at the library.

1,000 Seek Teachers' Fellowships

A nationwide campaign to interest outstanding young men and women in the teaching profession moved into high gear this week as regional selection committees throughout the country began screening nearly 1,000 nominees for the National Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Program.

Applying to higher education the positive recruitment policies that have been followed for many years by business and industry, the Wilson Fellowship Program amounts to systematic coverage of the United States and Canada in attracting to teaching some of the talent that is being lost every year to the occupations and professions whose inducements seem more compelling and rewards more obvious.

Wilson Fellowships, Prof. Courtney Smith, national director of the program, said yesterday, "are awarded upon invitation only and only upon nomination by responsible members of the academic profession. The criteria for selection are the highest qualities of intellect, character and personality, with the selection committees looking mainly to the graduating classes of colleges and universities in making appointments."

In essence the program, established at Princeton University in 1945, enables members of the profession "to say to a group of highly qualified young men and women that they have confidence in their promise as teachers and scholars and that they are therefore extending to them an opportunity to find themselves intellectually, to try out their interests at the graduate level and thus to determine whether they wish to enter the profession of teaching and scholarship."

With the program's expansion on a nation-wide scale, the Wilson Fellowships have been underwritten by the 37 members of the American Association of Universities and by two recent foundation grants—$300,000 from the General Education Board and $500,000 from the Carnegie Corporation of New York, both for a five-year period. Earlier grants from the Carnegie Corporation for the Program as it operated under Princeton's direction totaled $150,000.

The Wilson Fellowships, 100 of which will be awarded this year, carry a guarantee of an adequate living for one year at any graduate school in the United States, Canada or abroad. Students in any college or university are eligible, but no student can apply for the awards that constitute signal academic honors for the recipients.

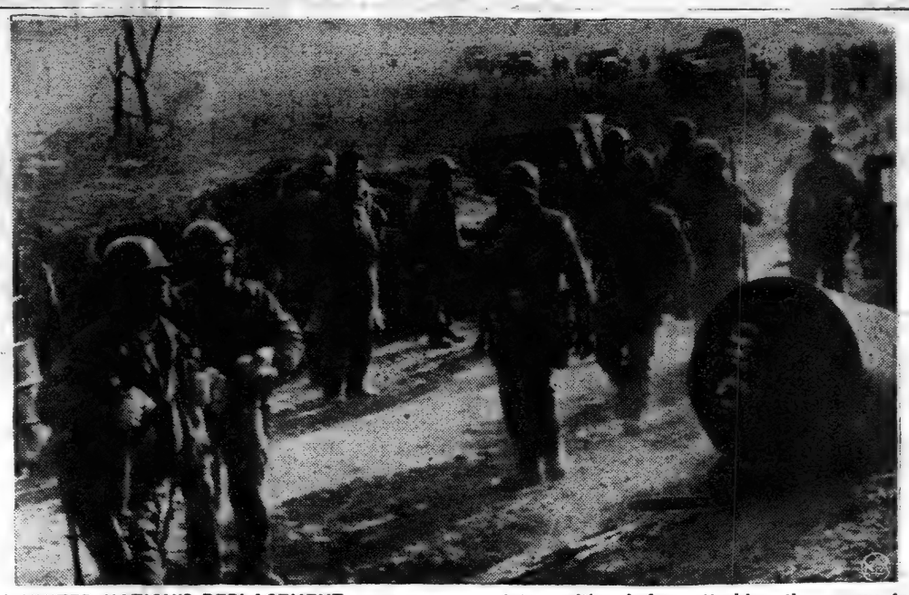
For the present, Prof. Smith said, "the fellowships are limited to those whose primary interests lie in the humanities or social sci-

(See TEACHERS, page 4)

Fusion Of Religion, Science Needed Today

The need to resolve the stresses and the strains in the world of today is a fusion of religion and science into a common unity.

This view was expressed at the University by Dr. Hugh S. Taylor, dean of the Graduate School of Princeton University, who spoke in Gerrard Hall this week on "Science and Religion: A Roman Catholic View." His appearance was sponsored by the University's Interfaith Council, a student organization whose purpose is "the deepening and strengthening of personal religious living through increased insight and understanding of one's religious faith."



"There is no necessary reason why a scientific world civilization need be sundered from a universal religious faith," Dean Taylor said. "The rationalism that is necessary to the ordering of the material world in the minds of men need not be divorced from a religious approach ordering human life towards spiritual ends."

Dr. Taylor, who is himself a physical chemist and an author of scientific books, declared that now that man's capacity for control over the material through science is becoming ever more potent, it is even more essential that he pursue with equal intensity the principles of a spiritual order.

"Unless we can ennoble the material realities that are available to us with the spiritual realities that are even more fundamental, the outlook is dark indeed. Our physical universe can go down into physical death unless we can at the same time make of it a sacramental universe. To do this we must make sacred our daily effort not only in the home, the school, the factory, but also in the laboratory," he said.

It is at the boundaries of science, where it can go no further into ultimate reality, that religion can take up the task, Dr. Taylor said, adding that together they can see life and see it whole.

The task of reconciliation, the fusion of devotion both to scientific and Divine truth, falls upon "those of us who recognize the duality of our nature, who think in terms not only of our bodies, but also of our souls," Dr. Taylor said.

A UNITED NATION'S REPLACEMENT company moves into position before attacking the enemy in "Operation Smack," the latest UN attack on T-Bone Hill in Korea. The attack, which was witnessed by newsmen and visiting military officers who were provided with printed "programs" of the operation, has aroused a storm of Congressional anger. The Congressmen are attempting to learn whether the attack was a bona fide military operation, or a staged "show" for high-ranking visitors. UN troops suffered heavy casualties.—NEA Telephoto.

Army Defends Battle As Not An Exhibition

SEOUL—The battle of T-bone Hill was being fought all over again here yesterday.

This time it was the entire Eighth Army Headquarters, not just a part of the Seventh Division. The Eighth Army defended controversial Operation Smack as a fully justified, well-planned but imperfectly executed military operation.

It was the military's answer to congressional criticism that the battle was a throwback to Roman gladiator shows.

Sunday's 150-man raid on the western Korean front "was in no way designed as a demonstration for spectator benefit," said a three-page statment from headquarters. The raid was witnessed by field commanders and newsmen who were give ngaily covered printed programs prior to the attack.

Meanwhile in Washington, the chairman of the Senate and House Armed Services Committees agreed afte rreading secret Army reports that the operation "was necessary for tactical reasons."

Three U. S. soldiers lost their lives and 61 were wounded while attacking an "enemy installation which threatened our forces."

The Eighth Army statement said: "In Operation Smack, two infantry platoons were used in co-ordination with the tanks, artillery and air. As is possible in any operation, certain things went wrong; co-ordination between the various elements was faulty and the operation failed of perfection."

It was also pointed out that the printed timetables were "no different materially" from briefing notes prepared for any operation using several service arms.

Part of the Congressional criticism seemed to arise because on one page of the time table the Army used the word "scenario," primarily a theatrica lterm.

Despite the fact that "certain things went wrong" the U. S. attackers succeeded in destroying Chinese Red bunkers, killing from 13 to 38 Reds and "probably wounding severa ltimes the number killed in action."

The America nforces proceeded o nschedule until the infantrymen neared the Communist bunkers and were caught in a vicious cross fire of machine guns.

Student Party To Nominate

Student Party will begin nominations for spring elections Tomorrow night, party chairman Lew Southern said yesterday.

The party is slated to meet at 8:30 in Roland Parker lounges of Graham Memorial.

Agenda includes nominations for Legislature seats from men and women dormitory districts, campaign manager and publicity coordinator.

THIS NEWSMAP LOCATES T-Bone Hill in Korea, site of a recent attack by members of the 7th Division. The attack was outlined in a prepared movie-type "scenario script" which was distributed to high-ranking military visitors and newsmen before the battle.—NEA Telephoto.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON — Four authoritative officials told Associated Press correspondant Jack Bell yesterday that President Eisenhower will receive strong support from Congress on an expected move to open the way for Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa to make forays against the Communist China mainland.

The President is expected to make an announcement in his state of the union message to Congress Monday he is releasing the Seventh Fleet from its duty in Formosa, thus also releasing Chiang's Nationalist troops for commando-type and possible air raids on Communist China.

★

WASHINGTON — Decisions on both economic controls and major moves in Korea were expected shortly from the White House as three nationally prominent men were contacted by President Eisenhower. Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) and Rep. Wolsott (R-Mich.) are to report to the president on the advisability of dropping or continuing price and wage controls, and Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy is conferring with Mr. Eisenhower on major Korean moves.

★

SEOUL—A U.S. Navy carrier task force and the battleship Missouri rained bombs and 16-inch shells yesterday on the key Communist port of Wonsan in an "all out" attack.

The "Mighty Mo", three American aircraft carriers, and supporting destroyers took part in the attack on the vital red supply center on Korea's east coast.

Seniors From High Schools Coming Here

Eighteen outstanding high school seniors will come to the University March 2-3 to be interviewed before the Central Committee of the John Motley Morehead Foundation as applicants for the four-year college scholarships.

Eighteen more candidates will be invited next week.

The candidates are the nominees from three of the foundation's six districts. Nominees were recommended to county committees by their school principals and have been screened by a district committee and recommended to the central committee which meets here.

The nominees are District 1 (Northeastern), Thomas J. Pearsall, Rocky Mount, District Committee Chairman. Tommie Leonard Bass Jr., Wilson; John G. Blount, Washington; James Gooden Exum, Snow Hill; David Hales Freshwater, Morehead City; Randall Leon Harrington, Ayden and John Mitchell Sewell, Murfreesboro.

District 3 (Southeastern), James H. Clark, Elizabethtown, District Committee Chairman. John Francis Monroe ,Council; Cecil Dewayne Tripp, Shallotte; Charles Ons Boyette, Chadbourn; Charles Joseph Schlapkohl, Fort Brabb; Harold Lee Waters ,Jacksonville, and Joseph Walter Best, Clinton.

District 4 (Northwestern), Archie K. Davis, Winston-Salem, District Committee Chairman. James Monroe Chamblee, Burlington; William Eugene Gramley, Winston-Salem; James Franklin Carlisle, Guilford; Samuel Fogle Wells Jr., Redsville; Lawrence Crumpler Walker Jr., Mt. Airy and Ralph Luther Bentley, Pores Knob.

Trustees' Selection Changed

RALEIGH, Jan. 31—(Special)—He thought a smaller group could do a better job.

Sen. R. Grady Rankin of Gaston, chairman of the 16-member Senate Committee on University Trustees has set up a sub-committee to screen nominations for election to the board. He called on the House Trustees committee to do the same.

The sub-committee would work jointly with a House sub-committee, if one is named, and the results of their work would be subject to approval by the full committees prior to transmittal to a joint meeting of the House and Senate. The elections actually are made in these bodies.

There are 27 or 28 seats to be filled on the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated University. Twenty-five result from the expiration of terms this year. Several Trustees whose terms do not expire have died, and this Assembly will fill those vacancies.

Holding its first meeting, the Sen ate committee adopted a suggestion by Sen. J. William Copeland of Hertford that "we deem it our duty to nominate one person, and only one, fo reach vacancy." Any other nominations, Copeland said, "should come from the floor of the joint session of the General Assembly when it is held."

The committee also approved a motion, advanced by Sen. Hamilton Hobgood of Franklin, that in consideration nominations the committee should take into account "proper representation" for Carolina alumni, for State College alumni, for Woman's College alumnae, for the public and for women (there is a statute requiring that at least three of the Trustees be women).

Hobgood's motion also called for "proper geographical representation" with "as many counties as possible being represented where capable persons are nominated and available."

Each nomination, Hobgood's motion said, must be accompanied by a detailed "summary of the nominee's past achievements and public service and qualifications."

Rankin was instructed to confer with Rep. Ben. Fountain of Edgecombe, chairman of the House committee, and request him to submit the same plan to his committee.

January 7 Rankin made it known he was opposed to the practice of naming legislators to the Consolidated niversity board. Several lawmakers agreed with him at the time of his speech.

On the subcommittee for the Senate, Rankin named Copeland, Hobgood, William B. Shuford of Catawba, Robert W. Proctor of McDowell and Edwin Pate of Scotland. Copeland is chairman.

Among the University Trustees whose terms expire this year is John W. Clark of Franklinville. Clark has been a stormy figure in student life and created quite a ruckus last year with his investigations into students' segregation views.

Others whose terms are up are Wade Barber of Pittsboro, Samuel M. Blount o fWashington, N. C., Victor S. Bryant of Durham, Gertrude Carraway of New Bern, Collier Cobb Jr. of Chapel Hill, George S. Coble of Lexington, Mrs. Laura Weil Cone of Greensboro.

John G. Dawson of Kinston, R. A. Maynard of Burlington, John Sprunt Hill of Durham, B. K. Lassiter of Oxford, John Q. LeGrand of Wilmington, Henry A. Lineberger of Belmont ,Mrs. Frances Newsome Miller of Raleigh, Glenn C. Palmer of Waynesville ,Edwin Pate of Laurinburg, James C. Pittman of Sanford, J. E. Ramsey of Salisbury, Roy Rowe of Burgaw, J. Benton Stacy

(See TRUSTEES, page 4)

Report Due

A complete report on the number of scholarships given at the University will be printed Tuesday in The Daily Tar Heel.

The report, a compendium compiled by Ed Lanier, director of Central Records, has been in the works since Fall Quarter. It was put together at the request of Trustees. State and Duke already made similar reports.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. — Beenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgrs. Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Assoc. Ed. Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood, Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Louis Kraar, Ken Barton, Alice Chapman, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Tom Parrimore, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Tom Peacock.

Washington Calling

A former chairman of the Psychological Warfare Board, President Gordon Gray will be well qualified to serve as a member of a new committee on American psychological warfare problems.

The committee will undertake to make the nation's strategy on the psychological level more unified and dynamic. With seven other prominent Americans, Gray will be serving the country in a most important way.

When the University lends its sons to the government ,it sends an ambassador of good will. While Gray serves the nation he also serves the University. It is good news that his job on the national front will not interfere with his duties on the home front.

Students Calling

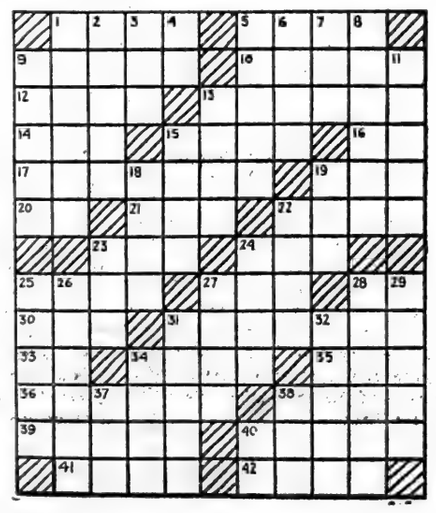
One of the best things about this University community is its friendly atmosphere, its cordial hospitality, and the generated feeling that everyone knows everybody else.

This seems to apply to relationships on the student level, moreso than on the faculty or administration level. Each year, some student leader wonders how studnts can get to know the University administration better, and vice-versa. Each year, some student committee works on faculty-student relations. Ths efforts emphasize the need for members of the University These efforts emphasize the need for members of th Univrsity —students, faculty, and administration, to acquaint themselves with one another.

The Daily Tarr Heel feels that there is this need particularly on the Consolidated University level. There is a need for a more informal acquaintanceship between the president of the Greater University and students from all three schools, Chapel Hill, W. C., and State. If students have an opportunity to talk informally to their consolidate dpresident, if only once a quarter, then the ties of understanding between the president and students will be much closer.

We suggest this because we feel that 90 per cent of the students here, at State, and at WC, don't know President Gray, and would like to get to know him. An informal gathering in the Morehead Faculty Lounge, would do much to solve this problem.

We feel that the president can better understand the role of students in the University's program if he has an opportunity to meet with them "after hours" in an unofficial way.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Ray
5. Church seats
9. Long for
10. Bay window
12. River (Eur.)
13. A thin, unbleached silk
14. Clamor
15. Lubricates
16. Samarium (abbr.)
17. Helps
19. Fuel
20. Music note
21. Short-napped fabric
22. American inventor
23. June bug
24. Pole
25. A celestial body
27. Untanned skin of a calf
28. From: prefix
30. Refuse of food
31. Issued an invitation
33. King of Bashan (Bib.)
34. Liberate
35. Particle of addition
36. To recapture
38. Pilaster
39. Stewed apples
40. Impels
41. Bound
42. Crucifix

DOWN
1. A surface injury
2. Merits
3. Hail!
4. Personal pronoun
5. Bodies of water
6. Sea eagles
7. Covering of false hair
8. Teeter
9. Pinaceous tree
11. Rental contract
13. Abysses
15. Glacial ridges
18. Metal
19. Deity
22. North American Indian
23. Speck
24. Cleave
25. Anchors
26. Syrup from sugar and almonds
27. Leg joint
28. Slightly depressed
29. Old Norse works
31. Vexed
32. Spanish dance
34. Confront
37. Parson bird
38. One of the people of Nigeria
40. Biblical city

Yesterday's Answer

— Norman Jarrard —

Books

Instead of reviewing a book today I want to make a few comments on an article by A. Z. F. Wood, Jr. which appeared in last Tupesday's Tar Heel. The article attacked the teaching of "obsolete" writers in English 82, using as a particulr point of departure Herman Melville and Moby Dick.

A. Z. F. Wood, Jr. attacked the teaching of a book such as Moby Dick but admits—brags—that he did not have "the courage to read" it. Also, he doesn't like to study transcendentalism, but admits, "I don't know what a transcendentalist is either." Personally, I don't like transcendentalism so much, either, as a philosophical position, but I will assert to the end the necessity of knowing something about it. It is absurrd to dismiss it without knowing anything about it, just as it is being unscientifically careless in not taking into consideratio nwhat others have to say about a particular problem.

Of more interest are the implications of the things A. Z. F. Wood, Jr. said about Moby Dick. Reflecting not so much on his intelligence as his taste, a person cannot be expected to have taste worth considering unless he has a certain minimum of intelligence. A. Z. F. Wood, Jr.'s taste is suspect when he groups Melville with Whittier and Lowell. If he can't see any difference between these writers then I doubt if what I have to say will make an ysense to him. As a high school junior I thought somewhat the same thing about certain American writers but thank goodness that in the years since then I was able to change my mind. A. Z. F. Wood, Jr. says "the American school-boy is crammed with their works before he even gets to college," leading me to think that he still holds views formed in high school. When I read Moby Dick in high school, as I say, I didn't like it, but not I think it is the best long piece of fiction written by an American (and it is hard to find anyone who knows anything about American literature who rates it much lower).

A. Z. F. Wood, Jr. goes on to call Melville a "classicist," which I take to be a solecism for "classic" rather than the word conventionally opposed to 'romanticist." Then ,he disparges "verbal" acrobatics in writing and speaks of "outmoded" styles of writing. It is here that he shows his complete misunderstanding of literature (as opposed to journalism, say). He says further, "writing as a whole has improved since 1850, Words and phrases are no longer ends in themselves. They are the means to the end of communication to the reader. They are tools and that's all." As a matter of fact his article itself shows that he doesn't practice what he preaches and that what he preaches is merely a rationalizatio nabout something he doesn't ike. His statement implies that poetry isn't poetry because of a particula rchoice of words. Ogden Nash, one of the "fine" writers which he mentions, relies upo nverba lacrobatics to an extreme; that is, the words are "ends i nthemselves." He also mentions Ernest Hemingway. (He recently wrote a story which has been superfically compared to Moby Dick, The Old Man and the Sea, which, if read by A. Z. F. Wood, Jr. was probabl yliked but also probably liked for the wrong reasons.)

There was a ma ncalled Shakespeare who lived a long time before 1850 and who had a way with words. If you whittled him down to the bare bones there wouldn't be much left. He is simply the greatest writer who eve rlived. If A. Z. F. Wood, Jr. had the job of editing Shakespeare to make him accord with the rule quoted above, I am afraid that the parts he would have to cut out would be the parts which make him great. As a matter of fact, there are many passages in the maligned Moby Dick which are Shakespearea nenough to bear comparison with Shakespeare. They both have a heightened feeling for words themselves and have wit, and wit depends on knowledge of, respect for, and the ability to use words themselves.

Even "Pogo" is what it is by virtue of its use of words as something a good deal more than mere "'tools"—but why go on beating a dead horse.

"Be With You In A Minute"

— Dorman Cordell —

Stewpot

Letter to the editor:

This old stuff over in the Reserve Reading Room has to stop. Let me tell you what happened.

The other night, I knew this girl would be in the Reserve Reading Room of the Library, so I strolled over to the Library just to say hello and make a date. Because you know how the phone systems are in the dorms.

Anyhow, there she was sitting at a table, and there were these two jerks on each side of her, not with her or anything, you see, but just studying. So I was forced to sit down across the table, where it would have bee na long reach if we had wanted to hold hands.

Well, down I sit and we start up the usual conversation about things and so on, and we are getting along pretty good considering we are clea racross the table from each other. But then one of the two dopes sitting by her looked up with a glare at me, like she was his girl o rsomething. But I just glare right back. (Any dope that would study in the library should be glared at anyhow.)

But this glaring business just keeps up, with one of the other of the guys looking up every few minutes.

Well, I don't go for that kind of stuff, so I decided to get away from it all, taking her with me of course, and we adjourned into the halls.

This is very inconvenient and all, for there aren't any chairs or seats or anything out there, and we have to sit on the steps leading upstairs, and a bunch of people who are too lazy to go around to the side stairs keep insisting on going up the front way and we keep having to move for them. So you see it is very inconvenient. (Personally, I would like to know why The Daily Tar Heel doesn't wage a campaign to stop all these inconveniences. After all ,you are supposed to be the students' newspaper, aren't you?)

Now, as if this isn't enough, we are just settled good and talking over a recent hilariously funny picture which sends everybody sitting on the steps into great gales of glee, when what should happen but some dopey old attendant comes charging out with signs suggesting that people should be quiet because somebody else is studying. Well, me, I always thought this was a land of the majority rules, and I think maybe the trustees are responsible for all this stuff, what with their trying to put in Saturday classes and everything. And anybody knows that the majority are against studying in the library.

You'l be glad to learn, however, that after all these troubles I finally managed to get a date. But I just wish The Daily Tar Heel would take some sort of action about making the Library more comfortable for dating, because a bunch of party poopers are making our lives hard. Rah, Rah, Carolina!

Yours truly,
Harold D. Whipple

(from the Idaho Argonaut, University of Idaho)

In many states when girls are 18 they are considered old enough to get married. In all states they are old enough to join one of the women's services. When a girl graduates from high school, she has her choice of going on to college, getting a job, or getting married.

It is assumed in all these instances she has enough sense and maturity of judgment to take care of herself.

Yet at the University of Idaho the "girls" are watched over like inmates of an institution. Their supervision is closely related to baby sitting. Names on the sign-out book are scrupoulously checked off as the girls report to their hosemothers not later than 10:30 p.m. and 1 a.m. on weekends.

If university coeds are treated like youngsters, chances are great they will act accordingly. If moral behavior is the excuse for setting a deadline to be in, I wonder who thinks students who plan to commit crimes of any sort couldn't do it just as well before the deadline.

It isn't that coeds want to stay out until the wee hours of the morning. They merely want to be treated like mature college women. Many girls have said they wouldn't stay out until the last minutes if they knew they didn't have to be in.

. . . There are so many instances which are completely reasonable and moral when coeds may not want to be in at the restricted time .

It seems a completely ignorant rule to set a time for college women to be in. Why not give them a chance to show how mature they are?

High above Cayuga's waters, a Cornel universily dormitory's dining facilities are subject to closure on short notice unless some 50 additional contracts are secured for lunch and dinners for the coming spring term. A new plan to make eating at the dorm a separate item from other accommodations brought people in droves but not to eat.

George Washington University must offer an excellent course in creative writing — and thinking. Events which may easily become humdrum from lack of imaginative, catchy titles are saved from this fate by such items as a "Miss Rag Doll" who plugged a Korean clothing drive, a sorority variety show dubbed the "Goat Show," and a sailing competition with two other universities cleverly labeled the "Frostbite Regatta."

— Rolfe Neill —

Livespike

"Breaking the Sound Barrier," opening Tuesday at the Varsity, has its good and bad points, but contains the compelling element which makes it a distinctive film.

The English producer utilizes a secondary plot to heighten interest in the movie's essential theme, man's attempt to thrust past the speed of sound. Excellent acting and fresh touches save the exhausted minor plot. The main plot is dynamic enough to carry itself, lagging at only one point. The second test run comes as an anticlimax to the first because of the repetition involved . . . a fault which in this case would be almost impossible to correct.

To one tired of glamorized clinches and camera closeups of panting, passionate embraces, the ove scenes are especially notable. They are tender, moving and responsive. One of the coziest scenes comes when aPtrick Nigel (a test pilot) takes his wife (Ann Todd) on a hop with him to Cairo to deiver a new jet. It's a unique twist, ove at three miles up.

"Breaking the Sound Barrier" is a nifty way to get your science and ike it. Lucid expanations of the technics of jet aircraft make the movie understandable from a mechanical point of view, but "Breaking the Sound Barrier" offers a bette reducation than a knowledge of jet engines. The camera affords an unequaled look into the Milky Way and gives a graphic geography lesson as well as impressing you with the maneuverability and speed of supersonic aircraft.

Filming this movie called for some tricky techniques. The answer? Film jets with jets. Air-to-air photography was done from a Vickers Valleta piloted by an ex-RAF pilot. The plane carried a movie crew of five with three cameras.

The human qualities of the film are better captured by the camera thn by the pen.

his movie is a tribute to the men whose quest was supersonic speed and Producer David Lean has done it sensitively an dsimply. Ralph Richardson, the top performer as an aircraft manufacturer who fails to understand his family and is misunderstood by them, is the man with the vision. Ann Todd, recently seen here in the re-release "The Seventh Veil," is Richardson's daughter. Her role as the wife of the test pilot is done warmly and understandingly. The test pilot whooshes along at a creditable clip, too.

As a suspenseful drama of man exploring the unknown, "Breaking the Sound Barrier" breaks some records o nits own.—R. & R.N.

— Dave Herbert —

Inquiring Reporter

This week's winning question, "What do you think of Senator McCarthy's proposed investigation of the Higher Institutions of Learning", was submitted by ——— who receives a merchandise certificate from the Town and Campus Clothing Store.

Here are some of the varied opinions received:

Senior—New York—"Wherever criticism is made against an investigation, I feel that there is where investigation should be held. If the colleges have nothing to hide why should they resent an investigation?"

Freshman—Greensboro — "McCarthy was born a trouble maker and headline seeked. This investigation which he has proposed is just his way of hiding his crooked doings by casting doubt upon others."

Junior-Coed—Durham — "Now that the question of alleged Communist infiltration into American educatio nhas come out, and as long as we follow the democratic rule of "innocent until proven guilty", I can see where an investigation made in an intelligent manner would do quite a bit in relieving doubt where there is some."

Senior-Coed—Raleigh—"I think that the American colleges and universities shoul dtake it upon gation themselves to do any investigatio nthat needs to be done. I believe that any committee appointed by the government to investigate educational subversive activities would be against the high ideals which has put our syste mamong the greatest in the world."

Graduate—Chapel Hill—"If any investigation is to be done I believe that it should be made in our primary and secondary systems. There is where minds have the greatest acceptance and the least resistance therefore almost anything that is taught is taken for granted, whereas in university a high state of critical analysis or learning, the mind is developed to at least should be)."

In viewing these interesting opinions we realize that while investigations of any type are apt to "cramp the style" of a system does not keep itself clean. However in this case cleanliness should not imply that our education should be one tracked. To the contrary it should be one in which we are exposed to all ways of life (this is where the senator seems to disagree) and through a nhonest analysis be shown why our American ssytem has never ceased to progress (in face of investigations).

Our educational challenge then is not to fight investigations but to make them unnecessary.

Send your questions and comments to Inquiring Reporter, Box 1080, Chapel Hill.

Cagers, Swim Team Take Conference Victories

Maddie High In 91-80 Win; Tar Heels Take 15th Contest

CLEMSON, S. S., Jan. 31 (Special)—Carolina's high riding Tar Heels played steady basketball to overcome a hot Clemson team here tonight, 91-80, and extend its Southern Conference victory string to 13-1.

Despite amazing accuracy from the floor that gave the Tigers a better-than-50 per cent first half shooting average, Clemson couldn't hold on to an early lead and Carolina closed fast at the half to command a 45-53 margin.

The Tigers took the opening tip-off, scored, and ran up a quick lead, but the Tar Heels stuck with them and were behind only two points, 21-19, at the end of the first quarter. With less than a minute left in the half Carolina poured in two quick baskets and went ahead for the first time in the game.

Carolina's Bud Maddie took scoring honors, making six field goals and nine free throws for 21 points before fouling out late in the fourth period. Tar Heel forward Al Lifson followed with 20, and Clemson's McCullough was high for the losers with 19.

The Tar Heels played consistently throughout the game and made 29 or 71 field goal attempts for a 40 per cent average.

Clemson's first half surge was largely because of guard Murray's eight field foals and one foul shot, 17-point first half total. Tar Heel Vince Grimaldi did an excellent job of guarding Murray in the second half and held him scoreless to relieve Carolina of the pressure.

Carolina	fg	ft	pf	tp
Maddie, f	6	9	5	21
Wallace, f	3	1	4	7
Vayda, f	5	2	3	12
Likins, c	2	5	5	9
Grimaldi, g	7	3	2	17
Lifson, g	4	12	3	20
Radovich, f	2	1	0	5
TOTALS	29	33	22	91
Clemson	fg	ft	pf	tp
McCullough, f	6	7	4	19
Ryan, g	5	1	4	11
Gage, c	4	3	4	11
Hicks, f	1	0	2	2
McGraw, c	1	2	5	4
Murray, g	8	1	3	17
Wells, g	0	1	2	1
Yarborough, g	0	1	2	1
Morrer, g	6	2	4	14
TOTALS	31	18	30	80

Score by quarters:

CAROLINA	19	26	25	21
CLEMSON	21	22	17	20

Half-time score: 45-43, Carolina.

State Tickets

Holders of passbooks ending in odd numbers will have tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday in which to exchange tickets from the books for reserved seats to the Carolina-N. C. State game in Woollen Gym on Saturday, Feb. 21.

Even-numbered passbooks may be exchanged on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. All tickets remaining after that will be put on sale to the general public.

Rifle Team Places Sixth In Tourney

Carolina's crack Naval ROTC rifle team finished sixth among 78 teams from 52 schools competing for the 1953 William Randolph Hearst Trophy, it was learned here this week.

The Carolina team compiled a team score of 919 out o fa possible 1000 points, just 11 points behind the first place team representing the NROTC unit of UCLA. Others finishing ahead of UNC were Oreggon State College, 929; University of Illinois, 928; University of Washington, 922; and the University of Pennsylvania, 920.

The Officer-in-Charge of the UNC team is Major Frank C. Caldwell, USMC, and the team is coached by T-Sgt. John A. Quinn, USMC. The five-man team is composed of Donald Lee Harley, Haddonfield, N. J.; Joseph F. Rosenberg, Troy, Ala.; John P. Jackson, Barnesville, Va.; Elon A. Abernethy, Jr., Blowing Rock; Raymond L. White, Columbus, Ga.

The Carolina team is now preparing for the important final leg of the Southern Conference ROTC Rifle Tournament of North Carolina which is to be fired at Davidson College on Saturday, Feb. 7. The UNC NROTC shooters are in second place in that competition and hoping to upset the AF ROTC team from N. C. State College which is now leading by 27 points .

Sooner Grid Series Made

A two-game football series with the University of Oklahoma was announced yesterday by the Athletic Department.

The Sooners will play in Chapel Hill on Sept. 24, 1955 and the Tar Heels will go to Norman, Oklahoma on Sept. 29, 1956.

The two teams have met one time, in the Sugar Bowl game, Jan. 1, 1949. The Sooners won that game, 14-6.

'Greatest In Southern History' Says Coach Casey Of NC Swimmers

By Julian W. Scheer

Coach Ralph Casey doesn't mind putting the whammy on his Carolina swimming team. "It's the greatest in Southern swimming history, the University's finest, and if we get beat, it'll be an upset," he says with unusual, news-making candor.

There is little chance of such an upset this season. The Tar Heels face a powerful Florida team here next Saturday in Bowman Gray Pool and will be favored to take victory number seven for the season. Already Duke, V.M.I., Bainbridge Navy, Georgia Tech, Davidson and Virginia Tech have lost challenges to the Tar Heels.

A quintet of seniors form the nucleus of the splendid Tar Heels. Backstroker Buddy Baarcke, breaststroker Barry Wall, sprinters Stan Tinkham and Buddy Heins, and all-around ace Donnie Evans have been the big guns in the Tar Heels' attack.

Success Synonomous

for the Tar Heels has been sy-

The success of the Big Five nonomous with the team's. Ac freshmen the group was unde feated in eight meets, as sophomores they helped win twelve in a row and as juniors they added another twelve. Put those victories with the six in 1952-53 and the Tar Heels' aces haven't lost in 38 straight meets.

There are other big helpers in the cause, including Jack Edwards, Joe Kelso, Larry Shannon, Warren Heeman, Smith Jewell. However, the Big Five has furnished 80 per cent of the Tar Heels' victory power.

Casey says that the current Tar Heel team is better than the 1949 team he coached which boasted such stars as Jimmy Thomas, Norm Sper, and Dick Twining. The '49 team lost a close meet to Ohio State, the National Champions, and finished high in the NCAA meet itself. The '52-53 team is stronger down the line, ranks among the top five intercollegiate aggregations in the nation along with Yale, Ohio State, Michigan and Stanford.

The team holds or has bettered every Southern Conference record in the books except the 220 and 440-yard freestyle events and Jimmy Thomas' 200-yard backstroke record.

The Big Five's accomplishments run something like this:

Donnie Evans of Charlotte—200 breaststroke time better than conference mark; individual medley time faster than conference record; formerly held conference 440 freestyle mark; competed in Olympic trials last summer; member freestyle relay team which holds the conference record; co-captain of team.

Buddy Baarcke of Birmingham, Ala.—member both the crack freestyle and medley teams; conference 7100 and 200 backstroke champion; has won several races in big meets, including a victory in the famed Georgia Peach meet last summer.

Barry Wall of Washington, D. C.—member 150 medley team with Thomas and Heins which holds American record; UNC medley relay team; conference breaststroke champion.

Stan Tinkham, Washington, D. C.—member conference championship freestyle and medley relay teams; veteran freestyler; co-captain of team.

Buddy Heins of Sanford—coholder conference 50 freestyle record; member freestyle relay tam which holds conference rec ord; member medley relay team which holds American record.

Good Chance

The Tar Heels have a good chance in NCAA competition this season with the freestyle relay-team of Edwards, Heins, Baarcke and Evans, the medley relay team of Baarcke, Wall and Edwards, Evans in the breaststroke and individual medley, Heins in the sprints with Edwards, Baarcke in the backstroke and Kelso in the high board diving.

Wrestlers Cop Second Victory, 20-8

CHARLESTON, S. C. Jan. 31 (Special)—The Carolina wrestling team evened its record at two wins and two losses here Thursday night by pinning The Citadel, 20-8, in a Southern Conference match .

The Tar Heels won six of the eight matches with Captain Ed Haines gaining the most Carolina points on a pin of Joe Abeynious in the 137-pound class.

The summary:

123—Harry Pawlik (UNC) decisioned Fred Scheneckel, 8-0.

130—Bill Barnes (C) decisioned Gordon Forrester, 3-0.

137—Ed Haines (UNC) pinned Joe Abeynious.

147—Guy Blakely (C) pinned Austin Stevens.

157—Tom Stokes (UNC) decisioned Ray Rich, 12-8.

167—Harvey Bradshaw (UNC) decisioned Ernie Jantzen, 11-7.

17(—Miles Gregory (UNC) decisioned Bill Williams, 7-2.

nlimited—Andy Holt (UNC) decisioned Jack Cantrell, 8-4.

FRED SAIGH, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, whirls back into the United States Marshall's office as he sees a battery of press photographers waiting for him in the corridor after it was announced that he had been sentenced to serve 15 months in prison and fined $15,000 on tax-evasion charges.—NEA Telephoto.

Tar Heels Take All First Places In Drubbing Davidson, 55-30

DAVIDSON, Jan. 31—The Carolina swimming team established two Southern Conference dual meet records and took every first place here today as they defeated the Davidson Wildcats, 55-30.

Coach Ralph Casey entered but on Tar Heel in each event, and every Carolina man took top honors.

The most notable performance of the meet was turned in by cocaptain Donnie Evans as he swam the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:22.5. This established a new SC dual meet record, a new University record, and a new pool record at Davidson. Evans set the previous University record a month ago at Bainbridge.

Jack Edwards swam the 100 yard freestyle in 52.4 seconds to establish a new SC dual meet record and a new pool record.

The other three records were pool records. Larry Shannon swam the 440 yard freestyle in 5:03.7. This is Shannon's best performance this year.

Warren Heeman got in on the record breaking when he swam the 150 individual medley in 1:38.6. Heeman usually swims the backstroke event.

Buddy Heins missed tying his SC SC dual meet record in the 50 yard dash by one-tenth of a second but he still established a new pool mark at 23.5 seconds.

Gill ,Kelso, and Linker also turned in good performances in winning the other individual events. The Tar Heels will swim the University of Florida on Saturday, Febbuary 7 in the Bowman-Gray pool. Florida is rated as the best team in the Southeastern Conference, so it should be the closest meet for the Tar Heels this year.

Official Results:

300 yard medley relay: UNC (Jewell, Tinkham, Widoff) Time: 3:11

220 freestyle: 1. Gill (UNC) 2. Ormand (D) 3. Cole (D) Time: 2:24.3

50 freestyle: Heins (UNC 2. Abernathy (D) 3. Patten (D) Time: 23.5 (New poo record)

150 Individual medley: 1. Heeman (UNC) 2. Abernathy (D) Time: 1:38.6 (New pool record)

Diving: 1. Kelso (UNC) 2. Hull (D) Score: 87.3

100 freestyle: 1. Edwards (UNC) 2. Golding (D) 3. Patten (D) Time 52.4 (New SC dual meet and new pool record)

200 backstroke: Linker (UNC) 2. Bryan (D) 3. Ormand (D) Time: 2:25.3

200 breaststroke: 1. Evans (UNC) 2. Crone (D) Time: 2:22.5 (New SC dual meet, University, and pool record)

440 freestyle: 1. Shannon (UNC) 2. Coe (D) 3. Hicks (D) Time: 5:03-.7 (New pool record)

400 yard freestyle relay: UNC (Gill, Jewell, Widoff, Heeman) Time: 3:52.0.

MURALS

Tomorrow's Basketball

4:00—Court 1, Winston-3 vs Joyner-3; Court 2, Ruffin-1 vs Aycock-2; Court 3, PiKA-1 vs Kap Sig-2; Court 4, ATO-1 vs Zeta Psi-4; Court 5, Sig Chi-1 vs Sig Nu-3; Court 6, Sig Chi-2 vs Pi Kap Phi-2; Court 7, Sig Nu-2 vs Chi Psi-2.

5:00—Court 1, AK Psi vs Theta Chi-2; Court 2, Kap Psi-1 vs TEP-2; Court 3, Phi Gam-2 vs PiKA-2; Court 4, Beta-2 vs Phi Delt-3; Court 5, Lamb Chi-2 vs Theta Chi-1; Court 6, Beta-3 vs SAE-3; Court 7, Lewis-1 vs Cobb-2.

7:00—Court 1, ZBT-1 vs SPE-1; Court 2, ATO-3 vs DKE-1; Court 3, PiKA-3 vs Phi Delt Chi-2; Court 4, Chi Phi-2 vs Zeta Psi-1; Court 5, Phi Gam-4 vs ZBT-2; Court 6, Lewis-4 vs Alexander-2; Court 7, Graham-2 vs BVP-2.

8:00—Court 1, Sig Chi-3 vs SPE-2; Court 2, DKE-2 vs Chi Psi-3; Court 3, Pi Kap Phi-1 vs Sig Nn-1; Court 4, Phi Kap Sig-2 vs Phi Delt-2; Court 5, Cobb-4 vs Grimes-1; Court 6, Kap Sig-3 vs Kap Psi-2; Court 7, TEP-1 vs Phi Kap Sig-1.

Tomorrow's Table Tennis

4:00—TEP-1 vs Phi Gam-1; 4:40—SPE-2 vs Beta-1; 5:20—Sig Chi-2 vs SPE-3; 7:00—Med Sch-2 vs Cobb; 7:40—Kap Sig-5 vs Lamb Chi; 8:20—Med Sch-3 vs Ruffin.

Lifson Leads Cagers' Win At Davidson

Carolina's Tar Heels remained in first place in the Southern Conference by defeating a punchless Davidson squad, 73-52, Friday night in Davidson.

Forward A Lifson was the game's high scorer with 16 points, followed by Davidson's captain, Joe Dudley, with 14 .

Carolina didn't allow the Wildcats a field goal in the first period, and commanded a 24-6 lead in the second. Davidson held the score down by playing control basketball and slowing the fast-breaking Tar Heels. Davidson hit only 11 per cent of its field goal attempts.

Carolina

TODAY AND MONDAY

Daphne du Maurier's best seller comes alive on the screen!

20th Century-Fox presents Olivia de Havilland two-time Academy Award winner, in her greatest portrayal "My Cousin Rachel" with the exciting new star discovery RICHARD BURTON and Audrey Dalton • Ronald Squire • George Dolenz John Sutton • Tudor Owen • J. M. Kerrigan Produced by NUNNALLY JOHNSON Directed by HENRY KOSTER Screen Play by NUNNALLY JOHNSON From the Novel by Daphne du Maurier

ALSO

COLOR CARTOON—NEWS

TUXEDOES
Group of
AFTER-SIX
$39.50

SWEATERS
CASHMERE BLENDS
$9.95

TIMELY
SPORT COATS
Were $55.00
now $42.50

Large Selection of
SPORT COATS
$29.95

SHOES
GROUP OF FLORSHIEMS
Were $19.95 Now $15.95
GROUP OF FRENCH SHRINERS
Were $19 95 Now $19 95
WHITE BUCKS by French Shriner
Were $17 95 Now $12.95

THE ONE ANNUAL Clearance You've Waited For

HARRIS TWEED TOPCOATS
were $65.00 now $49.00

IMPORTED DOMESTIC FLANNEL
SUITS
Were $59.50
Now $48.75

GABARDINE FLANNEL SHETLAND
SUITS
Were $69.50
Now $ 56.95

TIMELY PLATEAU
TOP COATS
Were $69.50
Now $56.95

SALE

IMPORTED
Shetland Suits
by TIMELY
Were $75.00
Now $59.95

IMPORTED
FLANNEL and TWEED
SUITS
Were $65.00
Now $54.95

Julian's College Shop

Harris Tweed
SPORT COATS
Special Group
$33.95

Group All Wool
ARGYLE SOX
Were $3.95
Now $2.69

SLACKS
Group All-Wool Gray Flannels
$8.95
Flannel and Gabardine at Substantial Savings

Special Group
ALL-SILK TIES
Were $2 50
Now $1.49

Special Group
WOMEN'S CASHMERE SWEATERS
Reduced 25%

—Teachers—

(Continued from Page 1)

ences, where the problem of academic personnel is most acute, and to those who have not yet begun formal graduate work in those areas. Acceptance of a fellowship entails no obligation to enter the academic profession, for the program's sponsors only ask that the fellow give the possibilities of teaching his most serious consideration."

In the current competition, that is being administered through a regional organization, including all 48 states as well as the provinces of Canada, 1,263 nominations have been made from approximately 350 institutions in the United States and Canada. Nearly 1,000 of the nominees have declared themselves candidates for the fellowships.

The 12 regional selection committees, headquartered in conveniently located university centers, will personally interview the more promising candidates. The credentials of those successful at the regional level will be forwarded to the national committee for final selection, with the public announcement of the awards being made by the national program director, prof. Smith, in early April.

Members of Region VI are Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North and South Carolina and Tennessee. The committee is composed of Dean Arnold K. King, University of North Carolina, chairman, and Profs. Richard L. Predmora and Avery Leiserson of Duke and Vanderbilt Universities respectively.

—Trustees—

(Continued from page 1)

of Ruffin, Kenneth S. Tanner of Spindale, an dE. Leigh Winslow of Hertford.

Governor Umstead's term also expires, but as governor he will be chairman of the board and therefore not a candidate for re-election.

NOW! EXCLUSIVE

"LA RONDE" IT'S HERE

A RARE TREAT! THE MERRY GO ROUND OF LOVE

FRANCES' GREATEST FILM

SUNDAY SHOWS AT 2-4:10 & 9 p.m.

Special Rates for Students

ASTOR—DURHAM

ICE CAPADES OF 1953

THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE

Mail order for tickets

COLISEUM IN RALEIGH

WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM

N. C. State College—P. O. Box 3965

RALEIGH, N. C.

Children ½ Price Friday Matinee Only

Mon. Eve. Feb. 16 ☐
Tue. Eve. Feb. 17 ☐
Wed. Eve. Feb. 18 ☐
Thur. Eve. Feb. 19 ☐
Fri'd. Mat. Feb. 20 ☐
Fri'd. Eve. Feb. 20 ☐
Sat. Mat. Feb. 21 ☐
Sat. Eve. Feb. 21 ☐

Enclosed is $_____ for _____ tickets at $_____ each

Price: $3.00 $2.50 $2.00 $1.50

Name _____ Address _____

City _____ State _____ Phone No. _____

PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS

Valentine Flowers

FOR YOUR BEST SELECTION

ITS MADE IN

UNIVERSITY FLORIST

Robbins Bldg

S-A-L-E

WHILE THEY LAST

ALL-WOOL ARGYLE SOX

Regular $2.95-$3.50 Values

SALE ..... $2.00 & $2.95

TOWN & CAMPUS

SALE

RECORDS --

ABERNATHY'S

207 E. Franklin St.

9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

What Goes On Here

Cosmopolitan Club

The Cosmopolitan Club will meet at 4 p.h. today in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial.

UN Committee

The UN committee will meet at 7 o'clock tonight in the Y Library.

Fort Bragg Show

There will be a rehearsal for the Red Cross Ft. Bragg show in the Rendezvous Room tonight from 7 until 8:30. All old members and interested persons are invited to attend.

Handbook

A meeting will be held Monday afternoon at 4:30 in the YMCA information office for all students interested in being on the staff of The Carolina Handbook. Photographers, make-up artists, writers, and business personnel are needed.

IDC

The Interdormitory Council meets tomorrow night at 7 o'clock, 203 Alumni to discuss by-laws.

New Pledges

Alpha Sigma chapter of Chi Psi fraternity has announced the pledging of four new members during the Winter rushing. They are Pete Dannenbaum, Wilmington, Bob Dantzler, Burlington, Gene Neilson, Aiken, S. C., and Charles Shelton, Mayfield, N. Y.

WUNC Sunday

7 p.m.—Sunday Show Time.
7:30—Oliver Twist.
8—University Hour.
8:30—Chicago Roundtable.
9—Musician Comments.
9:15—Symphony Hour.
10—News and coming events.
10:05—Evening masterwork.
10:45—Sign Off.

Monday on WUNC

7 p.m.—Stories 'n Stuff.
7:30—Adventures in Research.
7:45—Songs of France.
8—People Act.
8:30—Voices of Europe.
9—British Concert Hall.
10—News and coming events.
10:05—Evening masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.

University Club

The University Club will meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow in Roland Parker No. 3, Graham Memorial. Dormitories, fraternities and sororities are asked to send representatives.

Campus Chest

The Board of Directors of the Campus Chest will meet tomorrow at 5 p.m. in the Y.

CLASSIFIEDS

LOST 12

GOLD BOW-KNOT PIN LAST FRIday possibly in library or Fowler's. Reward. Call 9-5483. Charge 1x1

CHILD'S SPECTACLES, BLUE RIM in Blue Leatherette case on Franklin Street, between Presbyterian Church and Boundary Street. Reward: Call Ann Branch at 9-1891. Charge 1x1

LOST—PHI DELTA THETA PIN bordered with pearls and rubies, initials R.B.L. on back. If found please notify Brooke Lawson at Phi Delta Theta house. Reward.

DROPPED TITLES AT 68¢

Check the Titles You's Like

—Mary Garden's Story—Published at $1.00.

—Happy Holiday—A whacky travel folder, published at $1.00.

—Jackson Mahaffey—A tale of North Carolina cock-fighting, Published at $3.00.

—Uncle Julius and the Angel With Heartburn. Delightful warm humor. Published at $1.00.

—The Careless Clock. Poems by Mark Van Doren. Published at $3.00.

Bring the list in, and take what you like at only 68c per book!

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

IN YOUR CHURCH

By Tom Neal Jr.

Baptist

Emily Barrow, former UNC student, will have charge of the program tonight at BSU supper forum. Mrs. Barrow will speak on "Classification of the Books of the Bible, According to Literary Form." A short discussion will follow the talk, which is second in a series of student-led programs on the origin of the Bible.

An interdenominational devotional service for students is held Monday-Friday at 1 p.m. in Gerrard Hall. Sponsored by the BSU, this 10-minute period of meditation is led by students; it offers spiritual refreshment in the middle of a busy day.

Christian Science

"Love" is the topic of the lesson-sermon in Christian Science churches throughout the world today. The local organization meets every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in New West.

Golden text is from Jerimiah: "Let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lord which exercise lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth."

Lesson-sermons read at Christian Science services include citations from the Holy Bible and from Science and Health, the denominational textbook.

Congregational-Christian

The United Student Fellowship discussion is at 10 o'clock this morning. The sermon at 11 a.m. is entitled "The Acid Test."

The USF members will be served a Chinese supper at 6 p.m. today in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jackson, former missionaries to China. Students will be oriented in the use of chopsticks at that time. Following the supper hour, a discussion will be led by Martha Shaeffer and Eberhard Kingegar, German students at the University.

Roman Catholic

The regular supper meeting of the Newman Club is scheduled for Wednesday at 6 p.m., at Lenoir Hall. The speaker in the current series on "Catholic Courtship and Marriage" is Dr. Hugh Taylor.

Lutheran

The Rev. E. C. Cooper, Ph.D., pastor of the Chapel Hill Lutheran Chursh, and pastor to Luehtran students at the University, will offer a "Teaching-Preaching Mission" this morning at the regular 11 o'clock service. St. John's Gospel will serve as the basis of the study. Episodes in the public ministry of Jesus, from His first official act of 'cleansing the temple' until His final entry into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday when He was hailed King of the Jews, will be considered in sequence. The program will continue over the period of nine Sundays, from now until Easter.

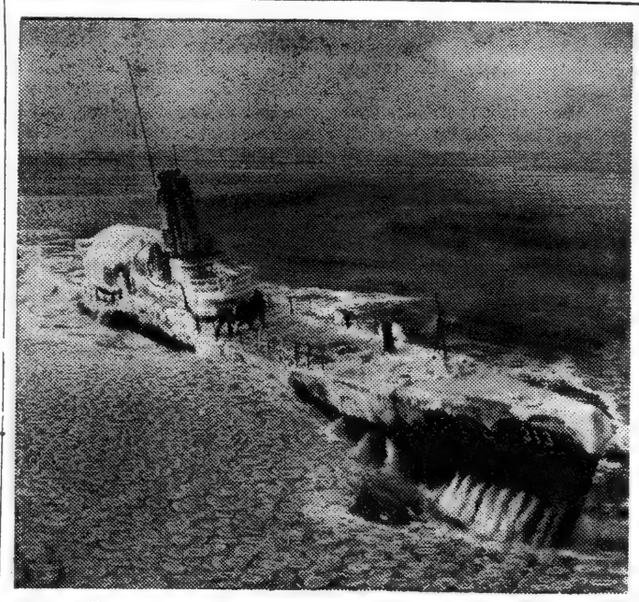
Dr. Cooper is a graduate of Roanoke College, Salem, Va. He has his master's degree from Princeton. His undergraduate training for the ministry was received at Mt. Airy Lutheran Seminary, Philadelphia. His graduate work was done in residence at Mt. Airy Seminary and at Harvard (Conn.) Seminary. He obtained his Ph.D. at Hartford.

In active ministry, Dr. Cooper has served pastorates in Lynchburg, Va., Philadelphia, Pa., Albemarle and Shelby. He was Field Missionary in Western North Carolina for five years. He served as first full-time Chaplain in the N. C. State Prison system with headquarters at Central Prison, Raleigh, with oversight of religious services over the state. From 1939-1945 Dr. Cooper was president of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Columbia, S. C.

The new Lutheran Church was erected under Dr. Cooper's leadership.

Unitarian

"Freedom in the Modern World" will be the topic of the Unitarian Fellowship's meeting tonight with Dr. L. O. Kattsoff of the Department of Philosophy as speaker. The meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the YWCA lounge.



—Princess—

(Continued from page 1)

musical, "Spring for Sure."

In the interest of clarity, Dr. Mason uses the run-on syllable system developed by Fred Waring, which has proved to be most effective, is a little hard on the singers who have somehow become accustomed to singing words instead of syllables.

The combined efforts of cast, costumers, set and lighting designers, all under the direction of William M. Hardy of the Playmakers staff, promise to make this production of "Princess Ida" a highlight of the Chapel Hill season that will provide its audiences with excellent entertainment.

Pancake Ice in the silent Alaskan sea swell

WATER FREEZING INSTANTLY on the deck of a submarine and on the tank which holds the landing craft abaft the conning tower. The scene is one of cold and quiet as the crew of the USS Perch tests the possibilities of amphibious landings by submarine in Arctic waters.

The work these men are doing is testing and research for the future protection of us and our country. We can do something toward the protection of that future, too—investing in United States Defense Bonds. For by Bonds and other forms of saving, we're building up our personal prosperity and security. And when we're financially secure, we're building up America's economic strength just as the Navy men are supporting her armed strength. You know, peace is only for the strong!

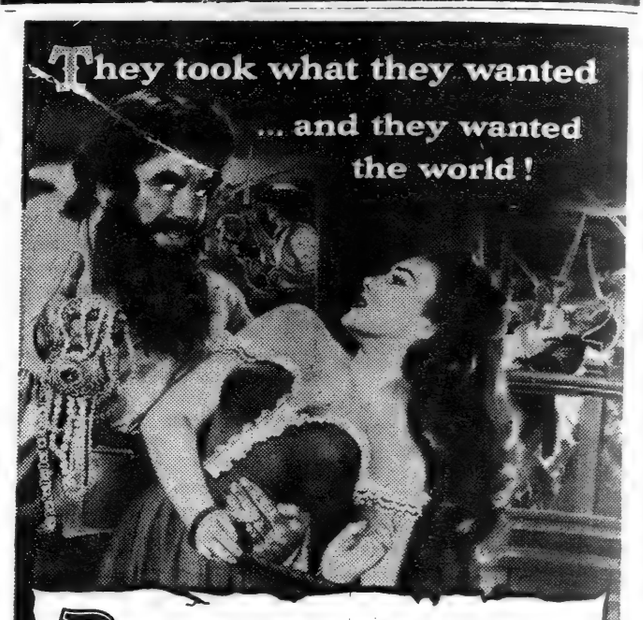
The chances are you're one of the 43,000,000 Americans who own Series E Defense Bonds. Are you one of the 7½ million who invest in them regularly through the Payroll Savings Plan? If not, why not start now? Save your money safely and systematically through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. You'll find it's one sure way to save. So join the Plan today—or invest through the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank. Help make a better future for yourself and for your country by saving your money through Bonds.

Playmakers Set Tryouts

Tryouts for Bertholdt Brecht's drama of good and evil, "The Good Woman of Setzuan" will be held in the Playmakers Theater Tuesday, at 4 and 7:30 p.m.

In a translation by Eric Bentley, the play has been adapted by director Kai Jurgensen, assistant director for the Playmakers, to 24 roles, requiring a total of 15 players, both men and women. These tryouts are open to anyone interested, and scripts are on reserve at the Library for those who want to read the play in advance.

"The Good Woman of Setzuan is scheduled for five evening performances Feb. 25 through March 1.



Badminton

Co-recreational badminton meets Monday nights from 7 until 9 o'clock. Beginners and experts are invited to attend.

PEPSI-COLA

DURHAM PEPSI-COLA BOTTLING CO.

305 South St. Durham

BLACKBEARD THE PIRATE

color by TECHNICOLOR

starring

ROBERT NEWTON

LINDA DARNELL · WILLIAM BENDIX

with KEITH ANDES · ALAN MOWBRAY

RKO RADIO

PLUS LATEST 'MR. MAGOO' CARTOON

TODAY and MONDAY

Varsity

LaMarick's Cold Wave Special!

LaMarick Custom Creme Oil Cold Waves . . . Nationally famous professional permanent.

$12.50 Value

$5.95

LaMarick Deluxe Creme Oil Wave for softer, longer lasting permanent.

$15.00 Value

$6.95

LaMarick Super Deluxe Creme Oil Frigid Cold Wave . . . new, natural-looking permanent.

$25.00 Value

$9.95

MR. ANGELO

IN OUR DURHAM SALON

EACH PERMANENT WAVE INCLUDES

★ Personality Hair Cut
★ Shaping, Tapering, Thinning
★ Reconditioning Shampoo
★ Scientific Test Curls
★ Oil Neutralizer
★ Helene Curtis Creme Rinse
★ Setting
★ Free Consultation on All Work

We feature only professionally and nationally advertised products, or products by nationally known manufacturers such as Fashion-Wave by Helene Curtis, Roux, Breck, Clairol, Revlon, Flex-Wave and LaMarick Frigid Cold Wave.

All permanents individually priced and opened before you. This is for your protection as our customers. Request this always in your beauty salon.

Belk-Leggett Beauty Salon

PHONE DURHAM 29201

Hudson-Belk Beauty Salon

PHONE RALEIGH 3-1726

LaMARICK SHOPS

U N C Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

WEATHER
Cloudy with possible showers with 52 high. Yesterday's high, 46; low, 34.

The Daily Tar Heel

BOOM
Pyrotechnics and that stuff is passe, say the editors. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI NUMBER 86 CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1953 FOUR PAGES TODAY

Grants To Athletes Here $100,632; Undergraduates Get Half As Much

THE ISLAND OF FORMOSA, last-ditch stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, may soon be turned into a springboard for an attack on the Communist-held Chinese mainland. U. S. government sources said that President Eisenhower may be planning to lift the U. S. Naval ban against Nationalist attacks, freeing Chiang's troops for commando raids against the Reds. The large map shows the location of Nationalist air and naval installations on the island while the inset graphically indicates the short distance Formosa is from China.—NEA Telephoto.

$76,835 Goes To 64 Grads As Study Aid

Grants and scholarships to 144 athletes here averaged -698.83 this year, ranging from $50 to $1,200. Non-athletic grants to 289 undergraduates averaged $184.72.

All the athletic grants, valued at $100,632, were contributed from private sources but were awarded by the University.

This information comes from a comprehensive report released to the press this morning. The report was compiled by Central Records Director Edwin E. Lanier upon instruction by Chancellor R. B. House.

Chancellor House, in referring to the grants to athletes, pointed out, "Not a cent of these funds comes from University appropriations, student fees or athletic gate receipts."

The University awarded a total of 497 scholarships and grants during the year—144 to athletes, 289 to undergraduate non-athletes and 64 to graduate students. The non-athletic grants are divided thus: $53,385 to undergraduates and $76,-835 to graduate students.

Of the $100,632 awarded to athletes, $98,532 (for 140 of the 144 athletic grants) was contributed by the Educational Foundation, an organization of University alumni and friends whose primary purpose it is to give financial aid to students participating in athletics. The Foundation also gave funds for 14 scholarships for non-athletes, the report shows.

The Monogram Club, out of proceeds earned at the Blue and White football game, offers two $300 scholarships. The endowed Charlie Justice Scholarship, valued at $1,-000, and 39 canteen grants, totaling $2,400 were also awarded.

Chancellor House's study shows that 558 students earned $329,145 in University self-help jobs—varying from graduate assistants to dishwashers. The undergraduate students in these jobs numbered 541 and the graduates 47.. There were loans, bearing three per cent interest, to 77 different students totaling $42,640.

"The University is grateful to the Educational Foundation for its $100,000 contribution. It is awarded, through the University Scholarship Committee, as grants to students participating in athletics," Chancellor House said.

"This contribution has enabled the University to award its limited number of endowed scholarships to non-athletes. We need more endowed scholarships, and we point with pride to what is perhaps the

(See GRANT, page 3)

CHANCELLOR HOUSE
. . . a report released

Review Today By AF ROTC For 19 Coeds

Nineteen campus cuties will be honored today for their vitality.

The coeds will be presented as sponsors to the units of the AF ROTC wing during a formal review to be held on Nacy Field a 3 p.m. The public is invited to the ceremony.

Formally known as the Sponsor Corps, the organization is the first such to be established in this area, according to Cadet Colonel Charles M. Winston, commanding officer of the University's First AF ROTC Wing. It was organized to add to the esprit de corps of the unit and to assist in the planning and execution of social functions.

Members of the Sponsor Corps were selected from a field of 63 girls nominated by the various women's residence houses on campus. Basis for selection, Winston said, was beauty, brains, social graces, and interest in aviation and air power.

Dee Breslow, a vivacious, poodle cut miss from Rahway, N. J., commands the Sponsor Corps.

Story Source Is Corrected

A story run in Friday's Daily Tar Heel attributing statements about Saturday classes to Dean C. P. Lyons was incorrect in stating its source.

The information was taken from a statement prepared by Dean Lyons' committee and bearing the signature of his committee. The statements used by The Daily Tar Heel were those of the committee but not signed personally by Dean Lyons. Neither was Dean Lyons contacted personally by this newspaper.

In Hot, Dusty Korea

A Bathrobe-Clad Captain Jeeping It To The River

By John Jamison

He was discharged but he still wore his fatigues for hanging around the house or washing the car.

He looked healthy and rested after two weeks in Japan and four more on shipboard. At 130 pounds he was quite trim and muscular. He weighed 215 when they drafted him two years ago.

"What sort of war is that over in Korea?" his friend asked.

"It's a strange one, that's what sort it is," he said. "I was over there for nine months and all that time I lived in one bunker. 'No man's land' is about 300 yards wide and you seldom get any closer than that to the Chinese. There are never any big assaults, at least where I was. Just the artillery and probing patrols at night."

"What's the worst part, the cold?" the friend asked.

"I guess that's the worst thing about it. Like I said, I lived in that bunker most of the time. But when it got too cold, I could go sleep in my tank over the transmission; there was a little heat coming up from there. I was lucky though, being in a tank outfit. Most guys just had to stay in the bunkers."

"Is that the best kind of war, from the infantryman's standpoint, just staying in one place all the time, or would you rather have a more fluid war, like in Europe the other war?" the friend asked.

"I think the fluid war is really easiest on the soldiers. It gives them something to think about when they can move around the country. And they feel like they're fighting for something. Then, Europe's not as cold either."

"What's your biggest gripe?" the friend asked.

"The officers. Oh, the lieutenants aren't so bad. They have to take about as much as the soldier does. But above that, there aren't any of them worth having around. Last summer when it was dusty and as hot as the devil's own hell, I used to see this captain jeeping it down the road in his bathrobe, headed for the river. He could take a swim or a cool shower twice a day, but we had to stay in the area and choke from the dust.

"And all the officers had a soldier to bring them their chow and put it before them on a tin plate. All the time they're dreaming up things like front-line inspections twice a day. Pretty rough life!"

"Well, suppose you had had a college degree when you were drafted and maybe a chance at a commission," the friend said. "Would you have wanted to be an officer?"

"Hell no, buddy. Just let 'em draft you."

Shaynen New Grass Roots Season Coach

Lee J. Shaynen, young American conductor of the New York City Opera Company has joined the North Carolina Grass Roots Opera Company as conductor and coach.

The announcement was made yesterday by A. J. Fletcher, Raleigh, chairman, Administrative Board, Institute of Opera, Extension Division, the University.

Shaynen is now on leave of absence from the New York City Opera and will be associated during the remainder of this season with the Grass Roots Opera, which already has more than 100 performances scheduled.

Fletcher said that it is the plan of the Grass Roots Company to have a distinguished visiting conductor and coach each season.

Shaynen comes to North Carolina highly recommended by Joseph Rosenstock, general director of the Nek York City Opera Company, and a number of New York critics.

Shaynen was born in New York City and began his musical education in that city at the High School of Music and Art. Following that, he entered the Juilliard School of Music, playing first French horn in the orchestra. At the same time he studied piano with the late Simon Barere and conducting with Jean Paul Morel, Joseph Rosenstok and Felix Wolfes.

While still serving in the armed forces during the war, he was heard by Laszlo Halasz, then director of the New York City Opera Company, sight-reading difficult music and, following his discharge, was invited to join the musical staff of the company.

At the age of 23, he attracted nation-wide attention, making his conducting debut as the youngest conductor of a major opera company in America. When the directorship changed, he was invited to remain, and to assume the conducting credit for additional operas.

As accompanist and coach, he has been associated with many artists of the concert stage, including Leonard Warren, Maggie Teyte, Francis Yeend, Muriel Rahn and Lorenzo Alvary.

This Is Thy Day

Time is up today for Tar Heel motorists.

Granted a grace period since Saturday night in which to obtain 1953 state automobile tags, drivers got their last penalty-free opportunity yesterday. Today, law enforcement men begin the crackdown on delinquent tag purchasers.

NEWS IN BRIEF

(Eisenhower Congressional Speech On Page 4)

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands —Mountainous new tides rolled in upon Europe's battered coasts yesterday, bringing fresh peril to lands which already have counted more than 850 dead in a week end of hurricane and flood. The toll may pass the 1,000 mark when all bodies are recovered. Towering waves pounded through ancient dikes at 70 places and covered a sixth of Holland with salt water, bringing the country's worst disaster since the 15th Century. Britain counted 395 dead, 248 in floods, 132 in the sinking of the ferry Princess Victoria and 15 in the disappearance of a British trawler.

★

HUNSTANTON, England—American airmen waded neck deep in icy waters yesterday searching for survivors of a flood which all but wiped out Hunstanton and Heacham—"a little corner of America" in east England. Nine Americans were counted as dead. One airman, a sergeant's wife and four children were known dead—their bodies lay in a morgue here. Thirteen others were listed as missing and feared drowned in the flood waters of the North Sea which combined with the fury of the north wind to almost sweep away "Little America." American authorities said the final American toll would be even higher.

★

SEOUL—American jets caught Russian-built MIGs out in the open for the 15th straight day and destroyed or damaged five of them in dogfights over North Korea yesterday. U. S. superforts, ranging cloudless skies, dropped 200,000 pounds of bombs across the 155-mile battleline in their biggest attack in more than a year as the Korean fighting continued to be mostly in the air. About 10 fighter-bombers smashed a troop concentration southeast of Cinmampo on the west coast, levelling 20 buildings and touching off six large secondary explosions that sent dense smoke shooting thousands of feet into the air.

★

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii—A ground search party yesterday found the bodies of three officers and eight enlisted men in the wreckage of a two-engined Navy patrol bomber that crashed Sunday night in the rugged mountains of northern Okinawa. The P2V Neptune crashed while on a routine flight. A searching helicopter spotted the wreckage early yesterday a ground party sent to the scene reported there were no survivors.

From Three Alumni

Carolina Law Library Receives Valuable Gifts

Within the last month the Law Library has received three valuable gifts from alumni.

Of first rate importance is the gift from Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, who is Chief Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. It consists of a 15-year run of briefs and records of cases argued before the Federal Court over which he presides.

These papers, when prepared for library use, will continue a 10-year series of similar materials given by Judge Parker in the late thirties. The gift comes with his promise that continuations will be furnished as his office can release them.

The gift comes at a time when the Library is making a special effort to build up a collection of briefs and records of several courts. Since 1927 the Library has been receiving the appeal papers in the North Carolina Supreme Court cases. Last year these were organized into volumes, bound and processed for more convenient ue.

The Library recently has subscribed to a service furnishing the briefs and records of the U. S. Supreme Court on microprint cards. These currently cover only recent cases, but cards for older cases will be purchased as they are issued. The cards are made useable by a desk model reader which magnifies the print.

Of significance also are gifts from Dr. Lee M. Brooks of the Sociology Department of the University and Rep. John W. Umstead of the North Carolina Legislature.

Saturday Class Fight Is Still Being Waged

The fight against Saturday classes moved into its final round yesterday with Atty.-Gen. Phinn Horton throwing in his "Sunday-punch."

Horton said "things were looking up." A new committee, headed by Julia Shields, is presenting the facts about Saturday classes ot the students, he explained. The committee is requesting students to contact their trustees.

We are not doomed to the fate of Saturday classes," declared Horton. "We have reason to believe from recent reports that work of this commitee is effective," he added.

Meanwhile, the Committee on instructional Personnel which was ordered to study the best methods of installing Saturday classes, reported that a semester system would be best.

Horton indicated that this move is definitely "a help" to the students who are against the six-day week. He cited a 1948 report of the Visiting Committee of the Board of Trustees which said the semester system would be impractical for Carolina.

"Trustee answers sound encouraging," Horton, said. "I feel that our chances are much better."

The Board of Trustees meets Feb. 23. The question of Saturday classes is not on the agenda, but it can be brought up at the request of one Trustee.

A new angle turned up yesterday when it was pointed out by a member of the Medical Department that pre-medical students might have to attend an extra half-year if the change is made.

New Bill Dies Aborning From Horton's Veto

By Louis Kraar

Ham Horton stamped a presidential veto yesterday on a bill designed to take the Student Council out of politics.

The bill, passed last week by Legislature, provided for nomination of Student Council candidates by a selection board instead of by political parties. The board was to be composed of various chairmen of other courts plus two other members appointed by the president and vice-president.

Horton said, "That the Student Council should be taken 'out of politics' is conceded by all." He added, "However, in removing the Council from politics we must be certain that we do not create a worse evil than the bill corrects."

Horton stated two reasons for the veto. Briefly, they were:

The bill involuntarily takes the nomination of Student Council members out of the hands of the parties, instead of working by mutual agreement like the Bi-Partisan Selections Board.

Independents do not have to appear before the board and are not bound by the new law.

Proponents of the bill, the Student Party, said the bill was devised to "take our highest court out of partisan politics." John Ammons (SP) introduced the bill on Jan. 15 and it was passed last Thursday after little debate.

In stating his reasons Horton referred to them as reasons "which perhaps did not occur to the Legislature in passing it."

Horton's full statement was:

"The bill goes far beyond our present Honor Council selection system which has worked so well. In the present system the parties voluntarily give up some of their sovereignty to a bi-partisan selection board, which then, in their name, and in a completely non-partisan manner, selects candidates. If this system fails to work, the parties have the right to reassume their delegated sovereignty.

"These checks and balances, and

(See VETO, page 4)

2 Bills Slated For Debate By Di, Phi Tonight

The campus debating societies, the Di Senate and Phi Assembly will have two major bills up for discussion tonight.

The Phi will meet in New West to debate a bill calling for a stepped up foreign student exchange program by the University. The bill calls for co-operation with at least one university in every foreign nation, with joint scholarships, freedom of movement, and equal course credit.

The Di Senate meets on the third floor of New West at 8 o'clock to discuss a bill calling for compulsory health insurance to be enacted by federal legislation. Ed Smith, a past president of the Di, will introduce the bill.

Campus Seen

Students, taking advantage of precious Fridays before next fall's start of Saturday classes, strung out along the highway toward home.

*

Scattered bricks, upturned tree stumps and bulldozer testifying to the reshaping of the mall from the Library to South Building.

*

Campus looking its dressy best after frequenting town's numerous month-long clothing sales.

Early Speech Topic Tonight At Club Meet

Prof. Norman Eliason of the English department will present a paper on "Early North Carolina Vocabulary" tonight at 7:30 at the Philological Club meeting in the Faculty Lounge of the Morehead Building.

After teaching at Nebraska, Indiana and Florida, Prof. Eliason became a member of the faculty here in 1946. He holds a Ph.D. degree from Johns Hopkins. His research and publications are in Old English Literature and the English Language.

As a Guggenheim fellow last year, Prof. Eliason examined North Carolina letters, diaries and other manuscripts in the Southern Historical Collection of the University Library. He is now writing up his findings, tentatively entitled "The English Language in North Carolina to 1860: a Study Based on the MS Materials in the Southern Historical Collection."

New Style University Party Meets Tonight

The University Party will meet tonight at 7 in Roland Parker lounges one and two.

Representatives from dormitories are expected to attend and the slate of dorm seats open will be announced.

One Step Closer

As expected, the Faculty Council adopted the report of its Committee on Instructional Personnel which set up a schedule for inaugurating Saturday classes here. The council met Friday afternoon.

The schedule would institute a semester system with Saturday classes beginning in the Fall term of this year. The Trustees have ordered a six-day class week begun here.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Everett Parker

Explosive Results

A firecracker monger has lost his appeal from a sentence suspending him from his dormitory.

The Interdormitory Court acted quickly and effectively to show a violator of Interdorm Council, University, and State laws what the consequences are. Perhaps the court action will stem the rising tide of blasts before and after midnight in the upper and lower quads, in fact, in all areas around campus.

The Christmas holidays brought joy and happiness to many. The holiday season also brought back firecrackers. To those pranksters who seek to continue to disrupt night life around campus with their incindiaries, let them take heed of the explosive qualities of a dormitory suspension sentence.

There are reasons for the laws forbidding the use of firecrackers. Study hours, quiet hours, and peace of mind must be maintained. Moreover, there have been cases where the cracker boys have inflicted injuries, some severe, on the persons of fellow students. Some crackers have been heaved at windows, through screens, and outside doors at 1:30 a.m., in all places at all times. Personal injury is one of the most far-reaching results of these "playful" pranks.

The Daily Tar Heel commends the Interdormitory Court for taking action on a situation that can almost be termed critical.

Chafee And Freedom

The University Committee on Established Lectures merits high commendation for the Weil Lecture series which it presented this year. In Professor Zechariah Chafee, who discussed three aspects of "Freedom in Special Situations," the Committee presented a learned and able lecturer, speaking to a topic of vital concern to all citizens, the very sort of thing the Weil gift was intended o bring to the University.

Professor Chafee's topic, freedom, although it has never been without importance, is of especial timeliness today. He dealt with three particular areas of the whole broad issue of personal freedom. The first lecture, that on academic freedom, was the best and, as Professor Chafee himself admitted, the most thoroughly thought-out of the three. The second lecture dealt with freedom on "the Ship," a synonym for those situations such as the military, private industry, and government where, for reasons of security and organizational integrity, there must of necessity be certain circumstances of the freedom of speech and action of the members of the activity, and where there yet must be maintained the sort of freedom of vertical communication which preserves intellectual vitality, and allows ideas and suggestions, whatever the level of their origin, to perculate upwards, without hindrance, to the policy-making level. In his third talk, Professor Chafee analyzed the problems of freedom in the "beleagured city," a title which he used to represent a nation under attack from the outide, and the degree of liberty, especially of personal movement, which may still be allowed, despite the danger lurking without the walls.

Chafee reminded us that our fragile heritage of freedom is not a mere luxury; it is a condition precedent to free government. While we expend men by the tens of thousands and dollars by the tens of billions in the world-wide battle for freedom, he would urge us to fight just as diligently for the retention of our freedom here at home, freedoms which some men would use the exigencies of the battle as a pretext for taking from us. That Communism, as it has consistently manifested itself in the Soviet sphere, is the very denial of freedom of the mind, Dr. Chafee is acutely aware. And yet he is concerned, lest in our fear of that tyranny, we allow ourselves to adopt its most objectionable feature, the suppression of the right of the individual to discuss, to debate, to disagree, without fear of official reprisal.

Professor Chafee is acknowledged to be one of the most able advocates of the cause of freedom in our time. He brings to this advocacy a deep conviction of the necessity of freedom to the safety and happiness of our Republic, and of its people. This conviction is buttressed by a store of knowledge of his subject, in both its legal and historical aspects, which is probably unsurpassed among living men.

Although Dr. Chafee is a man convinced of the importance of his mission, he yet speaks with great realism, and a notable lack of the cant and categorical dogmatism which so often infect those long upon a crusade. It is somewhat ironic that Professor Chafee should often be viewed as radical, for his message is the essence of conservatism in its real sense, if we can still view as conservative a firm belief that in the guarantees of personal liberty written into the Bill of Rights are worthy of preservation and extension.

For those of us who heard his lectures, and of students there were regrettably few, Professor Chafee leaves the abiding impression that there has walked among us one of the great and vital spirits of our time.

JLS

Two Views

Present Vs. Past

Mr. Wood in a recent column expressed his dissatisfaction with 19th century literature. His dissatisfaction demonstrates a tendency in the humanities to concentrate on the present. Insofar as this tendency corrects the error of an exclusive preoccupation with the past, it is healthy. Insofar as it denies the value of the study of the past, it is pernicious. An enamoration with the contemporary reflects the most narrow provincialism, a provincialism of time which turns the values of the 20th century into criteria, which assumes that what is present is better. It is a form of smugness, a happy satisfaction with the existing condition. It denies the wisdom and sensitivity of dead men and assumes the superiority of the living.

The function of the study of the humanities is not to teach a man to solve contemporary problems but to equip him to lead a rich contemporary life. A person who likes to read history does not do so in order to know how to bring about a peace in Korea. He reads history to make his life more significant, to broaden it, to let him know more about himself as a man. He is less interested in burning issues than in the larger questions which man has been asking himself since he first started to think. A person who likes poetry does not read it to learn what to say in an amatory correspondence or what is the proper emotional response to the death of a loved one. He reads it to stimulate his intellect and to subtilize his feelings and to give him a calm inner understanding which comes from long exposure to many varieties of ideas and emotions.

We read poetry and history and philosophy to improve ourselves as men. And extra gifts are given to us which we did not pursue. By improving ourselves generally as men, we become by accident more able to deal with the practical problems of life, that is, to settle the Korean business, write a good love letter, be calm in the fact of personal tragedy. But we do not read literature, history, and philosophy in order to be better able to handle the practical affairs of life. The attainment of this ability cannot be an end in our study of the humanities. It is given us by the way. It is an extra gift which vanishes if we seek it.

The function of the humanities will not be served by the concentration on the present, for only a small portion of the wisdom and the feelings of man has been recorded in the present. The present occupies only a small corner in the store-house of human experience. It is an ill-lighted corner, for we have no detachment in viewing it. We are too much in it. We also need to visit the other parts of the store-house, but we need tools to do so: a knowledge of some past events and names, of languages, of old words. The tools can be had, and only by the excursion which they allow from the narrow corner into the great chambers of the rest of the store-house will a person become more than a provincial, will he become a complete man.

Yr Mst Obt, Hmbl & Dvtd Srvt, Clio.

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of contributions by members of the English Club. The opinions stated do not necessarily reflect the policies of the Club.

Dear Norman Jarrard,

You said some very, very mean things about me in your column on Sunday.

The general theme seems to be an attack on my condemnation of Herman Melville and other verbal acrobats. But you go way too far and put words in my mouth. I condemn the author who employs verbal acrobatics as no more than an expression of his ego. I condemn the literary show-off whose prime interest is that his words be admired. Thus Shakespeare is not a verbal acrobat in this sense, and I wouldn't whittle his works one iota. But I wouldn't add anything either. I kinda think you would.

Specifically, you say that I bragged about not having read "Moby Dick" when all I said was that I had not yet had the courage to read it. This is just a statement, not a boast.

Then you criticize me for not having read "Moby Dick" and you assert that I should not criticize something I haven't read. For your information, I did not criticize "Moby Dick." I merely mentioned it to identify Melville. I have read his "Billy Budd Foretopman," and I said what I thought of it.

(Then you say that you read "Moby Dick" in high school and didn't like it then. I appreciate your bearing out one of the points in my column: that high school students are not ready to read such heavy and complex literature as "Moby Dick." Just as a ten-year-old is not ready to drink whiskey, good whiskey or bad.)

You say: "Reflecting not so much on his intelligence as his taste, a person cannot be expected to have taste worth considering unless he has a certain minimum intelligence." This escapes me. I think it's supposed to be insulting, but I'm not sure.

You say that my taste is suspect when I group Melville, Whittier, and Lowell. And then you say: "If he can't see any difference between these writers then I doubt if what I have to say will make any sense to him." Ignoring the egotism of this remark, I would point out that these men all lived at about the same time. I also grouped Hemingway, Steinbeck, and Ring Lardner for the same reason. The men in both groups are individuals and their writings are individual, and I never said or implied otherwise.

Then you say that I probably liked "Old Man and the Sea." And you are right. I think it is a masterpiece. But you also say that I probably liked it for the wrong reasons. I would be interested in knowing just what the right and wrong reasons are and who said so. I liked it for its beautiful simplicity. I liked it because there were no superfluous words or phrases. I liked it because the simple theme of raw courage was compelling. I liked it because I could smell the sea water and see the big fish and hear the thud of the old man's oars hitting the sharks. I liked it because the author kept out of the way of the story. I liked it because the author, like Shakespeare, chose each word carefully, and the words communicated clearly to the reader.

I do not think that Hemingway intended that "The Old Man and the Sea" be allegorical or symbolic. I do not believe that the old man represented the author, the marlin the story itself, and the sharks the critics. And when Hemingway says, "the clean early morning smell of the ocean," I do not admire the phrase just for itself. I admire it for the feeling that it communicates, and the beauty of each phrase and word in the story is secondary to the story itself.

Hemingway is a master of the English language. So was William Shakespeare. Their works are much more than expression of ego. Shakespeare's puns and witticisms are part of his plays, but they are secondary to the themes of his plays. He is not a verbal acrobat just for the sake of being a verbal acrobat, any more than Hemingway is obscene or earthy just for the sake of being obscene or earthy.

I hold to my contention that writing as a whole has improved since 1850. This is only my opinion. I do not state it as a fact. But it is my belief that good writing is the art of putting across an idea with the minimum of words and ornamentation. I don't believe Herman Melville mastered the art. What he had to say was lost in the five-dollar words, flowery phrases, and obscure metaphors.

You have made quite a few other statements in your column which I consider moot, to say the least: 'Moby Dick' is the best long piece of fiction written by an American." "He (Shakespeare) is simply the greatest writer that ever lived." "Poetry is poetry because of a particular choice of words."—But why go on beating a dead jack-ass?

A. Z. F. Wood, Jr.

Louis Kraar

No Politics

The Student Council, Carolina's highest court, is out of student politics.

Legislature passed a bill which takes the selection of candidates for the Student Council out of the hands of political parties and gives the task to an impartial board.

The selections board, which will make the nominations now, will be made up of the chairmen of the various courts in student government plus a member appointed by the president and one picked by the Speaker of Legislature.

Many legislators and politicians on campus complained this fall of the excessive number of candidates selected by another selections board, the choosing for honor council.

Their gripes were legitimate. The Bi-Partisan Selections Board for honor council picked so many candidates that voters felt that their ballots were racing sheets. It was a gamble. No one knew the candidates and the run-off brought on more red tape.

But this new method of choosing Student Council nominees is supposed to limit the number of candidates. If it does, the bill will be a much needed addition to the machinery of student government.

Only this reporter hopes that the board does limit the number of candidates. It's nice to know who you're voting for.

POUNDING THE BEAT: John Ammons (SP) proving that legislators can say what's on their minds without going into elegant oration complete with gestures. . . . Jane Kottmeier (SP) casually commenting that they were no coed affairs this week and meaning the ones you report on in Legislature. . . . Tom McDonald (UP) skillfully filling in for floorleader Jack Stilwell (UP) who was out with flu. . . . Signs of spring campaigning already with the appearance of SP's political handout sheet and its editorial cartoon . . . and is Bob Gorham UP's favorite for prexy?

Jim Turner

Puppets

The institution of the American Theatre will never die as long as such creative geniuses as Louisa Mustin, organizer and director of The Puppet Theatre, which toured "Beauty and the Beast" and "The Mikado" here last Saturday afternoon and night, are alive and active. She and her dedicated and talented group of puppeteers have transformed what was before child's play into real adult theatre. On a four-by-ten-foot stage with figures no more than two feet high is created drama almost as genuine as life.

The afternoon performance of the age-old fairy tale of "Beauty and the Beast," to be sure, was children's entertainment, and it enraptured the three hundred of the little ones who swarmed in dragging their parents by the sleeves. But even this production so far surpassed the usual Punch and Judy routine that comparison is hardly possible.

The evening's performance of "The Mikado," however, was a delight from beginning to end. The molded faces of the puppets seemed to capture the exact characterization of the Gilbert and Sullivan characters and portray them as well or better than the American face is able to do. The versatility of body movement was amazing, and had it not been for the immobility of the faces, one might have thought the puppets

(See PUPPETS, page 3)

Two More Views

That Ole Spirit

An Open Letter To The Rt. Hon. Jenks Robertson

I have read your criticism of the DTH's basketball editorial "Weighed, Found Wanting," and regret (perhaps) that you considered it a personal attack upon yourself. However, you are a better judge of your own mental capability, so if you think you are a Mongol idiot, then I readily and gladly accept your verdict. I say this because it is obvious, from the way you latched upon the phrase of Mongol idiot and rode it to death, that you proceeded from the premise that "the best defense is an offense."

The apparent excuse you utilized for stating your denial was that "We finally regain that (school spirit) in the Wake Forest game and get slapped in the face by your Mongol idiot for so doing."

By way of answering this, and your other bellowings from the self-erected pedestal of righteousness, may I pose the following questions?

1. On what college campus, and in what country, is the practice of throwing refuse on the court considered part of the school spirit?

2. On what campus is the practice of incoherent spectator raging during foul attempts considered as mere "school spirit?"

You cite as your authority Coach McGuire's praise for the support given the team by the students. Now, let's get the record striaght: I, too, praised the student body for its fine support of the squad, but I denounced, and still do, the juvenile conduct demonstrated when Wake Forest men were exercising their privileges at the free-throw line, and unadulterated incivility generally.

I therefore challenge you to prove your strong insinuation that McGuire's praise included the slightest degree of appreciation for the student outbursts of obnoxiousness.

You have also defended these indefensible things on the ground that the officiating was miserable. I do not intend to go into that, as you should not, but will leave that to those responsible for the selection of officials, and to those who have the right to protest gross errors of officiating. Incidentally, I do not recall having heard any protests from our athletic office concerning such a matter.

This you should remember: Is a person shooting a foul the same person who called that foul? Surely you will admit that what you call the "marvelous Carolina spirit" should include a sense of justice and fairness; why, therefore, levy your wrath of indignation upon the innocent?

You pointed out in your letter that "most of the state newspapers devoted a large part of the write-ups of the game to the marvelous Carolina spirit." Again, let's get the record straight: You know this statement is not only grossly inaccurate but is an absolute fabrication. The Durham paper blasted us with sports-page headlines; the Greensboro paper said nothing of the spirit; the Raleigh paper reprinted the DTH editorial.

I therefore expressly challenge you to produce those ("most") state papers which praised the "marvelous Carolina spirit" at the Wake Forest game.

In addition, did you perhaps note that Wake Forest, at the beginning of the State game Saturday, stated publicly that they will no longer attempt any foul shots until spectators are quiet?

In the final analysis, what do you really mean when you use the statement "Carolina spirit?" Stuart Chase once said that "blah-blah" could be substituted for such nebulous terms without changing the meaning. Come to think of it, I guess that's what you actually said.

—Curt Ratledge

Editor:

Just a word of congratuation to you for your timely editorial commenting upon student behavior at the Wake Forest basketball game in Chapel Hill.

We alumni like to win too but we surely do not want to forget what our mothers taught us about courtesy to others, especially guests. When courteous sportsmanship is eliminated from college athletic contests, those contests lose their zest and respect of all college alumni and friends of the institution indulging in such behavior. It is hard to realize that the student body of UNC could be guilty of the unsportsmanship-like behavior that took place in Woollen Gymnasium.

I can vividly recall one occasion when a catcall from just a fan who was not even an alumnus gave a South Carolina basketball team an extra free throw, after two had been missed. It threw that game into extra periods, lost the game and the conference championship—that one catcall. Courtesy seems now to be gone forever. Of course I know that we older fellows will be called "old fogies" but at least we can maintain our self-respect and courteous treatment of visiting teams while on Carolina soil.

Please have Louis Graves copy your editorial in his Chapel Hill Weekly so that the state of North Carolina may know that all Carolinians do not endorse such conduct at athletic contests played at Carolina at any time.

Best wishes at all times and we expect you to pull for clean athletics.

Ferdie Johnson, Class of 1897
Clinton, N. C.

Editor's note: Ferdie Johnson is one of Carolin'a most faithful alumni. A retired postmaster of Clinton, Mr. Johnson was a letter winner in at least two sports during his undergraduate days. He has since been an A-1 salesman for the University in inducing high school graduates to come to Chapel Hill.

Basketball Team Meets Richmond Tonight

Spiders Looking For Upset; Attempt To Make Tourney

Carolina's Tar Heels, lodged in first place in Southern Conference basketball standings more firmly than ever, play the Richmond Spiders tonight in Richmond in another Conference contest.

The Tar Heels have an early season victory over Richmond, but the Spiders gave Carolina a scare before bowing in Woollen Gym, 80-64.

Coach Frank McGuire is wary of the Spiders on their home court, and the Richmond team is a sleeper that could upset the league leading Tar Heels. Last year the Spiders played agressive ball at home and almost beat Carolina.

Carolina registered two more Conference wins over the weekend to extend its record in the loop to 13-1, and its over-all record to 15-3. Carolina whipped Davidson, 73-52, Friday night, and Clemson, 90-81, Saturday night. Carolina will play at home again Friday night against Duke.

State's victory over Wake Forest in Raleigh Saturday gave the Deacons their second Conference loss of the season; so Maryland is the only team remaining besides Carolina with only one loop defeat. The Tar Heels and the Terps have split in two games and won't meet again until the SC tournament in Raleigh March 5.

Richmond has a 10-4 record this year, and a 7-4 slate in the Conference. The Spiders have a good chance to make the tournament this year, the first time since 1937. Coach Lester Hooker has had plenty of time to fix up something special to dethrone Carolina and a win would nearly clinch a tourney berth.

Coach McGuire will start Vince Grimaldi and Al Lifson at guards, Bud Maddie and Jerry Vayda at forwards, and Paul Likins at center, the same team that has given 13 Conference teams such a defensive headache.

Jack Wallace, Tony Radovich, Gene Glancy, Jippy Carter, Ernie Schwarz, Al Long, and Skippy Winstead are making the trip to the Virginia capital with the Tar Heels, and any of them could see plenty of action before the game is over.

WAA BASKETBALL

7:00—AD Pi vs. Alderman; 7:50—Town vs. Nurses; 8:40—Carr vs. Pi Phi.

Young Adult Group

Dr. Maurice Kidder will give a talk on "A Balanced Christian Faith" to the Young Adult Group of the Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. today. The meeting will be held in the Wesley Lounge of the church.

Celebration Will Follow Duke Battle

A Beet Dook Nite dance will be held in the Tin Can Friday night following the Duke-Carolina basketball game.

Efforts to bring back that old "Carolina Spirit" will begin at halftime intermission. Norman Cordon, former Metropolitan opera star and Tar Heel alumnus will lead in some group singing. Ron Levin will furnish the audience with University band into the Tin Can. There a combo will be ready to provide music for a victory dance.

During the dance's intermission Coach McGuire and the basketball team will be introduced.

More singing will follow and free refreshments will be served.

— Grants —

most significant development in the history of the University — the

(Continued from page 1)

Scholarship program of the John Motley Morehead Foundation," Chancellor House aid.

"Beginning next fall Morehead Scholarships will be awarded to graduates of high schools and preparatory schools. Morehead has expressed the hope that in years to come 75 to 100 Morehead Scholarships, valued at $1,250 each, will be awarded annually to outstanding high school and preparatory school graduates. This is a magnificent program for the development of leaders for North Carolina, the South and the Nation," Chancellor House concluded.

Ticket Trade

All students, insrtuctors, and employees with odd-numbered passbooks have today and tomorrow to exchange them for reserve seat tickets to the Carolina-N. C. State game in Woollen Gym on Saturday, Feb. 21.

Holders of eveen-numbered books can exchange on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The ticket office at Woollen Gym is open from 8:30-4:30.

JEANNE CARMEN, 21, New York photographers' Miss Photoflash likes to watch the birdies whatever she does. She's got a Hollywood contract now but if it doesn't pan out she can switch to golf. She started playing the game last year after using a club in a picture and is a crack golfer now. She doesn't pad her score either.—NEA Telephoto.

Lacrossemen Face Winter Preps Soon

Carolina's varsity lacrosse squad, minus final scheduling plans and some new equipment still on order, will hit the winter practice grind within the next week or two, Coach Alan Moore reported yesterday.

Moore, former All-America soccer and lacrosse star at Springfield College and now in his third year as Carolina coach, reported that drills will be assumed as soon as the remainder of the new equipment—sticks and helmets—arrives.

Fifteen monogram winners are among those expected to be on hand when Moore issues the call to post. Last year's team manufactured a 5-6-1 record, the best mark since the sport was instituted here several years ago. This season's squad will be built around a nucleus of seniors and juniors and is what could be called "the big year."

The 1953 schedule is incomplete as yet, but games with Virginia, last season's national runner-up; Duke, sixth nationally in 1952; Washington and Lee, Washington College, Yale and Dartmouth are on the fire.

— Puppets —

(Continued from Page 2)

quite human.

The actual adaption of the operetta to puppets was done by Miss Mustin herself and it was skillfully managed so that the hour and a half performance left out little of the essential dialogue and not too much of the familiar music.

A few technical faults in the production were evident. At times one was able to see only half a puppet when the operators, who were under the stage, dipped their arms too low. Also many times too the voices in the music, taken from popular recordings of "The Mikado," were not closely enough matched with the speaking voices, which were recorded by the puppeteers themselves.

Generally speaking, the scenery and lighting were beautiful, the movements of the puppets were fascinating, the dialogue and music were delightful, and the overall performance was excellent.

Unsung Heroes

19 Basketball Teams Undefeated In Murals; Playoffs Will Start Soon

Basketball races in both fraternity and dormitory divisions are taking shape, and the tournaments are due to be played in about two weeks.

In the fraternity division, the following teams are undefeated: League 1, Zete-1, and ATO-3; league 2, Phi Delt-1; league 3, Kap Sig-1, and Beta 1; league 4, PiKA-1; in league 5, Phi Delt-2, Sig Nu-1, and DKE-2 are leading with 3-1 records; league 6, Phi Gam-2; league 7, ATO-2, and SAE-2; league 8, Sig Nu-2, nad ZBT-2; and league 9, Phi Kap Sig-1.

In the dormitory division undefeated teams are: League 1, Winston-1, Joyner-4, and Mangum, in league 2, Cobb-3 and Ruffin-1 are leading with 3-1 records; league 3, Alexander-2, and Med School-4; in league 4, Cobb-2, and Winston-2 lead with 3-1 records; league 5, Emerson-1; and league 6, Emerson-2.

The standings are:

FRATERNITY DIVISION

League 1	W.	L.	Pct.
Zetes-1	3	0	1.000
ATO-3	3	0	1.000
SPE-1	2	1	.667
Phi Delt Chi-2	1	2	.333
DKE-1	1	2	.333
PiKA-3	1	2	.333
Chi Phi-2	1	2	.333
ZBT-1	0	3	.000

League 2	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Delt-1	4	0	1.000
SAE-1	3	1	.750
Pi Lamb	3	1	.750
Delt Sig Pi	2	2	.500
Lamb Chi-1	2	2	.500
Phi Kap Sig-3	2	2	.500
Chi Phi-1	0	4	.000
Phi Gam-1	0	4	.000

League 3	W.	L.	Pct.
Kap Sig-1	4	0	1.000
Beta-1	4	0	1.000
Zetes-2	3	1	.750
Chi Psi-1	2	2	.500
KA-1	2	2	.500
Phi Delt-4	1	3	.250
Sig Chi-4	0	4	.000
ATO-4	0	4	.000

League 4	W.	L.	Pct.
PiKA-1	4	0	1.000
Pi Kap Phi-2	3	1	.750
ATO-1	3	1	.750
Beta-3	3	1	.750
Sig Chi-2	1	3	.250
Zetes-4	1	3	.250
SAE-3	1	3	.250
Kap Sig-2	0	4	.000

League 5	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Delt-2	3	1	.750
Sig Nu-1	3	1	.750
DKE-2	3	1	.750
Sig Chi-3	2	2	.500
Chi Psi-3	2	2	.500
Phi Kap Sig-2	2	2	.500
SPE-2	1	3	.250
Pi Kap Phi-1	0	4	.000

League 6	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Gam-2	3	0	1.000
Sig Chi-1	3	1	.750
TEP-2	3	1	.750
Kap Psi-1	2	1	.667
Sig Nu-3	2	2	.500
Phi Delt-3	1	2	.333
PiKA-2	0	4	.000
Beta-2	0	3	.000

League 7	W.	L.	Pct.
ATO-2	4	0	1.000
SAE-2	4	0	1.000
Phi Delt Chi-1	2	2	.500
AK Psi	1	2	.333
TEP-3	1	2	.333
KA-2	1	3	.250
Theta Chi-2	0	4	.000

League 8	W.	L.	Pct.
Sig Nu-2	3	0	1.000
ZBT-2	3	0	1.000
Chi Psi-2	3	1	.750
Theta Chi-1	2	2	.500
Zetes-3	1	3	.250
Lamb Chi-2	0	4	.000
Phi Gam-4	0	2	.000

League 9	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Kap Sig-1	3	0	1.000
Delt Psi	3	1	.750
TEP-1	3	1	.750
Phi Gam-3	3	2	.600
Kap Sig-3	1	2	.333
Kap Psi-2	1	3	.250
KA-3	0	5	.000

DORMITORY DIVISION

League 1	W.	L.	Pct.
Winston-1	4	0	1.000
Joyner-4	4	0	1.000
Mangum	3	0	1.000
Med School-3	2	1	.667
Ruffin-2	1	3	.250
Everett-2	1	3	.250
Alexander-1	0	4	.000
Cobb-1	0	4	.000

League 2	W.	L.	Pct.
Cobb-3	3	1	.750
Ruffin-1	3	1	.750
Law School-3	2	1	.667
Aycock-2	2	1	.667
Joyner-3	2	2	.500
Winston-3	0	3	.000
Everett-1	0	3	.000

League 3	W.	L.	Pct.
Alexander-2	4	0	1.000
Med School-4	4	0	1.000
Lewis-4	2	1	.667
Graham-2	2	1	.667
Manley	1	1	.500
BVP-2	1	3	.250
Cobb-4	0	4	.000
Grimes-1	0	4	.000

League 6	W.	L.	Pct.
Cobb 2	3	1	.750
Winston-2	3	1	.750
Victory Village	3	1	.750
Law School-1	2	2	.500
Lewis-1	1	2	.333
Stacy	1	2	.333
Aycock-1	0	4	.000

League 5	W.	L.	Pct.
Emerson-1	3	0	1.000
Lewis-2	3	1	.750
Joyner-2	3	1	.750
BVP-1	1	2	.333
Old East	1	2	.333
Med School-1	1	3	.250
Dental School	0	3	.000

League 6	W.	L.	Pct.
Emerson-2	4	0	1.000
Town Men	2	1	.667
Lewis-3	3	2	.600
Law School-2	1	1	.500
Graham-1	2	3	.400
Joyner-1	0	4	.000
Med School-2	0	3	.000

TODAY'S BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 1, TEP-1 vs. Kap Sig-3; Court 2, Theta Chi-1 vs. Zeta Psi-3; Court 3, ATO-2 vs. SAE-2; Court 4, Beta-2 vs. Phi Gam-2; Court 5, Grimes-1 vs. Graham-2; Court 6, BVP-2 vs. Cobb-4; Court 7, Lewis-2 vs. Old East.

5:00—Court 1, Kap Psi-2 vs. Phi Gam-3; Court 2, AKPsi vs. TEP-3; Court 3, Cobb-3 vs. Winston-3; Court 4, Zeta Psi-1 vs. ATO-3; Court 5, Phi Delt-3 vs. Kap Psi-1; Court 6, Delt Psi vs. Phi Kap Sig-1; Court 7, Winston-1 vs. Mangum.

7:00—Court 1, Phi Gam-1 vs. Phi Delt-1; Court 2, Phi Delt Chi-2 vs. SPE-1; Court 3, Chi Phi-2 vs. Pi-KA-3; Court 4, Med Sch-3 vs. Joyner-4.

8:00—Court 1, TMA vs. Graham-1; Court 2, ZBT-2 vs. Chi Psi-2; Court 3, Joyner-3 vs. Ruffin-1; Court 4, Manley vs. Lewis-4.

TODAY'S TABLE TENNIS

4:00—Chi Psi-1 vs. Sig Nu-2.
4:40—Kap Sig-2 vs. PiKA-1.
7:00—Phi Gam-4 vs. Kap Sig-1.
7:40—Phi Gam-5 vs. Zeta Psi-2.
8:20—Delt Psi-1 vs. Phi Gam-2.

TODAY'S HANDBALL

4:00—Sig Chi-2 vs. Pi Lamb.

5:00—Kap Sig-2 vs. Dental School.

7:00—Delta Upsilon vs. Ruffin; ATO vs. Kap Sig-1.

8:00—Phi Delt vs. Theta Chi; Sig Chi-1 vs. Phi Gam.

Track Team Vies With State In Practice Meet Tnight

Coach Dale Ranson's trackmen will get their first real test of the indoor season tonight when they pay host to N. C. State in a practice meet at the tin can. The meet is slated to get underway at 7:30, with the shot put being the first event.

The State tracksters, coached by Tom Fitzgibbons, boast of two of the conference's finest distance men, as well as several outstanding dash and field performers. The Wolfpack's Clyde Garrison is the conference's indoor mile champion, while teammate Buz Sawyer holds the outdoor mile title. These boys were one-two in the conference cross country meet this fall.

This is the first of three events Southern Conference Indoor meet which begins here on February 28. Carolina meets Duke in a practice meet on the 14th of this month, and takes on State in a regulation affair on the 24th.

In the inter-class meet held in the tin can this past week-end, the Juniors ran up the highest point total closely followed by the Seniors and Sophomores. The winners tallied 38 and 5-6 points to 36 1-2 for the Seniors and 35 1-3 for the Sophs. The Freshmen trailed with 17 5-6 points.

Junior Jeff Newton won the 60 yard dash in 6.6. The Sophomores got both hurdle events, with Charlie Scott winning the high hurdles in 9.2 and Billy Duke copping the low hurdles in eight seconds flat.

Freshman Charlie Yarborough broad jumped 21 1-2 feet to take that event. Tom Higgins and Mack Ray combined to give the Seniors two first places. Higgins threw the shot 43 feet, 9 inches and Ray captured the 440 in a time of 53.5.

The Bostian brothers gave the Juniors two more wins. Lloyd took the 880 in 2.04 and Lee won the mile in 4:41.2. Sophomore Bobby Barden ran the two mile in 10.29 to take that event. Duke and Sam Jordan tied for the pole vault, each vaulting 12 feet. Jordan also won the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 10 inches. The Freshmen team of Mitchell, Warren, Zimmerman, and Frye took a surprising victory in the tight lap relay.

High Schools To Swim Here

The 7th annual Southern Interscholastic Swimming Championships will be held here Feb. 21, Chairman Dick Jamerson announced here recently.

The meet, held in Bowman Gray the prep school, and high school divisions from North and South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and Georgia.

Raleigh High School won last year's high school division championship, while Georgia Military Academy took top honors in the prep school classification. Both teams will send teams here this year.

Wilmington's New Hanover, Greensboro, Fayetteville and Chapel Hill were other high scoring high school teams entered in last year's meet, while Sewanee, Augusta, Stanton and Asheville School were leaders in prep school scoring.

Entry blanks were mailed to institutions this week. A field of 150 swimmers is expected to compete.

For Valentines Our Books Look Bigger Flatter the Brain and Spare the Figger.

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

SALE
RECORDS --
ABERNATHY'S
207 E. Franklin St.
9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

SOLVE YOUR LAUNDRY PROBLEMS HERE!
AUTOMATIC . . . . .
Faculty and Students will find this service SANITARY . . .
SAFE . . . ECONOMICAL and SPEEDY
FLUFF DRYERS available RAIN or SHINE
Trained attendant on hand to advise you
We use ELECTRIC OPERATED machines
Join the many people who have used our service since 1947
VILLAGE SELF SERVICE LAUNDRY
402 W. Franklin St. Telephone 9-5766

ICE CAPADES OF 1953
THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE
Mail order for tickets
COLISEUM IN RALEIGH
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
N. C. State College—P. O. Box 3905
RALEIGH, N. C.
Children ½ Price Friday Matinee Only
Mon. Eve. Feb. 16 ☐
Tue. Eve. Feb. 17 ☐
Wed. Eve. Feb. 18 ☐
Thur. Eve. Feb. 19 ☐
Fri. Mat. Feb. 20 ☐
Fri. Eve. Feb. 20 ☐
Sat. Mat. Feb. 21 ☐
Sat. Eve. Feb. 21 ☐
Enclosed is $_____ for _____ tickets at $_____ each
Price: $3.00 _____ $2.50 _____ $2.00 _____ $1.50
Name _____ Address _____
City _____ State _____ Phone No. _____
PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS

"Highest Rating! STAGGERS The IMAGINATION" —N. Y. Daily News
"BEST PICTURE OF THE YEAR!"
"Best Actor of the Year"
RALPH RICHARDSON
—Jay Carmody, Washington Even. Star
—N. Y. Film Critics Award
"IN LINE FOR THE 'YEAR'S BEST' PRIZE!"
—N. Y. Times
". . . THIS STRIKING NEW DRAMA IS A NIGH PERFECT JOB OF FILM-MAKING IN EVERY ESSENTIAL WAY!"
—Bosley Crowther, Times
starring
RALPH RICHARDSON · ANN TODD · NIGEL PATRICK
JOHN JUSTIN with Dinah Sheridan
STUDENTS: This Is A Real "WINNER!"
T-O-D-A-Y and Wednesday
Varsity

Pre-Med Students

Dr. Ed. Hedgpeth, University physician, will address Alpha Epsilon Delta pre-med students tonight at 8 o'clock in 201 Venable.

CLASSIFIEDS

PERSONAL

EVERYMAN—A BOOK FROM the Intimate Bookshop, all gift-wrapped nice and pretty, might melt my heart on St. Valentines Day. EVERYBODY. (Chg 1x1)

This Week's SPECIAL

Fudge Raisin Sundae

What could be better than fudge covered raisins over Gold Seal Quality Chekd Ice Cream

29c

The Dairy Bar

203 E. Franklin—Tel. 9-8581

WINTER CLEAN UP SALE

Largest reduction in cloth we ever had. Print, drapery, seersucker, chintz, rayon, wide drapery—46" and 48" wide—up to 98c—

Now 50c

Indian Head, Chintz, chambray, 48" wide—Drapery valued to $1.98— 4

Sale Price—79c

CORDUROY

$2.00 Value

Sale Price—$1.39

Table Cloths

$5 and $6 Value

Sale Price—$2.98

Table Cloths

$1.69 and $1.98 Value

Sale Price—$1.00

Large White

TOWELS

Navy Size

Value $1.50

SALE PRICE—$1.00

Bates and Monument Bed Spreads

SPECIAL—$4.98

Wool Argyles

LONG SOX

$2.00

SALE PRICE—$1.00

Dan River Cloth

SPECIAL—59c

Print, Drapery and Curtain Cloth—

39c Per Yard

3 for $1.00

SHOE SALE

200 pairs of men's shoes, assorted colors and sizes—

$2.98 Pair

2 Pairs for 3.98

Large table of shoes for men—

$4.98 Pair

2 Pairs for $6.00

Were $5.95—Now 3.98

Men's long sleeve wool sweaters

Men's Pants on Sale—All wool and mixed—part rayon

Value to $11.00

Sale Price

$4.00, $5.00 and $6.00

BERMAN'S DEPT. STORE

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega will meet in the Grail Room tonight at 7 o'clock.

Budget Cmomittee

There will be a meeting of the Budget Committee this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the upstairs student government office.

Publications Meeting

There will be a Publications Board meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Grail Room.

World Day of Prayer

The committee for the World Day of Prayer program will meet today at 1:30 in the Episcopal parish mall. Presidents and representatives of the YWCA and the YMCA and the Christian fellowships are asked to attend.

Student-Faculty Committee

There will be a Student-Faculty Committee meeting today at 5 o'clock in the SUAB office.

UN Committee

The United Nations Committee will meet at 7 p.m. today in the Y Library.

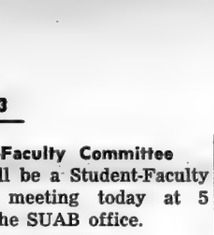
French Club

The French Supper Club will meet tonight at 6 o'clock on the second floor of Lenoir. Popular French songs wil be sung.

WUNC

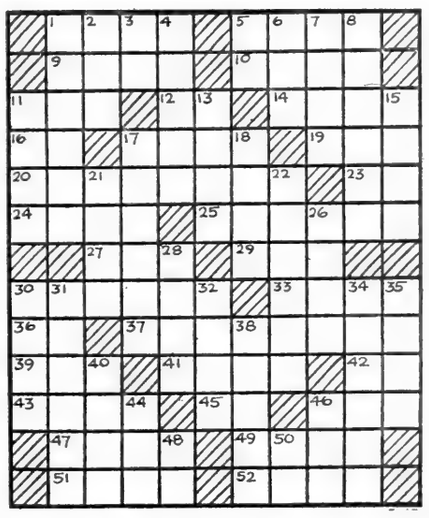
The WUNC program schedule for today:

7 p.m.—Sketches in Melody.
7:30—Price of Liberty.
7:45—Vistas of Israel.
8—Ways of Mankind.
8:30—Raleigh Oratorio Society Concert, "Mozart's Requiem."
9:30—How the Communists Enslaved Hungary.
10—News and coming events.
10.05—Evening Masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS



1. Couch
5. Secure
9. Snare
10. Verbal
11. Golf mound
12. Overhead
14. Kind of apple
16. Gold (Her.)
17. Assam silkworm
19. Open (poet.)
20. The cosmos
23. Selenium (sym.)
24. Network
25. Wall recesses
27. Conclude
29. Exclamation
30. Stop watches
33. Paintings in oil
36. Ahead
37. European plover
39. Viper
41. Put out, as money
42. Toward
43. Face of a clock
45. Exist
46. Devoured
47. Hauled
49. Infrequent
51. Pieced out
52. Asterisk

DOWN

1. English novelist
2. Coin (Swed.)
3. Music note
4. River (So. Am.)
5. Thus
6. Portion of a curved line
7. Game of chance
8. Pass away
11. Pleasure trip
13. Weaver's bobbin
15. Honey-gathering insects
17. Leveled
18. Largest continent
21. Article
22. Reverberated
26. Filament from the skin
28. Globule of liquid
30. Garden amphibian
31. Within
32. Pierce
34. Epistle
35. Astringent fruit
38. Layers
40. A large recreation area
44. Sheltered side
46. Constellation
48. War Department (abbr.)
50. Close to

Yesterday's Answer

"ONE OF THE 10-BEST OF THE YEAR!"

That's the selection of the National Board of Review and it's just the beginning for the bold drama of a man with mad ambitions and a girl with dreams

He's Bad!

She's beautiful!

M G M Presents
LANA TURNER
KIRK DOUGLAS
WALTER PIDGEON
DICK POWELL in

"THE BAD AND THE BEAUTIFUL"

Co-Starring
BARRY SULLIVAN - GLORIA GRAHAME - GILBERT ROLAND

OPEN'S TODAY!

Carolina

Ike Outlines Program In Speech To Congress

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower announced yesterday he is ordering the U. S. Seventh Fleet to stop shielding Communist China, and, in a surprise move, he invited Congress to disavow any Roosevelt-Truman "secret understandings" which permit enslavement of people anywhere.

At home, the new Republican President cautioned against tax cuts until a balanced budget is in sight and gave his blessing to the end of all price and wage controls when present authority for them expire on April 30.

Eisenhower said the present effect of the Truman order neutralizing the Chinese Nationalist island of Formosa is to protect the very Chinese Reds who are killing American soldiers in Korea.

'We certainly have no obligation," he said, "to protect a nation fighting us in Korea."

The following is a digest of President Eisenhower's state of the Union message to Congress yesterday.

Foreign policy—The free world must wrest the initiative from the aggressor through practical unity. The U. S. recognizes no secret pacts of the past which permit enslavement.

Korea—The U. S. Seventh Fleet no longer will "shield Communist China" by preventing Chinese Nationalists on Formosa from attacking the mainland.

Defense problem—Civil defense is "sheer necessity" because Russia incontrovertibly possesses atomic weapons. Production must be free of waste, high of quality. Win the cold war and avoid total war.

Economic policy — End wage-price-material controls April 30, but keep curbs on scarce defense items and on rents in critical housing areas. Begin balancing the budget and checking in flation before cutting taxes.

Loyalty and government—Executive agencies will rid themselves of all disloyal, unreliable workers. Presidential government-revamping powers would be continued as is.

Civil and social rights—The President will seek to end racial segregation in the armed services and Distric of Columbia.

Natural resources — Hawaii has earned statehood. It should be granted promptly. Conservation should be a federal-state-local program.

Four ruling purposes—(1) Deter aggression and secure peace; (2) Insure respect abroad through governing honestly and well; (3) Spur "creative initiative" in the economy, and (4) Unity through equality of opportunity for all.

The summons—A middle course between anarchy and bureaucracy at home and truculence and cowardice abroad.

—Veto—

(Continued from Page 1)

especially this voluntary aspect, is not present in this bill. I am convinced that compulsion should never be exerted until it is shown voluntary methods can not succeed.

"I wonder whether a bill is constitutional which says to a political organization, 'you can not nominate,' while saying to other organizations and individuals 'you can nominate and run.'

"All laws should be uniformly applicable—to all alike and without prejudice to any organizations or individuals."

The Bi-Partisan Selections Board, which is used to choose candidates for Honor Council, was set up under a gentleman's agreement between the two political parties. There is an equal number of representatives from each party on the board. If the parties decided they don't like the system, they can nominate individually.

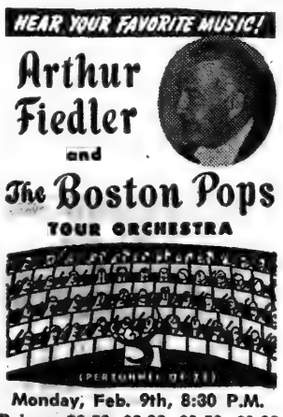
Two-thirds vote of Legislature is required by the constitution to over-rule presidential veto.

NOW! EXCLUSIVE

"LA RONDE" IT'S HERE

A RARE TREAT! THE MERRY GO ROUND OF LOVE

FRANCES' GREATEST FILM



"TODAY'S SHOWS AT 2:15-4:20-5:25 & 8:30 P.M."

Special Rates for Students

ASTOR—DURHAM

HEAR YOUR FAVORITE MUSIC!

Arthur Fiedler and The Boston Pops TOUR ORCHESTRA

Monday, Feb. 9th, 8:30 P.M.
Prices: $2.50, $2.00, $1.50, $1.00
Children ½ Price
N. C. State College
COLISEUM IN RALEIGH

DROPPED TITLES AT 68¢

Check the Titles You's Like

—Mary Garden's Story—Published at $1.00.

—Happy Holiday—A whacky travel folder, published at $1.00.

—Jackson Mahaffey—A tale of North Carolina cock-fighting, Published at $3.00.

—Uncle Julius and the Angel With Heartburn. Delightful warm humor. Published at $1.00.

—The Careless Clock. Poems by Mark Van Doren. Published at $3.00.

Bring the list in, and take what you like at only 68c per book!

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

Your first lesson is absolutely Free at any Arthur Murray Studio!

Do you think you have no talent for dancing...that good times and popularity can't be yours? Well, here's good news for you. Whether you're a timid beginner or just an old-fashioned dancer, here's your chance to find out that you can be a sought-after partner without risking a single penny.

You see, the Arthur Murray Way of learning to dance is different, better than any other, because you not only learn all the latest steps but develop your dormant personality while you're learning.

This you do at our Student Parties, a very important part of your course. At these parties you meet new people, dance with all types of dancers, get the feeling of being out in public. Even timid people become confident and their true, attractive personality comes out at these parties.

So don't wait. Come in now and have your FREE lesson. Get started on a new life of more good times than you've ever had before.

Copr. 1952—Arthur Murray, Inc.

Join the fun at ARTHUR MURRAY'S. Visit our Student Parties on Thursdays

ARTHUR MURRAY School of Dancing

104½ Morris St. Durham, N. C. at 5 Points

Don't Let Ugly Scars Mar The Beauty of Your Car

WE HAVE THE BEST BODY AND FENDER MEN IN THE STATE. THEY HAVE THE ABILITY, THE EXPERIENCE, AND THE FACILITIES TO DO ANY AUTO BODY REPAIRS. FROM FENDER SCRATCHES TO COMPLETE SMASH-UPS . . . WE'RE YOUR BOYS.

HAZZARD MOTOR CO.

SALE

SLACKS

SPECIAL GROUP
All Wool Grey Flannels

$8.95

SWEATERS

CASHMERE BLENDS

$9.95

ARGYLE SOX

Were $3.95

Now $2.69

AFTER SIX

TUXEDOES

$39.50

Harris Tweed TOPCOATS

Were $65 00

Now $49.00

TIMELY SPORT COATS

Were $55.00

Now $39.50

LARGE GROUP

SPORT COATS

$29.95

GROUP

OXFORD SHIRTS

3 for $9.95

Julian's College Shop

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-31-

WEATHER
Partly cloudy and cool with 52 high. Yesterday's high, 50; low, 35.

The Daily Tar Heel

MORE?
The editors say the athletes have enough financial aid. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI NUMBER 37 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

University Report On Awards Listed

Following is a complete breakdown on the University's scholarship report.

The first number after the name of the sport is the total of scholarships given at the figure listed at the extreme right. (Four grants totaling $2,100 are not listed.)

FOOTBALL		34	($1,200)
		31	($1,000)
		11	($633.50 to $180)
	Total	76	$75,637.50
BASKETBALL		9	($1,200)
		2	($1,000)
		2	($581)
		5	($50)
	Total	18	$14,212.00
TENNIS		3	($1,200)
		3	($101.50, $311.50 and $461.50)
		1	($50)
	Total	7	$4,524.50
SWIMMING		1	($463.50)
		3	($50)
	Total	4	$613.50
TRACK		2	($360.00 and $431.72)
		9	($50)
	Total	11	$1,241.72
BASEBALL		3	($243.50, $360.00 and $600.00)
		15	($50)
	Total	18	$1,953.50
GYMNASTICS
Lacrosse		1	($100.00)
		4	($50)
	Total	5	$300.00
WRESTLING		1	($50)
	Total	1	$50
TOTAL AWARDS		140	Total Amt. Spent $98,532.72

Carolina Leads In Aid To Big 4 Non-Athletes

Comparative figures reveal that UNC offers more non-athletic scholarship aid to its students than either Duke or State College.

Carolina ranks second in its amount of aid to athletes, falling behind Duke.

In addition to 353 non-athletic scholarships, the University grants a total of 144 scholarships to athletes. State offers only 72 athletic grants but plys $93,748 into them. while Duke expends $125,110 on athletes in 110 grants. Carolina's athletic aid totals $100,632.

The following is a comparative breakdown on individual sports at Carolina, Duke and State:

Football: Duke—93 players, $103,700; State — 72 players, $62,494; Carolina—76 players, $75,637.

Basketball: Duke — 16 players, $17,800; State — 27 players, $21,554; Carolina—18 players, $14,212.

Baseball: Duke—none; State — 13 players, $6,381; Carolina — 18 players, $1,953.

Tennis: Duke — none; State — none; Carolina — 7 players, $4,524.

Wrestling: Duke — none; State — none; Carolina—1 man, $50.

Track: Duke — 1 man, $500; State — 8 men, total not announced; Carolina — 11 men, $1,241.

Swimming: Duke — none; State — 12 men, no total; Carolina — 4 men, $613.50.

Gymnastics and lacrosse: Duke — none; Carolina — 5 men, $300.

Undergraduates also are given major aid at the three Big Four schools. Carolina has given 289 non-athletic undergraduates financial awards valued at $53,385, and 64 grants to graduate students worth $76,835. State College non-athletes receive 103 scholarships which amount to $16,250 plus 43 scholarships offered by foundations and private groups. Duke awards 424 non-athletes a sum of $156,705.

The only Big Four school which has not bared its financial setup for scholarships is Wake Forest. The Deacons have not made an announcement whether they would or not, but have been called on to do so by several of the state's leading newspapers.

Duke made its grants public after State published its list. Both State and UNC were ordered by the Trustees to compile the scholarship information while Duke did so on its own initiative.

Campus Seen

Small brown cocker, indifferent to economic prof's lecture on boom and bust, asleep at lecturer's feet.

*

Psychology professor, with big "No Smoking" sign in background, puffing away on cigaret day after day.

*

Student receiving draft notice forwarded from home with $5 bill tucked into envelope by understanding parents.

Marine Corps' Officer School Seeking Men

The Marine Corp's first 1953 office candidate course will begin March 12, Marine Corps Headquarters said yesterday.

College graduates who successfully complete the 10 week course will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve, at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va. Appications must be submitted by Feb. 20.

College graduates and seniors scheduled to graduate by March 1 are eligible for enrollment in this course. Upon successful completion of the 10 weeks training, the new econd lieutenants will attend the five months special basic course which is required of all newly-commissioned Marine officers. They are then given their first land, sea, or

(See MARINE, page 2)

Free Room

A student willing to work about 30 or 40 minutes a morning can get a free room for his services.

The work would be done between 8 and 9 a.m. each day. Those interested may obtain further information from the Dean of Students office or the Student Aid office, both located in South Building. The room is within 5 minutes walking distance of the campus.

UNC Man Builds His Telescope

By Jim Wilkinson

Few people cared that last Friday's eclipse of the moon was obscured by clouds. To Bill Beard, it was just short of catastrophic.

Bill is probably Chapel Hill's most avid amateur astronomer. With the aid of his home-made telescope he directs his attentions heavenward every chance he gets.

According to Bill, a chemistry major from St. George, S. C., his interest in astronomy started several years ago when he happened upon a book on the constellations. Like some people take to memorizing limericks, Bill took to memorizing these heavenly formations, about 60 of them he estimates.

His interest aroused, he learned that it was possible to construct his own telescope. With a set of plans under one arm and a "pile of junk" under the other, his work began. Still in high school, he completed the telescope in 1950 in a somewhat cruder form than it is now.

Using assorted nuts, bolts and salvaged stove pipes as his chief ingredients, he constructed the apparatus for approximately $30. This included the cost of the mirror kit and the expense of sending the glass to New York for polishing.

Bill can get up to 145 magnifications on his telescope. That is enough to see the moon's craters, the ring around Saturn and various other Celestial landmarks.

There are two other eyepieces of 25 and 35 magnifications. These are better for viewing such objects as the double cluster in Percius, one of his favorites. That, explained Bill, is the only double cluster in the heavens and gives an astronomer double his money's worth.

When this writer visited Bill in his room at Old West, his silver painted brain-child was standing in the middle of the floor, mounted on a permanent tri-pod.

It's pretty convenient, I remarked, that you can just poke the nose out the window and observe from here.

Wincing at such an unscientific approach, he explained that the instrument had to be taken out into the open because the indoor temperature affected it to such a degree that vision was blurred. Therefore, his "observatory" is anywhere on the campus that best suits the purpose.

Last Friday, Bill lugged his 50-pound telescope over to Emerson Field and prepared to observe the eclipse. Twice before he had missed the phenomena. nce because his glass was in New York being aluminized and again because he was out of town.

This time he was ready.

But so were the clouds. Almost spitefully, they drifted in just in time for the eclipse and moved on when the show was over.

Science marches on!

Mrs. Roosevelt Talks Tonight

Will Address Coeds At 4:30 This Afternoon

Evening's Speech Set At 8 O'Clock In Memorial Hall

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, past United Nations delegate and once first lady of the land, will conclude her North Carolina speaking tour tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

The former United States representative to the UN spoke last night to a Duke University audience. She will spend the early part of today at Woman's College in Greensboro, driving to UNC this afternoon.

University officials and members of the Carolina Forum will greet Mrs. Roosevelt at the Carolina Inn prior to her talk to the coeds at 4:30 in Hill Hall. She will tell of her experiences in the White House this special meeting sponsored by the Valkyries.

Seats in Hill Hall will be held for women students until 4:15. After that time seats will be available to all interested women.

This is the second convocation for women which Mrs. Roosevelt has given in Hill Hall. The first was on February 2, 1950 when her address was sponsored by the Coed Senate. At that time she was in Chapel Hill to deliver the annual Weil lectures on citizenship.

Mrs. Roosevelt's schedule today includes a 6:15 press conference and a 6:30 dinner in her hono rat the Carolina Inn. University officials, faculty and a number of students wil attend the dinner sponsored by the forum.

U. S. in the United Nations" will

Her address, "The Role of the be given in Memorial Hall. A period of questions and answers will follow the main talk. Members of the Apha Pi Omega, service fraternity, will serve as ushers for the evening.

The program will be broadcast over WUNC and tape recorded for further use by WCHL. Plans include a reception in Graham Memorial at the conclusion of the meeting.

The world-known woman diplomat was chairman of the Human Rights Commission of the UN, holding the post until recently. She has become famous for her part in drawing up the Human Rights Covnant.

Mrs. Roosevelt has established also a reputation as an author through her several accounts of public and private life, much of it in the White House.

The Carolina Forum is sponsoring her University talks and visit.

Gray Will Request Increase In Budget

Gordon Gray goes before a Legislature budget committee at 2 o'clock today in Raleigh to ask for an increase in the University's appropriation for the biennium 1953-1955.

The Consolidated University president is expected to request more funds in the areas of permanent improvement and maintenance of physical facilities. The Advisory Budget Commission has recommended that the Legislature spend $6,646, 576 on the University at Chapel Hill during the 2-year period. This is almost entirely for operations.

This figure includes only $400,000 for permanent improvements at the Chapel Hill branch, out of $5,665,000 originally requested.

The Advisory Budget Commission also refused to recommend renewal of the salaries of three development officers in the University. Gray will almost certainly ask that these salaries be restored. His development program has received much praise from educators.

Gray appeared before the same committee last Wednesday to ask for an increase in the appropriation to the Experimental Station, a sub-division of State College.

Shorter Hours Are Scheduled By Bus Station

H. C. Pearce, manager of the local bus station, said yesterday that effective Monday the station will close at 8 p.m. four days a week.

This schedule will be in effect Monday through Thursday. The old schedule of a 10 p.m. closing time will operate on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Pearce said. The station will continue to open at 7 a.m.

Pearce said the shorter hours are made necessary by a decline in business in the evening. He said the station is not making enough money to meet its expenses at the late evening hours.

For those who come in after the station has closed, the outside lights will be kept on and there is an outside phone on which to call a taxi, Pearce noted.

Pearce said bus schedules will remain the same and people who ride busses after closing hours can still meet them at the station.

Canasta-Bridge Party Planned Next Wednesday

Chapel Hill's American Legion Auxiliary will hold a benefit bridge-canasta party next Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. in the Main Lounge of Graham Memorial. Admission is 75 cents a person and $3 a table. Money goes to the various Auxiliary benefits. Everyone is invited.

Miss Randolph Named To Post With Hospital

Miss Rebecca Randolph has assumed her duties as director of the Department of Social Service at the Memorial Hospital.

She also is associate professor in conjunction with the School of Social Work at the University. She came here from the Glenn Dale Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Glenn Dale, Mo. ,where she was Director of Social Service.

Miss Randolph is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. Oscar Randolph of Morganton. Her father, an alumnus of the University, was at one time a member of the faculty of the Geology Department here.

Miss Randolph attended high school in Morganton and received her A.B. degree from the Woman's College. She subsequently earned a Masters degree in social service at William and Mary Extension in Richmond and a Master of Social Work degree at the Pennsylvania School of Social Work in Philadelphia.

Her first experience was that of social worker in the family and children's society in Baltimore where she worked until she became associated with the American Red Cross in 1944.

Miss Randolph was on the staff of the Red Cross hospital unit at National Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Md., as a medical social worker and in supervisory and administrative capacities, remaining there until her appointment at Glenn Dale in 1950.

MISS REBECCA RANDOLPH

MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

Library Shows Early Conflict 'On Drinking'

The first in a series of displays sponsored by the English Club is located in the west wing of the Library.

The current exhibition employs rare books, manuscripts and contemporary illustrations to demonstrate the conflicting views of Addison and Steele "On Drinking." Their disagreement on this point is symptomatic of a basic personality difference which is often apparent in their writings.

The display, which was prepared by members of the English Club under the supervision of John Schnorrenberg, contains many interesting literary items. Prof. Richmond P. Bond has loaned a volume containing the complete run of the "Tatler" in its original sheets and a volume from the first collected edition (1714) of the "Spectator."

Also on display is a manuscript letter to Mrs. Steele: "Dear Prue, Sober or not I am ever yours, Richard Steele."

NEWS IN BRIEF

LONDON — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced yesterday that the British government has protested to the United States against President Eisenhower's decision to deneutralize Formosa. Eden made the announcement in the House of Commons shortly after Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived here from Paris on his fact-finding tour of Europe. It was indicated that British anxiety over the President's go-ahead signal to the Chinese Nationalists to raid the Communist - held mainland would take precedence over European issues in Dulles 'talks here.

★

AMSTERDAM — Known dead in the storm and flood disaster in three countries passed the 1,500 mark yesterday. In Holland alone 50,000 persons faced resettlement in new homes. The damage from salt water to nearly a million acres of flooded land was reckoned in uncalculated millions of dollars. The sea waters were slowly receding in Britain, but distress calls still came in from isloated villages in Holland.

★

DURHAM—Authoritative sources reported late yesterday afternoon that Duke University's James Wesley (Red) Smith and three other outstanding athletes have been suspended from school for "scholastic misconduct." Eight students in all were involved in the action, which was recommended by the Students' Judiciary Board, it was reported. In addition to Red Smith, the athletes believed involved are George Carso nLeach, Truett A. Grant, and Christian LaCaruba, all of whom starred on the Duke football team last fall. The names of the other four students were not available.

(See NEWS BRIEFS, page 2)

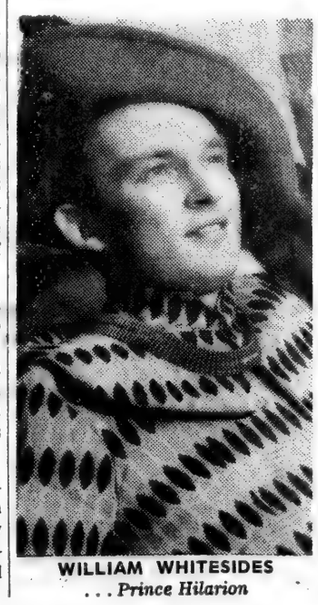
APO Chapter Initiates 20; Installs Unit

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, recentiy accepted 20 pledges in initation ceremonies at Graham Memorial.

They were William H. Dameson, Henry E. Campbell, Harold Austin, Kenneth L. Frye, Jim F. Hicks, Oiver James Hart, Harry L. Heilig, Anthony Higgins, Charles R. Niblack, Fred N. Isenhower, Bernet Mendelsohn, James M. Morrow, Troy Page, Maheon R. Parker, Peter M. Polander, Billy M. Sessoms, Hugh Z. White ,Rupert L. Williams, Jack Edward and John Earnhardt.

The chapter traveled to the campus of Eastern Carolina College, Greenville, to install the 269th APO chapter in America. Ceremonies for

(See APO, page 3)



February Doings

The new edition of the SUAB Activities Calendar is being distributed today.

The calendar gives the dates and tmies of all important events occurring at UNC during February. It includes YM and YWCA meetings, basketball games, forums and organizational meets.

The Prince Remembered, Too

Playmakers' Musical Recalls Counterpart Of 20 Years Ago

WILLIAM WHITESIDES
. . . Prince Hilarion

By Betty Johnson

"Ida was a twelvemonth old,
Twenty years ago!
I was twice her age, I'm told,
Twenty years ago!"

As Prince Hilarion remembers his childhood betrothal to Princess Ida, history repeats itself.

On Feb. 2, 20 years ago, the curtains parted on the first musical produced by the Carolina Playmakers—"Princess Ida." Directed by Harry Davis, who staged "The Inspector General" this season, the cast featured Foster Fitz-Simons as King Gama, with Samuel Selden as associate and technical director.

Twenty years ago, The Daily Tar Heel called this production a "triumph of spontaneity, polish and casual wit, with an extraordinary measure of brilliance." Twenty years ago, "Princess Ida" was something new, the first Gilbert and Sullivan attempted by

(See PRINCESS, page 2)

NANCY MURRAY
. . . Princess Ida

Gimmie, Gimmie

And they want more . . .

More than the $100,00 donated by alumni and friends to further the athletic cause and athletic policy here. More money for more athletes and money out of the Book X profits.

The Daily Tar Heel does not understand the need for more money for ahletes, especially money from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, when friends and alumni have been kind enough to launch and maintain a huge athletic program. Why break a Carolina tradition? Let's keep the policy of having the University take care of the academic end of scholarship programs—Chancellor House's statement. "No a cent of these funds comes from University appropriations, student fees or athletic gate receipts." is something we would like to hear three months from now.

The book exchange profits are not earmarked for athletic scholarships. There is $100,000 for athletes coming from the "Educational" foundation. Let those who need it most get the profits under the grants-in-aid program. Incidentally, athletes aren't disqualified from grants-in-aid and scholarships, programs. (They merely have to compete ith others.)

* * * *

Anybody who knows much about football has known that UNC enthusiasts have paid their athletes well. The Chancellor's report, however, is startling because of the upper financial hand athletes have over non-athletes:

That is a two-to-one ratio in finances and a four-to one ratio in numbers.

* * * *

Chancellor House has recognized the need for more endowed scholarships. He points out that UNC is indeed grateful to John Motley Morehead for providing a tremendous scholarship program for graduates and undergraduates (high school seniors will be interviewed in March for the scholarships). Morehead has been a consistent and beloved benefactor of the Univrsity. His contributions in the scholarship field have made and will make the University a greater school. This new program, amounting to about $300,000 a year will make the athletic program look like chicken feed.

What The Daily Tar Heel wants to know is why isn't their more emphasis on the real and basic program of the University, the thing that is supposed to make us distinct from the technical school at Raleigh, and Greensboro.

What kind of financial program has been launched for the liberal arts and humanities phase of the University? Funds come in for athletics; monies pour in for new business buildings, new medical schools, salaries for dental professors, and other professional programs. The annual alumni giving program which goes into affect this year is a step in the right direction to aid liberal arts, but is it enough?

The people of the State need to know that the University is more than just a football university or a vocational laboratory. It is more than just a basketball, tennis, swimming, track, or even lacrosse University. It is a way of life, an educational center in the real sense of the word, a training ground for future leaders.

It is much easier to sell football or basketball than social research or a chair in oriental history. Yet, surely, that is what the University must do if it is to have an educational policy.

The figures show a need for more academic scholarships. The University has sold its athletic program.

It is time to secure "millions for academics but not one cent for athletics."

Welcome, Mrs. Roosevelt

A former first lady visits the campus today to talk about the USA's part in the United Nations.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has appeared here as a Weil lecturer, as the 1935 graduation speaker and as a guest on other occasions. The Daily Tar Heel welcomes her once again.

Interest in the UN has been more than mild here. There is a move afoot to create a campus-ized mock UN Assembly. The Phi Assembly plans to bring an arch foe of the United Nations as a speaker here soon. Whether you think that the UN is the best agency to secure world peace, whether you think that the UN is stealing American sovereignty, or whether you are perplexed, Mrs. Roosevelt's talk should be enlightening and is worthy of your attendance.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Rolfe Neill

Dan Duke

No Way Out

The fundamental and most personal freedom of Americans is the right to political and spiritual heresy. We may agree or disagree with majority views and government. If we disagree, we may violently criticise the popular views and the existing government, and we may advocate and endorse the most eccentric political and religious heresies.

Yet there are no Constitutional grounds for Communism and Communists in America, and should not be.

This seeming contradiction — that we Americans have the right to be political heretics but not Communists — is easily resolved. Communism is not a heresy. It is an out and out conspiracy. If Communism only advocated its system of government economics, it too would be a mere heresy. But this is not the case. Communism, in contrast to other heresies, does not compete fairly in the free market of ideas. Instead it openly conspires to use any means, any lies, any deception to hurry the rise and spread of Communism and to bring about what they call "the inevitable downfall of Capitalism" (Western democracy). Quite boldly they plot to overthrow all non-communist governments. There is no compromise. They deny the very right we have already deemed fundamental—the right to political heresy. There is no way out for the Communist, except by revolt. He cannot change his mind or criticise or advocate change. Communism allows no minority rights, no Constitutional means to change the type, or personnel, of government. He is hopelessly enslaved to whatever program, whichever direction the Communist regime moves.

Briefly that is why we are against Communism. It violates our basic concepts of freedom and contradicts our value and respect for the individual.

Dorman Cordell

The Square Wheel

Lo, brethren, woe is upon me. There are awful rumors going around that a movement is afoot to replace the square wheel with a round one in Chapel Hill. And you know what that would do to the deah old traditions of Chapel Hill. Ah, woe is us!

Just look about you. Think of the atmosphere we have by preserving the good old days intact. You can remember it when you walk down our dirt sidewalks. And when you sink in mud up to your elbows, or fall into one of those gullies which are too deep to climb out of, sing the praises of the status quo. Anyhow, don't you think it will develop your feet to get all those pebbles in your shoes when you walk down the sidewalk?

Those terrible advocates of modernism just haven't looked at our beautiful traditions or they couldn't possibly want to institute that nasty old round wheel and upset everything.

After all, we've done our darndest to keep the colonial atmosphere. The town fathers have decreed that all commercial concerns shall be built on a colonial style of architecture. Now this appeals to everybody, even if it does cost a few thousand extra dollars to build a building this way. After all, it's only money.

Then we have done our best to preserve our deah old well. The only thing is, it isn't quite in its old form. Some radical did away with the hog wallow that was there after that scabby little rebellion about 90 years ago, and they have taken down the old oaken bucket. You see, that's the kind of thing these irresponsible innovations are likely to bring about.

And there are other deah old traditions of Chapel Hill which one only has to see to appreciate. But just think: the introduction of this round wheel will upset everything. If we let this happen, the next thing you know, they'll want us to educate women and let them vote, or they'll try to make us put bathtubs in our houses, and all those other new-fangled things.

We must forget that change in itself is not necessarily good. Arise, Chapel Hillians, speak out at once against this dangerous innovation. Keep the square wheel for Chapel Hill.

"Hello, Ike? I Think We're Under Attack"

Ron Levin

Conglomeration

Plagued with gnawing pangs indicating that E Hour was close at hand, our friend, Joe, quickly fell in line at one of the many up town fashionable, attractive, and altogether obnoxious eateries in our fair city. This was a cafeteria and the very word struck an ominous note, for Joe had been through three major skirmishes here and once was even recommended for the Purple Heart. (This had come about when an elderly lady in front of him dropped her little plate of cookies and Joe, leaning over to pick them up for her, was jabbed in the logical spot with a fork by an over irate coed for causing her to be late in getting to the main trough with her girl friends.)

The trays loomed up ahead and our hero anxiously waited with clammy hands. Pouncing upon what he thought to be a clean one, Joe was dismayed to find a few remnants of Monday's spinach lying quietly in a far corner of the tray. But the offensive had begun and there was no turning back now. Several of the older veterans passed the word along to "close it up" and faces became grim. The salads were first and Joe reached out for a full bowl. He was, however, faked out by a music major with long arms and dexterous fingers, and after a few feeble attempts the assault was given up. (Salads aren't good for you anyway . . . too much roughage.) But big things lay at hand. T-Bone Hill was not far off, and already a silence fell upon the line. Joe saw there were two small steaks left and there were two people ahead of him. Anxiously he awaited their decision. "T-bone . . . make it two." Muttering small curses Joe resignedly accepted his Slobbovian meat loaf and marched on. After procuring two small bowls with a few peas in one and a rather large lima bean in the other, he moved on. The bread line was not too crowded and a few stale crusts were soon added to the growing (pile?) . . . on the tray. However, the worst was yet to come. Joe steeled hmiself for the moment when confronted by ice water, butter, chocolate, and plain milk, tea, coffee, dessert, and a particularly obese cash registrar he would have to be quick yet sure in his choice. This was it. His hand darted out and the vision in front of him was obscured by a flurry of darting fingers. Joe looked down to see what he had gotten, and found three lemon slices, two small cream jiggers, and a broken glass staring at him from the tray. Ah well, he had been entirely too optimistic although rumors had been circulated around that one day at a fairly slack lunch hour, one student had actually gotten a half pint of milk, but one could hardly take these rumors at full value. He reached in his pocket for a wrinkled bill, and as he did the line behind . . . ever pushing onward, pushed ever so slightly and the crash resounded throughout the mess hall as the tray hit the fan . . . uh . . . floor. Older veterans turned with a barrage of contemptuous haughty glares, and several gleeful titters came from the nearest trou . . . table of coeds. Joe meekly looked up at the cashier who with a horrible leer said in a voice loud enough to be heard in Woollen, "that'll be a dollar eighteen with the tax."

I ask ya now, what's a guy gonna do?

—Princess—

(Continued from Page 1)

the Playmakers, with Elise Cortese, professional singer, in the title role created this season by Nancy Murray.

This season, "Princess Ida" is again something new, keyed to the times by director William Hardy, and played against colorful stylized sets by William I. Long. Several members of the cast toured last spring with the Playmakers' original hit musical, "Spring For Sure."

This season, as 20 years ago, tickets are selling for the Playmakers' "Princess Ida," which opens Friday for a three-night run in Memorial Hall.

The Battle Rages

Sacred Past

The professor had asked one of his students to see him after class.

"Mr. Jones," he said, "I see where you have selected a novel by Hemingway for your parallel reading."

"Yessir."

"After I said that you'd do better to choose a nineteenth century novel?"

"Yessir," said Jones, "But you gave us our choice, and I'm more interested in the twentieth century. I live in it and I'm more interested in its problems."

"The function of the study of the humanities," said the professor, "Is not to teach a man to solve contemporary problems, but to equip him to lead a rich contemporary life."

"Oh," said Jones.

"And I feel quite sure," said the professor, "That you will be able to write a better report on a novel like Moby Dick, and you will surely get a better grade."

"Oh," said Jones.

"You see," said the professor, "By reading the works of dead writers, your life will be made more significant, your mind will be broadened, and you will know more about yourself as a man."

The professor paused so that Jones could fully grasp what he was saying.

"And by improving ourselves generally as men," the professor continued, "We become by accident more able to deal with the practical problems of life."

The professor paused and looked into Jones' eyes, which were now very dull and listless.

"My course," said the professor, "is a survey of American literature from 1850 to the present. The term is short, and I must select the better literature. Obviously then, we must concentrate our efforts on the literature of the nineteenth century. And what time is left we devote to the twentieth century — early twentieth century."

"Then, you don't think we'll get to Hemingway or Steinbeck?" said Jones sadly.

"No," said the professor, "You see, those men are still alive. The Humanities should deal with dead people. They are the ones who have wisdom and sensitivity. They are the ones who stimulate one's intellect, subtilize one's feelings, and give one a calm inner understanding. They are the ones who will take you to the great storehouse of learning. They are the ones who will make you a complete man."

"Oh," said Jones.

Retort

This little literary controversy is getting pretty good. It's nice to get away from politics and war every now and then and to interest ourselves in gentler topics. The main point of the present discussion is well stated in the article written by an English Club member for Tuesday's Tar Heel. Its thesis is presented in such a way that almost no one will want to disagree with it. If it, or the less calm articles by Wood and me, move you to want to say some thing, for heaven's sake write it out and drop it at the Tar Heel office. Seriously, the tone of the paper would be helped considerably by the inclusion of a few more pieces by non-staff members on art, philosophy, and literature.

Again I have to say that Wood doesn't practice what he preaches. His comments on The Old Man and The Sea show use of words as something other than mere tools. Notice his use of repetition and parallelism. Those are rhetorical devices which Hemmingway uses a great deal too. He goes on to say that Hemmingway used "no superfluous words or phrases,"—he has fooled you Mr. Wood. The story only gives the appearance of having no superfluous words, because Hemmingway is adept at what Horace would call "the art of concealing art." As matter of fact, Hemmingway originally wrote down the story in one paragraph. No. I don't think fiction ever was the presentation of a story in the least number of operable words.

Wood says that he does not think The Old Man is "allegorical or symbolic", and I suspect those words to him stand for something bad (since one finds them where words are not used to say directly what one means). I will end with a well-worded quotation from Bernard Berenson on this point: "No real artist symbolizes or allegorizes—and Hemmingway is a real artist—but every real work of art exhales symbols and allegories. So does this short but real masterpiece."

—News Briefs—

(Continued from page 1)

TAIPEH, Formosa — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek yesterday hailed President Eisenhower's declaration that the U. S. 7th Feet no longer would block any Nationalist China attempt to attack the Chinese mainland as "militarily and morally sound." And he added, "I would like to assure our friends abroad that the Republic of China will not ask aid from ground forces of any nation to achieve our goal." But he did not mention air or naval support ,and observers here thought it was implicit in his statement that he woud welcome sea and air support.

Throw 'Em Out

Scientists of Baylor University's Biology department dispose of completed experiments by throwing out the window everything from elephant's trunks to snail's shells can be found lying outside the building. Inevitably several complaints were registered by passerbys. The debris has caught some of them off guard. The head of the biology department answered the complainers by saying, "This just isn't the way to dispose of used biology experiments."

—Marine—

(Continued from page 1)

air assignment.

According to the announcement, a majority of new officers are now afforded the opportunity to attend specialist schools for additional training in such subjects as communications, supply, artillery, naval gunfire, naval flight training, ordnance, tank, motor transport and others. The remainder are assigned to various billets in the fleet Marine force. All serve on active duty for two years.

The officer training program is open to both married and single men. Interested men should contact Maj. F. C. Caldwell at the Naval Armory here.

Sedgman Is Rated By Many As Top Player Of This Era

By Vardy Buckalew

Frank Sedgman of Victoria, Australia, is rated by many tennis experts as the greatest player of this era. The only man in tennis today who could possibly challenge that rating is Jack Kramer, the "old" pro from Los Angeles. At present the two are touring the continent in a "World Series" of tennis and one of the matches will be played in Chapel Hill on February 23, in Woollen Gym.

Tickets for the professional tennis matches to be staged in Woollen Gym on Monday night, Feb. 23, are on sale at the gym ticket office. Student tickets are $1.25; general admission $1.75; and reserved seats $2.50.

After turning pro, Sedgman continued to play the brilliant game which won for him every major amateur tennis title, and although he lost the first two matches to Kramer, now leads him 11-8.

However, beating great tennis players is nothing new to Aussie Sedgman who has taken on all comers and been practically unbeatable. He has been personally responsible for keeping the Davis Cup in Australia for the last three years, being undefeated in all of his Davis Cup sessions in 1950, '51, and '52. That includes wins in six singles and three doubles.

FRANK SEDGMAN

He is the current singles champion of the Wimbledon tournament and present holder of the United States singles crown. He was singles champ of Australia for three years from 1949-1951.

He and Ken McGregor have held a strong grip on most of the international doubles crowns since 1951. Among these are two Davis Cup titles, two French, one U. S., two British and two Aussie titles. Their sweep of the British, U. S., Aussie, nad French titles in 1951 was an unprecedented achievement.

Sedgman was born in Melbourne, October 29, 1917, and he was tutored by his father. Tennis just happened to be the sport he excells in, but authorities in Australia claim that he would be a great star in any one of several other sports—cricket, Australian Rules football, or basketball.

Sedgman was married to Jean Spence in January of last year and when three Australian newspapers raised a cash wedding present of $12,300, many critics called the fund a bribe to make sure that Sedgman remained an amateur and that the Davis Cup remained in Australia.

However, Sedgman proved this wrong in December last year when, after successfully defending the Davis Cup again, he and McGregor turned pro to give Kramer and Segura a run for their money.

Carolina Moves Six Places In Associated Press Voting

Carolina's basketball team, unrated two weeks ago and ranked 18th nationally last week ,rose six places to 12th place in the Associated Press poll this week.

N. C. State, last week's 12th place team dropped three notches to 15th.

Seton Hall remained undefeated during the week and remained in the first place spot for the third week in a row. The Pirates from South Orange, N. J. are the only major undefeated college team in the country.

Seton Hall topped all the other teams in the nation by 101 votes, the biggest margin it has amassed thus far. The Pirates won two games last week to run its string to 21 straight and command 38 of the 79 first place votes.

While Indiana was idle last week because of exams, it still held on to a slight margin over the Washington Huskies for second place. The Huskies won three games while on a holiday trip to Hawaii. Washington polled 528 votes.

LaSalle of Philadelphia, last year's National Invitational Tournament winner; Kansas State and Illinois kept the next three places in the ratings unchanged, but under three the lineup went through a thorough shuffle.

De Paul of Chicago ,an impressive winner over Notre Dame Saturday, moved up from 10th place to seventh; Western Kentucky advanced from ninth to eight on the strength of two 100-point scoring sprees against Tampa, and Louisiana State climbed from 11th to 10th.

Okahoma A and M dropped back a notch to ninth place in spite of winning two games last week and Fordham skidded from seventh rank clear down to 13th after losing to St. John's of Brooklyn and barely beating Yale.

Four newcomers, California, Oghoma City, Holy Cross, and Niagara broke in to the second ten.

MONOGRAM MEETING

The Monogram Club will meet tomorrow night at 7:15 in the club room to discuss important plans for the remainder of the year.

Initiation of new letter winners will be planned. A club social will also be discussed.

MURALS

Entries in both the fraternity and dormitory divisions of the soccer tournament will close tomorrow. Competition will begin next week sometime.

Lab conflicts, etc., should be registered when the entries are made.

Today's Basketball

4:00—Court 1, Sigma Chi 2 vs Kappa Sig 2; Court 2, Zeta Psi 4 vs Pi Kappa Phi 2; Court 3, PiKA 1 vs SAE 3; Court 4, Med School 2 vs Emerson 2; Court 5, Delta Sigma Pi vs Chi Phi 1; Court 6, Winston 2 vs Cobb 2; Court 7, Phi Delt 1 vs Pi Lamb.

5:00—Court 1, Lambda Chi 2 vs Phi Gam 4; Court 2, Sigma Chi 3 vs Sigma Nu 1; Court 3, Med School 3 vs Mangum; Court 4, ATO 1 vs Beta 3; Court 5, Alexander 2 vs Graham 2; Court 6, Dental School vs Emerson 1; Court 7, Zeta Psi 1 vs DKE 1.

Today's Table Tennis

4:00—Phi Gam 3 vs ATO 4; 4:40—Phi Kappa Sig 1 vs Winner (Kappa Sig 1 vs Phi Gam 4); 5:20—Pi Lamb vs TEP 1; 7:00—Med School 1 vs Emerson; 7:40—Med School 4 vs Alexander; 8:20 — Winston vs Med School 2.

Monday's Basketball

Lewis-4	41	Alexander-2	53
Winston-3	41	Joyner-3	39
Lewis-1	27	Cobb-2	78
Graham-2	59	BVP-2	31
Cobb-4	47	Grimes-1	38
Ruffin-1	22	Aycock-2	35
Kap Sig-3	31	Kap Psi-2	33
ZBT-1	27	SPE-1	35
Sig Chi-3	67	SPE-2	27
ATO-1	51	Zetes-4	26
Sig Nu-2	54	Chi Psi-2	28
PiKA-1	78	Kap Sig-2	11
Phi Gam-2	64	PiKA-2	24
Sig Chi-1	79	Sig Nu-3	46
Sig Chi-2	34	Pi Kap Phi-2	53
Beta-3	24	SAE-3	15
ATO-3	94	DKE-1	26
DKE-2	52	Chi Psi-3	23
TEP-1	35	Phi Kap Sig-1	68
Phi Gam-4	14	ZBT-2	30
Chi Phi-2	29	Zetes-1	47
Phi Kap Sig-2	35	Phi Delt-2	38
Pi Kap Phi-1	34	Sig Nu-1	36
Lamb Chi-2	24	Theta Chi-1	46
Kap Psi-1	45	TEP-2	62

On Valentine's Day
GIVE
World's Best Limericks
Not very refined, but sister many a guys heart can be weakened by working on his funny-bone.
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

ICE CAPADES OF 1953
THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE
Mail order for tickets
COLISEUM IN RALEIGH
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
N. C. State College—P. O. Box 5905
RALEIGH, N. C.
Children ½ Price Friday Matinee Only
Mon. Eve. Feb. 16 — Tue. Eve. Feb. 17 — Wed. Eve. Feb. 18 — Thur. Eve. Feb. 19 — Frid. Mat. Feb. 20 — Frid. Eve. Feb. 20 — Sat. Mat. Feb. 21 — Sat. Eve. Feb. 21
Enclosed is $_____ for _____ tickets at $_____ each
Price: $3.00 $2.50 $2.00 $1.50
Name _____ Address _____
City _____ State _____ Phone No. _____
PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS

Spider Web Stops UNC, 87-82

Richmond Gets Overtime Win; Terps Lose Too

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 3—(Special) — Carolina nearly lost first place in the Southern Conference here tonight as Richmond took the Tar Heels in two overtime periods, 87-82.

Maryland's lose to George Washington, 63-62, left Carolina in the conference lead with a 13-2 record. The Terpins' loss gave them a showing of 7-2 in SC play.

Richmond's Spiders lived up to their nickname as they crawled all over the court to lead Carolina all the way. The Spiders used but six men in the whole game while UNC uesd all but one of the 13 men it brought along for tonight's game.

Richmond's accuracy on the foul line was the thing that stopped the Tar Heels. And in stopping the UNC cagers, the Richmond team assured itself a berth in the conference tourney next month. The Richmond team hit 35 of 47 chances on the free throw line while Carolina could make but 18 of 24.

UNC managed to get 32 field goals to Richmond's 26.

Jerry Harrison with 26 points was high man for the winners, followed by Jim Lysagth with 22 points. Jerry Vayda led the Carolina attack with 20 points and was followed by Bud Maddie with 14 and Paul Likins with 10.

Vince Grimaldi, Gene Glancy, Maddie and Lifson all fouled out for Carolina.

When the game went into overtime at 74-74, Tony Radovich and Glancy tossed in a field goal apiece to even it up at 79-79 and force another overtime period. Richmond eased away in the second overtime to win the game 87 to 82.

Radovich, Glancy and Vayda sparked the last quarter of play to enable Carolina to gain the game's end tie. Radovich alone got six field goals in the last quarter.

Score by periods:

Richmond	—	19	36	61	74—79—87
Carolina	—	17	33	54	74—79—82

—APO—

(Continued from page 1)

installation were held last Tuesday night at the Woman's Club in Greenville. William S. Roth of Chapel Hill acted as installing officer.

Acceptance for the college was made by President John D. Messick and Dean of Men Clinton R. Prewitt.

The ECC chapter, made up of 32 charter members, is the first non-professional fraternity at East Carolina. Membership is open to men duly enrolled and in good standing at the college who are or have been previously affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America.

Odd Or Even?

Today is the last day for holders of odd-numbered passbooks to trade them for reserved-seat tickets to the Carolina-N. C. State game in Woollen Gym on Saturday night, February. 21.

Even-numbered passbooks may be traded tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. Any

DROPPED TITLES AT 68¢
Check the Titles You's Like
—Mary Garden's Story—Published at $1.00.
—Happy Holiday—A whacky travel folder, published at $1.00.
—Jackson Mahaffey—A tale of North Carolina cock-fighting, Published at $3.00.
—Uncle Julius and the Angel With Heartburn. Delightful warm humor. Published at $1.00.
—The Careless Clock. Poems by Mark Van Doren. Published at $3.00.
Bring the list in, and take what you like at only 68c per book!
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

SALE
Specials On Slacks

WERE	NOW
$22.95	$18.95
19.95	16.95
18.95	14.95
17.95	13.95
16.95	12.95

TIMELY PLATEAU TOP COATS WERE 69.50 NOW 56.95
IMPORTED Domestic Flannel SUITS WERE $59.50 NOW $48.75
HARRIS TWEED SPORT COATS SPECIAL GROUP $33.95
SPECIAL GROUP ALL-SILK TIES WERE 2.50 NOW 1.49
IMPORTED FLANNEL AND TWEED SUITS WERE 65.00 NOW 54.95
SPECIAL GROUP WOMEN'S Cashmere Sweaters REDUCED 25%
Julian's College Shop

Tuxedos For Rent
Varley's MEN'S SHOP
Phone 6291

BREAKING THE SOUND BARRIER
Starring RALPH RICHARDSON
ANN TODD • NIGEL PATRICK
JOHN JUSTIN • with DINAH SHERIDAN
A David Lean Production • Story and Screenplay by Terence Rattigan • Released by Lopert Films Distributing Corp
A London Films Presentation • Distributed thru United Artists
Last Times
T-O-D-A-Y
Varsity

HERE IT IS!
PHILIP MORRIS KING-SIZE
—the only leading King-Size cigarette made an exclusively different way to avoid the main cause of irritation!
NOW! PHILIP MORRIS is available in the new KING-SIZE for longer smoking enjoyment.
Remember, you'll feel better when you change to PHILIP MORRIS. In case after case, coughs due to smoking disappear . . . parched throat clears up . . . that stale, "smoked-out" feeling vanishes!
So take your choice, but make your choice PHILIP MORRIS—America's Most Enjoyable Cigarette!
KING-SIZE or REGULAR you cannot buy any other cigarette of equal quality!

KING-SIZE or REGULAR
YOU'LL FEEL BETTER
smoking PHILIP MORRIS
CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS

Bible Study Group

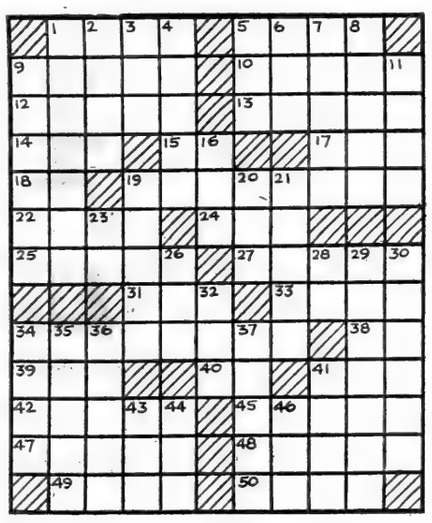
The Bible Study group of the YMCA will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the YMCA. Dr. Bernard Boyd will speak.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club will meet on Thursday night at 6 o'clock in the upstairs dining room of Lenoir Hall.

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS



1. Lower corner of square sail
5. Evil spirit (Haiti)
9. Small job (var.)
10. Conform
12. Threadlike growths
13. Island off Italy
14. Grampus
15. Type measure
17. Small explosion
18. King of Bashan (Bib.)
19. People of Arabia
22. Old world lizard
24. Prefix to Scotch names
25. Muse of lyric poetry
27. Money drawers
31. Tree
33. Kind of tide
34. Granting
38. Perform
39. Fresh
40. Behold!
41. Fuss
42. Coronet
45. Of old times (poetic)
47. Mistake
48. Scorches
49. Appear
50. Fruit-bearing parts of cereal plants

DOWN

1. A war horse
2. Secular
3. Blunder
4. River (Eur.)
5. Ferry-boat (var.)
6. Girl's name
7. Greek letter
8. Protective garment
9. Pick out
11. Slants
16. Mayan Indian
19. Showy flower
20. Nocturnal mammal
21. Frosting
23. Papa
26. Ancient
28. French article
29. Scaling devices
30. Eating utensils
32. Wire measure
34. Poker stake
35. Dams
36. Conscious
37. Rope with running knot
41. Jewish month
43. Spawn of fish
44. Fortify
46. Marshy meadow

Saturday's Answer

DO YOU THINK you have no talent for dancing...that good times and popularity can't be yours? Well, here's good news for you. Whether you're a timid beginner or just an old-fashioned dancer, here's your chance to find out that you can be a sought-after partner and have more fun without risking a single penny.

You see, the Arthur Murray Way of learning to dance is different, better than any other—thanks to his "Magic Step" method. You not only learn all the latest steps but develop your dormant personality while learning.

This you do at our Student Parties, a very important part of your course. At these parties you meet new people, dance with all types of dancers, get the feeling of being out in public. Even timid people become confident and their true, attractive personality comes out.

So don't wait. Come in now and have your FREE lesson. Get started on a new life of more good times and popularity than you've ever had before.

Copr. 1952—Arthur Murray, Inc.

ARTHUR MURRAY School of Dancing

104½ Morris St. Durham, N. C. at 5 Points

DR. QUIZ CONDUCTED BY— Sutton's

If you feel you've missed the answers to the quiz, the right ones are Sprocket, Stereoscope and Turnbuckle. If you feel the need of cosmetics and beauty aids, select from our line of Dorothy Gray, Helena Rubinstein and Elizabeth Arden.

THE TAR HEEL'S DRUG CENTER — Sutton's DRUG STORE — Rx SPECIALISTS

COSMETICS - MEN'S TOILETRIES - SCHOOL SUPPLIES

5531 - COMPLETE FOUNTAIN SERVICE - JUST ACROSS FRANKLIN

131 From North Carolina

210 Students Make Dean's List In Arts, Sciences During Fall

Two hundred and ten students, 131 of them North Carolinians, made the Dean's List in the College of Arts and Sciences last quarter.

To make the Dean's List a student had to be taking a minimum of 15 quarter hours of work and make "B" or better on all courses taken.

North Carolinians making the Dean's List included: Durham. Harold Bowden, Frances Bowles, Peggy L. Cook, Leonard Grodsky, James O. Icenhour, Cecil Tucker, William Ruffin.

Raleigh: Robert L. Connelly, John D. Duke, Norman W. Goldin, Earl Johnson Jr., Edith Shanklin.

Greensboro: James A. Bell, Harold Bradley, Beverley J. Chalk, Charles W. Irvin, James B. Linder, Vernon McFalls, Richard J. ainter.

Winston-Salem: Eugene Birke, B. Correll Needham, Hamilton Horton, Henry A. Lowet, John N. Mickle, Nancy Ripple, Beverley B. West.

Charlotte: Francis Clarkson, George Ferguson, James P. Hurst, Lawrence M. Mason, Lloyd B. Moon, John L. Prosh.

Asheville: Ralph W. Bennett, Marvin B. erry, Elizabeth L. Gregg, James O. Headlee, Gerald McMahon, Dale S. Ryon, Arnold C. Shaw, Jean B. Williamson.

Chapel Hill: Derith L. Alexander, Howard C. Baker, Mont J. Bright, Donald C. Carroll, Lessie M. Casey, Robert Clampitt, Avery M. Cooke, Sally L. Couch, Jacquelin B. Crawford, Charlotte L. Davis, Constance R. Delancy, atricia G. Dortch, Mary E. Finley, Nancy R. Green, Marilyn Habel, Donald Hogg, Charles S. Jarrett, Katherine Jente, Anne S. McClamroch, Marion Parkins, Spencer E. Pierce, Walter H. Reichelt, Nathaniel L. Sparrow, Frederick L. Thurstone, Anne L. Voorhis, Henry J. Ritchie, Makis Papas, Nancy L. Blocksidge.

Roger Ackerman, Wallace; Mary F. Allen, Statesville; William J. Barefoot, Benson; Marion W. Benfield, Belwood; Hiram B. Black, Matthews; William C. Brewer, Jamesville; Jane T. Carswell, Spring Lake; Luther Clontz, Morganton; Gordon C. Crowell, Lincolnton; Sara K. Davis, Graham; Dwight B. Dellinger, Newton; George S. Edwards, Rocky Mount; Robert N. Ellington, Burlington; Lloyd B. Ennis, Salisbury; Andre J. Evans, Ahoskie; Thomas A. Farmer, Smithfield.

Lester J. Fisher, Statesville; Gary G. Fulghum, Middlesex; David Gaddy, Albemarle; Robert D. Gorham, Rocky Mount; Julius Green, Thomasville; Arthur W. Gregory, Halifax; John M. Guilbert, Tryon; James L. Haney, Glenwood; Bobby G. Haithcock, Badin; Virginia C. Herman, Conover; Florence K. Howard, Dunn; Thomas M. Johnson, Clayton; Nora F. Lackey, Mt. Airy.

Charles T. Macy, Morehead City; Mary Menius, Monroe; Ancel Newborn, La Grange; Robert Midgett, Elizabeth City; Arthur L. Miller, Landis; Max G. Miller, Hamlet; Mary L. Mitchell, Burlington; Robert B. Moorhead, Gastonia; Joseph L. Murad, Wilson; Gerald C. Parker, Silverdale; Joseph M. Parker, Ahoskie; Dewey H. Pate, Bayboro; Archibald L. Patterson, Maxton.

Virginia D. Phillips, Zebulon; Curtis Ratledge, Guilford College; John L. Rendleman, Salisbury; Bobby A. Rimer, Spencer; Nathan R. Roberson, Robersonville; Henry T. Rosser, Hamlet; Arthur R. Rowe, Aberdeen; Roy A. Rumbough; Mars Hill; Betty Lou Selig, Elizabeth City; Hanson Sessoms, Wilmington.

Robert G. Smith, Rutherfordton; Alva W. Stewart. Marshville; Mary L. Stewart, Salisbury; William R. Story, Wilkesboro; Charles W. Stout, High Point; Donald E. Vaughn, Gastonia; Raphael W. Vinson, Ahoskie; Wisner Washam, Cornelius; Michael M. White, Lumberton; Joe H. Woody, Bessemer City and Marcia A. Zachary, Salisbury.

World Affairs Meet Will Be Held Today

Members of 13 state-wide civic and religious organizations will participate in the third annual conference on World Affairs here today.

The conference was arranged by the University Extension Division. Theme this year is "The United Nations: Our Best Instrument for World Understanding."

Miss Mary G. Shotwell, Oxford, chairman, department of international relations, North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs, will preside at a short general session in Gerrard Hall beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Persons representing the principal geographic areas of the world will participate in the informal discussions from 11 until 12:30 and from 2 until 3:30 p.m. on "World Understanding Through World Trade, Education, Human Rights, Assistance, Health and Welfare Services, and World Understanding in Your Local Community."

Moderators of the discussion groups are Mrs. John Gillin, Chapel Hill, president League of Women Voters of North Carolina; Dr. W. Carson Ryan, Kenan Professor of Education, UNC; Caude C. Shotts, general secretary, YMCA, UNC; Dr. Lucy S. Morgan, chairman, Department of Health Education, UNC; Mrs. U. T. Holmes, Chapel Hill, president, Woman's Auxiliary, Diocese of North Carolina, Episcopal Church, and Dr. Guion G. Johnson, president, North Carolina Women's Council.

Resource discussion leaders include Dr. Clarence Philbrook, professor of economics, UNC; Lt. Col. Mark T. Orr, professor of air science, UNC;; Dean Henry P. Brandis, Jr., School of Law, UNC; Dr. John P. Gillin, professor of anthropology, UNC; Dr. Edward G. McGavran, Dean of UNC School of Public Health; and designated representatives of the participating organizations.

Recorders of the discussion groups, who will report to the general afternoon session in Gerrard Hall at 3:45 are Mrs. Edwin P. Brown ,North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs, Murfreesboro; Rr. Thelma Thurstone ,professor of education UNC; Mrs. E. L. Hillman, Durham, past president, Department of United Church Women, N. C. Council of Churches; Mrs. Donald B. Hayman, Chapel Hill, Bulletin Editor, League of Women Voters of North Carolina; Mrs. Emil T. Chanlett, president, League of Women Voters of Chapel Hill; and Mrs. Carl Plonk, Asheville, president, N. C. Division, American Association of University Women.

Golden Bear

The Order of the Golden Bear will meet at 5 p.m. today at The Shack.

Stray Greeks

The Stray Greeks will meet at 5:45 p.m. today in Alderman Parlor.

Cheerleaders Meeting

There will be a meeting of the cheerleaders Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Memorial Hall. Tickets for the State game will be picked up at that time.

WUNC Today

Today's schedule for campus FM radio station WUNC, with a frequency of 91.5 mc:

7 p.m.—Holland Calling.
7:15—The UN Story.
7:30—Alcoholic Series.
7:45—Famous Belgians.
8—Jeffersonian Heritage.
8:30—Masterworks from France.
9—Concert Favorites.
9:30—Everybody's Business.
10 — Local news and coming events.
10:05—Evening masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.

CLASSIFIEDS

PERSONAL

EVERYMAN—A BOOK FROM the Intimate Bookshop, all gift-wrapped nice and pretty, might melt my heart on St. Valentines Day. EVERYBODY. (Chg 1x1)

NOW! EXCLUSIVE

"LA RONDE" IT'S HERE

A RARE TREAT! THE MERRY GO ROUND OF LOVE

FRANCES' GREATEST FILM

"TODAY'S SHOWS AT 2:15-4:20-5:25 & 8:30 P.M."

Special Rates for Students

ASTOR—DURHAM

Carolina now

LANA TURNER · KIRK DOUGLAS
WALTER PIDGEON · DICK POWELL
M-G-M's The BAD AND THE BEAUTIFUL
Barry SULLIVAN Gloria GRAHAME Gilbert ROLAND
LEO G. CARROLL · VANESSA BROWN
Plus Latest News

Orders Taken Now For

REGULATION AIR FORCE

UNIFORMS & SUPPLIES

IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US BEFORE PLACING YOUR ORDER

THE Sport SHOP

N. COLUMBIA ST.

SALE

RECORDS --

ABERNATHY'S

207 E. Franklin St.

9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS

After Faithfully Serving The Community, Carolina Students And Faculty For 28 Years, My Entire Stock Is Offered For Sale At A Saving To You Up To 60%!

- Men's Suits
- Odd Trousers
- Shoes
- Suspenders
- Sweaters
- Hats
- Top Coats
- Raincoats
- Ties
- Summer Suits
- Underwear
- Sport Coats
- Shirts
- Belts
- Summer Sport Coats
- Pajamas
- Bathing Trunks
- And Many Other Items Too Numerous To Mention

Make Everyday A Money-Saving Day By Attending This GOING OUT OF BUSINESS SALE

STORE for RENT — APPLY TO JACK LIPMAN

To Retail Dealers . You Can Buy This Merchandise For Resale For Less Than The Manufacturer Sells It To You.

FIXTURES for SALE — APPLY TO JACK LIPMAN

Store Will Be Closed All Day Wednesday For Arranging Stock And Marking Prices Down For Biggest Money Saving Event of Chapel Hill. This Sale Won't Last Long, So Hurry, Hurry And Be Here. Thursday, Feb. 5 At 8:30 A.M.

Jack Lipman

ESTABLISHED 1924

U N C Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

WEATHER
Fair and warmer with 60 high. Yesterday's high, 55; low, 36.

The Daily Tar Heel

VIEWS
The editors have some suggestions. It's about bills. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI NUMBER 38 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

Building Request Cut

Gray Renews 500G Figure For Institute

By John Jamison

RALEIGH, Feb. 4—Gordon Gray and his Consolidated Univeristy colleagues came before the Legisature's Appropriations Committee here today wit ha compromised budget request for permanent improvements at Chapel Hill amounting to $5,012,000, nearly $2,000,000 less than the original request made in September.

Today's request included $1,01,000 termed "emergency items" and $4,011,000 termed "bond issue items."

The largest "emergency item" for the Chapel Hill campus was $500,000 for the Institute of Government to match a proposed gift of the same amount from the Knapp Foundation of North Carolina. Other items which President Gray said were urgent were $196,000 for the renovation of dormitories, $41,000 for the renovation of Bingham Hall, and $36,000 for the excavation of a basement for Peabody Hall.

For the Division of Health Affair in Chapel Hill, Gray requested the following "emergency items": equipment for south wing, Medical School, $50,000; completion of post-graduate facilities, Dental School, $143,000; remodeling of third floor area, Medical School, $25,000; and completion of equipment, cancer research floor, $10,000.

The Advisory Budget Commission's recommendation to the Legislature did not include the salaries of two Consolidated University officers associated with Gray's development program. The president asked that these salaries be included in the final budget, saying "They are essential to the proper functioning of the Consolidated University office, and are proper charges to the State."

Chancellor R. B. House, discussing operational costs at his institution, asked for the inclusion of a salary for the assistant to the chancellor in the area of development. The task of this official is to keep the public informed in the University's activities and to promote alumni giving.

Principal items under the designation "bond issue items" were a student union building ($1,200,000) and a new pharmacy building ($1,010,000).

Victor S. Bryant of Durham, chairman of the Visiting Committee of the Board of Trustees, represented the Trustees in asking for an increase in the recommended salaries of Prsidnt Gray, Controllr William D. Carmichael Jr., and the chancellors of the three institutions. He pointed out the "obvious" need for having men of high quality in these positions.

Bryant recommended that Gray be paid $17,500 rather than the $15,000 suggested by the Advisory Budget Commission. He also would increase Carmichael's salary from the recommended $13,500 to $15,000 and the chancellors' salaries from the recommended $12,000 to $13,000.

At the present time Gray is paid $12,360, Carmichael gets $11,160 and the three chancellors get $10,320.

"Emergency items" for the other two institutions totaled $335,000 for Woman's College and $1,480,000 at State College. The biggest item at State was $540,000 for a School of Design. Woman's College would like to renovate the old library building, the music building and to complete the campus power, lighting and telephone lines.

Chancellor House placed particu-

(See GRAY, page 2)

Passbooks

Passbooks, both odd and even numbered, can be presented at the ticket fofice in Woollen Gym for reserved seats at the N. C. State game Saturday, Feb. 21, for the remainder of this week.

Tickets go on sale to the public Monday morning, and passbooks will not be usable after Saturday at 12:30.

Solons Will Tackle NSA Item Tonight

The legislative spotlight tonight will focus again on the stormy National Student Association issue.

A bill introduced last week by Tom McDonald (UP) is designed to put the question of continuing membership in NSA to a referendum. It is expected to be the center of the controversy at the Phi Hall meeting tonight.

NSA is a national organization which acts as a sounding board for student opinion in other groups and exchanges ideas on student government. It also sponsors scholarships and travel programs and holds regular conferences.

McDonald's proposal grew out of a request by President Ham Horton in his speech to Legislature at the opening of the quarter. Horton advocated the referendum.

Proponents of NSA reacted to Horton's suggestion with angry protests. Ken Barton, regional NSA chairman, wrote Horton explaining his stand on NSA. Horton answered explaining his stand.

Chief objection of NSA opponents was that a campus program was lacking. Barton is expected to speak before Legislature tonight.

Other bills on the agenda are bills: advocating visiting hours for the infirmary, to revise membership of the Graham Memorial Board of Directors, to eliminate the policy of giving rebates to the Yackety Yack staff for meeting of deadlines.

The meeting is slated for 7:30.

Texas Faculty Is Underpaid Wilson Says

Dr. Logan Wilson, who left the Consolidated University recently for the presidency of Texas University, found problems awaiting his arrival.

Dr. Wilson had some talking to do on the Texas professors and their salaries. His remarks are taken from a story in The Daily Texan, campus newspaper there.

"Texas has an outstanding faculty," Dr. Wilson said, "but we cannot hope to keep them if salaries are not brought in line with other institutions."

Dr. Wilson also said that he feels there is, comparatively, "too much money for the physical sciences. I would not take money away from them but if I had it to give, I would proportion more to the humanities and social problems studies."

An attempt will be made by Dr. Wilson, according to The Texan, to emphasize excellence in existing fields of work rather than in starting new departments of courses.

"It's easy for Universities to mushroom all over the waterfront. But they can't ever be great that way—they'll just have a lot of mediocrity," said Dr. Wilson.

The new university president also suggested a modification of the in the lower ranks must publish up-or-out rule, by which professors some "valuable" research material within four years of starting in the position.

"It's a mistake to think that published material is the only basis for judgment," he said. One other index is patents or discoveries which do not lend themselves to words. The professor should have something concrete to show for his work," Dr. Wilson thinks.

Dr. Wilson, academic provost while in the N. C. Consolidated University, was inaugurated as Texas' president on Monday.

WUNC Today

Today's schedule for campus FM radio station WUNC, wtih a frequency of 91.5 mc:

7 p.m.—Sketches in Melody.
7:30—Let There Be Light.
7:45—Report from Europe.
8—Address by Dr. Hugh Taylor.
8:45—Matters of Note.
10—Local news and coming events.
10:05—Evening Masterwork.

SP Members Blast Horton For Bill Veto

The Student Party had a few complaints yesterday.

Reacting to President Ham Horton's veto of an SP-sponsored bill to "take the Student Council out of politics," key SP members commented caustically.

"I should like to know where Horton gets this 'involuntary' business," reclared Lew Southern, SP chairman. "The SP is unanimously in favor of the measure, and the fact that there was not a single vote cast against the bill when it was passed by the Legislature indicates the UP was agreeable also," he added.

"Furthermore," continued Southern, "if Horton sincerely doubts the constitutionality of the measure, why has he not contested the constitutionality of the honor councils' selection board?

"I do not believe that he was sincere in the reasons he gave for vetoing the bill," concluded Southern.

In vetoing the bill Monday, President Horton said he felt that the bill involuntarily takes the nomination of Student Council members out of the hands of the parties. He also said he objected to independents not being bound by the bill.

The bill, passed last session of Legislature, provided for nomination of Student Council candidates by a selection board instead of by political parties.

Ken Penegar long time SP member, termed the veto "unfortunate and ill-considered." He said that

(See HORTON, page 3)

Student Pays $50 On Charge Of Fireworks

T. B. Gardner, sophomore from Chapel Hill, was fined $50 and costs of court by Recorder's Court Judge William S. Stewart Tuesday after pleading nolo contendere (no contest) to a charge of possession of fireworks.

Prosecution was dropped in the case of graduate student Jorge Alberto Mantilla, of Bucaramanga, Columbia, charged with driving without an operator's license, when the state recognized his foreign license as valid.

Other cases involving students: Mitchell W. Cannon, freshman from Durham, was fined $25 and costs for reckless driving.

Robert R. Kingdig, sophomore from Plainfield, N. J., paid only costs of court on a charge of failing to obey a stop sign.

One student, charged with speeding, failed to appear in court. Robert S. Neal Jr. of Chapel Hill, forfeited a $10 bond.

Campus Seen

Workman wielding a shovel on construction project between the Library and South, when asked what he was working on, replying, "Darned if I know."

* * *

South Building practically deserted as University officials head for Raleigh to fight the budget, and Greensboro to greet Mrs. R.

* * *

Stuart Sechreist of the Journalism School faculty flipping with members of his class to see who buys coffee at the Y.

Judicial Slipup

Fireworks Case Must Get Retrial

The Student Council has told the Interdormitory Council Court to mind its constitutional manners.

Student Council President Ted Frankel yesterday announced a decision of the high court remanding the case of a convicted firecracker-tosser back to the lower court for re-trial.

Frankel said the question of guilt or innocence did not enter into the review of the case by the Student Council. The review "was restricted completely to the question of whether the accused received all his constitutional rights in the original hearing," a statement from the council said.

The T. B. Gardner convicted of possession of fireworks in Chapel Hill Recorder's Court Tuesday is not the same person charged with discharging fireworks by the Interdormitory Council Court.

The case was appealed on the grounds that two constitutional rights of the defendant were violated by the Interdormitory Council Court: (1) The defendant was not given the required 48-hour advance notice of trial, and (2) A member of the Court who investigated the case also sat in judgment on the accused and voted on the verdict.

United Nations Is Only Way To World Peace, Mrs. FDR Tells Memorial Hall Crowd

Eleanor Recounts Tales Of Travels

By Alice Chapman

Eleanor Roosevelt yesterday afternoon charmed a Hill Hall audience of coeds and Chapel Hill women with personal experiences as a world-traveler and diplomat.

The past first lady told of her first year in the White House, and of the 300,000 letters she tried to answer personally. In looking up letters from Harrison's administration to that time she found that the president's wife answered all letters in the same style—whether accepting an elephant or a bouquet of flowers.

As wife of the president she felt that she should know as much about the country as travel would make possible. She was comparatively unknown then and could travel incognito.

"How little most of us know outside of our daily round of life," she said. To see places and situations she would never meet, Mrs Roosevelt took paid lecture tours, although public opinion was against such a precedent.

In speaking of her trips abroad in the Near East and South America, she stressed the importance of learning the language of the people with whom you work. "People feel so much more friendly if you even attempt to speak their language," she added.

Traveling for the Point Four program and the United Nations, Mrs. Roosevelt had observed that often women are a symbol of what is happening in their country. The revolution of the Pakistan attitude toward their women is an indication of the larger change in that country, she stated.

She leveled a challenge at the group by saying that American women have the responsibility of being citizens in the greatest democracy in the world. "The curiosity about the United States is enormous," she explained. "And you paint the picture of democracy by the way you live."

Other Nations Look To U.S. For Vital Help

By Louis Kraar

Urbane Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt last night told a capacity Memorial Hall audience about the "only machinery we have to try to build a more peaceful world"—the United Nations.

Vividly outlining the United State's part in the UN, Mrs. Roosevelt declared, "We have become the symbol of democracy to the whole world."

"The United States," she continued, "is like a strong member of a family to whom all the other members look for help." She urged that everyone ask themselves if they were "painting the true picture of democracy."

Recalling her visit to India recently, during which crowds of Indians greeted her in friendship, she told of an incident that "made them feel I was friendly." The act of friendship, she said, was simply bowing to the people in their own traditional manner of greeting. "They were perfectly delighted," she added.

Besides paying a large part of the entire United Nations budget for a long time, this country is a member of all the "specialized agencies of the UN," said the one-time first lady. "The Soviets do not belong to a single one," she added emphatically.

She termed the total UN cost to us as "infinitesimal in comparison with whart we spent for one day in World War II."

United Nations, she explained, is not the peace, but merely the "machinery to build peace."

"Peace depends upon the efforts of 60 sovereign nations working together," she said. "I believe that the United Nations is the place where the U. S. gives the lead that we really want better understanding for peoples of world."

"Although we are the leaders of the world, we live in uncertainty," declared the former U.N. delegate. "We want to live in a world with people who are our friends."

Working in the UN required more patience than "raising a family of individualists," she said smilingly. "But the UN is worth all the strain that we live under today."

"We must play our part with courage and faith in this generation of uncertainty. We must have both vision and faith," she concluded.

A great ovation greeted the smiling speaker, who Dean Fred Weaver introduced as "one of the great persons of our time." Following the speech, there was a question and answer period.

Weaver, in his introduction, said that it was "not so much her greatness as her graciousness that she finds welcome wherever she goes."

"We have a very heavy weight on our shoulders," she said in describing this country's place in the UN. "We are spearheading the fight for democracy for free nations."

She said that the United States must be strong both in military and economic manners since the other free countries are so dependent on us. "Other countries look to us for culture and spiritual reaction," she declared.

Mrs. Roosevelt said the women of this country should try to know more about what women of other countries are doing. "The growth of the UN," she said, "is merely the growth of the understanding of peoples."

"In the United Nations it is our part to meet Soviet attacks with answers, not by attacks," she said. "Our part is to show that we have good will." Mrs. Roosevelt called the UN "the bridge that we always keep open as long as they (Russia) are in it."

Telling of her own personal way of spreading good will in the

(See WORLD PEACE, page 3)

Cheery Angels In Cherry Smocks

Hospital Ministers To Patients With New Brand Of Medicine

By Sally Schindel

(This is th esecond in a series of periodic articles interpreting the Medical Center here.)

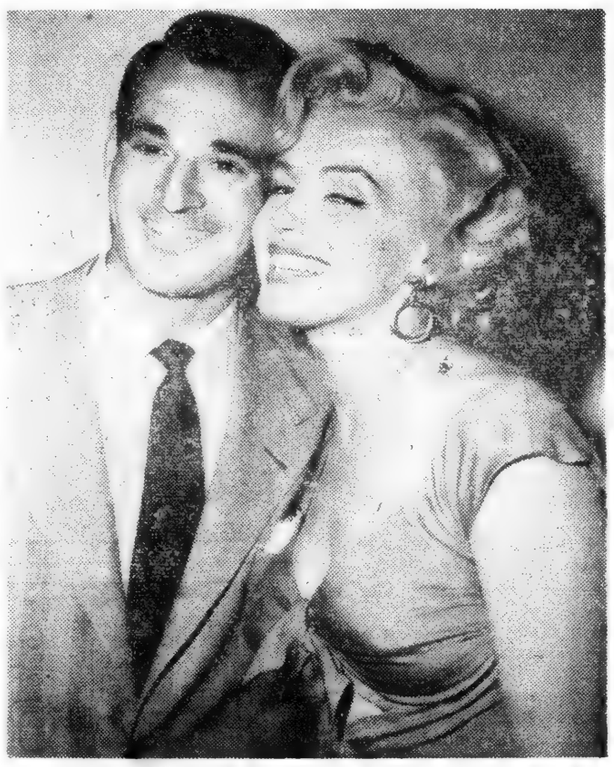
The University Hospital offers new prescriptions for getting well.

Gift and book carts, entertainment, and nursing assistance are all provided by the hospital's Volunteer Service. These volunteers, who are part of either the Hospital Auxiliary or the Red Cross, are easy to distinguish by their colorful uniforms.

Their variety of duties is extensive.

For instance, one division of volunteers is the auxiliary's Pink Ladies. Marked by their cherry smocks, these workers can be found all over the hospital. One of their undertakings is the Hospitality Shop where reading material, incidental items and candy are sold. The shop also stocks a few inexpensive gifts such as talcum powder, stationery and toys.

A unique feature offered by the auxiliary is the cart service. This is for all patients. Carrying a sample of wares offered in the Hospitality Shop, the cart tours the patient floors in the hospital each day.



In addition to this work, the ladies in the cherry smocks help in the out-patient department by keeping an information desk and by assisting the patients to find their rooms. They also aid the hostess, especially over weekends, with the numerous hospital tours.

A brand-new undertaking, which went into operation last Friday, is the book cart, containing several hundred volumes. Started by the Community Club last Spring, it will make regular trips through the hospital twice a week.

Another group under the hospital auxiliary is the YWCA coeds, whose trade-mark are navy smocks, white blouses and plain skirts. Their duties from 5 to 6 p.m. are to carry food trays and to help feed the patients. For two hours every evening the girls do minor clerical work, run errands and answer telephones.

In a slightly more personal relationship with patients, are the Red Cross Gray Ladies, distinguishable from their "sisters" by light gray uniforms. They are given a Red Cross training

(See HOSPITAL, page 4)

GETTING IN A LITTLE SQUEEZE TIME with busty Marilyn Monroe is Ray Anthony, the young man who'll bring his horn and orchestra to Chapel Hill for the Winter Germans on Feb. 13 and 14. The schedule calls for a dance from 9 to 1 o'clock Friday night, a concert from 4 to 6 Saturday afternoon, and another dance from 8 to 12 o'clock Saturday evening. Marilyn? Well, she won't be here for the Germans, but it's a pretty sexy picture, huh?

NEWS IN BRIEF

LONDON — President Eisenhower's "get-tough" foreign policy revealed itself yesterday. Highly-placed sources reported that Secretary of State John Foter Dulles has warned Prime Minister Winston Churchill that the United States means to launch a positive policy aimed at ending the Korean stalemate.

★

SEOUL—Two Communist supply dumps crammed with the materials of war for front-line troops exploded into kindling and rubbish yesterday as American Superforts chalked up another day's work. At the same time, United Nations officers announced the biggest daily toll of enemy casualties this year—1,200 Reds killed or wounded.

★

NEW YORK—Convicted perjurer William Remington yesterday was sentenced to three years in prison for lying to a jury that he didn't pass classified information to Red spy courier Elizabeth Bentley and didn't know of the Young Communist League during his student days at Dartmouth. Federal Judge Vincent Leibell could have hit the 35-year-old former government economist with 10 years in jail and a $4,000 fine.

★

WASHINGTON — Informed sources disclosed yesterday that high-ranking military men are pushing a rapid increase in weapons ship-

(See NEWS, page 3)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Scheeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. — Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Everett Parker

We Suggest . . .

The Student Legislature has gone bill-crazy.

This is a good sign in most respects. The introduction and passage of seven bills in the last two weeks reflects a positive approach that has long been missing from the legislative scene.

One matter, however, that has not been mentioned in the current rash of activity is the 25 per cent cut proposal for athletes from Book profits. The Daily Tar Heel has already made known its opposition to such a plan. So has the executive branch of Student Government, plus the Dialectic Senate. It is time for the Student Legislature to express its feeling by means of a resolution.

In such a resolution the legislature might point out to the University that no representatives for students were given a vote on the Chancllor's special committee. Students were consulted, but on a matter where students have made a heavy financial investment, they shoud have voting power.

Students don't want to run the University. It is not their job. But when a matter such as the allotment of Book Exchange profits comes up, they should have an active voice.

* * *

Student courts are always subject to criticism by students. How many students actually believe that the Honor System works, that the mechanics of the courts are worthwhile, that penalties are adequate or inadequate, that the courts are actually non-political?

With this obvious feeling of distrust held by many students, it would be strange to think that the Student Council highest student court and and the one most prone to political finagling should be kept in politics.

The Legislature would be admitting to students that the highest student tribunal is involved in politics, if it rejected partisan board, consisting of the various chairmen of student the bill before it tonight. The bill proposes o set up a non-courts, would aid greatly in the selection of capable students.

The presidential veto of the bill is based primarily on the assumption that political parties will give up their "sovereignty" if such a bill became law. What a political party's sovereignty is, we haven't been able to figure out. The bill takes the council out of politics and should be enacted.

* * *

Two other subjects touching publications are up for action tonight.

A bill asking that Yackety Yack rebates be discontinued should be defeated. Yack staff members get token salaries if they meet their deadlines. The money does not come from student fees. Actually it is a gift from the printer, a gift only presented if a staffer gets his copy in time. To stop this worthy practice would be to halt a plan that has done much for staff morale. There is a good case against the bill, on constitutional grounds, also.

The other bill on publications which would give the secretary-treasurer a seat on the Publications Board and Graham Memorial, should be passed. The secretary-treasurer has enough headaches trying to tally budgets each spring. He can gain greater understanding of publication problems and the student union's difficulties if he has an active voice in their affairs.

* * *

A bill asking for a referendum on whether Carolina should continue its affiliation with the National Students Association is questionable. The Daily Tar Heel doesn't see why it is necessary to go to added expense to find out whether Carolina wants NSA or not. Carolina has given two presidents to the organization, has been one of the main cogs in the South pushing NSA and only costs a penny each quarter to a student.

DRINK—DON'T DRIVE!

The AP makes this report:

Drinking eight cans of beer in less than two hours didn't befuddle him, a college senior says—but it certainly slowed his driving reactions.

It was all part of a campus safe-driving campaign.

Richard Somers Jr., 21, guzzled the eight cans Monday at intervals of 15 minutes. His reactions were tested on a machine that simulated highway driving conditions.

After the first can, Somers' reaction time was .382 of a second. After the eighth, it was .475. Somers, 6 feet 3, is co-captain of Rensselaer Polytechnic institute's football team and president of its senior class.

After the test, he insisted he wasn't drunk, only "very tired." His girl friend drove him home.

LEARNING ON THE WAY OUT

The University of Washington Daily makes this report on education:

"Education, for the sake of learning, is taking a back seat in today's rush for competence.

"Dr. Harold W. Stoke, dean of the University of Washington graduate school, ruefully conceded to educators at the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools that, 'For our generation, the man of distinction will rarely, be seen with a book in his hand.'

"The educator declared, 'We have created a society which can not be run by ignoramuses. We shall see a continuance of appreciation of education, but the type of education that is appreciated may leave us, as educators, unhappy.

" 'Competence,' Dr. Stoke said, 'not learning, is becoming our accepted goal of education.' "—(INS).

John Gibson
Pulque

I was one of the ones plugging for the preservation of the present class system in school, primarily because I prefer the quarter system to the semester system. But next year we will be on the emester system, so let's let it go at that. Actually, I have been rather appalled at some of the asinine arguments that have been directed against the semester arrangement. Having spent four years on that system I feel fairly well qualified to discuss it, at least from the student point of view. Contrary to what some have said; over the course of the year the student will take about the same number of courses, read the same number of books, spend the same number of hours per week in class, take the same number of examinations, write the same number of term papers, and waste the same amount of time. The difference is that this will be done over a six-day week, and the year will be divided into just two sections.

The summer school does not need to be changed one whit. My undergraduate college was on the semester system, and had a split-session summer school for the benefit of local teachers. As a matter of fact, the 3 and 6 quarter hour summer courses will rather nicely convert to 2 and 4 semester hours. As for the school's equipment, since that is based on the number of students in the courses, and the amount of work (which remain unchanged) there is little chance of its rotting in the basement. Instead of two introductory courses being taught for each of three quarters, for example, three introductory courses will be taught for two semesters. A movie used in each class will still get used six times a year. It is true that the professors will be encountered with a larger number of new students at the change of each teaching unit, but there will be only two changes of teaching units, so in the course of a year they will learn and forget the same number of names.

About the most difficult problem for the administration will be the adjustment of teaching loads. As I understand it, the average professor now teaches ten hours a week. Under the semester system, in which three, not five, is the basic unit, this will have to be converted to either nine or twelve. The professors would, of course, prefer the former, the trustees the latter. I don't know what specific action the school will take, but I imagine they will juggle things around from semester to semester so that everyone gets a fair shake.

For the student the change means, among other things, that he will not be able to procrastinate quite so long on the term papers. More of them will be due at once, and he who waits until the last minute will have an almost unsurmountable amount of work to do. Perhaps this will force students to utilize their time a little better. If so, the change is well worth it. Also more students will be around here on week-ends. This too can have good consequences. A concerted effort on the part of the students might even force the local movie proprietors to show decent films on Friday and Saturday nights.

The trustees, by this action, have kinda stuck out their necks on the union situation, since it will not be more needed than ever. For that matter, however, it might be that a few students will be trapped into going to the library (to read, damn it, to read) on a Friday or Saturday. They really have a rather good stock of stuff over there, and it has recently been much enlarged.

The whole thing boils down to this. Next year we will most likely be on the semester system. It is a good system, and we might as well make the most of it. Who knows, we might even like it!

"Okay—The Wraps Are Off"

Ken Barton
NSA

Editor's Note: This column is the first in a series of columns to be written on the National Student Association by the Regional Chairman of the Virginia-Carolinas Region, Ken Barton. He will cover various aspects of hte Association.

NSA, the National Student Association, was conceived with the idea of having here in the United States an organization that would represent the students of America, who, it was felt, had gone long enough without a voice. Students, it seemed, were the only group in all of American society that were not heard from as a group. The purpose of NSA is actually two-fold. First of all it represents the students of the United States on the international front, on the national front through many national organizations, and on the state level through local units of one sort or another. The second purpose is to improve the government of the American college campus through the exchange of ideas and through the instigation of practical programs.

The biggest aid that NSA can be to student governments is through the exchange of ideas at the National Congress each year at which over 300 colleges throughout the country are in attendance. This type of exchange of ideas is supplemented on the local level by regional meetings a couple of times a year. These meetings are an invaluable aid to student government according to those students who have attended them. NSA has done a great amount of successful work in aiding and building student governments in many of the smaller schools of the nation. In addition to this NSA has initiated a number of programs on the regional and local level for the improvement of student governments and for the enjoyment and education of the student body.

In order to get the fullest return from NSA and use the programs offered the local campuses, each campus must have an active committee or an active student government so set up that the programs are carried out. It is up to the individual campus to carry out the programs. NSA programming is done through four commissions, set up on the national level, Student Affairs, Educational Affairs, Student Government, and International Affairs. Under Student Affairs are such programs as: National Art Exhibit, Symphony Forums, World Affairs Councils and other cultural activities. Academic Freedom, intercollegiate ahtletics, social life, student health, and orientation are other important phases of this commissions work. The Educational Affairs is more nebulous in that it is concerned with inter-group relations, economic welfare of the student and other matters of education. Although the International Affairs is a topic within itself I would like to say at this point that this commission tries to make students more aware of their relation with foreign students and has set up a number of programs and services whereby American students can be of assistance to foreign students here in the U.S., the main purpose being a process of working toward a better understanding among all students.

NSA also has services in the student government level through the publication of the Student Government Bulletin and Report which includes reports articles projects etc. for student governments throughout the country. The NSA News, the only intercollegiate newspaper in the country brings news of interest to students cnocerning student life as well as the activity of NSA.

In conclusion of this particular column I would like to bring out one point. It is difficult to explain NSA progrmaming. But in general terms such programming is done to meet the needs of the student community and in this regard is quite varying. The programs are available if the local government wishes to use them. Through a cooperation among the various student governments and through and exchange of ideas I feel that the future College community will be greatly aided by such a cooperative enterprise.

Louis Kraar
Party Line

Spring campaigning, like the warm weather, came a little early this year.

Whether campus politicians are ready to admit it or not, the campaign kickoff occurred Monday with the appearance of the weekly "Mr. Chairman," the Student Party's handout to dorm dwellers.

The sheet, which according to its editorial is published to let students know what Legislature is doing, came out with an editorial cartoon blasting the opposition.

So the battle is on. And may the best candidates win in a clean campaign.

STAMP OF DISAPPROVAL: President Ham Horton vetoed a bill this week. The bill, which was supposed to take Student Council out of politics, is probably unconstitutional, says Horton. If it is, then a new law should be adapted to get Student Council out of politics. Our supreme court should be free to render unbiased decisions and not be bound by political prejudice and party obligations.

SORRY SOLONS: Why can't some legislators go to the Thursday night sessions. It seems that if a guy is going to take the trouble to campaign for a post which is supposed to represent students, he could attend Legislature. After all, that's hardly as difficult as campaigning.

SLICK SURVEY: Bill Brown (SP) tells of the "poll of students that I just took." Asked who he interviewed in the poll, he answered, "Why, all the students on the third and fourth floor of Cobb." Wonder how accurate a poll that was.

OVERHEARD IN CAMPUS EATERY: "How do you know he's the legislator from your dorm?" asked one embryo politico.

"He doesn't let me forget it. Every week it's posters, handbills and his coming to see us," answered the student.

And this is the kind of legislator that should be re-elected.

POUNDING THE BEAT: Ken Barton, NSA chairman for the region, will go before Legislature tonight to state his case for NSA. . . . Lew Wolfsheimer, junior class prexy, making the post more than a name . . . and who said we have to have Saturday classes? We're not licked yet, thanks to student government's work.

Cornell Wright
Shave And A Hair Cut

There's music coming from the Graham Memorial Barber Shop—but it's not the old fashioned quartet variety. This music is blues, deep and low.

Seems that the campus has forgotten all about Tom Gunter and the low prices of his basement shop.

Tom said yesterday at noon that this reporter was his first paying customer of the day. Matter of fact I didn't even pay him—he couldn't change a $5 bill.

The Graham Memeorial Barber Shop is now open daily from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. It was closed recently from Thanksgiving until the first of the year.

But the shop faces permanent closing if the students fail to patronize it. Tom has a wife and three children who depend upon his trade.

Tom's expectations are still high, however. A second barber, Richard Furr, now working in Durham, will be on hand Monday to provide better service.

The reason for the shop's low, 75 cent, price, Tom explained, is that there is no overhead to be paid out of the gross receipts. The rent and utilities which are furnished by the Student Union allow him to give as good a job as the town shops at a lower price.

Tom says he enjoys working on the campus and wishes to stay on if he can draw some business. He says most students are not nearly so vain and hard to please as the average commercial patron "with tobacco juice in his beard."

And Tom has an idea to help ROTC students who want their hair cut every week. He may establish a lower rate for a trim or for a weekly cut.

The shop is located in the basement of Graham Memorial, around the corner from the Rendezvous Room. Give Tom a chance; he won't clip you!

— Gray —

(Continued from page 1)

lar emphasis on his request for $23,748 in salaries for persons to work with the dean of students in promoting student welfare. "We must rediscover the undergraduate student and do more for him," House said. Two $5,000 items in this total were for an assistant to the dean of students in the area of fraternity activities and for the director of Graham Memorial.

University, La.)

(From The Hullabaloo, Tulane

We're for the idiots, the poor, stumbling, stupid idiots who come to college every year unable to take care of themselves. We fell real sorry for them, but we still like 'em.

College administrations all over the country, and at Tulane, too, have in recent years developed a policy of caring for these "idiots." These poor guys and gals are unable to take care of themselves, university authorities believe.

Dormitory supervisors, counsellors, house mothers, and advisers are all being crammed down our throats to "help us, guide us, keep us on the straight and narrow."

The universities, rightly, point to the early thirties and late twenties when college youth was wild, wooly and completely irresponsible. Then they turn around, rightly again, and say today's college youth is more mature, more responsible, than his counterpart of 20 years ago. Why, then, do we need more supervision?

We believe a certain amount of supervision is necessary, sure. . . . College students need guidance, we agree. They have a certain responsibility to their university and to their fellow students. And they should be forced to live up to these responsibilities.

But they don't need to be coddled, "mothered" or "babied" in the process. How are you going to teach them to stand on their own feet if you constantly give them an easy chair?

We have faith in these "idiots." Their less responsible . . . parents came through their college years fairly unscathed. We honestly think we can do it, too."

Duke, Carolina Elevens Play Benefit Cage Game

Polio Fund To Get Proceeds From Contest

By Melvin Lang

Duke and North Carolina's football teams will tangle once more during this school year—but in a different manner from their last meeting.

The Blue Devils and Tar Heels will play a benefit basketball contest in Woollen Gymnasium tonight, with all proceeds taken up going to the March of Dimes. Game time for the grudge battle is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

No admission will be charged for the event, although a collection will be taken for the March of Dimes campaign.

The North Carolina squad will be led by a former polio victim—Harold (Bull) Davidson. A fullback on the Tar Heel eleven in 1952, Davidson was stricken last fall, forcing the University to cancel two of its scheduled contests.

Davidson has organized a cage team that will include several of the more well-known names on the Carolina gridiron roster. All-Conference ace George Norris heads the list, with such other stars as Bill Baker, Dick Lackey, Bill Kirkman, and Doug Bruton. Baker received several cage honors while performing with Southern Pines High School, as did Bruton at Grainger High in Kinston. In fact, all of the members of Davidson's squad have had previous experience as basketball stars.

The Duke squad will be captained by halfback Lloyd Caudle, and will include on its roster such names as Worth Lutz and Louis Tepe. Lutz, commonly known as "Worth A Million" Lutz because of his ability on the gridiron, was one of the better quarterbacks in the Southern Conference last season.

Other names on the Duke roster include Jerry Barger, Bill Keziah, Johnny Palmer, Jack Kistler, Ray Green, Red Leach, and Howard Pitt. Barger was an outstanding high school cage star, and is expected to be one of the leaders for the Blue Devils tonight. The majority of the Duke performers also played basketball during their tenure in high school.

Special entertainment has been arranged for the halftime intermission of the contest.

Duke University's football team ranked No. 2 in the nation this past season on pass defense, allowing only an average of 51.6 yards per game through the air. It ranked No. 8 in total defense, allowing 212.1 yards per game by passing and rushing.

Duke (then (Trinity) met Wake Forest on March 2, 1906, at Durham in the first collegiate basketball game ever played in North Carolina. Wake Forest won by 24-10.

Monogram Meeting

There will be an important meeting of the Monogram Clum tonight at 7:15 in the club room. All members are requested to be there as discussion of important plans for the remainder of the school year will be held.

Initiation of new letter winners into the Monogram Club is scheduled to be discussed. Plans for a social club are also to be formulated at tonight's meeting.

MURALS

TODAY'S BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 3, Mangum vs Joyner 4; Court 4, TEP vs Phi Delt 3; Court 5, Delt Sig Pi vs SAE 1; Cour 6, Cobb 1 vs Ruffin 2; Court 7, Pi Lamb vs Lamb Chi 1.

5:00—Court 3, Emerson 2 vs TMA; Court 4, Sig Nu 3 vs Beta 2; Court 5, Phi Delt 1 vs Phi Kap Sig 3; Court 6, Sig Chi 1 vs PiKA 2; Court 7, ATO 3 vs PiKA 3.

7:00—Court 5, ATO 2 vs Phi Delt Chi 1; Court 6, Phi Gam 1 vs Chi Phi 1; Court 7, Med Sch 1 vs Old East.

8:00—Court 5, Zeta Psi 1 vs ZBT 1; Court 6, Med Sch 2 vs Joyner 1; Court 7, Med Sch 4 vs Lewis 4.

TODAY'S TABLE TENNIS

4:00—Phi Gam 6 vs ATO 1.

5:20—Chi Phi 2 vs Winner (Kap Sig 5 vs Lamb Chi 1).

TUESDAY'S BASKETBALL

Joyner-3	47	Ruffin-1	42
Med Sch-3	38	Joyner-4	34
Lewis-2	65	Old East	41
Winston-1	46	Mangum	39
BVP-2	21	Cobb-4	51
Cobb-3	41	Winston-3	36
Grimes-1	22	Graham-2	60
Theta Chi-1	39	Zetes-3	30
ZBT-2	37	Chi Psi-2	22
Chi Phi-2	54	PiKA-3	23
Beta-2	38	Phi Gam-2	104
Zeta Psi-1	55	ATO-3	61
Delt Psi	20	Phi Kap Sig-1	27
TEP-1	34	Kap Sig-3	26
Kap Psi-2	25	Phi Gam-3	56
ATO-2	40	SAE-	26
Phi Delt-3	28	Kap Psi-1	61

— World Peace —

United Nations she said, "I would always say hello and goodby. At least it means they say we're not willing to talk."

Later in the evening she was guest of a reception at Graham Memorial. Almost a hundred students sat and stood around Mrs. Roosevelt and heard her chat about the UN and its problems.

Carson (Red) Leach was a defensive standout at guard and Carl Holben was an offensive strongboy until injured for the Grays as the Coutherners downed the Blues, 28-7, in the annual Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 27. Both starred for the Duke grid club which won eight games and lost two and copped the Southern Conuference championship during the past season.

OLYMPIC PREVIEW—Getting a glimpse of Melbourne's Stadium-to-be for the 1956 Olympic Games are, at left, Arthur W. Coles, chairman of the Games Control Committee, and W. S. Kent Hughes, Australian Federal Minister for the Interior. Designed by Frank Heath and a small group of associates, the stadium will seat 125,000 spectators. Two years will be needed to complete it.

Tar Heel Track Team Impressive In First Indoor Practice Meet

Carolina's track team showed its best form of the indoor season Tuesday night in the tin can in a practice meet against N. C. State. No official score was kept, but the Tar Heels approximately doubled the score on the visitors.

A number of Carolina trackmen turned in excellent performances. Hurdlers Sonny Beall and Charlie Scott both turned in excellent times, as did dashman Jeff Newton. Bill Higgins was outstanding in the 660.

In the field events freshmen Charlie Yarborough took the spotlight. Yarborough won first place in both the broad jump and pole valut. Tom Higgins did well while capturing first place in the shot put.

For State the leading performers were Clyde Garrison and Miller. Garrison, one of the Southern Conference's outstanding distance runners, took first place in the three quarter mile. Miller gave the Wolfpack another first place in the mile and a half.

Coach Dale Ranson was pleased with the over-all performance of the squad. He believes that they have improved a great deal since the winter workouts began. He reports that the physical condition of the team is not the best.

The Summary:

Shot Put—Higgins (UNC) 44 ft. 1 in.; Morris (UNC); Griswald (State).

Pole Vault—Yarborough (UNC) 12 ft.; Duke (UNC); Jordan (UNC); Logan (State).

Broad Jump—Yarborough (UNC) 21 ft. 9½ in.; Bethune (State); Brown (UNC).

High Jump—Yoder (State) 5 ft. 10 in.; Alexander (State); Haire (UNC); Jordan (UNC).

60 yard dash—Newton (UNC) 6.4; Brown (UNC); Hale (UNC); Bethune (State).

70 yd. High Hurdles — Beall (UNC) 8.8; Cornell (UNC); Scott (UNC); Bell (NNC).

70 yd. Low Hurdles — Scott (UNC) 7.9; Duke (UNC); Cornell (UNC); Beall (UNC).

3 quarter mile—Garrison (State) 3:14.2; Bostian (UNC); Osborne.

330 yard dash—Bennett (UNC) 39:5; Reimer (UNC); Browning (State).

Mile and a half—Miller (State) 7:22.7; Glads (UNC);; Marx (UNC).

660 yard dash—Higgins (UNC) 1:28 Garrison (UNC); Bostian (UNC).

2 lap relay—State;; UNC varsity; UNC Freshmen.

When Duke's basketball team defeated Princeton University, 74-59, in the final round of the Dixie Classis recently, it marked the first time the teams had met since the 1940 season when Princeton came to Durham to help dedicate Duke Indoor Stadium. Duke won that game too, by a 36-27 score.

Duke Still In Silence About Smith

Duke University officials continue to remain silent about the recent expulsion of eight students including four outstanding athletes from the University because of "academic trouble."

James (Red) Smith, Carson Leach, Truett Grant, and Christian LaCaruba, all outstanding football players, were suspended from Duke on the recommendation of the Students' Judiciary Board.

The names of the four other students were not available.

Smith confirmed the report that he was dropped because of "academic trouble." Smith said, "I definitely plan to return to school. I just had a little academic trouble. I'll go to summer school this summer and be ready for football this fall."

Smith will miss baseball this spring. He was a regular outfielder on the Blue Devil squad last year, and a starting halfback on last fall's Duke football team. He has another year of eligibility left.

Leach, Grant, and LaCaruba are all seniors and have used their eligibility. It is not known whether they plan to return to summer school.

In 1952, Smith led the Blue Devils to the Southern Conference baseball championship with a .400 plus batting average.

The suspensions are for the second semester, just beginning at Duke, and all the students involved will be allowed to return to school.

The suspensions were based on "conduct" of the students during recent examinations, one source said. University officials said they would make no "official" statement.

Tom Connelly, former Duke basketball star and team captain in early 40's, is serving as the school's jayvee cage coach for the second straight year. Connelly played in the first game ever played in Duke Indoor Stadium as a member of the 1940 outfit.

—Horton—

(Continued from page 1)

both parties passed the bill in Legislature. "It is inconceivable that the merits of the bill are quite evident to 50 legislators but not to the president," Penegar added.

Whether the bill was passed unanimously remains a matter of conjecture since votes are cast by years and neas orally in Legislature. Concensus of most observers at the session is there was no opposition during the vote. However, some debate was held on the bill with Tom McDonald (UP) voicing the main opposition to it.

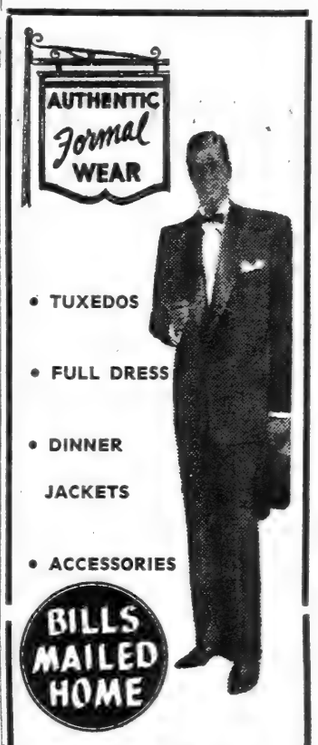
Two-thirds vote of Legislature is required to over rule presidential veto.

Some Student Party members indicated that the bill will still be backed in Legislature tonight.

—News—

(Continued from page 1)

ments to Chinese Nationalists on Formosa. Within six to nine months, the sources said, the Nationalists could become enough of a threat to the Communist China coast to significantly divert pressure from the Korean front. (Picture on page 4.)

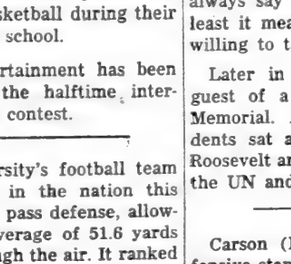


★

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — World Health Organization scientists announced yesterday that they have developed a preventive vaccine they hope will completely wipe out influenza by next year. The scientists delivered their official report on the new serum to WHO's Executive Board in Geneva, Switzerland.

★

AMSTERDAM — A new storm bubbled up off the coast of the Netherlands yesterday as a report came in of 7,700 persons isolated on three flooded islands. The death toll has already reached 1,700 in the hurricane-powered weekend storm that ravished the Netherands, Britain, Germany, Belgium and France. A total of 300,000 persons have been left homeless by the natural disaster.



NOW! EXCLUSIVE
"LA RONDE" IT'S HERE
A RARE TREAT! THE MERRY GO ROUND OF LOVE
FRANCES' GREATEST FILM
"TODAY'S SHOWS AT 2:15-4:20-5:25 & 8:30 P.M."
Special Rates for Students
ASTOR—DURHAM

• TUXEDOS
• FULL DRESS
• DINNER JACKETS
• ACCESSORIES
BILLS MAILED HOME
THE Sport-SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

Now! Carolina
LANA TURNER · KIRK DOUGLAS
WALTER PIDGEON · DICK POWELL
M-G-M's The BAD AND THE BEAUTIFUL
Barry SULLIVAN Gloria GRAHAME Gilbert ROLAND
Plus Latest News

We SPECIALIZE In PLEASURE

Real pleasure awaits you in our congenial dining rooms. The finest foods. . . . Tastefully prepared and courteously served, in a pleasant relaxing atmosphere. Why not dine with us, tonight?

THE PINES

Phone 9-5539

Raleigh Road

—Hospital—

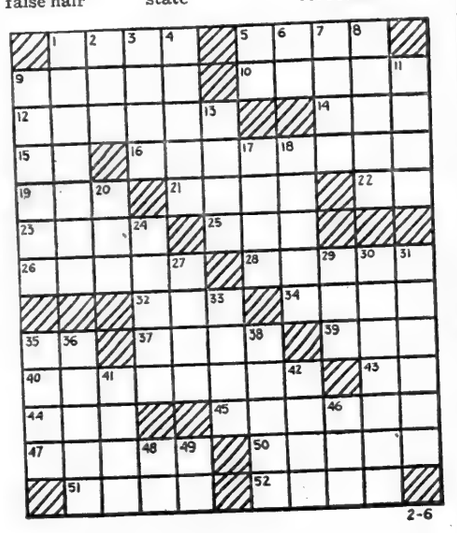
(Continued from page 1)

course. They boost patient morale through entertainment and writing letters, and assist in the clinic and at nursing stations.

However, the only group of volunteers that can work directly with patients is the Red Cross Nurses' Aides. Although they can assist the nurses in many ways in doing such duties as making beds and bathing the patient, they are under close supervision of a professional nurse at all times.

These volunteers—Pink Ladies, coeds, Gray Ladies and Nurses' Aides—do all they can to give the hospital an atmosphere of cheer and friendliness, and to show the patient that sickness can be pleasant, after all.

CHIEF OF NAVAL OPERATIONS FOR THE Chinese Nationalist Navy Vice Adm. Ma Chi-Chuang (center, left) and the Commandant of the Chinese Marine Corps, Maj. Gen. Chou Yu-Huan (center, right), have arrived in this country for a two-week tour of naval facilities in the United States. The two arrived in San Francisco almost simultaneously with the announcement by President Eisenhower that the Nationalist forces are now free for raids against the Communist-held mainland. Greeting the Chinese are Adm. Rogers, Commandant of the 12th Naval District, and Marine Commanding General Ray A. Robinson (right). Story on page 1.—NEA Telephoto.



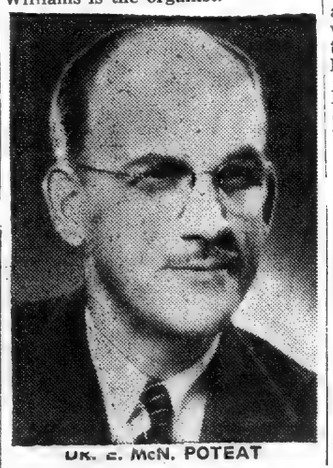
DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Son of Adam
5. Peer
9. Glisten
10. On fire
12. Core
14. Body of salt water
15. Land-measure
16. Without odor
19. Pole
21. Portico (Gr. arch.)
22. Selenium (sym.)
23. A number
25. Speak
26. Vapor
28. Mingle
32. Crowd
34. Marsh bird
35. River (Chin.)
37. Plot of ground
39. Spread grass to dry
40. Absurdity
43. Southeast (abbr.)
44. Miscellany
45. Gentle touch
47. Shrill speaker
50. Headless bolt
51. Yield
52. Observed

DOWN
1. Type of cigar
2. A well (Bib.)
3. Inside
4. Requires
5. Music note
6. From
7. Ascend
8. Outer garment
9. Mufflers
11. Comfort
13. Decays
17. Wander
18. Stratum
20. Owing
24. Sloping roadways
27. Burrowing animal
29. Padding of false hair
30. City (Ger.)
31. First-born
33. Judge's bench
35. Thin, brittle cookie
36. Type of architecture
38. Former Russian rulers
41. Back of the neck
42. Canal through New York state
46. Evening (poet.)
48. Man's nickname
49. Music note

Yesterday's Answer

Race Relations Sunday To Be Observed Here



A community service of worship in observance of Race Relations Sunday will be held in the Chapel of The Cross here Sunday at 4 o'clock.

Dr. Edwin McNeill Poteat, pastor of the Pullen Memorial Baptist Church of Raleigh, will deliver the sermon. His subject is "What About Segregation?"

The service is being sponsored by the Ministerial Association of Chapel Hill, the Rev. Richard L. Jackson, president. The association includes ministers from all Chapel Hill churches and has through the years encouraged interracial services of worship. Race Relations Sunday is being observed throughout the nation this Sunday, being so designated by the National Council of the Churches of Christ in America. This is the 32nd annual observance.

Dr. Poteat, one of the outstanding Protestant ministers in America, is also a noted poet, musician and author. He is serving for the second time as minister to Pullen Memorial Church, from which he was called in 1937 to go to the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church in Cleveland. In 1944 he was elected President of Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, and in 1948 was asked to return to Raleigh where he resumed his former pastorate. He is author of 15 books, frequently preaches in the famous pulpits in America, and is President of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State. Dr. Poteat was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity by the University in 1946.

The service of worship will be conducted by the Rev. Richard L. Jackson, Pastor of the Congregational Christian Church. He will be assisted by the Rev. R. L. Upshaw of St. Pauls AME Church, and the Rev. David Yates of the Chapel of The Cross. George B. Williams is the organist.

DR. E. McN. POTEAT

Students Offered Ticket Reduction

UNC students are getting reduced rates for two presentations at the Reynolds Coliseum at State College this month.

Special rates for the presentation of Arthur Fielder and the world famous Boston Pops next Monday and John Harrris' "Ice Capades of 1953" on Feb. 16-21 have been arranged through the special services of SUAB.

Tickets will be sold to students in the main office of Graham Memorial between 9 a.m. and 11 p.m.

Reduced rates are effective for Monday, Feb. 16 only for the ice show. The only show that day is at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets for the Boston Pops will will sell for $2, $1.75, $1.50 and go at half price. Ice Capade tickets $1. Regular price for these tickets is $3, $2.50, $2 and $1.50.

The Boston Pops will play such music as "Fire Dance," "Pomp and Circumstance," "Prelude to Lohengrin," Blue Tango," "Swan Lake" and "Fiddle Faddle."

Also included in the repertoire will be Strauss Waltzes, the Warsaw Concerto, marches and overtures and such hit parade and juke box favorites as "Jalousie."

Producer John Harris' feature production in his "Ice Capades of 1953" will be Lerner and Loewe's Broadway musical hit, "Brigadoon," which will be one of the 10 productions and 20 acts to be offered during the colorful attraction.

Top stars in the production of "Brigadoon" are Donna Atwood and Bobby Specht, both of whom have performed in previous Harris shows at the Coliseum.

In addition to Brigadoon, the other productions in the Ice Capades include Temple of Buddha, Ogohoma, Kaptivating Kitchen Kapers, Air de Ballet, Land of Lolipops, Ladies of the Evening, Lamps for M'Lady and Ice Capades Waltz.

What Goes On Here

Semper Fidelis

The Semper Fidelis Society will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Naval Armory.

★

Monogram Club

The Monogram Club will meet tonight at 7:15 in the club room to discuss plans for the remainder of the year. Initiation of new letter winners and a club social will be planned.

★

Family Night

Tonight will be Family Night at the Chapel Hill Baptist Church. Adults are invited to a supper at 6:30 and there will be a nursery for small children at 7:15. Plates are 50 cents.

★

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club will meet tonight at 6 o'clock in the upstairs dining room of Lenoir Hall.

★

Cheereleaders

There will be a meeting of the cheerleaders tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

★

Glee Club

The Women's Glee Club will meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon in Hill Hall.

★

YWCA Committee

The Campus and Publicity Affairs Committee of the YWCA will meet today at 5 o'clock.

CLASSIFIEDS

PERSONAL

EVERYMAN—A BOOK FROM the Intimate Bookshop, all gift-wrapped nice and pretty, might melt my heart on St. Valentines Day. EVERYBODY. (Chg 1x1)

LOST

LOST: BROWN CORLE POCKETbook. May be most any place but most likely between McIver Dorm and Tri-Delt house. Billfold and valuable papers inside. Please return to Mary Kathrine Myers, 302 McIver Dorm. Reward.

LOST: SILVER RONSON LIGHTer: Has the initials "H.L." Reward. Call 9-1041.

FOR SALE: AUTOMOTIVE

FOR SALE: 1940 HUDSON SEdan. Good mechanical condition but interior is rough. New license included. Price: $110. Contact Bill Rogers at Physiology Dept., Med School or at 7036.

ANNOUNCEMENT

THE UNICORN BOOKSHOP, OVER Sutton's, For A Few Days Only, will have some very interesting early maps of North Carolina. Come In And See Them or Dial 9-6173.

On Valentine's Day
GIVE
World's Best Limericks

Not very refined, but sister many a guys heart can be weakened by working on his funny-bone.

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

NOW PLAYING
Varsity

GOOD INDOOR COLOR MOVIES ARE EASY WITH

KODACHROME MOVIE FILM

Exposure guide is included with each roll. For illumination we suggest the Photo-Light Bar—light is always where the camera is aimed. Can be used wtih most 8mm and 16mm cameras. $6.95 plus lamps. Let us show you.

FOISTER'S CAMERA STORE INC.

INTRODUCING
Milwaukee's
(bottle 30c)
Finest Beer
Blatz
—SAVINGS SPECIAL—
Case Lots Introduced At Cost
$4.17
Plus Tax In Cans
—Limit 2 Per Person—
RATHSKELLER
Down Amber Alley Phone 9-2756
Excellent Food and Drink
REASONABLE—COMFORTABLE

If you don't feel like sending Valentines We'll sell you a hate card but Gosh how it will grieve us!
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

GRAHAM MEMORIAL BARBER SHOP
Now Open Under New Management
9 A.M.-6 P.M.—GRAHAM MEMORIAL

DID YOU KNOW
YOU CAN HEAR MUSIC
EVERY HOUR OF THE DAY?

WCHL
1360 on your DIAL has the top MUSICAL shows on RADIO.
The Latest In POPS*
The Tops In CLASSICAL*

With Disc Jockeys From UNC
Tune In
WCHL
MUSIC—NEWS—SPORTS

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS

This is what you have been waiting for! Our entire stock is being offered at tremendous savings, up to 60%. This sale won't last long, so hurry, hurry and be here for best selections. Sale starts this morning promptly at 8:30.

- MEN'S SUITS
- TOP COATS
- SHIRTS
- UNDERWEAR
- RAINCOATS
- SHOES
- SWEATERS
- BATHING SUITS
- SUMMER SUITS
- TIES
- PAJAMAS
- BELTS
- SPORT COATS
- SUSPENDERS
- ODD TROUSERS
- HATS
- AND MANY OTHER ITEMS TOO NUMEROUS TO MENTION
- SUMMER SPORT COATS

FIXTURES for SALE APPLY TO JACK LIPMAN
JACK LIPMAN
ESTABLISHED 1924
STORE for RENT APPLY TO JACK LIPMAN

U N C LIBRARY
SERIARS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Slightly warmer with 60 high. Yesterday's high, 53; low, 35.

The Daily Tar Heel

NEWS
The society editor gathers the campus gossip. See p. 4.

VOLUME LXI NUMBER 89 CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1953 FOUR PAGES TODAY

Athletes: None

California Tells About $$ Grants

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 5—(Special) "We don't have grants-in-aid at California and I don't believe in paying college athletes," said the University of California's athletic director recently.

Brutus Hamilton spoke at the University of Oregon here on a panel composed of local sports figures.

"No one forces a boy to turn out," he said. "We have many potential athletes around campus who just don't have time to go out for sports."

The discussion centered around a question of the possibility of paying an athlete his grant-in-aid, obtained through the performance of a "work project", during the season he is participating in the major sport without requiring him to earn it. Such a plan has been proposed by Oregon Coach Bill Bowerman.

At least 75 percent of the football team needs at least partial help to stay in school, according to one of the panel members, and "just don't have the time during the season to work, attend practcie and keep up with studies."

A weakness is "our system" was admitted by Hamilton after a member of the audience asked why the universities should make a profit from the major sports—especially football,—if the athletes were not given some financial assistance.

He said that the football profits were not as great as imagined, but that this did not present a point in favor of grants-in-aid. However, he added, "where do you draw the line? Our drama department made a profit last year and they weren't paid."

Person Exhibit Displays Work Of Frenchman

An exhibition of 20 large and beautifully colored plates, selected from the book "Le Cirque" by the famous painter Fernand Leger, will be on view at Person Art Gallery from Monday through Feb. 28.

With the publication of his book "Le Cirque," Fernand Leger has joined the ranks of other well-known French artists who have produced outstanding publications.

The subject matter of Leger's book is the circus—his favorite theme. The text, written by the artist himself and reproduced in his own handwriting, consists of several essays on a visit to the circus in a small country town, on its performers, and their acts.

The illustrations are of a masterful boldness and the extraordinary brilliance of their colors give added proof of the artist's enthusiasm for the circus artists and his showmanship. In lively succession he depicts clowns, dancers, acrobats, bicyclists and surrounds them with all the gay paraphernalia of their art.

"Le Cirque" was published in Paris in 1950 and printed in lithographic process under the personal supervision of the artist.

This exhibition was organized and is being circulated by the Museum of Modern Art, New York, to museums and college galleries throughout the country.

Cheerleaders

There will be a meeting of the cheerleaders this aftrnoon at 4 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

Movies

Movies on Denmark will be shown at noon today in Swain Hall. All interested person may attend.

Free Dance

There will be a "Beat Dook" dance tonight following the Duke-Carolina basketball game. The affair will last from 10 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

To be held in the Tin Can, the dance will be free with music by a combo. Refreshments also are free.

Everyone is invited.

AN UNIDENTIFIED STUDENT CHATS with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt at the reception Wednesday night in Graham Memorial following her speech on the United Nations. At right is President Gordon Gray of the Consolidated University. A large crowd gathered around Mrs. Roosevelt at the student union for an informal question and answer period at the reception.—Daily Tar Heel photo by Cornell Wright.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON—Wages in all industries will be decontrolled within the next 48 hours unless the White House vetoes present plans of government stabilization officials it was learned yesterday. Informed sources said orders also are in the works—again subject to presidential approval—to lift price ceilings by the end of this week on cattle, all kinds of meat, restaurant meals, household textiles, children's clothing and numerous other department store items. Most of them are now selling well below ceilings.

★

BONN, Germany—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived here yesterday to try and convince West Germany a European army with German soldiers must become a reality this year. Dulles was reported to have warned that Western Europe must make substantial progress toward unity within the next 75 days or risk cuts in American aid. Informed sources said the secretary of state informed the allies that he must know what they are going to do on the subject by the time he returns to Paris for a meeting of the NATO ministers April 23.

★

WASHINGTON—Federal tax agents said yesterday Carroll E. Mealey failed to report $40,897 in income during the five years he headed the Alcohol Tax Division of the Internal Revenue Bureau. Testifying before a House Ways and Means subcommittee investigating revenue practices, the agents said they located $92,094.96 in income during the 1946-51 period when Mealey's income returns totalled $1,196.99. The agents, Martin L. Webb of St. Louis and Charles H. Malmesbury of Philadalphia, resumed the witness stand as House tax fraud investigators probed deeper into Mealey's financial affairs as a one-time top tax official.

★

WASHINGTON — After some false starts, Congress was finally ready yesterday to give President Eisenhower the liberal government reorganization powers he asked for in his first major legislative request. The Senate Government Operations committee overrode its chairman, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), Wednesday to endorse the House-passed bill granting Mr. Eisenhower the same authority held by former President Truman. Sens. McCarthy, John L. McClelan (D-Ark.) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) said they will oppose the measure when it comes up for Senate debate Friday but their move wasn't given a chance.

★

AMSTERDAM—The sea began to retreat from Holland's flooded lowlands yesterday. But danger still threatened. Thousands of boats, planes and amphibious vehicles worked to rescue thousands of persons whose lives were in peril in areas where dikes were being further undermined.

Exam Schedule

The final examination schedule for Winter Quarter was released yesterday by Edwin S. Lanier, director of the Office of Central Records.

No student may be excused from a scheduled exam, Lanier noted, except by the Infirmary, in case of illness, or by his General College adviser or his dean.

The schedule:

Common Examination (All French, German, and Spanish Courses numbered 1, 2, 3, & 4)	Friday, March 13, 8:30 a.m.
All 11 a.m. classes	Friday, March 13, 2 p.m.
All 1 p.m. classes	Saturday, March 14, 8:30 a.m.
All 12 Noon Classes	Saturday, March 14, 2 p.m.
All 2 p.m. classes and Zoology 103	Monday, March 16, 8:30 a.m.
All 8 a.m. classes	Monday, March 16, 2 p.m.
All 9 a.m. classes	Tuesday, March 17, 8:30 a.m.
All 3 p.m. classes and Bus. Adm. 71 & 72, Chemistry 2, and all classes not otherwise provided for in this schedule	Tuesday, March 17, 2 p.m.
All 10 a.m. classes	Wednesday, March 18, 8:30 a.m.

Musical 'Princess Ida' Opens Tonight At 8:30

Gay Gilbert and Sullivan patter songs and an intriguing love story highlight the Carolina Playmakers' annual musical, "Princess Ida," opening tonight at 8:30 in Memorial Hall for a three-day run.

Under the direction of William M. Hardy of the Playmakers staff, the cast is headed by Nancy Murray of Raleigh, with William Whitesides, York, S. C., opposite her as Prince Hilarion. Lanier Davis of Chapel Hill plays King Hildebrand, with Tommy Rezzuto of Asheboro as his enemy, King Gama.

Other principals include James Pritchett of Lenoir and Harold England of Kings Mountain as two courtiers; Wade Williams, Savannah, Ga., George Boozer, Lexington, S. C. and Barclay Gordon, Huntington, L. I., N. Y. as the sons of Gama; Jo Jurgensen of Carrboro and Jean Hillman of Newark, Del. as professors in the ladies' university, and Ann Davis, Nancy Green, and Ginna Young, all of Chapel Hill, and Mary Helen Crain of Durham as girl graduates.

Members of the choruses are Joanne Murphey, Lookout Mountain, Tenn.; Anne Mackie, Chapel Hill; Letitia House, Beaufort;; Neta Whitty, New Bern; Frances O'Neal, Chapel Hill; and Dorothy Liggett, Pittsburgh, Pa., as girl graduates, with Euguene Wagoner, Yadkinville; Art Winsor, Chapel Hill; Chip Johnston, Decatur, Ga.; Jack Phillips, Durham; John Humber, Greenville; Dan Reid, Raleigh; John Taylor, Wheeling, W. Va.; Dan McFarland, Durham, and James Pruett, Mount Airy, as Hildebrand's soldiers.

Costumes for this production were designed by William Trotman of Winston-Salem with lighting by Don Treat of Chapel Hill, and settings by William I. Long.

WUNC

The following is today's program schedule for WUNC, campus FM radio station operating on 91.5 mc and 1450 watts.

7 p.m.—Children's Circle.
7:30—Adventures in Research.
7:45—Carolina Sports Review.
8—People Under Communism.
9—Music Appriciation by Dr. William S. Newman.
10—Local news and coming events.
10:05—Evening Masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.

Campus Seen

Helpful coeds attending magazine stand in post office as operator checks out for lunch.

*

Squirrels resting from wintry labors and enjoying Spring weather, only to be chased by frisky canines.

*

Instructor subbing for friend gives assignment then asks sheepishly if he's in the right class.

Compulsory Health Bill Is Defeated By Di Senate

The Di Senate overwhelmingly defeated this week a bill calling for a compulsory health program to be enacted by federal legislation.

Sen. Henry Lowet introduced a resolution calling for the abolishment of all athletic scholarships at the University. After lengthy discussion the Senate voiced its approval of the resolution.

Christian Tradition Explained

By Mike Soper

"Although the various books of the Bible interpret the incarnation of Christ differently, we must accept their explanations as guideposts to God's living truth," the Rev. Maurice Kidder said this week.

He explained that Christian theology devoloped after the death of Christ to deal with practical spiritual problems which arose, such as those described by Paul in Thessalonians and Corinthians.

Mr. Kidder pointed out that although the concept of God the Father is implicit in the Old Testament, and that of God the Son in the New Testament, their relationship is not clearly established. The Council of Nicae settled the conflict between the divinity and the deity of Christ when it adopted the Nicene Creed. The Nicene Creed describes Christ as "being of one substance with the Father."

"The banishment of Arius for opposing the Nicene Creed established the precedent of allowing the state to deal with religious dissension," added Mr. Kidder.

Mr. Kidder addressed a Y sponsored group discussing "Religions of the World". It was the third talk of the series.

The popes of Rome became influential when the Roman capital was moved to Constantinople, said Mr. Kidder. The Emperor required their aid in dealing with the people of Rome.

Mr. Kidder described St. Augustine as the greatest Christian, next to Paul. Augustine developed Plato's philosophy—that we respond to God because he loves us. God's grace in causing good to be in us can lead to salvation said Mr. Kidder.

"Secularism was tremendously stimulated by the crusades, resulting in the glorification of culture and the enthronement of envy. This laid the way for the shift to the Aristotlean approach in religion."

St. Thomas Aquinas, drawing his outlook from Aristotle, marks the point of departure between Roman Catholicism and Protestantism, said Mr. Kidder. Aquinas held that reason is autonomous and that by rationalization man can know what his relation to God should be.

Business Fraternity Tours

Brothers of Alpha Lambda Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, professional business administration fraternity, took their first professional trip of 1953 recently when the fraternity visited the manufacturing plant of White Furniture in Mebane.

Officials of the company conducted a guided tour, routing their visitors through the plant in its processing from rough lumber to finished furniture awaiting shipment.

NSA Referendum Bill Is Defeated

Move To Override Ham Horton's Veto Of Council Measure Fails By One Vote

By Louis Kraar

The stormy National Student Association issue cleared up last night in Legislature.

After an enthusiastic parley of debate, mostly between some opponents of the bill, the University Party, a bill to hold a referendum on NSA was firmly defeated.

THE FORMER Michaele Reese, "Miss Miami Beach" of 1949, has arrested in Camden, N. J. on an adultery chage. This picture was snapped in her title-winning days. —NEA Telephoto.

Tom McDonald (UP), who spoke favorably of NSA but originally introduced the bill, termed the opposition to NSA on campus as a thing that was "happening all over the country."

Ken Barton, regional NSA chairman, outlined the purposes of NSA. He termed the group "very much representative of students of this country." Running down the complete list of affiliated groups of NSA, Barton said they were "perfectly clean and not subversive."

Ed Stevens, (UP) parliamentarian, dramatically declared, "It is designed to kill NSA and it will. It's been a long range lethal plan." He said it originated with Ham Horton, president of the Student Body.

NSA is a national student group designed to voice student views in other organizations, exchange ideas on student government and plan scholarship, travel and other programs.

Wood Smethurst, campus NSA chairman, said that NSA was "hindered by criticism." He continued, "We are fighting shadows, unnamed opposition. The Tar Heel says 'opponents of NSA say', but who are the opponents? It is purely a personal campaign, and it is not fair. I ask you to defeat it (the bill for referendum), to defeat this fight against shadows."

Stilwell responded to hints by Stevens that it was a political issue, I don't know. I'm not too informed, but I believe that students should be given a chance to say whether they want to pay for NSA or not."

Stevens came back with, "Did we think once of going to the student body in a referendum about paying for SEC for which only 1800 can benefit?"

Stevens gave legislators what may have been the most exciting talk of the quarter, beginning, "I have broken party lines once before tonight and I'm going to do it again. You SP's can go back to sleep, and you UP's can wake up."

One vote last night made Ham Horton's veto of the controversial Student Council bill stick.

Following pro and con discussion on the bill, mainly by Gene Cook, former SP legislator, and UP Floorleader Jack Stilwell, legislators cast the vote—25 for erasing th eveto and 13 against, one short of the two-thirds majority required to brush aside presidential veto.

Speaker Jim McLeod (UP) read Horton's veto message and the battle began. Cook declared, "I am yet to find one case where political parties have sovereignty over any organization on campus."

Cook was referring to the term used by Horton in his veto statement. Horton outlined two reasons for his veto of the bill: 1) It "involuntarily" took the question, which concerned parties, out of their hands. 2) Independents were exceptions to the proposed law.

Stilwell said that he agreed the Student Council should be taken out of politics, but "this is not the bill."

Other bills passed were a bill to establish a committee to help work out a solution to the parking problem on campus and a bill to investigate installing candy and cigaret machines in all dormitories. Both bills passed with little opposition.

Everett Parker (UP) was sworn in to replace Jerry Russell (UP).

UNC Students Charged With Theft At State

RALEIGH, Feb. 5—(Special) — Two college students, one from the University of North Carolina and one from State College, were bound over to Wake Superior Court recently after probable cause was found against the pair on charges of larceny.

Defendants Perry Cox and Bubber Hill are charged with stealing property valued at $345 from the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity house on Hillsboro St. Cox is a State College student. Hill attends the University of North Carolina.

Cox pleaded guilty to helping steal a radio, record player, typewriter, a slide rule, laundry and dry cleaning. Hill pleaded guilty to larceny of the merchandise, which was found by Cox's father on a vacant lot near his home.

Detective Lt. R. A. Liles said the boys told him they had been on a party at the fraternity house earlier, had been drinking and returned to the house later that night "just for fun."

Judge Albert Doub set bond in each case at $200.

AS A CLAMOR MOUNTED IN THE British press concerning President Eisenhower's decision to remove the U. S. 7th fleet from its blockade of Formosa, America's secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, arrived in London where he was greeted by British Forign Secretary Anthony Eden (right). Eden criticised Eisenhower's decision, saying that to free Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces for raids on the Communist-held mainland would make the chances for a peaceful settlement in the Far East "much more difficult."—NEA Telephoto.

Calling Juniors

Juniors interested in being on the class social committee should contact Lou Wolfsheimer at the ZBT fraternity house.

Wolfsheimer issued the call yesterday and said the committee's function will be to plan the Spring junior-senior weekend. The senior committee already is set up.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor ____ WALT DEAR
Managing Editor ____ ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager ____ JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor ____ BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. ____ Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. ____ Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. ____ Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. ____ Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. ____ Bill Venable, Tom Witty | Asst. Spts. Ed. ____ Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. ____ Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgrs. Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Assoc. Ed. Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. ____ Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

Night Editor for this issue: Dorman Cordell

Words Of Wisdom

We will just quote some paragraphs from The Daily Texan, quotes from Dr. Logan Wilson that are very applicable to Chapel Hill: We shall make only one change, substituting Carolina for Texas.

"I do not believe all income from the permanent fund should go for buildings. There ought to be a careful survey of space utilization before building more. Carolina has an outstanding faculty, but we cannot hope to keep them if salaries are noe brought in line with other institutions. Look around this campus at the new buildings; then look at salary rates, especially in the liberal arts school.

On new courses and departments: "It's easy for Universities to mushroom all over the waterfront. But they can't ever be great that way—they'll just have a lot of mediocrity." One of the jobs of faculty councils and administrators is to determine the value and worth of new courses.

On policy: "It should be the responsibility of the institution, not a public, political body, to determine what is education." Compare the 1953 edition of the Board of Trustees and Saturday classes.

On emphasizing liberal arts and the humanities: "There is, comparatively, too much money for the physical sciences. I would not take money away from them, but if I had to give, I would proportion more to the humanities and social problems studies."

The Daily Texan reporter noted that Dr. Wilson feels that "something new — departments, institutes, courses or buildings—makes newspaper headlines, but strengthening the depth of study—which does not make headlines—is more im portant in the long run."

On emphasizing one field over the other (natural sciences or the social sciences)—"in a well rounded university, you cannot afford to emphasize one to the detriment of the other."

Hot Rods vs. Cadillacs

A bill before the 1953 State Legislature would ban all cars which have had their engines altered beyond factory specifications. The measure is designed to force hot rods from the roads of North Carolina.

Recently the Raleigh News and Observer published a photograph of members of a Bonnie Doone (near Fayetteville) hot rod club which plans to oppose the bill on the grounds that the engines of their cars are no different from those of foreign sports cars now in this country.

Their contention is a valid one, but it does not go far enough. The engines of their cars are no different from the engines which today's Detroit factories are turning out to power the higher priced standard cars of this country.

Let us examine today's new car. Of prime interest is the "horsepower race" in which one manufacturer after another is boosting the power plant of his vehicle. Cadillac, Chrysler and Lincoln have all topped 200 horsepower. Oldsmobile, Hudson, Mercury and Desoto are close to 175 horsepower. A half dozen other cars hover near the 150 mark.

How is this increased horsepower achieved? By exactly the same methods which these backyard mechanics use to improve the performance of their older vehicles. Cadillac uses dual exhaust pipes. Oldsmobile raised their power rating by employing a multiple-type carburetor and Hudson lists the hot-rod marked dual manifold and carburetors as an accessory item. All cars have increased their compression ratios.

Each of these improvements is something by which the public and the police mark a hot rod if it is found on an older automobile. What the hot- rodder is doing is merely applying the now universal technical advances to an older vehicle. If legislation can ban improvements on older engines it should ban similar improvements on new ones as well.

Perhaps the legislators will give the matter more thought when they step behind the wheel of their 1953 210 horsepower Cadillacs, capable of racing at double the legal speed limit. If such legislation is passed, it will, in effect, discriminate among those who can own a high powered automobile. The man who can pay the $4,000 price tag is privileged to drive a hot-rod. The man who cannot is forbidden.

Doubtless, the legislators have the general safety of the public in mind. It is strange, however, that a state in which there is no inspection law and in which public busses consistently average above the legal speed limit, can consider such a measure, bad as it may be.

It seems very much like the farmer who allows his entire herd of cattle to run loose when he leaves his gate open while chasing a single stray.

Correction

The Daily Tar Heel incorrectly stated that a student had lost his appeal to the Student Council. The Interdormitory Council Court had suspended him from his dormitory because of a firecracker tossing incident, but the higher court granted him a new hearing.

The case brings to mind two questions: Why isn't there closer liaison between the upper and lower courts? Is the suspension penalty the usual penalty for such cases? We have been informed that such cases merit probation, not suspension. The Daily Tar Heel received its information from a member of the dorm court two nights before the Student Council hearing.

Express Yourself

An Open Letter to the Faculty:

The Saturday class fight is moving along, gathering momentum as we get closer to the day of discussion and vote of the Trustees, February 23. This is a plea for additional support from a group which can do us the most good—the faculty.

There are many faculty members who were in school, either here or at State or W. C., with people who are now trustees. Those people, writing to their friends, can do our side of the fight inestimable good. It is that group who wield more influence with their contemporaries, classmates, and friends than any student letter might.

The letters which were sent to the trustees from students were well received, and those of the faculty stand even a better chance of making an impression. In conclusion, Mr. Professor, think of the good a letter from you to one of your friends on the Board of Trustees may do, and if you think that the best thing for Carolina is the five-day quarter system, let him know it. We students will be greatful, as we want what is best for us as well as what is best for you and the University.

Phin. Horton, III

Editor:

I am shocked and surprised that the man who ran for the editorship of The Daily Tar Heel on such an intelligent and rational platform and who has since done such a creditable job running the paper should allow such a misanthropic, psuedo-intellectual editorial as the one so tritely entitled "Weighed And Found Wanting" to appear on his editorial page.

I am further dis-illusioned by the way in which the matter has been allowed to get out of hand, as evidenced by the bandying around of the term "mongol idiot" (sic) and other puerile cliches in the altercation that has followed.

This series holds up to the people of the state a distorted and detrimental view of the mentality of our students, and hurts the reputation of the University.

If you must allow such trite trash to clutter up your editorial page, please do not compound the injury by releasing it for publication by newspapers with statewide circulation. All colleges show a certain amount of unsportsmanlike behavior at intercollegiate games—why hold us up to special ridicule for a universal fault?

If you are serious about the problem, please let more mature, intelligent gentlemen write about it; if you are simply in desperate need for material to fill out the yawning spaces of your editorial page, I, for one, would much rather read the advertisements.

M. H. McGowan

Those Amazing Trustees . . .

"Why do citizens accept positions on boards of trustees?" asks Edgar C. Cumings, professor at Hiram College, Ohio. In an article titled "Some Observations on the Trustees," in School and Society, Mr. Cumings attempts an answer.

". . . One answer is that such a position is an honor," he declares. "The difficulty begins when the citizen who has accepted the position as an honor begins to see dimly that he has also accepted a responsibility. If he awakens to this responsibility in a sensible, mature fashion, he will make a good trustee.

"If he views this responsibility as an opportunity to dominate or to ride his hobby, he will make a poor trustee and will add his name to the number who have caused college presidents to look upon bricklaying as an attractive profession."

Mr. Cumings says most trustees are wealthy businessmen with a businessman's view-point. "It is thus a curious development that boards of trustees are for the most part made up of people who come from fields completely unrelated to higher education. How would bankers receive the idea that their boards of directors should be composed of educators?"

To fit his "Utopian concept of higher education," Mr. Cumings suggests that "boards be kept to a minimum of size, that integrity and interest mean more than wealth, that at least one faculty member be appointed to the board," and that "authority over educational matters be in the hands of the faculty . . ."

'Sorry, But We Have A Reasonable Doubt About You"

English Club

A Southern Gentleman

He is the setim tree which grows in the desert, for a symbol of permanence may be seen in him. He alloweth no good to come of change, and for that reason resisteth it whenever he may. He holds the present to be worse than the past, and only better than the future; and he looketh on all things with the eyes of his Father. Good parentage he accounts the chiefest virtue, and defendeth his own, not so truthfully as vehemently.

He is much attached to the land so long as he hath not the working of it himself, a task which, like Aristotle, he takes to be the natural duty of inferior creatures. He greatly loveth the quiet and leisure of the country; and a large, old house, if it be painted white, is his particular delight: but to say truthfully, he dwelleth mostly in his family tree, and like his remotest ancestors is never tired of climbing it.

Honor and tradition he loves more than money, and he acts ever from motives of "noblesse oblige." Yet he hath a great regard for his family, and would have his wife to be ever a "lady" and never a woman. Ignorance in her he takes to be a great mark of refinement, and is ever fearful lest she venture into the dangerous highway of Thought, which he holdeth to be much folly in females.

Morality he conceiveth to be largely a matter of geography, since a line on the earth's surface separates the good from the wicked; and, like his Middle English Forebears, he believeth the devil to dwell in the North, wherefore he is duly watchful that his children and servants look not in that direction.

Yr mst Obt, Hmbl & Dvtd Srvt,
PHILOLOGUS

Dave Herbert

Inquiring Reporter

A few weeks ago there appeared in The Daily Tar Heel an article concerning a date bureau organized in an important university. It seemed that the idea was a good one but in practice the coed applications sent in far exceeded the male applicants. In other words the coeds were "found wanting."

Finding it hard to believe that such a lonely hearts club was needed for the young ladies here, and yet hearing rumors that some of the gals were frowning upon the mass importation of 'foreign' girls to our dances, your reporter decided to find out the local situation.

Working with the simple formula of "Girls available at six on Saturday night" equals "Need for local Date Bureau," your reporter in the safety of a phone booth and under an assumed name, proceeded to call each floor of all the coed dormitories in an attempt to obtain a date for the evening.

Surprisingly enough the frank request of "Please look around and see if anyone would like a date for tonight" was taken as a common-place request and many times your reporter waited for several minutes while prospects were hunted down.

Finally, after a dozen or so calls were completed the average answer went something like this: "I'm sorry but all the girls up here have dates except for a few who are studying." Great!

Rise up ye studes of Carolina,
And proudly take a bow.
A date bureau is hardly needed,
You dood it anyhow;

(Author Unknown)

Incidentally, this column, which is completely dependent upon your letters, has the distinction of being the only one of its kind which has never received one. If you would like to become famous by breaking this record send your question to Inquiring Reporter, Box 1080, Chapel Hill. Last week's winner received a gift certificate from the Town and Campus Clothing Store.

Jim Wilkinson

Send 'Em To Korea

The misery of the cold war is indeed acquainting us with strange bedfellows.

The latest addition to this military menagerie is Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist forces on Formosa. Before the Generalissimo and his troops were kicked off the mainland of China in the summer of 1949, we gave millions to his support.

General Marshall made a trip to China and brought back evidence to support what many had believed all along—that Chiang was not popular enough to hold his country together. Whether this can be attributed to the tales of corruption and malfeasance in the Nationalist government or to the glowing promises of the invading Communists is not too important now.

What is important is that President Eisenhower in his State of the Union message put the stamp of approval firmly on Chiang's ambition to re-take China with the approval or in-spite-of the Chinese people.

Chiang was elated. In a speech of gratitude he said that he wanted it made clear that he would not request troop aid from any foreign government.

However, Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, chief of the Military Advisory Group on Formosa, has said that any attacks by the Nationalists on China proper would have to be supported by the U.S. Navy. This same view was voiced this week by K. C. Wu, governor of Formosa.

Our new foreign policy directors claim that we gave China to the Communists by withdrawing our support.

Suppose Chiang is successful in making a landing—his ultimate aim. Then he would begin his drive across China to rout the Communists, an impossible undertaking without immense outside aid. It would be against Republican policy to abandon him once he had a foothold.

Where else would the supplies come from? No other country is in this deal with us. It will rest squarely upon our shoulders. We are equipping and supplying the Nationalists now, but it's a drop in the bucket compared to what it will take if they begin a full-scale invasion.

The Nationalists are members of the United Nations. As such, they should be in Korea with the UN forces. Their 600,000 highly-trained troops would pack a much greater wallop there than they would making diversionary raids along the whole China coastline.

Furthermore, that would not implicate us in Chiang's future plans for China.

A.Z.F. Wood Jr.

A Real Find

When the scout first saw Igor Flanaflipski, he was supporting the front end of a pick-up truck with one hand. He was changing a tire with the other hand. The scout watched him as he unscrewed the lugs with his fingers, changed the tire, and tightened the lugs with his fingers, being careful not to wring one off. When he stood up, he brushed off his hands, plunked a twenty-penny nail in his mouth, chewed it tastefully, and spit out the head. Igor looked at the scout and blinked.

"Duh," said Igor brightly.

"Would you like to go to college?" said the scout, appreciatively surveying Igor's seven-foot frame of bone and muscle.

"Yuh," said Igor. "Who you?"

"I'm a scout from UNC, and you can go there to school free if you will lift weights and play football. Maybe wrestle some on the side. We'll pay all of your expenses and give you two-hundred dollars a month spending money. Would you like that?"

"Yuh," said Igor.

Later back at UNC, the scout is talking with a school official.

" . . . course he's only finished the third grade, but with proper tutoring, I'm sure he'll catch up and will be able to do the work. He's signed up for bait-casting, towel-issuing, and volley-ball for the first quarter."

"Wonderful" the official says, his eyes shining. "He'll certainly give Carolina a good name. He'll be better than Justice for attracting students. Why, we'll soon have as good a reputation as the University of Mississippi or Southern California. And think of the gate-receipts! We must write the Educational Foundation and thank them for making this possible. Won't the alumni be pleased!"

Segregation And The Conscience Of Texas

Psychologists looked deep into the heart of Texans last month and found that the majority of University of Texas males "are not yet ready to break down segregation in the public schools."

But most of them are willing to accept the university's policy of admitting Negroes to graduate school. Those students who have been in classes with Negroes are the most "tolerant."

The survey was made by Dr. Wayne H. Holtzman, assistant professor of psychology at the University of Texas. Dr. Holtzman says the younger students are more often in favor of segregation than the older ones.

There is also a relationship, he says, between church attendance and tolerance. "Those who attend religious services once a week or more are more accepting of the Negro than the men who go only once or twice a month. However, the most tolerant of all are the men who claim they never attend church."

STUDENTS: This is just a message to all the regular movie-goers at U.N.C.—Anything to do now."—Well, Saturday Night we have a movie called "REDHEAD FROM WYOMING" starring Maureen O'Hara.—It will not be playing Sunday or next week—I thought I'd tell you people, so you won't run out of movies to see before the week-end is over.—And too, because I'd like to see all of you over at the VARSITY Saturday night at 11:15 —— A. Gutierrez, Mgr.

Carolina Will Be Host To Duke Squad Here Tonight

Down In Front

by Biff Roberts

The Carolina Revelation

THE REVELATION of Carolina's expenses on grants-in-aid by Chancellor Robert B. House was a healthy prescription for improving the status of the school throughout the State. Most people had a pretty good idea of what we were spending—generally estimated in most places to be about $100,000 a year—but the official announcement wipes away any suspicion that people might have had about our expenses.

People didn't seem to be too concerned over how much we were giving in grants-in-aid to non-athletes but there has been a great deal of questioning as to the help received by athletes. It's officially revealed now—so there shouldn't be too much rabble raised over our position.

One thing which the report did arouse (or re-arouse) was this question of taking a percentage of the profits from the book store and appropriating the amount for grants-in-aid, with the nature, number and financial value to be determined by the administration.—or as the plan is now, to athletics. There have been opinions raised against the proposal, most of them with virtues. But for the most part those who oppose the proposal view the situation till it reaches the end of their noses and no farther. Few of those opposed to the plan have taken it in with a long-range view in mind.

Funds and Foundation

IN THE FIRST PLACE, our Athletic Association is an entity in itself. It is self-supporting, depending upon receipts from the various sports to run its vast program. Whether you like the system or not (and former football Coach Carl Snavely attacked it in his recent speech in Washington) that's the way it is run. The Athletic Association must depend upon its receipts for its program. The better the teams' showing the better the yield and the better the future athletic program.

We turn to the grants-in-aid to athletes and see that almost entirely they are given by money supplied to the University Scholarship Committee by the Educational Foundation, an organization of school alumni and friends. The money given to the school by this group goes to help athletes—of all sports—in getting through school. This is one of the most important points of the whole program. The grants-in-aid are for all sports. Too many of us have tried to connect any grant-in-aid with football alone. Even in attacking this proposal of aids from Book-X profits we have consciously or sub-consciously gotten it in our heads that it's football. The proposal is for grants to ATHLETES.

On The Home Front

BUT GETTING BACK to the main problem, we find that the people who support the Educational Foundation find it hard to give to the program when we here at Carolina seem to want to have little to do with it ourselves. We complain about our teams, we use the athletic facilities in Woollen Gym, the tennis courts, etc. without any thought as to how they are brought about or maintained. When we are asked to let approximately 25% of the profits of the book of getting back or controlling ourselves at all—we complain loudly exchange go to athletic grants-in-aid—profit which we have no chance that we are being trod upon.

It seems to me that we have no logical complaint about the granting of this share of the book store profits to athletes as grants-in-aid. Indirectly we are helping to further an athletic setup which can be considered one of the best in the country. We have complained for three years here about the success of our athletic teams, football, basketball, and others. When we are given some chance of helping, we balk. We use the minor facilities of the athletic department, the swimming pool, tennis courts, boxing room, etc. but give little thought to its support. We have one of the finest intramural setups to be found anywhere—it is supported by the funds from the athletic association which come from the receipts of the various sports.

What Are We Doing?

WE HAVE ALL of this setup but, instead of willingly helping with an amount of approximately $10,000, a sum which would probably amount to $50,000 in creating good will and helping our over-all athletic program, we try to squirm out. It seems to me that we're not looking at the over-all picture. We're missing the main point of the proposal. If we want to maintain as good an athletic program as we now have—or even better it—we shouldn't balk when steps are taken to help it. The little bit taken from the book-store profits will help far more than the opponents realize. If we have any sense of appreciation for what others are doing it seems silly to complain.

"You can't have your cake and . . . "

High Scoring Reigel Leads Blue Devils

Duke's Blue Devils invade Woollen Gymnasium tonight for a Southern Conference match with the league leading Carolina Tar Heels. Tonight's scrap will be the first meeting of the two schools during the current school year.

The Blue Devils, fighting for an opportunity to gain a berth in the conference tournament in March, dropped West Virginia in their last outing. Bill Reigel scored 31 points to lead the Duke squad in its upset victory over the Mountaineers.

Carolina will meet New York University in Woollen Gym tomorrow night at 8:00. The junior varsity will play Fort Bragg in a preliminary at 6:00.

Rudy D'Emilio is also a scoring leader for the Durham cagers. D'Emilio, along with Rudy Lacy and Bernie Janicki, has given strong support to Reigel in Duke games thus far this season.

While the Devils were winning Tuesday night, Carolina lost its second Conference title, 87-82, to the University of Richmond in a double-overtime contest.

Tar Heel coach Frank McGuire will probably counter with the same five that has won most of the Tar Heels' games this year. This will have fire-plug Vince Grimaldi, Al Lifson, Bud Maddie, Jerry Vayda, and Paul Likins in the starting lineup. A lot of support will be available in Jack Wallace, Bob Phillips, and Tony Radovich.

Radovich was the star in Carolina's losing effort in Richmond. The stocky freshman completed 10 out of 13 attempts from the floor while tossing in 20 points to take high scoring honors for the night.

A preliminary game between the Duke freshmen and the Carolina jayvees will get underway at 6 p.m. Duke has won both games played previously this year.

Gym Team Faces WVa.

The Carolina Gymnastic Team will encounter the West Virginia Mountaineers in Morgantown, West Virginia, this afternoon. It will be the first dual meet in Mountaineer history, although in bygone years West Virginia gymnasts have participated in the National Collegiate Championships.

Mountaineer Coach Bill Bonsall, an ex-Penn State teammate of Tar Heel Coach Bill Meade, will make his debut against a Carolina team that has split even in two contests this season. Carolina dropped an early meet to powerful Navy, but showed improvement in soundly defeating Duke.

The Tar Heels will be strengthened in the high-bar and side-horse events by the addition of Co-Captain Andy Bell, who has recovered from a shoulder injury.

Swimmers To Face Toughest Test Against Florida This Afternoon

By John Hussey

Ralph Casey's undefeated Tar Heels will encounter the Gators from the University of Florida at three o'clock today in the Bowman-Gray Memorial Pool.

The Gators have been ranked as the top team in the Southeastern Conference ever since they defeated Georgia earlier this season.

Florida will bring Louie Childs along with them to swim the 220 and 440 events. Childs was the national long distance champion two years ago. Opposing him in the 220 for the Tar Heels will be Stan Tinkham and Smith Jewell. Larry Shannon and Tommy Gill will swim the 440. Both of the races should be close.

Joe Kelso will have his first real test of the current season when he faces Florida's Borland on the three meter board. Borland defeated Mitakis, the SEC diving champion from Georgia, three weeks ago.

Buddy Heins will swim the 50 and the 100 yard dashes. He will be assisted by Duke Widoff in the 50 and Jack Edwards in the 100.

Buddy Baarcke and Warren Heeman will be placed in the 200 yard backstroke. It will be the first time this year that Carolina's two top backstrokers have faced each other and the race should prove to be an interesting one.

Donnie Evans and Barry Wall will swim the 200 yard breaststroke. Wall has not equalled Evans' time this year but could possibly better it today.

Baarcke, Wall, and Evans will team together in the 300-yard medley relay. Baarcke and Wall were members of last year's All-America team.

Tinkham, Bob Linker, Heins and Edwards will compose the 400 yard freestyle relay.

JV Swimmers Meet Norfolk Tomorrow

The Carolina junior-varsity swimmers will go after their third win of the season tomorrow when they meet the mermen from the Norfolk division of William and Mary.

The meet will begin tomorrow at 3 p.m. in Bowman Gray Pool.

The swimmers, much improved after their last meet two weeks ago, will swim the collegiate distances for the first time, according to Coach Dick Jamerson.

The meet, originally scheduled for this afternoon, was changed in order that the W. & M. swimmers could fill their date with N. C. State.

The probable lineup for Saturday's meet is:

300 medley—Diffenbach, McAllister and Owen; 220 free-style—Parks, Baker; 50 free-style—Dannenbaum, Eldridge; 150 Individual medley—Boyd; Diving — Hussey; 100 free-style — Baker, Dannenbaum; 200 back-stroke—Diffenbach, Woltz; 440 free-style — Parks, Holmes.

Following tomorrow's meet, the jayvees will rest a week before taking on Richmond YMCA Feb. 14.

Wrestlers To Face VPI, WVa. On Road

Coach Sam Barnes' Tar Heel wrestlers, with victories over Davidson and The Citadel, take to the road for two meets this weekend. The varsity will play West Virginia in Morgantown tonight and then takes on VPI tomorrow night in two Southern Conference meets.

Led by little Harry Pawlik, Miles Gregory and co-captain Eddie Haines, the Tar Heels have won two Southern Conference meets against one loss, that being to a strong Duke squad in Durham, 20-6. The only other team to defeat the Carolina matmen thus far this season has been Virginia.

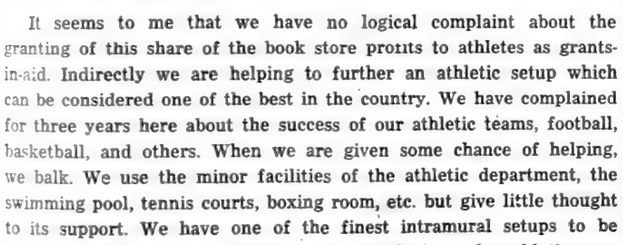
The Carolina wrestlers, who have already won one more meet than they did a year ago, have greatly improved this season and expect to finish this campaign near the top in the loop standings.

Coach Barnes will probably go along with the same team which defeated The Citadel, 20-8. That would put Pawlik at 123; Gordon Forrester at 130; Haines at 137; Austin Stevens at 147; Tom Stokes at 157; Harvey Bradshaw at 167; Gregory at 177; and Andy Holt at heavyweight.

The Tar Heels will not have a home meet again until February 20 when they meet W & L in Woollen Gym.

Squatters' Rights

Holders of both odd and even-numbered passbooks have only today and tomorrow to trade stubs from their passbooks for reserved seats to the Carolina-N. C. State game here on Saturday, Feb. 21.



The Woollen Gym ticket office is open from 8:30-4:30 today and from 8:30-12:00 noon tomorrow.

CLUE TO A HIT!
'GREEN FOR DANGER'
is a MUST SEE!
See it two or three times. "you'll be glad if you do!"
GOOD HOUSEKEEPING MAGAZINE
— Starring —
SALLY GRAY
TREVOR HOWARD
TODAY
Carolina
LATE SHOW SATURDAY
SUN.—MON.—TUE.

BROWNIE HAWKEYE
CAMERA • FLASH MODEL
Here's just the camera you need—smart . . . easy-to-use . . . inexpensive. You merely load, aim, and shoot for good indoor pictures—in color or black-and-white. The "Brownie Hawkeye" can be used without Flasholder for ordinary outdoor snaps. Camera, $7.20, including Federal Tax; Flasholder, $3.39.
Foister's Camera Store, Inc.

M-G-M presents
THE LOVE STORY BEHIND THE BILLION-DOLLAR SECRET!
ABOVE AND BEYOND
STARRING ROBERT TAYLOR ELEANOR PARKER JAMES WHITMORE MARILYN ERSKINE

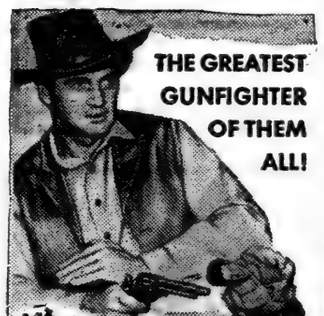
Carolina
NOW PLAYING

ON VALENTINES DAY GIVE
Shakespeare's Sonnets
A million guys have been in love since Shakes peares day, but none of them have written about it better than the old maestro! If you dobt it, stop in for a free read.
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

Orders Taken NOW
FOR REGULATION AIR FORCE
Uniforms & Supplies
IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US BEFORE PLACING YOUR ORDER
THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

If you don't feel like sending Valentines We'll sell you a hate card but Gosh how it will grieve us!
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

ICE CAPADES OF 1953
THE GREATEST SHOW ON ICE
Mail orders for tickets
COLISEUM IN RALEIGH
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
N. C. State College—P. O. Box 5065
RALEIGH, N. C.
Children 12 Years Under Adults Only
Enclosed is $_____ for _____ tickets at $_____ each
Prices $3.00 $2.50 $2.00 $1.50
Name _____ Address _____
City _____ State _____ Phone No. _____
PLEASE ENCLOSE SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE FOR RETURN OF TICKETS



INTRODUCING
Milwaukee's Finest Beer
(bottle 30c)
Blatz
—SAVINGS SPECIAL—
Case Lots Introduced At Cost
$4.17
Plus Tax In Cans
—Limit 2 Per Person—
RATHSKELLER
Down Amber Alley Phone 9-2756
Excellent Food and Drink
REASONABLE—COMFORTABLE

SPECIALS FOR YOUR FRATERNITY OR SORORITY PARTIES THIS WEEK
— at —
FOWLER'S FOOD STORE
West Franklin Street — Phone 9416
• meats
• drinks
• potato chips
• beer
• pastries
• delicatessens

NOW! EXCLUSIVE
"LA RONDE" IT'S HERE
A RARE TREAT! THE MERRY GO ROUND OF LOVE
FRANCES' GREATEST FILM
"TODAY'S SHOWS AT 2:15-4:20-5:25 & 8:30 P.M."
Special Rates for Students
ASTOR—DURHAM

JUST RECEIVED
Genuine WHITE BUCKS
$9.95
THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

Varsity
— Now Playing —
Tyrone POWER Joan FONTAINE DARRYL F. ZANUCK'S production
LOADED WITH DYNAMIC FERVOR!
THIS ABOVE ALL
by ERIC KNIGHT

— Starting Saturday —
THIS IS A GREAT DEAL MORE THAN JUST ANOTHER WESTERN

THE GREATEST GUNFIGHTER OF THEM ALL!
THE LAWLESS BREED
TECHNICOLOR
Starring ROCK HUDSON JULIA ADAMS
BASED ON THE LIFE OF JOHN WESLEY HARDIN
Late Show Saturday Nite! ONLY!
"REDHEAD FROM WYOMING"
IN TECHNICOLOR
— Starring —
MAUREEN O'HARA
ALEX NICHOL

Campus Carousel

By Deenie Schoeppe

Strangest things have been happening round this place. Like last week when two Chi Phi's and two Tri Delts sat calmly in the middle of the traffic circle in front of the Chi Phi house playing bridge with card table, chairs and lamp, as traffic whizzed by. Which was all a result of a party given by the Chi Phi's for the Tri Delts.

And then there's the Phi Beta Kappa chapter of Alpha Tau Omega that gave a B.Y.O.B. party in the library Friday night. (B.Y.O.B. meaning "Bring Your Own Books") Everyone was invited to this little social function.

Of much big surprise to all was the marriage last weekend of Chi O Ann Mackie, Chapel Hill, to Marine Don Fitzgibbons who's stationed at LeJeune. Congratulations!

Now wearing a diamond is Ann Guiton, KD of Whiteville. She'll marry Dick Coborn, a Beta from Davidson.

Chi O's will have another one of their study breaks Wednesday night after chapter meeting. All fraternities are invited.

Fraternity parties are going strong. Kappa Sigs entertained the Chi O's Tuesday night at the Hut. Beer there after dinner at the house.

Last night KA's and Pi Phi's had a spaghetti dinner at the KA house followed by party at the Country Club.

The Sigma Chi's had much big doings over last weekend. It was their annual roaring twenties Ball. Pledges gave actives a cocktail party and dinner before the Ball which was held at the house. They had bowery decorations, Charleston instruction and skits. Pledges and actives are reported improving steadily.

Pi Kappa Phi's will party with their Duke chapter tonight after the game.

ATO's (oh wise ones) gave the Tri Delts a real fine party at the Country Club Tuesday.

And then there are the Sigma Nu's who are busily entertaining Duke coeds again. Duke Pi Phi's will be given a party Tuesday.

Lambda Chi's will have a stag beer party at the house Saturday nite.

Phi Gams will entertain their sister sorority, the Kappa Alpha Theta's, from Duke next Wednesday.

KA Tom Bulla, High Point, will march down that aisle Feb. 21. Marilyn Robinette, also of High Point, will be Mrs. Bulla.

Having trouble selecting a fire escape to suit your house? You might speak to the SAE's—they have something new in the way of a "pulverized" fire escape.

Carolina didn't provide enough excitement for the St. A's last weekend so they all took off for W&L and Fancy Dress weekend.

Chi Psi's seem to be losing pins right and left these days. Latest pinless one is Buddy Carrier, Charlotte, who gave his to Carolada Audrey of Durham.

Delta Sigma Pi pledges been "makin' with the music" and serenading at G.C., W.C. and High Point colleges.

More pins in the news: Chi Phi Tommy Peacock, of Tar Heel fame, pinned Tri Delt Claire Boone. Both are from Arlington, Va.

ATO Dwight Elting, Roanoke Rapids, Va. pinned Pi Phi Pledge President Ann Fitzgerald, Princeton.

KD's had a study break this Wednesday for all fraternities after chapter meeting.

Phi Delt pledges partied Saturday night at the Plantation Club in Greensboro. But what does Dean Martin have to do with it?

Now Mr. and Mrs. are Kappa Sig Jack Cowan, Durham and stu-Oldham, also of Durham and student at WC.

Pinning has even hit the Phi Delta Chi house. Carl Kirby of Wilson gave his pin to Betty Sue Thomas, Charlotte, from WC.

Rumor has it that a Deke pinned a coed. Can it be? Listen in next week!

ZBT's Given Awards, Elect New Officers

The local Alpha Pi chapter of Zeta Beta Tau fraternity was given two national awards recently.

Local ZBT's were named the "Chapter Showing the Greatest General Improvement During the Past Year" and the "Chapter Showing the Greatest Interest in Jewish Affairs" at the fraternity's annual national convention held in Seattle, Wash.

Newly elected officers of the organization are Fred Rosenberg, Troy, Ala., president; Allan Resnick, Miami, Fla., vice-president; Charles Katzenstein, New York City, secretary; and Jay Cohen, Atlanta, Ga., treasurer.

CLASSIFIEDS

PERSONAL

EVERYMAN—A BOOK FROM the Intimate Bookshop, all gift-wrapped nice and pretty, might melt my heart on St. Valentines Day. Everybiddy. (Chg 1x1)

LOST

LOST: BROWN CORLE POCKETbook. May be most any place but most likely between McIver Dorm and Tri-Delt house. Billfold and valuable papers inside. Please return to Mary Kathrine Myers, 302 McIver Dorm. Reward.

HELP WANTED

MALE OF FEMALE SHORT ORder cook. Must be able to work 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.; meals included. Apply at COLONIAL HOUSE, W. Rosemary St. Chg. 1x1)

HEAR YOUR FAVORITE MUSIC!
Arthur Fiedler and The Boston Pops
TOUR ORCHESTRA
(PERSONNEL OF 75)
Monday, Feb. 9th, 8:30 P.M.
Prices: $2.50, $2.00, $1.50, $1.00
Children ½ Price
N. C. State College
COLISEUM IN RALEIGH

JUST RECEIVED
GENUINE MOYGASHEL Irish Linen SPORT JACKET
Special Price
$28.50
Colors Natural & Rust
THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

In Durham---------
HARVEY'S CAFETERIA
AND
BANQUET SERVICE
Breakfast 6:30 - 9:15
Lunch 11 - 2.30
Supper 5 - 8:05
Special Facilities For All Fraternity & Sorority Functions
103 E. MAIN STREET, DURHAM

Delta Upsilon Colony Petitioning For Charter

The Delta Fraternity, a colony of the National Delta Upsilon, had as its guests this past weekend Mr. and Mrs. H. Novis Harrison of Centreville, Md.

Mr. Harrison is the Chairman of the Committee on Petitioning Societies of the Delta Upsilon Fraternity. The Delta colony has sent in a petition to the Board of Directors for a charter. The Board, which was given the power to grant charters at the 118th annual convention of the fraternity, will meet on February 17th to consider granting this charter.

Retreat at Episcopal Church

The Student Vestry of the Episcopal Student Congregation will sponsor a retreat in the Chapel of the Cross tomorrow. There will be a preparatory service tonight at 11 o'clock, and tomorrow meditations will begin with Holy Communion at 7:30 a.m. Breakfast will be served and meditation services will continue until 1 p.m. The Rev. Moultrie Moore of St. Martin's Episcopal Church in Charlotte will conduct the services.

Faculty Women

Faculty women will meet informally at Lenoir Hall in the front upstairs, dining room between 12 and 1:30 o'clock today, Dean Katherine Carmichael announced yesterday.

ENJOY PLENTY OF A&P'S DELICIOUS, DOLLAR-STRETCHING Fresh Fruits & Vegetables
A&P
Come See at A&P during '53

Large Crisp Heads—Size 4's LETTUCE - 2 Heads 23c
Tasty Green Pascal—Size 3's CELERY - - - Stalk 9c
Concentrate ORANGE JUICE 2 6-Oz. Cans 27¢
Crisp Golden Carrots - - - - - - - 1-Lb. Cello Bag 12¢
Firm Ripe Slicing Tomatoes - - - - - - 1-Lb. Ctn. 19c
A & P Large PRUNES 1-Lb. Pkg. 23¢
Juicy Florida Size 54's GRAPEFRUIT 4 For 23c
Florida ORANGES - - - - 8-Lb. Bag 43c
Armour's CANNED MEATS
Treet 12-Oz. Can 43c
Chopped Ham 12-Oz. Can 51c
Vienna Sausage 4-Oz. Can 19c
Corned Beef 12-Oz. Can 49c
Potted Meat 3¼-Oz. Can 13c
Chili Con Carne 16-Oz. Can 32c
Corned Beef Hash 16-Oz. Can 29c
Dried Beef 2½-Oz. Jar 35c
Ann Page Fancy Tomato KETCHUP - - - - - - - - 2 14-Oz. Bots. 35c
Mild American CHEESE - - - - - - - - - - Lb. 49c
Ann Page Sparkle PUDDINGS - - - - - - 3 4-Oz. Pkgs. 17c
Packer's Label Standard Pack TOMATOES - - - - - - - 2 16-Oz. Cans 27c
Ann Page Creamy Smooth PEANUT BUTTER - - - - 12-Oz. Jar 29c
Jane Parker Marble or Plain POUND CAKE 11-Oz. Cake 25c
Jane Parker Cello Wrapped White Bread 1½-Lb. Loaf 20c
Mild & Mellow Coffee 8 O'Clock 1-Lb. Bag 77c 3-Lb. Bag $2.25
"Super-Right" Meats
Choice Western Beef—Chuck Blade Pot Roast - - - - - - - Lb. 49¢
Choice Western Beef—Bone In Plate Stew - - - - - - Lb. 19¢
Pre-diced Boneless Stew - - - - Lb. 59c
Choice Western Beef—Bone In Sirloin Steak - - - - - Lb. 89¢
Wilson's Corn King Sliced Bacon - - - - - Lb. 49c
GROUND BEEF 45¢
Center Cuts Rib Pork Chops - - - - - - Lb. 55c
Super Right—Cut Up Pan Ready Fresh Fryers - - - - - Lb. 45¢
Headless & Dressed Black Bass - - - - - - Lb. 29c
White House Dry Milk Solids - - - - - - - - 7-Oz. Pkg. 15c
Ann Page Strawberry Preserves - - - - - - - - - 2-Lb Jar 59c
Sunnyfield Flour For Pancakes - - - - - - - 2 20-Oz Pkgs. 25c
Ann Page Blended Syrup - - - - - - - - - - 24-Oz. Bot. 39c
Peas Green Giant - - - - - - 17-Oz. Can 19c
Corn Niblets Brand - - - 2 12-Oz. Cans 35c
Marcal Paper Napkins - - - - - - - - - 80-Ct. Pkg. 10c
Swansdown Yellow Cake Mix 35c Regular Price 10c off introductory 25c you pay - 25c
Marshmallows Angelus - - - 10-Oz. Pkg. 19c
Cracker Jacks - - - 3 Pkgs. 13c
Heinz Ketchup - - - - 14-Oz. Bot. 27c
Tuna Fish Chicken of Sea white meat - - 7-Oz. Can 37c
Dial Soap - - - - - - 2 Reg. Bars 27c
Dial Soap - - - - - - - - Bath Bar 17c
Palmolive Soap - - - 3 Reg. Bars 23c
Palmolive Soap - - 2 Bath Bars 23c
Soap Cashmere Bouquet - - - - - 3 Reg. Bars 23c
Soap Cashmere Bouquet - - - - - 2 Bath Bars 23c
Octagon Toilet Soap - - - 2 Bars 13c
Super Suds - - Lge. Pkg. 27c Giant Pkg 65c
Ivory Soap - - - - - 2 Lge Bars 27c
Ivory Flakes - - - - - - Lge Pkg. 27c
Duz - - - - - - Lge. Pkg. 27c Giant Pkg. 65c
Clorox - - - - - Qt. Bot. 17c ½-Gal. Jar 29c
A&P Super Markets
THE GREAT ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC TEA COMPANY
These prices effective thru Sat., Feb. 7th.

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Slightly warmer with 60 high. Yesterday's high, 53; low, 35.

The Daily Tar Heel

ARTS
The editors advocate more liberal education. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI NUMBER 90 — CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1953 — FOUR PAGES TODAY

IDA AND HER TEACHERS VOCALIZE in Playmaker's version of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Princess Ida," which finishes its three-day run tonight. From left are Joe Jurgensen, who played as one of Princess Ida's associate professors, Nancy Murray, who played the lead, and Jean Hillman, who played the other prof. Show time is 8:30.

Hollywood Dr. Removes Need For False Claims

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7—(Special)—No longer need girls do with cotton what Nature's forgotten.

A plastic surgeon disclosed recently that now any girl can become a Jane Russell through science—and fool everybody but her surgeon.

Dr. Robert Franklyn told how a falsie can be made with plastic and inserted under the skin. And Hollywood, never one to lag, is keeping well abreast of these trends.

"A size 34, which is insufficient, can become 36, which is sufficient and a 36 can become a 38, which is more than sufficient, even in Hollywood," the surgeon said, who numbers many a movie queen among his patients.

Dr. Franklyn claims he has successfully performed the operation on 25 women, some of them well known to movie fans. The plastic, first developed by him in a soff, form, is a sponge-like substance that feels fleshy. It also can be used to build up hollow cheeks or chinless chins.

The operation requires a surgical incision that will allow the spongy plastic to be pushed into the spots required.

"So far," the doctor commented, "we have found it inert and well tolerated by the body. Tests on humans and animals show it is no more harmful on the body than air."

It will not produce irritation to cells, major cause of cancer, the doctor added.

Dr. Franklyn? He's married to movie actress Vanessa Brown.

City Planning Exhibit Opens In Morehead

An exhibit showing the work of the first five graduating classes of the University's Department of City and Regional Planning is now on display in the north and south rooms of the Morehead Building.

The dispay has been set up by the students in the Department and will be open daily from 2 until 10 p.m. through this month.

Much of the work of the graduate students in the Department is focussed upon communities in the state and region. Cities and towns represented in the display of student projects include the Leaksville-Spray-Draper area, Lenoir, Goldsboro, Durham, Raleigh, Greensboro, Rocky Mount, Greenville, Fayetteville, Chapel Hill and Columbia and Hartsville, S. C.

The exhibit also includes illustrative materials from three research projects undertaken for the Federal government by students and faculty of the Department of City and Regional Planning through the Institute for Research in Social Science. These include a study for the Housing and Home Finance Agency of Urbanization in the Savannah River area; a study for the U. S. Air Force on day-time nighttime population distribution in urban areas; and an examination for the U. S. Air Force of city and regional planning in the Soviet Union.

The display also includes madels of proposed new town developments for North Carolina.

CPU Meeting

"What is Progress?" will be tonight's topic for discussion at the meeting of the Carolina Political Union. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial. Visitors are welcome.

Correction

Due to a typographical error, a story in Friday's paper incorrectly listed Bubber Hill, UNC student, as pleading guilty in a Raleigh court to a theft charge at State College.

The story should have read that Hill pleaded not guilty. The Daily Tar Heel regrets the error.

What Goes On Here

Musicological Society

The North Carolina chapter of the American Musicological Society will meet on Monday evening, Feb. 9, at 9 o'clock in the choral room of Hill Hall. Dr. Jan P. Schinhan of the University faculty will read a paper entitled "Music-illogical Terms, Definitions, Notations and Interpretations." Everyone is invited to attend whether society members or not.

SUAB Meeting

The student-faculty committee of SUAB will meet Wednesday, Feb. 11, in the main lounge of Graham Memorial at 5 o'clock. In the future a faculty member will be invited to discuss a pertinent topic with the group. For the Wednesday meeting several members of the faculty will be present and all students are invited.

Cosmopolitan Club

As part of the campus-wide observance of Race Relations Sunday, the Cosmopolitan Club will sponsor a talk by John Cassel of the Union of South Africa. Mr. Cassel will discuss the race problem in his country at the club's regular meeting in the Rendezvous Room today at 4 o'clock.

Interdormitory Council

The Interdormitory Council meets tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in 203 Alumni. By-laws will be discussed.

WUNC

The YUNC program schedule for today is as follows:

7p.m.—Sunday Show Time
7:30—Oliver Twist
8:00—The University Hour
8:30—Chicago Roundtable
9:00—Musician Comments
9:15—The Symphony Hour
10:00—News and Coming Events
10:05—Evening Masterwork
10:45—Sign Off

The WUNC program schedule for Monday:

7 p.m.—Stories 'n' Stuff
7:30—Adventures in Research
7:45—Songs of France
8:00—The People Act
8:30—Voices of Europe
9.00—British Concert Hall
10:00—News and Coming Events
10:05—Evening Masterwork
10:45—Sign Off

'Mr. And Miss' Named By Education School

Texas Solons Ask Broader GI Benefits

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 7—(Special)—Korean veterans from Texas who are not eligible for the U. S. government's GI Bill will be sent to school by the state if a proposed act goes through.

The Military and Veterans Committee of the Texas House of Representatives has reported favorably on the bill and thus far no one in either the House or the Senate has spoken in opposition to the bill.

The bill provides that Korean veterans attending state educational institutions will have their tuition and fees paid by the state. But the act will not apply to those veterans who receive federal benefits. As it is now, only vets of World Wars I and II receive state aid after their federal benefits expire.

The proposed bill is similar to one passed to aid World War II vets. After their federal eligibility ran out, they had their tuition and fees supplied by the state for as long as 48 months.

The proposed bill would apply to vets who serve during the present emergency. Its benefits also would apply to the children of persons who were killed in action or died while in the armed service.

The title "Mr." and "Miss" Representative Student Teacher," has been given Richard B. Wilson, Chapel Hill, and Margaret Dickinson, Raleigh.

The honor is bestowed each year upon one man and one woman from the upper class in the school of education. A joint student-faculty committee selects the students who are to represent the University in this capacity at the annual conference of the North Carolina Education Association next month in Asheville.

The selection is made on the basis of personality, scholarship, leadership, and qualities most desirable in a superior teacher.

Dick Wilson, Phi Beta Kappa was initiated into Phi Delta Kappa, honorary educational fraternity last week. At present he is doing practice teaching at the New Walter Williams High School in Burlington. A history major, Dick entered Carolina in the fall of 1950 and will be graduated in June, 1953.

Margaret Dickinson, who holds several scholastic honors, was listed on the Dean's list at Peace College and made the Dean's list here after her transfer from Peace in 1951. Margaret is president of the physical education majors club for member of the Women's Athletic men and women. She has been a Council for the past two years and plays on the hockey team. Her practice teaching will begin next quarter in a high school not far from Chapel Hill.

Both of the "Representative Teachers" will be guests of the North Carolina Education Association during its three-day conference in Asheville. They will be sponsored by the local chapter of Phi Delta Kappa.

Draft Status To Be Aired

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—(Special)—John A. Hannah told Senators this week that the present policy of draft deferments for college students will be reviewed.

"It worries me," the ex-president of Michigan State said, "that there is so much validity in the statement—that the son of a well-to-do man goes to college and the son of the less well-to-do goes to Korea."

Y Banquet This Week

The YMCA will hold its quarter Fellowship Banquet Tuesday night, Feb. 17 at 6 in Lenoir Hall.

J. Frederick Miller, national YMCA staff secretary, will be principal speaker for the occasion. Miller has worked with the student organization in Oklahoma and Pennsylvania prior to his post on the national staff. Dr. Frank Graham was guest sjeaker for the fall quarter dinner.

The banquet, highlighting the fellowship program among members and friends of the Carolina YMCA, is for both faculty and students.

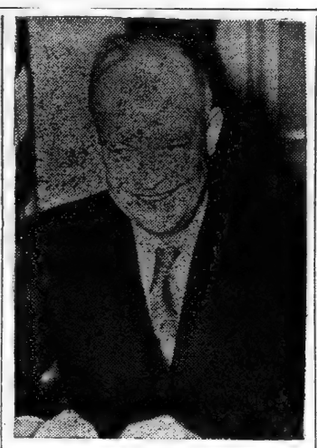
Campus Seen

Nattily dressed males, obviously on way to a date, exploring engine under hood of stubborn car.

*

Down-and-outer discussing high cost of living with economics prof in front of Jeff's newsstand.

*



Springtime coming to South Building early with appearance of daffodils and azaleas throughout building.

That Ain't All

It happened the other day in Greensboro when they were introducing President as the speaker of the day.

The person making the introduction recited a long list of accomplishments for the educator, mentioning his rise in the Army and the several capacities in which he served the government as a civilian.

After the impressive ist had been completed, Gray prefaced his speech with, "He forgot to tell you I was once a notary public in New York."

IKE
. . . free-wheeling

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower went a long way Friday toward restoring the nation to a free-wheeling economy. Ripping aside the controversial controls system set up during the Truman administration, Eisenhower issued two-fold executive orders: (1) Abolishing all federal controls over wages and salaries—thus clearing the way for quick pay boosts for perhaps a million workers; and (2) junking price curbs on thousands of items, including all meat, clothing, furniture, restaurant meals, bar and tavern drinks, and hundreds of household goods. Both orders are effective immediately.

★

THE HAGUE—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew to flood-ravaged Holland Friday and immediately began laying the basis for an extra American aid program to enable this country to pull its oar on the Western Europe's defense team. Dulles wants that team to be showing real progress by an April deadline. But a North Sea flood has damaged the economy of Holland and Belgium, two members of the projected six-nation European army, and created havoc in Britain, which is co-operating with the group.

★

GREENSBORO—A dapper but frightened George Smith gave himself up Friday afternoon, 15 hours after he had been declared an outlaw. He met his two lawyers and a uniformed policeman who were waiting by appointment near the Guilford County Courthouse at 3:30 p.m. Five minutes later a cell door in the County Jail closed behind the dethroned lottery king and at 4:05 he was on his way to Central Prison at Raleigh. Thus a 22½ hour man hunt and a career of crime ended. A statewide alram was broadcast for the convicted racketeer Thursday afternoon when he failed to show up in Guilford Superior Court to begin a 10-year sentence for bribery.

★

RALEIGH — Governor William Umstead has left Watts Hospital in Durham and gone home to the governors' mansion here after spending 27 hospitalized days and nights recovering from a mild heart attack.

Student Party Slates Nominations Tonight

The Student Party will meet tomorrow night at 8.30 in Roland Parker lounges.

All Legislature nominations will be made. Members and other interested students are invited.

Pi Beta Phi Paces Campus In Grades

Pi Beta Phi sorority proved themselves the brainest Greek letter organization on the campus for the fall quarter, coming up with a 2.1618 (B minus) average.

The Pi Phi's average is the second highest on the campus in recent years. A 2.11 was recorded shortly after World War II, also by the Pi Phi's.

Alpha Tau Omega led the 23 fraternities in grades with a 2.6198 (C plus) average. Running behind the Pi Phi's in leading the Greeks were two more sororities, Kappa Delta, 2.3493 and Chi Omega, 2.3611.

In computing scholastic averages, a higher grade is assigned a lower numerical value, viz., A is 1.00, B is 2.00, C is 3.00, D is 4.00, and so on.

The other three sororities lined up in this order: Alpha Delta Pi, 2.6279; Delta Delta Delta, 2.6337; and Alpha Gamma Delta, 2.7241.

The other fraternities followed ATO in this order: Zeta Beta Tau, 2.6812; Tau Epsilon Phi, 2.7467; Zeta Psi, 2.7789; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 2.7937; Delta Psi, 2.8292; Phi Gamma Delta, 2.8941.

Beta Theta Pi, 2.9185; Theta Chi, 2.9234; Delta Kappa Epsilon, 2.9518; Kappa Alpha, 2.9563; Sigma Nu, 2.9602; Chi Psi, 2.9902; Pi Lambda Phi, 2.9912; Chi Phi, 2.9950; Phi Kappa Sigma, 2.9969; Lambda Chi Alpha, 3.0573.

Sigma Phi Epsilon, 3.1121; Sigma Chi, 3.1452; Pi Kappa Phi, 3.1649; Pi Kappa Alpha, 3.2443; Phi Delta Theta, 3.2668; and Kappa Sigma, 3.3727.

The all-sorority average for the fall quarter was 2.4639. The all-fraternity average was 2.9774. The all-men's average was 2.90878 (by sampling method, every tenth man, alphabetically).

Boy Saves Family In Night Fire

An 11-year-old youth was credited with saving the lives of a Chapel Hill family early yesterday morning when he smelled smoke and awakened the household of a burning frame dwelling on Tenney Circle.

Richie Hutchinson, who lives with the William E. Padgette famill, aroused the household shortly after midnight.

Mrs. William Padgette was injured in the fire and was admitted to Memorial Hospital for treatment. Hospital attaches described her condition yesterday afternoon as good.

Young Hutchinson awoke Mr. Padgette who went downstairs to find the drapes, sofa and other living room furniture in flames. The Chapel Hill fire department was summoned and neighbors joined in the fight to subdue the bloze.

Cause of the fire, which started in the living room, has not been determined. Firemen fought to localize the blaze, but it spread to the second floor before it could be extinguished.

Exact extent of the damage is not known. The house was insured.

Built by Dr. R. E. Coker almost 30 years ago, the house has been occupied by the Padgette family since 1946 and was recently remodeled.

TWICE DISAPPOINTED in love, movie star June Haver has announced that she will give up her glamorous screen career to enter a convent, become a nun and "consecrate my life to the service of God and His sick and His children."

Planetarium Dramatizes Doom's Day

"Birth and Death of the Earth," is the new February sky fantasy at Morehead Planetarium.

Visitors will see cosmic events that may have taken place billions of years ago and those which plausibly may occur billions of years hence. Early in the presentation our sun and another star collide, resulting in great masses of matter being pulled from the two bodies. Several other theories which may account for the origin of our solar system are offered and explained.

A later portion deals with the predictions of scientists as to how life on the earth could end due to existing natûral forces. Audiences will experience an ice age and hear a two-way broadcast between a satellite and the last living people on the glacier-trapped earth. The glaciers at that time seem to surround the audience.

In another sequence lightening streaks across the Planetarium dome accompanied by simulated storms and tidal disturbances.

The possibility that the sun could release heat and energy capable to scorching the earch is shown.

The Planetarium moon falls toward the earth, shatters into a million pieces which will encircle the planet and be held there by the earth's attraction. Again the earth's population has been destroyed by volcanic eruptions and tidal disturbances.

'Shame of Colleges'

US Colleges 'Merely Messy' Says Author Louis Bromfield

NEW YORK, Feb. 7—(Special)—"Education at its present state in the U. S. seems to be merely messy," says author Louis Bromfield in a March Esquire article.

In the article, entitled "The Shame of our Colleges," the author of "The Rains Came," says "This tragic condition" stems from "our failure to discipline our children, our tolerance of downright subversion in the schools and our emphasis on the college rather than the college education."

Writing about the "ugly seed" of subversive education, Bromfield feels that arguments about Marxian socialism and true democracy should be presented with complete objectivity and finally, the student should make up his own mind. Such a process rarely occurs in the U. S. and in all too many instances both teaching and textbooks degerate into mere propaganda, he says.

America's small regard for the status of its professors, unlike other countries, provides us with the answer to why many of them turn to Marxian socialism, writes Mr. Bromfield. America thinks little of its professors and as a result they fall victim to the Communist doctrine, which promises everything to everybody but the staunch individualists. Under this influence many of them cease to be objective teachers and become engulfed in propaganda. Undoubtly this kind of teaching is one of the reasons we get such bad results from our schools and colleges.

"The answer is not to exact oaths of loyalty," says Bromfield. "It lies in the vigilance of parents, editors, legislators, school principals and our college presidents . . . The professor who emphasizes propaganda rather than fact . . . is incompetent and a bad influence on education and deserves discipline or dismissal."

Elaborating on our emphasis on the college degree rather than the college education. Bromfield feels "there are too many young people in our institutions of higher education who are there not to acquire knowledge but to get a job somewhere, or to make a club or to escape from their father's business, or, most commonly, simply to please their parents. There are too many who don't want to be there at all and make passing marks only because their teachers nag them or their parents scare them."

8 Professors Will Receive AKPsi Awards

Eight professors of the UNC School of Business Administration will receive recognition for 25 or more years of service February 28.

The Alpha Tau chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, business administration fraternity, will award the professors Silver Anniversary Distinguished Faculty Certificates at the banquet at the Carolina Inn.

The award consiting of a hand embossed certificate citing 25 or more years of outstanding service to business schools of the nation, was recently established by the national chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi.

The recipients here and the number of years they have been in the business school are: D. D. Carroll, 35 years; M. S. Heath, 28; Clarence Heer, 26; E. E. Peacock, 33; G. T. Schwenning, 27; C. P. Spruill, 31; Harry De Merle Wolf, 25; and John B. Woosley, 33.

Heels 'n' Toes

Tar Heels 'n' Toes, a folksy group which does folk dances, is having a supper Wednesday for old and prospective members.

Scheduled for 6 o'clock in the recreation room of the Women's Gym, the meal will be open to all interested and its cost will be shared by those attending. For reservations, contact Ann Nicholson, 305 Carr, 9-9086, by noon Wednesday.

Dancing will follow Wednesday's supper. Members may bring guests.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. — Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

Night Editor for this issue: Louis Kraar

Specialization Plus

This university and most others like it, both public and private, throughout the country are rather vaguely named "liberal arts" colleges; their liberality seeming to have to do only with the intellectual broadness has been evidenced at UNC under the head of the General College, a seris of required courses to be got done with as painlessly as possible.

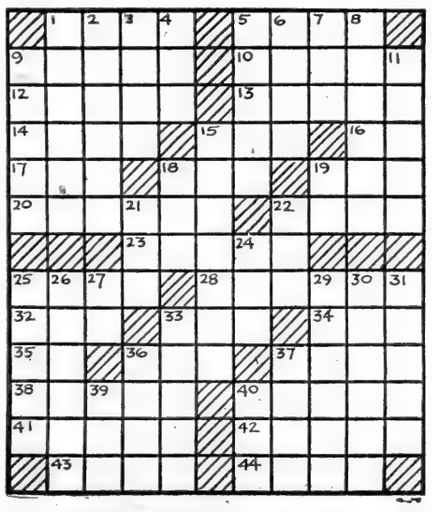
In the past the Genral College demanded that a student pass some sixteen courses, divided among the Social Sciences, Sciences, English and other languages. For ordinary students (those who were not already dead sure on what their life's activity would be), these requirements left two subjects of his own choice as a rather sampling of education.

But because of the growth in specialization in many academic departments, the segmenting of their courses, and, therefore the increase in number of course requirements for majors in these departments, the choice has presented itself of either extending a student's term in college (from 4 to 5 years) or starting him in his major earlier in his college career; that is, forcing a student's decision on career in his Sophomore or Freshman year. Both of these possibilities have now been put into effect. Not only in some departments are students required to spend more than their last two years on their major, but they must begin their major in heir Sophomore and Freshman year. The old General College requirements have been squeezed between a high-school diploma and man's supposed necessity to know the technical training required for immediate job placement, or as it is now his marching in the Army. This is not particularly new information.

What is rather new and very serious is the heights such departments (or as the case may be, Schools with Deans) as Chemistry, Business Administration, Medicine and Education are prepared to go in segmenting their courses, increasing their courses, increasing course requirements and demanding that other knowledge be an elctive hopelessly out of reach. Other departments, of course, are also in this situation. The important thing about thhe encroachment by departments on the General College is not so much that the student is forced to decide what his major is earlier than before, but that is forces out of his reach vitally necessary preparation for becoming acquainted with the world (not office or town) he has to live in.

Granted that this is a world of specialized techniques, if the present trend away from simple understanding of history, English, sciences and languages is continued, this university will produce chemists, teachers, bankers, doctors and personnel managers who do not know nor see the reason for knowing the meaning of treason, voting, history of Western Civilization, international communication or John Milton. Many will never know, for instance, the historical ad philosophical conditions under which our Constitution was written, that Transcendentalism was one of bases of the Bill of Rights—the kind of knowledge each of us so desperately needs to know in order to defend without force of arms all that we hold dear.

In brief, we will be lacking in the technically useless but democratically necessary qualities required to have a critical mind and be an enlightened citizen. The acquiring of knowledge necessary for understanding these qualities is not sometimes as exciting or profitable as students would like, but it is our obligation to learn them and our elders' responsibility to see that we get them.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Bird's stomach
5. Fruit of the palm
9. Full of soap
10. Egg-shaped figures
12. A thick soup
13. Competitor
14. Malt beverages
15. Champion of Christianity
16. River (It.)
17. Property (L.)
18. Grampus
19. Viper
20. Determine
22. Departs
23. Muddle
25. Bewail
28. A satirical poem
32. Tavern
33. Pig pen
34. Poem
35. River (Chin.)
36. Underworld god
37. Small, secluded valley
38. A book of the Apocrypha
40. Melodies
41. Breathe noisily in sleep
42. Move sideways
43. Habitual drunkards
44. Imitates

DOWN
1. Stream of solidified lava
2. Most infrequent
3. Copies
4. River (Eng.)
5. Type of architecture
6. Greedy
7. Hebrew letter
8. Pass by
9. Masts
11. Spills over
15. Accepts as true
18. Ancient
19. An Assam tribe
21. Shade of brown
22. Jewel
24. Place
25. Fogs
26. Pungent vegetables
27. Indefinite article
29. Brilliant meteor
30. Standards of excellence
31. Perfume with incense
33. Local positions
36. Earth
37. Clutch
39. Exclamation used to frighten
40. Masculine name

Yesterday's Answer

Herb Cohn

777

The YMCA and Hillel will sponsor the second in its series of socially significant movies tomorrow night at 7:15 in Gerrard Hall. James Stewart will play the lead in "Call Northside 777". The theme: "Man against Institutions'" Dean R. H. Wettach, Professor of Law, will lead the discussion following the movie.

The movie is in the same style and in much the same pattern of the previously successful "Boomerang", which told how a daring state's attorney proved the innocense of a man he was supposed to convict. Twentieth Century-Fox has made a picture which describes how a Chicago newspaper reporter does the same thing for a man who has long been in jail.

"Call Northside 777" is a slick piece of modern melodrama in anybody's book. It combines a suspense mystery story with a vivid, realistic, pictorial style.

It really has some interesting observations about the men of the press. It centers around the story of a practicing newspaper man who suddenly became curious about an ancient and closed murder case. Surprising enough, it actually happened in Chicago. This newshound, once scenting a miscarriage of justice in the air, pursues such stale and cold clues as lead to a startling expose. These things have frequently happened in the experience of the American Press.

As the story is patiently unfolded in this remarkable film, with the lie-detector and minature cameras and telephoto equipment to dress it up, it looks altogether plausible and highly exciting to boot. Furthermore, it is winningly acted by James Stewart as the reporter - sleuth, Richard Conte as the victim of the injustice, and Lee J. Cobb as a quizzical editor. It is also impressively supported by the performances of Betty Garde, Kosia Orzazewski, and Joanne De Beigh, among others in lesser roles.

In short, there is nothing in the picture but a whopping shortcut towards the end to keep it from ringing a bell. The eleven year old piece of evidence which the newspaper man unfolds to prove the innocense of his convict is a bit gauzy, but the scriptwriters had to end the picture, didn't they?

"Call Northside 777" is good—and with Dean Wettach leading the discussion, perhaps giving an insight on the legal implications of this sort, the end result should be very interesting.

THE DRAFT: 'AN APPRAISING EYE' TOWARD COLLEGES

Student deferments may not be here to stay, according to Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director.

"The time for action is almost here," says Hershey. ". . . Now that the drafting of fathers looms as an imminent necessity in the not so distant future, "we certainly must look toward the colleges with something more than an appraising eye."

Draft boards are already beginning to dip down into the 19-year-old age group, and it appears inevitable that at least some college students will be deprived of deferments.

The Daily Reveille, Louisiana Sttae university, recently ran a cartoon depicting a hunter, labelled "Selective Service," aiming his rifle at a bird labelled "College Deferments." The caption was, "Dead Duck?"

FOR THE MICHIGAN DAILY, INTERFERENCE BY GOVERNMENT

The Student Legislature at the University of Michigan considered, but did not act upon, a motion to censure the Michigan Daily for its recent series of articles dealing with Communist and Communist front activity in Ann Arbor and on the campus.

In the motion, the Daily was charged with using methods which "stifle discussion rather than facilitating free discussion of ideas." A careful distinction was made between "censure" and "censor."

The Daily, in an answering editorial, pointed out that "The tradition of non-interference by government bodies with the free press is sacred." It added that the series of articles has stimulated debate and discussion, "as a glance at Letters to the Editor will reveal."

"Have A Seat — I Want To Talk To You"

Alice Chapman

On Other Campuses

While the UNC infirmary holds its breath that no more flu victims come dragging through its doors, the infirmary at the University of Oklahoma is being very gay about its epidemic. This past Monday the '53 staff attended influenza and fatigue cases dressed in 1890 costumes. Medical students paraded to class in western and gay nineties dress.

The health service held open house and displayed medical equipment and pictures from the 90's period. Among the collection were brass microscopes, and amputation set, and a probing set for removing bullets. "Wars weren't the only circumstances which gave rise to shootings in the nineties", explained the director when showing the set.

Twelve nurses wore copies of the first standard U.S. nursing uniform — complete with floor-length shirts and mutton-leg sleeves.

When Eleanor Roosevelt left the southland last Tuesday night she headed due north to New York and Sara Lawrence College. She was sponsored at the girls' school by the Americans for Democratic Action, an organization in which she has been active since its founding in 1947. The ADA at Sara Lawrence is working on the repeal of the McCarran Immigration Act program as their project this year.

Other colleges like Carolina are planning to set up a mock UN Assembly. This year Cornell will be host to a three day model assembly. The four mock representatives from Indonesia are in real life students at Sara Lawrence. The four girls must orient themselves to the UN charter and rules of procedure and acquire an Indonesian point of view. The Indonesian ambassador to the U.S. has invited the girl delegates to visit him previous to the assembly.

Though the University of Hawaii is far from the American hue and cry of campus life, its problems are identical with any campus—school spirit for instance. The Hawaiians are developing an intricate AFROTC sports program in an attempt to improve college spirit. The theory is that if they include every cadet, interest in general will increase. Intersquadron competition in volleyball, riflery, and softball will produce a team that can be entered in intermural sports.

The University of Hawaii is hearing the well-known plea for teachers. Public school teachers for rural primary grades are most badly needed.

As ten cent pieces for the March of Dimes were being collected all over the country, someone at Iowa State was taking the coins donated there. Twice last week containers were stolen from the same counter in Curtiss Hall. One of the boxes held all the proceeds from the polio carnival. The official comment was, "It's a pretty low trick. We can only hope that the money will eventually find its way into the polio fund."

Is an 18 year old capable of voting? If he goes to Korea, why not? These are the comments that are issuing from the controversy in Minnesota. The state senate there introduced a bill to give sufferage to 18 year olds, and University students are backing it up. However a poll of the state showed that 48 percent of the persons in the state oppose the bill, 47 percent favor it, and 4 percent are undecided. A poll run in The Minnesota Daily to test student feeling showed that of the 140 students who answered 85 percent favor the bill's passage.

Comment on the Recently Inaugurated President

(With apologies to Lewis Carroll)

"The time has come"
The president said,
"To talk of many things:
Of war and peace and income tax,
(Not votes or ballotings),
Of armament and politics,
And world-wide federation;
Of policy, security,
And Congressional abberration.
Do not mistake
(The President said)
My tone of voice or manner.
We are not here to settle things
Or fly the party banner.
We are just here to talk of why
The Democrats are boiling hot,
And whether Margaret Truman sings."

J. A. C. Dunn

Dorman Cordell

Ladder To Success

An impartial board of survey has studied carefully the University of North Carolina, and has arrived at the following conclusions about how to improve the status of the University.

The first step is doing away with Student Government at UNC. After all, it is a waste of money, since all the legislators do is pass a lot of time and a few bills, and mostly talk, and the Trustees have the final say so, anyhow. This will save a lot of money.

Those who conducted the survey suggest initiating intercollegiate horse-racing, and possibly dog-racing also. Also, drastic cuts should be made in salary to all football players who don't produce. Another innovation should be requiring all athletes to be able to read before allowing them to play in conference games. Of course, the group realizes this suggestion may arouse violent reaction among alumni, and thus suggests a program of indoctrination to accustom alumni to such a step.

Another field which calls for changes is student publications. It is suggested that the Daily Tar Spreader be assigned a faculty advisor. The survey board realizes such an advisor should be a farsighted, impartial person, and suggests the appointment of John W. Clark to the faculty for just such a post.

Also in the field of publications, Tarnation, that filthy rag, should be discontinued. In its place, the board suggests a publication edited by student members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Daughters of the American Revolution. Staffing of the Yack should be changed also, because of the horrible cheesecake which has appeared in that publication in the past. Henceforth, students from Boston should be in charge of the Yack.

And the Carolina Quarterly should be turned over to the Freshman English classes.

The fourth field which the board of survey has examined is classes. Students spend too much time in frivolous activities and in extra - curricular activities. The board suggests a full six-day week with ten hours of classes each day. Also suggested is a compulsory chapel attendance three days each week. A study hall should be established and all students should be required to be in study hall any hours they are not in classes between 8 in the morning and 6 in the evening, Monday through Saturday.

A point which disturbed the survey group no end is the student dormitory conduct. Henceforth, all men students should be required to observe the same rules as women students, and required to keep the same hours. Also, students should be in their dormitories not later than 10 on any night unless they have signed permission of the governor, in which case they might be allowed to stay out until 10.30 on Saturday night.

The survey board realizes these few rules will not solve all the problems of running the University, but they will be a start. After all, everyone must constantly do all possibly to correctly mold the minds of this younger generation.

Norman Jarrard

Hemingway

A new book about Ernest Hemingway will show up in bookstores within the next few days. It will be the fourth such book in about two years and the third within the last four months. The first was a collection of essays about Hemingway edited by John K. M. McCaffrey. The second, issued last October, was Carlos Baker's careful, perceptive, but somtwhat pedantic book which commented on all of Hemingway's work. Then an English book by John Atkins appeared. It was a rambling essay-type study written in a controversational argumentative style but not a bad book.

Now Philip Young has published "Ernest Hemingway" (Rinehart, 244 pp., paperbound edition, $2.00). Apparently it is the second of a series companion to the low-priced "Rineheart Editions" which are used as texts. The series should be a success, if it continues to present good criticism at a price within the range of students.

Young, I think, began this book as a study in continuity from "Huckleberry Finn" to Hemingway, taking the hint provided by the following quotation from Hemingway: "All modern American literature comes from one book by Mark Twain called "Huckleberry Finn" . . . It's the best book we've had. All American writing comes from that. There was nothing before. There has been nothing as good since." In a sense, the section on Twain and Hemingway is the climax of the book. But it seems to me to be the weakest part, with its repetitiousness and with some unnecessary comparisons. However, there are also some pertinent comparisons of the part played by violence which showed up in Huck Finn and in Hemingway's characters, particularly Nick dams. Young's interpretation of "Huck Finn", with its emphasis on the more somber aspects of the story, may be the best there is and is certainly the most interesting.

A chapter is set aside for the discussion of the "Hemingway legend," with some extenuation of the stories which have been told and written about his exploits as big game hunter, night club brawler, and as correspondent during World War II. After reading this chapter, those who think of him as the man with false hair on his chest won't feel quite so easy in their criticism.

The first hundred pages of this book — surveying Hemingway's work — is the most rewarding criticism of him written since 1940 (the only period I can speak of with any assurance). Young's analysis of the Nick Adams stories show that Nick, far from being what Wyndham Lewis would call "dull-witted" and "wooden-headed," is rather "an extremely sensitive, even an abnormally sensitive human being." Then there is a discussion of the Hemingway "code," and something about his interest in death and some of the reasons for his interest. There are a lot of good things in this section. You can't turn to Hemingway after reading what Young says without feeling that your appreciation has deepened.

For anyone who shares Hemingway's interest in the literature of war there is his anthology of stories, "Men at War," just reissued, (Avon, 638 pp., 50c), with an interesting introduction.

NYU Beats Tar Heels, 82-78

Final Period Charge Licks Carolina In Third Straight

By Biff Roberts

New York University's Violets violated Carolina's defense once too violently last night in Woollen Gym and with a final quarter charge dropped the Tar Heels to their third straight loss, 82-78.

Tied at 56-56 going into the fourth period, one of fourteen times the two teams were even during the night, the Violets, led by big Boris Nachankin, outrallied Carolina to win out in the intersectional game, the only one on the regular season schedule of the Tar Heels.

It looked for a moment that the final seconds the Tar Heels might send the game into an overtime. But Nachamkin nixed that.

Jippy Carter, who played a commendable game as substitute center, was on the free throw line with 15 seconds to go. His first toss made it N.Y.U., 80-78. His next throw bounced off the rim back into his own hands and he pushed it up in a vain effort to score.

The two teams fought for the rebound and just as it seemed the Tar Heels might come up with the ball, Jerry Vayda was called for fouling under the basket sending Nachamkin to the foul line. He made good on both throws and that finished all Carolina hope.

For the Violets, it was Nachamkin and captain Mark Solomon who made the difference. Nachamkin, who had an average of 21 points a game going into tonight's clash, scored 27 while Solomon, exceedingly effective on pulling his way into the basket, accounted for 21.

Carolina had its scoring led by Al Lifson, who fouled out with 55 seconds remaining in the game, with 24 points. Vince Grimaldi another outlaw, took runnerup honors with 20.

The teams were fairly even on their shots. Carolina made 26 field goals and 26 free-throws, while the Violets hit for 27 and 29.

Neither team was effective in the first half. The Tar Heels had a shooting percentage of 28.6 while N.Y.U. had 31.1. For the night Carolina had 35.1 while the Violets ended with a 37.7 effort.

The Box

North Carolina	fg	ft	pf	tp
Vayda	2	2	5	6
Wallace	0	0	2	0
Rabovich	2	4	4	8
Scharz	0	0	1	0
Maddie	2	6	5	10
Likins	0	0	3	0
Carter	2	2	2	6
Grimaldi	9	2	5	20
Phillips	1	2	2	4
Lifson	8	8	5	24
TOTALS	26	26	34	78

New York Uni.	fg	ft	pf	tp
Doherty	1	1	5	3
Elsberg	2	0	3	4
Solomon	8	5	3	21
Nachamkin	7	13	3	27
Weitz	4	1	4	9
DeBonis	0	0	2	0
Eisener	0	2	3	2
TOTALS	27	28	26	82

North Carolina 17 20 19 22—78
New York Uni. 15 24 17 26—82

UNC Gym Team Beats W. Virginia

MORGANTON, W. Va., Feb 7—(Special) — Carolina's gymnastic team defeated West Virginia here 64-68.

Hudson was high scorer with 14 points. Hoodin followed with 11 and Brumley was third with 7.

Coach Bill Meade watched his old ex-Pen State teammate, Mountaineer Coach Bill Bonsall go down in defeat at his debut.

UNC Tankers Beat Florida Univ., 53-29

The swimming Tar Heels remained undefeated Friday when they downed the University of Florida by the score of 53-29. The Carolina team won all but one first place, but there were several close contests.

The most exciting race came in the 220 yard freestyle when co-captain Sten Tinkham nosed out Louie Childs. Tinkham had trailed Childs until the last lap.

Official results:

300 yard medley relay: 1. UNC (Baarcke, Wall, Evans) Time: 3-:03.1.

220 yeard freestyle: 1. Tinkham (UNC) 2. Childs (F) Time: 2:17.0

50 yard freestyle: 1. Heins (UNC) 2.2. Dann (F) 3. Moss (F) Time: 23.9.

150 Individual medley: 1. Heeman (UNC) 2. Hungerford (F) Time: 1:38.2.

(See TANKERS, page 4)

Wrestlers Defeated

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., February 7 — (Special) — Coach Sam Sam Barnes 'Tar Heel wrestlers unraveled here as West Virginia triumphed, 29-5.

Miles Gregor was Carolina's only winner, gaining a victory in the 177-lb. class.

The Tar Heels will not have a home meet again until February 20 when they meet W & L in Woollen Gym.

MURALS

Tomorrow's Basketball

4:00—court 1, Phi Kappa Sig 2 vs. SPE 2; court 2, Winston 1 vs. Joyner 4; court 3, Delta Psi vs. Kappa Sig 3; court 4 Sigma Chi 1 vs. Phi Delt 3; court 5, Zete 4 vs. Sigma Chi 2; court 6, Zete 2 vs. ATO 4; court 7, TEP 3 vs. SAE2.

5:00—court 1, Sigma Chi 3 vs. Phi Delt 2; court 2 Emerson 1 vs. BVP 1; court 3 Lewis 4 vs. BVP 2; court 4, Beta 1 vs. Kappa Sig 1; court 5; Joyner 2 vs. Old East; court 6. ATO 1 vs. PiKA 1; court 7, Chi Psi 1 vs. KA 1.

7:00—court 1, ZBT 2 vs. Sigma Nu 2; court 2, Pi Kappa Phi 2 vs. Beta 3; court, Med. School 3 vs. Ruffin 2; court 4, Chi Phi 2 vs. Phi Delta Chi; court 5, Alexander 1 vs. Cobb 1; court 6, Beat 2 vs. PiKA 2; court 7, TEP 2 vs. Phi Gam 2.

8:00—court 1, Phi Gam 4 vs. Zete 3; court 2, SAE 3 vs. Kappa Sig 2; court 3, Mangum vs. Everett 2: court 4, Stacy vs. Lewis 1; court 5, Alexander 2 vs. Med School 4; court 6, Chi Phi vs. SAE 1; court 7, Phi Gam 1 vs. Phi Kappa Sig 3.

Tomorrow's Table Tennis

4:00—Alexander vs. Ruffin; 4:40—Phi Gam 5 vs. Sigma Nu 1; 5:20—Phi Gam 2 vs. Chi Phi 1.

7:00—Lambda Chi 1 vs. Zete 1; 7:40—Sigma Nu 2 vs. TEP 1; 8:20—SPE 3 vs. Phi Gam 3.

Tomorrow's Handball

7:00—Law School vs. Phi Delta Theta; 8:00—Pi Lamb vs. Delta Upsilon.

WEAR WIRE WHEELS—American car owners can imitate foreign sports cars equipped with wire wheels if Detroit manufacturers have their way. Seen amove, being fitted on standard U. S. car wheels by Virginia Martin of Detroit, Mich., the snap-on hubs simulate the much more expensive European originals, and will cost U. S. drivers much less.

Devils' Free Throw Accuracy Knocks Locals Out Of Lead

Duke's Blue Devils knocked Carolina out of first place in Southern Conference basketball standings Friday night in Woollen Gym by outscoring the Tar Heels at the free-throw line and winning, 95-89.

Carolina had a 43.8 average from the floor, 3 per cent better than Duke's, and the Tar Heels sank four more field goals, but the Blue Devils made 39 important foul shots while Carolina made only 25. Four Carolina starters fouled out.

Carolina grabbed an early lead, and at one time in the first half Duke couldn't score a field goal for nine minutes and 55 seconds. The Tar Heels led by 10 points midway through the second period and commanded a three-point lead at the half.

Carolina	fg	ft	pf	tp
Lifson, f	6	6	5	18
Vayda, f	3	2	4	8
Likins, c	2	0	5	4
Schwarz, c	0	0	3	0
Maddie, c	7	2	5	16
Grimaldi, g	6	5	5	17
Winstead, g	0	2	0	2
Glancy, g	0	0	2	0
Long, g	0	0	0	0
Wallace, g	0	3	5	3
Phillips, g	0	0	1	0
Radovich, g	8	5	4	21
Totals	32	25	39	89

Duke	fg	ft	pf	tp
Janicki, f	8	8	4	24
Mayer, f	0	2	5	2
Reigel, f	4	5	5	13
Decker, c	3	22	2	8
Lacy, c	2	9	2	13
Shabel, g	4	2	4	10
Belmont, g	2	4	3	8
D'Emilio, g	4	7	4	15
Turner g	1	0	0	2
Totals	28	39	29	95

Don't start that bonfire till the game is over

or

That was no crying towel; that was my old school tie!

Once there was a basketball team that was the Hottest Thing in the Conference—until its high-scoring center, a 6½-foot Lump, of dubious intellect, developed a bad attack of the Flunks, and wound up Number 1 on the Ineligible List. This with the team right up against the Crucial Game for the Conference Title.

The first half was Grim. Our boys limped off to the dressing room trailing by 30 points. The Coach had just embarked on a touching Word Picture of himself, his wife and three helpless dependents Starving in the Streets, when in burst the Assistant Manager, trundling an overflowing wheelbarrow. In it were telegrams—hundreds of 'em—from fraternities and sororities, the head of the Student Council, the Dean, the faculty, the janitor, from practically Every Student on Campus—all bearing the stirring exhortation "Win this one for Old Blackstrap!"

Was the team Buoyed Up? Oh buoy! Won by 4 points, in overtime. They're now known around the conference as the Western Union Wonders.

Seriously, there's nothing like a Telegram to put heart into the guy—or the team—that gets it. Likewise, there's no nicer way to say "Well Done!" In fact, for just about any communique . . . whether it's a Flash for Cash to the Folks Back Home or Soft Words to a Distant Damsel . . . it's better to make the pitch via Western Union.

North Columbia Ave.

Telephone 8681

JUST RECEIVED!

NEW SPRING SHIPMENTS

- Sport Jackets
- Linen Suits 29.50 SIX COLORS
- Genuine White Bucks (2-ILETS)
- Botany Slacks

COME IN AND LOOK THEM OVER

Town & Campus

Above

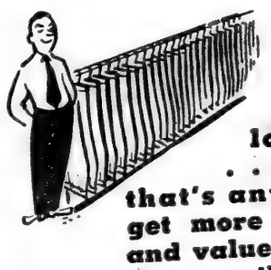
ANY QUESTION

And Beyond

ANY DOUBT!

"One of The Year's 10 Best!"

as selected by the National Board of Review!



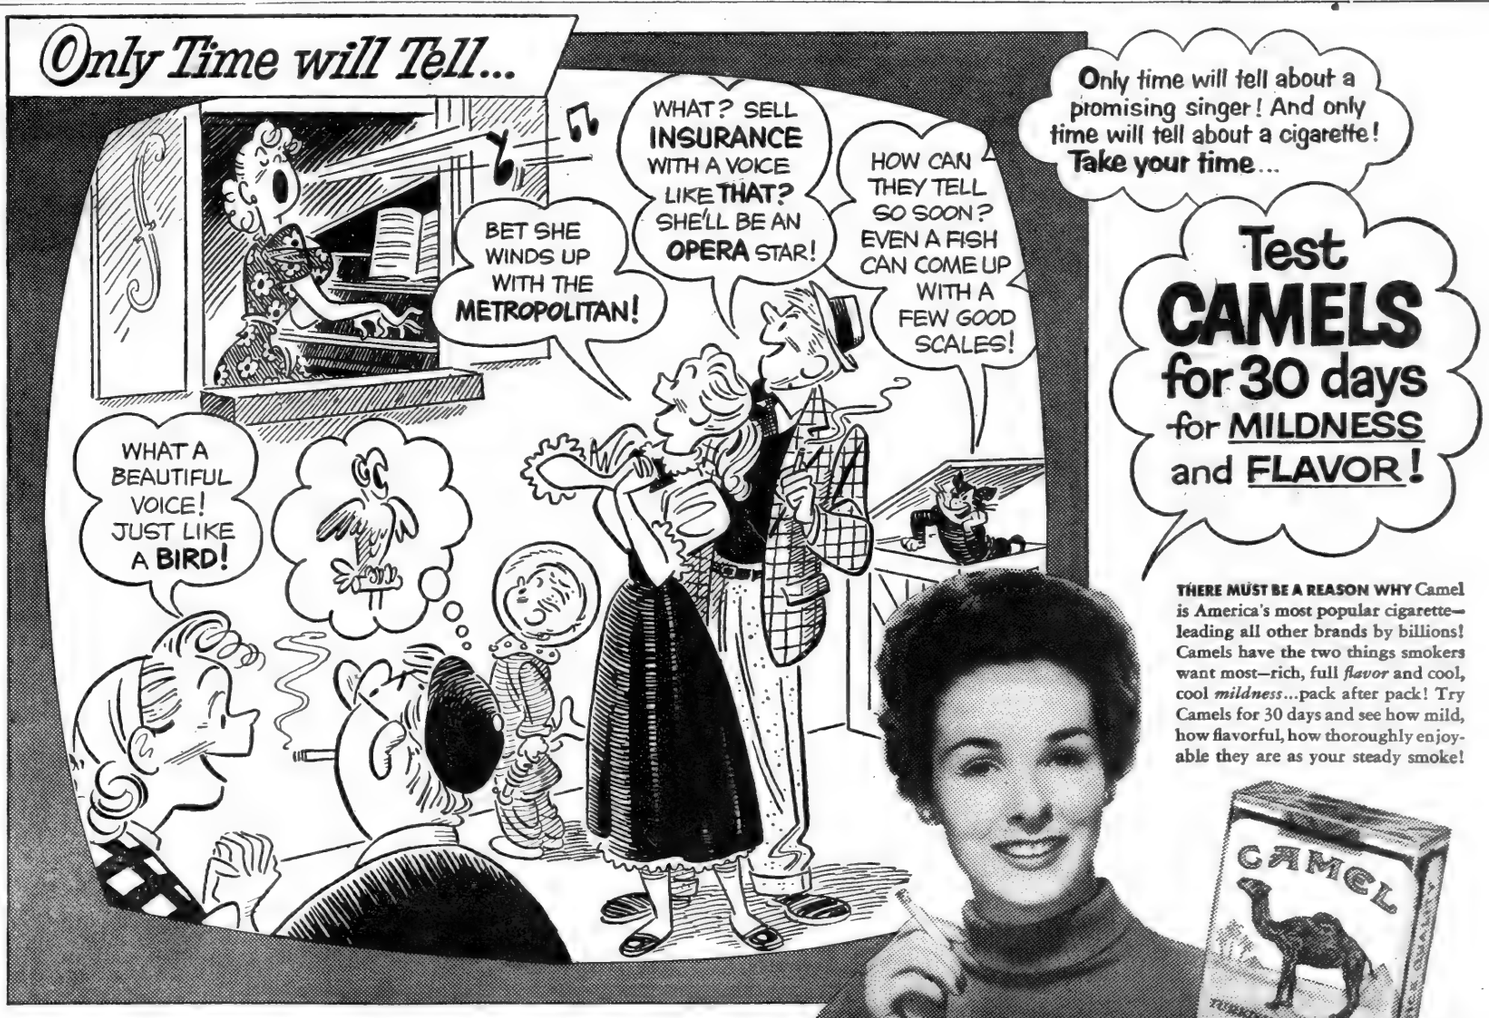
THE LOVE STORY BEHIND THE BILLION-DOLLAR SECRET!

M-G-M presents ABOVE AND BEYOND

STARRING ROBERT TAYLOR ELEANOR PARKER

Carolina

SUNDAY — MONDAY — TUESDAY —



We've got lots of slacks . . . every kind that's any good. Men get more use, comfort and value out of slacks than anything else . . . particularly when they're ours.

THE Sport SHOP N. COLUMBIA ST.

Only Time will Tell...

Only time will tell about a promising singer! And only time will tell about a cigarette! Take your time...

Test CAMELS for 30 days for MILDNESS and FLAVOR!

THERE MUST BE A REASON WHY Camel is America's most popular cigarette—leading all other brands by billions! Camels have the two things smokers want most—rich, full flavor and cool, cool mildness...pack after pack! Try Camels for 30 days and see how mild, how flavorful, how thoroughly enjoyable they are as your steady smoke!

R. J. Reynolds Tob. Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

More People Smoke Camels THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

Sigma Phi Epsilon Pledges Honored With Dance At Inn

The annual pledge dance of North Carolina Delta chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity was held last night at the Carolina Inn.

Barbara Sneed, Raleigh, escorted by Rufus Marks, Whiteville, was crowned SPE queen and presented with a trophy at intermission. At this time the fraternity's twelve pledges and their dates were presented. They were led by pledge officers Felix Smith, president; Farrell Crouse, vice-president; Dennis Pope, secretary; Don Hamilton, treasurer; and Rufus Marks, sargeant-at-arms.

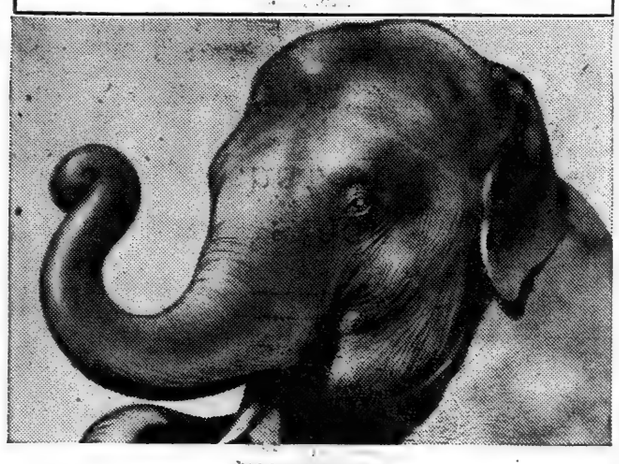
Other activities of the pledge weekend included a party at the Legion Hut Friday night following the basketball game and a breakfast yesterday morning at the Pines. A breakfast was held at the house last night following the ball.

ON VALENTINES DAY GIVE

Shakespeare's Sonnets

A million guys have been in love since Shakes peares day, but none of them have written about it better than the old maestro! If you dobt it, stop in for a free read.

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP



205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

FORMAL WEAR FOR RENT

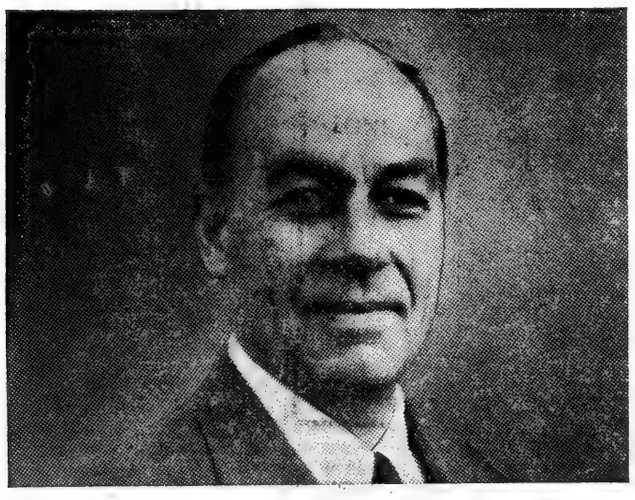
Tux — Tails — White Dinner Jackets — Cutaways — Shoes And Accessories

TUXEDO JUNCTION
601 E. Trinity Ave.
DURHAM
PHONE 3-1373
Night 4-8321

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

"HURRMPH"! trumpeted Sheedy, "What a elephant time to have my hair act up. Might as well break my date and get trunk!" Luckily he was overheard by a Pachydermitologist who said, "Tusk, tusk! You've got a messy big top from pouring those buckets of water on your head. Get out of your ivory tower and visit any toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil, "Your Hair's Best Friend". Non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Relieves dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test." Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil, and now all the girls tent to him more than ever. So why don't you try Wildroot Cream-Oil? It only costs peanuts —29¢. And once you try it, you'll really have a circus.

*of 131 So. Harris Hill Rd., Williamsville, N.Y.



Wildroot Company, Inc., Buffalo 11, N. Y.

"Represents education that continues,"

says GEORGE GALLUP

Founder of the American Institute of Public Opinion; formerly Professor, Pulitzer School of Journalism, Columbia U.

"A serious weakness of the American educational system is the missing link between what we are taught in school and what we learn after leaving school. The Reader's Digest represents education that continues. It arouses and satisfies keen interest in the vital issues of the day and in varied fields of lasting knowledge."

Look at the wide range of subjects in any issue—The Reader's Digest is designed for the well-rounded individual who cultivates interests far wider than the confines of any particular field.

From the wealth of material that is published each month, the editors select those outstanding articles no thoughtful person would want to miss. Each article is condensed to present the essentials clearly, yet preserve the full content and flavor of the original.

The Reader's Digest offers a continuing liberal education for millions of men and women with alert, open minds.

★ ★ ★

In February Reader's Digest, you'll be interested in Silicones—Magic Sand—story of the new chemical family that may prove one of science's most useful gifts; Our Children's Debt to John Dewey—portrait of our "most complete expression of American genius," whose own children inspired progressive education; 20-page book condensation: Back Down the Ridge—William L. White's war classic on how new medical methods are saving our wounded in Korea.

White Elected To Head AED

Michael White, Lumberton, has been elected new president of Beta chapter of Alpha Epsilon Lelta, honorary pre-medical society.

Dr. W. R. Berryhill, Dean of the UNC Medical School, addressed members of the group at their weekly meeting Tuesday night in Venerable Hall. Dr. Berryhill discussed guidance topics for medical students.

Other officers elected at this time were Ray Vinson, Ahoskie, vice-president; Vernon McFarland, Greensboro, secretary; and Herb Andrews, Durham, treasurer.

All pre-med students maintaining a special scholastic average are eligible for membership in Alpha Epsilon Delta:

Chi Phi, Phi Kap, SAE Announce New Pledges

Three fraternities have held pledging services recently.

New pledges of Alpha Alpha chapter of Chi Phi are Jack Stevens, Asheville, and Bob Merritt, Greenville, S. C.

Pledged to Lambda chapter of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity were Jerry Reece, Andrews; Myron Cacron, Durham; Bill Fetzer Cleveland, O.; Dick Hoyle, Lincolnton; and Roland Coleman, New Orleans, La.

Xi chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon has pledged Robbie Lowe, Charlotte.

— Tankers —

(Continued from page 3)

Diving: 1. Kelso (UNC) 2. Martin (F) 3. Borland (F) Score: 267.1.

100 yard freestyle: 1. Edwards (UNC) 2. Moss (F) 3. Roland (F) Time: 51.7 (New University Record)

200 yard backstroke: 1. Jewell (UNC) 2. Linker (UNC) 3. Dees (F) Time: 2:21.2.

200yard breaststroke: 1. Evans (UNC) 2. Robinson (F) 3. Palmer (F) Time: 2:23.0.

440 yard freestyle: 1. Childs (F) 2. Shannon (UNC) 3. Hungerford (F) Time: 5:00.0.

400 yard freestyle relay: UNC (Widoff, Heeman, Tinkham, Heins) Time: 3:40.7.

Initiation Held By Tri Deltas

Mary Helen Crain, Durham, recent initiate of Alpha Sigma chapter of Delta Delta Delta sorority, has been named the sorority's outstanding pledge.

Pledges class scholarship awards were presented to Mary Frances Allsbrook, Roanoke Rapids, Va., and Elinor Wrenn Greensboro.

New Tri Delt initiates are Mary Frances Allsbrook, Elinor Wrenn; Lois Collins, Nashville; Betty Sue McDonald, Kershaw, S. C.;; Jean Williamson, Asheville; Janyce winders Kenly; Barbara Taylor, Gulfport, Miss.; Sandy Donaldson, Wilson; Mary Kit Myers, Grensboro; Claire Boone, Arlington, Va.; Margaret Entzminger, Sho Paulo, Brazil;

Geff Johnson, Bogota, Colombia; Anne Bell, Montgomery, Ala; Sally Gallant, Raleigh; Kit Wallace, Goshen, N. Y.; Mase Chapin, Richmond, Va.; Mary Helen Crain, Durham; Jess Gant, Burlington; Ann Hartzog, Raleigh; Judy King, Savannah, Ga.; Page Moore, Charleston, S. C.; and Helen Sanders, Charlotte.

Faculty Honored at Tea Given by Beta Theta Pi

The University faculty and administration were guests of Eta chapter of Beta Theta Pi fraternity at anannual tea given Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Receiving guests were Mrs. Charles B. Seward, housemother, and Arthur Spaugh, Winston-Salem, chapter president. Mrs. Clem B. Holding, Raleigh, wife of the former district chief of the fraternity served tea and coffee to the guests. She was assisted by Mrs. Kermit Hunter and Mrs. Russell Neece, both of Chapel Hill.

Kappa Psi Initiates 7 Pharmacy Students

Beta Xi chapter of Kappa Psi pharmaceutical fraternity initiated seven students this week.

New initiates are Lionel Perkins, South Boston, Va.; Wiley Harrell, Virginia Beach, Va. Roy Shepherd, Lexington; David Hix, Harmony; John Mills, Cliffside; Wade Polk, Marshville; and Jim Knight, Columbia, S. C.

PEPSI-COLA

DURHAM PEPSI - COLA BOTTLING CO.
305 South St. Durham

HAVE YOU HEARD

The University Cleaners is Chapel Hill's only dry cleaning firm that uses exclusive Sanitone. With the added protection of Sanitone there are no shrinkage and "half-cleaned" problems. Clothes last longer—look better with Sanitone cleaning.

For expert SANITONE cleaning, see us.

THE UNIVERSITY CLEANERS

IN YOUR CHURCH

By Tom Neal Jr.

Christian Science

"Spirit" is the topic of the lesson-sermon in Christian Science Churches today. The golden text is from John: "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Local services of the Christian Science church are held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in New West. Sunday school classes also are held at that same hour.

Congregational Christian

The United Student Fellowship discussion is this morning at 10 o'clock The 11 o'clock sermon is entitled "A Larger Vision."

Supper Forum is 6 o'clock. The supper will be followed by a showing of the film, "Seek Ye First," a short movie which depicts Christian responsibilities in today's world.

Episcopal

Today is Race Relation's Sunday at the local Episcopal Chapel of the Cross. Dr. Edwin McNeill Poteat will speak this afternoon at 4 o'clock on "What about Segregation?"

The Rev. Carl F. Herman, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church in Grensboro will speak at a meeting of the Centerbury Club tonight. Mr. Herman will talk on "Our Lenten Obligations." The Canterbury Club will meet at the Parish House for 6 o'clock supper and following speaker-program.

The York Club, an organization for graduate students and faculty sponsored by the Episcopal Church, will meet tonight at 8:45 in the Parish House. Dr. Constantine Cavarnos of the Philosophy Department will lead the discussion, his topic being "A Critique of Science and Philosophy." Visitors are welcome.

Roman Catholic

The Newman Club will continue its regular discussions with guest speakers on the topic "Catholic Courtship and Marriage." Meetings are held Sunday evenings at 6 on the second floor of Lenoir dining hall.

Presbyterian

The Rev. Charles M. Jones, pastor of the local Presbyterian church will deliver his monthly sermon today at the 9:45 and 11 a.m. services. He is on leave of absence to do special work with the Save-the-Children Foundation.

The student Sunday school class is launching a study of the four Gospels this morning. They will meet at the Manse, 513 East Franklin Street for breakfast at 9.30, followed by the Bible study.

Tonight the student group will analyze their past activities and plan future programs with the help of a filmstrip entitled "The Accused." The meeting tonight will begin with supper at 6 o'clock.

Baptist

Did Moses write the Pentateuch? Is David the author of the 150 chapters of the Book of Psalms, or did he write only certain chapters? Who edited the Old Testament books? These and other equally intriguing questions will be answered at BSU Supper Forum tonight at 6. BSU members Eddie Hickman and Bill Adams will lead the discussions.

Anyone who enjoys discussing religious issues will profit by attending the second in a series of discussions at Camp New Hope next Friday night. Those interested in going are asked to meet at hte Baptist church at 6:30. Transportation will be provided, and coffee and doughnuts served.

Morning worship begins at 11 o'clock. Dr. Samuel Tilden Habel will speak on "Keeping In Touch With Him." The Chancel Choir, directed by Miss Lena Mae Williams, will lead singing.

CLASSIFIEDS

ANNOUNCEMENT

THE UNICORN BOOKSHOP HAS just received some rare early Maps of North Carolina, which will be available for just a few days. Come in and see them. Over Sutton's. Dial 9-6137. (Chg. 1x1)

FOR SALE

DOUBLE-BREASTED TUXEDO IN good condition and very reasonably priced. Size 38 regular. Contact Jid Thompson at 2041 or 9-2031. (1-3467-2)

PERSONAL

EVERYMAN—A BOOK FROM the Intimate Bookshop, all gift-wrapped nice and pretty, might melt my heart on St. Valentines Day. Everybiddy. (Chg 1x1)

HELP WANTED

MALE OF FEMALE SHORT ORder cook. Must be able to work 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.; meals included. Apply at COLONIAL HOUSE, W. Rosemary St. Chg. 1x1)

Gals with Pulchritude But Smart Give a Book And win a heart

The Intimate Bookshop

205 E. FRANKLIN ST.
OPEN EVENINGS

Get 'em Both With The Same Shot

Flowers To Her

For

FEBRUARY 14TH: VALENTINE'S DAY

GERMAN WEEKEND

CUPID APPROVES OUR FLOWERS — SO WILL SHE!

UNIVERSITY FLORIST

Robbins Building

THE GREATEST GUNFIGHTER OF THEM ALL!

...Wes Hardin, the preacher's boy, whose name thundered across the West's most violent era. This is the true story of the life he led, the lives he took and the people who made him what he was!

RAOUL WALSH'S
The director who gave you "The World In His Arms"

THE LAWLESS BREED

Color By TECHNICOLOR

starring
ROCK HUDSON · JULIA ADAMS
Sensational young stars of "Bend of the River"

...from the original manuscript as written by himself!

with MARY CASTLE · JOHN McINTIRE · HUGH O'BRIAN

DIRECTED BY RAOUL WALSH · SCREENPLAY BY BERNARD GORDON · PRODUCED BY WILLIAM ALLAND · A RAOUL WALSH PRODUCTION · A Universal-International Picture

T-O-D-A-Y & MONDAY Varsity

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

WEATHER
Cloudy and mild with 62 high. Yesterday's high, 58; low, 32.

The Daily Tar Heel

TALK
Ehe English Club has a speech to make. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 91 — CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1953 — FOUR PAGES TODAY

Mixup On Tickets Explained By Gym

Crook Says Popularity Of State Tilt Here Underestimated; Selling Policy Is Not New

Tickets to the State-UNC basketball game here Saturday night were sold to the general public before students could exchange their passbook coupons.

Vernon Crook, Woollen Gym ticket manager, explained that an underestimate of the game's popularity caused the office to issue tickets to townspeople, to students buying for the public, and to others—all before tickets were exchanged to students for their personal use.

"This is the first game since the war that we haven't gotten in everyone who wanted to see a game," Crook said. It is the policy of the University, he added, to see that all students who try for tickets get them.

The policy of selling tickets to the public before students is not new, according to Crook. To facilitate ticket sales, the ducats are sold at varying times, but always with the idea that all student ticket demands be filled, the ticket manager explained.

The odd-numbered passbook holders had priority for the State game, but because many students didn't exchange their coupons in the early part of the week as asked, they were allowed to exchange on Thursday, Friday and Saturday with the even-numbered holders.

The system worked well for the other major games—Wake Forest, Duke and New York University, Crook commented.

Main problem confronting the ticket office arises out of the fact that there are 6,700 passbook holders, but only 5,400 seats in Woollen Gym. Passbook holders include about 5,300 students, 500 student wives and 1,000 faculty members. Interest in this year's team is at a peak and a plan to cope with the shortage of the seats had to be devised, Crook noted. The evens were given priority for two games, the odds for the other two.

Student outcries about the ticket situation reached a head Saturday morning when it was learned that there were no more tickets. The ticket office had announced that tickets would be sold through Saturday morning.

There are varying estimates as to the amount of students who wanted tickets, but who didn't get them. The ticket office estimates 100. Some students think that there were well over that amount.

NEWS IN BRIEF

LONDON—The United States got as poor a set of notices in the British press yesterday as it has had in a long time. The chief targets were Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and U. S. talk about a blockade of Communist China. The Conservative Daily Herald said Dulles had created a "dangerously confused situation" by his 10-day tour of Western Europe. The Daily Telegraph, another supporter of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government, found fault with some of the American official's public lecturing of his Western Allies.

★

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived from Europe yesterday and said he is "encouraged" by prospects of progress on creating a European defense community. Dulles and foreign aid chief Harold E. Stassen landed here after an 11-day unity-prodding tour of Western Europe. Dulles brushed aside questions regarding the possibility of a U. S. blockade of the Red China mainland.

★

YOKOSUKA, Japan—The U. S. Navy said yesterday it has four guided missile ships almost ready to join the Seventh Feet off Korea and Communist China "should the war situation require their use." A detailed summary of the Seventh Fleet's recent history said that the ships—two heavy cruisers and two submarines—are being outfitted for guided missiles. The summary was issued by Seventh Fleet Commander Vice Adm. Robert P. Briscoe's office.

★

SEOUL—B-29 pilots said yesterday they left a 50-acre Red Army supply center near Pyongyang "cratered and smoking" in an attack in which they dropped 220,000 pounds of bombs on 150 buildings and supply stacks. The target for Sunday night's raid was about eight miles southwest of the North Korean capital. Eleven B-29's flew through the coldest temperatures of the year—45 degrees below zero—to carry out the huge attack. Three Red night fighters made passes at the B-29's, but did not fire. Anti-aircraft fire was "meager to moderate."

★

NEW YORK—The commander of the Chinese Nationalist Navy says 1,500,000 guerrillas on the mainland of China stand ready to support any offensive launched from Formosa by Nationalist forces. Vice Admiral Ma Chi-Chuang told an audience in Chinatown here Sunday the Nationalist Army was 600,000 men "continuously preparing for the offensive against the mainland."

Tryouts Tomorrow

Tryouts will be held tomorrow at 4 p.m. in the Playmakers Theater for "Blue Jean Gal," a new play by Elizabeth Lindsay Neill of Roanoke, Va.

Scheduled for production March 5 and 6, "Blue Jean Gal" is a folk drama of the North Carolina mountains. It will be directed by Betty Vickery of Gadsden, Ala.

The cast for "Blue Jean Gal" includes 11 men, nine women and six children, with a ballad singer playing an important part. Scripts will be available in 113 Murphey Hall for those interested in reading the play in advance.

BULLETIN

It was reliably learned here last night that the Rev. Charles M. Jones' resignation has been demanded by Orange Presbytery's Judicial Commission.

Mr. Jones met with the 10-man commission yesterday in Greensboro and sources said they learned that the group unanimously asked the resignation of Jones and told him that if he did not voluntarily resign his pastoral relationship with the local Presbyterian church it would be dissolved.

The commission members would not comment.

Mr. Jones declined comment.

'Money, That's All'

Faking His Way Thru Chicago U.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9—(Special)—A University of Chicago student who set up a counterfeiting operation "to make money to go through school" was arrested here recently and charged by federal authorities with printing bogus $10 bills.

William C. Hopkins, a university student, and Richard W. Mcleod, a former student were arrested at McLeod's apartment. McLeod's wife, Mrs. Ardene McLeod, was also arrested and charged with having knowledge of a felony and failing to notify authorities.

The three were arrested by Secret Service agents who said they found 10 completed counterfeit $10 Federal Reserve notes in Hopkin's fraternity house room.

Secret Service Agent Harry D. Anheier said the three had been under suspicion since last August, when they began purchase of equipment and materials that indicated intended counterfeit operations.

He added that the two men told him they had studied engraving method and had experimented for a long time to develop the $10 bills. Describing their product as "good," Anheier said the bills could have been passed fairly easily if the pair had advanced beyond the testing stage.

Haverford Man, Coeds Earn Credit In NC Hills

HAVERFORD, Pa., Feb. 9—(Special)—A band of Haverford College students were back home today after two months of earning classroom credit in western North Carolina's rugged mountains.

The group of 16 young men and women packed up post-hole diggers and psychology books after their 45-day mission down South in a remote Indian community in the Smokies. Since mid-December they have been earning their credits by clearing timber, repairing leaky roofs and initiating better farming methods.

They spent their time in Big Cove, a community on the Cherokee reservation, about 50 miles west of Asheville.

The students lived in old, abandoned buildings with kerosene lamps and coal stoves. Their icebox was a hole in the riverbank. They did their own cooking.

Object of the project, initiated this year by the Quaker-founded college, is to give students practical experience in aiding needy and underprivileged groups. The students are majoring in a new course launched by the college to prepare personnel for employment in Point Four foreign assistance agencies and similar programs.

Quakers Offer Foreign Study

Students can "intern in industry" this summer in the U. S., Europe or South America thanks to the American Friends Service Committee.

A summer job program, sponsored by this constituent of Religious Society of Quakers, will allow students to render humanitarian service while earning their expenses and living together with students engaged in a similar program.

The project has summer units in the East, Far West and Midwest.

Committee Gives OK To Plan For Six Day Semester System

Faculty Tells Its Ideas On Trustee Action

The majority of faculty members here agree with the advisability of a semester system for the University but disagree with the procedure followed by the Executive Trustees in ordering the six-day week.

Faculty feeling on the Saturday class matter was heard officially for the first time in a lengthy report from the Faculty Council to President Gordon Gray. It was submitted to the president in the form of a resolution which the council passed last Friday.

The faculty believes the question of changing the teaching schedule at the University "is properly a matter within the responsibility of the faculty. This is the traditional and generally accepted method of operation in this and other respected institutions of higher learning."

Gray read the report to the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees yesterday in Raleigh.

The report referred to the "mutual objectives" of the faculty and the Trustees to maintain the welfare of the University. "A majority of the faculty does not regard the mere provision fo Saturday classes as a significant step toward the achievement of our mutual objectives," the report said.

The report says the Trustee order implies "some loss of confidence in the faculty" since the Visiting Committee said four years ago that such matters should be left to the faculty's discretion. This refers to the Visiting Committee's report to the Board of Trustees on February 28, 1949, advising against the installation of Saturday classes.

It was the opinion of the Visiting Committee that the ordering of Saturday classes to curtail weekend exoduses by the students was "putting the cart before the horse."

The council continued, "Should such loss of confidence be further indicated by subsequent action of the Trustees—that is, if the action on Saturday classes should become a precedent and a pattern for dealing with problems involving a substantial content of educational policy—then faculty morale, already definitely affected, will predictably reach a very low ebb."

"BLOSSOM," A DE-SCENTED SCENT could probably be called the spaghetti eater of the year. Recently presented to Chicago's Brookfield Zoo, the one-year old skunk refused to eat recommended foods and the attendants were not a little worried until former owner, Robert Bean, came out with the fact that "Blossom" eats only spaghetti.—NEA Telephoto.

2 Teenagers Held For Pistol Theft

The FBI arrested two teen-age boys Sunday night and Monday morning and charged them with stealing eight converted .45 caliber pistols from the Naval Armory here.

The youths are Britain Sanders, 16, of Chapel Hill and David Moose, 17, of Durham. Both have been released by U. S. Commissioner Henry Bane under bonds of $1,000 each.

They were bound over for trial during the March term of Middle District Court in Durham.

An FBI agent quoted Moose as saying he and Sanders entered the Armory through an unlocked window around midnight the night of Dec. 8, broke a lock on the door to the firing range, broke another lock on the gun locker and took two boxes of pistols. The agent testified at Moose's hearing that 30 weapons were taken from the Armory that night, but 22 of them were returned four hours after the break-in.

The agent, in quoting Moose, said they first hid the pistols in the woods behind the University Hospital, but returned around 4 a.m., got 22 of the weapons and returned them to the Armory.

They re-entered the Armory, the agent said, through the unlocked front door.

Moose was quoted as saying he didn't know why they took the guns. He also said he moved from Chapel Hill to Durham Chapel Hill to Durham the first of January.

Campus Seen

Only one student showed up for the history class Friday, but she got a full 50-minute lecture.

*

Prof nonchalantly strolling across campus with basketball hoop around neck, explaining "My boy is a Cub Scout basketball played."

*

Shiny truck stopping on Franklin Street with "Rock-a-Dry-Baby" slogan written on side. And in smaller letters underneath, "at bottom prices."

Sorbonne Fete Planned Here For Feb. 14

The 700th anniversary of the founding of the Sorbonne in Paris will be celebrated here Feb. 14, Arrangements Chairman Dr. U. T. Holmes said yesterday.

The only other celebrations of the Sorbonne septicentennial in the United States will be held during the current year at New York, Chicago, and Washington.

Dr. Holmes will preside over the celebration program to be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, February 14, in the Morehead building.

Following the invocation by the Most Rev. Vincent S. Waters, Bishop of Raleigh, special guests will be introduced, including Dr. Hayward Keniston of Duke University, president of the Modern Language Association of America.

Speakers and their topics will be Prof. Rene Hardre, Woman's College of the University, Greensboro, "The Sorbonne and the University of Pasir;" Canon Gabriel, "The Spiritual Portrayal of Robert de Sorbonne;" and Dr. B. L. Ullman, "The Library of the Sorbonne in the 14th Century."

A representative of the French Republic will extend greetings. Following the program there will be a luncheon at the Morehead Building.

In addition to Dr. Holmes, members of the local committee on arrangements are Dr. B. L. Ullman, President Gray, Dr. William M. Dey, Dr. Jacques Hardre and Anthony F. Jenzano.

Umstead Cites 'Good Chance' To Lick Move

RALEIGH, Feb. 9. (Special)—Saturday classes for the University at Chapel Hill moved closer to certainty today when the Trustee Executive Committee said yes to UNC's plan for putting in an extra class day and going on the semester system.

The vote was 6-2-1. Dr. Clarence Poe abstained, saying that he didn't have enough information on the subject (he wasn't present at the November meeting when the resolution calling for Saturday classes was adopted). John W. Umstead Jr. of Chapel Hill and A. Hugh Harris were the two who voted against Saturday classes. Three members were absent.

Umstead said tonight that he thought the students have a "good chance" of defeating the Saturday class move. He said that he and Harris would see that it comes before the full board at its meeting here in the hall of the House on Feb. 23. It is not necessary that the Board of Trustees vote on this measure, but it can be forced to a vote by a Trustee.

At today's meeting, the Executive Committee also heard President Gray tell the group that the semester system would be retained at Woman's College, put in at Chapel Hill in September (in accordance with the plan adopted) and instituted at State College in 1954. Until this time, State has been on a quarter system but has had Saturday classes, while WC already has six day classes and a semester system.

Gray read a lengthy report to the executive Trustees which was an expression of faculty feeling on the matter (see story in column four). The faculty report said the majority of faculty members here agree with the advisability of a semester system for the University but disagree with the procedure followed by the Executive Committee in ordering the six-day week.

Under a semester system, students have the nine-months academic year broken into two sections and the quarter system splits it into three. Exams are taken in mid or late January by the semester plan and before Christmas when working under the quarter setup. The semester plan offers a long spring vacation.

Proponents of the semester method have pointed out from an administrative standpoint it means two periods of registration, grade recording, examinations and the like as opposed to three under a quarter system.

The plan under which Carolina will operate on a semester basis was drawn up by its Committee on Instructional Personnel. It provides in essence that:

A semester system begin in September, 1953; that the Administration require a balanced distribution of classes to prevent avoiding Saturday classes, and that the Administration allow deviation from the normal calendar pattern which is adopted to an extent clearly required by exceptional circumstances in post-baccalaureate professional programs.

Gov. Umstead, who is chairman of the ex officio of the Executive Committee, was not present at today's meeting. It was presided over in his absence by Frank Taylor.

Lanier Names 11

Mayor Edwin S. Lanier has named an 11-member committee from Chapel Hill to aid the State Educational Radio and Television Committee.

Appointed were Miss Elizabeth Branson, Oliver K. Cornwell, C. W. Davis, Raymond F. Gould, Louis Graves, the Rev. Samuel T. Habel, Kay Kyser, Sandy McClamroch, Robert F. Schenkkan, Gene Strowd and W. E. Thompson.

Gertrude Stein On Bread

'Get A Job You Will Enjoy,' Say Graduates Of June, '51

By John Jamison

A job is a job is bread on the table, Gertrude Stein might say—or maybe she wouldn't.

Not so with Carolina graduates, though. "Be sure you get a job you will enjoy," said a June, 1951 graduate in replying to the Placement Service's annual alumni survey.

Comments of that nature were made by many of the alumni regarding their choice of a major, the value of elective courses and extra-curricular activities.

Most of the 194 who commented on their selection of a major felt that they had chosen satisfactorily and that their college training in the major had prepared them well for the jobs they now hold. Also many of them expressed regret that they had not taken more courses in English. Nearly all concurred in recommending that college students who follow them take several English courses in addition to their major requirements.

According the survey, elective courses assume greater importance after graduation than before. Thirty-five alumni stressed careful selection and a wide variety of electives.

"The broader the scope the better. Concentrate on courses offering study not easily acquired after graduation," said a former history major.

A business major suggested, "Take the most practical courses imaginable—courses which would be of benefit in later life rather than snap courses."

Many of the '51 graduates felt that students should try to make high grades. They are "a fair indicator of ability to do a task," said a liberal arts major. Others said retention is more important than high grades. One said tersely, "Study!"

Of extra-curricular activities, alumni comment is summed up by the words of a former business major: "All of your education cannot come from text books—participate in other activities with your fellow students."

Nearly all of those who commented considered summer work prior to graduation very important. while you are still in school, it's easy to change One said, "If you find you don't like the work your major. But if you wait until you're out of school it's too late."

One man replied, "Upon being drafted into the Army, I applied for a position under the Army's new 'Scientific and Professional Program.' Under this program, the Army utilizes enlisted men with college degrees in their respective fields. The fields that I know to be open now are psychology, mathematics, physics, chemistry, bacteriology, and economics. The main advantage of this program is, the draftee is able to use his education and gain experience in his field without having to sign up for a prolonged term of service."

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

Night Editor for this issue: Everett Parker

The Elusive Tickets

Poor judgment and a lack of adherence on the part of Woollen Gym ticket office have resulted in a cauldron of student opinion. The fuming and the fussing concerns Saturday night's tickets for the basketball game with State. Last Friday afternoon there were no tickets left.

The office allowed tockets to be sold to the public when it was obvious that the State game would me a sellout. The State game has always aroused interest, and though all student requests had been filled for other important games, a winning, energetic team with a highly popular coach for the "big" one should have been enough indication that the game would fill the seats at Woollen.

A policy of letting odd-numbered passbook holders exchange coupons on Monday, Tuesdoy, Wednesday, and even-numbered holders exchange for the balance of the week was altered. Despite the fact that there were lazy students with odd-numbered books, the evens couldn't get an exchange because the odds were given another chance and wiped out the remainder of tickets.

This is the description of events up to Friday afternoon:

Tickets sold to public (over 400 estimated) before sold to students. Reason—it's a question of judgment. The ticket office figured that the game wouldn't be a sellout, and believing that there would be enough to sell a "few."

Odd-numbered student passbooks given priority for State game, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday: There are 5400 seats in Woollen Gym; but there are 5300 students, 500 student wives, and 1000 faculty, totaling 6800. The office had to have some method whereby students could see at least two out of four top games. Passbooks were divided into even and odd numbered ones with evens getting priority on two games, odds on other two. The system has worked well in other colleges with the same seating problems.

Even-numbered passbook holders get a chance at remaining tickets Thursday, Friday, Saturday.

This system was changed when sales weren't as good as expected, plus the fact that odd-numbered passbook holders didn't bother to secure exchange tickets when they should have. Odds got an additional opportunity on Thursday and Friday. No tickets were left by Friday afternoon.

While the system seems to be unfair, for this year, it is probably the only equitable program. For the future there aren't many better solutions. We could have a new gym (that's financially impossible right now). We could deemphasize basketball. (That doesn't make sense under the present system). We could rearrange the stands in Woollen Gym to provide for about 8500 but we would have to shelve the intramural program.

Next year the team's popularity will increase. Coach McGuire is able and extremely likeable. The athletic office has already made surveys, and investigated possibilities. We suggest that they continue their search for adequate seating arrangements to take care of a continuing demand.

Down the steps . . .

We are not quite sure whether he was really eager to study. He may have been tired, or he might have been feeling happy.

Let's assume he was ambitious and was seeking to get some A's to add a little polish to his Phi Bete key.

It was early Sunday morning. Perhaps he had forgotten that the Library already had closed at 10:30. He was obviously in a hurry to hit the books as he put the car in high gear. Why not try a detour through the main campus, he thought while cruishing down East Franklin and approached Raleigh Street? Instead of going all the way over to the Raleigh highway and back to the Library parking lot, why not a shortcut?

The sleek car moved on down Raleigh street, past Alderman, Kenan, McIver. He turned her at Cameron. As he neared the South Building visitor's parking lot, he made another turn, this time a sharp one—and kept on going, bumbling down the steps near the Playmaker's, continuing past Steele's Sanders, Murphey, and Bingham, and finally gliding along to the majestic Library building, whose Greek columns were just beginning to receive the early morning light.

Ah—it was closed. No lights on, no books to read, no coeds to talk to outside the corridors. It was 4:30 a.m. Perhaps by this time, he had realized that the study hhalls would be shut. So he pushed hard on the accelerator and disappeared onto the highway.

Louis Kraar

Party Line

Independents aren't obsolete.

In spite of those who say that independents have become politically obsolete on this campus, there will probably be one running for president this spring.

This potential presidential candidate, who asked to remain unnamed, belongs to one of the political parties. If he doesn't get their nomination, he may run alone. And chances are that he won't be this party's choice.

So the spring race is already shaping up. With three in the running, it should be an interesting battle.

RETURN BOUT: University Party leaders seem to have their heads together on getting out a party bulletin. Since Student Party wheels kicked off the campaign with their dorm handout sheet, they think that it's their turn. And the spring battle still seems early this year.

SHADOW BOXING: President Ham Horton told this reporter the other day that he was not opposed to the National Student Association.

Asked who was, he replied, "For all I know there are no opponents."

NSA opponents are probably the most anonymous people on campus. There seems to be opposition to membership in NSA, but where it's coming from no politician seems to know.

Tom McDonald, University Party legislator who introduced the bill calling for an NSA referendum, said he was doing it merely to give the students a chance to decide on an issue. Ditto for UP Chairman Walt McFall. And likewise right on down the line in both parties.

Who are these "shadows" who oppose the group? Although this reporter stands firmly on the fence with both ears to the ground, he can't help but feel these opponents should be given a chance to air their views.

COUNCIL KICK: The Student Council has been kicked around enough. Now the thing should be taken out of politics. It has no more place there than the U.S. Supreme Court.

Fortunately this year the Council has been able to render unbaised decisions because there are as many from one party as the other in the Council. But for the sake of other years, future times, some non-political means should be established to pick Council members.

POUNDING THE BEAT: Wood Smethurst, NSA campus chairman, showing some real life in Legislature . . . Ed Stevens (UP) giving both parties something to talk about with his dramatic words-to-the-wise . . . Ken Peneger, SP favorite, exhibiting some skillful, poised oratory ability at Phin Horton (UP) who says that Mrs. Roosevelt's speech . . . and Saturday classes will not be and keeps working to see to it that right.

APPLICABLE AXIOM: John Galsworthy set the rule down and campus politicians seem to be ardently following it. "There's just one rule for politicians all over the world: Don't say in power what you say in opposition; if you do, you only have to carry out what other fellows have found impossible.

"See—I've Started The Big Push Already"

A.Z.F. Wood Jr.

A Start At The Beginning

For some people, a college education stimulates intellectual curiosity. For others, intellectual curiosity is crushed at college. I am inclined to the view that the latter is the rule and the former, the exception.

I believe the main reason is that the college professor does not start at the beginning. Further, I believe that the whole philosophy of education is screwy.

Getting the student interested in what he is doing is secondary to cramming him with all sorts of facts and so-called culture. He is mercilessly ground through the assembly line of education, and is expected to soak up knowledge like a sponge. The University of North Carolina doesn't care if you enjoy Shakespeare or not. The main thing is to have read his works, so that you can talk about him glibly at a dinner party.

When some wousd-be-wit comes up to you and says, "Wanna hear a good joke?", he's got one strike against him already. For who the hesl is he to make up yohr mind for yoh? Then he tells his joke, and it's a pun, but what he is punning aboct you don't know. Maybe it's a pun on some army lingo, and you haven't been in the army; so you don't understand it. So he explains it, and then says, "Get it? ha, ha." But do you laugh or appreciate the joke? No. Not unless you're trying to be polite. And it might have been a good joke, and you might have laughed if you had been in the army and had understood the pun.

Thus with William Shakespeare. He may be the greatest writer in the world. But I don't believe a student just likes to be told that he is by a dogmatic professor, and then be forced to read Shakespeare so he can be "rultured," and then have to have the greater part of Shakespeare's wit explained to him berause he does not understand the allusions to seventeenth century rustoms and manners and language.

To understand and appreniate Shakespeare, you need pretty good knowledge of history and literature. And this knowledge is not going to come from high-school courses in history and literature, or college courses either. Such knowledge comes from many years of reading and personal experience. There are no short cuts.

And the student must be interested, must be made curious. He is not born interested. Such interest must be developed, and watered too much in the hopes that it will grow faster, it'll die.

Start at the beginning — the twentieth century. Start where the student is most interested. A student is human, and is more interested in himself and things directly relating to himself than anything else. The odds are that a student will be able to appreciate and ENJOY twentieth century literature more than that of the seventeenth, because he's licving in the twentieth century and is closer to what's going on. He can identify. He can better understand the twentieth century writer's wit and his irony. And from understanding comes appreciation.

Then the student is ready to go backwards. He WANTS to go back. He WANTS to read Shakespeare. The word "back" doesn't have ugly connotations to him now. He is curious, and he doesn't need to be forced. Maybe he will HONESTLY think that Shakespeare is a great writer. Maybe he will like the literature of some other century better than that of the twentieth, and maybe he won't. But, at least, he will judge for himself. Who knows? He might even like Moby Dick.

THE VOTE FOR 18-YEAR OLDS?

Senator James H. Duff (R. Pa.) said last week that 18-year-olds should be permitted to vote in every state. He was interviewed by four college students on "Junior Press Conference" televised over ABC-TV.

"If a boy is old enough to risk his life for his country," he said, "he should be permitted to vote. It has been my experience that, by and large, the 18-year-old is just as wise as people in other age brackets."

The movement to lower the voting age has already received support from segments of the college press and from various student organizations. The National Student Association, in a recent meeting of its executive committee, voted to "put its enthusiastic support behind the movement."

At Minnesota, a bill to lower the voting age to 18 years has been introduced in the state legislature. Supporters of the bill say it has "better than a 50-50 chance of passing."

"Junior Press Conference" originates in Philadelphia at 1:30 p.m. every Sunday. Begun last October, its contract has just been renewed for another 13 weeks.

From the Tech's movie column, MIT: Tow Ewell and Vanessa Brown in "The Seven Year Itch," a romantic comedy.

The Syracuse Colgate anti-candalism student pact has been renewed for another year. The agreement, according to the Syracuse Daily Orange, "condemns vandalism as a means of developing school spirit."

English Club

The Student Prince

The Student Prince: An Heroic Tragedy in One Act

Dramatis Personae

MILMAXIN, teacher of heroic drama
GHANDISTAXALA, student of heroic drama
ERNST, student and friend to Ghandistaxala
Students, dogs, pencils, cigarette butts.

MILMAXIN. Come, come, Sirrahs! let order reign supreme.
'Tis Tuesday morning, friends, and thus 'twould seem
Some papers here are due: come, then begin;
What folly you have writ ,with haste turn in.

GHANDI. (Aside). A curse upon my slouthful, dreary wit;
O cruel fate, that one night's easy gain,
Next morn should prove my honour's lasting stain.
MIL. Once more I make to you the same demand:
Come forward with your papers in your hand.

ERNST. Sir, I come! Hell-fire shall not my steps detain
From that which duty has to me made plain.

GHANDI. (To Ernst). Yet hold, dear friend, a word with thee I seek.

ERNST. Hah! quickly, then, with that which thou woust speak.

GHANDI. Because of that dear friendship we profess,
My cursed crime to thee I will confess:
Know then, dear friend, that I before thee sit,
A wretched man without a paper writ.

ERNST. What! Base wretch! no paper dar'est thou say.
From thee with scorn, then, must I turn away;
For he that sacred duty thus neglects
May o his trusting friends pay like respects.

MIL. (to Ernst and Ghandi.) How now, villians' . . . your papers not in yet?
This obstinate delay thou'lt soon regret.

GHANDI. (Aside). Ah, is there then no hope, but that my name
And honor shall be thus exposed to shame.

ERNST. I'm coming, sir!

GHANDI. (Aside). There may be yet a way.
(To Ernst) Dear friend, one moment more I beg thee stay;
Let my sad plight thy tender pity move;
Thy honest hand e'en yet a friend may prove;
If thou wilt grant one kindness ere we part,
This pencil take and thrust it in my heart.

ERNST. Ahah! is't come to this! I'll do't; 'tis th' only way.
(Stabs him)

GHANDI. O happy fate! my honour's saved this day.
(Dies, rolls into aisle: dogs howl)

MIL. O ye immortal gods! what's this I see!
A bloody corpse where none was wont to be.
What hand has dared to do this awful deed,
A crime which doth to Jove for vengeance plead.

ERNST. No sir; he had no paper, wherefore to die he chose,
His honour and his name not to expose to frightful shame.

MIL. Then 'twas not basely done,
For by this noble deed his honour won.
Come, bear the body to a better place,
For such a death, though sad, is no disgrace.
All look, now, on this sight and learn t'expect
Th' unhappey end of duty's first neglect.
(Exeunt with body)

Chorus of Students. Then look upon this sight and learn t'expect
Th' unhappy end of duty's sad neglect.

Yr mst Obt, Hmbl & Dvtd Srvt,
Philologus

Express Yourself

Editor:

Ah! It's wonderful to recall the days when football and basketball games were played for and by the students, and not for the Grateful Alumni who had not yet learned that a check book would give them college sports lock, stock, and barrel. The students were also given the choice seats in the stadium and gym at that time.

Now this letter is not written to make the. New Student dissatisfied, but to make a recommendation to the Athletic Association.

It is quite obvious by now that the Athletic Association simply does not have enough money. A good way to get more is to get more paid admission from the alumni. An easy way to do this is to remove the students to the bleachers in the adjoining Bowman Gray Pool. An inexpensive amplifying system could relay the progress of the game to the students. Further, the refreshing pool would furnish an automatic cooling system, and the students could listen in comfort. They could even smoke.

This would give more seats to our Deserving Alumni, more money to the Athletic Association, a higher rating in the Associated Press, and more money to North Carolina tobacco companies. The students could not see the game, of course, but no student is really interested in watching his team play.

W. D. Ashbutn

Editor:

I am impressed by the following statement in a circular announcing the Institute of Religion in Raleigh January 19—February 23.

"The spirit of mankind, deeply religious in outlook, would throw off shackles of the open mind. It desires to be kept free and unafraid, in a climate of complete inquiry and of courageous action. It will not be suppressed by threats of innuendo, by outworn traditions and special privileges. It will be triumphant only as it deals justly, loves mercy and walks humbly with God."

Mary B. Gilson

Dear Editor and Friends:

I cannot but write to you today. You know, over here it is pretty hard to get any news about certain special activities in "these United States." Therefort I was very much surprised when I picked up the "Stars and Stripes" this morning and heard of the great victory the UNC basketball team gained over N. C. State. It certainly is a pleasure to hear of such things; especially after we haven't been too much favored by this year's football season. Anyway, let me extend our congratulations from over here anl let's hope "that they're gonna keep it that way."

At the same time, I would very much like to say "hello" to all my student-friends, especially to Don and John. (They know whom I mean!) Finally let me send greetings to the staff of the School of Education and last but not least to "our" great basketball team. We sure cross the fingers for you!

Bill

(Wilhelm F. Angermeier, one of the 15 German teachers who spent half a year at Carolina in 1951-52.

Four Teams Clinch League Titles In Mural Basketball

Four teams—three in the Fraternity Division and one in the Dormitory Division—have already clinched the top positions in their respective leagues in intramural basketball.

In the Fraternity Division, the Phi Delt-1 team has racked up a 7-0 record to grab the honors in League Two, while ATO-2 has a 6-0 mark in League Seven. Phi Kap Sig-1, the other team that has already won its championship berth, has a 5-0 slate in League Nine.

Emerson-2 is the only dormitory squad that has clinched its position thus far. Playing in the Dormitory League Six, the Emerson five have run up a record of six wins against no defeats.

Several clubs have a good chance of taking their league title in the next few days. Undefeated teams in the Fraternity Division, excluding the ones already mentioned, are: ATO-3, League One; Beta-1, League Three; PiKA-1, League Four; Phi Game-2, League Four; and Sig Nu-2, League Eight. The undefeated teams in the Dormitory Division are: Winston-1, League One; Med School-4, League Three; and Emerson-1, in League Five.

The divisional tournaments are scheduled to begin within the next two weeks, with the campus title game following.

FRATERNITY DIVISION

League 1	W.	L.	Pct.
ATO-3	6	0	1.000
Zeta Psi-1	6	1	.857
SPE-1	4	1	.800
Chi Phi-2	3	2	.600
PiKA-3	2	4	.333
Phi Delt Chi-2	1	4	.200
DKE-1	0	5	.000
ZBT-1	0	5	.000

League 2	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Delt-1	7	0	1.000
SAE-1	4	1	.800
Lamg Chi-1	3	2	.600
Delt Sig Pi	3	3	.500
Pi Lamb	3	3	.500
Phi Kap Sig-3	2	3	.400
Chi Phi-1	1	5	.167
Phi Gam-1	0	6	.000

League 3	W.	L.	Pct.
Beta-1	4	0	1.000
Kap Sig-1	4	0	1.000
Zeta Psi-2	3	1	.750
KA-1	2	2	.500
Chi Psi-1	2	2	.500
Phi Delt-4	1	3	.250
ATO-4	0	4	.000
Sig Chi-4	0	4	.000

League 4	W.	L.	Pct.
PiKA-1	6	0	1.000
ATO-1	5	1	.833
Pi Kap Phi-2	5	1	.833
Beta-3	4	2	.667
Sig Chi-2	2	4	.333
SAE-3	1	5	.167
Zeta Psi-4	1	5	.167
Kap Sig-2	0	6	.000

League 5	W.	L.	Pct.
DKE-2	5	1	.833
Phi Delt-2	4	1	.800
Sig Nu-1	4	2	.667
Sig Chi-3	4	2	.667
Chi Psi-3	3	3	.500
Phi Kap Sig-2	2	3	.400
SPE-2	1	4	.200
Pi Kap Phi-1	0	7	.000

League 6	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Gam-2	5	0	1.000
Sig Chi-1	5	1	.833
TEP-2	5	1	.833
Kap Psi-1	3	2	.600
Sig Nu-3	2	4	.333
Phi Delt-3	2	4	.333
PiKA-2	1	5	.167
Beta-2	0	6	.000

League 7	W.	L.	Pct.
ATO-2	6	0	1.000
SAE-2	4	1	.800
Phi Delt Chi-1	2	3	.400
KA-2	1	3	.250
TEP-3	1	3	.250
AK Psi	1	4	.200
Theta Chi-2	0	5	.000

League 8	W.	L.	Pct.
Sig Nu-2	5	0	1.000
ZBT-2	5	0	1.000
Theta Chi-1	4	2	.667
Chi Psi-2	3	3	.500
Phi Gam-4	1	4	.200
Zeta Psi-3	1	4	.200
Lamb Chi-2	0	6	.000

League 9	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Kap Sig-1	5	0	1.000
TEP-1	4	2	.667
Phi Gam-3	4	2	.667
Delt Psi	3	2	.600
Kap Psi-2	2	4	.333
Kap Sig-3	1	4	.200
KA-3	0	5	.000

DORMITORY DIVISION

League 1	W.	L.	Pct.
Winston-1	5	0	1.000
Joyner-4	5	1	.833
Med Sch-3	4	1	.800
Mangum	3	3	.500
Everett-2	1	3	.250
Ruffin-2	1	4	.200
Cobb-1	1	4	.200
Alexander-1	0	4	.000

League 2	W.	L.	Pct.
Cobb-3	4	1	.800
Aycock-2	3	1	.750
Law Sch-2	2	1	.667
Joyner-3	3	3	.500
Ruffin-1	3	3	.500
Winston-3	1	4	.250
Everett-1	0	3	.000

League 3	W.	L.	Pct.
Med Sch-4	5	0	1.000
Alexander-2	5	1	.833
Graham-2	5	1	.833
Manley	2	1	.667
Lewis-4	2	4	.333
Cobb-4	2	4	.333
BVP-2	1	5	.167
Grimes-1	0	6	.000

League 6	W.	L.	Pct.
Winston-2	3	1	.750
Victory Village	3	1	.750
Cobb-2	4	2	.667
Law Sch-1	2	2	.500
Stacy	1	2	.333
Lewis-1	1	3	.250
Aycock-1	0	4	.000

League 5	W.	L.	Pct.
Emerson-1	4	0	1.000
Lewis-2	4	1	.800
Joyner-2	3	1	.750
Old East	2	3	.400
BVP-1	1	2	.333
Med Sch-1	1	4	.200
Dental School	0	4	.000

League 6	W.	L.	Pct.
Emerson-2	6	0	1.000
TMA	3	2	.600
Lewis-3	3	2	.600
Law Sch-2	1	1	.500
Graham-1	2	4	.333
Med Sch-2	1	4	.200
Joyner-1	0	5	.000

TODAY'S BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 1, Emerson-1 vs. Lewis-2; Court 2, Law School-1 vs. Lewis-1; Court 3, SPE-1 vs. ATO-3; Court 4, Lamb Chi-1 vs. Phi Kap Sig-3; Court 5, ATO-4 vs. Sig Chi-4; Court 6, Zeta Psi-2 vs. Chi Psi-1; Court 7, Phi Delt-2 vs. Chi Psi-3.

5:00—Court 1, Law School-3 vs. Cobb-3; Court 2, Manley vs. Graham-2; Court 3, Law School-2 vs. Lewis-3; Court 4, DKE-1 vs. PiKA-3; Phi Delt-4 vs. KA-1; Court 6, Sig Nu-1 vs. Phi Kap Sig-2; Court 7, SPE-2 vs. DKE-2.

TODAY'S TABLE TENNIS

4:00—Beta-1 vs. Kappa Sig-1.
5:20—Winston vs. Emerson.

TODAY'S HANDBALL

4:00—Phi Gam vs. ATO.

WAA BASKETBALL

7:00—Carr vs. Chi Omega; 7:50—Nurses vs. Tri Delt; 8:40—Pi Phi vs. Spencer.

UNC Rifle Team Victor In SC Meet

North Carolina's Naval NROTC rifle team defeated seven other ROTC teams in the second round of the First Annual Southern Conference ROTC Rifle Tournament of North Carolina at Davidson, N. C. to win first place in the match by 56 points. Carolina scored 3,549 of a possible 4,000 in the complete match.

Elon A. Abernethy, freshman from Blowing Rock and a member of the UNC team, took first individual honors in the meet with 741 points of a possible perfect score of 800.

Ramon L. White of Columbus, Ga., another Carolina freshman tied Coldwell of the Duke Naval ROTC for second place with 736 points.

Besides the Duke and UNC Naval Units, Army ROTC teams from Davidson, N. C. State, and Wake Forest, and Air ROTC teams from Duke, UNC, and State Competed in the tight-team match.

The Carolina teams scored 1841 of a possible 2000 points in an eight hour match at Davidson on Saturday to come from second place behind the State Air ROTC and take the match. State held the

(See RIFLE TEAM, page 4)

Jayvee Swimmers Defeat W&M, 53-30

Carolina's jayvee swimmers, landing eight out of ten first places, defeated the mermen from Norfolk division of William and Mary by 53-30 here Saturday afternoon.

The swimmers, going the collegiate distances for the first time, captured all events except the 150 yard individual medley and the 400 yard relay.

The meet's closest finish came in the 200 yd. backstroke, where Carolina's Fred Diffenbach barely edged out his opponent.

Gym Team Meets Tech Here

Seeks Third Season Win At Woollen

By Al Long

Coach Bill Meade's Gymnastic Team will seek its third straight win of the season tonight against Georgia Tech at 7:30 in Woollen Gym.

Tonight's meet will be the first of the season for Coach Lyle Welser's Tech team. The Yellowjackets won the Southeastern Conference title in 1950 and finished second in 1951. Last year, Tech did not actively participate in Conference competition.

The Tar Heels, fresh from a 64-48 victory over West Virginia last Saturday, and sporting a 2-1 record, are winless in two years of competition against the Techmen.

Individual scoring is expected to be a battle among Co-Captains Bob Elden and Roger Weber of Georgia Tech and Gordon Hudson and Check Goodin of Carolina.

Outstanding for the Tar Heels in previous meets have been Otis Hartsell on the rings, tumbler Pete Brumley, rope climber Bill Rivera, and trampoline performer Dick Hallden. Adding to the Carolina cause will be the return of Co-Captain Andy Bell and Biff Howard from the injured list.

The complete lineup for Carolina will be: Rivera, Rupert Phipps, and Jack Hearne—Rope climb; Goodin, Hudson, and Bell—sidehorse; Goodin, Howard, and Bell—high bar; Goodin, Howard, and Hudson—parallel bars; Goodin, Howard, and Hudson—tumbling.

ARE YOU IN THE KNOW

OPENING TODAY

?

COLONIAL HOUSE

W. Rosemary St.

- SANDWICHES
- SHORT ORDERS
- DELICIOUS, TENDER STEAKS

PROPRIETORS: TRAVIS PORTER
EARLE LITZENBERGER

We Have Applied For Our Beer License

NOW...10 Months Scientific Evidence For Chesterfield

A MEDICAL SPECIALIST is making regular bi-monthly examinations of a group of people from various walks of life. 45 percent of this group have smoked Chesterfield for an average of over ten years.

After ten months, the medical specialist reports that he observed . . .

no adverse effects on the nose, throat and sinuses of the group from smoking Chesterfield.

MUCH MILDER

CHESTERFIELD IS BEST FOR YOU

Copyright 1953, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

BILLS MAILED HOME

It's not too early to see us about your Spring and Easter outfit. Now you can choose from our very best selections—Plenty of time to fit you to perfection.

THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

BUY NOW!

HURRY!

VALENTINE CARDS
NOW ON DISPLAY
LEDBETTER-PICKARD

HURRY!

Feb. 14th IS THE DAY

Phi Debate Set

Challenge Debate Scheduled Today By Two Members

A representative in the Phi Assembly, accused in last week's parliamentary debate of slandering the School of Business Administration, will meet a fellow Phi member at 1 p.m. today in a challenge debate.

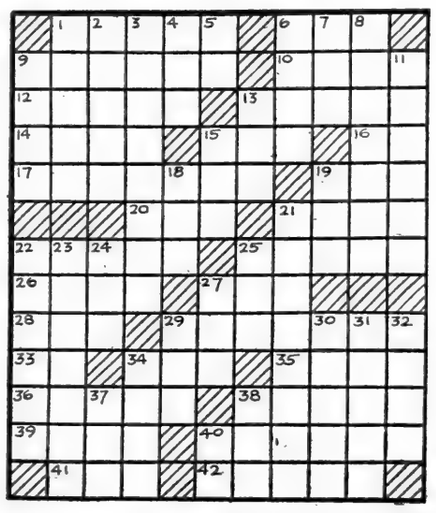
Fred Crawford, the accused, will speak against Dick Bradshaw, a BA major and also a member of the Phi. The debate will be held in the court of the new School of Business Administration.

Speaker Sol Cherry will solve as moderator and Ham Horton and Don Angel will act as seconds.

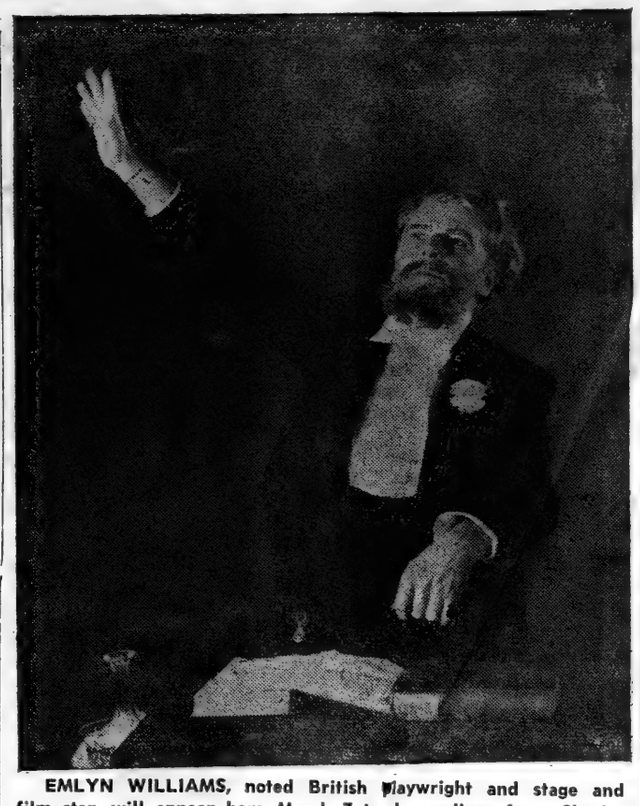
Assembly Slates 2 Bills Tonight; Joint Meet Soon

Two bills are on the hook for debate by the Phi Assembly tonight.

The first is a bill postponed from the Phi's last session which calls for a wider foreign student exchange program by the University. The second bill urges the Student Legislature to abolish the Debate Council and the Carolina Forum on the grounds that the two campus rebating societies could better perform the job done by the council and forum.



DAILY CROSSWORD



ACROSS
1. Fresh and brittle
6. Equal
9. Religion of Japan
10. Is obligated
12. Covered with lint
13. Explain
14. Apparent ends of Saturn's rings
15. Breeze
16. Water god
17. Woman who holds title of nobility
19. An emmet
20. Weaken
21. Immense
22. Moving about
25. Tramped
26. Coin (Turk.)
27. Foot-like part
28. Like ale
29. Floor coverings
33. Cirrus (abbr.)
34. Female pig
35. Angle formed by leaf and branch
36. Chopped, as wood
38. Old-womanish
39. Enough (poet.)
40. Lifted
41. Unit of weight
42. Apartments

DOWN
1. Backbone
2. Cleanse of soap
3. Decoration in woodwork
4. Pig pen
5. Italian river
6. Destitute
7. Hole-piercing tool
8. Vindictive retaliation
9. Strike
11. Placed in a chair
13. Little girl
15. Viper
18. Audience
19. Diving bird
21. Spain (anc. name)
22. North American Indian
23. Prominent
24. Attempt
25. Feminine pronoun
27. Animal's foot
29. Fish
30. Live
31. Baked pieces of clay
32. Snow vehicle
34. Stitched
37. Court
38. Indian madder
40. Radio frequency (abbr.)

Yesterday's Answer

EMLYN WILLIAMS, noted British playwright and stage and film star, will appear here March 7 to do readings from Charles Dickens. Williams will be dressed as Dickens himself, with a fan-tail beard, frock coat, white gloves and a red geranium. Tickets may be purchased at the Playmakers business office in Swain Hall for the Memorial Hall presentation.

Debate Council Invited To Boston Tournament

UNC is the only university in the South invited to attend the Boston Intercollegiate Debate Tournament. The tournament will be held at Boston University, Feb. 27-28.

Invitations to this tournament are given on the basis of previous debate rankings. Last year UNC stood 12th in the nation.

UNC's debate team will also meet Florida State Feb. 21 in an All-Southern debate.

The Debate Council met yesterday to determine who would represent the University at the two meetings. Ken Myers and Bill Zuckerman were selected to go to Boston. Al Levine and Zuckerman will debate the affirmative, and Beverly Webb and Bruce Marger the negative at the Florida State meeting.

The topic for these two meetings will be resolved: That the Congress of the United States Should Enact a Compulsory Fair Employment Practices Law.

Dr. Norman W. Mattis will be the adviser to the debaters who go to Boston. Dr. David B. Monroe will be the adviser for the Florida debate.

Other plans announced by the Debate Council include a practice debate tomorrow in the Grail Room. Myers, Zuckerman, Webb and Marger will debate. The council said the meeting will be open to the public and comment from the audience will be welcomed after the debate is over.

The Debate Council is also planning its third annual intramural tournament. All fraternities, dormitories, and sororities will be invited to participate, a Debate Council spokesman said.

Guests Invited To See Show

Chi Omega Sorority will see "Birth and Death of the Earth" tonight as guests of the Planetarium, Manager A. F. Jenzano said yesterday.

Jenzano said that for the past year the Planetarium has invited student groups to attend the new shows on the Monday or Tuesday following the opening. This plan, he said, is to introduce the new show to the campus. He hopes everyone on campus can eventually be a guest of the Planetarium. Last night the German Club saw the show through the courtesy of the Planetarium.

Carolina
LAST TIMES TODAY
THE LOVE STORY BEHIND THE BILLION-DOLLAR SECRET!
M-G-M presents
ABOVE AND BEYOND
STARRING
ROBERT TAYLOR
ELEANOR PARKER

What Goes On Here

Alpha Kappa Psi

Alpha Kappa Psi will hold its business meeting at the chapter house, 214 E. Rosemary Street, tomorrow at 7 p.m.

Di Senate

The Di Senate meets tonight at 8 o'clock on the third floor of New West to discuss a bill calling for the repeal of the Nineteenth Amendment of the U. S. Constitution.

Alpha Epsilon Delta

Alpha Epsilon Delta, pre-medical society, will hold its weekly meeting tonight at 7:30 in the social room of Joyner Dormitory. Refreshments will be served.

Heels 'n' Toes

Tar Heels 'n' Toes a folk dance group is having a supper tomorrow night at 6 o'clock for old and prospective members. Contact Ann Nichilson, 305 Carr by noon tomorrow for reservations.

SUAB Meeting

The student-faculty committee of SUAB will meet tomorrow in the main lounge of Graham Memorial at 5 o'clock.

YWCA

The Rev. John A. Weidinger will discuss "Modern American Catholicism" in the Cabinet Room of the YMCA today at 4 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend and there will be a question and answer period following the talk.

Woman's Glee Club

The Women's Glee Club will meet today in Hill Hall at 5 o'clock.

Women's Residence Council

Women's Residence Council will meet at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Women's Council room to choose the women's orientation chairman.

Dental Dames

Dental Dames will meet at 8 p.m. today in Graham Memorial in the Horace Williams Lounge. A business meeting was held, with a bridge and canasta party following.

—Rifle—

(Continued from page 1)

lead from the first eight-hour match in the two part tourney, shot in Raleigh in December. State was second with 3,493 points.

The Carolina Air ROTC team placed fifth, improving its position from sixth place in the second half of the meet.

Three trophies and eight medals were awarded, with the Carolina Naval Unit keeping the 36 inch high hotating trophy this season.

John Jackson of Barnesville, Ga., Donald Harley of Haddonfield, N. J., both juniors, and Joseph Rosenberg of Troy, Alabama, a freshman, round out the UNC Navy team.

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega meets tonight in the Grail Room at 7.

French Supper Club

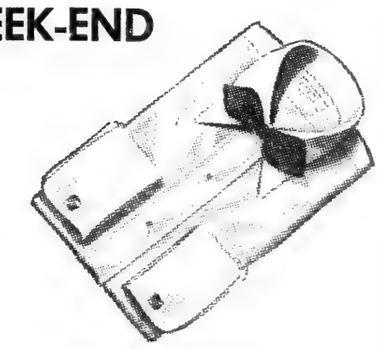
The French Supper Club will meet tonight at 6 o'clock in the upstairs dining room of Lenoir.

On Valentine's Day Give
This is my Beloved
A bit on the torrid side, but it makes wonderful two-some reading and the title so exactly expresses one's Valentine sentiments.
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

All wool sport coats like you see elsewhere at $25.00. Assorted tweeds —Sale price $17.95
Sweaters by Rugby, $5.95 —Sale price $ 3.98
Shop at Berman's for new spring Arrow shirts and sportswear — Wings shirts and sportswear.
Crosby's Square shoes—White buck, brown and black dress shoes.
Clean-up sale on winter jackets. 3 jackets by Cresco, fur collar, all quilted lining—$17.95. Sale price $14.95
3 jackets, gabardine, fur collar, heavy lining—$13.50—Sale price $10.95
Cresco corduroy regular sport coat. Sizes 34 to 46, assorted colors. Advertised at $17.95. Sale price $14.95
Cresco leather suede coats. Blue, wine, tan. $23.95. Sale price $18.95
LADIES: New shipment of ladies' dresses and now. A small deposit suits. You may select will keep your outfit until Easter.
Evening dance sandals, gold and silver—$3.98. Ballerina flats $ 3.48
NEW Orlon Mademoiselle sweaters. Long sleeves—$7.95 Short sleeves to match—$5.95 Colors: Mint, pink, blue, green, white.
BERMAN'S DEPT. STORE

FORMAL WEAR FOR RENT
Tux — Tails — White Dinner Jackets — Cutaways — Shoes And Accessories
TUXEDO JUNCTION
601 E. Trinity Ave.
DURHAM
PHONE 3-1373
Night 4-8321

A GREAT BEST-SELLING NOVEL BECOMES AN IMPASSIONED MOTION PICTURE!
"Cry, the beloved Country"
Filmed where it was lived . . . in Africa. From the book by Alan Paton
with CANADA LEE • CHARLES CARSON • Sidney Poitier
Joyce Carey • Screenplay by Alan Paton • Produced and Directed by Zoltan Korda • A Zoltan Korda-Alan Paton Production • A London Films Presentation
A Lopert Films Distributing Corp. Release
Distributed thru United Artists
T-O-D-A-Y—Wednesday
Varsity



Gals with Pulchritude But Smart Give a Book And win a heart
The Intimate Bookshop
205 E. FRANKLIN ST.
OPEN EVENINGS

Everybody's Raving About It
The wonderful, quick service you receive at the Carolina Barber Shop is the pass-word on the campus.
CAROLINA BARBER SHOP

FOR THE GERMAN WEEK-END
Tuxedos
Shirts
Accessories

Plaids & Solids
After Six Town & Campus

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE 6B

FOR SALE: RADIO-PHONO—3-speed, half price—$26.00. Excellent condition. Also English style bike—$15. Call 4671 by noon Wed. Leave message.

LOST 12

METAL DELIVERY BOOK IN VICinity of Lenoir Hall. Contains pink copies of University receiving orders and 2 copies of Storeroom requisitions. Very valuable. Call 6331. Chg 1x1

FOUND 6C

THIS QUARTER'S OUTSTANDING Sundae. Delicious Caramel Toasted Pecan topping over your favorite flavor of Gold Seal Ice Cream. You too can find this sundae at The Dairy Bar. This week's Special—29c.

FOR SALE 6B

RADIO-PHONO, 3-SPEED. Half price, $26.00. Excellent Condition. Also English style Bike $15.00. Call 4671 by noon on Wed. Leave message. (1-3468-1)

PERSONAL

EVERYMAN—A BOOK FROM the Intimate Bookshop, all gift-wrapped nice and pretty, might melt my heart on St. Valentines Day. Everybiddy. (Chg 1x1)

HELP WANTED

MALE OF FEMALE SHORT ORder cook. Must be able to work 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.; meals included. Apply at COLONIAL HOUSE, W. Rosemary St. Chg. 1x1)

Last Week Of
SALE
Group of Shirts $1.95
OXFORD BUTTON-DOWNS
Group of Cashmere
BLEND SWEATERS
$9.95
After-Six Tuxedos—$39.50
HARRIS TWEED
TOPCOATS
WERE $65.00
Now $49.00
BIG SAVINGS ON SLACKS
SOME AT $8.95
Julian's College Shop

U N C LIBRARY
SERIARS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Cloudy and mild, showers likely tonight and 60 high. Yesterday's high, 62.

The Daily Tar Heel

DUCATS
Tickets and space go together. The editors talk about it on p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 92 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

Campus Store Profits Will Be Given Proportionally For Needy Students

HONEYMOONING IN PALM SPRINGS, Calif., are 41-year-old movie actress Ginger Rogers and her groom, French actor Jacques Bergerac. The couple, who met only six months ago, were wed in a surprise ceremony. It was Miss Rogers' fourth time at the altar and Bergerac's first. They plan to return to France, where they met, so that Ginger can meet the 24-year-old actor's mother.—NEA Telephoto.

Horton Hot, Slams Handling Of NSA

By Louis Kraar

President Ham Horton had a question yesterday.

"Don't they think that the average student has the sense to vote intelligently?" he asked. Horton was talking about the legislative slap in the face that he got on the controversial National Student Association issue.

Angrily commenting on Legislature's rejection of his suggestion to put the question of staying in NSA up to the students, Horton said:

"I can't see how politicians, particularly the Student Party, can go through dorms campaigning to represent the student, then refuse to let the students decide on an issue."

Horton advocated the move early in the quarter, and Tom McDonald (UP) introduced a bill to that effect a few weeks early. The battle came to a climax last week when Ed Stevens (UP) crossed party lines to blast Horton. Stevens dubbed Horton the originator of a "long range, lethal plan designed to kill NSA."

"I think it is the most absurd thing I've ever heard to deny the average student the right to decide what his government is going to do," Horton said yesterday.

He said that he was not against NSA, but "neutral." He added, "The only way to take NSA out of politics is to let students decide for once and all."

In the past Horton has indicated adverse opinions about NSA, and stated as one of his objections some of the organizations it is affiliated with. He did not specify which ones.

NSA is a national organization which carries on programs on the campus, regional and national level. One of its main functions is as a clearing house for ideas on student government. Other projects such as scholarship funds, travel tours and national conventions are carried on by the group.

Horton hinted that the bill would be brought up again. "If we have a referendum, I pledge to see that every student has the information of NSA," said Horton.

Day Of Prayer Is Scheduled Here Sunday

Students here will participate in a day of prayer to be observed simultaneously by thousands of students in more than 50 different countries Sunday.

In addition to attending regular services in their respective churches Sunday morning, Christian students at the University will join in a Student Fellowship Supper and program in the North Room of Lenoir Dining Hall at 6 p.m.

The Rev. B. Frank Hall, pastor of Wilmington Presbyterian church, who is much in demand for student gatherings, will address the fellowship supper to which everyone is welcome.

Emily Cook, Arlington, Va., representing Episcopal students, is chairman of the committee planning the observance here. Carl Kelly, Charleston, W. Va., representing the YWCA, is committee secretary.

Other members include Bill Walker, Charlottesville, Va., Congregational Christian; Bob Hyatt, Cherokee, Baptist; Virginia Hall, Elizabeth City, Episcopal; Jim Haney Glenwood, Lutheran; Ed

(See PRAYER page 3)

Test For Law Slated Here

The University has been designated as a testing center for the nationwide administrations of the Law School Admission Tests on [illegible] 21, April 25 and August 8.

Depending upon the law school which they wish to make application, college seniors, juniors, and in some instances sophomores are eligible to take the tests. Each applicant should find out from the law schools in which he is interested whether he should take the test and on what date, Dean Brandis ex[illegible].

The Law School Admission Test is prepared and administered four times a year, in November, February, April and August.

Free Party

Students and faculty are invited to a get-together at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. The affair will end at 6 o'clock.

Sponsored by the SUAB Student-Faculty Committee, the receptions are scheduled to be a weekly affair with a faculty member speaking. Refreshments will be served.

Bloodstained Rock

Dromgoole Mystery Lingers On

By Ken Myers

A blood-red stain on a rock is the only clue to the strange disappearance of one Peter Dromgoole, a student at the University more than 100 years ago.

The story that has grown up around his disappearance has become a legend known, at least in part, to almost every resident of Chapel Hill and to most students at the University.

The locale of the story has been marked by the construction of Gimghoul Castle, which duplicates the fortresses of pre-Norman England. The castle, erected in 1925, stands on Piney Prospect, just east of Chapel Hill proper. There, above a purple-misted valley ,the strange end of Peter Dromgoole is said to have occurred.

Dromgoole rock is there, a huge boulder with reddish discolorations, close beside Gimghoul Castle. This rock is supposed to cover the hurried grave of Peter Dromgoole.

The boulder also embodies the legend that the red stains on it are the blood of the young student. The rains, the frosts—and the snows of a century have failed to erase the dark splotches. Members of the University Geology Department consider these red splotches to be rust stains coming from the metallic content of the stone.

There are several versions of the Dromgoole story, but what appears to be the most authentic version was written by a member of the Dromgoole family. It goes something like this:

Peter Dromgoole, son of a prominent Virginia family, entered the University of North Carolina in 1831. There is some evidence that Peter was reckless and unsteady, fond of card playing and wild company.

Peter fell desperately in love. It was before the day of coeds, and the object of his affection was a young woman who lived in Chapel Hill.

He and his girl chose Piney Prospect as their favorite trysting place. Peter's sweetheart was named Fanny, and a spring which still exists at the base of Piney Prospect carries her name.

There was another admirer of the pretty Chapel Hill girl. He had been rejected in favor of Peter ,and, in a fit of rage, challenged the Virginian to a duel.

Peter Dromgoole accepted the challenge. Seconds were chosen, and on a certain night when the moon was high over Piney Prospect, the contenders met there. The members of the little party stepped off the distance.

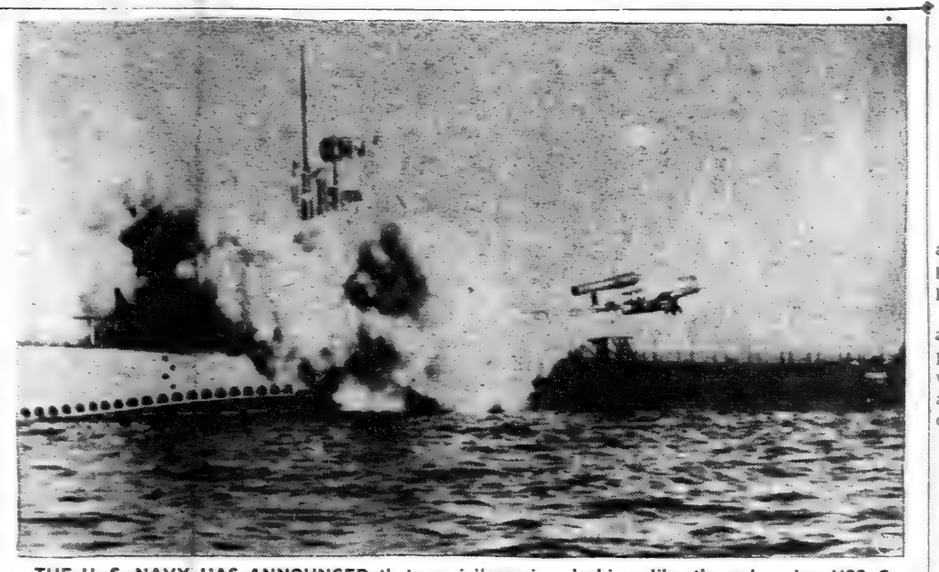
There was a signal and pis-

(See DEATH, page 4)

3 Students Considered For Grad Scholarships

Three University students are among those now being considered for scholarships by the General Education Board of New York City.

The three are Judson Hardy Jr., Silver Springs, Md.; Julian Dewey Mason Jr., Williamston, and Richard James Painter, Greensboro.



The General Education Board recently has adopted a policy of giving scholarships for first year graduate work for students who intend to enter the academic field. This supplements the board's fellowship program for more advanced graduate study which has been in effect for some time.

Last year there were 33 general education board scholars selected from 26 Southern colleges. Each of these universities and colleges has the privilege of nominating from one to three candidates to be interviewed on or before April 1.

One feature of these scholarships is that the students do not apply for them but the university selects the most promising candidates for the academic field and notifies them of their nomination.

The scholarships pay the students' fees and expenses plus travel. The students may select their own university.

The selection of the candidates was made by a committee including Dean Clifford Lyons, Dean Earnest L. Mackie and Dr. Albert Suskin.

THE U. S. NAVY HAS ANNOUNCED that specially-equipped ships—like the submarine USS Carbonero, shown here during tests of the "Loon," a guided missile—could be summoned on short notice to bombard the Korean Communists with guided missiles "should the war situation require their use." The Navy said that it now has two submarines and two heavy cruisers set for guided missile warfare. —NEA Telephoto.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told Senators yesterday there is no immediate plan to blockade the Communist China coast and that a major plank in the Administration's Korean War Policy is to keep the Reds guessing.

★

SEOUL — Gen. James A. Van Fleet said yesterday a United Nations general offensive in Korea now would be a certain success. On the eve of his farewell to the Eighth Army, the 60-year-old retiring commander again expressed belief in carrying the war to the Red, said the UN lost opportunities for whipping the Communists, and called for a million-man Republic of Korea Army with 20 combat divisions.

★

SEOUL — United Nations Air Force and Navy bombers and fighter-bombers in round-the-clock raids yesterday blasted Communist supply centers, bridges, rail lines and front line positions. Sixteen American B-29 Superfortresses delivered the "big punch" dumping 320,000 pounds of bombs on twin supply centers near the Yalu River.

★

WASHINGTON—The Justice Department has confirmed it has under study "the whole matter" of doucments which Sen. Barrett (R-Wyo) said were forged for use against Vice President Nixon in the presidential campaign. Barrett, head of the Senate Elections subcommittee, said that group had asked the FBI to investigate with a view to possible criminal prosecution.

★

RALEIGH — Proposals of Gov. Umstead continued to win legislative approval with clock-like regularity yesterday as the Senate Roads Committee unanimously gave its blessings to the governor's plan for revamping the State Highway Commission. The measure approved by the committee would authorize the governor to name a committee of five persons. This committee would be empowered, with advice and approval of the governor, to increase the number of highway divisions from the present 10 to not more than 15.

★

NEW YORK—The attorney for Pat Ward, red-haired star witness in the "Closed Door" vice trial of oleo heir Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke bitterly assailed the press yesterday. Waving his walking stick as he arrived at the courthouse, with the 19-year-old Miss Ward, J. Roland Sala told newsmen: "Everything is distorted that this little girl says." The Press, Sala continued, has been "lying" and "implacably cruel." Jelke's attorney, Samuel Segal, told newsmen Miss Ward named names in her testimony of cafe society playboys who paid for her love.

Registration Shift Due By Next Fall

Beginning next Fall, students will no longer need to trek to Archer House to compete registration.

If plans formulated last March are realized as scheduled, the new registration office will be moved to a business administration building behind the YMCA.

"We had hoped to be in the new offices for registration next quarter," assistant registrar Ray Strong said yesterday. "But it now looks like it will be Fall Quarter before we move."

The registrar released the following schedule for pre-registration for the Spring quarter:

General College: Feb. 9-18. Student should obtain green forms from advisers and take them to Archer House.

Arts and Sciences: Feb 11-18. Students who have a major should see departmental advisers and secure green forms. Pre-law, premed, pre-dental and special students see the adviser in their dean's office.

Business Administration: Students sign appointment books in Bingham 114 on Feb. 4, 5, 6 to pre-register on Feb. 10, 11, 12 and 13.

Education: Feb. 11-18.

Journalism: Feb. 9-18 in Bynum 202.

Graduate School: Feb. 9-18. Regular students enrolled in Graduate School should see their departmental advisers. Undergraduate students who will graduate in March and plan to enroll in the Graduate School in the Spring Quarter are not eligible to pre-register and must register on March 24.

Nursing: Dates and details for pre - registration will be announced to the classes.

Pharmacy: First and second year students on Feb. 11; third and fourth year students on Feb. 12, and graduate students on Feb. 13.

Public Health: Pre-registration dates and details will be posted on the bulletin board on the ground floor of the Medical Building.

Social Work: Report to 113 Alumni for pre-registration information.

Campus Seen

Spring for sure as politicians out with wide smile and hearty hand pump for friend and foe.

*

Fastidious male, lengthily preening before mirror while roommate watches him unobserved.

*

University dean in old clothes raking leaves in afternoon.

THIS picture of President Eisenhower won first prize in a recent New York photography show. The unusual frowning shot was taken by UP cameraman Bert Brandt.—NEA Telephoto.

Recital Here By 2 Students Tonight In Hill

Two undergraduate students in the Music Department will present a joint recital of numbers for voice and piano tonight.

The program will be held in the auditorium of Hill Hall at 8:30 p.m. The performers are Billy Chance, baritone, and Lundie Lenoir, pianist.

Chance is a music major and a pupil of Joel Carter of the Music Department faculty. Originally from Florala, Ala., he has resided recently in Norfolk, Va. Part of his undergraduate training was at Kilgore Junior College, Kilgore, Tex. This is his junior recital toward an A.B. degree in music.

Miss Lenoir is a sociology major, but studies piano with Jan Philip Schinhan of the Music Department. She is from Lenoir, and began her undergraduate training at Wesleyan School of Fine Arts in Macon, Ga.

The program will include six groups, two by Miss Lenoir alone, and four by Chance with Miss Lenoir accompanying.

The selections for piano alone include Bach's Sixth Partita, Mozart's Sonata K. 284, and two shorter numbers by Brahms. The feature of Chance's portion is a group of seven Dichterliebe songs, settings by Schumann of short

(See RECITAL page 4)

Loophole Left For Athletes; Ratio Advised

By John Jamison

President Gray said yesterday he approves the Carroll committee's plan for allocation of campus store profits.

Under this plan, consideration in awarding grants-in-aid from the profits would be given "to students who participate in activities that are regularly scheduled and require exacting use of time." The committee said consideration might be given, for example, to "students who are members of regularly organized intercollegiate athletic squads under the direction of regular members of the athletic staff."

President Gray announced yesterday that he would support the Executive Committee's action on Saturday classes if the matter should come up in the Board of Trustees meeting Feb. 23. This means he will back the plan to put in the six day, semester system.

The Daily Tar Heel reported on Jan. 16 that the Carroll committee was considering a plan to award 25 percent of the profits to athletes. This provision is not in the plan Gray approved yesterday However, there is a loophole.

The athletic department will determine how many students participate in intercollegiate athletics. This number will be placed in ratio with the total number of students. Then, grants-in-aid to athletes can be based on that ratio. This does not mean that awards to athletes must be made according to the ratio.

The plan was worked out by a subcommittee of the faculty Scholarship Committee consisting of Chairman D. D. Carroll, O. K. Cornwell and C. E. Teague. Grants-in-aid will be awarded by the entire 15-man Scholarship Committee.

As a result of Gray's approval, policy governing the awarding of grants-in-aid from the profits will consist of the following points:

"1. All grants-in-aid from these funds shall be awarded by the University scholarship and grants-in-aid committee. The student securing the award shall be informed in writing by the Chancellor specifying the amount of the award, terms of tenure, and conditions for its continuance.

"2. Grants-in-aid from these funds shall be open to all students of the University, undergraduate, graduate and professional, on the basis of need and merit.

"3. In making grants-in-aid consideration may be given to students who participate in activities that are regularly scheduled and require exacting use of time. These activities for which no compensation is received limit the opportunity of the student for self-help. For example, students who are members of regularly organized intercollegiate athletic squads under the direction of regular members of the athletic staff.

"4. In the administration of the above policy no group shall receive a greater proportion of these funds than the ratio of the number of students in that group bears to the total enrollment of the University.

"5. The value of the grants-in-aid shall be established in three categories: (a) $500 annually; (b) $300 annually; and (c) $150 annually.

"6. In view of the fact that the summer session is operated as a separate unit a certain number of grants-in-aid and of appropriate amounts shall be made available to summer school students."

Two Fined

Two students were fined yesterday in Recorder's Court by Judge William S. Stewart.

Joseph M. Parker, Ahoskie senior, was fined $5 and costs for violation of a stop sign.

Robert K. Eberle, Asheville sophomore, paid $10 and costs for speeding.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. — Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. P. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

Night Editor for this issue: Dorman Cordell

More On Tickets

(Yesterday The Daily Tar Heel suggested that the athletic office continue to investigate the possibilities of providing adequate seating for students at important athletic contests in Woollen Gym. Today we have a suggestion to make.)

We now have a fine basketball coach. We have a fine team. We win games.

As a result of this temporary upsurge in our fortunes, we have overflow crowds which Woollen gymnasium—built in the days of amateur sports—cannot accommodate.

This creates the problem of whose interests should come first—those of the students and University personnel or those of Alumni patrons and the general public?

We say that the interests of the students and University personnel should come first. We also say that students should be able to get in on their passbooks and that the athletic people should not be allowed to sell a single ticket until every passbook holder who can get into the gym is accommodated.

Why do we adopt this uncompromising attitude? Why do we begrudge the athletic forces their privilege to make a few fast bucks? The answer is simple:

The team exists, in the first place, because there are students to play on it. Without students, there would be no team. Without students, there would be no coach. Without students, there would be no faculty and no University; in fact, not even an Administration.

The basketball team, the gymnastics team—yea, and the high and mightily endowed football team—all of them owe their very existence to the fact that we—the students and the faculty and the Administration—are a University. We are their only excuse for being. Take away the University and what have you got? Just another basketball team like the Firestone Bouncers, the Astoria Salmon Eaters or the Continental Canners. Remove the Univerrsity and the dignity which the University lends to the whole operation and you have remaining only a bunch of professional ball players in search of a one-night stand.

We don't like that idea. We will not sit idly by while a few people who think more of dollars than of dignity shove the students aside and reveal the whole sordid business underneath the academic veneer.

If the team is to be known as the basketball team of the University, as a student team, as an amateur team, then let it be just that. This is not to say that private people, interested in the team, cannot contribute to it. But it is to say that when we have a home game, we will pretend that it is a student team and we will further pretend that the student body is there to cheer it on to victory. And we deny to anyone a priority higher than ours to see the team play.

So, we say to the athletic forces: you cannot serve two masters. We realize this is trite. So much the truer, then. We say that you cannot be faculty members and owe your existence to the University, and at the same time play footsy with the students at the gate. Either the team is a student team or a professional team. Take your choice. If it is a professional team, then you need to hit the road. If it is a student team, then let us have passbooks accepted at the door until the place is full or until there are no more passbooks to be accepted. And, if the latter occurs, sell the remaining space.

And please, let us not have any more of this routine which states that the passbooks are a gratuity, issued for free out of the kindness of Woollen gym's heart. We pay dearly for that little book regardless of how indirect it may be. We are forced to pay a fee for the gym, whether we use it or not. We are forced to pay for the "privileges of membership in the Department of Physical Education and Athletics, which are (quoting from the little book): (a) Use of facilities, (b) Use of equipment, (c) Instruction, and (d) Attendance."

So "Attendance" is a material factor in the purchase of the book. BUT say the partisans of the "odd-even" skin game, the little book also says: "The University reserves the right to restrict these privileges to whatever extent if deems necessary or desirable in the conduct of its over-all physical education and athletic program."

We say that when the athletic forces, hiding behind the good name of the "University," restricts students from the games, for whatever reason, then the athletic forces are cutting the ground from under themselves, and they will, in due course be hoisted by their own petard. The insistence upon getting tickets beforehand is a deliberate device to discourage attendance and thus create more space. This is hypocrisy, and all the rationalization in Orange County will not make it smell any sweeter.

And while it is true that there are more passbooks outstanding than there are spaces in the gym, it is also true that if the passbook holders were the only ones concerned, there would be adequate space, for it is a truism that many people who are forced to buy this "gratuitous" little book never go near the gymnasium, some of them feeling, perhaps, that the center of the University lies in the Library.

Fing open your doors O Woollen!
Lest your towers
(which are not nearly so high)
Like Ilium's will fall,
And the entire host of you
(not without a wretched sigh)
Will soon be boiled in gall.

Herb Cohn

Violets Visit

The University of North Carolina's Chapel Hill campus strikes a touring NYU journalist as a singularly unusual but surprisingly pleasant change from the rigors of attending the world's largest University located in the biggest madhouse ever created.

Southern hospitality has always been a subject for many yocks up North, but the dozen or so NYU students who traveled with the basketball team found themselves greeted in a maner unheard of back home in the Empire state. One white-capped policeman actually left his beat to guide several of these "damn yankees" back to their hotel.

Another mistaken impression they have above the Mason-Dixon is that they know how to eat. But the visiting Violet stalwarts will carry home the gospel. The chow served down here in the South, and at these prices, isn't to be found very easily in the land of the hotdog and the "two-cents plain".

New Yorkers are inherently opposed to walking further than the nearest subway entrance, but the Chapel Hill campus, which is exactly what NYU is without, caused several of the visitors to walk distances greater than a city block for the first time in their lives. The simple fact that trees instead of brick walls can be seen outside of the newspaper office windows is enough to have made the trip, and even the speeding tickets, worthwhile.

Campus politics are the bane of any collegiate editor's existance, the particular campus in question is not important. Politics at UNC don't seem to differ greatly from those of any other big school. The big issues are the same; the McCarthy-McCarran investigations, academic freedom; the almost universal drop in collegiate enrollment and the resulting financial problem, while even the more local issues are of interest to all schools.

Nobody wants to go to classes six days a week.

Jack Glazer
Mg. ed. of the Square Bulletin

Dorman Cordell

To The Wolves

In olden days, in the legendary land of Northus Carolinibus, the barbarians prepared to throw the Christians and their leader, Frank the Mighty, to the Wolves. And the date was set for a Saturday not far off.

And when the barbarians heard it, all were greatly elated, for it had been a long time since they had seen real blood shed. Besides, they had heard that the Christians and Frank the Mighty were almost a match for the wolves.

So out over the country, the word went among all the peasants, and they rushed in great numbers to the arena, called in the language of Northus Carolinibus a gymnasium (an archaic word meaning gymnasium), to reserve places for the spectacle. For the rulers of the land had promised that all would be allowed to view the conflict.

But when a group of peasants living in the province of Evenus Numberus, a province far removed from the arena and requiring many days of travel to get to the arena, arrived, they found that there were no more places for them. And a great cry went up among them. For they remembered the promises of the rulers.

Then the rulers came before the throng, because they knew a rebellion might arise if the peasants were denied their pleasures. And they spoke thusly: "You must remember that your places for the spectacle are not rights, but privileges granted you by us. We are sorry, but the arena is already filled, for we awarded places to many foreigners with loot (for even in those days, the love of money was the root of all evil). Now surely you would not deny us the right to fill the coffers, would you?"

And all the minor rulers of the land applauded vigorously this statement, and many fellow-travelers applauded also. But the peasants, being peasants, were ignorant, and so raised a greater uproar which was heard even unto other lands. But it was only an uproar, for all the weapons were in the hands of the rulers.

Then the rulers realized they had made a mistake, for the peasants, after having been given the honor of attending the spectacles, grumbled because of missing one. And they resolved to cancel all such privileges in the future.

The moral of this story is: One must always remember to keep the masses under an iron hand, or they may expect to be treated like people.

"What's The Latest?"

Dan Duke

Spelled T-R-I-A-L

"The Government of a free people must take certain chances for the sake of maintaining freedom which the government of a police state avoids because it holds freedom to be of no value."
—Alan Barth

The one-thirtieth of one percent who are Communists in this country have stirred up fear to a degree unknown before in the history of this country. The reaction is unprecedented. Even during World War II, we seldom took steps as drastic as we are taking today.

Extensive FBI investigations, secret and/or sensational Committee hearing, and loyalty oaths are the fruits of this reaction. Some of the more extreme reactionaries even urge that we wipe out all literature, all drama with tints of "Pink" propaganda. (They of course define what literature is "pink").

Though it may come as a surprise to reactionaries, America already has Constitutionally-approved means to deal with conspiracy such as Communism. The trial, as obsolete and old-fashioned as it is, is one of these means.

True, the trial is not nearly as ruthlessly efficient as the constant spying, incessant investigations, hearings, etc. Still, the trial had some advantages—especially to the individual accused.

In a trial the accused can stand, face, and answer the charges of the accuser directly. He does not face accusations from unknown witnesses, second-hand accusers whose identities for "security reasons" remain undisclosed. How can we expect a man to prove his innocence if we do not allow him to challenge the accuracy and the source of the evidence?

Another "quaint feature" about a trial is that at least an attempt is made by the judge and jury. True, they are not always impartial or unbiased. But aren't they more impartial than the McCarthy-type of investigation in which McCarthy is judge, McCarthy is jury, McCarthy gathers the evidence and testimony, and McCarthy renders the verdict. Long forgotten is the legal assumption that a man is innocent until proven guilty. Even if an accused should subsequently prove his innocence, it is too late to undo the damage of public indignation. The "news" is cold, then.

As for loyalty oaths, they are insults to our common intelligence. Should we expect a Communist not to lie on these oaths? We already know he is pledged to use any means to overthrow our government. Should we expect a little question of honor and integrity to stop him?

On the other hand, why should we expect a teacher who is loyal to be enthusiastic about signing? Does a wife wish to announce in public, to calm a suspicious husband, that she has never had any relations with other men?

Regardless of what immediate success we have against Communists, it seems to me that this constant spying, the incessant investigations, and the loyal oath demands boil down to an attempt to curve free thought into a mental straightjacket, with McCarthys and McCarrans to see that we fit.

Are these men, and these means, really adequate to cope with Communism? And are these men of such intellectual and Christian stature to be able to decide what "good Americanism" is?

Express Yourself

Editor:

An interesting article by Louis Bromfield entitled "The Shame of Our Colleges" appeared in the latest issue of "Esquire" magazine. One of the incidental deterioration aspects of our higher-education system which is lamented by Mr. Bromfield is the prevalent tendency in America toward the intellectual deification of any recipient of a graduate degree. Mr. Bromfield bemoans the fact that undue weight and regard, usually to a point of blind, unquestioning acceptance, is often given to statements made and opinions held by these sometimes-not-so-superior intellects. The author notes that especially in their own home-towns are these degree-holders often apotheosized by the local gentry.

Mr. Milton McGowan, graduate student extraordinaire, whose letter to the editor concerning the "booing at basketball games" editorial appeared in Friday's Tar Heel, has shown that he is anticipating already that glorious day when he will receive his "sheepskin", physical emblem of his massive mentality. Do we, the uneducated and unenlightened, dare to question or disagree with the opinions of so masterful a mind as Mr. McGowan's? The peremptory tone of Mr. McGowan's letter indicates that he would be "further dis-illusioned" were we to contemplate anything so rash. Notice his delicately dogmatic phrasing: "misanthropic, pseudo-intellectual editorial as the one so tritely entitled 'Weighed and Found Wanting'"; "if you must allow such trite trash to clutter up your editorial page," and "please let more mature, intelligent people write about it." Oh joy! Think how many peasants might have read that infamous editorial and formed false opinions concerning it had not the magnanimous Mr. McGowan presented to us the incontrovertible Truth distilled from his almighty wisdom.

I know that I must be going mad for (may Mr. McGowan have mercy on my soul) I find that I disagree with his phrase about letting a more mature, intelligent gentleman write about the subject. It so happens that I am well-acquainted with the author of the editorial. (Mr. McGowan knows that he wrote it). Said author is an undergraduate majoring in pol. science, is a veteran of both the Army and Navy, about 25 years old, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. I am of the opinion (there I go again having opinions without first consulting Mr. McGowan!) that the editorial's author is one of the most mature and intelligent thinkers that I've ever met. Furthermore, my suspicious and nasty mind has led me to believe that Mr. McGowan's letter was an entirely personal matter prompted by his feeling of enmity for the editorialist. I'm really surprised that Mr McGowan didn't name him in his little letter, but I suppose it would take a psychologist to figure that one out.

My opinions, express and implied, concerning Mr. McGowan should be regarded merely as opinions, nothing more. As such I realize that they may be distorted badly by inaccuracy and prejudice. I must be cautious not to have my opinions mistaken for dogmatism, because I'm not so certain as Mr. McGowan that I will receive a graduate degree someday, therefore I cannot allow myself to be presumptuous.

One day in Lenoir Hall I had coffee with Mr. McGowan (doubt that he remembers me). But in spite of our short friendship I'd like to suggest something to him. Mr. McGowan, 'ol boy, New Bern, N. C. is crying in the wilderness for its prophet who will point the way to the true, the good and the beautiful. The good folk of New Bern probably have erected already your brightly-polished marble pedestal, so why should you trouble yourself with the drudgery of working for another degree? Why don't you just run along home?

Paul Scagnelli

Editor:

Please accept our congratulations on the stand which you took in your editorial of February 4 on the athletic situation. We are well aware of the fact that to question the expenditure of vast sums of money for athletics is not the most popular position which a college newspaper can take these days. The position is, nevertheless, quite right, and you are to be admired for your forthright statements.

As you know, Wake Forest has not yet made public the information concerning athletic and other scholarships. "Old Gold and Black" has made it clear editorially since early December that it feels that such information should be released. While we have no official promises, we do anticipate the release of the information within the week.

Should a public study of figures on scholarships at Wake Forest reveal a picture similar to the one at The University of North Carolina, you may rest assured that "Old Gold and Black" will take a vigorous stand.

Keep up the good work.

Otis Gossman, Jr.
L. M. Wright, Jr.

AT PITT, NSA ANSWERS CHARGES OF 'RED' . . .

Student Councilman Joe Shuler, at the University of Pittsburgh, last week accused the National Student Association of being a Communist front group. Spokesmen for NSA promptly denied the charge.

Shuler quoted a recent article in "American Student" magazine which called NSA "leftist" and "anti-fraternity." (See ACP, Jan. 5, 1953, p. 5). At a Student Congress meeting to discuss the possibility of Pitt joining NSA, Shuler quizzed NSA representatives:

Shuler: "Did NSA send a representative to the East Berlin Festival?"

NSA spokesman: "No."

Shuler: "May a Communist become an officer of NSA?"

NSA spokesman: "To the same extent as a Communist might become president of (the Pitt) Men's Council."

Shuler charged that NSA has recently accepted a seat on the Academic Freedom committee of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU). He quoted "American Student" as saying that ACLU was a Communist Front organization.

An NSA spokesman retorted that ACLU has recently been praised by the New York Times, the New York Post and 10 United States senators. He said Students for America, the group which publishes "American Student," is at present the only group fighting NSA and that it is "the most ultra-reactionary group I know."

Students for America is made up of former MacArthur for President clubs on about 50 campuses. MacArthur is honorary president of the group.

UNC Gymnasts Trounce Tech

MURALS

Entries in the all-campus swimming meet to be held next Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights will close tomorrow afternoon. Team and individual championship trophies will be awarded in the meet.

Today's Basketball

4:00—Court 1, Zete 2 vs. Beta 1; court 2, Everett 1 vs. Winston 3; court 3, Law School 3 vs. Aycock 2; court 4, Delta Sigma Pi vs. Lambda Chi 1; court 5, Cobb 2 vs. Winston 2; Court 6, Old East vs. Emerson 1; court 7, Emerson 2 vs. Lewis 3.

5:00—Court 1, Dental School vs. BVP 1; court 2, Cobb 1 vs. Everett 2; court 3, Manley vs. Grimes 1; court 4, TMA vs. Law School 2; court 5, Sigma Nu 3 vs. Kappa Psi 1; court 6, Stacy vs. Victory Village; court 7, Lambda Chi 2 vs. Theta Chi 1.

Today's Table Tennis

7:00—Alexander vs. Winston.
7:40—Emerson vs. Ruffin.

—Prayer—

(Continued from page 1)

Stevens, Tarpon Springs, Fla., Methodist; Bob Farmer, Smithfield, Presbyterian; Jim Eagan, Portsmouth, Va., Roman Catholic; Marsh, Thomasville, YMCA, and Anna Beeson, Greensboro, YWCA.

The first annual world-wide student Call to Prayer was celebrated in February, 1898, in more than 40 countries. Now the student Christian movements have spread to 51 countries, and also to Russian students outside Russia—in Germany, France and the United States.

Jackets Place Only One 2nd In 81-31 Rout

The Carolina gymnasts won their third straight victory last night, conquering Georgia Tech 81-31 in Woollen Gym.

The Tar Heels took all seven possible first places, and enjoyed a comfortable lead during the entire meet.

The Yellow Jackets were unable to outmatch the performers of Coach Bill Meade's team, and captured second place in but one event.

Individual high scorer was Tar Heel co-captain Check Goodin, who won two events and tallied a total of 15 points. Gordon Hudson of Carolina was second in scoring with 10 points.

Otis Hartsell again displayed excellent form in winning the flying rings event. Most improved of the Tar Heel performers was tumbler Dick Hallden, who won his event with ease.

Carolina's next meet will be at West Point this coming Saturday against a formidable Army team.

Scoring by events:

Rope climb—1. Rivera (UNC); 2. Phipps (UNC); 3. Puckett (Tech).

Side horse—1. Hudson (UNC); 2. Bell (UNC); 3. Scott (UNC).

High bar—1. Goodin (UNC); 2. Howard (UNC); 3. Phipps.

Parallel bars—1. Goodin; 2. Weber (Tech), 3. Kasoete (Tech).

Rings—1. Hartsell (UNC); 2. Hudson; 3. Goodin.

Tumbling—1. Brumley (UNC); 2. Williams (UNC); 3. Elder (Tech).

Trampoline—1. Hallden (UNC); 2. Rhoades (UNC); 3. Smith (Tech).

Judges were K. Smith, P. Harrison, and A. Moore.

Monday's Scores

41	Joyner-4	Winston-1	27
27	Kap Sig-3	Delt Psi	25
67	Sig Chi-1	Phi Delt-3	37
65	Sig Chi-2	Zeta Psi-4	32
57	Zeta Psi-2	ATO-4	21
37	Sig Chi-3	Phi Delt-2	20
82	Emerson-1	BVP-1	29
37	Lewis-4	BVP-2	24
51	Beta-1	Kap Sig-1	39
45	Joyner-2	Old East	28
51	PiKA-1	ATO-1	15
75	Chi Psi-1	KA-1	60
76	Pi Kap Phi-2	Beta-3	34
44	Beta-2	PiKA-2	34
63	Phi Gam-2	TEP-2	34
33	Zeta Psi-3	Phi Gam-4	24
27	SAE-3	Kap Sig-2	23
46	Everett-2	Mangum	42
64	Stacy	Lewis-1	24
60	SAE-1	Chi Phi-1	21
61	Phi Kap Sig-3	Phi Gam-1	46

Bevo Francis and his Rio Grande, Ohio, team won number 30 in a row in their most recent outing. Rio Grande beat Cedarville, 104-48, and Bevo hit for 51 points. Francis now has 1,513 points for a fantastic 50.4 average.

Indoor Games

Student tickets for the Southern Conference Indoor Games here February 28 are now on sale at the ticket office in Woollen Gym. Students must present their passbooks to get reserved seats at 75 cents, half the regular price.

The ticket office urges students to get their tickets as soon as possible.

NUMERAL WINNERS

All winners of numerals and certificates during the fall quarter may get them now by seeing Sarge Keller at the equipment room at Woollen Gym.

It's not too early to see us about your Spring and Easter outfit. Now you can choose from our very best selections—Plenty of time to fit you to perfection.

THE Sport SHOP N. COLUMBIA ST.

THE TOWN & CAMPUS

Is

Happy To Announce

That William Lampley, tailor, formerly connected with Jack Lipman is now associated with the store and is set up upstairs above

THE TOWN & CAMPUS

Complete Alterations
Also Dressmaker

Little Tots from One to Nine Choose Books for a Valentine

The Intimate Bookshop

205 E. FRANKLIN ST.
OPEN EVENINGS

AB-SO-LUTELY!

Here's another of our many satisfied customers. He's learned from experience that motoring is easier, safer and more economical when his car is checked regularly and expertly repaired by a long established shop such as ours. Drive up for a check-up, now!

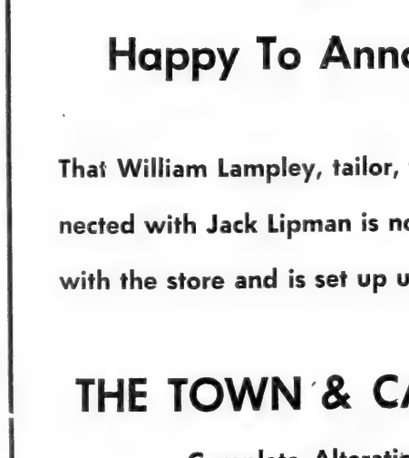
HAZZARD MOTOR CO.
Phone 9-491
CHEVROLET SALES & SERVICE

WHO RATES A VALENTINE BY TELEGRAM?

- The One and Only (to keep it that way)
- Your Whole Sugar List (because it's sound tactics)
- Mom . . . or Pop (for reasons you know better than anyone else)
- Someone Somewhere (a kid sister or brother—or grandma—or Cousin Mehitabel . . . just because they'll like it so much)

send your Valentine greetings the nicest way there is . . .

by Western Union
Telephone—8681
North Columbia Ave.

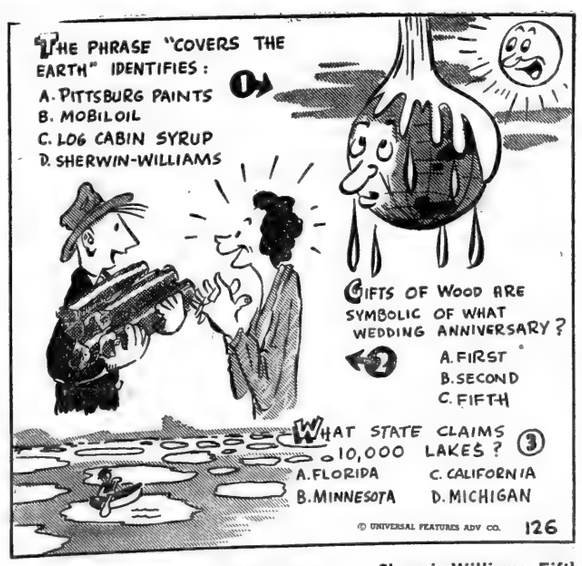


Start the Big Weekend Right!

Our dining room is a fine place to begin the important weekend. Bring that special date out to enjoy our good food, excellently prepared and graciously served.

THE PINES

Raleigh Highway Phone 95539



- TUXEDOS
- FULL DRESS
- DINNER JACKETS
- ACCESSORIES

BILLS MAILED HOME

THE Sport SHOP N. COLUMBIA ST.

DR. QUIZ CONDUCTED BY— Sutton's

We want you to get the right answers . . . Sherwin-Williams, Fifth and Minnesota are correct for the quiz . . . the right place to get fine quality drug goods for every purpose is SUTTON'S DRUG STORE. We also carry a complete line of Cosmetics and Candys for Your Valentine. Also American Greeting Card Valentines.

THE TAR HEEL'S DRUG CENTER Sutton's DRUG STORE Rx SPECIALISTS

COSMETICS—MEN'S TOILETRIES—SCHOOL SUPPLIES
5531—COMPLETE FOUNTAIN SERVICE—JUST ACROSS FRANKLIN

A Southern belle once said to me,
"I'd like to tell you—all
That I smoke Luckies 'cause they're free
And easy on the draw!"
Richard H. Levine, University of Vermont

Nothing-no, nothing-beats better taste and LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!

Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

Ask yourself this question: Why do I smoke?

You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment. And you get enjoyment only from the taste of a cigarette.

Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother! Why? Luckies are made better to taste better. And, what's more, Luckies are made of fine tobacco. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco.

So, for the thing you want most in a cigarette . . . for better taste—for the cleaner, fresher, smoother taste of Lucky Strike . . .

Be Happy—GO LUCKY!

In spelling class we get high grades
Because we plainly see
That better-tasting cigarettes
Spell L.S./M.F.T.
Margaret Johnson, Duquesne University

I went to see the Registrar—
He sent me to the Dean.
The Dean said, "Son, smoke Lucky Strike—
They're Smooth! They're fresh! They're clean!"
William A. Spiegler, Northwestern University

© A. T. Co.

Where's your jingle?

It's easier than you think to make $25 by writing a Lucky Strike jingle like those you see in this ad. Yes, we need jingles—and we pay $25 for every one we use! So send as many as you like to: Happy-Go-Lucky, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y.

PRODUCT OF The American Tobacco Company AMERICA'S LEADING MANUFACTURER OF CIGARETTES

Folk Dancing

Interested students are invited to Tar Heels 'n' Toes, folk dance club, tonight to participate in dancing activities. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock and those interested in attending should contact Ann Nicholson, 305 Carr Dorm, by noon today.

Dean Weaver Speaks At Meeting Of IDC

"If there is a substantial number of men on our campus who feel lost or frustrated, I wish you would look around and find something to occupy and divert these people," Dean Fred Weaver told the Interdormitory Council Monday.

Many representatives voiced agreement with Dean Weaver by appealing to the administration through him for ping-pong tables and other dormitory equipment to give dorm residents something to do in their spare time.

The gist of Dean Weaver's half-hour talk was that he congratulated the IDC representatives on their creditable work and hearing their requests and suggestions for improvements.

On the possibility of additional vending machines in dormitories, DeanWeaver had this to say: "The Dormitory Council voted to give Coca-Cola precedence over other types of vending machines, but we are now being pressed by several other companies and there seems to be no way we can keep them out."

He believes that if two or three more companies are allowed to put machines in the dormitories the situation will get out of hand since modern vending machines dispense a wide variety of items.

Representatives from other dormitories put in requests to Dean Weaver for telephones and booths sufficient to give each floor its own telephone booth.

The IDC also elected two new members to the IDC Court. The new members, elected by acclamation, are Jerry Cook and Linwood Braswell.

Scout Leaders Honored For Service To Boyhood

Boy Scout leaders and their wives will gather in Lenoir Hall tomorrow night at 7 o'clock for the Occoneechee Council's annual dinner to recognize outstanding service to boyhood for 1952.

President Gordon Gray and Chancellor R. B. House will be among the guests who will take part in the program. Hal Rush, administrative assistant to the Chief Scout Executive, will be the principal speaker.

What Goes On Here

WUNC

Today's schedule for WUNC, campus FM radio station:

7 p.m.—Holland Calling.
7:15—UN Story.
7:30—Anyone You Know.
7:45—Famous Belgians.
8—Jeffersonian Heritage.
8:30—Masterworks from France.
9—Concert Favorites.
9:30—Everybody's Business.
10—Local news and coming events.
10:04—Weather.
10:05—Evening Masterworks.
10:35—Program resume and sign off.

Phys Ed Majors

Physical education majors and faculty will meet tomorrow at 5:30 p.m. in upstairs Lenoir Hall.

Bolden Bear

The Order of the Golden Bear will meet at 5 p.m. today at The Shack.

AK Psi

Alpha Kappa Psi will meet at 7 p.m. today at the chapter house.

Contest Bridge Entries Must Be In By Monday

Carolina is one of the 110 colleges which will compete in the 1953 National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament.

Between Feb. 19 and 21, more than 3,000 students will play on their own campuses the hands which have been prepared and mailed to them.

Harry Smith is director of the tournament here. Play will be held Tuesday in Graham Memorial, at 7:30 p.m. All entries must be submitted in writing to the office of Graham Memorial addressed to Smith on or before Monday.

—Recital—

(Continued from page 1)

love poems of Heine.

There also will be numbers each by Handel, Bach, Purcell and the modern English composer Head, and the Cavatina from Gounod's Faust. Especially well-known among these numbers are Handel's "Where E'er You Walk," and Bach's "Thou Art My Joy."

—Death—

(Continued from page 1)

tols flashed. Peter Dromgoole swayed and fell, blood oozing from a wound in his chest.

His second said that as he lay there he cried out that it is terrible to die when life is young and hopes are bright. And, as death drew nearer, he called out the names of his mother and sweetheart.

The surviving rival secured tools and, with the two seconds, buried the newly-dead friend and fellow student under the big rock. Fanny is said to have died of a broken heart the next year.

Whether Peter Dromgoole was shot to death, committed suicide or fled from Chapel Hill will never be known. It is a fact, however, that Peter Dromgoole did come from Virginia to study at Chapel Hill more than a century ago. It is also known that he disappeared in some mysterious fashion and to this day hsa never been heard from.

Gimghoul Castle was founded by an exclusive social group on the Carolina campus, known as the Order of the Gimghouls. Established at the University in 1899, the order lists among its alumni many nationally known figures.

The Order of the Gimghouls has done some research into the matter of Peter Dromgoole, but has fared no better than anyone else in finding the true causes of the student's disappearance.

Woman's Residence Council

The Woman's Residence Council will meet at 4 p.m. today in the Women's Council room, Graham Memorial, to choose the women's orientation chairman.

CLASSIFIEDS

PERSONAL

EVERYMAN—A BOOK FROM the Intimate Bookshop, all gift-wrapped nice and pretty, might melt my heart on St. Valentines Day. Everybiddy. (Chg 1x1)

FOUND 6C

THIS QUARTER'S OUTSTANDING Sundae. Delicious Caramel Toasted Pecan topping over your favorite flavor of Gold Seal Ice Cream. You too can find this sundae at The Dairy Bar. This week's Special—29c.

HELP WANTED 8

MUSICIANS WANTED: ROY COLE Orchestra, Call 9-2858 at mealtime. (1-c3470-3)

SOLVE YOUR LAUNDRY PROBLEMS HERE!
AUTOMATIC . . . . .
Faculty and Students will find this service SANITARY . . .
SAFE . . . ECONOMICAL and SPEEDY
FLUFF DRYERS available RAIN or SHINE
Trained attendant on hand to advise you
We use ELECTRIC OPERATED machines
Join the many people who have used our service since 1947
VILLAGE SELF SERVICE LAUNDRY
402 W. Franklin St. Telephone 9-5766

For your Valentine
Candy
and other Valentine specialties from Sutton's. We gift-wrap and package for mailing.
Sutton's
DRUG STORE

If any unexpected occasion comes up and your best suit needs cleaning in a hurry.
FORGET IT!
Nu-Way Cleaners has the answer to all your cleaning problems. All you do is pick up the phone, dial 9-3498 and ask for the free pickup and delivery service. Your clothes will receive expert cleaning care and be returned within 24 hours if requested. So if you're in a hurry, hurry and call Nu-Way Cleaners.
NU-WAY CLEANER
"WE MEAN—WE CLEAN"
N. Graham St.—Phone 9-3498

On Valentine's Day
Give
This is my Beloved
A bit on the torrid side, but it makes wonderful two-some reading and the title so exactly expresses one's Valentine sentiments.
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

take the course in ADVANCED RECORD PLEASURE buy a
V-M tri-o-matic®
PHONOGRAPH
Earn "Extra Credits" from your friends.
Enjoy your favorite music on records of any size or speed. V-M tri-o-matic phonographs play them all, automatically. Patented tri-o-matic spindle protects your records by lowering them gently to spindle shelf. Feather-light dual-needle tone arm makes records last longer, helps top quality V-M speakers and amplifiers provide faithful tone reproduction. Note V-M's Luxury Styling, and how easy it is to carry the light, compact V-M portables. V-M Corporation, Benton Harbor, Mich.
V-M tri-o-matic 985 portable phonograph featuring Siesta Switch that turns off everything (amplifier too!) after last record—Plus Lazy-Lite, lets you reject records without lifting lid. Superb speaker. $79.95*
V-M 45 Spindle accessory. $2.95
V-M tri-o-speed 150 portable phonograph (Manual) $49.95*
*Slightly higher in the west.
EYE, TRY, BUY a V-M PHONOGRAPH!
SEE YOUR V-M DEALER TODAY

Call Out the Riot Squad!
DEAN JERRY
MARTIN AND LEWIS
Are Back in Town!
in HAL WALLIS' Production
THE STOOGE
Co-starring (THAT'S MY BOY) EDDIE MAYEHOFF • MARION MARSHALL POLLY BERGEN OPENS TODAY
Carolina
Plus
Color Cartoon
Latest News

Tuxedos For Rent
Varley's
MEN'S SHOP
Phone 6291

A GREAT BEST-SELLING NOVEL BECOMES AN IMPASSIONED MOTION PICTURE!
"Cry, the beloved Country"
Filmed where it was lived . . . in Africa. From the book by Alan Paton
with CANADA LEE • CHARLES CARSON • Sidney Poitier
Joyce Carey • Screenplay by Alan Paton • Produced and Directed by Zoltan Korda • A Zoltan Korda-Alan Paton Production • A London Films Presentation
A Lopert Films Distributing Corp. Release
Distributed thru United Artists
T-O-D-A-Y
Varsity

Last Of Week SALE
Group of Shirts $1.95
OXFORD BUTTON-DOWNS
Group of Cashmere
BLEND SWEATERS
$9.95
One Group of
REPP TIES
$1.49
Big Savings On
SLACKS
Some At $8.95
HARRIS TWEED
TOPCOATS
WERE $65.00
Now $49.00
ARGYLE SOX
$2.69
AFTER-SIX
TUXEDOES . . . $39.50
Julian's College Shop

Street scene in Tehachapi after last July's earthquake.

. . . EARTHQUAKE . . .

In the predawn of last July 21, the most severe California earthquake since 1906 struck the small town of Tehachapi.

Walls were collapsing, buildings were folding. The town's telephone office shook to its foundation. But the night operator remained at her switchboard until it went dead. Main cables to the office were pulled to the ground when a nearby wall caved in.

This was at 4:50 A.M.

By 8:30 A.M. telephones were set up on the edge of town for use by the Red Cross and other emergency workers.

By late afternoon, the telephone switchboard was working. Tehachapi residents were able to contact friends and relatives concerned about their safety.

By 9 P.M. two TV stations were sending live telecasts of the damage. Telephone men had established a radio-relay system in less than 12 hours.

It was a typical disaster—brutal and unannounced. But telephone men were prepared. They quickly restored communication when it was needed most. They demonstrated the resourcefulness and technical skill typical of telephone people.

These are some of the qualities we seek in the college graduates we hire. Your Placement Officer can give you details about opportunities for employment in the Bell System. Or write to American Telephone and Telegraph Company, College Relations Section, 195 Broadway, New York 7, New York, for the booklet, "Looking Ahead."

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

WEATHER
Mostly cloudy and mild with 62 high. yesterday's high, 53; low, 47.

The Daily Tar Heel

DUCATS
An ode about a pastor appears on p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 93 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

GEN. JAMES A. VAN FLEET (right) says goodbye to members of the Korean 15th Division after he and his successor, Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor (waving) reviewed the outfit during Van Fleet's formal farewell to his men. Van Fleet, who has commanded the U. S. Eighth Army in Korea for more than two years, told his men that the UN troops had defeated the enemy in 1951, but failed to take advantage of the situation.—NEA Telephoto.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON—The Eisenhower administration may ask U. S. Allies to join in an embargo on all shipments to Red China as an alternative to proposals for a risky naval blockade. This move was among those proposed to the National Security Council yesterday. One Republican official said that a survey has indicated it probably would be necessary for the United States to go it alone in any attempt to blockade the China coast and thus cut off shipments of goods to the Communists.

★

TOKYO — Gen. James A. Van Fleet, now a retired soldier but still speaking as a fighting man, said yesterday the United Nations could launch an offensive and break the military deadlock in Korea. He pointed out that "the deadlock is one of our choosing and not imposed by the enemy." Meanwhile, Lt. Gen. Maxwell Taylor formally took over as commander of UN troops which were bogged down along the 155 mile from in rain and snow.

★

NEW YORK—The press, barred by the presiding judge from the vice trial of Pat Ward and Minot Jelke, has been getting much of its information from Jelke's lawyer. Yesterday, Miss Ward's lawyer had this to say: "If Jalke's lawyer doesn't stop giving out quotes outside the court room . . . (I too will start talking and paint) a diabolical picture of monstrosity so that a certain person won't find a corner of the globe to live in." The judge in his ruling said it was OK for newsmen to get whatever they could outside of the court room.

★

WASHINGTON — Gordon Dean revealed yesterday he plans to retire as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission when his term expires June 30. The former Duke University professor said his decision to step out was not connected with the change in administration. "Politics has nothing to do with it," he said. He said his $20,000-a-year job as chairman represented some financial "sacrifice" and indicated he is eager for the sake of his family to return to a higher paid job. He plans to return to Washington as a lawyer.

★

WASHINGTON—Chairman Harold H. Velde said yesterday the House Un-American Activities Committee has subpenaed witnesses for public hearings next week on Communist infiltration of college and universities. The witnesses, not identified by Velde, will testify Feb. 18 and 19. Meanwhile, Sen. Willis Smith (D-NC) said the city of New York should fire four municipal college attaches who refused to tell a Senate subcommittee whether they were Communists.

Late Permission

Coeds have 2 a.m. permission for Friday night's Ray Anthony dance.

The announcement was made yesterday by the Dean of Women's office and by the Women's Residence Council.

Negro Funds Plea Made To Solons

RALEIGH, Feb. 11. (Special)—W. D. Carmichael Jr., controller of the University of North Carolina, told the Joint Appropriations Committee yesterday that the fund request for North Carolina College at Durham "transcends in importance" the requests of any other state institutions.

The college in Durham asked for an increase of $3,783,172 for permanent improvements and an additional $112,600 to cover maintenance costs for a two-year period. The funds would be used to improve facilities for both under graduates and graduates.

Dr. Alfonso Elder, president of the Negro college, said that a graduate program in education had been instituted at the request of the University in Chapel Hill to "relieve the university from pressure of law suits demanding the admission of Negroes."

UNC agreed to support the North Carolina College in its budget requests when the college expanded its graduate program in education.

Carmichael told the committee that he was not only appealing to their sense of justice or sense of decency, but to their "good old North Carolina common sense" to approve the requests.

The permanent improvements would be made in buildings to house the departments of education, commerce and biology; a dorm for graduate women; a student union, and the purchase of land.

Dr. Elder stated that the maintenance funds would meet the need for a college physician, research and library personnel.

Dr. Elder said committees from both institutions had worked together in "a spirit of co-operation and confidence" as a means of solving the problems of people rather than resorting to "methods of coercion."

Lower Prices To Students For Ice Show

Students attending the "Ice Capades of 1953" performance Monday may obtain chartered bus service to the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum by leaving their name at the Graham Memorial main office. Round trip fare is $1.55.

Reduced rates have been offered UNC students attending the Monday night performance. The rates are as follows: $3 tickets will be $2, $2.50 tickets will be $2, $2 tickets will be $1.50 and $1.50 tickets will be $1. Tickets may be ordered in the main office of Graham Memorial between 9 a.m. and 11 p.m. today through Friday.

One of the 20 colorful acts is an adaptation of the Broadway musical hit, "Brigadoon," featuring Donna Atwood and Bobby Specht.

In addition to Brigadoon, other productions in the Ice Capades include Temple of Buddha, Okohoma, Kaptivating Kitchen Kapers, Air de Ballet, Land of Lilipops, Ladies of the Evening, Lamps for M'Lady and Ice Capades Waltz.

UNC Featured In Magazine's Current Issue

The University is featured in the current issue of the North Carolina Historical Review.

On the cover of the 154-page issue is a campus scene of the 1840's taken frmo a print in the North Carolina collection of the UNC Library. The issue is dated January, 1953.

Two UNC students, John L. Sanders, second-year law student, and Hugh F. Rankin, a graduate student in history, are contributors to this issue of the quarterly magazine published by the North Carolina State Department of Archives and History.

Sanders, former president of the UNC student body, is editor of "The Journal of Ruffin Writ Tomlinson," a student at the University who kept a diary of the events during his senior year at Chapel Hill, 1841-42. Part two of this diary will be published in the April Review.

Rankin, who holds a John Motley Morehead fellowship, is author of "The Moore's Creek Bridge Campaign, 1776," which tells the bcakground and the story of the victory which dashed Tory hopes in North Carolina during the early days of the Revolution.

Dr. Christopher Crittenden, di-

(See REVIEW, page 3)

Red Geranium

Williams Due Here March 7

When Emlyn Williams, the noted British playwright and stage and film star ,appears as Charles Dickens in Memorial Hall March 7, he will speak approrimately 14,000 words and portray some 40 different characters in what is said to be the most diversified performance of this era.

The London Daily Express critic commented: "How tame a conventional three-act with eight characters will seem after this!"

Following highly successful London and Broadway engagements, Williams will come to Chapel Hill under the sponsorship of the Carolina Playmakers.

Author of "Night Must Fall" and "The Corn is Green," in which he starred in both stage and screen productions, Williams will give a program of scenes from the famous novels and stories of Dickens. It will include scenes from "Our Mutual Friend," "Dombey and Son," "Pickwick Papers," "Christmas Stories" and "A Tale of Two Cities."

Dickens himself was famous for his readings. Like the author, Williams will appear on stage with a fantail beard, frock coat, white gloves and the inevitable red geranium.

He will perform, standing behind a replica of the Dickens 'Reading' desk, specially constructed so that the audience can see the interpretive movements of the hands and feet.

It was in 1868 that Dickens scored a spectacular triumph at Steinway Hall, set the city agog by reading and re-creating characters from his own novels.

Williams, who says he has loved Dickens since childhood, spent a

(See WILLIAMS, page 3)

TV Plans Made In Raleigh Today

An eight-station educational television network for North Carolina, with Chapel Hill designated as one of the broadcast sites, will go into a formal planning stage today in Raleigh.

The State Educational Radio and Television Commission, formed by the Legislature Jan. 15, will hold a public hearing at 2:30 in the Senate Chamber. Representing the University will be President Gordon Gray, Earl Wynn and Robert Schenkkan, the latter two from the Communications Center.

The eight designated cities — Winston-Salem, Asheville, Chapel Hill, Charlotte, Durham, Greensboro, Raleigh and Wilmington — will be represented by television committees appointed by their mayors.

Television productions from the University have been discussed since last June when Gray held a two-day conference here with educators, State budget makers and trustees "to examine present and potential educational uses of television."

In that conference, television was described as "the most effective teaching tool ever invented."

The Federal Communications Commission placed a deadline on applications for the educational channels. The cities or institutions must apply before June 2 this year, or the channels will be made available for commercial use.

In this connection Gray said, "The State cannot afford to pass up such a significant opportunity by default."

SUAB Offers Dividend For Movie Tonight

Ticket holders to the current SUAB film series will collect a dividend this evening.

Following the film presentation, Marjorie Still, who is associated with the University Music Department, will offer a program of selections contemporary to the Mozart period at a reception in the Graham Memorial main lounge.

"The Marriage Of Figaro" is the feature film slated for 8:30 in Gerrard Hall. It is the ony complete version of the Mozart opera on film and stars Erna Berger, Tiana Lemnitz, Margarete Kose and Eugen Fuchs.

Series tickets will be available at the door for $1.25. Other films in the series are "M" and "Carnival in Flanders."

Flashbulbs And Horns

Bunny Hoppers May Make Life Magazine

Students taking in the Germans this weekend will dance to the music of Ray Anthony and may end up in Life magazine.

Anthony's publicity man yesterday notified Bryant Hare, president of the German Club, that Life planned to send a photographer for the weekend. The magazine has planned a feature story around Anthony, according to the publicist, but has not yet shot the dance pictures to run with the layout.

Life has taken in several other student functions here in recent years but none of them have been published. Life's editorial assignment policy sends men out each week to cover events and the material for an issue is chosen from that submitted by the reporters and photographers.

Hare said he felt that "we have a good chance to make it this time." He encouraged those who plan to attend to learn the bunny hop (illustration below).

The German Club is composed of 13 eampus social fraternities and has three big dances a year, one in each quarter. This weekend it has a dance from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Friday, an afternoon concert Saturday and another dance that night from 8 o'clock until midnight.

HE DIDN'T ORIGINATE IT, but he certainly revived it. We refer to the "Bunny Hop" by Ray Anthony and his band. The above sketch illustrates the simple steps involved, and Anthony has written the German Club he hopes to see a number of students who can dance it. Anthony arrives tomorrow for a dance that night, followed by a concert and dance on Saturday.

Logan Wilson Outlines Policy For Longhorns

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 11—(Special)—Dr. Logan Wilson took over the presidency of Texas University here and offered a description of himself and his policies to come.

"I'm an open-minded conservative," the former University of North Carolina academic provost said. He addressed a crowd of faculty and students estimated at 2,000 persons.

". . . If all existing subjects were taught and studied more enthusiastically and significantly there would be fewer demands for sweeping curricular innovations," he said.

The new president regards students as a "privileged group" because they "have here at (their) disposal virtually all the advantages a small college has to offer, plus the special advantages of a large institution unmatched anywhere in the region for its libraries and laboratories, the range and depth of its course offerings, and the distinction of its faculty.

Next in importance, he ranked the Texas faculty. He voiced apprehension over the low university salary scale. "In my opinion, teaching is one of the highest and least materially rewarded of all occupations, and I want to emphasize that I shall join efforts . . . in trying to better the low salary scale here."

Dr. Wilson had some humor for his audience, too. "I have no favored scheme for numanizing the scientists or Simonizing the humanists."

"There is not single road to balance and perspective. I think we have to guard against the loss of liberal learning through over-specialization and vocationalism, as well as the inculcation of more knowledge about how to get things done than about which things are worth doing," he said.

Campus Gives $655.25 For Dimes Drive

A total of $655.25 was raised on the campus for the 1953 March of Dimes, according to Lyman Ormond, chairman of the drive.

A breakdown shows that the fraternities contributed a total of $429.05; the sororities, $52.10, and the dormitories, $174.05.

Highest average contribution among the sororities came from Pi Beta Phi. Zeta Beta Tau led the fraternities in average contributions and Ruffin was out in front among the dormitories. Each group will receive movie passes to the Carolina Theater as prizes.

Teachers Needed

The Marines need elementary teachers.

Application blanks for the position of teacher are available at the post office here. The job pays $4,205 and indefinite appointments in the federal service at the U. S. Barracks, Camp Lejeune will be made.

Solon Plan For Switch Up Tonight

PB Head Walt Dear Against Changes To 'Limit Board'

By Louis Kraar

There may be some changes made by the Legislature tonight.

The changes are in the form of a constitutional amendment to change the time of election of Publications Board members.

The Publications Board is the publishing and policy-forming agency for The Daily Tar Heel and the Yackety-Yack. It has complete financial control over the publications and approves all those appointed to paid positions.

The switch, which was originally devised to allow for experienced members on the board at all times. has been embellished with a few amendments.

They are: 1. The editors-in-chiefs and business managers of the publications shall not be voting members of the board: 2. The member which is selected by Legislature shall be the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

The amendments, which were added by the Ways and Means Committee, brought the following statement from Publications Board Chairman Walt Dear:

"The proposed bill would restrict the people who know most about the affairs of publications. The board needs experienced personnel and oftimes the business managers and the editors have been the only ones to express themselves and vote at the meetings.

"An agency supervising over $40,000 in student fees should have an active and interested membership. The editors and the business managers have provided that kind of interest.'

The change would also put the secretary-treasurer of the student body on the board.

President Ham Horton suggested that the secretary-treasurer be placed on the Publications Board in his state of the campus talk to Legislature early this quarter. He had no further comments on the bill yeseterday.

A request for $1,600, virtually all the funds left in the legislative till, for the junior and senior class party will be discussed. The bill, which was introduced by Jack Stilwell (UP) last week, will be the center of debate, according to some campus politicians.

Other bills on the floor include a resolution opposing the use of Book Exchange profits for athletic scholarships, and a bill to have the executive committee appoint a committee to negotiate with the Physical Education Department to allow the infirmary dispensary at Woollen Gym to give medical excuses.

The meeting is slated for 7:15.

Five Germans Give Views On America Today

Five German students here on a student government team sponsored by the U. S. State Department will give their impressions and criticisms of American freedom at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the YWCA lounge.

Sponsored by the Lazy Literates Committee, the panel discussion will feature experiences of the German students as they examined life in an American university, with special emphasis on student government.

All the members are representatives of Goettingen University in West Germany. They are Martha Shaeffer, Helmuth Deicher, Eberhard Kindiger, Hans-Jurgen Lambers and Otto Vehrenkamp.

Ring Sale

The Order of the Grail will conduct a Senior Class ring sale in the Y lobby this afternoon from 2 o'clock until 4:30.

Grail representatives will have samples of the rings available.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. — Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. P. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell, Ned Whitmore.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Everett Parker

It's In The Book

An Epistle to the Scribes and the Pharisees
Written on the day before a Crucifixion.

Lest anyone doesn't know, the following pertains to the renewed demand made by the Judicial Commission of Orange Presbytery that the Rev. Charles M. Jones resign from the local Presbyterian Church pulpit.

O Scribes and Pharisees!
Ye who know the law in word
But not in meaning,
In mind but no in heart . . .
Prepare to rejoice in your wickedness
Whose evil fruit at last you harvest.

Make the Cross of finest wood,
For on the morrow, a fine man
Will stand with it. Glaze it
With scent and fragrant theology
Lest even yourselves be unable
To abide the stench.

O hapless Holy Office
So out of place and out of time,
There is Torquemeda on your breath,
There is Servetus in your eye,
And your clothing is smutty
With Geneva's finest burnings.

O bride of Calvin,
And mistress of Capitalism,
What outward sign of inward grace
Is this folly which you perpetrate?
Is it Christ or John Knox who leads you?
Failing respect, must you be a fool?

O childish, sure, elected ones!
Westphalia lies many years behind us.
(Or have you looked at the Calendar?)
You have lost your conscience.
You are now losing your soul.
You have remaining only your bigotry.

Is there a man who has scrificed more
For Christ (if not for Calvin)?
Is there one who is more loved
By his flock (Including you, brethren)?
Is there one whose life is simpler
And purer? Then let that man cast the stone.

Yes. You are taking the best among you.
(Perhaps you are envious?)
You hide your true reasons for this crime
Behind pretty theological claptrap.
Are you happy that the deed is nearly done?
Or is there anxiety in your visecera?

Are you sure that this man is not of the Elect?
Could it be, that you, not he, will burn?
And burn? And burn? And burn?
May ye have this on what passes
For your conscience
For all time.

Yes. Think of his good wife
And their children
And their happy home
And his devoted flock
And his good works among men
And his honesty.

Yes. When you try to sleep at night
May you be bloated with guilt.
May his ruined life stay before you.
May your cup run over.
May you seek forgiveness
And find it not.

And in years to come
When you think upon this folly,
May those who stand before you
And see your sanctimonious smile;
May they revile you, and pity you,
Forever and ever. A Men.

"Liberals play cricket, Tories play golf and Socialists go on the Third Programme," declared a distinguished music critic and cricket writer recently in the Varsity, student paper at England's Cambridge university. "I see absolutely no point in going to a university merely to read. Those people who want to spend their whole time working would do far better to read at home. Summing up his hedonistic philosophy: ". . . the really important thing is to enjoy yourself and get as much out of life as possible."

Ken Barton

N. S. A.

First of all, what is the N.S.A.? It is a national federation of more than 300 college and university student governments, representing approximately 800,000 students. It has a three-fold program:

1) As a service organization for student governments;

2) As a national student voice for American students on non-partisan political matters that affect students as students; and

3) As a national student voice for United States students abroad, helping to create a better international student understanding and telling the story of the USA to offset Communist propaganda.

The NSA governing body is its annual Congress, with delegates from member institutions based on the student population .It has 20 regional areas which help to make contacts between local and national levels and, in addition, serve to draw together student leaders in their respective areas.

Critics, and, in some cases vigorous opponents, have dogged NSA's steps but it has moved ahead despite such critics, limited finances, short-sighted administrators or student groups, and alarmed lovers of the status quo.

It is understandable that certain types of administrators would oppose such an "outside" organization, because where students are stimulated to come to grips with vital issues of the day, they will not be so easily controlled.

It is also understandable that some fraternity leaders have been violently opposed to NSA's efforts to eliminate discriminate clauses from campus organizations. It is to the praise of Twentieth Century fraternity leadership that so many from those ranks now are in the forefront of NSA's program and are supporting its stand against all forms of discrimination against minorities.

If your student government doesn't affiliate, what then? Well, you reap the reward of the isolationists. You cut yourself off from the surging movement of students across the nation and the world. You will not hurt NSA, but your college will lose much. You may have more "peace" but it is doubtful if you will lead your campus and its students to face today's issues as they ought to be facing them.

But you want to know NSA's recommendations and affiliations. Careless charges have claimed that the House Un-American Activities Committee has given NSA an unfavorable listing, but this is not true. On the contrary, it has vital relations with UNESCO, with the World Student Service Fund with the International Coordinating Secretariat which is made up of non-communist national student unions; it has full membership in the National Education Association; it is the only student organization holding full constituent membership in the American Council of Education. Its credentials are A-1.

NSA has had plenty of difficulties in its early years, but its potential service is beyond calcuation. In our judgment, college administrators, professors and student leaders will do well to become enthusiastic proponents of affiliation.

Sonnet

By Thor Leif

Why don't I love you? Let me tell you this!
'twas you, Ex-Love, out in the pale moonlight
Who pulled away from me and said I might
Not join you in a tender lover's kiss.
It would have meant so much toward tender bliss;
I'm sure. Perhaps you sensed that I may bite
Your lips in passion; Maybe you were right.
Discarded Love, no longer you I miss.
I've found a truer Love—a yielding heart—
A precious girl. She turns her bright face up
Then lets her moistened lips just slightly part
So mine can sip from Nature's dainty cup
That luscious wine—the sweet from my sweetheart.
So t'Hell with you! On these fair lips I" sup!

"Rest Assured I've Got Europe Worried"

Drew Pearson

The Washington

Merry-Go-Round

BERLIN—The most important question in the world today is what's happening behind the iron curtain?

What's the reason for the purges, the indirect attacks on certain Russian leaders, the wave of anti-Semitism, the flood of political refugees daily streaming across the border at Berlin? Upon the answer to this puzzle depends the answer to the question of peace or war and here in Berlin, the only place where there is a gap in the iron curtain, is the best place to get it.

My own diagnosis from talking to those who have been behind the iron curtain and to intelligence experts follows:

1. Some parts of the overexpanded Soviet Union are gorged from too much conquest and are on the brink of revolution today. Various other areas in the Soviet orbit are seething with unrest, and the Red leaders in the Kremlin need scapegoats. Hence the purges and pogroms.

2. On the face of things, Russia is a long way from war and is in no position to wage it. However, dictators sometimes start war to divert attention from their own failures. That is the greatest danger in Europe today.

To understand what is happening in the Soviet Union you have to remember that there are only about 40,000,000 Russians in the U.S.S.R. and the over-all policy of the Kremlin is to operate and to control the other parts of the Soviet zones—from Mongolia to Czechoslovakia and from Turkestan to Poland—for the sole benefit of these 40,000,000 Russions.

Thus, while the forty millions around Moscow have never had it so good, the other diverse and nationally minded millions—who are expected to raise more crops, to build more factories, to lay more railroad lines and to support the Soviet war machine—are restless and rebellious. That is why a new word has been coined and added to the already long list of isms and for which one can now be tried for treason — nationalism. That ism was among the charges made against Vladimir Clementis and some of the other Czech leaders. They put Czechoslovakia ahead of the Soviet Union. Deputy Premier Rudof Slansky, on the other hand, was convicted of leftism. He carried the doctrine of communism too far to the left.

Stewpot

Re: Tarnation

By Dorman Cordell

The second issue of this year's Tarnation has finally seen the light of day, and is somewhat of an improvement over the last issue, if that's anything. In fact, what there is of it might be called at least as good as the average college humor magazine.

Thanks to Jerry McMahon, the cover is a thing of beauty and a joy forever. "The Slob," Jerry's cover creation, should provoke chuckles for several days.

If one can wade through the first five pages, which contain one or two fairly good jokes, and a number which were a scream in Grandfather's day, he will find a story by the campus Drew Pearson, Louis Kraar.

Kraar's story, proclaimed "Runyonese" by the editors, is supposed to be a behind-the-scenes story on the campus politicos, and will probably be read avidly by all the publicity-hungry student government members, who seem always to be happy to see anything in print which might even slightly pertain to them.

The kiddie's section of Tarnation is just about the greatest, even though Stan Smith's "All the Gnus that's Fit to Print" is pilfered from a national cartoon that appeared about 20 or 30 years ago. Of course, it might be that it's old enough by now that nobody has seen it before.

But back to the kiddie's section—the book and movie reviews are really wonderful, probably because they hit the professional reviewers right where it hurts.

Another good feature, somewhat on the order of "Foo" magazine, is the comic strip, "Fig" Newton, Boy Physicist.

Flipping on through the 24-page magazine, one finds more profiles of folks in South Building, but this issue's aren't nearly so good as those in the first issue.

And everybody could get a kick out of "Campus Arousal," including the society editor of a certain campus daily.

If the Tarnation staff improves as much on each issue as it did on this second issue, it may have a completely humorous humor magazine some of these days.

John Gibson

Pulque

Mountains and Molehills

It is fun to write articles and letters-to-the-editor for the Daily Tar Heel which criticize the administration, trustees, and alumni of the University. It is more than fun, since such action gives a student added prestige among his fellows. However, this practice of unthinking attack has become so prevalent lately that it threatens to distort the true issues under consideration. I refer specifically to the matter of athletic scholarships, but it holds for broader issues. Students should realize in the first place, that the money they pay to the University represents only a small part of the total cost of their reduction. Neither do the state taxes pay all the costs, or provide all the facilities. Every student in this school is on a scholarship ,though few realize it, and fewer still will acknowledge the fact. The alumni who are so roundly criticized for supporting athletes also help pay for the buildings in which we study and the dormitories in which we live. Though considerable sums of money go to support "athletics" it in no way approaches the sums given for academic matters.

And while we are talking about athletics, how many students would be happy in a school in which athletics were relegated to a very inferior position? The very same students who complain the most about the money going to athletes, are the ones who last fall, and the fall before that, led the forces which would "revitalize" football at UNC. Last week there was an editorial in the Tar Heel about athletic scholarships. This week there was an editorial about the fact that students who wanted to could not get tickets to a basketball game, because it was a sell-out. It is funny that so few people see the connection.

The problem facing this school, and others like it, is not so much "de-emphasizing" atnletics, as it is "re-emphasizing other aspects of college education that have gotten away from us. The inequity in the system comes not from giving aid to certain persons because they are physically more adept than others, but from the fact that in many colleges these persons, once admitted, are not required to maintain the general standards of the University. One cannot expect the average student, athlete or non-athlete, to be a straight A student. The curve grading systems prevents all but a small percentage of students from reaching that questionably desirable goal. One can and should expect, however, the average student to fulfill the basic requirements of the University, with out special considerations. In so far as certain students are granted special privileges in this respect, then the system is unfair and is inconsistent with what I understand to be the goals of education.

The expose, if there must be one, shoud not be directed at the amount of money going to certain students, but to what kinds of special treatment, if any, these students receive. A member of the alumni has every right to give money to help any kind of student that he wishes ,be he athletic, scholar, or what have you. No member of the alumni, however, has the right to expect that once such help is given, the recipient has the right to preferential treatment of any kind.

Let us turn our attention, then, toward the things we can add to the University to make it better, rather than the things we can take away.

Louis Kraar

Party Line

Spring Fever

"Sex and Free Love."

That was the name of it. Everyone in the dorms grabbed one of the mimeographed sheets with the magnetic title. As they did, this reporter realized the spring campaign had more than started.

"Sex and Free Love," a sheet explaining the UP reorganization, and "Mr. Chairman," the weekly SP handout, were the weapons. Through them, both parties were exchanging their ideas of how student government should or should not be run.

The catchy title of the UP sheet was the only nonpolitical writing on it. Ditto for SP's sheet, which is usually embellished with editorial cartoons. Spring and political pamphlets are in the air. And as O. Henry said, "A straw vote shows only which way the hot air blows."

MORE N.S.A.: Latest NSA rumor is that pro-NSA'ers are starting a move to make the local chairman an elected officer along with the president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer. Chances are the change will be proposed in Legislature soon.

FIRST CHOICE: The Student Party will pick their presidential candidate next Monday night. Ken Penegar is the logical and expected choice. After he is elected, Student Party workers hint that a vigorous campaign will begin.

ALSO RUNNING: Don Geiger and Gene Cook will probably be Student Party choices for secretary-treasurer and vice-president respectively.

ANTI-CLIMAX: Legislature tonight is expected to be as lively as last week. Ed Stevens' one man show in "breaking party lines" has still got campus politicians talking. And some UP's balking.

POUNDING THE BEAT: Bob Gorham (UP) much talked about as presidential pick . . . Tom McDonald (UP) telling them exactly how he feels about NSA in Legislature . . . and what happened to direct answers from politicians.

WORD FOR TODAY: Alexander Pope once wrote, "Party is the madness of many for the gain of a few." Let's hope this campus is an exception.

JV Cagers To Meet William & Mary Here Tonight

Down In Front

by Biff Roberts

Feelin' Mighty Low

IT WOULD HAVE been much more enjoyable this past weekend if Duke and NYU had sent ICC's. But unfortunately for Frank McGuire and his Tar Heels, the Blue Devils and the Violets, no kin to the shrinking variety, came to Woollen Gym prepared for a big time. They had the fun but we were left with the hangover.

The losses to Duke and NYU deflated a lot of ethereal hopes which hung over Woollen Gym before the weekend and also ran our losing streak to three games, the first being that over-time debaucle to Richmond last Tuesday night. The losses, needless to say, were somewhat demoralizing and certainly punctured that 12th-in-the-nation ranking we held awhile back.

But even more demoralizing than losing the two games was the way in which we lost them. We gave the Duke game away with excessive fouls, some of which seemed needless and intentional. Both Vince Grimaldi and Al Lifson got too carried away with the game. Whether they fouled as badly as they did in the final period because they were trying hard to win or because they were mad because they were getting beat is a matter of opinion. It seemed to me that their efforts were more intentional than not and certainly were uncalled for.

Un-Holier Than Thou

EVEN MORE APPALLING than any conduct of the players was the conduct of some of the Carolina fanatics. I thought I was in the Mooseleum at Cow College when Bill Reigel fouled out of the Duke game. Reigel, in my opinion, is one of the best players in the Southern Conference and in all the games I have seen him play appeared to be well-conducted on the floor. That's why I was burned when the handkerchief-waiving and cat-calling ushered him from the floor when he was waived on fouls. That's the kind of conduct we complain about when we go over to State, or Duke, or Wake Forest. I always felt that we were above most of that over here. If you can't look at it ethically then try to think what it's going to be like when we play at Wake Forest and Duke. Seeing how we treat them here is directly proportionate to the way in which we get treated over there—and if that's the way it's going to be then we're in for a hell of a time of it.

Officials vs. Players Un-Holier Than Thou

THE BOOING OF OFFICIALS and be-moaning their decisions is a natural reaction and something you'll never be able to cure—despite the efforts of idealistic sport reformers. When you see a man call one wrong directly in front of your eyes you can't help but cry. That it's natural for a man to make mistakes is not brought into consideration at the time. BUT, and this makes the difference, once the member of the opposing team has gone to the foul line to shoot the "mis-called" foul, it's time to keep quiet. The man shooting the foul isn't the one who called it and if the official's decision was a bum one, nine chances out of ten the boy getting the shot knows it. A man at the foul line is due every consideration—and consideration includes being quiet while he's shooting. This idea of respect to foul foul-shooters also concerns the problem of what it will be like when we play at Duke and Wake Forest. The cat-calling and handkerchief waving was bad enough at State in the large Coliseum. In a small gym like Wake's Gore Gymnasium it's a home team's most lethal weapon.

So Be It

IT'S NOT A QUESTION OF trying to act like pansies at a social tea. But there are times when a line must be drawn I yelled continuously at both games and at times during the Duke game wished that the Mills Brothers were back on the radio. But there's no sense venting your wrath on innocent players.

The kicking of the ball by a Carolina rooter from one end of the other was another piece of gross mis-conduct. An official can call a technical foul on the home crowd for any foolishness like that attempted field goal. In a game as close as the Duke game converted technical foul could make a lot of difference.

All of which brings us down to the foulest sin of the weekend—the tossing of the firecracker under the stands in the final seconds of the NYU game. Fortunately, it was one of our team members getting ready to make a free throw. If it had been an NYU player, with his team a point or two behind, there could have been some mighty hard feelings. Luckily it seemed to bother everybody but Jippy Carter, who was attempting (and made) the free throw. Still it was as asinine movement to be pulled around here for awhile. All I can recommend for the juvenile joker who tossed it is a swift kick in the flask.

Monogram Club To Initiate Fall Letter Winners Tonight

The Monogram Club will hold its initiation of new members tonight at 7:00 in the club room.

Coaches Carl Snavely, Al Moore and Dale Ranson will award certificates to the letter winners in football, soccer and cross country, and initiation into the club will follow immediately after.

Club president Harry Pawlik urged that all new letter winners and old members attend. Former letter winners are asked to wear their sweaters.

The fall letter winners are:

Football

Thomas J. Adler, Will Alexander, Ralph Beaver, Doug Bruton, Leonard Bullock, Jack Cooke, Harold Davidson, J. C. DeWeese, Thad Eure Jr., George Foti, Francis Fredere, Will Frye, John Gaylord, Connie Gravitte, Miles Gregory.

Tom Higgins, Paul Hursh, Ken Keller, Bill Kirkman, Dick Kocornik, Dick Lackey, John Lambert, Ernie Liberati, Albert Long, Dan Mainer, Steve Marcinko, Don McCormick, Jim McCreedy, Charles Mehra, Dave Mullens.

Jimmy Neville, Marshall Newman, George Norris, Steve Opitz, Jimmy Parker, Ed Patterson, Chal Peoples, Charles Ridenhour, Junior Sidwell, Bud Wallace, George Warren, Benny Walser, Bob White, Billy Williams, Flo Worrell, Ken Yarborough, Bob Lingerfeldt (manager).

Cross Country

Charles Higgins, George McGehee, Albert Marx, Boyd Newman, Morris Osbourne, Edward Vogel, Bob Webb, Don Wright, Eugene Blanton (manager).

Soccer

Paul Barnes, Rowland Burnstan, Dave Cole, Fletcher Green, II, Clarence Edward Greenway, Oliver W. Hamilton, Jr., Tommy Hokins, Barry Kalb, Louis Patseavouras, Drew Patterson, Harry Pawlik, Rennie Randolph, Gerry Russell, Ben Tison, Rawleigh Tremain, James Younts, Walter Hooper (manager).

Wrestlers Meet State Friday

Coach Sam Barnes' Tar Heel wrestlers, after a disastrous week of play which saw them lose to West Virginia and to VPI, are now working hard preparing for the N .C. State match to be played in Raleigh tomorrow afternoon.

Thus far this season the team has been led by captain Eddie Haines, who wrestles in the 137 pound class and Miles Gregory, who has been improving since the beginning of the season. Gregdry, a junior from Halifax starred for the freshman squad before being inducted into the Marines three years ago.

The team record thus far this season is two won and four lost. The Tar Heels have defeated Davidson and The Citadel this year, already improving their 1951-52 record under Coach Barnes. The varsity has been beaten by Duke, Virginia, West Virginia and Virginia

(See WRESTLERS, page 4)

Tar Babies Hitting Best Stride Now

Carolina's junior varsity basketball team will have the Woollen Gym floor for its sole use tonight when it meets William and Mary at 7:30.

Uually relegated to playing preliminary games before its varsity counterpart comes on the floor, the improved jayvee squad will be the big team tonight.

The Tar Babies, after being batted about by the Duke and N. C. State squads, seem to be coming around now.

After losing to Duke in successive games on Jan. 13-14 by phenomenal scores of 105-47, and 98-67, the Tar Babies came back last Friday night to edge the Blue Imps, 61-60.

Counted on to lead the scoring for the Carolina team tonight will be Gerald McCabe, Tom Shores and Glen Stephenson. Stephenson hit for 13 and 14 points in the first two games against Duke.

McCabe, however, is leading the Carolina season scoring and had his best night against State's Wolflets, scoring 29 points. State romped despite his effort, 113-71.

Others who will probably see a good bit of action under Coach Buck Freeman are Hal Bowden, John Dittmar and Jack Woods.

Shores has been one of the steadiest of the Carolina scorers, hitting the double figures in almost every game the Tar Babies have played.

Y Fellowship Banquet Set For Next Tuesday

The YMCA will hold its winter quarter fellowship banquet next Tuesday night a 6 o'clock.

Principal speaker for the banquet will be J. Frederick Miller, national YMCA staff secretary. Miller has worked with the student organizations in Oklahoma and Pennslyvania prior to his post on the national staff.

The banquet, highlighting a fellowship program among members and friends of the Carolina YMCA, is for both faculty and students.

PRO TENNIS HELPERS

A meeting of ticket sellers and all persons who will act as officials at the pro tennis matches to be held here on Monday, Feb. 21, are asked to meet tennis coach John Kenfield in room 301 of Woollen Gym this afternoon at 3:30.

BASEBALL MEETING

There will be a meeting of all varsity and junior varsity baseball candidates in room 304 of Woollen Gym this afternoon at 4:00.

Phys Ed Majors

Physical education majors will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in upstairs

Calendar Committee

Lenoir Hall.

The SUAB Calendar Committee will meet at 5 p.m. today in the SUAB office.

Women's Glee Club

The Women's Glee Club will practice at 5 p.m. in Hill Hall today.

Ken McGregor Plays Great Tennis But Sedgman Overshadows Him

By Vardy Buckalew

There have been many great sports performers in the past who have not received the plaudits they rightly deserved because of playing in the shadow of someone greater and perhaps more colorful. Such is the case of Kenneth Bruce McGregor, close friend, fellow countryman, and doubles partner of the great Frank Sedgman.

McGregor is two years younger than Sedgman and many have predicted that sometime in the future he may be able to outstrip his illustrious friend and become the greatest player in the world. He possesses all of the necessary shots to be the best but his main trouble is a lack of consistency. He hopes to attain that with age.

He has managed to beat Sedgman on several occasions, and currently holds the Aussie singles title by virtue of a victory over Sedgman in the finals.

McGregor was born on June 2, 1929, in Adelaide, Australia, and still lives there with his parents. Ken's father was a champion Australian Rules football player but discouraged his son from following in his steps. However, Ken played enough to be considered one of that sport's brightest prospects and, next to tennis, that sport is his favorite.

In 1948 McGregor won the Australian Junior title and he broke into big time tennis in 1950 by beating the American, Ted Schroeder, on opening day of the Davis Cup matches. The Australians won that year and the cup has been there ever since.

McGregor and Sedgman formed the greatest doubles team in amateur tennis and at one time held four major international titles. In 1951 they won the Australian, French, Wimbledon, and American doubles titles, to become the first team on record to accomplish such a feat.

In doubles matches with Sedgman, McGregor often appears to be the more impressive of the two because of his blistering service and an overpowering volley. Some day he hopes to be the more impressive on the opposite side of the net from Sedgman.

Right now McGregor is engaged in a series with Pancho Segura, the two-handed player from Ecuador, and is currently trailing the more experienced performer twenty matches to six.

However, McGregor has one distinction that the other three tennis greats on the present tour do not possess—he is single. That could be considered an advantage or a handicap, depending on your point of view.

Tickets for the professional tennis matches to be played in Woollen Gym on February 23, at 7:30 p.m. are now on sale in the athletic ticket office and the YMCA book exchange.

Tickets for students with passbooks are $1.25 and general admission is $1.75. Reserved seats are selling for $2.50.

Mural Swim Entries Close At 4 Today

Deadline for entries in the all-campus swimming meet to be held Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday will be 4:00 this afternoon. All entries, both team and individual, must be in the Intramural office by this time.

Today's Basketball

4:00—Court 1, Phi Delt-4 vs. Sig Chi-4; Court 2, Cobb-3 vs. Aycock-2; Court 3, Winston-3 vs. Law School-3; Court 4, BVP-1 vs. Joyner-2.

5:00—Court 1, Joyner-1 vs. Law School-2; Court 2, ATO-4 vs. Kap Sig-1; Court 3, ATO-2 vs. SAE-2; Court 4, Kap Psi-1 vs. Phi Gam-2.

Today's Table Tennis

7:00—Ruffin vs. Winston; 7:40—Alexander vs. Emerson.

Tuesday's Basketball

Phi Delt-2	45	Chi Psi-3	42
Zeta Psi-2	32	Chi Psi-1	23
Phi Kap Sig-2	50	Sig Nu-1	41
PiKA-3	19	DKE-1	17
Lamb Chi-1	80	Phi Kap Sig-3	33
Law Sch-2	50	Lewis-3	49
ATO-3	86	SPE-1	31
Cobb-3	73	Law Sch-3	31
Emerson-1	50	Lewis-2	32
Graham-2	54	Manley	34

Yale Professor Here Friday

Dr. Harry S. N. Greene, Yale University School of Medicine pathology professor, will give a public lecture tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The lecture, which will be on "The Significance of Transplantability of Human Cancer," will be held in the New Auditorium on the fourth floor of the Clinic Building of the Medical School.

Dr. Greene is widely known for his work in the cancer field, particularly in growing human cancer after transplanting into animals.

—Williams—

(Continued from page 1)

full year preparing his first program. As Dickens, Williams' London run was extended three times. His Broadway engagement last season resulted in his current trancontinental tour whichh will take him back to Broadway in April.

Tickets are on sale at the Playmaker office in Swain Hall.

—Review—

(Continued from page 1)

rector of the State Department of Archives and History and a former member of the UNC History Department, is editor of the Review.

Here lies what's left of John McNay He forgot His Wife on Valentine's Day

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. Franklin St.

Open Evenings

NOW PLAYING

Varsity

TOMORROW!

Don't Miss Our First World Premiere

SALE

SATURDAY IS THE LAST DAY

Group of After Six Tuxedos $39.50

Harris Tweed Topcoats. . were $65—now $49

Group of Florsheim & French Shriner Shoes . . . were $19.95—now $14.95

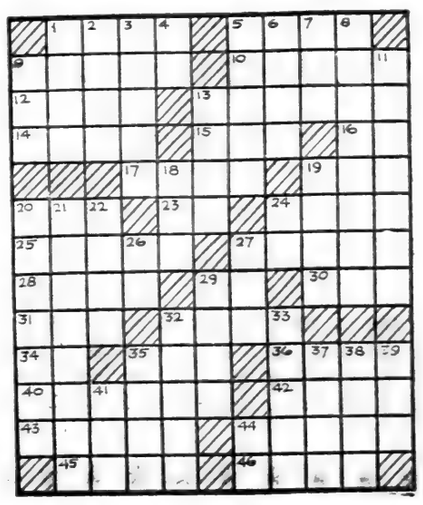
Group of Suits (Timely & Forstmann) Flannels-Tweeds-Shetlands Reduced 25%

Special Rack All Silk Repp Ties $1.49

Julian's College Shop

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS



1. A joke
5. Resorts
9. Article of virtu
10. Savor
12. Indigo plant (W. I.)
13. To make darker
14. Aim
15. Malt beverage
16. Neon (sym.)
17. Howl, as a dog
19. Pomological (abbr.)
20. Man's nickname
23. Indefinite article
24. Unless (L.)
25. Trail
27. Tie again
28. Assistant
29. Papa
30. Beast of burden
31. Sheltered side
32. Submerged
34. And (L.)
35. Lair
36. Pen-name of Charles Lamb
40. Shops
42. Tenor
43. Small drum
44. Reads metrically
45. Tastes
46. Units of resistance (elec.)

DOWN

1. Consort of Jupiter
2. Assam silkworm
3. Foolish
4. Toward
5. Booth
6. Peel
7. Question
8. The narrowing of a duct (Med.)
9. Offend (dial. Eng.)
11. Foes
13. Break of day
18. Tree
19. Aloe fiber
20. Least fresh
21. Short arias
22. Manufactured
24. Northeast (abbr.)
26. Cerium (sym.)
27. Flowed
29. Witty play on words (pl.)
32. Prophets
33. Two-masted vessel
35. Globule of liquid
37. Fertile earth
38. Taverns
39. Roman money
41. Japanese sash
44. Therefore

Yesterday's Answer

General College Lists 179

Fall Quarter Honor Roll Is Released

One hundred and seventy-nine freshmen and sophomores, 149 of them North Carolinians, made the Honor Roll for the fall quarter.

Thirty-six of the group, 30 of whom are North Carolinians, made all A's. To make the Honor Roll a student must make A's or B's on all courses.

Those making the all A Honor Roll were: Chapel Hill: Barbara Owen Cline, John Minar Gwynn, Snethen Philip Harris, Jr., Paul James McDermott Jr., Julia Elizabeth Shields, Clinton Ward Wilson.

Greensboro: Lyndon Ulysses Anthony, Richard H. Baker, Wallace H. Conrad.

Winston-Salem: Leonard Stanley Clein, Kenneth M. Pruitt.

Robert Davis Aldridge, Burlington; Bonnie Marie Baker, Carrboro; Herbert H. Browne, Columbia, S. C.; Benjamin M. Covington, Wadesboro; Gerald Routh Daughtridge, Rocky Mount; Lloyd Phillip Farrar, Clemson, S. C.; David G. Futch, Monroe; Harvie Max Harris, Garysburg; Richard Hunter Haywood, Charlotte; George Wyckliffe Hoffler, Sunbury; Robert LeRoy Hubbard, Washington, D. C.; Charles Jackson Katzenstein, New York, N. Y.; Paul Ross Likins, Elkhart, Ind.

Reginald Gladstone Mason Jr., Henderson; Peter Dillard McMichael, Reidsville; Owen L. Norment, Asheville; Phillip Eugene Pennninger, Concord; Raymond Fletcher Snipes, Reidsville; James Edward Stephens, Barnardsville; George T. Stricklond Jr., Raleigh; David S. Sumner, Asheboro; John Keyser Tice, High Point; Thomas Ewing Wilgus, Old Greenwich, Conn.; Billy Rayford Wilkinson, Newton; Joseph Franklin Wilson, Lake Waccamaw.

Students from North Carolina on the Honor Roll making A's or B's were:

Chapel Hill: Richard W. Adams, William David Benson, John Hubert Bussey, Richard Elliott Byrd, Joseph C. Doster, Jr., John McNeely DuBose, Robert Mitchell Forster, John Livingston Gibson, Harold Williams Harper, Robert W. Heath, Edward Stokes Johnson, Mose Rita B. Kenion, Rolfe Neill, John Oliver Newell, Patricia Ann Noah, Eleanor Ann Saunders, James Bennett Mary Elizabeth Webb, Janet M. Strait, William Clarence Thompson, Green.

Durham: Walter Enos Bell, Lewis A. Ennis, Robert Reynolds O'Brian.

Greensboro: Lacy Gilmer Baynes Jr., Jesse L. Warren, Richard B. Webb.

,Raleigh: Charles C. Crittenden, Christopher C. Crowson, Montague S. Houlder, Walton K. Joyner, Alfred L. Purrington, Charles Russell Reynolds, James H. Winston.

High Point: Sam B. Gibson, Donald Phillip Harris, Richard L. Harris, Kenneth F. McCain.

Winston-Salem: Donald G. Angell, Bradley J. Cameron, James Phillip Crews, Donald O. Fowler, Thomas O. Moore Jr., Graham H. Rights, Pete Franklin Smitherman, Snavely D. Swaim, James R. Turner, Kenneth M. Venable, Robert A. West.

Wilmington: Millard J. Fountain, Irving T. Glover, Emmanuel M. Paturis, Edward L. Potter.

Charlotte: Horace H. Golightly, Eric A. Jonas, Luther H. Lawing, James H. McCorkle Jr., Glenn A. Nanney, Edward L. Pell, Benjamin C. Smith Jr., Grady L. Wells.

Asheville: William A. Lofquist, Clyde G. Tweed.

Shelton S. Alexander, Statesville; James T. Alley, Goldsboro; Harold W. Austin, Pinebluff; James H. Barnhill, Plymouth; David R. Beam, Shelby; William R. Bullock, Bethel; Franklin C. Burris, Lexington; William W. Campion, Concord; Lynn F. Harris Chandler, Morrisville; Matthew T. Cooper, Lexington; Cecil E. Cowan, Morganton; Richard S. Craddock, Cary; Dwight L. Cranford, Albemarle; Henry H. Dearman, Statesville; Robert A. Farrell, Troy; Otis N. Fisher, Bladenboro.

Herman S. Fleishman, Fayette-Frederick D. Hamrick, Rutherfordville; Robert W. Green, Salisbury; ton; George A. Heinz, Sparta; Donald E. Hendren, Eagle Springs; Walter P. Henderson, Trenton; David L. Holder, Lewisville; Henry DeWeese Irvin, Enka; Thomas H. Long, Statesville; William R. Long, Marion; Edward C. Loughlin Jr., Henderson; Addison G. Mangum, Gastonia; Joseph R. Marks Jr., Whiteville; Paul S. McCubbins, Salisbury; John L. McDaniel, Gibsonville; James R. Harper, Snow Hill.

Robert M. Morris, Atlantic; James M. Morrow, Mooresville; Thomas L. Ormand, Monroe; James E. Owen, Thomasville; Samuel E. Penegar, Monroe; Richard C. Phillips, Boomer; Dulon D. Pollard, Benson; James W. Pruette, Mt. Airy; Bobby L. Pugh, Asheboro; Daniel W. Rader, Burlington; Erskine L. Rhodes, Dallas; Parks A. Roberts, Elkin; Julian W. Selig Jr., Elizabeth City; Joe W. Thompson, Mooresville.

John H. Thompson, Richlands; Zebulon B. Trexler, Concord; Charles D. Wallace, Smithfield; Thomas M. Watts, Bryson City; David L. Whitaker, Williamston; Leo C. Wilkerson, Mebane; John B. Windham, Rocky Mount; Robert A. Wolfe, Bessemer City; Charles H. Yarborough, Louisburg; Frank O. Yates Jr., Asheboro and Edwin M. Yoder, Mebane.

—Wrestlers—

(Continued from page 3)

Tech. The team's record is two won—three lost.

Coach Barnes has stated that his team has been improving with each match and should be able to make a better showing for itself in the remaining games of the campaign. In their next home meet the Tar Heels will tackle Washington and Lee and then entertain Maryland, last year's Southern Conference champions on the following afternoon. The meets are scheduled for February 20 and 21.

Barnes stated that his reserves have shown up well in previous matches and that Broadus Thompson, a freshman who has won his only bout is improving rapidly.

The Tar Heel wrestlers have the first blind student ever to win a letter at the University of North Carolina on the squad. He is Andy Holt who wrestles in the heavyweight bracket. Holt has won two of his three bouts of this season.

DANZIGER'S

Thursday, Feb. 12, 1953

Homemade Cream of Tomato Soup ..... $ .20
Mr. "d's" famous Onion Soup with Crouton and cheese ..... .30
MEXICAN CHILI con carne served with spaghetti ..... .50
VEAL RAGOUT served on rice ..... .85
STUFFED PEPPER served with tomato sauce and boiled potato ..... .75
BARBECUED SPARERIBS served with boiled potatoes and vegetable ..... .75
SMOTHERED CHICKEN served with eggnoodles and 2 vegetables ..... .90
CHOPPED STEAK served with potatoes and two vegetables ..... .95
A-1 SIRLOIN STEAK WITH French Fries 1.75
Extra large 2.50

Served with bread, butter and salad.

BUDDY KLEIN
and the
Statesman Orchestra
Write Box 5533—Tel. 21873
Raleigh, N. C.

On Valentine's Day
Give
Sonnets
from the Portuguese

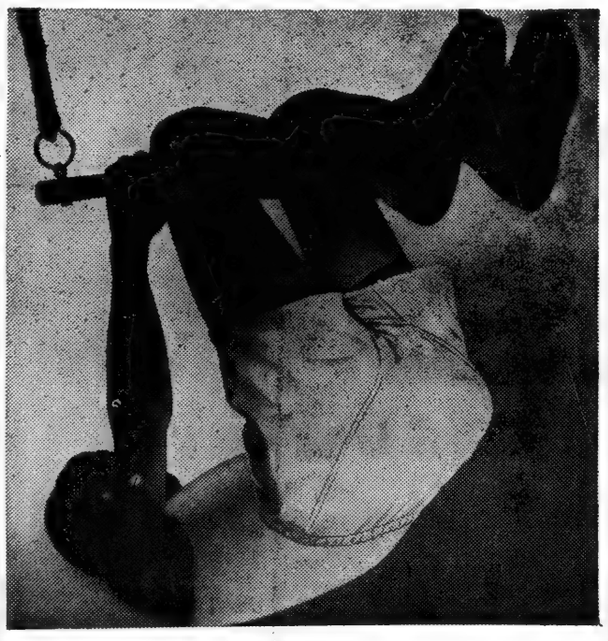
When Elizabeth Barrett fell for Robert Browning, she went through the old wringer just like you and me. If you can't afford a copy of her book, bring the One Girl in the World in for a browser's sigh-fest!

The Intimate Bookshop
205 E. FRANKLIN ST.
OPEN EVENINGS



Also
Cartoon—News
Carolina

For your convenience we have available
One-Hour Martinizing
The Modern Dry Cleaning
Minor alterations, including matching buttons, at no extra charge
ONE-HOUR VALET
401 W. Main St. At 5 Points Durham

THE COMPLETE ARROW LINE AT-
THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

Collegians Head-Over-Heels About Comfortable Arrow Shorts

"Any way you look at it, Arrow shorts are tops for comfort," collegians say. Special tailoring features (such as no chafing center seam) assure free and easy comfort in any position. Wide selection of styles, fabrics and colors now available at all Arrow dealers.

ARROW

SHIRTS • TIES • UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

ARROW SOLD AT
VARLEY'S MEN SHOP

Attention
Air Corp & Naval ROTC

We now have in stock one of the best looking regulation black oxfords, by Winthrop, you have ever seen—and we have especially priced them to Air Corp and Naval ROTC at only

$15.95
(regular $17.95)

White Bucks with genuine White Duflex soles for Naval ROTC only

$11.95

Get yours early.

THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

CLASSIFIEDS

PERSONAL

EVERYMAN—A BOOK FROM the Intimate Bookshop, all gift-wrapped nice and pretty, might melt my heart on St. Valentines Day. Everybiddy. (Chg 1x1)

FOUND 6C

THIS QUARTER'S OUTSTANDING Sundae. Delicious Caramel Toasted Pecan topping over your favorite flavor of Gold Seal Ice Cream. You too can find this sundae at The Dairy Bar. This week's Special—29c.

HELP WANTED 8

MUSICIANS WANTED: ROY COLE Orchestra, Call 9-2858 at mealtime. (1-c3470-3)

WILL THIS SUIT FIT YOU?

If you can make the grade, you can fly the latest, hottest, fanciest jobs in the air—and do it within one year.

IT TAKES a good, tough, serious guy to wear the gear of an Aviation Cadet. But if you can measure up, here's your chance to get the finest in aviation training—training that equips you to fly the most modern airplanes in the world and prepares you for responsible executive positions, both in military and commercial aviation.

It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard—especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro—with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning—your opportunities for advancement are unlimited.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate! In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

YOU CAN CHOOSE BETWEEN PILOT OR AIRCRAFT OBSERVER If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination at government expense.
3. Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet training class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

Where to get more details:
Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Officer. Or write to: Aviation Cadet, Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

U.S. AIR FORCE

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

WEATHER
Partly cloudy and cool with 50 high. Yesterday's high, 60, low, 37.

The Daily Tar Heel

GERMANS
The society department reports on society. Big doin's on a big weekend. see p.4.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 94 — CHAPEL HILL, N. C. — FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1953 — FOUR PAGES TODAY

18 High Schoolers Named For Help

Eighteen more high school seniors have been selected for interviews before the Central Committee of the John Motley Morehead Scholarship Foundation on March 2-3.

Last week 18 other candidates were announced, making 36 final nominees coming here. The candidates have already been screened by principals and county committees and will be sent here by the district groups.

The nominees are: District II, Colonel William T. Joyner, Raleigh, committee chairman; Gordon R. Brown, Durham; Jimmy Lewis Love, Sanford; Richard Foster Barber, Route 1, Durham; William Thomas Huntley, Southern Pines; Robert Garner, Oxford, and Gary F. Williams, Raleigh.

District V, R. Grady Rankin, Gastonia, committee chairman; Norman Allison Chamberlain, Route 1, Matthews; Zana Emerson Eargle, Waxhaw; Thomas Willis Lambeth, Statesville; Mebane Moore Pritchett, Lenoir; Clem Harry Shankle, Troy; Marion Wilson Griffin, Davidson.

District VI, D. Hiden Ramsey, Asheville, committee chairman; Edward Wike Sutton, Cullowhee; Clayton Stalnaker, Spindale; William Francis Yost, Weaverville; William Watson Morgan Jr., Route 3, Canton; Jose Edward Stuntz, Fort Lauderdale, Fla. (Christ School, Arden); James Owen Shurling, Asheville.

The final selections will be announced here March 4 by the trustees of the foundation.

Retrial Nets Same Sentence For Offender

A student was retried Wednesday night by the Interdormitory Court for shooting firecrackers in a dormitory and the previous sentence of the court was upheld.

The student was convicted by the court in January on charges of shooting fireworks and was suspended from the dormitory for at least one quarter.

On Feb. 5 the Student Council remanded the case back to the lower court for re-trial. The case had been appealed on the grounds that two constitutional rights of the defendant were violated by the IDC court.

Another student, convicted for possession of an air rifle, shooting it in the dormitory and damaging University property, was suspended from the dormitory for at least one quarter. The sentence was changed to indefinite probation on the condition that he pay property damages.

Three other students were tried for shooting firearms and being involved in the shooting of an air rifle inside a dormitory. The court found one boy guilty of shooting the air rifle and he was suspended from the dormitory. The sentence was then changed to indefinite probation.

The other two boys were exonerated.

SHE WON'T be here for Germans but she does remind us of our roommate's sister. Taking advantage of Hollywood's balmy weather, Lucy Knoch eases into a pose for the cameraman. She also works on TV.—NEA Telephoto.

WUNC Will Air Duke Program Tonight At 8:15

A concert by the Duke University Men's Glee Club will be broadcast tonight at 8:15 by radio station WUNC. The program, which will originate in Page Auditorium on the Duke campus, will be a live broadcast.

The program will mark the first attempt by WUNC to pick up a broadcast outside Chapel Hill and the longest single program scheduled to date. The concert will run about an hour and a half.

Directed by J. Foster Barnes, the 150-man glee club will render selections from Bach, Handel, and Beethoven. Also included in the program will be selections by Stephen Foster and modern and novelty numbers.

WUNC is the campus FM station and operates on a frequency of 91.5 mc.

BSU Talk

The second in a series of Baptist Student Union discussions will be held at Camp New Hope tonight at 7 o'clock.

Interested students should meet at the church at 6:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

There will be a social at the church tomorrow at 7 p.m.

Muntzing Fills Staff Posts For Handbook

Final selections for editorial staff of the Carolina Handbook have been made by Manning Muntzing, editor.

Jim Turner was chosen managing editor and Frank Plott is the new photographic editor. Assisting the editorial staff will be Clay Johnson.

The Handbook is divided into 15 sections with each section having an editor. Section editors include Susan Fink, Greetings; Ed Yoder, University Heritage; Bill Brown, Student Government; Ray Long, Classroom; Pete Adams, Organizations; Louis Kraar, Publications; Steve Moss, Fraternities and Dormitories; Ted Lynch, Freshman Guide; John Thompson, Town of Chapel Hill; Mary Jo Paul, Coeds; Bernard Theiling, Spirit; Everette Parker, Athletics; and Jim Turner and Sue Fink, Campus Life. Graham Memorial will do its own section.

Boyden Henley was appointed photographer; Boyant, secretary; and Chal Shley, rewrite. John Riebel is the advisor.

Students interested in assisting the various editorials are urged to contact Manning Muntzing or any person on the staff. The next complete staff meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 in the YMCA which is open to anyone interested in writing for the Handbook.

A big start has been made on the Handbook and the editor expects to have the entire book set up by next Saturday. It will have a complete new face including new pictures, new write-ups and new make-up.

The Handbook is published in connection with the YMCA and advertisors in Chapel Hill. It is sent to all incoming Freshmen and sold to students for 10 cents a copy. The staff hopes to have the Handbook out before the end of Spring term.

BULLETIN

Duke University ran its winning streak to eight games last night, edging Wake Forest, 101-99, in a two-overtime thriller at Wake Forest.

The Blue Devils now have an 8-3 conference record. They meet North Carolina State, the conference leaders, at Raleigh tomorrow night in another crucial game.

NEWS IN BRIEF

LONDON — The Soviet Union broke off diplomatic relations with Israel yesterday. Western diplomatic sources expressed no surprise and said the Russians were apparently stepping up their efforts to win Arab friendship in the Strategic Middle East. A sharp Soviet note blamed the rupture in relations on the bombing Monday of the Soviet Legation in Tel Aviv in which three Russians were injured. In Moscow, the eight adults and one child at the Israeli legation began packing at once.

★

NEW YORK — Convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, their last-ditch appeal for clemency turned down by President Eisenhower, will learn next Monday the new date for their execution in Sing Sing Prison's Electric chair. Legal sources here said they believed Judge Irving R. Kaufman, who presided at the couple's 16-day trial in 1951, would set an early execution date, possibly during the first half of March. Emanuel H. Bloch, attorney for the Rosenbergs, said he would make every effort to save them.

★

WASHINGTON — The biggest Congressional Korean war investigation since the 1951 McArthur dismissal hearings shaped up yesterday with Gen. James A. Van Fleet as the war witness. Two Senate committees called on Van Fleet to spell out his ideas for cracking the Korean military deadlock by a new United Nations offensive. Van Fleet faced questioning on his statement that the 8th Army with its present manpower and material is capable of mounting a major offensive that could break the present military deadlock along the 155-mile fighting front.

★

SAN FRANCISCO — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek said in a wireless interview yesterday that his forces can invade Red China whenever they choose, without sanction of the United Nations and with no fear of Russian intervention. But he does not believe he is adequately prepared for such an invasion. Meanwhile, in Washington, informed sources indicated that deliveries of American F-84 jet fighter-bombers to Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa should begin fairly soon. It was also believed that Chiang-Kai-shek's air force will receive reconnaissance versions of the F-80 Shooting Star jet fighter.

Winter Germans Start Tonight With Ray Anthony And Life

THESE 16 ATTRACTIVE GIRLS are sponsors for the Winter German Club dances to be held tonight and tomorrow night at the University. Ray Anthony and his orchestra will furnish music for the two formals in Woollen Gymnasium and a concert in Memorial Hall. Top row, left to right: Jane Schoolfield Danville, Va., with R. Bryant Hare, Wilmington, president of the German Club; Bruce Carr, Rocky Mount, with Gordon Taylor, Richlands, secretary; Temple St. Clair, Bluefield, W. Va., with Alex McMillan, Charlotte, vice-president, and Anita Caine, Greensboro, with Jim Schenck, Greensboro, treasurer; second row: Virginia Brown, Albemarle, with Jake Rountree, Mt. Airy; Nancy Rose, Charlotte, with Skipev Roddey, Charlotte; Sibyl Devereaux, Chevy Chase, Md., with Roger Kingsbury, Washington, D. C.; Mary Elizabeth Lindeman, Virginia Beach, Va., with Henry V. Wilson, Dover, Del.; third row: Martha Dowdey, Burlington, with Bill Yates, Burlington; Laura Lee Allen, Cincinnati, O., with Pat Samonds, Durham; Kay Boyette, Carthage, with Swain Stephenson, Halifax; Susan Ambler, Chicago, Ill., with Edward B. Gross, Harrisburg, Pa.; fourth row: Sandra Wright, Winston-Salem, with John Baldridge, Winston-Salem; Claire Chesnut, Jacksonville, Fla., with Tom Ruffin, Winston-Salem; Sarah Manning, Williamston, with Wallace Pridgen, Wilson, and Ann Mason Chapin, Richmond, Va., with Jones Yorke, Concord.

Two Dances, Concert Mark Big Weekend

Ray Anthony and the Bunny Hop bounce onto campus tonight to open Mid-Winter Germans with a formal dance in Woollen Gym from 9 o'clock until 1 a.m.

Anthony, one of the nation's most popular dance orchestras, also will play a concert tomorrow afternoon and another dance tomorrow night.

Coeds have 2 a.m. permission tonight for the Ray Anthony dance, the Dean of Women's office and Women's Residence Council announced.

The concert will be held in Memorial Hall from 4 until 6 p.m. and the dance will be in Woollen from 8 p.m. until midnight. It also is formal.

Life magazine is scheduled to send a photographer for the weekend to take pictures to run with a feature story the weekly picture mag is preparing on Anthony.

Billed as the Young Man with a Horn, Anthony has planned his orchestra around a strong brass section and his selections have a snappy tempo. He plays novelties, jazz, swing and sweet ballads.

One of his more noted numbers is "When the Saints Go Marching In," which is accompanied by his orchestra parading through the audience. It was one of his most popular numbers when he played here several Winters ago.

Anthony sent advance word, as well as instruction sheets, encouraging those who plan to attend the dances to learn the "Bunny Hop," a simple number recently revived by his orchestra. A copy of the instructions were printed in yesterday's Daily Tar Heel.

The weatherman forecast cloudy and mild for today with a high of 50. It is expected to clear tomorrow.

State Music Group Clinic Meets Today

The orchestra section of the North Carolina Music Educators Association will sponsor an all-state high school orchestra clinic here today and tomorrow.

Approximately 120 boys and girls from 15 high schools throughout the state will get together, under the direction of Paul Painter, University of Illinois music director, for two days of music-making. It will be climaxed by a concert of orchestral music tomorrow night in Hill Hall at 7:30.

This morning and afternoon will be spent in intensive rehearsals, both in separate instrumental sections and with the full ensemble. Tonight at 7:30 they will attend a concert of chamber music to be presented by members of the University music faculty. This concert, to be given in Hill Hall, will be open to the public. The program will include works by Mozart, Brahms and Dohnanyi.

Following the concert there will be a dance for the high school students in Graham Memorial.

Tomorrow morning and part of the afternoon will be devoted to rehearsals, after which there will be recreation, including attendance at the current Morehead Planetarium show, "Birth and Death of the Earth."

The student concert, also open to the public, tomorrow night will include numbers by Hadley, Han-

(See CLINIC, page 4)

Final Chance For Cut Rates

University students are being offered special rates for the "Ice Capades of 1953" performance Monday night in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum at Raleigh. The performance begins at 8:30.

Through the Special Services Committee of SUAB, students may order tickets in the Main office of Graham Memorial today between 9 o'clock and 11 p.m. Today is the last day for orders to be placed.

RAY ANTHONY

Wayne Morse Talks Monday In Raleigh

RALEIGH, Feb. 12—(Special)—Sen. Wayne Morse, controversial political figure from Oregon, will speak here Monday night at 8 o'clock at The United Church on Hillsboro St.

Sen. Morse, who was reelected for a second term in 1950, will speak on "Ethical Standards in Government."

The speech Monday night is sponsored by the 1953 Institute of Religion. Theme of the Institute is "Strengthening Freedom in America."

Sen. Morse is a distinguished educator and independent political leader. He was born near Madison, Wis. in 1900 and studied at the Universities of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Columbia.

At the University of Oregon, he rose from assistant professor of law in 1931 to dean of the law school, a position he held at the time of his election to the United States Senate in November, 1944.

Five Local Books Head University Press List

Five books from the campus head the list of publications from the University Press for the first half of 1953.

This is the largest group of titles to come from one source in many years.

Three of the books are being published posthumously. The late Dr. Henry McG. Wagstaff's memoirs of the Concord Community of Person County, which was his boyhood home, will be published as a series of sketches called "Wiley Buck and Other Stories."

In May "the Good Doctor and Other Writings" of Dr. William DeB. MacNider will come out. Dr. MacNider was a long time member of the faculty of the University of North Carolina Medical School.

The two volume "Documentary History of the University of North Carolina" 1776-1799, by the late Dr. R. D. W. Connor, will be published in June. This book was originally scheduled as part of the University's Sesquicentennial but was delayed by the author's death.

Active members of the University faculty are the authors of two books. Prof. Floyd Hunter's "Community Power Structure" will appear in May. It is a sociological study of the real leaders of a large Southern city.

The fifth book is one of the series on education by Dr. Edgar W. Knight of the School of Education. Volume IV of the "Documentary History of Education in the South Before 1860" is concerned with the institutions founded by private and denominational groups.

Perhaps the most important of the new publications, from the point of general interest, is very elaborate "Flowers of the South" by Wilhelmina F. Green and Dr. Hugo L. Blomquist, head of the Botany Department at Duke University.

Campus Seen

American flag drooping on pole as rain continues to pelt it during day.

*

Coed amusing self during dull class by wearing husky athlete's brogans, chagrined when she has to follow male by laughing students before he'll return her tiny loafers.

*

Rain—as usual—to inaugurate Germans weekend.

Conduct Rules For Weekend Are Published

Dancing can be dangerous.

Students were reminded yesterday by the chairman of the Dance Committee of the University dance rules in effect for this weekend. They provide that:

1. Any person desiring to leave the dance hall during the dance with the intention of returning must be accompanied by a chaperone during his entire stay away from the dance.

2. Anyone showing signs of drinking or other misconduct shall be dealt with according to the discretion of the Dance Committee.

3. Anyone giving the wrong name is automatically suspended indefinitely.

4. Anyone bringing intoxicating beverages on the dance floor is automatically suspended indefinitely.

The Dance Committee is empowered to suspend from all dances given under University auspices any student for misconduct. Length of suspension is up to the committee.

Y Wives

George Kachergis of the Art Department will speak Tuesday at 8 p.m. to a meeting of the Y student wives group.

The meeting will be held in Person Hall.

Kachergis attended the Art Institute in Chicago. During the past year he has exhibited in several painting museums and contests. He will speak on "An Approach Toward the Understanding of Modern Art."

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. P. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

Night Editor for this issue: Dorman Cordell

You Lose To Scalpers

One of the reasons you won't be seeing the State game next week is because many students have bought tickets for "friends and relatives" to sell to outsiders on Saturday right before the game.

Scalping is an old practice which had its biggest days in the Justice Era. Last week the scalpers were back trying to arouse last minute interest in the NYU basketball game. They were getting maybe 50 cents per ticket; some had to sell three or four tickets all bringing a total of 25 cents. It didn't pay.

The scalpers figure they will break even this time because the game is a sellout. There has been a storm of student indignation because there are no more tickets.

We have explored other regions of discontent in the last few days but today we ask students to seek out the scalper, cut him down, and rid him from the campus.

If you manage to get into Woollen Gym Saturday night, check the student section. See how many students are there. If there are a lot of non-students, that means the scalper has succeeded.

To those students who have already bought tickets but don't plan to use them: Give your fellow student a break. Drop by Woollen Gym today and turn the ticket in so that others can see the game.

A reminder: Your ticket is non-transferrable, "For your personal use only" as the passbook itself reads.

Jellyfish And Sheep

The Athenaean magazine at the University of Wisconsin, recently asked itself, "Are we students a generation of jellyfish?" It came up with the answer, yes.

"We students are a funny lot," said the editorial. "We will become aroused at the most trivial things, excessive fouling in a basketball game, the changing of an exam date, the election of a dance king, and yet the most important events leave us unmoved.

". . . Like spoiled children we whine about the Army interrupting our lives and spoiling our plans. There is little discussion about the war itself beyond the superficial cynicism of high school sophomores. Instead we passively accept, wait, simper about the inconveniences."

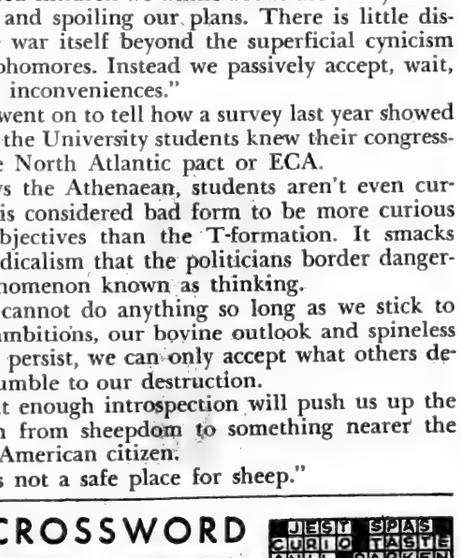
The editorial went on to tell how a survey last year showed that less than half the University students knew their congressmen or about the North Atlantic pact or ECA.

Worse yet, says the Athenaean, students aren't even curious. "Indeed, it is considered bad form to be more curious about the war objectives than the T-formation. It smacks of that campus radicalism that the politicians border dangerously on the phenomenon known as thinking.

". . . But we cannot do anything so long as we stick to our sordid little ambitions, our bovine outlook and spineless personality. If we persist, we can only accept what others decree for us and bumble to our destruction.

"We hope that enough introspection will push us up the scale of evolution from sheepdom to something nearer the dignity of a free American citizen.

"Our world is not a safe place for sheep."



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Head cook
5. Strike
9. Solitary
10. Walking stick
11. Brief remark
12. Capital (Eng.)
14. Polynesian drink
15. A brownish-red chalcedony
16. Negative reply
17. Animal jelly
19. Suitable
20. Bottom of a river
21. Liberate
22. A spiral
25. Alloy of copper and zinc
26. Greet
27. Crushing snake
28. Remnant
29. Author of Pilgrim's Progress (poss.)
33. Public notice
34. String
35. East Indian tree
36. Ground wheat or cereal (pl.)
38. Incite
39. Scottish-Gaelic
40. Coat with gold
41. Juices of plants
42. Metallic rocks

DOWN
1. Dried flower bud of tropical shrub
2. Hourly
3. Finish
4. Iron (sym.)
5. Disdain
6. Disembark
7. Particle of addition
8. Large showy flowers
11. A wit
12. Placed
13. Short letters
15. Boil slowly
18. A son of Adam
19. Friar's title
21. Ravel
22. Bundle of grain
23. Tapers
24. Free
25. An interest-bearing certificate
27. Prickly envelopes of fruits
29. Wearies
30. Walk slowly
31. Requires
32. Place
34. One of the points of a crescent moon
37. Openings (Anat.)
38. Ventilate
40. Depart

JEST SPAS
CURIO TASTE
ANIL DARKEN
GOAL ALE NE
YOWL POM
SAM AN NISI
TRACK RETIE
AIDE PA ASS
LEE SUNK
ET DEN ELIA
STORES TONE
TABOR SCANS
BIPS OHMS

Yesterday's Answer

— A.Z.F. Wood, Jr. —

I Like Ike

When Eisenhower was elected president, there were many dyed-in-the wool Democrats who threw up their hands in despair. Others had a wait-and-see attitude. Many thought there'd be A-bombs dropping all over the place within a week. Others were skeptical. They figured Ike would follow Truman's containment policy, and that his proposed trip to Korea was no more than political demogoguery.

There were misgivings on the part of some that we would revert to the Hoover days, and maybe even to the days of John D. Rockefeller, Sr.

Some felt that Eisenhower would be a pawn in the hand of chess-player Bob Taft, and we'd bring all our troops home from Korea and tell the rest of the world Nuts, and that all the working men would be subjected to slavery.

Then, there was Eisenhower's alleged support of McCarthy and Jenner, which made everybody unhappy, Democrats and Republicans.

And there was much praying for the country, the world, and the Christian religion when the results of the election were tabulated. And many folks just didn't like five stars.

Well, Eisenhower went to Korea, talked to MacArthur, and ignored Harry Truman's childish rantings. While Harry was venting his pique, Eisenhower was talking to such men as MacArthur, Churchill, and Van Fleet, gathering information, assimilating it, and planning a definite course of action. He ignored the stagnant defeatism of the Democrats that the Korean situation was a dilemma, and by removing the blockade from Formosa, took the first un-defensive action in seven years. He dismissed the old-maid fears of the Democrats that such a move risked an all-out war. He seems inclined to the view that a poker-player that drops out every hand is not going to win much, and is wasting time, to say nothing of the ante, which mounts up after two and a half years.

The despair of labor was quelled when Eisenhower appointed Durkin Secretary of Labor. When Taft developed apoplexy, Eisenhower, unlike his arrogant predecessor, handled the situation calmly and with tact. The appointment would indicate that Eisenhower does not subscribe to the idea that to the victor belongs the spoils and that anybody that doesn't agree with you is a low-down shiftless skonk, unworthy of anything but vitriolic villification. Eisenhower seems to place the welfare of the country above that of a political party. That may seem like a funny idea to some people, though.

Those who scoffed at Eisenhower's proposed economizing have had to hold off a bit with the recent developments: No Federal employees will be fired, but none will be hired unless it is found that the vacant job is necessary and that no one can be transferred. In other words there'll be no more of this stuff of three people doing the job of one. Government construction projects have been restricted. Department head have been urged to dispense with all non-essential spending. Eisenhower is concentrating on the waste in government spending. He is not going to cut Social Security or the Defense Budget. And he places the horse before the cart in balancing the budget before cutting taxes.

His civil rights proposals seem to me to be sensible. He plans an end of segregation in Washington, D. C. and in the armed forces in the immediate future. He is not planning to change southern traditions overnight. Unlike his predecessor, he realizes the fatuity of attempting a hundred year job by passing a law. He is in favor of ending discrimination, but he is not going to ram his opinions down people's throats. His admirable idealism is tempered with a little realism.

But the main change in administrations seems to me to be in the personality and character of the chief executive himself. Eisenhower is an educated man. He's been around. But he is not arrogant. He is willing to listen to other people, whether he agrees with them or not. He has tact and humility. And he has stature. He is worthy of his office. And I don't think we have to worry too much about guys like McCarthy and Jenner.

"When Is The Next One?"

— Alice Chapman —

Sportsmen Elsewhere

Editorials on sportsmanship, like the flu epidemic, are spreading across the country.

The editor of the Oklahoma Daily rebuked OU fans for their unsavory behavior at basketball games, their boos at every foul called on an OU player, and catcalls at opposing players.

The editorial blasts a few hotheads who "never learned how to act when the game goes against them, and threw their tin cups to the floor like babies throw down pablum." This "hoodlum behavior" took place at the Oklahoma A&M game.

The Southwest conference awards a sportsmanship trophy to the student body having the best sportsmanship during the athletic season each year.

The OU editor believes that the fans have committed suicide so far as this year's trophy is concerned.

A student at West Virginia University has a most constructive criticism for the referee situation. He suggests that the fans burst out with "for they are jolly good fellows" when the officials appear. Then instead of booing a decision, the proper response would be, "tisk, tisk," in a soft whisper. All baskets regardless of the team shooting should be cheered, according to the student. His final suggestion is that the local team huddle after the game and give 15 hearty rahs for the opposing team. The letter says that it may sound silly but the papers would love it.

The Chicago Maroon has diagnosed their losing streak since 1950 as a result of the fact that "the boys are lonely". The rows of empty seats and the smallness of the cheering band are causing the trouble, according to the paper.

* * *

Tears fell at UNC when "Death of a Salesman" was not chosen to go on tour, but the University of Virginia is rejoicing that their Arthur Miller production is going on the road.

It would be possible to see the popular tragedy this week at the University of Texas and a Pacific coast production in Eugene, Oregon next week under the University sponsorship.

Underneath the Kilt

(reprinted from letters column of the Technique, Georgia Tech)
Dear Sir,

"Do Scotsmen wear anything under the kilt?" This question caught my eye in the last issue of the Technique. Since there are probably some unscrupulous characters on the campus who would go to extremes to find out the solution, I think it is time I safeguard myself by giving the answer.

Even although I am violating one of my country's finest traditions by exposing the secret, the answer is *$★⅘%ffl (Sorry editor, my typewriter has gone on the bum again.)

G. Forrester

Technique Editor's note: George Forrester is a native of Glasgow, Scotland. His study at Tech is being sponsored by the World Student Fund. We urge all students to refrain from trying to spy under his kilt.

To Mr. R. Ritchie:
(genial proprietor of the University Book Exchange)

PUL-LEESE(!) use some of our $40,000 (which is going for scholarships) to employ five or six people behind the coffee counter between classes.

Yours hopefully, but in growing irritation
The Source of Your "Profits."

A fraternity housemother at Michigan State reports getting an invitation to Sigma Chi fraternity's "Open Hop" to introduce their new housemother. She thinks they meant "open house" she says, but adds that it might have been a hint "just to bounce in and out again quickly."

— Bob Pace —

Let Them Vote

"Yes, I do, give them the vote," spoke Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in response to a question "Do you favor giving 18-year-olds the right to vote?" And thus the former first lady has joined the ranks of the many who advocate giving to the 18-year-olds the full privileges of citizenship. This question is of interest at the present time because there is such a bill before the General Asembly. Probably a public hearing will be held before the legislative committee reports back to the Senate. And the views of the youth of the state will bear much weight in the decision reached. I hope that Carolina students will appear before the committee. I hope to do so myself.

As to the merits of the proposal, let us briefly consider them. First, the eighteen-year-old is graduating from high school and getting out on his own. He will either go to work or go to college, or to the armed forces. Second, he will be required to assume the responsibilities of citizenship and this includes paying taxes. (I believe we fought a revolution partly on the grounds of "no taxation with representation"). Third, he can assume the task of being head of a family. Fourth, he is qualified by both education and interest to participate in his government. Fifth, he may be drafted and required to defend democracy. Yet he is denied one of its most precious privileges, the right to vote. And I could go on but instead will briefly summarize. Because of education, interest, and the duties thrust upon him the 18-year-old deserves the right to vote. Will you not join the following persons, Eleanor Roosevelt, Kerr Scott, Frank Pace Jr., Thad Eure, in saying "Give them the vote"?

Day By Day

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—(I.P.) — Students who distribute their studying evenly throughout the week will be the students who get an education instead of just a diploma, according to E. J. Fisher, who conducts a University of Tennessee laboratory on remedial reading and effective study methods.

He says that too many students, even after they reach college age, still concentrate all their study on one or two nights or afternoons a week. "Generally speaking it is the student who studies some each day, even utilizing the half hours and 15 minutes here and there, who really gets something out of school."

"Cramming," according to Fisher, may serve the immediate purpose of passing the examination but information gained that way is seldom retained.

The counsellor stresses the importance of planning ahead—perhaps with the help of teachers or parents. Some of the student's "best" hours each day should be left open for study. "This means some of the hours when he's not half asleep after a full and even exhausting day," Fisher says.

In addition to stressing a real desire to learn and the usual good study conditions and good health, he recommends the following "study approach" as one that has been proved in practice: skimming through the material; then formulating questions on significance of main points; reading the material thoroughly to find answers to own questions; reciting to self the answers to questions; and finally, reviewing at frequent intervals.

— English Club —

Nightmare

It was a warm May evening and I sought repose from tedious tasks of study. I was reading the new Research in Progress; soon I slept, and as I slept I dreamed. I saw an ivory temple which towered far above the world below. It was a large hall, with a throne at one end on which sat ACADEMICUS. The room was dark and I noticed that the windows (of many-colored glass) had been covered over with pages from the 'Harbrace College Handbook.' Although it must have been richly decorated at one time, the room now was bare, and empty pedestals stood about the walls.

The hall was crowded with young men who were waiting their turns to receive gifts from the king. ACADEMICUS, old and quite decrepit, was dressed in a shabby black gown with a blue hood edged in white. His eyes were closed and his hand rested on a dusty book unopened for many years entitled 'Wisdom.' The young men filed past and presented large volumes typewritten on Old Council Tree Bond, in exchange for printed privilege cards and yellowed lecture notes abstracted from DNB and the standard authorities.

Every man then recited the following oath: "I promise to place research above teaching; to publish five scholarly articles a year; to remain aloof from my students; and to come to class regularly unprepared." He was then given a green eye-shade and a stack of index cards, and sent through a door over which the word 'Ideals' had been crossed out, and the word 'Success' put in.

Occasionally one would refuse to give the pledge and was subjected to the most painful torture. He was branded with the word 'Popularizer' and 'Dilletante' and kicked by his colleagues. As eternal damnation he was sent to a dark place called 'Teacher's College' and never heard of again.

Those who entered the door of 'Success' were led by one of three guides: PECUNIA, VANITAS, and INERTIUS. PECUNIA was elegantly dressed, his pockets bulging with royalty checks. VANITAS held a glass in his hand and wore the badge of an officer in the Modern Language Association. INERTIUS carried golf clubs and a hammock. They walked down a long corridor (as long as life itself) which led past a thousand class-rooms filled with students eager for knowledge. They passed these by and entered through a door marked 'Promotion.' Within were many scholars earnestly leaning over piles of notes. They seemed to be playing some sort of game. They would write for a while; then stop and congratulate each other; write some more; and congratulate each other. This went on constantly. I saw that the room was sound-proof and no noise escaped beyond its walls.

I was just about to leave in dark despair when a young man pulled my sleeve and said, "There is still hope."

Yr mst Obt, Hmbl & Dvted Srvt,

CATO

(Note: Soon we will examine the "hope" of which he spoke.)

Carolina

LAST TIMES TODAY

Dean Martin — Jerry Lewis

— In —

"THE STOOGE"

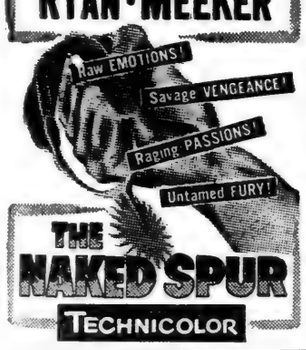
SATURDAY

SCREEN'S MOST STUPENDOUS SPECTACLE!

ROBERT HAGGIAG presents THE THIEF OF VENICE

MARIA MONTEZ · PAUL CHRISTIAN

FAYE MARLOWE · MASSIMO SERATO



LATE SHOW SATURDAY

SUNDAY — MONDAY

M-G-M's GREAT DRAMA!

JAMES STEWART · JANET LEIGH

ROBERT RYAN · RALPH MEEKER

THE NAKED SPUR

TECHNICOLOR

THE SHAME OF OUR COLLEGES

Are we a nation of uneducated people with college degrees? Do less than half of our students in college actually belong there? Why is today's campus the target of Communist propaganda—a hotbed of sports scandal—a marriage mart for enterprising females? Don't miss Louis Bromfield's shocking expose, "The Shame of Our Colleges,"—

in March

Esquire

on the newsstands today

CLASSIFIEDS

LOST 12

FROM 215 PITTSBORO STREET Large Black Labrodor Retriever. Reward. Phone 9-2586. (1-3473-1)

MISSING FROM SWAIN HALL. One Audio-Master three speed transcription player in orange plastic case. Notify police or Bureau of Visual Education if you have information about its location. (1-3474-2)

RIDERS WANTED 18A

RIDERS TO DURHAM. LEAVE Chapel Hill 8:15 a.m. Return 5:00 p.m. Call 9-9552 after 6:00 p.m. (1-3472-2)

ANNOUNCEMENTS 1

SHOPMENT SHEPHANS GUARanteed Dandruf Remover just arrived. Graham Memorial Barber Shop. (Chg. 1x1)

FOUND 6C

THIS QUARTER'S OUTSTANDING Sundae. Delicious Caramel Toasted Pecan topping over your favorite flavor of Gold Seal Ice Cream. You too can find this sundae at The Dairy Bar. This week's Special—29c.

PERSONAL

EVERYMAN—A BOOK FROM the Intimate Bookshop, all gift-wrapped nice and pretty, might melt my heart on St. Valentines Day. Everybiddy. (Chg 1x1)

HELP WANTED 8

MUSICIANS WANTED: ROY COLE Orchestra, Call 9-2858 at mealtime. (1-c3470-3)

Swimmers Meet Emory Here Tomorrow; Seek Eighth Win

By John Hussey

The Carolina swimming team will play host to Emory University here tomorrow in its last home meet of the season. The meet is scheduled for two o'clock.

The Tar Heels will be looking for their eighth victory of the season without a defeat. If they win, it will be their thirty-fifth consecutive dual meet victory over a period of four years.

In last week's meet with Florida, sophomore Jack Edwards established a new University record in the 100 yard freestyle when he turned in a time of 51.7.

Tomorrow Coach Ralph Casey will start Buddy Baarcke, Barry Wall, and Edwards in the 300 yard medley relay. This is the team that established the present University record in that event.

In the 220 will be Larry Shannon and co-captain Stan Tinkham.

Buddy Heins and Duke Widoff will represent the Tar Heels in the fifty yard freestyle. Warren Heeman will swim the 150 individual medley.

Joe Kelso will be opposed by Emory's Jim Jacks, a prominent diver from Atlanta. Co-captain Donnie Evans will swim the 440 yard freestyle. It will be the first time this year that Evans has been in this event.

Baarcke, Edwards, Tinkham, and Heins will swim for the Tar Heels in the 400 yard freestyle relay.

Jayvee Swimmers Meet Richmond 'Y'

Carolina's JV swimmers will go for their fifth victory of the season when they play host to Richmond YMCA at 4 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

The Tar Babies, showing more improvement with each meet, will swim the freshman distances in this meet. Although the line-up for Saturday's meet is indefinite, Coach Jamerson will probably rely on the same boys who have performed in the previous meets.

This would include Pat Eldridge and Pete Dannenbaum in the 50 free-style, with Fred Diffenbach and John Harden on the starting line in the backstroke event.

Gray McAllister and Jerry Woltz will be ready for duty in the breaststroke, while Jack Parks and Lee Holmes will likely perform in the 200 free-style.

On Valentine's Day Give

Sonnets from the Portuguese

When Elizabeth Barrett fell for Robert Browning, she went through the old wringer just like you and me. If you can't afford a copy of her book, bring the One Girl in the World in for a browser's sigh-fest!

The Intimate Bookshop

205 E. FRANKLIN ST.

OPEN EVENINGS

Tar Heels Try To Hit Win Column After Losing Three Games In Row

Carolina's basketball team, its winning streak cooled by three straight losses, goes to Columbia, S. C. tonight and will try to regain the win column and take its 14th Southern Conference victory at the expense of South Carolina.

Coach Frank Johnson's Gamecocks are the outstanding team in the southernmost part of the Conference, with recent wins over Furman, Davidson, and Clemson. The Gamecocks only loss last week was to N. C. State.

Vince Grimaldi, Al Lifson, Bud Maddie, and Jerry Vayda will carry the brunt of the attack for the Tar Heels during the Southern trip that also includes a game with The Citadel Saturday night in Charleston.

Lifson has pulled even with Grimaldi in team scoring, with both guards holding a 15.7 point-per-game average. Vayda is third, and Maddie runs a close fourth.

Wrestlers Go Against State

Coach Sam Barnes' wrestlers will go after their third win of the season this afternoon when they meet N. C. State in Raleigh. The matmen have lost four matches.

The team will be led by captain Eddie Haines, who has been the outstanding man on the squad this year. Also outstanding has been Miles Gregory, probably the most improved player on the squad. The Tar Heels' next home match is on February 20, against Washington and Lee.

What's the Greatest Game You Ever Saw?

SPORT Magazine is offering

$2,000

in Cash Prizes!

Here's your chance to be a sportswriter! If you are not a polished writer, don't worry. SPORT is chiefly interested in exciting sports moments told in detail.

For contest rules

Get March SPORT Magazine

At Your Newsstand Now

JAMES MASON in "THE SECRET SHARER" by JOSEPH CONRAD with GENE LOCKHART · MICHAEL PATE

HUNTINGTON HARTFORD presents

THE NEW SCREEN IDEA DUO-DRAMA

FACE TO FACE

two classic action stories . . . two top casts . . . in one thrilling feature!

ROBERT PRESTON in "THE BRIDE COMES TO YELLOW SKY" by STEPHEN CRANE introducing MARJORIE STEELE · with MINOR WATSON

RKO RADIO

LATE SHOW SATURDAY NIGHT

Sunday—Monday

Varsity

Here lies what's left of John McNay He forgot His Wife on Valentine's Day

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. Franklin St.

Open Evenings

In Durham---------

HARVEY'S CAFETERIA

AND

BANQUET SERVICE

Breakfast 6:30 - 9:15

Lunch 11 - 2.30

Supper 5 - 8:05

Special Facilities For All Fraternity & Sorority Functions

103 E. MAIN STREET, DURHAM

A MAN WHOSE GUN WAS FOR HIRE...

AND THE WOMAN WHO PAID HIS PRICE!

Together they drove a maddened herd and mutinous men...to smash the spoiler-rule of Montana's landlocked mountain empire!

THE STORY OF THE FIRST GREAT DRIVE TO THE YELLOWSTONE!

GUNSMOKE

COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR

Starring

AUDIE MURPHY · SUSAN CABOT · PAUL KELLY

with CHARLES DRAKE · MARY CASTLE

DIRECTED BY NATHAN JURAN · SCREENPLAY BY D. D. BEAUCHAMP · PRODUCED BY AARON ROSENBERG · A Universal-International Picture

Universal-International

World Premiere!

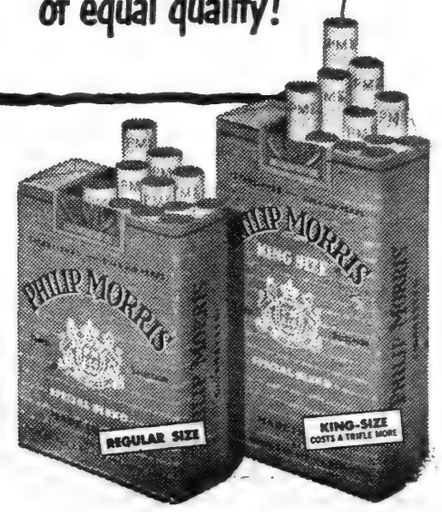
T-O-D-A-Y — SATURDAY

Varsity THEATRE

Chapel Hill, N. C.

HERE IT IS!

PHILIP MORRIS KING-SIZE



...the only leading King-Size cigarette made an exclusively different way to avoid the main cause of irritation!

NOW! PHILIP MORRIS is available in the new KING-SIZE for longer smoking enjoyment.

Remember, you'll feel better when you change to PHILIP MORRIS. In case after case, coughs due to smoking disappear . . . parched throat clears up . . . that stale, "smoked-out" feeling vanishes!

So take your choice, but make your choice PHILIP MORRIS—America's Most Enjoyable Cigarette!

KING-SIZE or REGULAR you cannot buy any other cigarette of equal quality!

KING-SIZE or REGULAR

YOU'LL FEEL BETTER smoking PHILIP MORRIS

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS

Campus Carousel

By Deenie Schoeppe

While you's all madly learning the bunny hop, here are a few social notes from all over.

For their Germans weekend, the KA's are having a casual little gangster party at the old schoolhouse on the Greensboro Road tonight. Appropriate, huh? It's going to be in the real old fashioned speakeasy style. Tomorrow night they'll have cocktails at the house after the dance.

The Ranch House will be taken over by St. A's and dates Saturday night for dinner and dancing plus combo.

At the Rathskeller will be the Chi Psi's tomorrow afternoon. Somewhere along the way they'll have a "Roaring Twenties" party complete with roulette wheels, costumes and a combo.

Phi Delt Pat Samonds will now be seen in black face. That's what happens when you sit in a fire place.

Oh, that Chi Psi I said was pinned last week wasn't pinned at all. Life's like that. Sorry.

The SAE's, Deke's and Zete's are having une huge one tomorrow night at the Washington Duke.

Deke's are having a few other little functions too, like a breakfast at the house after the dance tonight and a party to the enchanting music of "Hoagy" Carmichael before the concert tomorrow. Forgot to mention a champagne party at Jack's Friday afternoon. Just an average weekend.

Pika's will go to Smith's Lake in Durham for a cabin party tonight.

Sigma Chi's will have a combo tonight after the dance and a Watts Grill party tomorrow and more combo at the house.

Time for a pinning or two. A Zete this time. First one this year I think. Ed Gause of Wilson pinned Anna Joan Boyn from WC.

Theta Chi Al Perry, Charlotte, is engaged to 52 grad Mike Green, Thomasville. Theta Chi's will do their weekend celebrating at the house with a couple of parties.

And the ZBT's will be hosts to Goucher girls this weekend. They will have a combo and party tonight.

The Wood Smethurst says the ATO's are partying at Turnage's tomorrow night.

Pi Kappa Phi's will party all weekend and serve cocktails tomorrow afternoon.

This is Pi Lam houseparty weekend and they'll have a pledge banquet at the Burlington Country Club, parties at the house all weekend with cocktails and pj. Another "just average" weekend.

Sigma Nu's will have a b.y.o. party at the Legion Hut tomorrow from 8 till Sunday. There. Not one mean thing did I say.

Mo' pinnings. Pi Lam Jerry Moff, Burlington, pinned Roberta Paley, Miami Beach.

Delta Sigma Pi Al Joe Braxton, Scotland Neck, pinned Evelyn Booth, a Meredith girl and also from Scotland Neck.

Delta Sigma Pi's will have their pledge banquet at the Inn tomorrow night, followed by pahty at the house.

Chi Phi's partying will also be done at the house Saturday night.

Beta's will be at Turnage's Saturday morning for a cocktail party and will have dinner and a party Saturday night.

Beta Jake Froelich is engaged to Mary Strickland. Both are from High Point.

Saddle Club—knew we couldn't miss that—Phi Delt's and dates will have dinner and a party there tomorrow night. Tonight Phi Delts will have much big combo at the house from 1 to 4 ayem.

Phi Kaps and dates will have a breakfast or two and maybe a few parties in between.

There isn't one place within a 50 mile radius that isn't being taken over by Carolina this weekend. Kappa Sigs will head Crab Tree Creek-ward for a cabin party tomorrow night. By that time they ought to be jush fine cause they're having a champagne party at the house all afternoon.

Lambda Chi's will celebrate with a beer party at the house. They sho' do like their beer.

Seem to have kinda' left out the sorority news completely.

Tri Delt Calire Boone, new pinup of Tommy Peacock, was serenaded by the Chi Phi's Wednesday night.

Chi O Anna Redding, Manhassett, L. I., is engaged to Howard Pitts, an SAE at Duke.

Happy bunny hopping.

Chapman Elected To Head Alpha Delta Pi Sorority

Beta Upsilon chapter of Alpha Delta Pi sorority has elected officers for the coming year.

Elected were Alice Chapman, Welch, W. Va., president; Emily Cooke, Arlington, Va., vice-president; Ann Folger, High Point, recording secretary; Marilyn Habel, Chapel Hill, corresponding secretary; Kitty Lee, Lumberton, treasurer; Lynda Vestal, Liberty, Social chairman; Pat Bohnenkamp, St. Louis, Mo. and Helen Faust, Asheboro, co-rush chairmen.

—Clinic—

(Continued from page 1)

del, Howard Hanson, Johann Strauss, Borodin and others.

High schools to be represented are located in Charlotte, Raleigh, Greensboro, High Point, Winston-Salem, Kannapolis, Concord, Salisbury, Boone, Tipton Hill and Waynesville.

Students going to the biology building have narrowly escaped being hit by a flying cat's liver or some other animal innard. The department has issued a statement condemning the entire business and warning the scientists that "This isn't the right way to dispose of used biology experiments."

Initiation Held For Pi Phi's

Mary Lowrey was named "model pledge" of North Carolina Alpha chapter of Pi Beta Phi sorority at its initiation banquet held Wednesday night at the Carolina Inn.

Eleanor Saunders and Mary Lowrey were given scholarship awards of gold Pi Beta Phi rings. Gardenia corsages were presented each of the new initiates. Toasts were made by Chapter President Bish Fox, Roanoke, Va., Ann Fitzgerald, pledge class president, and Dee Breslow, Rahway, N. J. pledge trainer.

Recent Pi Phi initiates are: Betty Otto Anderson, Port St. Joe, Fla.; Ann Benton, Wilmington; Lucy Briney, Madisonville, Ky.; Mary Jane Bumpous, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Barbara Burgess, Maplewood, N. J.; Edith Cross, Gatesville; Len Daniel, Coral Gables, Fla.; Nancy Davis, Rainelle, W. Va.; Jo Deming, Cynthiana, Ky.; Ann Fitzgerald, Princeton; Joan Gant, Atlanta, Ga.; Rosalyn Gasque, Rockingham; Sara Leek, Thomasville; Mary Lowrey, Atlanta, Ga.; Ann McCulluch, Bluefield, W. Va.; Connie Moore, Norfolk, Va.; Betty Parsons, Jasper, Ga.; Ellen Prouty, Dalton, Ga.; Tish Rodman, Norfolk, Va.; and Eleanor Saunders, Chapel Hill.

KD's Initiate, Have Banquet

Beta Chi chapter of Kappa Delta held initiation services Sunday afternoon.

The following girls were initiated: Betsy Clarke, Goldsboro; Anne Guiton, Whitesville; Mary Jane Harrison, Montgomery, Ala.; Peg Hall, Salyersville, Ky.; Alice Jones, Warrenton; Carolyn Little, Concord;

Cathy Newlin, Haw River; Peggy Pierpont, Chapel Hill; Mary Jo Rader, Miami Shores, Fla.; Joan Russell, Kenmore; Hilda Simpson Erwin; Lib Suddreth; and Betty George Williams of Leesburg, Fla.

A banquet was held in the Pine Room of the Carolina Inn following the initiation for actives, new initiates, and alumnae of Chapel Hill and Raleigh. Mrs. Earl W. Brian of Raleigh spoke briefly to the group.

Outstanding pledge award was presented to Carolyn Little of Concord. The scholarship award was presented to Edith Rogers of Wilmington.

CHERRY POINT — The Marine Corps has reported that one of its F9F Panther jet fighter planes was outrun by a mysterious object with red lights that zoomed across the North Carolina skies and disappeared near the coast. An official Marine Corps statement said the chase took place on Monday night after planes at the Edenton Auxiliary Air Station had been alerted to watch for the object.

It's Founder's Week AT A&P

A&P

Come see the scores of Dollar-Stretching values that show how faithfully we follow our Founder's Advice "Give the People the most you can for their money.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Row upon row of the best things that grow are marked with lowest possible price at A&P.

Sweet Juicy Winesap APPLES 5-Lb. Bag 59c

Crisp and Golden Carrots 1-Lb. Cello Pkg. 10c

Juicy Florida Oranges - - - - - - 8-Lb. Bag 45c

U. S. No. 1 White Potatoes - - - - - - 10-Lb. Bag 49c

Juicy 54's Grapefruit - - - 4 For 23c

SCOTCH MAID FROZEN VEGETABLES
GREEN BEANS — PEAS
BROCCOLI — LIMA BEANS
2 10-Oz. Pkgs. 33c

Ann Page Grape Jelly - - - - - - 12-Oz. Jar 19c

Ann Page Ketchup . . . . . 2 14-Oz. Bots. 35c

Ann Page French Dressing . . . . 8-Oz. Jar 17c

Ann Page Tomato Soup . . . . . 3 Cans 29c

Mild American Cheese - - - Lb. 49c

Peas Green Giant 2 17-Oz. Cans 37c

Whitehouse Evap. Milk - - - 3 Tall 14½-Oz. Cans 40c

Iona Cut Green Beans - - 2 15½-Oz. Cans 25c

Golden Maid Margarine 1-Lb. Pkg. 21c

Red Band Flour - - - - 10-Lb. Bag 99c

Betty Crocker White Cake Mix Pkg. 35c

Campbell's Tomato Soup 2 10½-Oz. Cans 23c

Mild & Mellow 8 O'CLOCK COFFEE 1-Lb. Bag 77c 3-Lb. Bag $2.25
Red Circle 1-Lb. Pkg. 79c
Bokar - - - 1-Lb. Pkg. 81c

Jane Parker Plain Sugared Cinnamon DONUTS 1 Doz. Pkg. 19c
Jane Parker Golden Loaf Cake 25c

MARCAL
Wax Paper Kitchen Charm - - - - - Pkg. 21c
Dinner Napkins - - - - - - - - - - 40 Ct. Pkg. 15c
Paper Napkins - - - - - - - - - - 80 Ct. Pkg. 10c
Toilet Tissue - - - - - - - - - - 2 Rolls 19c
Sandwich Bags - - - - - - - - - - Pkg. 10c

Wesson Oil . . Pt. Bot. 33c Qt. Bot. 63c
Snowdrift . . 3 Lb. Can 89c
Peanut Butter Peter Pan 12-Oz. Jar 35c
Peanuts Peter Pan Salted 7½-Oz. Can 29c
Vel . . . . . Lge. Pkg. 29c
Fab . . . . Lge. Pkg. 29c Giant Pkg. 69c
Octagon Soap . . . 2 Bars 13c
Octagon Soap Powder . . 1 lb. 14-oz. 20¢
Ajax Cleanser . . . . . Can 12c
Lux Flakes . . . . . Lge. Pkg. 27c
Ivory Soap . . . . 3 Med. Bars 23c
Tide Soap Powder . . Lge. Pkg. 29c Gt. Pkg. 69c
Joy P & G Liquid Detergent . . . . Bot. 29c
P&G Soap . . . . . 3 Bars 22c
Crisco . . . . 1-Lb. Can 32c 3-Lb. Can 89c
Syrup Blue Label Karo . . . . . Pt. Bot. 21c

"Super-Right" Meats

U. S. Choice Western Beef Bone-In SIRLOIN OR CLUB STEAKS - Lb. 85c

U. S. Choice Western Beef POT ROAST Chuck Blade Lb. 49c

Fresh Loin End PORK ROAST - - - Lb. 43c

Dry Salt STREAKED MEAT - Lb. 29c

Morrells Pride Smoked Short Shank—4 to 6 Lb. Average SHOULDER PICNICS Lb. 39c

Center Cut Rib PORK CHOPS - - - Lb. 55c

Wilson Corn King SLICED BACON - - 1-Lb. Pkg. 49c

Nice Thick FAT BACK - - - - - - Lb. 15c

Headless and Dressed WHITING - - - - - - - Lb. 15c

Swift Premium FRANKS - 1-Lb. Pkg. 49c

These Prices Effective Thru Sat. Feb. 14th

A&P Super Markets
THE GREAT ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC TEA COMPANY

SALE

GROUP OF TIMELY & FORSTMANN SUITS
REDUCED 25%

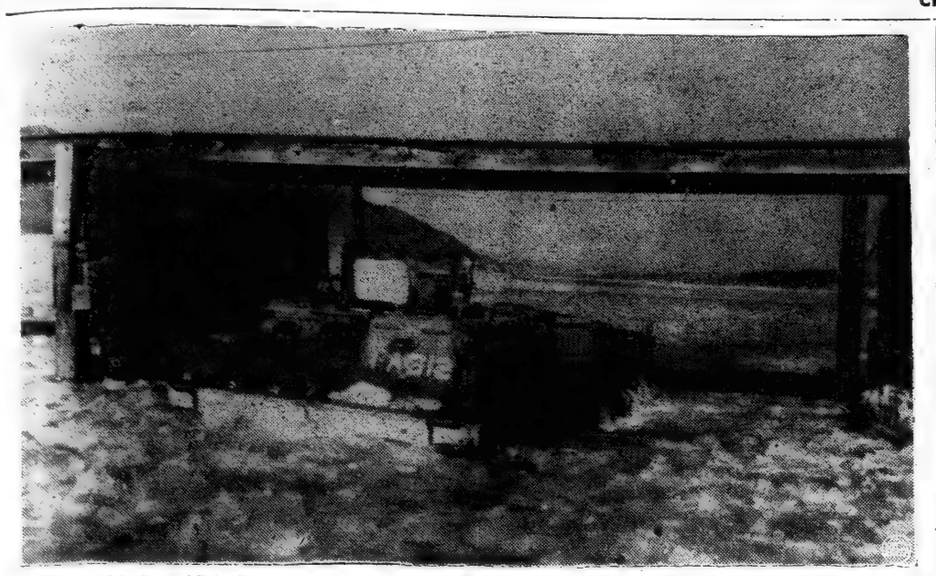
HARRIS TWEED TOPCOATS
WERE $65.00 ---------- NOW $49.00

SLACKS GREATLY REDUCED
SOME AT $8.95

SPECIAL GROUP OF SHOES
By FLORSHEIM & FRENCH SHRINER
WERE $19.95 ---------- NOW $14.95

LARGE SELECTION OF SPORTCOATS
AT $29.95

Julian's College Shop



U N C LIBRARY
SERIARS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Cloudy with some rain. High today, 50. Yesterday's high, 55. Low, 42.

The Daily Tar Heel

A&P
The Livespike examines a stride — supermarkets to cinema. Page 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 95 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

A REAL "COLD WAR"—Troops in Korea are continuing their fight against the cold weather, and in case there's some doubt as to how cold it really is, here's the proof. A Marine amphibious tractor acts as ice-breaker on a crossing of the frozen Imjin River. The ice on the stream has to be broken like this daily to keep it from freezing solid and destroying the United Nations bridge across which troops and supplies must pass.—NEA Telephoto.

Gray Asks For State Aid In TV

He'd make the point before and he made it again.

"Here is an opportunity for education that should not be allowed to go by default," President Gray told the state educational television commission Thursday in Raleigh.

Gray added, "But North Carolina must realize that there will be more to educational TV than merely applying for eight channels. Television isn't going to be cheap. It is going to take money."

At least a part of that money already has been pledged, Gray revealed. The University has been offered $100,000 by a foundation for TV work if $200,000 in matching funds can be raised He said the University hopes to get the matching funds from private sources and to set up its TV station with private funds.

The University wants to help make educational television work, he said, but it doesn't want to take on the job without help. "Let us say," he told the hearing, "that the University of North Carolina doesn't want to operate eight television channels"

The Consolidated University president had another reminder If educational TV is to succeed, it must be good. The audiences for whom the program is intended won't watch, he warned, unless the educational shows are at least as well presented as the commercial shows.

Several months ago, Gray addressed a TV meeting in Chapel Hill and made the pooint about not letting educational TV go "by default."

Chapel Hill has been assigned Channel 4, very high frequency. However, the University is likely the only educational institution in the town which would have the funds to utilize the channel. Unless the channel here, as well as the seven other channels alloted in the state, are acted upon by the state before June 2, they will be thrown open to commercial operators.

Penegar Is Likely SP Presidential Choice

Ken Penegar, much talked of as a presidential candidate, is expected tomorrow night to be officially tapped by the Student Party as their choice for the top student government post.

Penegar, a junior from Gastonia, is at present speaker of the Di Senate, Student Union Activities Board Chairman and chairman of the Carolina Forum. He ran for secretary-treasurer of the student body last spring, losing by 198 votes to University Party candidate, Ed Gross.

Although other possible SP presidential candidates have been mentioned, Penegar's name has been on the tongues of Student Party politicians since this fall, and it is generally believed that he will get the nomination without too much of a battle.

Ken Myers, who has expressed desires for the post, is expected to make a bid for the nomination. Myers is chairman of the Debate Council and a long time SP member.ber.

Despite rumors that Peneger hasn't the grade requirements for the post, a certified report shows that he barely has the required average. An academic average of C or higher for the two quarters preceding the election is required of all candidates for office.

Grade requirements have in the past barred many favorite political candidates. In 1951, many of the top men of both parties were disqualified because of lack of the minimum academic averages. A test case before the Student Council in that year resulted in an upholding of the minimum grade law.

The SP presidential favorite, Penegar, has in the past made no comments concerning his running, but he has indicated that he would not object to running for the top student government seat.

Other nominations on tomorrow night's slate are for Legislature seats for town men and women. Most dormitory seats were filled a tthe last nominating session.

Other nominations on tomorrow night's slate are for Legislalature seats for town men and women. Most dormitory seats were filled at the last nominating session.

(See PENEGAR, page 4)

Old Jazz Back

Anthony's 'Dixie' Fans' High Note

By Louis Kraar

Ray Anthony yesterday afternoon brought an old friend back to Carolina—dixieland jazz.

The versatile Anthony, who looks like Cary Grant and whose orchestra is sometimes reminiscent of Glenn Miller's group filled bulging Memorial Hall full of students with a brand of jazz that, they agreed, was unlike any heard here in a long time.

Kicking off early in the concert with a dixie version of "Darktown Strutter's Ball," Anthony gained the help of hundreds of clapping hands for his rhythm section. The two-beat jazz brought a wave of approval from the clapping crowd. And the dixieland numbers throughout the show were the highlights of the afternoon.

"Dixieland music certainly is popular here in the South," commented Anthony himself during an intermission chat. The reason, he said, was as unknown to him as to most others.

Asked if he preferred concerts to dances, the "young-man-with-the horn" said, "I like them both very much. But you know in a concert you're playing to a more compact group who are very close to you. You can do more things then."

Anthony took advantage of that "compact group" to display such "Slaughter On Tenth Avenue" and precision serious numbers as "The Grand Canyon Suite." The distinctive sound of the band on these arrangements as well as popular dance tunes prompted such ecstatic comments from the audience as, "They are the greatest. Simply the greatest."

The famed arrangement of "When The Saints Go Marching In" brought the complete Anthony aggregation marching throuh the audience in what most agreed was the high spot of the program.

Joanne Greer, a songstress, offered pleasing renditions of "When My Sugar Walks Down The Street" and "Till I Waltz Again With You." Miss Greer, who until three weeks ago was doing movie singing which was dubbed in for other stars, had some kind words for Carolina during intermission. "I love the food and the campus," she said. "You can feel the way a school is the first night in the gym," she said and then went on to tell how she liked it here.

Energetic Anthony set the pace for the whole show. Alternately he played the trumpet, danced, directed the orchestra and even sang. Anthony's trumpet style, one that is definitely all his own, was characterized by the ease with which he played and the apparently strenious bendings of his body that accompanied each phrase. He seemed to be coaxing the notes out. And they obeyed all the time.

The concert climaxed on the front steps of the hall where Anthony had led his bandsmen to the tune of the "Bunny Hop."

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dulles reportedly promised senators Friday that the Eisenhower administration will consult Congress and U. S. Allies before undertaking any drastic new moves in the Far East. A curtain of secrecy around Dulles' testimony, imposed at his request, developed quick holes as members of a Senate foreign relations subcommittee gave newsmen their impressions of what he said. Committee members said Dulles informed them the administration is not planning any action now toward a blockade of Red China.

★

VATICAN CITY—Pope Pius XII intervened in Washington last December in behalf of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, the convicted atomic spies whom President Eisenhower has since refused to save from the electric chair, Roman Catholic Church sourcse said yesterday. The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano announced the Pontiff stepped in as an act of mercy "insofar as it was permitted him by the lack of every official relation with the competent (American) government authorities." The newspaper gave no details as to how or when the Pope acted on behalf of the couple, Jewish natives of New York.

★

WASHINGTON — The government has freed auto manufacturers to make all the cars and trucks they can as Eisenhower administration began tearing down the two-year-old basic industrial rationing system. Acting Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming announced that, effective Friday, all steel, copper and aluminum left over after defense and authorized civilian requirements are met will be sold on the open market. All civilian allocations of the three metals will end June 30. Officials said the action meant that production ceilings on autos and trucks now are ended.

★

SEOUL—Allied troops were alert yesterday for an explosive observation by the Reds on this Chinese New Year's Day. On the eve of the holiday, the Reds broke out a rash of attacks that cost them 200 in dead and wounded. Yesterday, in addition to being the old-style Chinese New Year's Day, also is the third anniversary of the signing of a mutual security pact between Russia and China.

Jones Won't Quit; Church May Act

The Rev. Charles H. Jones has efused the request of Orange Presbytery's Judicial Commission that he resign his pastorate here.

In a letter given to Commission Chairman the Rev. Z. T. Piephoff in Greensboro today the 46-year-old minister acknowledged the judicial group's authority to remove him, but declared that he could not in honesty resign "for the welfare of the church" as he had been requested to do.

A special meeting of the congregation has been called in the church at noon today following the 11 o'clock worship services. The Rev. Robert J. McMullen, acting pastor, said the meeting would be for th epurpose of informing the congregation of the latest developments in the situation. The congregation may take action, other sources have said.

Mr. Jones met with the local church officers here last night to tell them of his meeting with the Commission last Monday in Greensboro. At the Monday meeting, it is known, the Commission unanimously requested his resignation. However as yet the Commission has not even acknowledged the fact that this meeting took place.

Mr. Jones declined to make any comment at all on Monday's or last night's meeting, but made public a copy of his letter to the Commission today after it had been delivered to the Rev. Mr. Piephoff.

In this letter he answered an earlier suggestion by the Commission that if he would resign his pastorate some substantial financial contribution to the Chapel Hill church program might be forthcoming. This suggestion was not made directly by the Commission, but was inferred in a written report by the Commission to the church congregation in December.

The minister said he would return to his Kingsport, Tenn., temporary residence late today. He had no comments on his situation other than those contained in his letter, the text of which follows:

"Your request for my voluntary resignation from the pastorate of the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church, on the grounds that it will be for the welfare of the Church, has been carefully considered. I must decline the request.

"The officers of the church, by a unanimous vote, and the members of the church, by a vote of 156 to 14, have expressed their conviction that the pastoral relationship should be continued for the welfare of the church. This is based upon the experience of the people, officers and pastor have past 12 years, during which the worked together in a spirit of convancement of a church program fidence and affection, for the addesigned to meet the unique needs of this congregation, campus and community.

"You have stated in your report and in conference with us that the Chapel Hill Church does not have the confidence of Presbyterians in the Synod. At no time has the Commission presented to us substantial evidence of any such lack of confidence. On the contrary, I have received from members, officers and ministers of Presbyterian Churches in various parts of the State, and region, and from many former students and professors in the University in other parts of the country, unsolicited

(See JONES, page 4)

Campus Seen

Student admiring bright green jackets of Ray Anthony's bandsmen, commented, "I want three of those tomorrow."

* * *

A wayward cockroach temporarily breaking up Psychology class by causing a very unconditioned response from a young coed.

* * *

Two students holding formal debate on steps of new Business Administration building, arguing over the values of a Liberal Arts education.

Status Change May Cut Many NC Deferments

North Carolina students may have their draft deferment status changed before the year is out, according to a report from Col. T. H. Upton, state director of Selective Service.

Along with more than 50,000 men now deferred because of fatherhood an doccupational reasons, some students may be reclassified to meet the heavy drain on Tar Heel manpower for the draft.

"It looks as if there will have to be a tightening up in deferments of fathers and students,"said Col. Upton.

At the same time he announced that next month the boards will begin to call 19-yearolds. When this age level reserve is exhausted, provisions will have to be made to dig into the deferred class on present levels, or earlier if there is any unusual demand for the armed forces.

Boys in the 19-year-old class will begin receiving their pre-induction physical examinations this month and report for induction when their local boards begin filling March quotas.

Discussing the manpower eligible for the draft and now deferred for various reasons, Col. Upton said 41,052 have received dependency deferments, including fathers and non-fathers; 356 have received industrial occupational deferments; 1,533 have received from deferments and 3,586 have received education deferments.

"What is done about drafting men after the 19-year-olds have been exhausted will depend entirely upon what happen on a national level," declared the colonel," and we have no way of knowing at the present."

Leavitt Will Represent Carolina At Centenary

Dr. Sturgis E. Leavitt, Kenan professor of Spanish in the University, will represent the United States again at a Latin America centenary during the coming week.

He has been invited to Cuba to deliver one of the principal addresses at the academic celebration February 20-27 of the 100th anniversary of Jose Marti, the great Cuban patriot and liberator.

Dr. Leavitt, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Leavitt, will speak in Spanish on "Marti-Interpreter of the United States" at a Congress of writers interested in Marti to be attended by delegates from European countries as well as all the South American nations.

Marti came to the United States in 1881 to make his living as a writer, and for 14 years he wrote illuminating articles on all phases of North American life for newspapers in his native Cuba and in a number of South American countries.

The University Press, which has just published Manuel Pedro Gonzalez's book, "Jose Marti—Epic Chronicler of the United States in the Eighties," says the patriot "served as the best interpreter between the two Americans ever known. Marti, the great Cuban patriot, who lost his life in Cuba's fight for independence, belongs also to the United States, where he ived for 15 years."

Dr. Leavitt's introduction in the Gonzalez book, says "more important than the picture of life in the United States is Marti himself. Gonzalez presents to the North American public for the first time the figure of the great Cuban patriot and martyr . . . He gives an insight

Emlyn Williams Will Portray Dickens Folk

Forty-two Dickens characters, through remarkable voice range and rare pantomine, will be portrayed by Emlyn Williams, noted Welsh playwright, actor and director, when he is presented by the Carolina Playmakers in Memorial Hall on March 7.

Impersonating characters from selections by the famous English writer, Williams' program will include scenes from "Our Mutual Friend," "Dombey and Son," "A Tale of Two Cities," "Christmas Stories," and "Pickwick Papers." With his portrayals, he depicts graphically the life and society of two eras, the England Dickens knew and the period leading up to the French Revolution.

Tickets for the performance are now on sale at the Playmakers business office in Swain Hall.

When called upon to make a curtain speech at the end of his last Broadway performance of the Dickens program, Williams concluded his address, after announcing he would return for another Broadway run following his current national tour, with these words: "With your permission, I shall once again return to these garish lights; until then, I remain your obedient servant."

SP Candidates Get Approval

Student Party candidates for dormitory Legislature seats were approved by the Dean of Students office yesterday.

In order to be approved, nominees must have a C average or better for the two quarters preceding the election.

The nominees are: Cam Stubbs, Joe Roberson, John Ingle, Manning Muntzing, Harold White, Ray Long, Joel Fleishman, Gilbert Ragland, Charlie Wolf, Norwood Bryan, Charles Katzenstein, Hartwell Conklin, Don Fowler, Anita Anderon and Edith Cross.

HORACE HEIDT

Carolina students will have an opportunity to audition their talent before Horace Heidt tomorrow night at 7 p.m. in the Washington Duke Hotel Ballroom.

The Horace Heidt show, which is being sponsored by the Durham Lions Club, will be held in the Durham High Gymnasium Saturday night, Feb. 28, at 8 o'clock. Persons selected from those appearing at the audition will perform at the show.

The requisites for appearing at the audition are: they persons must perform in groups of not more than four, they must be at least 14 years old, they must bring their own music and accompament, and they may be either professional or amateur.

The Durham Lions Club is sponsoring the show in order to raise funds for their work with the blind.

LIBRARY DISPLAY

The University Library opened a series of displays this week on "Industrial Relations: Sources of Information." The first of the series consists of publications available from the National Association of Manufacturers. Included in the showing are research pamphlets entitled: Industry and Government Research, Financing Small Business, and Your Opportunity in Management.

The materials for the display were lent to the Library by Alpha Kappa Psi, national professional fraternity in business administration, from files at the UNC chapter house.

UNDER THE CURIOUS EYE of one of her police escorts, Christine Jorgensen, 26-year-old blonde protographer, is pictured as she arrived in New York from Denmark. The ex-GI, who went to Copenhagen two years ago, had her sex changed from male to female by Danish doctors.—NEA Telephoto.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. — Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. P. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

Night Editor for this issue: Louis Kraar

To See Ourselves

(Editor's note: The foilowing article was written for the Lambda Lite by Dr. James E. King, Jr. associate professor of history and here and a member of Phi chapter of Phi Kappa Sigma).

It is an ironic fact that the fraternity system which owes its existance to the inherent propensity of students to achieve a sense of brotherhood with fellow students generally succeeds in sowing the seeds of brotherhood. Whatever its undoubted merits from the standpoint of individual members it should be clearly understood that in the very act of association these members have voluntarily assumed a burden of ill will which, however veiled or sublimated, will tend to separate them during their college careers from the non-fraternal student body. This demerit of the fraternity life is so real and serious that every every candidate for admission should be urged to carefully weigh his decision before accepting a pledge pin. The companionship of a few may not compensate the loss of cordial relations with many.

On every campus where fraternities flourish a large body of distinguished students are encountered who have rejected here but the wise fraternity man will not ignor or shrug off fraternal bids on the grounds of principle. Their objections to the system are too well known to require trite repetition such opinions. Moreover there are members in every fraternity, and not necessarily unpopular or uncooperative members, who freely admit that they retain some conscientious scruples opposed to their participation. Too there is a large group of fraternal allumni, possibly a majority, who several years after college doubt the wisdom of having joined up in the first place.

Candor requires the recognition of obvious faults in the system but that does no mean, of course, that when all its virtues are considered fraternities may not still be justified on moral and practical grounds. Real society is, afer all, inevitably compartmentalized into voluntary associations on every level in which men are concerned with other men. An affinity of interests, political, moral, or intellectual attracts certain people to the company of certain others and leads to relatively exclusive groupings which can serve constructive or aesthetic purposes. It is true, to be sure, that the selection of associates in a fraternity too often is based upon artificial rather than intrinsically valid criteria. It is no less true, however, in a society which draws its stength primarily from the product of the freedom of individuals that in the final analysis the acceptance or refection of the fraternal life would rest upon the considered and free choice of individuals. Even if it were assumed that the fraternity possesses questionable value as an element in college life, an abridgement of the right of the individual college men to form such voluntary associations would establish a highly illeberal precedent.

The fraternity man may then justly insist on his right to associate but he would at the same time preserve an awareness of the natural social penalties involved in this decision and he should continuously strive, so far as it is possible, to remove those penalties. Undoubtedly many partial remedies to the problem of fraternal and non-fraternal relations will occur to anyone who is animated in the private conduct by the decent rules of courtesy. Tact, amiability and modesty then fused with an active program of participaion in campus projects will go a long way towards establishing a desirable reapproachment.

Express Yourself

"More on Tickets" represents a new low in journalism, even for a Daily Tar Heel editorial. As usual one must suffer through several paragraphs of nonsequitur and insinuation to get to its self-righteous thesis. Dispensing for the moment with the editors' personal grievances with the athletic department and their noble disdain of the dollar, what are the facts?

1. The odd-even passbook priority has been instituted to insure that all the students get an equal opportunity to attend the home games.

2. Tickets not claimed by both odd and even numbered passbook holders by a given date are put up for public sale.

What a sinister conspiracy! Think of the hardship imposed on those loyal, tried and true, red-blooded American Tar Heels. They have to walk all the way down to Woollen Gym just to pick up a ticket that entitles them to watch a basketball game. But of course the real suffering is mental: they have to decide a whole week in advance whether the basketball team will still be good enough for them to watch by the time the game rolls around, or perhaps they should go home for the weekend, or just stick around and swill beer. And while our noble students (without whom ". . . there would be no faculty and no niversity") wrestle with this weighty problem, everyone else must wait.

Well, that would be fine except that the "foreigners with loot"* (mostly alumni, student's parents, dates and other nonentities) don't know till one minute before game time whether there will be any seats available. As a result, people from out of town, being reuctant to take a long trip for nothing, don't see the games. This is as it should be if the students filled the gym at game time. If enough don't go, however, it means seats are being wasted. (The editor graciously admitted that many students don't have either the time or the inclination to see the games.) Thus, in order that the fair weather fans can haev enough time to decide whether their team is really worth supporting, people who really want to see the game are deprived of the opportunity. Then there is the tri- the athletic department through non-use of the wasted seats. Our ofty editors speak so indifferent ly on this venal topic that I fear for them lest McCarthy start his investigation right here in Graham Memorial.

The entire editorial somehow reminds me of the grotesque figure of Don Juan romantically vial matter of the money lost to flailing at the windmill. Between "More On Tickets" and "To the Wolves" I wonder whether the primary requirement of a Tar Heel columnist is paranoia (de-informed).

*To the Woves, by Dorman Cordell. (One of a number of fairy tales for college students and idiots.)

Lee Edward Paul

(Editor's Note: Watch your wind, pal. It was Don Quixote.)

— Norman Jarrard —

Bubu of Montjarnasse

"Mr. T. S. Eliot of St. Louis, where Yogi Berra comes from," picked a good one this time. It is Bubu of Montparnasse, by Charles Louis Philippe (Avon, 125 pp., 25c), carrying a five page Preface by Mr. Eliot. The interpretation of the book given by Eliot seems ineffective in the main—not so much wrong as misleading, He says of Philippe, "He had a gift which is rare enough: The ability not to think, not to generalise." But there are too many epigrammatic passages in the story for that statement to be convincing. As a matter of fact, one of the main reasons I liked Bubu is because of its undisconcerting use of pointed and concise phraseology. Early in the book there is this description of Paris at night, when "vanity, gaiety, lust walked amid the lights": "Paris seemed like a weary dog ,still chasing a bitch in heat." The feeing evoked from that simile is one that is appropriate for the book as a whole, which is the story of the women of the streets of Paris, and their men, of the period around 1900.

The action centers on Berthe Metenier, a youn ggirl who trades in pleasure, Maurice Belu (Bubu), her lover who lives off her earnings, and Pierre Hardy, a customer of Berthe's but one who ikes her for her value as an individual rather than as a commodity. In a sense it is an old story, but so are most stories. A story well told — particularly a simple one such as this—is always worth reading.

The book seems put together with care. There are numerous pleasant stylistic surprises. There are verbal echoes used modestly, for which a reader is always thankfu because they help to get across to him what seems ima thematic nature are welcome, portant to the author. Echoes of too. When the plain-clothes men come to look around, "stiffly, the street walkers pass, without turning their heads, well aware in their slavish minds that might is always right." Berthe "discovered that all Maurice's friends beat their women, and she understood that the ruling law of this world is might.". At one place, "Bubu realized that he who is right, must show his might."

Another aspect of theme reminds us even more clearly that this novel was written in the heyday of the naturalistic novel (someone may want to compare Bubu to Sister Carrie). We get this sentence: "When the five thousand francs are spent after two years of life in common, our destiny is not shaped that day, but its course has already been determined by every gesture we have made and every person we have frequented." As Pierre Hardy walks along the Boulevard Sebastopol we find this comment: "A man walks carrying with him al the properties of his life, and they churn about in his head. something else excites them. For our flesh has retained all our memories, and we mingle them with our desires. We pass through the present with all our luggage, and wherever we go, at whatever instant, we are compete."

Athough this is the story of a prostitute, it is also a story of a pure woman, somewhat like Sister Carrie, even a little like Tess Troublefield. Eliot's most apt comment is a good summation: "In his book, we blame no one, we blame not even a 'social system'; and even the most virtuous, in reading it, may feel; I have inned exceeding in thought, word and deed."

"One Side, Bud—Le're Citizens of Europe Now"

— Fred Crawford —

CPU Roundtable

The Carolina Political Union has finally been persuaded to leave temporarily the high levels of intellectual discussion and consider a topic on a somewhat lower level. The Union, an informal discussion group, has been concerned for some time with questions such as the nature of a liberal university, academic freedom and such abstracts as the nature of progress. Just as one has diffistudent that such questions are culty in convincing the general important, that they can determine whether he himself is to be an industrial slave, bound to a desk or machine, whether he can be punished for thinking, and whether he will be able to aid his society in progressing toward a more perfect state or whether he will impede that progress, knowingly or unknowingly, one also has trouble in convincing the politician or philosopher that such questions as the nature of athetics can be important.

Most of us at one time or another have felt dissatisfaction with the athletic system at Carolina, if only after losing a game. Other times many of us are unable to obtain tickets or decent seats for sporting events. Others of us sorrowfully look on while the University cashier bills us for athletic priviledges we have no intention of ever wanting to use. Others of us look at the athletic scholarship lists, painfully remembering the one we needed so badly and could not get. Others of us when buying our books for the quarter hold out ou rhands out of habit for the rebate slip to provide us with pen and ink for the quarter and then recall that rebates are not being issued any more.

There are a great many more valid complaints that could be hurled against the Carolina way of athletics, but none of these, by themselves, seem to be of prime importance to us. The one evil I see in Carolina athletics is not a practice, but an attitude—the belief of purpoes upon which the great University physical education plant is built. That premise seems to be, as well as I can determine, a belief in athletics for the sake of athletics. This is the belief, which to my way of thing- ing ,leads to professionalibzation of football. It leads to glorification of the winner and villification of the loser. It leads to high tempers by coaches when mistakes or losses occur. It leads to the futile attempt of a five thousand population university trying to compete successfully with a twenty thousand population university. It leads to importation and the erection of false goals.

There are many good things that can be said for athletics; if there were not I would not concern myself with improvement but aboishment. But why can't the Department of Physical Education realize that its first responsibility is to the general student in the University? Why cannot it contract with teams in its own conference, class and background? Why cannot we be concerned with the ove of sport, of trying and improving, and not with winning, and glory, and records, and gate receipts? In short why can we not restsict our athletic activity to the real, the attainable, so that all students may benefit, instead of reaching out for false stars and overstraining finances and tempers in the process and eliminating the weak in favor of the strong.

Express Yourself

Editor:

Since when have you become so endowed with divine insight into the problems of the local Presbyterian Church, even yet into the very soul of man, that you consider yourself qualified to accuse and to judge as you have been doing about the matter of ousting Rev. Jones? Stop and consider, if you will, that there may be those who see beyond your own narrow concept of right and wrong. Who are you to call consecrated Christian leaders of the Presbyterian Synod wicked, evil, foolish, and criminal? Is it for you to say that their souls are lost, to wish upon them the fate of finding no forgiveness for their sins, to title their sponsorship and protection of the great Presbyterian Church "theological claptrap"? By whose authority do you set the Rev. Jones up as "the best among you?" True, you are entitled to your personal opinion. As a gifted writer, you are entitled to put your opinion on paper if you so desire. But it seems in rather poor taste to continually clutter up the pages of our student newspaper with your bitter babblings.

Have you stopped to consider that there are many parents throughout North Carolin awho seriously desire their children to spend four of their most formative years in a college community where their religious life is influenced by a tried and proven doctrine of faith and devotion taught and loved by thousands of Presbyterians down through many generations, rather than in a community where the denomination of their choice is represented by a church where the pastor preaches a mere personal philosophy rather than the Christian religion asinterpreted by the denomination of which he professes to be a part. The teaching of the personal philosophy of any mere human, no matter how good that person or that philosophy may be, should be confined to the classroom and the lecture, leaving the pulpits of our churches reserved to the preaching of Christ's Gospel.

I humbly ask that you think on these things before making any further such rash outbursts as appeared in Thursday's Tar Heel.

Charles Edward Bizzell

— John Gibson —

Bills Mailed Home

While thumbing through the Tar Heel,
On a winter morn,
I came across a clothing ad,
That made my heart grow warm.
It heralded no sale,
No socks to give away,
No neon ties, no cashmere gloves,
No suits like Garroway.
It was a very simple ad,
(Done in monochrome)
And carried, too, a simple theme,
"Your bills are mailed home."

Oh great delight, oh happy day,
A message sure to thrill,
For we can charge, and charge, and charge,
And never get the bill.
Just like the Federal Government,
No balance do we keep,
We purchase here, and purchase there,
At prices dear or cheap.
To and fro across the land,
On buying sprees we roam.
Taste aloné our only judge,
Our bills are mailed home.

The magic of these simple words,
Is something to behold.
For college students are we now,
Our judgment sure and bold.
We are adults, our knowledge great
On politics and sex,
On science, law, atomic power,
And other things complex.
Our voices heard above the crowd,
Our frenzied features foam,
Naught care we for worldly goods,
Our bills are mailed home.

What other lesson half so well
Carries through the theme,
Of growing up, of learning how
To work and yet to dream.
Of self-reliance, judgment fair,
Of confidence in life,
Of choosing well the simple things,
From golf clubs to a wife.
Our lessons learned, the school is out,
We leave with sure aplomb.
Within us housed a strength unmatched,
Our bills are mailed home.

— Rolfe Neill —

The Livespike

The fellow who makes Ann Page peanut butter and other items on the A & P's well-stocked shelves, has turned to movies. Whether or not you like his grocery items you're sure to enjoy his flicks.

Huntington Hartford, heir to the A & P food store fortune, took up movie making as a hobby, and "Face to Face", which is on today and tomorrow at the Varsity, is his initial venture into the celluloid field. Judging by his first born, Mr. Hartford should stay in Hollywood for in our estimation he ranks with Stanley Kramer, Wald & Krasna and the few other creative souls who are Hollywood's excuse for existence.

"Face to Face" yokes a Stephen Crane story to one by Joseph Conrad. Conrad's "The Secret Sharer" is a men and the sea affair. However, the only concession it makes to the typical wind and wave plot is some salty parlance to direct the sailors in their duties.

"The Secret Sharer" is the story of a murdered and a young captain taking over his first ship in the Majesty's fleet. James Mason plays the tormented captain, imparting a feeling in the process though that if you had to be faced by stormy waters or alien guns you'd like to have Cap'n Mason giving the orders. Mason is excellent in this role. Although his ship doesn't get underway until the film's end, the English actor is as taunt as The Ferora's mainsail—and, as you'll see, for good reason.

Other than some dragging in the middle, "The Secret Sharer" is a suspenseful drama well acted and directed.

The second half of the movie is "The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky" by Crane. This is comedy plus. Robert Preston is the bashful marshall who corralls the men with his shooting, and tames the women with—"Well, shucks, I never was much a hand for them." Despite the self-confession about matters of love, Preston brings his youthful bride back to Yellow Sky.

Minor Watson plays the town drunk who's as handy with the trigger as the jigger. With due respects to the White House, we point out that Watson, in his more loquacious moments, resembles President Eisenhower in his more loquacious moments. Another pleasing character in "The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky" is Marjorie Steele who runs the town's Weary Gentlemen Bar.

For superior entertainment, you'l be delighted with your investment in "Face to Face."

—R & RN

"Read 'em and weep, Suckers" was the headline greeting student readers at San Jose college as they looked at their examination schedule.

Tar Heel Swimmers Splash To Easy 57-27 Victory

Baarcke, Evans, Edwards Set New Marks As UNC Licks Emory

By John Hussey

The Carolina swimming team finished its home season today with a 57-27 victory over Emory University. Four new records were established by the Tar Heels.

The first record was set by Buddy Baarcke in the 100 yard backstroke. Baarcke swam on the first leg of the medley relay and was timed at 58.9 which was good enough to establish a new pool record. Teammates Barry Wall and Jack Edwards finished up the relay and their total time established a new University record. They broke a record established earlier this year.

Co-captain Donnie Evans got his name on the record books when he broke the mark for the 440 yard freestyle. The record had previously been held by Jimmy Thomas, ex-Carolina swimming star, who was on hand to watch the meet.

Jack Edwards, not satisfied with breaking one of his own records, had to establish a new mark in the 100 yard freestyle. Jack turned in a time of 51.2. This bettered his previous mark by five-tenths of a second. It was also the fastest time ever turned in by a Southern swimmer.

The win was the eighth straight day they will swim the University for the Tar Heels this year. Mon- of Georgia in Athens. This will be one of the crucial tests of the season for the Carolina team, as Georgia was the SEC champ last year. However, if the Tar Heels keep the pace that they have set so far this year, they should win handily.

Official results:

300 yard medley relay: 1 UNC (Baarcke, Wall, Edwards); Time: 2:51.0 (New University record).

Tar Heels Triumph

Carolina won its fourteenth Couthern Conference victory of the season Friday night, rallying to beat South Carolina, 76-72 at Columbia, S. C.

Al Lifson and Paul Likins led the Tar Heel scoring with 16 points apiece. Carolina had a lead of 15 points at one time in the game but got behind in the third quarter and had to come back to win.

220 yard freestyle: 1 Shannon UNC 2 Tinkham UNC 3 Misenzhal E; Time 2:16.0.

50 yard freestyle: 1 Heins UNC 2 Savage E 3 Widoff UNC; Time: 23.7.

150 individual medley: 1 Heeman UNC 2 Gill UNC 3 McDonough E; Time: 1:36.5.

High board diving: 1 Kelso UNC 2 May E 3 Holden E; Score: 93.3.

100 yard freestyle: 1 Savage E 2 Gill UNC 3 Widoff UNC; Time: 56.3.

200 yard backstroke: 1 Jewell UNC 2 Linker UNC 3 Thouroughman E; Time: 2:22.4.

200 yard breaststroke: 1 Harris E 2 Martin E 3 Shannon UNC; Time: 2:26.9.

440 yard freestyle: 1 Evans UNC 2 Misenzhal E 3 Averett E; Time: 4:43.3 (New University record).

400 yard freestyle relay: 1 UNC (Tinkham, Baarcke, Heeman, Edwards).

SOBER GOBER SOSBEE of Atlanta who is a two-time winner of the Daytona Beach Modified Stock Car Sweepstakes, takes stock of the new hood ornament for his car. He figures the streamlined decoration will steady his driving in this year's running of the race. Good luck, Gober.—NEA Telephoto.

N. C. State Hands Wrestlers Third Straight Loss, 16-11

Carolina's wrestling team dropped its third straight match Friday afternoon, losing to N. C. State at Raleigh, 16-11.

Carolina won three out of the last four matches but the Wolfpack had too big a lead to overcome.

It was State's second victory of the season, its first victory of the season being over Davidson, a team the Tar Heels also whipped handily.

The summary:

123—Nicks (NCS) and Pawlik fought to a draw, 4-4.

130 — Leon (NCS) decisioned Walters, 4-2.

137—Tomlin (NCS) pinned Hain-

147—Taylor (NCS) decisioned es, 2:38 of second period.

McGehee, 7-1.

157—A Gregory (UNC) decisioned Angell, 8-2.

167—Kaiser (NCS) decisioned Bradshaw, 7-5.

177—M. Gregory (UNC) decisioned Waggoner, 6-0.

Heavyweight Holt (UNC) decisioned Leone, 5-1.

MURALS

4:00—Court 1, Everett 1 vs Law School 3; Court 2, Joyner 1 vs Law School 2; Court 3, Kappa Sig 3 vs TEP 1; Court 4, Delta Psi vs Phi Kappa Sig 1.

5:00—Court 1, Manley vs Cobb 4; Court 2, Phi Delt 4 vs Chi Psi 1; Court 3, Law School 1 vs Victory Village; Court 4, Phi Gam 3 vs Kap Psi 2.

7:00—Court 1, Alexander 1 vs Winston 1; Court 2, ZBT 1 vs DKE 1; Court 3, Chi Phi 2 vs Sigma Nu 2; Court 4, Phi Gam 4 vs ZBT 2.

8:00—Court 1, Winston 2 vs Stacy; Court 2, SPE vs Chi Phi 2; Court 3, Law School 1 vs Victory Village; Court 4, Phi Gam 3 vs Kappa Psi 2.

DANZIGER'S

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 15th, 1953

Mr. "D's" Famous Onion Soup ..... $ .30
Cream of Asparagus Soup ..... $ .20

SPECIAL
Stuffed Peach Salad, served with cream cheese, cherries, pecans and finger sandwiches ..... $ .75

CHICKEN SALAD served with lettuce and tomato, hard boiled egg ..... $ .85
LOBSTER SALAD served with lettuce and tomato, hard boiled egg ..... $ .85
CZECH MEAT ROULADE served with sour cream and two vegetables ..... $ .85
SAUERBRATEN served with dumplings and two vegetables $1.25
WIENER SCHNITZEL served with potato salad and vegetable $1.25
HUNGARIAN GOULASH served with potato salad and two vegetables $1.10
ROASTED BARBECUED CHICKEN served with potato salad and two vegetables ..... $ .90
ROAST OF BEEF served with mushroom-sauce, potato salad and two vegetables $1.10
ROAST OF PORK served with mint sauce eggnoodles and vegetable $1.10
A-1 SIRLOIN STEAK with French Fries $1.75
Extra Large $2.50

PLEASE ASK FOR THE PASTRYWAGON

Vayda Jilts Other Suitors Now Courts For Carolina

By Alva Stewart

He could have gone to Holy Cross, LaSalle, Villanova, Boston College, Georgetown, Notre Dame, or any one of 25 other colleges which offered him basketball scholarships. But he spurned these attractive offers and came to Carolina. Why? "I liked Coach McGuire," Jerry Vayda answers when you ask him why he chose Chapel Hill as his "home away from home."

His teammates and several thousand fellow students are not shedding any tears because the 18-year-old freshman from Bayonne, N. J. selected Carolina as his choice for higher education. When you remember that Vayda has scored an average of 13 points a game and a total of approxibately 300 points this season and that his field goal with 24 seconds remaining insured the Tar Heels' triumph over State, you will readily admit that the 6 foot, 2 inch forward constitutes a valuable asset in Carolina's lineup. And when you recall that five UNC cagers, including Grimaldi, Wallace, and Schwarz, are graduating in June, you recognize still more the future worth of this court wizard.

St. Petersburg High School in Jersey City provided the setting for Jerry's early cage success. Sports writers and mentors honored Vayda by selecting him to the all-city and all-county teams for two successive years. His improvement earned him a berth on the all-state squad his senior year. Another laurel was added to Vayda's cage crown when he was voted the most valuable player in the 1952 Metropolitan Jesuit tournament. For two consecutive years, the modest forward was named to th efirst team in the Eastern States Catholic Invitational tournament, which St. Petersburg won in 1951 and 1952.

In addition to his court prowess, the plump-faced lad starred in baseball, playing first base on the St. Petersburg nine for three years.

How does he explain the Tar Heels' phenomenally successful season (excluding the last three contests)? "Team spirit has been a big factor in our wins," Jerry says. "Everybody pulls for everybody else."

And the coaches? "Frank McGuire and Buck Freeman are two of the best in the business; the team couldn't ask for any better coaching," Vayda opines unhesitatingly.

(See VAYDA, page 4)

For Flowers For Gifts
It's
UNIVERSITY FLORIST
Robbins Bldg.

NOW PLAYING
Carolina

THE TOWN & CAMPUS
Is
Happy To Announce

That William Lampley, tailor, formerly connected with Jack Lipman is now associated with the store and is set up upstairs above

THE TOWN & CAMPUS

Complete Alterations
Also Dressmaker

Kramer, Sedgman, McGregor, Segura To Give Net Display

By Julian W. Sheer

Although it's a bit too brisk to be out-of-doors battin' the ball around, tennis is very much in the local sports picture these days.

The big reason, of course, is the interest generated in the troupe conducted by world's champ, Jack Kramer. The successful recquet dynamos including Kramer's play-pals Frank Sedgman, Ken McGregor and Pancho Segura, come here Monday, February 23, for an exhibition of mastery in Woollen Glmnasium.

Coach John Kenfield, who just stepped into his second quarter century of coaching the University of North Carolina's finest, is the guy who enticed the moguls into coming here. And he knows what to expect more than anyone else, and, since that's what tennis fans have been asking, here are a few answers.

First off, Coach John haven't we had tours before?

"Yes, 'way back in 1930 Bill Tilden played in the Tin Can here. And we've had Fred Perry versus Elsworth Vines, Vines and Don Budge, Budge and Bobby Riggs, and Kramer's first trip on the circuit. That would be the last one here, Riggs against Kramer."

No women?

"Yes, and the women, too. Alice Marble was here in 1941 and played Mary Hardwick."

About this current exhibition tour, are you surprised at the closeness so far,

"Well, right now it's about two up for Sedgman and I'm surprised I don't want to take anything away from Frank, but I thought Kramer would be out front, especially at this point."

Why?

"There's a big difference when playing indoors. The lighting, the terrifically fast court . . . all those things add up in Kramer's favor. I think Kramer is still tops."

Isn't Sedgman a great man on grass which is very fast? And what about youth?

"Sedgman is best on grass which is just a step below canvas in speed. Youth? Playing 40 matches in practically 40 nights gives a 23-year-old like Sedgman a definite edge over 32-year-old Kramer. You've got youth against age and experience. It's a toss-up on a gruelling tour like this."

And Kramer is the big time operator on this deal, too, isn't he?

"That's right, Frank has to worry about the little details of business. That's a factor, too."

Who do you think will win out in the end?

"Frankly, I'll still take Kramer. He'll go outdoors in Florida and Sedgman may build a little lead on clay. But there's an odd thing about the tour here . . . If my guess is right, Sedgman will win in Chapel Hill. Budge beat Riggs, Vines beat Budge and Riggs beat Kramer here, but the local losers were the tour's ultimate winners."

That's interesting, but tell the layman what to expect from the boys. What is Kramer's game like? And Sedgman's?

"Kramer has the so-called 'Big Game.' He hits hard, has a great service, is a great volleyer and has a wonderful overhead game. His ground game is good. He has good reach. And Sedgman—he is very, very fast. He anticipates. He hits everything off the ground and maybe that's why he is doing so well against Kramer. Both boys are something to behold when they return those mile-a-minute serves!"

Then is this match . . .?

". . . look for spectacular volleying. And in the doubles it should be still another case of great volleying."

Sounds good. Time? Place? Tariff?

"Woollen Gymnasium, February 23, at 7:30 in the evening, and, by the way, tickets are available at $2.50 for reserved, $1.75 general public and $1.25 to students. It's worth every cent."

We'll be there!

PEPSI-COLA®
DURHAM PEPSI - COLA BOTTLING CO.
305 South St. Durham

In Your Church

By Tom Neal Jr.

Baptist

The Baptist Student Union will observe World Student Day of Prayer tonight when it meets with other campus religious organizations at 6 o'clock in Lenoir Hall.

Local BSU'ers will join Baptist students of some 30 organized student unions and other school groups to raise $1,400. This money will be used to help send a North Carolinian to Hawaii for internship, missionary work with adults and for aiding a foreign student to continue ministerial education.

The North Carolina Baptist Student Union's award to a foreign student has been granted to Walter Fullbrant, a 24-year-old Weener, Germany-born Baptist seminary student.

Morning worship is at 11 o'clock. Dr. Samuel Tilden Habel will de-Christian?"
liver his sermon on "Shall We Be

Christian Science

Mrs. Charlotte Hinman was elected substitute Second Reader for the local Christian Science group at their quarterly business meeting last Tuesday. Mrs. Hinman will read in Mrs. C. P. Spruill's absence for three months. Mrs. Spruill and Dean Spruill will be in Europe from the last of March-June, on vacation. First Reader for the Christian Science organization is Kay Kyser.

The subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches today is "Soul." Golden text is from Psalms: "My soul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning."

Sunday School classes are held Denominational services and weekly in New West at 11 o'clock.

Roman Catholic

There will be a Communion breakfast today following the 9:30 Mass for Newman club members in Lenoir Hall, 2nd floor.

The regular meeting of the club has been postponed until next Sunday.

Congregational-Christian

The United Student Fellowship discussion this morning is at 10 o'clock. The 11 o'clock sermon is entitled "Love in Practice."

The USF group will observe the Student Day of Prayer program held in Lenoir Hall. Students are requested to go through the cafeteria line between 5:30 and 6 o'clock.

Lutheran

Student of the public ministry of Jesus is being featured in a series of sermons at the 11 o'clock worship service on Sunday mornings at the Lutheran Church. Focal interest in the series is "The Claims Jesus Made Concerning Himself," particularly in St. John's gospel.

Today Jesus's encounter with the woman of Samaria at Jacob's well will be told in the sermon, "Jesus, a 'Respecter of Persons'."

Methodist

The regular meeting of the Wesley Foundation this week will not be held. Methodists will join in the 6 o'clock observance of World Day of Prayer.

Presbyterian

Dr. Thomas Schafer of the Duke Divinity School will preach for both Sunday services at the Presbyterian Church today.

The Sunday School class will meet at the Manse for a 9:30 breakfast. They will continue their study of the four gospels.

Unitarian

"What Is Man?" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. E. A. Cahill at a service for the Unitarian Fellowship tonight. The service, to be held at 8:30 in Gerrard Hall, will be conducted by Dr. Raymond Adams.

The guest minister is pastor of the Unitarian Church of Charlotte and director of world churches for the American Unitarian Association.

There will be an informal supper at 6:30 this evening in Lenoir Hall.

MR. EISENHOWER has rejected the clemency appeals of convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. The pair face death in the electric chair at New York's Sing Sing Prison if their last-ditch plea to the Supreme Court is disapproved.—NEA Telephoto.

What Goes On Here

Lost

A green leather billfold either down town or in the Carolina Theater. Finder please call Virginia Best at 5261. Reward.

UN Committee

The UN Committee will meet tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the Y Library.

Today on WUNC

7:00 p.m.—Sunday Showtime
7:30—Oliver Twist
8:00—The University Hour
8:30—University of Chicago Roundtable
9:00—The Musician Comments
9:15—The Symphony Hour
10:00—News and Weather
10:05—An Evening Masterwork
10:45—Sign Off

WUNC For Monday

7:00 p.m.—Stories 'n Stuff
7:30—Adventures in Research
7:45—Songs of France
8:00—The People Act
8:30—Voices of Europe
9:00—British Concert Hall
10:00—News and Coming Events
10:00—An Evening Masterwork
10:45—Sign Off

Young Adult Group

There will be a meeting of the Young Adult Group of the Methodist Church, Tuesday, Feb. 17 at 7:30 in the Wesly Lounge of the Church.

—Jones—

(Continued from page 1)

messages of confidence and encouragement for the work of this Church. Some of them were copies of letters sent to you.

"You have informed us that Presbyterians who are financially able to contribute to the work of this strategically located Church will not do so if the present pastorate continue. However, our people and I feel that no minister or Church should inhibit the free expression of the spirit of Christ because of the possible withdrawal or granting of financial support.

"As a Presbyterian minister, I am under the authority of the Presbytery. In refusing to resign voluntarily I am not defying your authority, I can not with honesty voluntarily sever my connection with this Church and say that it would be for the welfare of the Church or indeed for the welfare of southern Presbyterians at large.

"If, however, in the judgment of the Commission, it is for the welfare of this Church and Presbyterianism that this pastoral relationship be dissolved, and if you such action, I will obey your order."

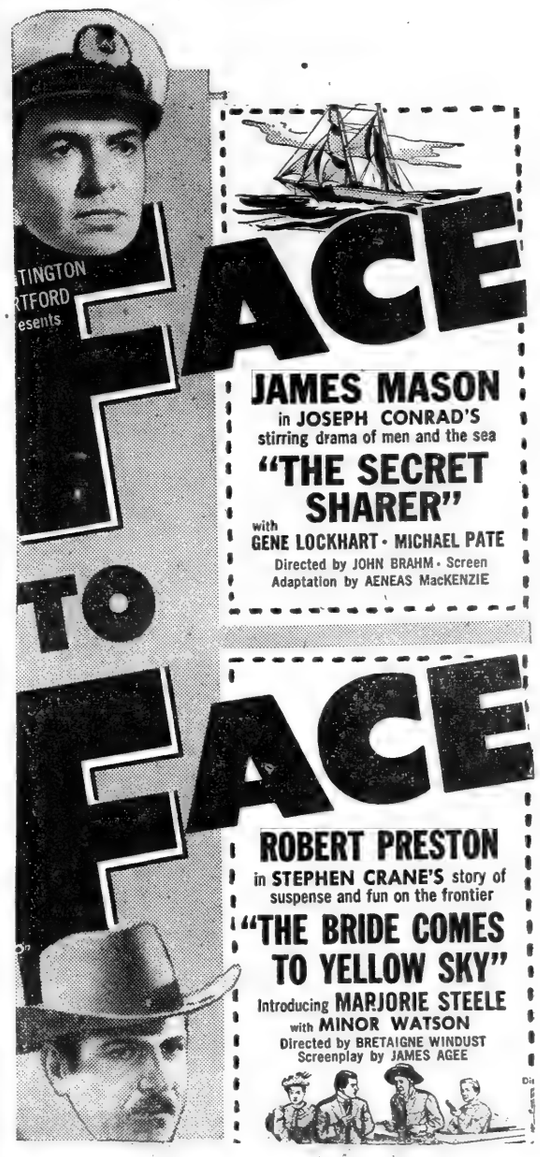
The Commission plans to come to Chapel Hill today for an official meeting, but not on the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church matter. The group is scheduled to hold ordination and installation services for the seven elders and deacons of a second Presbyterian Church that was recently organized in the community.

These services, open to the public, are scheduled at 3:30 p.m. in the Institute of Pharmacy building.

—Penegar—

(Continued from page 1)

Student Party officials said that whether or not the presidential choice will begin campaigning right away would depend upon the candidate's wishes. They indicated that full scale stumping would probably be delayed until the other executive nominations are made in about three weeks.



The University Party stated that their presidential nominations would be held in four weeks or so. UP officials said they felt that nominating earlier would bring "too much pressure" on the candidate.

—Vayda—

(Continued from page 3)

Currently in General College, Vayda plans to major in business administration. An Air Force ROTC cadet, he admits that listening to popular records is his chief hobby.

If his hopes are fulfilled, Jerry will stay in shape this summer by ring up points for an upstate New York summer resort quintet. Next year? Jerry will again wear his No. 21 jersey for Carolina and cause opposing players to wish he had chosen another institution at which to demonstrate his cage proficiency.

"Recommended as unusual and fascinating screen fare. It is encouraging to see such fine screen entertainment . . . simple yet so well done."
—N. Y. HERALD-TRIBUNE

("The Bride Comes to Yelloy Sky")
"A gem of its kind . . . Barbed pungency . . . suggesting a Rabelaisian 'High Noon'!"
—N. Y. TIMES

highly entertaining picture that boasts excellent handling on every count!"
—N. Y. JOURNAL-AMERICAN

"A thoroughly satisfactory picture! Unusual venture!"
—N. Y. WORLD-TELEGRAM & SUN

"Engrossing film. Unusual and fascinating!"
—N. Y. MIRROR MAGAZINE

("The Secret Sharer")
James Mason gives an impressive performance . . . The brooding mood of the film is well sustained."
—N. Y. DAILY NEWS

T-O-D-A-Y & MONDAY Varsity

Attention
GRADUATING CLASS
AIR FORCE ROTC

ORDERS TAKEN NOW FOR (Authorized Regulation)
UNIFORMS, INSIGNIA AND SUPPLIES
During This Month At Reduced Prices

THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.

YOUR OLD BOOKSHOP'S
AT IT AGAIN

MERCY!

RANDALL AND THE RIVER OF TIME—Here's a C. S. Forester we'll bet you missed in making your collection. We think you'll find Charles Randall a worthy shelfmate for Captain Hornblower himself! Was $3.00. Our Special $1.00

OUCH!

MAGIC INTO SCIENCE—The story of Paraclesus, by Henry M. Pachter. The exciting and true tale of the wonder healer and alchemist whose feats led to the Faust myth. Our special $1.49

SOCKO!

THE SELECTED LETTERS OF RAINER MARIA RILKE 1902-1926—To the student of Rilke this volume is indispensable; to an intimate concern it will have abiding relevance. Our special $2.98

HALP OH HALP!

THE NEW GUIDE TO RECORDED MUSIC—The third, completely revised edition of Irving Kolodin's authoritative guide to classical music. Published at $4.00. Our special $1.98

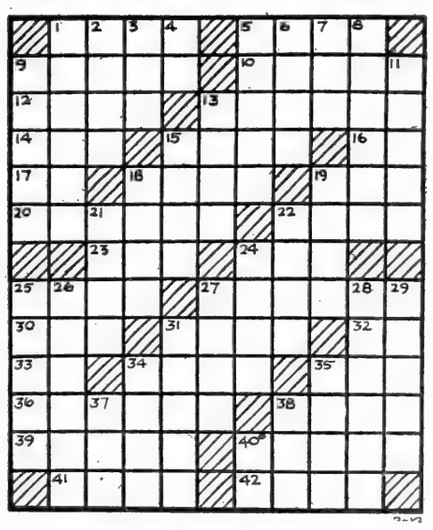
ALAS, ALAS!

THE KING'S CAVALIER—A honey of a historical novel by Samuel Shellabarger. A best seller at $3.00, but look at it now. Our special $1.00

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS



1. African tree (var.)
5. Declare for score
9. Painful spots
10. Mountain nymph
12. Southern constellation
13. Swing loosely
14. Youth
15. Vocal inflection
16. Music note
17. Ahead
18. Troubles
19. Chum
20. Pendant ornament
22. Crumple
23. Seed vessel
24. Force
25. Sandarac tree
27. Cleanses of soap
30. Light bedstead
31. Stop
32. Personal pronoun
33. Sun god
34. A shoe tie
35. Open (poet.)
36. Elude
38. Greedy
39. Impress a copy
40. Armadillos
41. Remain
42. Large bundle

DOWN

1. A long cigar
2. Carousal
3. Sign of the zodiac
4. Roman pound
5. Feeble groans
6. Sea eagle
7. Support
8. City (Tex.)
9. Wooden shoe
11. Apportions, as cards
13. Puppet
15. Bound
18. Hebrew musical instrument
19. A cat
21. Young oyster
22. Aromatic herb
24. Corrupt
25. Fields
26. Cooks in an oven
27. Contest of speed
28. Dominion
29. Plant ovules
31. Gay
34. Tibetan priest
35. Elliptical
37. Feline
38. The wallaba (Braz.)
40. Jewish month

Yesterday's Answer

CLASSIFIEDS

HELP WANTED FEMALE 8A

CARRBORO BEAUTY SHOP—Two full time operators. Plenty of parking space. Reasonable prices. (1-c3471-4)

FOUND 6C

THIS QUARTER'S OUTSTANDING Sundae. Delicious Caramel Toasted Pecan topping over your favorite flavor of Gold Seal Ice Cream. You too can find this sundae at The Dairy Bar. This week's Special—29c.

RIDERS WANTED 18A

RIDERS TO DURHAM. LEAVE Chapel Hill 8:15 a.m. Return 5:00 p.m. Call 9-9552 after 6:00 p.m. (1-3472-2)

LOST

LOST FROM 215 PITTSBORO ST. Large black puppy, a Laborador retriever. If found please call 9-2586. Reward.

We Cordially Invite You To See The PACE MODEL APARTMENT
Sundays & Wednesdays 3-6 p.m.
Fridays 10-12 a.m. & 4-6 p.m.
Apt. 2, Bldg. L-11 Glen Lennox

CHEVROLET

Most powerful car in the low-price field!

The Striking New Bel Air 2-Door Sedan

. . . featuring Chevrolet's new "Blue-Flame" high-compression engine!

The '53 Chevrolet offers you the most powerful performance of any low-priced car—together with extraordinary new economy—with an entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" Valve-in-Head engine, coupled with a new Powerglide automatic transmission.* It's the most powerful engine in its field—with an extra-high compression ratio of 7.5 to 1!

Come in . . . see and drive this dynamic new pacemaker of low-priced cars with all its many wonderful advancements.

Advanced High-Compression "Thrift-King" Valve-in-Head Engine

Chevrolet also offers an advanced 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine in gear-shift models, brings you blazing new performance and even greater economy.

*Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

Entirely NEW through and through!

New Bodies by Fisher . . . new, richer, roomier interiors . . . new Powerglide* . . . new Power Steering (optional at extra cost) . . . more weight—more stability . . . largest brakes in the low-price field . . . Safety Plate Glass all around in sedans and coupes . . . E-Z-Eye Plate Glass (optional at extra cost). (Continuation of standard equipment and trim illustrated is dependent on availability of material.)

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

SEE YOUR CHEVROLET DEALER FOR ALL YOUR AUTOMOTIVE NEEDS!

Conveniently listed under "Automobiles" in your local classified telephone directory

U N C Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

WEATHER
Clear and cooler with 50 high. Yesterday's high, 54; low, 36.

The Daily Tar Heel

TREES
The editor branches out. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 96 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

Penegar Is Nominated By SP

Church Meet Illegal?

Probe Member Adds New Fuel To Big Fire

A member of the Presbyterian Judicial Commission which has told Charles M. Jones, pastor of the local church, to resign or be fired, yesterday challenged the right of the congregation to assemble and discuss the problems raised by the commission's demands.

Charles W. Perry, of High Point, said "They had no authority to special post-sermon session which the congregation held Sunday. Perry, who is also chairman of the Presbytery Council, the executive committee of the Orange Presbytery, said that when the Orange Presbytery gave the commission full authority to conclude the local church matter, "They gave us a vote of confidence."

He said that the commission had informed the church that all action taken by its officers, pastor, acting pastor or congregation must meet with the approval of the commission.

At the "unauthorized" meeting Sunday, however, Dr. Robert J. McMullen, acting pastor, suggested that the commission's "subject to approval" statement was up to serious question.

This unapproved meeting clearly indicated that the church members are willing to fight the commission's edict which calls for the resignation of the man who has been their pastor for the past 12 years.

At least two church officers advocated bolting the Southern Presbyterian Church rather than yield to the demands of the commission.

Deacon Thomas M. Stanback said that if Mr. Jones "is kicked out . . . there are many of us who will not see fit to worship within the church that has repudiated (his) type of ministry." He suggested the establishment of a "community church," and added, "It (such a church) will have to be spontaneous but we could carry on under Charlie Jones' ministry."

Dr. Ray Gould, clerk of the session, simply declared, "I go if Charlie Jones goes."

Others opposed the suggested split from the parent body. Dr. John Graham, an elder, said "We've got to stay in and fight." He also charged that "there has been a movement within the Presbytery for two years to cut our pastor off from us." He said that Perry, the man who now says the congregation has no authority to assemble, telephoned Mr. Jones 12 months ago and suggested that he take the next job offered him, in order to prevent any possible investigation.

Mr. Jones was told 'they'd call off the dogs if he quietly took the next job that came along, that there's been no holy-handed terror," Graham said.

Perry commented Sunday that he made the phone call unofficially after talking to members of the Presbytery Council which he chaired.

Graham, however, charged that five of these council members were appointed to the 10-man commission. He indicated that this was a mechanism of the Presbytery to "stack" the commission in favor of the anti-Jones element. Graham

(See JONES, page 4)

Room Reservations

Reservations for Spring Quarter rooms can be made through dormitory managers today.

If someone wishes to make a room change for the Spring Quarter, he must first reserve his present room and then go by the Housing Office on Thursday to see about shifting.

All room changes must be made through the Housing Office.

DIANE HARRIS (left) the alleged Golden Girl of Minot Jelke's call-girl set, smokes a cigarette as she sits in District Attorney's office in New York. She is scheduled to be the second witness following Pat Ward, (right) who enters court with her attorney J. Roland Sala, for another day of cross-examination in the compulsory prostitution trial of the oleo heir.—NEA Telephoto.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON — The Civil Defense Administration said yesterday that Russia right now could hit all 89 major U. S. cities with atomic bombs in a 400-pane assault capable of inflicting 11,000,000 casualties in a single day. Acting Administrator James J. Wadsworth said in a report that "we are making progress in civil defense," but at the same time he added, "We are losing ground in the face of the growing threat to our national security."

★

NEW YORK—Execution of atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg yesterday was set for the week of March 9. Federal Judge Irvin R. Kaufman scheduled the new execution date for the husband and wife, whose appeal to the President for clemency has been rejected. U. S. Marshall William Carroll said the date of the electrocution may be March 12, and the hour 11 p.m. (Picture on page 4.)

★

TOKYO—U. S. F-84 Thunderjet fighters yesterday intercepted and fired on two Russian warplanes violating the northern Japanese border in the first clash between the American and growing Soviet Far East air forces. The jets scored hits on one Soviet plane before the intruders turned and fled to the sanctuary of Soviet territory.

★

MOBILE, Ala. — The last hope that ony of the 46 pedsons on a National Airlines DC-6 that crashed into the Guf of Mexico would be found alive disappeared yesterday after all the four life rafts the pane carried were accounted for. A preliminary investigation indicated the big airliner may have been slammed into the heaving seas about 60 miles south of here Saturday night by "unexpected tornadic conditions."

★

GREENSBORO — The North Carolina Methodist Student Conference urged yesterday that racial segregation be abolished in the state's seven Methodist universsities and colleges. After a three-day forum on race policies at Greensboro College here, 200 members of the conference approved a resolution, with one dissenting vote, to "break down the bars of segregation. We preach Christian principles and do not uphold them. We urge that immediate action be taken toward removing the stigma of segregation in church-affiliated schools." Besides Greensboro College, other Methodist supported schools in the state are Duke, Pfeiffer Junior College, Louisburg Junior College, Brevard Junior College, High Point College and Bennett College.

State College Tells Politics On Used Books

RALEIGH, Feb. 16—(Special)—L. L. Ivey, manager of student stores at State College, said here recenty that books are purchased from student customers at 50 per cent to 75 per cent discount from the new price.

In a report supplied to three student and six faculty members, Ivey said 50 per cent of the new price of a book is paid to the customer when the book on approved list is to be used within the next two succeeding quarters.

Twenty-five per cent of the new price of a book is paid to the customer when the book has been discounted as an officially adopted text.

The report on "Textbook Policy of the Student Supply Stores" stated that sales of used books are made at 25 per cent to 33 1-3 per cent discount from the list prices.

However, the report continued, there are exceptions to this and the range of discounts can vary from 20 per cent to greater than 75 per cent from the list prices.

Sales of new books, according to the report, are made at publishers' list prices. Purchase of new books are made from sources of supply at the regular book dealer's discount from publishers, jobbers and other college stores.

The committee expressed anxiety over the lack of response students have indicated towards a previously stated willingness on the part of the committee members to receive suggestions and complaints pertaining to the operation of the student supply stores.

Institute's Life Facts Outlined

By John Jamison

Carolina's five German students heard the story of the Institute of Government Thursday night—direct from its father, Albert Coates.

Following a dinner at the Carolina Inn, Coates told the Germans of the great need for such an organization back in the early 1920's, of its subsequent development, and of its functions and goals today.

"The institute really began back in the 1920's when I was teaching a course in law," Coates said. "I discovered that only four tenths of one percent of the cases tried in North Carolina's lower courts ever reached the Supreme Court for review."

This indicated a "gap" between the law in the books and the law as it was practiced by local governments, Coates said.

"I investigated the high schools in the state, and found they were not really teaching civics and government to the young people," he continued. This indicated the same "gap" between the law in the books and the law as taught to the state's future citizens.

Bridging that gap between the people and their government was the task of the young Institute of Government, Coates said.

How was this task undertaken? The institute wrote and published scores of guidebeooks to acquaint local officials with the law as the books have it. The guidebooks were distributed to every official in the state who might perform his job better from having read them.

"Then we had to get them to read the books," Coates said. This brought the development of the institute's training schools—courses lasting from one day to six weeks using the facilities in Chapel Hill.

The institute has had more than 20,000 local government officials to attend these classes during the past 15 years. Coates said he expects to bring as many as 5,000 a year as his staff increases.

Through the efforts of Henry Lewis, a member of the institute's staff, the number of legislative committees has been reduced from 52 to 25.

The goal of the institute, Coates said, is "to lift the standards of governmental performance in North Carolina up to the very best."

The Legislature's joint appropriations committee is now considering a budget request of $500,000 to help build a new home for the Institute. This would be matched by an equal amount from the Knapp Foundation of North Carolina.

Last Thursday's dinner discussion was next to the last one for the German students, who will return to Europe at the end of this quarter.

DR. ARNOLD NASH, James A. Gray professor of history of religion here, is shown with a group of his Religion 45 students. Dr. and Mrs. Nash will leave on a tour this June which will carry them into a number of universities throughout the eastern part of the globe. Seated in the picture, left to right, are Martha Snow, Charlottesville, Va.; Dr. Nash, and Miriam Lewis, Chapel Hill. Standing are Arthur Miller (left), Landis, and Kent Jackson, High Point.

Dr. Nash On Tour Of East In June

Dr. Arnold Nash, religion professor here, and Mrs. Nash, accompanied by their two children, will leave here in June on a lecture tour of the universities of India and the Near and Far East.

Mrs. Nash will lecture on marriage counseling with her center in India at Nagpur. She will also speak at various conferences arranged by the "Committee on Marriage and the Family" of the National Council of Churches in India.

Dr. and Mrs. Nash will stay in Britain and Western Europe during June and July before going to Palestine and Egypt for a month on their way to India by jet plane where they will arrive on Sept. 1.

On their return journey they will travel for several weeks through Burma, Singapore, Siam, Hong Kong and Japan, visiting the universities of these countries to discuss the aims of university education.

They will get back to Chapel Hill at the end of March, 1954.

The expenses of the trip have been met by a grant from the Harvard-Yenching Foundation to the Agricultural Intitute at Allahabad where Dr. Nash will have his headquarters and where he will give lectures on the sociology of religion.

This institute recently received a grant of $900,000 from the Ford Foundation to finance its extended program.

The Nash's younger boy, David, will accompany his parents around the world, but Kerr Nash will return to America in September to finish his last year at Groton School.

National YMCA Official Speaks Here Tonight

J. Fred Miller of East Orange, N. J., associate student secretary of the Nationa Council of the YMCA, will be principal speaker at the YMCA Winter banquet in Lenoir Hall tonight at 6 o'clock.

His subject will be "Present perspectives of Religion in Higher Education."

Gilbert Marsh, Thomasville, president of the local YMCA, will preside, and Dr. E. William Noland, professor of sociology, and chairman of the YMCA advisory board, will introduce the speaker.

Dinner will be cafeteria style with guests meeting in the upstairs north dining hall.

A native of Texas, Mr. Miller was general secretary of the University of Oklahoma YMCA from 1937-41 and regional secretary of the Southwest Council of Student Christian Association from 1937-43. He served for one year as associate minister of the University Christian Church, Seattle, Wash., and from 1944-49 executive secretary of the University of Pittsburgh YMCA. He also taught in the College and School of Education at the University of Pittsburgh.

He is a graduate of Texas Christian University and did graduate work in the University of Chicago Divinity School in the special field of religious education.

J. FRED MILLER

French Supper Club

The French Supper Club will meet at 6 o'clock tonight in the upper dining room of Lenoir. A record of "Jeanne d'Arc Au Bucher" by Paul Claudel will be played at 7 o'clock.

Ken Myers Only Nominee In Opposition

By Louis Kraar

The Student Party last night patted Ken Penegar on the back and officially named him their choice for president of the student body.

Penegar, who won the party's approval unanimously, has been talked of as the SP candidate for several months, so the official dubbing was no surprise.

Ken Myers, another long-time SP member, made an unsuccessful bid for the party's vote. He was the only opposition. Last night he was being mentioned as a possible, vice-presidential choice. Although he has mentioned running independently for the presidency. Myers didn't get a vote.

For the active Penegar the nomination was a fulfillment of many years of "grooming." He was assistant to both SP presidents John Sanders and Henry Bowers. Last spring he ran for secretary-treasurer, losing to UP candidate Ed Gross. A junior from Gastonia, Penegar has participated in campus activities since his freshman year.

Penegar is the second member of his family to seek the highest position in student government here. His brother Dick was nominated by the University Party in the Spring of 1951 but lost in a three-way race to Henry Bowers (SP) who beat independent Ben James in a runoff.

"I think principles have been neglected," declared Penegar in his acceptance speech. "I think principles have been misplaced. I think it is time for the party of the students to come back. We must return this principle to student government. The principle is a jointly operated university in which student government is the junior partner."

As Penegar finished his speech, climaxing an hour meeting embellished with accolade after accolade for the candidate, the entire group of over 60 persons gave him continued applause.

Gene Cook nominated Penegar in a five minute speech that strongly censured the present administration. Lashing out at President Ham Horton, Cook emphatically said, "President Horton has bungled excessively the fight against Saturday classes. . . . He proceeds to take sawed off shotguns and back the Trustees against the wall with mass meetings and demonstrations."

Cook also criticized Horton's stand on taking the Student Council out of politics and the new UP reorganization move. He dubbed Penegar "the man who has stood for the rights of the individual student."

"Look at Mr. Horton's appointments. They show us what he has done," said Cook. "Come hell or high water, nothing is going to stop us from winning," he concluded.

Henry Lowett and Ken Barton also spoke for the presidential favorite. Barton labeled Penegar, "one of the finest persons I know."

The smiling Penegar offered the following statement after the meeting: "In accepting the Student Party nomination for president of the student body, I pledge myself to the effort of securing for our student body and its government a more responsible position within the University in the constant attempt to meet the needs of the student."

Penegar outlined points which he said needed improvement. Specifically, he strongly censured President Horton for "placing incompetent persons in the local committee" of the National Student Association. He stressed the

(See MYERS, page 4)

Preregister

General College students must preregister before Feb. 18.

No appointments will be necessary for the freshmen and sophomores who want to see their advisers.

Geology Makes A Salesman

Colonial House Owes Founding To A Good Sandwich Market

By Tom Parramore

When 75 sandwiches are paralyzed into a successful restaurant, it's news. And that's exactly what two Carolina students have accomplished in just four months.

The restaurant is Chapel Hill's newest. It's the Colonial House, opened just a week ago today by Messrs. Travis Porter and Earle Litzenberger. It is the first student-operated establishment to operate here recently.

The story begins last October when Porter and Litzenberger, both seniors, started selling sandwiches. They prepared the sandwiches at their fraternity house and sold them at other fraternity houses. Seventy-five were sold the first night they hit the market.

At first the boys managed to handle everything themselves but soon the demand outdistanced the supply. Two licensed kitchen helpers and two delivery boys were acquired and still the market grew.

Recently Porter and Litzenberger found that a small brick building on West Rosemary Street was available for lease and their brainchild began to assume greater proportions. They now employ three people and make an average of 250 sandwiches each night. Steaks and complete meals are also a feature of the new business.

A beer license has been applied for and is expected to come in next Monday.

Asked how they found time to handle their business, Porter commented: "When we get a chance to work, we usually do everything at once and get several days ahead." Litzenberger is a geology major, while Porter majors in English. They live in an apartment above the restaurant.

Commenting on the first week's business, Porter had this to say: "We want to apologize to all the people we could not accommodate Friday night after the Germans. We weren't prepared for such a rush but we promise not to let it happen again."

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. P. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell, Ned Whitmore.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Everett Parker

We're Unenthusiastic

The best we can say about the approved policy on doling out the Book X profits for grants-in-aid is that the funds will be handled by the regular University Scholarship and Grants-in-aid Committee. This committee will have about $40,000 to allot in $500, $300, and $150 categories to needy students.

The considered 25 per cent cut for athletes is not mentioned in the Chancellor's report. However one sentence specifies that such groups as athltes will not be left out of the program. ". . . consideration may be given to students who participate in activities that are regularly scheduled and require exacting use of time. These activities for which no compensation is received limit the opportunity of the student for self-help. For example, students who are members of regularly organized intercollegiate athletic squads . . . " We assume that non-salaried members of The Daily Tar Heel, student government officials et al will be given qual consideration if they need financial help.

The policy is that "no group shall receive a greater proportion of these funds than the ratio of the number of students in that group bears to the total enrollment of the Universiy." One estimate of the number of athletes is 20 per cent.

The announcement that the funds shall be open to all students of the University, undergraduate, graduate and professional, on the basis of need and merit" in keeping with the fact that all students buy books at the Book X.

In the future, The Daily Tar Heel hopes that students will be given a vote, not just a voice, on such committees where so much is at stake and where students are effected so strongly.

Vice In and Outside The Court

Rumor is a vicious disease once a germ of it has started to infect the populace.

Rumor is a rapacious plaque that is stemmed only when truth is distributed widely and frequently.

This may seem to be irrelevant when we talk about Mickey Jelke and his call girl, Pat Ward who are currently fighting it out in court. Jelke is on thial for a number of things, including vice, conspiracy, and compulsory prostitution.

Jelke has a lawyer. So has Miss Ward. And here's what happens when the press is excluded from the court sessions:

Miss Ward's lawyer: "If Jelke's lawyer doesn't stop giving out quotes outside the court room . . . I too will start start talking and paint a diabolical picture of monstrosity so that a certain person won't find a corner of the globe to live in." The court has told the press that it was o.k. to get whatever news it could outside the courtroom.

Surely, the agency of justice in this country is interested in the truth. Yet the claims and counterclaims of the lawyers, heard separately and sometimes indistinctly, flavor the truth with emotion, deceit, and duplicity. The New York Supreme Court should rule that press be admitted to witness the trial .

The Greensboro Daily News is almost "burned up" because of the yellow journalism that might follow if the court proceedings were open to the public. We answer that The New York Times is one of those seeking an open court. The News admits that the closing of the courtroom is "a dangerous precedent, a blow at the freedom of the press." What more could be important?

Georgian Curiosity

Curiousity killed the cat. But it doesn't seem to bother University students.

A Red and Black survey this week showed that University students are superior to curious cats in that they have more willpower.

The survey concerned itself with the reading habits of local newsstand and drugstore cowboys seeking college degrees. And it revealed that the average University reader usually walks up to a magazine rack, scoops up literature featuring scantily dressed women and sexy reading matter, and stands around oggling for an hour. He finally puts the stuff back in place, picks up a copy of Saturday Review, buys it, and walks away.

From this we could conclude that the average red blooded American boy has been taking transfusions of ice water. Or we could accuse him of taking advantage of magazine dealers who are too polite to take the legalized pornography away from him, before he has reaped its aesthetic benefits —for free.

But the fact that he eventually buys the higher type literature seems to indicate that the young man's mind is not entirely in the quagmire of sin, sex and vice; and that the younger generation's route to the dogs will be of its own making, not the doing of models, photographers and cheesecake bakers.

The Red and Black
University of Georgia

Ham Horton

Presidential Memo

To the Student Body:

Nothing too important this week—we just want to bring you up to date on what's going on in Student Government.

The thing most of us are interested in is Saturday Classes, of course. Julia Shields and her committee are doing a good job in picking up the loose ends and tying the knot on our "case against Saturday Classes." The aim of the committee is to double check that every trustee is seen before their meeting on the 23rd. Our hopes have been, quite frankly, crippled by President Gray's decision to support the semester system. Students had thought they were fighting for the faculty and administration as well as for themselves.

A Student Government committee is now working with members of the faculty and administration to take the preliminary steps necessary to affiliate Carolina with a foreign university. The advantages of such a move are obvious: exchange of students, faculty, books, and credit for students attending summer school at the affiliated university. It is definitely a long-range and kid-glove proposition but well worth the time and effort in our opinion.

It's easy ot obscure issues. And often fruitful to the obscurers. And I'm afraid that's what has been done on the NSA referendum question.

NSA commits this student body to policies: and if Student Government is going to remain in the hands of the students, the students must decide matters of basic policy. After these policies are decided, then, of course, the Student Legislature should act according to them, and the President should administer those acts.

Not to allow the students to decide policy shows a lack of faith in their ability to govern themselves, and a certain conceit on the part of those who think only they themselves are "qualified."

If the objection of the opponents of referendum is that the students are not informed, I pledge myself to the distribution to the student body of any information that the NSA committee will let us have.

The CUSC, under the leadership of Jimmy Adams, is boiling along busy now with plans for a "Consolidated University Day" this spring. The Carolina delegation has received too little credit this year for the work they have done for consolidation.

Bob Gorham has completed his Orientation report, covering the program through December. If you are interested in reading the report contact Bob. It's certainly an excellent job and a true reflection of the entire orientation work of the chairman, committee, and counsellors.

Well, it's all too plain that Spring elections are as good as started. The politicos are smiling at you and talking strategy to each other. Beware! Sorority coffees, faculty receptions, concerts, in fact every gathering is brim full of toothy grins and handshakers.

I think I express your hopes when I say to the young hopefuls, "Keep it Clean." Let's not forget our first loyalty—to Carolina and all it stands for.

Herb Browne, local racqueteer from Columbia, S. C., has replaced Arch Fort of Oxford as Chairman of the committee to push for more General College advisors. These advisors are certainly urgently needed.

Many thanks are due to the Department of History for their jumping the number of advisors for history majors from two to five. Those of us who lost our old advisors in the shuffle nevertheless gained with the rest of the history majors in having an opportunity for more accurate records as well, we are told. Other departments take note!

Hamilton C. Horton
President of the Student Body
U. of North Carolina.

College Humor

English Club

Dialogue On Hope

Of all the many ills which I perceive in the order of our schools, there is none which upon reflection troubles me more than our distortion of educational values.

To what do you refer?

To the rejection of teachers in favor of research scholars.

What do you mean?

I fear that the Humanities are doomed to disappear unless we take positive steps at once.

Explain the purpose of your remark.

Listen to me, or rather answer me. Why do people go to school?

To learn.

A good reply. It follows then that the first obligation of a school is to provide good teachers. Therein lies the responsibility of education: the teaching of youth.

A searching comment.

It is an obvious fallacy that promotion and recognition come only to the man who boasts accomplishments which, by their very nature, are proof that he has not devoted all his efforts to teaching. The standards thus become reversed: the most renowned figures in education are those who have devoted the least time to their teaching and the most of research and publication.

Does research then have no value?

Of course it does, for only through research and the constant exchange of ideas and discoveries can we broaden our knowledge of the past, and thus the present. My point is that it must not be the absolute standard of academic achievement. It is of greater importance that our colleges produce well-educated men. If they do not, what is the value of research?

Even if I had any faint notion, I could not utter it. Will you enquire yourself?

Well, research provides further knowledge to better equip the teacher for his work. If good teaching is not encouraged and recognized, a barrier is created through which knowledge cannot pass. The teacher, then, is the primary figure in the process of education.

And do they fail to understand this obvious fact?

Many of them do. Some with intent, but most, I fear, because they have no choice. They are financially obligated to produce research or fail to rise on the academic scale.

Is there nothing to be done?

Oh, yes, there is. If the academic profession can be convinced of this obvious inequity, and if it can be persuaded of the importance of good teaching, there is HOPE. It requires two things: The education of graduate students to be good teachers, and a proper recognition of the man who teaches well. The first requires a sincere evaluation of educational objectives; the second a mutual recognition of them. The classroom must be opened, and carelessness, laziness, and irresponsibility exposed. Teaching ability must no longer be a private unmentionable, but a public fact to be praised or scorned. If the academic profession will examine the obvious facts, it can, through the vitality of a cooperative effort and through the honesty of sincere dedication move forward to re-establish the dignity of the good teacher.

I have been thoroughly convinced by your argument.

Yr. Mst. Obt., Hmlb. & Dvtd. Srvt.
CATO

10:30's Too Late

Closing hours for women's houses at Kansas State College have been extended one-half hour to 10:30 p.m. on week nights.

Upperclass women voted for the extension, but freshmen strongly opposed.

Reasons:

1. It might hurt scholarship.

2. It would make house meeting later, thus cutting down on sleep and study time. Dormitories hold house meetings after closing hours.

Henry Lowet

United Nations Model UN General Assembly

Last Monday, bids from the UN Committee were sent out to the dormitories, sororities, fraternities, and other types of campus organizations at UNC to take an active part in the Model United Nations General Assembly, to be held April 24-25. The bids asked the various groups to indicate the nation they would like to represent in the Model Assembly. Nation assignments will be made on a first-come, first-served basis.

The Model Assembly can only be a success if each organization contacted will contribute its cooperation and participation. There are 60 nations in the UN which must be represented. Each delegation requires a minimum of four persons, since there will be four Commissions meeting separately to debate resolutions in various fields, such as: Political and Security; Economic and Financial; Social, Humanitarian, and Cultural; and Trusteeship and Legal Problems. The decisions and reports of the Commissions then will be debated before the entire Assembly.

Those organizations which have already returned their bids are asked to send their representatives to the UN Committee meetings on Mondays, at 7 p.m., in the Y Library on the second floor of the YMCA building. All groups which have not decided yet as to their participation are urged to send representatives to the meetings. All other interested students and faculty members are also urged to attend.

This Assembly is being undertaken to promote a greater interest in the UN and to provide a practical experience in the functions of the UN. It is felt that by providing a dynamic impetus, such as a Model Assembly, more students will become aware of the United Nations' potentialities as a force for world understanding.

Your organization can enhance its prestige, as well as receive the educational benefits, by intelligently representing a nation in the Model Assembly. This is true since the organization's name will be associated with the quality of the delegation. Certainly it is an exceptional opportunity for campus organizations to come together in a mutual project of outstanding merit.

Delegations will be aided by foreign students and faculty members who have visited or studied various foreign nations.

The Model Assembly calendar includes a banquet with an international menu and a well-known guest speaker. It is hoped Dr. Frank Porter Graham will return to Carolina for the Assembly. Publicity Chairman Chal Schley promises that local, state, and national publicity resources will be utilized to the fullest extent to herald the Assembly. Observers from other schools will be invited to attend the sessions.

Carolina is associated with the Collegiate Council for the United Nations and has received full sanction for the Model Assembly. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has also given her endorsement and promised any aid possible.

This is the first Model Assembly to be held with one university assuming all the functions. Heretofore, several colleges have banded together necessarily for such an enterprise. Carolina has the splendid opportunity to once more lead in a student function designed to bring about a better world community.

Ron Levin

Passing Remark

I remember vaguely reading about some sort of controversy about the merits of Herman Melville's "Moby Dick" and "The Old Man and the Sea" by E. Hemingway in the Daily Tar Heel some days back. It seems that a certain someone (the name slips my mind at the present) took a stand for the old masters like Melville, and the other took a most valiant position behind Hemingway and the modern school. I must say here that I side completely with the supporter of Melville.

First of all, why not read "Moby Dick"? It is about whales, I gather, and as far as I'm concerned I'd like to learn about whales, and whale hunting. I must say it sounds like jolly good sport. That's the trouble with the American People today. Their only interest is in themselves.

Yet on the other hand I have several good reasons for not reading Hemingway's work. First of all, by now surely someone must have told you the end so that spoils the whole story. What a pity. You know it's only the old version of "Moby Dick" but with a new slant just like all other fish stories. And lastly they'll probably make a motion picture of it fairly soon and you certainly don't want to read the book before seeing the picture. It'll probaby star Victor Mature as the old man and Esther Williams as the whale from down under.

I have read "Moby Dick" and to me it is a grand story of the olden days When I read it the current literary taste was at an al time high, but since then I am ashamed to admit that Classics Comics have really gone down. Honestly I like the old stuff like "Black Beauty" and "Tom Swift in the Salvation Army." Let's have some more of the old masters. I'm all for it.

PULP HUMOR . . .

The University of California humor magazine, the Pelican, recently [illegible] dealt the unkindest cut of [illegible] by the president of the Student Council. He said the jokes in the magazine were the kind that "can be found in any cheap pulp magazine."

ANOTHER TWO INCHES . . .

Columnist William Morris of the Daily Texan tells about a basketball game slated during the Christmas holidays between Center Hill and Stone college.

"It so happened that Center Hill went to Stone and Stone ended up at Center Hill. Net result: Disgruntled players, baffled coaches, amused observers and another two inches in this doggone column."

Swimmers Win; Tar Heels Meet Deacons Tonight

Edwards Sets New Swim Record In Meet

By John Hussey

Coach Ralph Casey's Tar Heels won their ninth consecutive victory against the University of Georgia yesterday, 59-25. Three new records were established, but this time Carolina only collected two of them.

Jack Edwards was the hero of the meet for the Tar Heels. Edwards established a new University mark and a new pool record at Georgia when he turned in a time of 2:10.4 in the 220 yard freestyle. This makes the fourth University record that sophomore Edwards has taken part in this year.

Donnie Evans picked up the other record for the Tar Heels when he did a 2:22.8 in the 200 yard breaststroke event. Although this was three-tenths of a second away from tying his own University record, it was still good enough to establish a Georgia pool record.

Reid Patterson of Georgia was their standout. He touched out Edwards in the 100 yard freestyle and established new Georgia University and a pool record. This was the closest race of the meet. It is interesting to note that Edwards and Patterson both swam the first leg on the freestyle relay and this time it was Edwards who finished first. In both instances the swimmers were no farther than two feet apart.

The Tar Heels collected seven out of ten first places with other honors going to Warren Heeman in the 200 yard backstroke and Buddy Baarcke in the individual medley.

Next week the Tar Heels will travel to Charlottesville where they will close their dual meet season with the University of Virginia. If they win this one, it will be their third consecutive unbeaten season and their thirty-seventh dual meet without a defeat.

Official results:

300 yard medley relay: UNC (Linker, Wall, Edwards). Time: 3:01.8.

220 yard freestyle: 1 Edwards UNC 2. Shannon UNC 3. Floyd G. Time: 2:10.4.

50 yard freestyle: 1. Patterson G 2. Heins UNC 3. Tinkham UNC. Time: 22.8.

150 individual medley 1. Baarcke UNC 2. Gill UNC 3. Henninger G. Time: 1:36.1.

Diving: 1. Mitakis G; 2. Boyd G; 3. Kelso UNC. Score: 333.95.

20 yard backstroke: 1. Heeman UNC; 2. Linker UNC; 3. Perry G. Time 2:19.7.

200 yard breaststroke: 1. Evans UNC; 2. Stolz G; 3. Wall UNC. Time: 2:22.8.

440 yard freestyle: 1. Shannon UNC; 2. Gill UNC 3. Floyd G. Time: 5:03.0.

400 yard freestyle relay 1. UNC (Edwards, Wall, Tinkham, Baarcke) Time: 3:39.1.

Tennis And Indoor Games Tickets Sell

Some student tickets can still be purchased at the Woollen Gym ticket office for the professional tennis matches to be played Monday night, February 23, at 7:30. These tickets are selling for $1.25. There are also some reserved seat tickets left and these are going for $2.50.

The program will feature a match between Jack Kramer and Frank Sedgman, who are engaged in a series for the professional championship of the world. Also on the program will be a match between Pancho Segura and Ken McGregor. To round out the program, Kramer and Segura will take on McGregor and Sedgman in a doubles match.

Tickets are now on sale for the Southern Conference Indoor Games to be held in Woollen Gym on February 28. General admission tickets are $1.00 out students may buy them in advance for $.75 with their passbook.

Get-Together

The first in a series of student-faculty get-togethers will be held tomorrow afternoon from 5 o'clock to 6. The meet will feature a discussion led by a faculty member.

This series is sponsored by the Student-Faculty Committee of SUAB. The discussion tomorrow will be lead by Dr. Arnold Nash of the Religion Department on "Communism as a Religion."

These affairs will be held each Wednesday afternoon hereafter.

Lacrosse Team

The Lacrosse team will meet at 4 p.m. in room 304 Woollen Gym on Wednesday. All interested in coming out for the sport regardless of experience are invited. Anyone desiring to aid in managing is also welcome. Co-captains for this year are Walt Ernst and Lew Floyd.

Blue Devils Edge Carolina In Track Meet

The Duke Blue Devils edged past the Carolina track team last Saturday afternoon in a practice meet here in the Tin Can. No official score was kept, but Duke emerged with a narrow majority of wins in the various events. Both teams were in excellent condition physically, and the competition was extremely keen.

The Tar Heels were led by Jeff Newton who won both divisions of the 60 yard dash, and Sonny Beall who finished first in both the 70 yard high hurdles and the second division of the 70 yard low hurdles.

The outstanding individual performer in the meet was Joel Shankle of Duke who finished first in the broad jump, high jump, and the first division of the 70 yard low hurdles. It was Shankle along with Captain John Tate, who led the Blue Devils.

The results of this meet seem to indicate that the Southern Conference Indoor Games, which will be held here on February 28, will develop into a rugged three way battle between Carolina, Duke and Maryland. This meet should feature the best competition in the history of the games with the performance of the slightly weaker teams of Richmond, VMI, West Virginia, VPI, and State being the deciding factor as to winner of the conference division.

The results of last Saturday's meet were as follows:

Three-quarter mile run: Tate (D), Bennett (UNC), Bostian (UNC); time: 3:14.

330 yard run: Hanson (D), Ray (UNC), Reimer (UNC): time 38:4.

60 yard dash (first division): Newton (UNC), Brown (UNC), Ferguson (D); time: 6.4.

60 yard dash (second division); Newton (UNC), Brown (UNC), Murray (UNC); time: 6.4.

660 yard run: Tatel (D), Massie (D), Bill Higgins (UNC); time: 1:26.4.

70 yard High hurdles: Beall (UNC), Shankle (D), Cornell (UNC), Scott (UNC).

High-jump: Shankle (D), Jordon (UNC), Cornell (UNC), Wilson (UNC); height: 6 ft.

One and one-half mile run: Marx (UNC), Morton (D), Barden (UNC); time: 7:14.8.

70 yard low hurdles (first division): Shankle (D), Scott (UNC), Duke (UNC); time 7.9.

70 yard low hurdles ,second division): Beall (UNC), Brown (UNC), Higgins (D); time 7.9.

Shot-put: Lawshe (D), Tom Higgins (UNC), Morris (UNC); distance: 47 feet, 11½ inches.

Broadjump: Shankle (D), Duke (UNC), Yarborough (UNC); distance: 22 feet, 8 1-8 inches.

Eight lap relay: Duke, UNC; Time 2:38.6.

Football Sked Is Announced

Maryland and Washington and Lee will be the only new additions to Carolina's football schedule next fall. They replace Texas and Miami on the card released Saturday by Athletic Director Chuck Erickson.

Maryland will come back after suffering a year's suspension by the Southern Conference for going to the Sugar Bowl two years ago in violation of the Conference's ban of bowl games.

The ten-game schedule is divided evenly with five at home and five on the road. Both Maryland and Washington and Lee will be played in Kenan Stadium, as will Notre Dame, N. C. State, and Tennessee.

Although on the home and home schedule basis the Tar Heels have with Georgia the Bulldogs should be played here, the annual game will be played at Athens in order to compensate for the game cancelled this past fall by polio.

The schedule:

Sept. 26, N. C. State, here, Oct. 3, Washington and Lee, here; Oct. 10, Wake Forest at Wake Forest; Oct. 17 Maryland, here; Oct. 24, Georgia at Athens, Ga.; Oct. 31, Tennessee, here; Nov. 7, South Carolina at Columbia, S. C.; Nov. 14, Notre Dame, here; Nov. 21, Virginia at Charlottesville, Va.; Nov. 28, Duke at Durham.

Carolina Must Beat Deacons To Keep Lead

By Tom Peacock

Carolina's Tar Heels, back in first place in Southern Conference basketball standings, meet Wake Forest on the Deacons court tonight and will have to play their best ball to keep their top ranking.

The Tar Heels added two more Conference victories last weekend on a trip south, taking over the number one spot Saturday night with a victory over The Citadel while Duke was whipping State in the Coliseum. Carolina now has a 15-3 SC record.

The Deacons are out for blood and are determined to win this one from Carolina. Murray Greason and his charges are still smarting from a defeat at the hands of the McGuiremen suffered in Woollen Gym earlier in the season. Carolina came from 18 points behind to win in a bruising, snarling finish, 72-68.

Wake Forest foes have to concede ten points to the Deacs whenever they play on Wake Forest's Gore Gymnasium floors. The partisan crowd makes Reynolds Coliseum seem quiet, and the fans are almost within touching distance of the players.

The Wake Forest game kicks off the roughest part of Carolina's schedule. N. C. State is scheduled on Saturday night in Chapel Hill, and the season closes against Duke, the giant killers, in Durham.

It is almost a certainty that the Tar Heels have to win both the Wake Forest and State games to stay in first place and have the first seeded spot in the Southern Conference Tournament in Raleigh March 5-7. McGuire and his team have always played them one-at-a-time, however, and the job for tonight is to stop the Deacons.

To stop the Deacs a team has to stop the Deac's high scoring sophomore, Dickie Hemric, and Carolina's Paul Likins did an excellent job of just that the last time the two teams met. Likins played the best game of his career in doing it, and will have his hands full if Coach McGuire puts him on Hemric again.

Wake's other big scorer, Jack Williams, outscored Hemric against Carolina, and will be as hard to stop. Bud Maddie will probably get the nod from McGuire for that job. Vince Grimaldi, Al Lifson, and Jerry Vayda are expected to round out the lineup, with Tony Radovich slated to see plenty of actino.

Nine Undefeated Basketball Teams Left As Mural Season Closes

With the Intramural basketball season nearly over, the league champions have already been assured for the highly successful 1953 season. The finals in which the top team or teams in its respective league will begin soon.

In the Fraternity Division, the ATO-3 team leads the way along with the Phi Delt-1 and PiKA-1 team with a 7-0 record for the campaign. The only other undefeated teams in Fraternity play up to date are the Beta-1, Sig Nu-2, and the Phi Kap Sig-1. The ATO-2 team is tied with the SAE-2's for the title in League VII while the DKE-2 squad won the League V title with a record of 5-1.

Emerson 1 and 2 teams have been pacing the dorm division since early in the season and have clinched the titles in their leagues already. The Med School-4 team is the only other undefeated squad in the Dorm Division.

After the play-offs in each division, there will be a game between the winning teams in each division to decide the winner of the campus title. The winners of the title last year was Victory Village who defeated the Zetes.

FRATERNITY DIVISION

League 1	W.	L.	Pct.
ATO-3	7	0	1.000
Zeta Psi-1	6	1	.857
SPE-1	4	2	.667
Chi Phi-2	4	2	.667
PiKA-3	3	4	.429
Phi Delt Chi-2	1	5	.167
ZBT-1	0	5	.000
DKE-1	0	6	.000

League 2	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Delt-1	7	0	1.000
SAE-1	5	1	.833
Lamb Chi-1	5	2	.714
Pi Lamb	3	3	.500
Delt Sig Pi	3	4	.429
Phi Kap Sig-3	3	4	.429
Chi Phi-1	1	6	.167
Phi Gam-1	0	7	.000

League 3	W.	L.	Pct.
Beta-1	6	0	1.000
Kap Sig-1	5	1	.833
Zeta Psi-2	5	2	.714
Chi Psi-1	3	3	.500
Phi Delt-4	2	4	.333
KA-1	2	4	.333
Sig Chi-4	1	5	.167
ATO-4	1	6	.143

League IV	W.	L.	Pct.
PiKA-1	7	0	1.000
Pi Kap Phi-2	6	1	.857
ATO-1	5	2	.714
Beta-3	4	3	.571
Sig Chi-2	3	4	.429
SAE-3	2	5	.286
Zeta Psi-4	1	6	.167
Kap Sig-2	0	7	.000

League 5	W.	L.	Pct.
DKE-2	5	1	.833
Sig Chi-3	5	2	.714
Phi Delt-2	5	2	.714
Phi Kap Sig-2	4	3	.571
Sig Nu-1	4	3	.571
Chi Psi-3	3	4	.429
SPE-2	1	5	.167
Pi Kap Phi-1	0	7	.000

League 6	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Gam-2	6	1	.857
Sig Chi-1	6	1	.857
TEP-2	5	2	.714
Kap Psi-1	4	3	.571
Sig Nu-3	3	4	.429
Phi Delt-3	2	5	.286
PiKA-2	1	6	.143
Beta-2	1	6	.143

League 7	W.	L.	Pct.
ATO-2	6	1	.857
SAE-2	6	1	.857
Phi Delt Chi-1	2	3	.400
KA-2	1	3	.250
AK Psi	1	4	.200
TEP-3	1	4	.200
Theta Chi-2	0	5	.000

League 8	W.	L.	Pct.
Sig Nu-2	5	0	1.000
ZBT-2	5	0	1.000
Theta Chi-1	5	2	.714
Chi Psi-2	3	3	.500
Zeta Psi-3	2	4	.333
Phi Gam-4	1	5	.167
Lamb Chi-2	0	7	.000

League 9	W.	L.	Pct.
Phi Kap Sig-1	5	0	1.000
TEP-1	4	2	.667
Phi Gam-3	4	2	.667
Delt Psi	3	3	.500
Kap Psi-2	2	4	.333
Kap Sig-3	2	4	.333
KA-3	0	5	.000

DORMITORY DIVISION

League 1	W.	L.	Pct.
Joyner-4	6	1	.857
Winston-1	5	1	.833
Med Sch-3	5	1	.833
Everett-2	3	3	.500
Mangum	3	4	.429
Alexander-1	1	4	.200
Ruffin-2	1	5	.167
Cobb-1	1	6	.143

League 2	W.	L.	Pct.
Cobb-3	6	1	.857
Aycock-2	5	1	.833
Ruffin-1	3	3	.500
Law Sch-3	3	3	.500
Joyner-3	3	3	.500
Winston-3	2	5	.286
Everett-1	0	4	.000

League 3	W.	L.	Pct.
Med Sch-4	5	0	1.000
Graham-2	6	1	.857
Alexander -2	5	1	.833
Manley	3	2	.600
Lewis-4	3	4	.429
Cobb-4	2	4	.333
BVP-2	1	6	.143
Grimes-1	0	7	.000

League 4	W.	L.	Pct.
Winston-2	5	1	.833
Victory Village	4	1	.800
Law Sch-1	3	2	.600
Cobb-2	4	3	.571
Stacy	2	3	.400
Lewis-1	1	5	.167
Aycock-1	0	4	.000

League 5	W.	L.	Pct.
Emerson-1	7	0	1.000

(See MURALS, page 4)

NOW PLAYING

Carolina

Mid-Winter Sale Ends Saturday

Last call to Drastic Reductions on Choicest Assortment of clothes South of New York!!

Spring Selections Arriving Daily

Bills Mailed Home At Your Request

MILTON'S Clothing Cupboard

with KODAK COLOR FILM

Stop in and see how easy indoor color pictures are. We have Kodacolor Film for most roll-film cameras, and Kodachrome Film for miniature cameras.

Foister's Camera Store, Inc.

Campus Chest Variety Show At Menorial Hall March 4

Girls will be spotlighted in the Campus Chest Variety Show which will play a one-night stand in Memorial Hall on March 4.

John Taylor, who is in charge of the extravaganze said he has assembled "many of the most luscious and talented females on campus to be in the production."

For the female population of Chapel Hill there will be "many good looking men in the show, too. But the spotlight will definitely be on the gals," he continued.

Taylor and his committee, which includes Ann Miller, Betty Vickery, and the co-directors of the show, Edgar Daniels and Billy Barnes, are planning "a high-powered, mile a-minute musical comedy revue." The show will include songs, dances and straight comedy numbers with most of the material used coming from Broadway successes.

Among the lineup of numbers will be a beauty contest, a "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" dance, a take-off on the First Drama Quartette, "Love Is a Simple Thing" and "He Takes Me Off His Income Tax" from "New Faces of 1952."

Girls Predominate; Popular Songs, Skits Are Also Featured

"Bushel and a Peck" from "Guys and Dolls," "Make a Miracle," from "Where's Charlie?", a parody on foreign films and other attractions will be featured.

Featured in the production will be Chris Boldin, Dottie Law, Boatie Boatwright, Jean Hillman, Nancy Green, Fran O'Neal, Mary Helen Crain, Jane Kottmeier, Wanda Philpott, Nancy Murray, Fran McColl, Joyce Dowdy, Peggy Pierpont, Anne Mackie Fitzgibbon, Kathleen Dover, Janey Boyer, Julie Hale.

Tish House, Louise Lamont, Diana Whittinghill, Janet Green, Genna Young, Mardi Boyle, Bill Trotman, Hal England, Dan Reid, Lanier Davis, Carl Ziegler, Dick Burton, Edgar Daniels, John Taylor and Billy Barnes.

The variety show will be presented as a free dividend to all who contribute to the charities sponsored by the Campus Chest during the week of March 2-6. Tickets also will be on sale at the door before the performance.

Deacs Tell Total Of Athletic Aid

WAKE FOREST Feb. 16. (Special)—A total of $82,760 is being spent this current year for 100 athletic scholarships or grants at Wake Forest College. The disclosure was made yesterday by Dr. Harold W. Tribble, college president.

The scholarships or grants range from $110 to 925. Of these, 67 are for football, 16 for baseball, 12 for basketball and five for other sports.

Dr. Tribble also announced that there are 293 non-athletic scholarships or grants ranging from $82.50 to $330 and totaling $41,467.50 for the current year.

He said funds for the scholarships and grants are derived from contributions from friends, the Deacon Club Foundation, Inc. and miscellaneous budget income.

The non-athletic scholarships include 133 ministerial students, 55 children of ministers, 21 competitive scholarships, and 27 scholarships based on merit and need.

Then there are 57 endowed and miscellaneous scholarships, such as for wives of students, sons and daughters of faculty, and rehabilitation students.

Wake Forest is the last of the Big Four colleges to reveal its athletic scholarship spending. The Wake Forest Trustees met Friday and approved the release of the data.

Dr. Tribble said all scholarships at Wake Forest are awarded by a faculty committee on the basis of merit and need.

"It is our earnest desire and firm resolve," Dr. Tribble said, "to maintain the high scholastic and moral standards that are essential in a well-balanced program of Christian education and a wholesome program of such activities as athletics, intramural sports, debating, dramatics, glee club, and other phases of school life."

Campus Seen

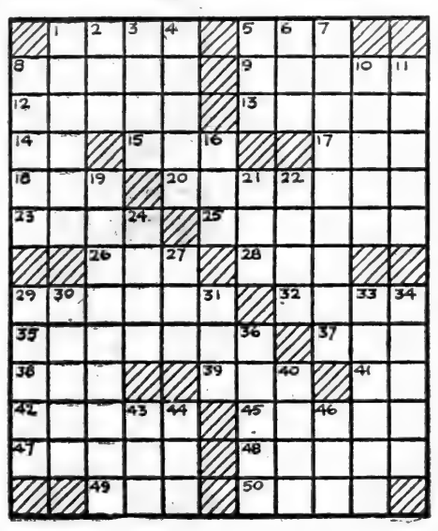
Raleigh Road crowded late Sunday afternoon as males head for airport to enplane dates imported for Germans Weekend.

*

Downtown merchant, in excitement of closeout sale, putting up large "Going out of Business" sign.

WUNC

7 p.m.—Sketches in Melody.
7:30—The Price of Liberty.
7:45—Vistas of Israel.
8—The Ways of Mankind.
8:30—The Recital Hour
9:30—To be announced.
10—News and coming events.
10:05—An evening masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Kind of nut (var.)
5. Part of a locomotive
8. Goods
9. Deputy
12. Rosaceous herb
13. Kind of bear
14. Earth as a goddess
15. Any split pulse (E. Ind.)
17. River (So. Am.)
18. Before
20. Whimpers (Dial.)
23. Thin, brittle cookie
25. Makes cloth
26. Steal
28. Assam silkworm
29. Boil slowly
32. Recognize
35. Flexible
37. Antelope (Afr.)
38. Norse goddess of healing
39. Silent
41. Exclamation
42. Prods
45. Antelope (Asia)
47. Creep furtively
48. Eucharistic plate
49. Arid
50. Asterisk

DOWN
1. Cave
2. Metallic rock
3. Furnish temporarily
4. Analyze, as ore
5. Crown
6. Past
7. Trusting
8. Salary
10. Mother-of-pearl
11. Rock common along Rhine
16. Legal action
19. Having an identification mark
21. East Indian tree
22. Sign
24. Pomerantans (colloq.)
27. Wager
29. Percolates
30. Name of ancient Troy
31. Border
33. Wild ass (Asia)
34. The Han Cities of China
36. Points of teeth
40. Goddess of truth (Egypt. Relig.)
43. Organ of hearing
44. Firmament
46. An Eskimo group

Saturday's Answer

MURALS

(Continued from page 3)

Lewis-2	4	2	.667
Joyner-2	4	2	.667
BVP-1	3	3	.500
Old East	2	5	.286
Med Sch-1	1	4	.200
Dental Sch	0	5	.000

League 6	W.	L.	Pct.
Emerson-2	7	0	1.000
Law Sch-2	4	1	.800
TMA	3	3	.500
Lewis-3	3	4	.429
Graham-1	2	4	.333
Med Sch-2	1	4	.200
Joyner-1	0	6	.000

North Atlantic Federation Discussed By Di Tonight

The Di Senate meets tonight on the third floor of New West to discuss a bill calling for a federation of the North Atlantic Pact Nations.

The Senate last week failed to pass the bill calling for the appeal of the Nineteenth Amendment.

Bob Clampitt was elected to the Debate Council representativeship.

THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE to secure justice in the Rosenberg case resumed around-the-clock picketing near the White House in Washington, D. C. (Story on page 1.) Several hundred persons arrived from New York by special train. Last week President Eisenhower refused to grant clemency to the doomed couple.—NEA Telephoto.

EMANUEL BLOCH, attorney for convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, shepherds the Rosenberg children, Robert, 9, and Michael, 5, past a prison wall on their way to "Death Row" in Ossining, N. Y. Bloch is holding the Valentines the boys presented to their doomed mother.—NEA Telephoto.

—Myers—

(Continued from page 1)

need for a new student union building saying that a bond issue could be had if it were requested. He said Horton didn't request it.

The ultimate approval of Penegar climaxed a two and a half year career in student activities that ranged from the fencing team to president of the Di Senate. During his freshman year, he was in the Legislature, successfully ran for the Publications Board, associate editor of the Yackety Yack and associate editor of the Carolina Quarterly.

During the past school year, the presidential candidate has served as SP floorleader, Chairman of Graham Board of Directors, Student Union Activities Board Chairman, president of the State Student Legislature and chairman of the Carolina Forum.

Last week political rumors were flying that Penegar didn't have the required C or higher average for the past two quarters. But a check with the Dean of Students' office revealed that he did have a sufficient average.

Next week, the Student Party will nominate vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

Bitter Cup At Georgia Brings Student Protest

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 14. —(Special)—The student newspaper of the University of Georgia has risen to the defense of the "convivial cup."

The move was prompted by the announcement that a $100 fine would be imposed on any fraternity serving beer, wine or liquor at any party on or off the campus.

The Red and Black is taking a very dim view of the situation.

Commented the editors: "Traditionally, institutions of higher learning from Heidelberg to Harvard, if not recognizing officially 'the place where Louie dwells' have regarded it with a tolerant eye.

"Throughout the long and glorious hisotry of learning its inseparable handmaiden has been the convivial cup.

"Partaking of the juice of the grape, the wine of the rose leaf, foaming brew of the hop, or sparkling dew of the mountain, the soul of the meanest man has been inspired to blissful contemplation and heavenly song."

Blaming the influence of the "petty principles of the WCTU" for the new policy, the paper called on Bacchus, god of conviality, to "teach this benighted breed to laugh and learn—and drink again.' "

Young Adult Group

The Young Adult Group of the Methodist Church will meet at the church at 6:30 tonight and proceed from there to Mr. Howard's cabin for an outing.

—Jones—

(Continued from page 1)

said that the church could best serve their pastor by remaining within the Presbytery and fighting the commission's demands.

If the commission shows a list of specific charges against Mr. Jones and cites them as reason for his dismissal, the church could appeal to the Synod of North Carolina and the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church.

However, if they simply announce that the pastorate between the church and the minister has been dissolved for the welfare of the church, there could be no appeal. But the Rev. Mr. McMullen said a complaint could be filed asking the higher church authorities to examine the commission's actions.

Mr. Jones, who refused to resign because it would not be for the welfare of the church since the congregation has urged him to remain, returned to Kingsport, Tenn., last Saturday after conferring with his officers.

Meanwhile other Chapel Hill ministers have given Mr. Jones their support.

What Goes On Here

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega will meet tonight in the Grail Room at 7 o'clock.

Town Girl's Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Town Girls tonight at 7 o'clock in the Y.

Women's Council

There will be an important meeting of the Women's Council this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the council room. Any members not able to attend should send delegates.

Models Needed

Anyone interested in modeling for art classes either this quarter or next is urged to contact Miss Lynette Warren at Person Art Gallery.

Forf Bragg Show

The Red Cross Entertainment committee is preparing a student talent show to take to Fort Bragg on Feb. 22. Any students interested in the show and trip should come to the Williams-Wolfe Lounge of Graham Memorial for a special rehearsal meeting tomorrow night at 7:30. If you are interested but are tied up at that hour the rehearsal will last until 9 p.m. so you may come in late.

DANZIGER'S

Tuesday, February 17, 1953

HOMEMADE POTATO SOUP $ .20

SPECIAL STUDENT PLATES

MEXICAN CHILI CON CARNE served with spaghetti and salad $ .50

SPANISH RICE served with mushroom sauce and salad .50

CHICKEN A LA KING served on toast with vegetables $ .75

CHOPPED STEAK served with potato and two vegetables .95

HAMSTEAK served with potato and 2 vegetables .95

LARGE PURE ALL BEEF FRANKS served with sauerkraut or Boston baked beans and vegetable .85

A-1 SIRLOIN STEAK with French Fries 1.75
extra large 2.50

. . . your choice served with bread, butter and salad.

YOUR OLD BOOKSHOP'S AT IT AGAIN

MERCY!

RANDALL AND THE RIVER OF TIME—Here's a C. S. Forester we'll bet you missed in making your collection. We think you'll find Charles Randall a worthy shelfmate for Captain Hornblower himself! Was $3.00. Our Special $1.00

OUCH!

MAGIC INTO SCIENCE—The story of Paraclesus, by Henry M. Pachter. The exciting and true tale of the wonder healer and alchemist whose feats led to the Faust myth. Our special $1.49

SOCKO!

THE SELECTED LETTERS OF RAINER MARIA RILKE 1902-1926—To the student of Rilke this volume is indispensable; to an intimate concern it will have abiding relevance. Our special $2.98

HALP OH HALP!

THE NEW GUIDE TO RECORDED MUSIC—The third, completely revised edition of Irving Kolodin's authoritative guide to classical music. Published at $4.00. Our special $1.98

ALAS, ALAS!

THE KING'S CAVALIER—A honey of a historical novel by Samuel Shellabarger. A best seller at $3.00, but look at it now. Our special $1.00

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. Franklin St.

Open Evenings

A THRILLING, NEW MOTION PICTURE!

Another Triumph for John Howard Davies Who Is Winning America's Heart as "Oliver Twist"

Tom Brown's Schooldays

Starring
ROBERT NEWTON
JOHN HOWARD DAVIES

T-O-D-A-Y & WEDNESDAY

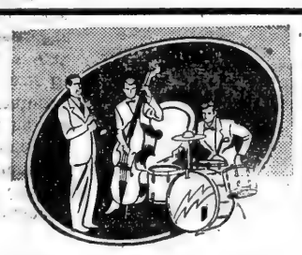
Varsity

For your convenience we have available

One-Hour Martinizing
The Modern Dry Cleaning

Minor alterations, including matching buttons, at no extra charge

ONE-HOUR VALET



400 W. Main St. At 5 Points Durham

Learning To Dance

Is More Fun Than A Night at the Theatre

!

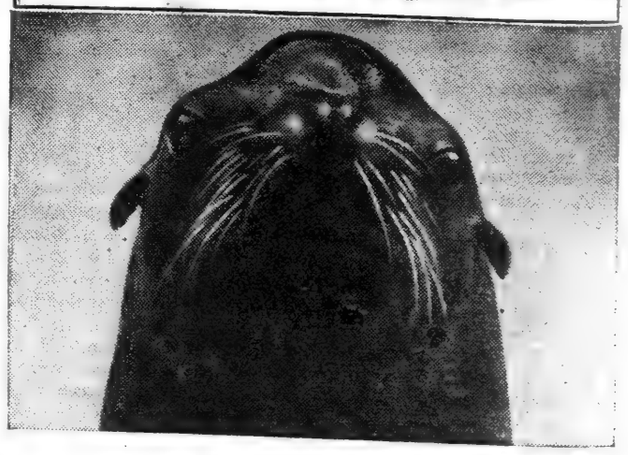
Studios Air Conditioned

Yes, a night at the theatre is over when the curtain falls, a football game is over when the final whistle blows, but your fun is just beginning when you learn to dance at Arthur Murray's. Win new friends and popularity with your dancing skill at proms, parties, and campus activities.

ARTHUR MURRAY

104½ Morris St., at 5 Pts., 2-7872

SALE



continued . . . .

Due To Unprecedented Demand

Through February 21st

Julian's College Shop

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

SHEEDY was all wet. All the flappers ducked when they spied him. The wave in his hair disappeared. Then he floated a loan of 29¢ for some Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's favorite hair tonic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Non-alcholic. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Grooms the hair. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. Now he's back on the ball, a flippant lover who flappergasts all the girls with his good looking hair. So waddle you waiting floe? Get in the swim with Wildroot Cream-Oil. Buy it at any toilet goods counter, and ask for it at your barber's. Remember, you mustache fur Wildroot Cream-Oil. Then the girls will put their seal of approval on you.

* of 131 So. Harris Hill Rd., Williamsville, N.Y.

Wildroot Company, Inc., Buffalo 11, N.Y.

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Clear and cooler with 50 high. Yesterday's high, 54; low, 36.

The Daily Tar Heel

TREES
The editor branches out. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 97 CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1953 FOUR PAGES TODAY

Cal Student Finds Way Difficult

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 17—(Special)—A University of California student was arrested here by police recently for collecting signatures protesting the death penalty in the Rosenberg case.

Ruel Amdur, a sophomore in political science, had two petitions set up tables refused by the City Council, but he went ahead and passed out literature and a petition.

Several police officers asked that he cease his activities and the next day Amdur was arrested at his home by policemen.

Amdur was released when $100 bail was furnished by the American Civil Liberties union. At Amdur's arraignment hearing Monday the bail was reduced to $50 and his trial was set for Feb. 27 for breaking a traffic ordinance.

In an interview with the Daily Californian Amdur said his purpose in setting up the table was threefold.

"First I wanted to spread my propaganda. I didn't believe I could be effective in the Rosenberg case. That probably depends on whether the pardon attorney is bitten by a dog or his coffee has enough sugar in it.

"Second I wanted to challenge the authoritarianism of the City Council in denying an application on political grounds.

"And third I did want to protest the death penalty on moral grounds."

When he first presented his petition to the City Council, Amdur said his intentions "were to show the inherent evils of the state as shown by the death penalty given in the Rosenberg case and to collect signatures on a petition opposing murder whether committed by an individual or the state."

A mimeographed sheet handed out by Amdur said, "I do not know if the Rosenbergs are guilty, but guilty or not, they should not die.

". . . The Stalinists will tell you that the problem is not one of the state, per se, but of capitalism; they say the 'people's democracies' do not have an evil nature. What then about the Prague trials and executions? . . . The problem of murder in the name of the state is not restricted to any one type of government. . . ."

Church Group Plans Meet For Weekend

C. Stacey Woods will address a Mid-Winter Conference of the Intervarsity Christian Fellowship at Camp New Hope this weekend.

Woods is the general secretary of the Inter-Varsity Fellowship which is an interdenominational student movement with chapters on more than 400 campuses in the U.S. and Canada.

Over 100 students from colleges and universities in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee are expected for the weekend which begins Saturday at 2 p.m. and runs through Sunday p.m. The theme of the discussions led by Woods will be centered on "What It Really Means When You Say You Believe . . ."

A period of recreation will be directed by George Norris and Dick Tarley—members of the UNC football squad — Saturday afternoon which will be followed by a picnic supper.

Reception Today

Dr. William Poteat of the Philosophy Department will speak at a student-faculty reception this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

Dr. Poteat will replace Dr. Harold Nash who is unable to attend because of sickness. Students and faculty are invited to the fair, the second in a series sponsored by the Student Union Activities Board.

Dance Committee Tries Four Males

One Suspended, Three Put On Probation For Conduct During Germans Concert Here

Four Carolina males found out this week that alcohol and a Germans concert don't mix.

The Dance Committee, guardian of UNC conduct at dances and other such musical functions, heard four cases at its meeting Monday night. Three men were placed on probation and another suspended indefinitely from the University.

Of the three put on probation, one was put on indefinite probation and two were given probationary sentences of a year each.

No one was apprehended for misconduct at either of the dances during the weekend, according to a Dance Committee spokesman. However, the spokesman warned that "the committee is tightening up" regarding checking on those drinking or possessing alcohol at "live music" functions. The committee attends only such activities as these.

The Dance Committee is composed of about 20 male students. The committee as a whole sits as court on the cases brought before it. Its decisions are final.

Gene Hackney is chairman, Lindsay Fearington is head doorman and John Poindexter is secretary.

Honor Council Suspends Trio For Cheating

Three students were suspended during the past two weeks for cheating on quizzes, Steve Parrow, chairman of the Men's Honor Council said yesterday.

The court also placed a student on probation for borrowing money from a Lenoir Hall newspaper change box. The student told the council he had intended to return the money.

Two reinstatements were put into effect for the Spring Quarter and the students placed on probation for two quarters. Another student had his probation lifted. He had been admitted during Summer School and had served out his probation period.

UNC Alumnus Inaugurates Essay Contest

A first prize of $100 and a second prize of $25 are being offered by an alumnus for the best and next best essays on topics suggested by the donor.

Dr. Samuel Newman of Danville, Va. made the offer through Dean of Awards E. L. Mackie here. The prize-winning essays must be on one of the two topics suggested by the following assumptions, as outlined by Dr. Newman:

1. It is assumed that our technological age requires the development of a world outlook or world culture. It is also assumed that our Western civilization is a synthesis of Judeo-Christian and Graeco Roman cuture. The imperatives of the technological age and of the Judeo-Christian tradition compel us to see the world as one.

2. It is generally assumed that the unique nature of the Jewish people, its special spiritual gifts and cultural, religion and ethical creativity during the period between the time of Moses and the beginning of the Christian era constituted one of the decisive and most significant chapters in the history of the human soul.

The topics suggested are: How can the one-world idea in this atomic age be reconciled with a resurgent nationalism that is divisive and aggresive? Will the establishment of the state of Israel (May 14, 1948) have any spiritual significance for our Western civilization or for the Middle East?

Dean Mackie said, "In order for the prizes to be offered, it would seem fair that at least four essays should be submitted. The contest is being opened to any junior or

(See ESSAY, page 4)

Former Coed To Give Recital On Thursday

Betsy Green Moyer, a former UNC student, will present a piano recital in Hill Hall tomorrow night at 8:30 sponsored by the Music Committee of SUAB.

She will include in her program Bach's Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue, Mozart's Sonata in A Minor, Op. 81A by Beethoven—and Hindenith's first Sonata.

Betsy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Green of Chapel Hill. She went to school in Chapel Hill and entered the University in 1947, The following year she transferred to Oberlin College in Ohio where she was graduated in 1951.

As a young child she began piano lessons under Mrs. Adeline McCall and was a pupil here under William S. Newman. She gave her graduation recital in 1952 and received her B.M. from Oberlin Conservatory.

In the spring of 1952 she married Cassel Moyer, also a student at Oberlin. The young couple moved to Boston when he was selected to become a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

There will be a reception open to the public in her honor immediately after the performance in the Main Lounge of Graham Memorial.

English Club

The English Club will present the recorded performance of John Gray's "The Beggar's Opera" at 7:30 tonight in 112 Saunders Hall. Interested students, faculty members and friends of the English Club are invited. Coffee will be served.

Chancellor Announces Four Faculty Changes

Chancellor R. B. House yesterday announced several faculty changes.

Dr. Lester B. Higley has been appointed as professor and head of the Department of Orthodontics at the School of Dentistry here. His appointment is effective June 1, 1953. Dr. Higley received his B.A. and M.S. at Grinnell College and his D.D.S. at the State University of Iowa.

Dr. Leonard Palumbo Jr. has re- professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the School of Medicine. ceived an appointment as assistant Dr. Palumbo received his M.D. at Duke University.

An extension of leave has been granted Paul N. Guthrie, professor of economics in the School of Business Administration. He is to "serve as a representative and as a referee, if need be, in the handling of any important wage matter country and some twenty of the involving the railroad system of the bor unions." Guthrie's leave of absence is effective thronugh Winter Quarter, 1953.

Alan Keith - Lucas, associate professor in the School of Social Work received an approved leave from Jan. 1-April 30 in order to undertake the revision of a publication on juvenile court standards for the United States Children's Bureau.

NEWS IN BRIEF

TOKYO—Two intruding Russian-made fighter planes touched off a 10-minute air battle over Japanese territory Monday by firing at two American Thunderjets sent to warn them, the Air Force announced yesterday. An Air Force spokesman said the alien fighter planes turned and opened fire on the Americans before they coud complete their warning maneuvers. The Air Force did not directly identify the planes as Russian—however, only Russia has air bases in the Kuriles close to the scene of the action, Air Force officers privately pointed out.

★

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said yesterday he believes it is absolutely true that Soviet Russia has exploded atomic weapons. He told a news conference that he believes that the Russians have achieved three explosions of atomic weapons.

★

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said yesterday a tax reductio nought to be deferred until a balanced budget is in sight. The president's position gained special significance because some Republican members of Congress have launched a drive for a cut in personal income taxes next July 1. The President said a tax cut now might mean higher taxes later.

★

NEW YORK—A State Supreme Court justice yesterday refused to order the reopening of the Minot Jelke vice trial to the public and press. Justice Benjamin F. Schreiber held that the Supreme Court "has no right or power" to decide whether the judge "should or should not have ordered the exclusion of the public and press "from the trial.

★

RALEIGH — Legislative leaders are strongly considering creation of a special joint appropriations subcommittee for further consideration of the State's budget for the 1953-55 biennium, it was learned yesterday.

NSA Referendum Assured; Horton Would Force Issue By Getting Student Petition

THIS EERIE PHOTOGRAPH is from the final sequence of "Birth and Death of the Earth" currently showing at Morehead Planetarium. The moon appears to grow immense, then suddenly crack and shatter into millions of fragments. This effect, which theoretically could occur billions of years from now, vividly illustrates what may have taken place eons agon on the ringed planet, Saturn.—Photo by William E. Gulley.

Might Bypass Legislature If Solons Dawdle

By Louis Kraar

President Ham Horton yesterday once again urged a referendum on the controversial National Student Association issue.

Requests from unidentified students who wanted to "put the question of staying in the group up to the studenets" started a bill which in the last month has been hotly debated. It has been turned down once by Legislature and was reintroduced last week by John Ingle (Ind.).

"If the Legislature refuses to give the students the chance to decide for themselves on whether they will be members of NSA, we feel duty bound to see that they get the chance," declared Horton. By "we" he said he meant "this office."

NSA is a national organization which carries on programs on the campus, regional and national level. One of its main functions is as a clearing house for ideas on student government. Other projects such as scholarships funds, travel tours and national conventions are carried on by the group.

Horton plans to put the question up to the students regardless of the decision of Legislature by utilizing a section of the constitution. The section says that 10 percent of the student body can petition for a referendum.

The bill may not get before Legislature until next week. Horton indicated though that he may not wait for legislative approval or disapproval before starting a campaign for getting the referendum.

Horton originally suggested the referendum in his "state of the campus address" at the beginning of the quarter. Last week he attacked what he called "politicians who go through dorms campaigning to represent the student, then refuse to let the students decide on an issue."

Meantime Ken Barton, regional chairman of NSA, commented tersely that he was opposed to making NSA a "political issue." He indicated that he felt there was no "genuine desire" for it.

"I am tired of this shadow boxing on the issue. I am prepared to do all I can for NSA, but I cannot do anything if faced with unknown opposition that is expressing unheard remarks."

No one thus far has directly said he was opposed to NSA. Proponents of the referendum move have said they do not oppose the group, but merely would like to put it up to the students.

NSA appeared to be a settled issue some weeks ago when it was first brought before Legislature and a large majority turned down the referendum request. It was during this session that Ed Stevens, veteran UP member and Parliamentarian "broke party lines" to blast Horton for his stand on the issue.

Stevens fingered Horton as the one who was against NSA, calling the bill a "one man, lethal plan to destroy NSA."

Horton, however, said the next day that he was definitely not against the group but merely wanted to put the issue up to the students. Asked who were the NSA opponents, Horton said, "For all I know there are none."

The new bill asking for a referendum provides for it to be held at spring election. If it should

(See NSA page 4)

Longines Symphonette

The Longines Symphonette will play at State College's coliseum Feb. 27 at 8:30 p.m. in a student-sponsored concert.

Tickets are on sale at $1.50 and may be obtained at the YMCA here, or by writing to the College Union at State. The 32-piece orchestra is conducted by Mishel Piastro.

By Bicycle, By Foot, By . . .

European Tours Now Cheap; Many Groups Present Plans

By Sally Schindel

Five hundred dollars is all you need for a summer in Europe.

The NSA, American Friends Committee and American Youth Hostels offer many varied tours appealing to those short on cash.

The best way to get to know a country is through people who live there. The NSA had this idea in mind when they planned their hospitality tour extending through England, Holland and Germany. Sixty-three days of living with families of these countries takes $550.

For $500 you can join a workcamp, which like the hospitality tour, enables you to get to know one locality well and have fun at the same time.

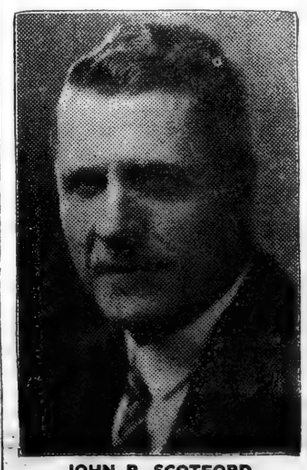
An art tour, offered by the NSA, includes traveling in such countries as Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Italy and Austria and visiting all their famous art galleries. The tour, which last for 73 days, costs $790—passage included.

If art does not interest you, maybe music does. If so, the NSA has a musical festival tour, which has as its highlight, Salzburg, at the peak of Europe's summer musical season. For 74 days of visiting Vienna, Amsterdam and Switzerland you need $825.

If you want to combine education and touring at once, the NSA has an economic and politics tour and a sociology study tour, both of which study prevailing conditions in several European countries.

For two dollars a day and approximately $340 round trip, you can take your bike and join the AYH (American Youth Hostels). In order to be acceptable for the AYH, however, a doctor must certify that you are able to bicycle 30 miles a day or hike 12 miles a day with full equipment. If you pass this test, you will be able to enjoy tours in this country as well as in Canada, Nova Scotia, Alaska, Hawaiian Islands and western Europe.

The most inexpensive system of all, however, is offered by the American Friends Service Committee. Each summer they sponsor International Student Seminars, open to graduate students of all countries, and held in the U. S., Europe and Asia. Each participant is asked to contribute as much as he can but scholarship aid is provided for those unable to pay.



Further information on these tours is available at the Y.

Baptist Church Set For Talk

The Thursday evening series conducted by the Baptist church on "The Meaning of Worship" will be highlighted by Dr. John R. Scotford of New York when he talks on "Architecture and Worship" tomorrow following the family night dinner at 6:30.

Dr. Scotford is an architectural consultant under the auspices of the National Council of Churches.

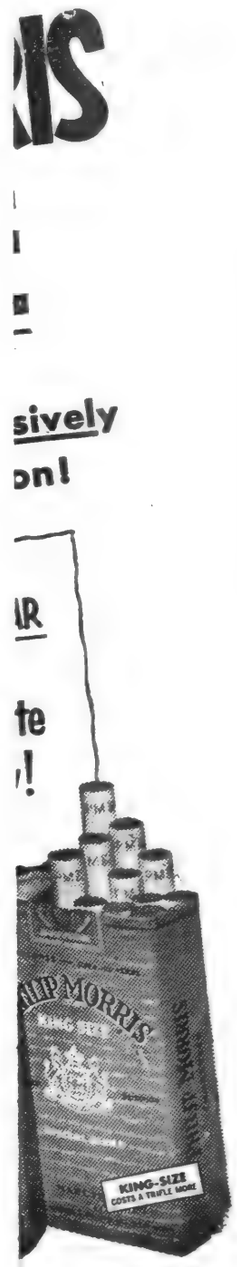
Dr. Scotford is a nationally recognized authority in the field of church architecture. ,

JOHN R. SCOTFORD

100 Delegates To Hold NSA Conference Here

One hundred delegates from 20 schools in Virginia and the Carolinas are expected here this weekend for the regional National Student Association conference.

NSA is a national organization which, among other things, acts as a student voice, is an exchange agency for ideas on student government, and sponsors scholarship and travel programs.



Ken Barton, regional chairman of the group, yesterday outlined the program for the meet which will be on Friday and Saturday.

Registration begins Friday at 3 o'clock in Graham Memorial. Carolina students desiring to participate must register also, said Barton.

Friday night Richard J. Murphy, president of NSA and a former Carolina student, will speak at Morehead Planetarium.

Saturday afternoon there will be clinics of various NSA programs. Included will be clinics of student body presidents and editors. Late in the afternoon, there will be business sessions.

The meeting will conclude Saturday night with a banquet at the Presbyterian Church with Dean Fred Weaver as the main speaker.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock | Adv. Mgrs. Charlie Collins, Charles Haskett
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. P. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell, Ned Whitmore.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

Night Editor for this issue: Louis Kraar

Strictly Policy

It seems like a week ago—fall elections. But as the headlines announce, another election is upon us.

As usual, there will be the tradition of political ballyhoo intruding upon the campus. Unlike others, we feel that the political punch adds a little zest to the academic atmosphere, and we almost enjoy the intrusion.

The policy of this paper will be to print the news—all sides of it—in due proportion to other campus activities. We don't have any accurate surveys, but we have a hunch that few students care too much about collegiate politics—only half vote each year. The Daily Tar Heel will try to heighten this interest, but not necessarily through the handouts of party agents. This newspaper will continue to uphold an independent tradition.

For the editorial side, we will publish opinion stemming from all directions, as much of it as possible. We find that students get tired of one subject after two editorials, or two columns on one subject, so we urge the party boys to sharpen their pens for lively writing.

The Daily Tar Heel will voice itself on general issues rather than specific candidates. We will try to leave the final decisions up to the student voter.

Unless there are some rather amazing and undiscovered facts appearing shortly before election day (well over a month away), which demand editorial comment, we will refrain from much opinion on election day except to urge students to vote. Election day is not a day for expose or innuendo, and columns of that sort will be expressly thrown in the trash barrel.

* * *

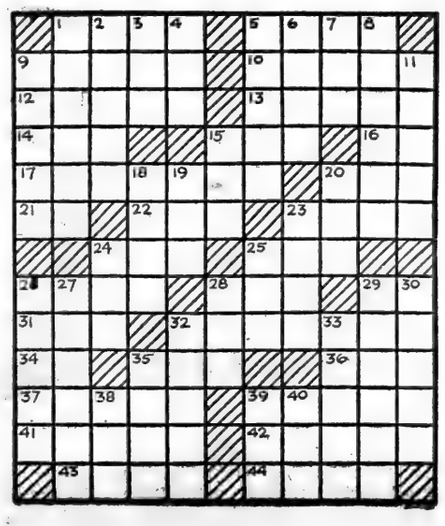
When editorials appear in these columns, they represent the policies of The Daily Tar Heel. The editor is human, and is a student. Not all the editorials are written by him. Your elected editor is completely responsible for all the editorials, in fact for the whole newspaper however.

* * *

To Roger Wilcoe and others: Your letters are appreciated. We chuckle, and hang them up on the wall, but we won't print them unless you give us your names. Names of letter writers are held in strictest confidence if there is such a request.

* * *

We have mentioned the fact that students get tired of reading columns and editorials on the same subject; athletics, the Presbyterian church controversy, and others. We think that this alleged "cluttering" up of the page is merely an expression of opposition to the opinions. What's more those who clamor about the clutter, usually infest the paper more with comment on the cluttered subject. The Daily Tar Heel will continue to comment on matters affecting campus life and other subjects of interest to students. And we will continue to accept—gladly—other views.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. A natural cavern
5. Fellow
9. Engraver's tool
10. Russian leader
12. Regions
13. Leave off a syllable
14. Monetary unit (Latvia)
15. Crowd
16. Earth as a goddess
17. A fast horse
20. Offer
21. Symbol (Lloyd's Register)
22. Retired
23. Warlike Asiatic people
24. Skill
25. Kettle
26. Cold and damp
28. Steer wildly (naut.)
29. Steamship (abbr.)
31. Like ore
32. Kind of lock
34. Masurium (sym.)
35. Tree
36. Medieval short tale
37. Burst forth, as a volcano
39. Garment
41. Ventures
42. Simpletons (var. pl.)
43. Little
44. Mexican trees (rubber)

DOWN
1. A vicar's assistant
2. Rugged mountain crest
3. By way of
4. Half ems
5. Lucid
6. Steering apparatus (naut.)
7. Cuckoo
8. Business (Chin. corrupt.)
9. Kind of wood
11. Requires
15. Lustrous black
18. Flesh of pig
19. Place
20. Except
23. Cry, as a dog
24. Some
25. Cushion
26. Having a rounded roof
27. Biblical mount
28. Long-haired wild ox
29. Frightens
30. Satirical sketches
32. Girl's nickname
33. A fruit of Italy
35. Not closed
38. Swiss canton
39. French coin
40. Man's nickname

Yesterday's Answer

Party Line

— Louis Kraar

It was all over and they were glad.

Ken Penegar had won all the Student Party's votes. Smiling broadly he offered the overflow Monday night crowd something to taste, chew, and swallow if they wanted. Even those who didn't agree with him tasted.

"I think the principles have been neglected. I think principles have been misplaced. I think it is time for the party of the students to come back. We must return this principle to student government—that of a jointly operated university in which student government is the junior partner," said Penegar with all the eloquence that he so easily maintains.

It was a beautiful example of oratory. The euphony, rhythm, and everything else was just right and not unlike Adlai Stevenson's style. Whether you agreed with him politically or not, you certainly knew he could speak.

Pugnacious Gene Cook was the one to nominate Penegar. And he did so with a speech that all but asked for impeachment of President Ham Horton. Cook, surely in an unusual flight of unfairness, censured the way Horton has handled the fight against Saturday classes.

"President Horton has bungled excessively the fight against Saturday classes. . . . He proceeds to take sawed off shotguns and back Trustees against the wall with mass meetings and demonstrations," snapped Cook.

Unfortunately, Cook didn't know just how much work has been done by Horton and his office in trying to ward off the seemingly inevitable six-day week. And they're still working.

Next Monday the full Board of Trustees meets. Horton will be there and so will cousin Phinn and others. They are going to make one last appeal to the Trustees. They have fought hard and won't give up until they pass judgment. Even if Saturday classes are finally backed up by the Trustees, at least a group of sincere students worked to express the students' feelings against the move.

Perhaps Cook didn't know this. And perhaps it would have been better if, like Penegar, he stuck to talking about constructive ideals in student government instead of grasping at political straws. But that's politics.

So with the initial nomination, the race begins to shape up. Bob Gorham has been continually talked of as the University Party presidential pick. Gorham was Orientation Chairman and his work is evident in the report which he has just completed on the program.

Two capable candidates seem to be in the field. A third is rumored. And they still talk about that dynamic speech of Penegar's and many frown at the mistake of Cook's.

POUNDING THE BEAT: SP longtimers celebrating after the nomination. . . . Ken Myers and his bid for the presidency . . . talk of a vice-presidential candidate shift in the SP with the tapping only a week off. . . . Henry Lowet and his shower of accolades on the SP favorite . . . over 60 present at a nominating session . . . and which politician was telling his friend that he had to catch up on his reading . . . reading the new motto signs in the Rat, he added.

Express Yourself

Editor:

May I express my thanks to my Alma Mater for the wonderful time I had last June while attending the first Class Reunion since leaving the Law School in August 1923. Suffice it to say I am planning to attend all Class Reunions that I can in the future.

There is some difference in the new Cobb Dormitory below the Monogram Club and Old West Dormitory where I was first assigned after returning from France in 1919 (after service on the Mexican Border and WWI Service in France).

I shall never forget one of my two roommates who came up from eastern North Carolina by Southern Railway and arrived at the University station late in the afternoon. Thinking that he was near the UNC campus he decided to walk and started down the railroad track. He was informed by section men working on the road that he was 12 miles from Carrboro.

Meredith spent the night with the section men and arrived in Chapel Hill the next day at noon. I have not heard from my roommate since 1923 but I hope to meet Meredith at our next Class Reunion at Chapel Hill in June 1953.

Lacy Black Bradshaw
Class of 1923

"Calling All Arabs—Calling All Arabs—"

Timberrr . . .

"The oak grows silently, in the forest a thousand years; only in the thousandth year, when the woodman arrives with his axe is there heard an echoing through the solitudes; and the oak announces itself when, with far-sounding crash, it falls."

Thomas Carlyle,
"French Revolution,"
Vol. I

This passage, we would like to think, should be true of today's oaks around the campus, but for many reasons—youth, age, and progress, plus a different brand of oaks, it isn't.

A while back on a Friday afternoon, I was leisurely walking back from the Library to my dorm when I noticed a team of tree cutters getting set to feel one of the older members of the University's tree community, a post oak, from 75 to 100 years old, situated near Murphey Hall.

I was about to start cussing out the University and the tree experts in particular for bringing down an imposing, beautiful specimen of nature. The clashing sounds of some of the higher branches falling to the ground proclaiming the final preparations for the butchering reminded me of articles in "The Chapel Hill Weekly" last year protesting the removal of trees around the new high school building.

A talk with Norman M. Armstrong, chief tree surgeon for the Armstrong Tree Service of Chapel Hill, changed my mind. He observed, "As students come and go, so also do trees." The oak, about 60 feet high, was on the downgrade. She was actually rotting away from the roots up.

The fact that the tree was bowing out doesn't mean a thing. A tree, especially an old one, is held in the highest esteem by the University. To cut down a huge old reliable takes considerable doing. Carolina's chief gardener, F. J. LeClair, in his continual walks around the campus, first notes that a tree needs to be removed. He tells a special advisory campus committee about it. Or the committee may find out about it from other sources and by observations made by one of its own members.

Discussion ensues among the members—H. R. Totten, biology professor; Paul Wager, political science; Samuel T. Emory, chairman of the geology and geography department; Oliver K. Cornwell, chairman of the physical education department, and Claude Teague, business manager. After reaching a decision, they tell Chancellor Bob House. He then decides and the tree either continues to stand or gets the axe.

The committee tries to remember that it takes a long time to grow a tree, and that it is wise to proceed slowly on making a decision. But this particular oak might have blown down in a good-sized storm. Two nearby young maples were struggling upward in a crooked style because of the big oak. Though the tree was in the way of a brick walk to the new business administration buildings, this fact was not the determining one in the committee's decision. A wall could have been built around it had the tree been in better shape.

Incidentally, Mr. Armstrong remarked that post oaks don't generally have a long life. They are known in the trade as a "second-rate" variety, though the University still gets some because of their fast rate of growth and general good looks.

If the Davie Poplar had to be cut down, the Board of Trustees might be called in, commented Mr. Teague. But there's no chance of this oldest and best-loved of campus trees coming down. Despite an overabundance of bees and yellow jackets—and old age, Davie Poplar is pruned and fertilized with particular care. And just in case something does happen, a Davie Jr. was planted nearby several years ago to insure continuity of the tradition.

Walt Dear

Now Hear This

— Jim Wilkinson

Those ominous rumblings from the Washington office of Selective Service hit the local level last week with the announcement that North Carolina students face a reclassification sometime this year.

The fate of college students is not as vague as many people might think. It's pretty certain, that the draft is going to dip into college resources before school starts again in the fall.

Every state is not faced with the same situation. For instance, North Carolina has exhausted its reserves in the upper age limits and begins drafting 19-year-olds next month. Many states may not find it necessary to do this for some time yet.

Last year General Hershey, Selective Service chief, said that the number of students deferred would depend upon the estimated need for trained men in non-military activities. This means that students will be used to offset occupational deferments.

Looking back over the record of the past several months, we see deferments have steadily risen in the dependency, overage and 4-F classes. There has been a slight decline in agriculture, student and ROTC deferments.

Nothing can be done about the overage group, of course, but the dependency and 4-F classes seem ripe for reclassification. The decline in student deferments does not necessarily mean that such requests have been rejected. It probably means that an increasing number of students have not applied for deferment, preferring to get their training over and later take advantage of the GI Bill.

The training before schooling sequence is viewed by General Hershey as the best solution to the problem facing students. He said last year he hoped that returning veterans will permit a "gradual readjustment in the sequence of military training and college training." On another occasion he said, "Eventually, for the majority, military training should precede college training."

He pretty well summed up his whole philosophy on the subject by saying that the concept of college before training "should, in the near future, hold only in the rarest and most exceptional circumstances."

This is the principal embodied in the Universal Military Training Act which has been temporarily set aside.

Deferments determined by the Selective Service Qualification Tests are not presently binding on the draft boards. It is merely a "flexible" yardstick which may be altered to fit the demands. So far, however, it has been closely adhered to.

Who, then, among the students will feel the first pinch? General Hershey gave a strong indication of this in a radio interview last week. He pointed out two possibilities. The minimum test score (70) could be raised or the required class standings could be altered. Either or both of these measures would add a number of draft eligibles to the books.

If this were done, the draft would start just on those in the upper age levels and work down.

General Hershey expressed belief that these revisions will become necessary by late summer or autumn.

All in all, it appears that the premium on brains will soar upwards, and soon.

Race Logic

— Dan Duke

ARGUMENT—If a majority of people want segregation, why shouldn't we have segregation? Isn't majority rule fundamental in a democracy?

IMPLIES — Hitler's action against the Jews was justified since the majority supported Hitler and his program.

FURTHER IMPLICATION — If we students can win majority support, we can have all the members of the faculty killed. Won't that be peachy? No Saturday classes. No classes.

ARGUMENT—Negroes should neither receive equal educational facilities nor be admitted to white school, since they do not pay as much in taxes as whites.

IMPLIES—Free education must be abolished immediately. This is Socialism! Why should any poor white student enjoy the same educational facilities and opportunities as a rich white student, since obviously their parents do not pay an equal amount in taxes.

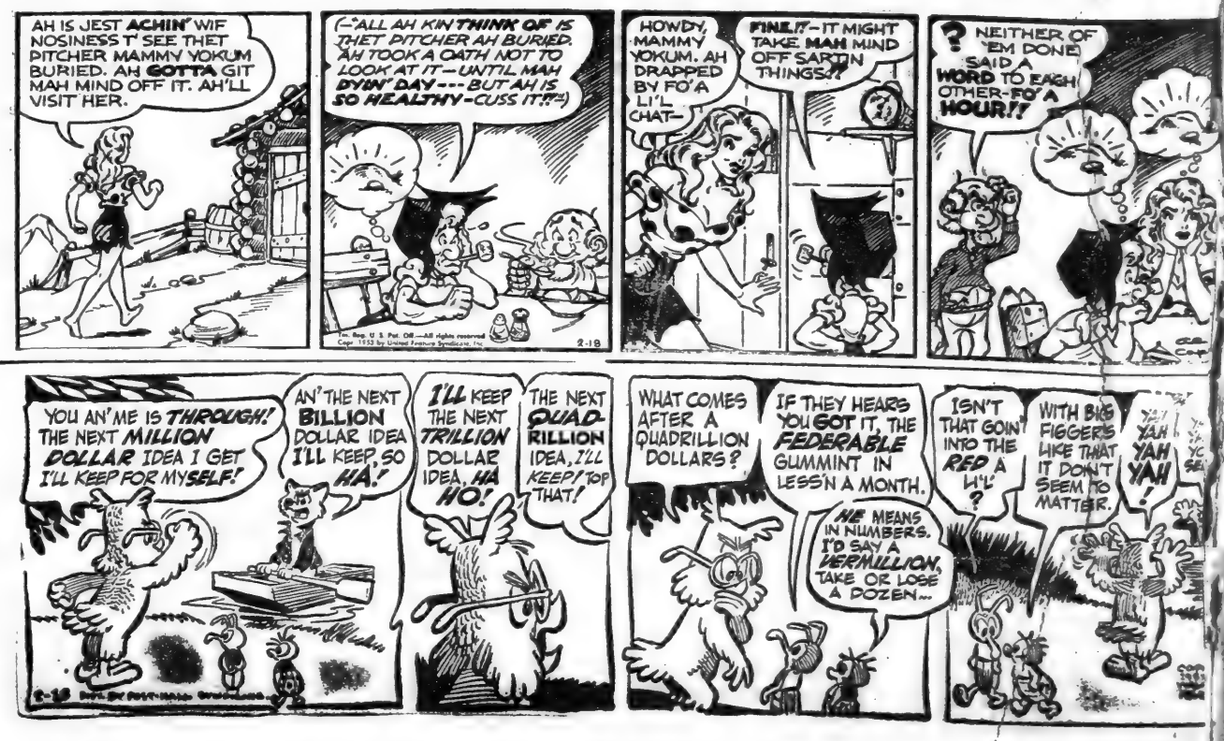
ARGUMENT—Why should Negroes be admitted to graduate schools—since we already know unquestionably that they are inferior?

APPLICATION OF LOGIC — "Medical School, Dear Sirs: Please let me in. The fact that those three Negroes made better scores on their entrance exams means nothing. They obviously lucked out, since we already know for a fact that I, being white, am a superior ability and intellect, and will therefore make a better doctor. Signed, William Lumpplump Q. Kalikac, Ill."

ARGUMENT — Look, the Socialists and Communists are anti-segregation, aren't they? Therefore, that proves that anyone who is anti-segregation must be a Socialist or a Communist.

SAME ARGUMENT, DIFFERENT WORDS—Look, the Socialists and Communists are people who-eat, aren't they? Therefore that proves that anyone who eat must be a Socialist or a Communist.

For the following typical arguments, you're on your own. You spot the inconsistencies and illogic:



"Sure, Negroes prefer segregation. I asked my maid and she told me so just the other day."

"Look at the North, where they don't have segregation. They have their share of race riots and slums. Therefore we are justified to retain segregation."

"Look at George Washington Carver. He got ahead and he was a Negro. It just goes to prove that any man can get ahead if he's got the gumption. Most Negroes just don't have the gumption!"

"Those Negroes in the graduate schools are just trying to stir up trouble and win legal rights. Therefore, htey should have neither legal rights for educational opportunities in schools."

etc., etc., etc., etc., (Anyone for tennis?)

Wake Forest Flattens Tar Heels With 89-63 Triumph

Down In Front

by Biff Roberts

A Show Of Shows

IT WAS SURPRISING to learn from tennis coach John Kenfield that the student response to tickets for the pro tennis matches to be held in Woollen Gym next Monday night was pretty slow. The show, featuring Jack Kramer, Frank Sedgman, Pancho Segura, and Ken McGregor, has been having phenomenal success in packing in the crowds for each of its appearances and it seemed to me that the meeting here would be a near sell-out by now.

Seems the reserved seat sales are going pretty well but the student and general admission places don't seem to be going as well. It's going to be one of the best athletic shows we'll have a chance to see here in Chapel Hill and certainly worth the $1.25 being charged for student tickets.

There have been plenty of professional tennis tours in the past but I don't think any of them can surpass the Kramer-Sedgman duel for speed, ability and even matching. The two have been closer than Martin and Lewis in their matches so far. Sedgman has held a slim lead for most of the time but the matches could easily stand even by the time the en tourage appears in Woollen Gym.

Mismatched To Matchless

MOST OF THE TOURS that have performed here in past years have almost, in fact, been mismatches. When Kramer turned pro in 1947 he went on a tour with the then champion Bobby Riggs and promptly belted the little fellow, 69-20. Dick Gonzales made a stab at beating the new pro champ and was also thrashed, 96-27. Segura himself came the closest to handling Kramer but he, too, lost in a shorter series, 56-28.

So you can see how evenly Sedgman and Kramer stand in this series. The question as to which is the best has been one of the hottest questions in the tennis world for the past few years. The tour might have been started last year but Australia's tennis fans took up a collection to offset the lure of the money of the pros and both he and McGregor stayed on another year to keep the Davis Cup down under and far away from our own Vic Seixas and his Yankee teammates.

But this winter after the Aussie duo had again won in the Davis Cup matches, Kramer lured them away by guaranteeing Sedgman $100,000 and McGregor $75,000, not a bad price for hitting a tennis ball over the net—providing you can hit it as well as they can.

School Ties and Tries

BUT YOU DON'T GET THE idea that it's a pro match. There's no lackadaisical attitude on the part of any of the four and each match is almost a modern version of do-or-die for Dear Old Rutgers. Both Sedgman and Kramer play a fast game which makes the tour have even more appeal than those in the past and does away with any loafing.

Segura and McGregor, although they get second billing to the Kramer-Sedgman battle, can still be counted on to give a great display of tennis. Segura is actually the present professional champ, having won the crown last year. On top of that, he was champion in 1950 and runner-up last year. McGregor, although he has been having a hard time with Segura in singles play, has been invaluable to Sedgman in the doubles matches. In fact, many tennis experts call him a better doubles player than the great Wimbledon, American, and Australian champion. At any rate, he and Sedgman enjoy a small lead over the Americans in the doubles.

On Tickets, Etc.

IT'S HARD TO PUT INTO A series like this, as other attempts in the past have shown, a feeling of true competition, but Kramer seems to have come up with a change this time. True, the tennis in all of the past matches has been good, but the scores in games, sets, and matches have all been too predominately Kramer. It's a pretty even show now.

All of which points out the kind of entertainment we can expect next Monday night—that is, those of us who have the tickets. The student seats and the general admission numbered only 1,500 when tickets first went on sale so you can see that there will be a limited number now. All of the rest of the seats are reserved and sell for $2.50. They have been selling well, according to the Woollen Gym ticket office, however, so the supply will undoubtedly be short within a few days. Tickets can also be bought at the Book-X in the YMCA in addition to the Gym. After our trouble with seating for the State game it seems that we ought to have learned a lesson about ticket procuring by now. A word to the wise . . . ?

Deacons Sure To Be In SC Tournament

By Vardy Buckalew

WAKE FOREST—History didn't repeat itself here last night as the Wake Forest Deacons put two very good halves together to hand Carolina its worse beating of the season, 89-63, and assure the Deacons a place in the Southern Conference tournament next month.

The Deacons, who blew an 18 point lead in the second half in their other meeting with Carolina, played confidently on their own court, and after a few minutes of the second half, the outcome of the game was never in doubt.

The Carolina offense was impotent against the almost impregnable zone defense which the Deacs threw up, as they were able to score only a total of nine baskets in the second and third quarters.

Dickie Hemrick, Wake Forest center, was high man for the game with 30 points. He also played masterfully under the backboard and, at times, almost single-handedly controlled his own and Carolina. Jack Williams was second in scoring with 19 points.

The Carolina offense, which could never get going ,was led by Al Lifson with 14 points. Bud Maddie played a creditable game under the board and scored 11 points.

The first quarter was very close as Carolina came from 8 points back to within two points of the hot Deacons. The score at the quarter was 18-16. Immediately after the start of the second quarter, Carolina pulled to within one point of Wake Forest at 19-18. But that was the closest they ever came. The second quarter was half over before Carolina scored a field goal on a hook shot by Maddy.

Today's Table Tennis

4:00—PiKA-1 vs. Sig Nu-1.
4:30—Chi Phi-1 vs. SPE-3.
5:00—Zeta Psi-1 vs. Sig Nu-2.
5:30—ATO-1 vs. Kap Sig-1.
7:00—Med Sch-3 vs. Alexander.
7:30—Med Sch-1 vs. Med Sch-4.
8:00—Med Sch-2 vs. Ruffin.

BRIEFS

WUNC

7 p.m.—Holland Calling.
7:15—The UN Story.
7:30—Anyone You Know.
7:45—Famous Belgians.
8—The Jeffersonian Heritage.
8:30—Masterworks from France.
9—Concert Favorites.
9:30—Everybody's Business.
10—News and coming events.
10:05—An evening masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.

Stray Greeks

The Stray Greeks will meet at 7:15 p.m. today in Alderman Parlor.

Golden Bear

The Order of the Golden Bear will meet at 5 p.m. today at The Shack.

CAPT. TED WILLIAMS (above), former hard-hitting outfielder for the Boston Red Sox, crash-landed his flaming jet plane at an advance air base in Korea after taking part in a mass air-raid near Pyongyang, North Korea. Williams was engaged in his first combat mission since he returned to active duty as a Marine Reserve pilot. He was uninjured in the crash.

Badminton Club Names New President

At the Co-Recreational Badminton Cub meeting last Monday night, "Mac" Rugheimer was elected President. The meeting which named officers for the year was held in the Woman's Gym.

Others elected were; Clara Gamble, Secretary; Elizabeth Ann Collett, Program Chairman; and Mr. H. S. McGinty, Advisor.

CLASSIFIED

ONE FREE WESTINGHOUSE Portable Sewing Machine. New Motor, $37.50. (1-c3475-1)

MURALS

The intramural swimming meet has been postponed until Tuesday, February 24th, since a good number of students are involved in the basketball and table tennis playoffs, plus soccer which begins this week. Additional entries for the swimming meet will be accepted through 4:00 this afternoon.

Today's Basketball

4:00—Court 1, Everett-2 vs. Med Sch-3; Court 2, Ruffin-1 vs. Everett-1 Court 3, Lewis-2 vs. Med Sch-1.

5:00—Court 1, Med Sch-2 vs. Law Sch-2; Court 2, Manley vs. Med Sch-4; Court 3, Joyner-2 vs. Dental Sch.

Today's Soccer

4:00—Field 1, Pi Kap Phi vs. Sig Chi-3; Field 2, ATO-3 vs. Kap Sig; Field 3, Phi Kap Sig-1 vs. Phi Gam-1; Field 4, SAE-2 vs. Pi Kap Phi-2. Gam-2; Field 3, Sig Chi-1 vs. Phi

5:00—Field 1, Delt Psi vs. Delt; Field 4, Chi Psi-1 vs. Sig PIKA-3; Field 2, Chi Phi vs. Phi Chi-2.

ATTENTION!

WC & GC Daters . . .

Schoolfield's Flower Shop

333 TATE ST.—ADJOINING WC CAMPUS

JUST WIRE OR CALL
YOUR ORDER WILL BE WAITING

Sale

(Ends Feb. 21st)

TIMLEY, HARRIS TWEED & FORSTMANN
SUITS SPORT COATS & TOP COATS DRASTICALLY REDUCED
SPECIAL GROUP FLORSHEIM & FRENCH SHRINER SHOES 25% OFF
GROUP LADIES CASHMERE SWEATERS 25% OFF

Julian's Gift Shop

Swim Event To Be Held At Carolina

The Southern Interscholastic Swimming championships, an event now in its seventh year at Carolina, has sent several promising young swimmers to fame in collegiate circles and this year's meet is expected to show another crop of future college greats.

Such institutions as Kentucky, N. C. State, host Carolina, Duke and Georgia have been heirs to fine young prospects coming out of this meet. Several are performing well in the collegiates now.

Bill Messick a former Augusta swimming for Kentucky's Wildcats; Military Academy star, is now Hal Stolz of Georgia Military Academy is a Georgia star; Billy Churm of Raleigh is at N. C S.tate; John Hussey is at Carolina; Marshall Floyd is at Georgia; Bob McMillan is swimming for Duke, and Gray McAllister performs for the Carolina freshmen.

Among the returning stars for this year's big meet are Ned Meekins of Raleigh high school, Bob Colson of Greensboro high school, John Hay of Asheville and Bob Smith of High Point.

Raleigh high school is the defending champion of the high school division, while Georgia Military Academy is the defending prep school champion. Wilmington, Greensboro, Fayetteville and Chapel Hill trailed Raleigh last year.

In the prep classification, Sewanee, Augusta, Staunton, and Asheville followed Georgia Military.

The meet will be run off in Bowman Gray pool at 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon, following trials in the morning.

NATIONAL LEAGUE batting champion Stan Musial (right) is greeted by Buick Division General Manager Ivan Wiles at the opening of the General Motors Corporation Motorama show in Miami, Fla. Musial is vacationing in Florida prior to reporting to the St. Louis Cardinals for spring training.

NIT Signs La Salle; Eyes Others

The battle between the NCAA and the National Invitation Basketball tournaments is on. The NIT jumped into the lead on Monday by signing La Salle, the defending champion and fourth ranked team in the country.

In past years a school could play in both of these post-season promotions but this time the NCAA has decreed that a team play in one or the other.

The NCAA wanted La Salle, so the choice was left to the members of the team, who decided they would prefer the NIT because it was close to their Philadelphia home. They did not like the travel involved in the NCAA tournament.

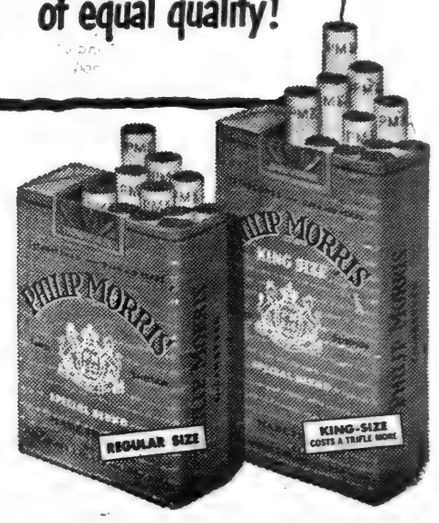
With the signing of the first team, the NIT will now set their sights on other top drawing cards —Seton Hall, Seattle, and Western Kentucky.

La Salle's coach, Ken Loeffler, in looking over the possible field for the NIT, said that if he were selecting the field, some of his choices would be Duquesne, Seton Hall, St. Louis, and possibly North Carolina.

Both Seton Hall and Niagara definitely have received feelers for the NIT, and the feeling is that Seton Hall, the only major undefeated team in the country, will accept for the same reason as La Salle.

HERE IT IS!

PHILIP MORRIS KING-SIZE



...the only leading King-Size cigarette made an exclusively different way to avoid the main cause of irritation!

NOW! PHILIP MORRIS is available in the new KING-SIZE for longer smoking enjoyment.

Remember, you'll feel better when you change to PHILIP MORRIS. In case after case, coughs due to smoking disappear . . . parched throat clears up . . . that stale, "smoked-out" feeling vanishes!

So take your choice, but make your choice PHILIP MORRIS—America's Most Enjoyable Cigarette!

KING-SIZE or REGULAR you cannot buy any other cigarette of equal quality!

KING-SIZE or REGULAR

YOU'LL FEEL BETTER smoking PHILIP MORRIS

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS

Hot Fan's Fag Almost Fires Memorial Hall

Those hot licks from Ran Anthony's trumpet Saturday afternoon did more than set fire to the audience—they started a small blaze in Memorial Hall, at least indirectly.

Firemen were called out early Sunday morning to extinguish smoldering rubbishh in a ventilator under the balcony. The fire was started by a cigarette a concert-goer had flipped into the ventilaton.

Dick Bradshaw, who lives in the rear of Memorial Hall, discovered the small blaze. Bradshaw said he smelled smoke upon returning from the Saturday night dance and called the fire department.

There was no damage.

Translations And Outlines
For All Your Courses
THE BOOK EXCHANGE
At 5 Points
Durham, N. C.

COLD WEATHER, SNOW AND PILING up enough points to get home are not the only things that worry soldiers in Korea. Here Pvt. James H. Hwafield, son of Dr. and Mrs. James Hawfield, has trouble with the birds at a Division Finance Office where he has been stationed for the past several months. Hawfield graduated from UNC in 1951.

AKPsi Names Sponsors For Banquet At Inn

Alpha Tau chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, national professional fraternity in business administration here, has anounced the names of sponsors for its first faculty silver banquet to be held at the Carolina Inn Saturday, Feb. 28.

The banquet will honor the eight members of the Faculty of the School of Buiness Administration who have served at the University for 25 years or more. They are Prof. D. D. Carroll, E. E. Peacock, Milton Heath, Clarence Heer, Harry D. Wolf, G. T. Schwenning, C. P. Spruill, and John Brooks Woosley.

The sponsors consist of alumni an dhonorary members of Alpha Kappa Psi chapter at Chapel Hill. They are:

T. Ebert Clemmons, class of 1927, Southeastern manager of International Business Machines, Inc., Atlanta. A son, Roland, is now a University student.

R. Hampton Davis, '26, superintendent of agencies for the Shenandoah Life Insurance Co., Roanoke, Va., a founder of Alpha Kappa Psi at the University.

M. K. Hearne, '24, Controller and Assistant Secretary and Treasurer, the Diamond Department Store, Charleston, W. Va. He was also a founder of the fraternity and was first president. Also has a son, Jack, in the University now.

Carl G. McCraw, president of Union National Bank, Charlotte. McGraw was Alpha Kappa Psi honorary member for 1952, the highest honor the chapter can bestow upon a non-member. He also has a son, Carl Jr., enrolled in the University's Schoo of Business Administration.

C. Knox Massey, '25, manager and vice-president, Harvey-Massengale Advertising Co., Durham, who also was a founder of the fraternity here.

William H. Ruffin, '21, president of Erwin Mills, Inc., Durham, and a past president of the National Association of Manufacturers. Ruffin was Alpha Kappa Psi's honorary member for 1950. William H. Ruffin Jr., is a junior in the University.

Brant R. Snavely, vice-president, Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., Winston-Salem.

Ralph C. Maultsby, '27, associated with McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., Inc., Atlanta. Maultsby was also one of the founders of the local chapter of the fraternity.

George C. Snyder, '27, general manager, Charlotte Coca-Cola Bottling Co., and one of the founders of the local chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity.

DANZIGER'S
Wednesday, February 18, 1953
HOMEMADE GREEN PEA SOUP $ .20
SPECIAL STUDENT PLATES
MEXICAN CHILI CON CARNE served with spaghetti and salad $ .50
GROUND BEEF served on toast with gravy and hashed brown potatoes .55
CHICKEN LIVERS served on rice with stuffed tomato $ .75
SMOKED PORKIES served with sauerkraut and potatoes .90
ROAST OF BEEF served with mushroom-sauce and potatoes, vegetables .90
HUNGARIAN GOULASH served with potatoes and two vegetables 1.10
CHEESE OMELET served with two vegetables .65
. . . your choice served with bread, butter and salad.

Bible Study Group

The Bible Study Group will meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the YMCA with Dr. Bernard Boyd leading the discussion. Those interested are invited.

LAST TIMES TODAY

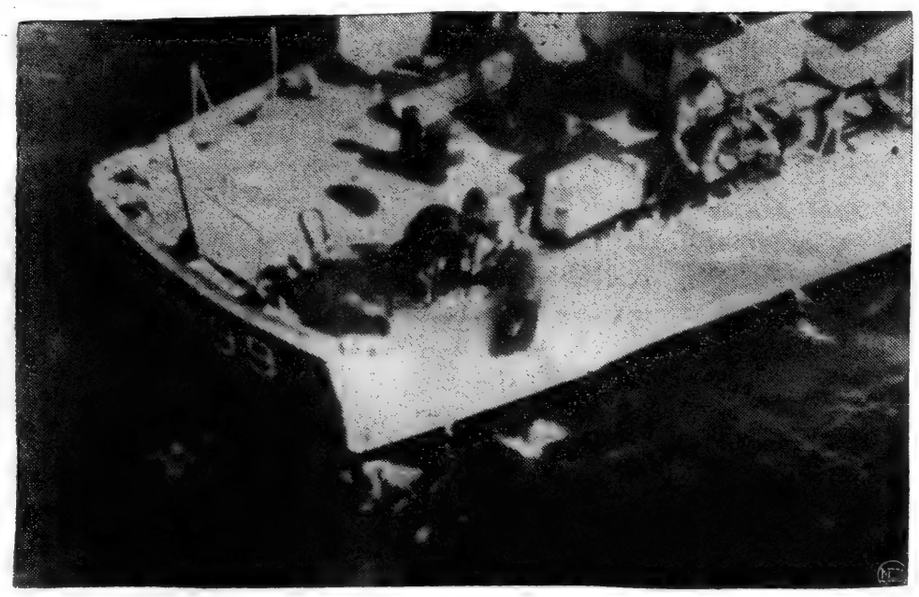
Tom Brown's Schooldays
GEORGE MINTER presents
JOHN HOWARD DAVIES • ROBERT NEWTON
Varsity
LATE SHOW SAT. NITE
SUNDAY-MONDAY-TUESDAY

CHARLES CHAPLIN'S
HUMAN DRAMA!
LIMELIGHT
Released thru United Artists

Adventure Lashes Across The Face Of The West!
THE SILVER WHIP
starring DALE ROBERTSON · RORY CALHOUN
ROBERT WAGNER
20th Century-Fox
Also
Sportlight—News
NOW PLAYING
Carolina
LATE SHOW SATURDAY-SUNDAY-MONDAY
THE JAZZ SINGER
TECHNICOLOR
WARNER BROS.
DANNY THOMAS · PEGGY LEE

ACU Chooses New Officers

The UNC student chapter of the American Church Union of the Episcopal Church recently elected interim officers. They are chairman Robert Pace of Morrisville; vice chairman, Wallace H. Conrad of Greensboro; recording secretary, Campbell L. Stubbs of Atlanta, Ga.; and corresponding secretary, Wiley P. Howard of Fuquay Spring, N. C. Dr. U. T. Holmes Jr. of the Classics Department is faculty advisor to the group.



The ACU is composed of members of the Episcopal Church organized to set forth and promote orthodox Christianity. Its membership is open to all those who are in communion with the worldwide Angican Communion.

—NSA—

(Continued from page 1)

pass, it would mean that NSA would definitely be a campaign issue.

In past years, the Student Party has been the main proponent of NSA. And in the spring campaign last year, the University Party indicated that it was opposed to certain factors of the organization.

COAST GUARD CREWMEN IN the Gulf of Mexico have accounted for all four rubber life-rafts from a National Airlines DC-6 plane which crashed south of Mobile, Ala., and they say there is no hope of survivors. Here crewemen on a Coast Guard cutter pull aboard the body of one victim. Rescuers have located 17 bodies in the choppy waters. There were 46 persons aboard the plane when it crashed.—NEA Telephoto.

—Essay—

(Continued from page 1)

senior in the University and one purpose of this notice is to find whether there will be a sufficient response for the contest to be held."

Dr. Maynard Adams, Dr. Louis Kattsoff and Dr. William Wells will be judges.

Further information may be obtained from Dean Mackie, Room 313 South Building. He requested those interested contact him no later than next Wednesday.

Worrying About Marks? Brush Up With A College Outline from
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

Prepare Now

. . . to be more popular at your next party
See how much better you'll dance after a few private lessons at Arthur Murray.
Arthur Murray
104½ Morris St.—Ph. 2-7872
Studios Air Conditioned

"Oxford" Man Reveals Weakness of Opposite Sex!

ONCE upon a time, there was a wealthy young college man who spent a million dollars a year on his wardrobe. But the gals all thought he looked "square as an ice cube."

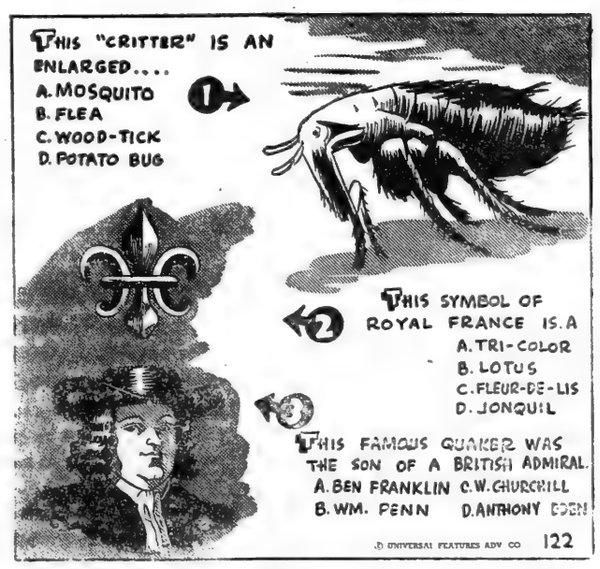
One day, while cruising around the campus in his solid gold convertible with leopard-skin tires, he noticed a young freshman surrounded by a bevy of beautiful dolls. Slamming his foot down upon the sterling silver brake pedal, he smoothed out the wrinkles in his custom-tailored suit and strolled over to this popular fellow.

"Tell me," he asked, "to what do you owe your great success with the fair sex?"

"Naturally," the young Casanova replied, "it's the shirts I wear." He pointed to the pale gray Oxford button-down he had on. "Everyone's bashing ears about Oxford shirts this year . . . and I have Oxfords in light blue, gray, yellow, pink, lavender . . . and of course, white. Roll collars, button-downs and those new short collars, too!"

The rich young man felt the luxurious Oxford fabric. "Your shirtmaker must charge a lot for shirts like these."

"Shirtmaker nothing," grinned the young fellow. "I get all my shirts from the friendly Van Heusen dealer right down the street. And the ante is only $3.95 apiece!"



The wealthy young man made a bee-line for the Van Heusen store. Since he was loaded (with money), he also bought a dozen deluxe Van Heusen Oxfords, made of high-count, tightly-twisted yarn, for $4.50 apiece.

His seven wives are suing for bigamy this month.

THE OLD UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT IS CLOSED.
THE NEW UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT OPENS UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT, TUESDAY, 24TH, NOON.
WATCH THE ADS

COMING TO
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
MISCHEL PIASTRO
AND THE
LONGINES SYMPHONETTE
SPONSORED BY
N. C. STATE COLLEGE UNION
Friday, Feb. 27, 8:30 P.M.
ADMISSION
$1.50
Tickets on sale at the YMCA Office and at door in the Coliseum

DR. QUIZ CONDUCTED BY— Sutton's

Flea, Fleur-de-lis and Wm. Penn are the answers . . . and SUTTON'S DRUG STORE is the answer to your every baby need. You'll find that we have the finest selection . . . lowest prices. Make this your first stop.
THE TAR HEEL'S DRUG CENTER
Sutton's DRUG STORE
Rx SPECIALISTS
COSMETICS - MEN'S TOILETRIES - SCHOOL SUPPLIES
5531 - COMPLETE FOUNTAIN SERVICE - JUST ACROSS FRANKLIN

Complete Line of
VAN HEUSEN MEN'S WEAR
Town & Campus

U N C Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

WEATHER
Clear and cooler with 50 high. Yesterday's high, 54; low, 36.

The Daily Tar Heel

PLEA
The editors ask a favor. See p. 2 editorial.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 98 CHAPEL HILL, N. C. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1953 FOUR PAGES TODAY

Meets Tonight

Legislature To Tackle NSA Again

A request for $1,600 for a junior-senior class party is expected to be up before Legislature tonight.

The request is in the form of a bill introduced by UP Floor-leader Jack Stilwell. Key members of both parties hinted that the bill would be the subject of debate at the session.

If the $1600 request is filled for the traditional junior-senior fete, there would be little more than $300 left in the legislative till. For this reason, some legislators are against the move.

Last year, $1500 was requested for the same function, and after revisions the junior-senior class finally received $500. One of the opponents of this year's will indicated that $500 was the amount that would be suggested.

The stormy NSA referendum bill is also slated for more egislative debate. The bill, which was rejected some weeks ago, was reintroduced last week by John Ingle (Ind.) The bill calls for putting the question of continuing membership in the NSA up to the students. Thus far, the University Party has been the proponent of the bill and the Student Party the opponent.

President Ham Horton yesterday said his office was starting a campaign to get the students to petition for the referendum. He pointed out a section of the constitution which says 10 per cent of the student body can petition for a referendum.

NSA appeared setfled when it was brought up some weeks ago and the referendum was voted down by a large majority.

The National Student Association is an organization which carries on programs on the campus, regional and national level. One of its main functions is as a clearing house for ideas on student government. Other projects such as scholarship funds, travel tours and national conventions are sponsored by the group.

Elon Removes Church-Going Requirement

ELON COLLEGE, Feb. 18—(Special)—A 60-year-old rule demanding that students at this Christian Church institution must attend Sunday school and church every Sunday has been abolished.

,The college trustees killed the ruling yesterday.

Students who went home on weekends were expected to bring back a statement from a minister that they had attended church. Students who failed to attend services two Sundays were punished by loss of an academic quarter hour.

The Student Legislature last approved a resolution of protest addressed to the trustees. The resolution said forced attendance violates Christian principles because it deprives students of their private judgment and liberty of conscience.

The requirement also was detrimental to the school's honor system, the resolution charged, because it encouraged students to forge church attendance slips.

Spanish Club

Spanish Club meets tonight in the upstairs dining room of Lenoir Hall. David G. Basile, professor of Latin-American geography, will show slides of the Latin American countries.

Urgent

Valkyrie Sing Chairman Tish Coley called a meeting for today at 4 p.m. of all organizations' sing chairmen.

The meeting, described by Miss Coley as "urgent," will be held in the Women's Honor Council room on second floor Graham Memorial.

MORE THAN 200 WASHINGTON correspondents packed into the White House to attend President Eisenhower's first news conference. The new president's relations with the press were much debated prior to this conference. It was a question of whether he would be reluctant or talkative. Opinions differed on his method used this week, but most agreed that it could have been better.—NEA Telephoto.

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON — Sen. John L. McClellan asserted yesterday that waste and mismanagement in the State Department's Voice of America "may border on treason." The Arkansas Democrat said disclosures before the Senate Permanent Investigating Committee go far beyond "incompetence and stupidity," and "there is no question in my mind that some of this may border on treason."

★

RALEIGH — Legislation aimed directly at the Ku Klux Klan has been introduced in the N. C. General Assembly. The bill would make it illegal to join any secret society, secret political or military society "having for a purpose the resisting or circumventing the law of the state." It would also forbid persons over 16 from wearing masks or hoods except under certain conditions.

★

NEW YORK—Nancy Hawkins, an Indiana-born beauty who the state charges was one of 11 call girls in the Mickey Jelke stable, will probably be the next witness against the 23-year old alleged vice-peddler. There was also a possibility that red-haired Erica Steele, who turned her fashionable New York apartment into a highpriced brothel, would take the stand yesterday.

★

WASHINGTON — The government yesterday lifted price controls from milk, butter ice cream and other dairy products. Drugs, cosmetics, coal and most service charges for auto, radio and television repairs also were freed from controls.

★

WASHINGTON — India has accepted career diplomat George V. Allen as the new American ambassador to New Delhi, informed sources said yesterday. Allen is now envoy to Yugoslavia and will succeed Chester Bowles in India.

★

SEOUL — United States Sabre jet pilots shot down seven Russian-made MIG-15 jet fighters over North Korea yesterday while defending a near-record size United Nations bomber fleet. The Com-

(See NEWS, page 4)

Deadline Near For Deferment

Eligible students who intend to take the Selective College Qualification Test in 1953 should file applications at once for the April 23 administration.

An application and a bulletin of information may be obtained at Following instructions in the bulany Selective Service local board. letin, the student should fill out his application immediately and mail it in the special envelope provided. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight, March 9, 1953. Early filing will be to the student's advantage.

Naval Aviation Cadet Program Seeking Men

Interviews for students interested in the Naval Aviation Cadet Program will be held next Thursday in the Naval Armory by Lt. J. A. Henning.

Candidates must present a transcript of college grades and original or photostatic copy of birth certificate.

To be eligible an applicant must be a male U. S. citizen, age 18-27, having completed two full years of passing work at an accredited college. He must be unmarried, pass physical and written tests and agree to remain on active duty for four years including flight training, unless released sooner by the Navy Department.

A candidate must not have received notice to report for induction at time of application.

Aviation cadets receive $105 monthly, lodging, board and required uniforms.

University Party For NSA Referendum, Says McFall

The University Party Tuesday night went on record as favoring a referendum on the National Student Association, according to Walt McFall ,party chairman.

McFall explained that the resolution did not indicate that the UP was for or against the organization, but merely felt that the students should decide on the issue.

The party also introduced a resolution to take the head cheerleader's election out of politics. All dormitory Legislature seats were filled except one.

Faculty Salary Hike Backed

Switch Noted In Report Of Trustee Unit

The Trustees's Visiting Committee will hand the full board a 26-page report Monday recommending Saturday classes, higher salaries for teaching personnel, and greater emphasis on scholarship and academic freedom.

The report, completed on Feb. 9 and released by Chairman Victor S. Bryant, is the result of several months' consultation with the administration, the faculty and students. Under the University Administrative Code, the committee is required to make such a report at least once a year.

Regarding Saturday classes the committee directly reversed its recommendation of Feb. 28, 1949 that the institution of a six-day week "is too drastic a measure if it is going to hamper the serious and best efforts of the University."

In this year's report the committee refers to "estimates" that from 35 to 50 per cent of the students leave the campus for the weekend.

The report says, "We do not suggest Saturday classes as a disciplinary measure, but in our judgment the real purposes for which a student attends college can be more nearly achieved in a five-and-a-half day week that a four-and-a-half-day week."

Reference is also made to the fact that the University at Chapel Hill is one of only three members of the 37-member Association of American Universities which do not have Saturday classes.

In recommending higher pay for faculty members, the committee noted that, even though teachers will benefit from Governor Umstead's suggested 10 per cent pay raise, their salaries "will not have increased commensurately with the cost of living."

In regard to academic freedom the committee says, "Our University must maintain at any cost its traditional liberality of thought, and the right of both student and faculty to search out the truth wherever it may be found."

The Visiting Committee's recommendations in full are:

"1. That unsparing efforts be continued to obtain faculties of the highest quality at the three branches.

"2. That there be continued insistence upon those conditions, including adequate compensation, scholarly opportunity and academic freedom, which will make our campuses congenial for those interested in sound teaching, scholarship and research.

"3. That more emphasis be put on teaching in the undergraduate schools, with proper recognition and promotion for excellence in teaching.

"6. That more faculty-student con-

(See TRUSTEES, page 3)

More Funds Required To Run New Hospital

President Gray and other University officials have put in an emergency request for more funds to operate the new Memorial Hospital here.

Because the hospital now is operating at only partial capacity, with a high overhead, the State must pay 68 per cent of the operational costs for this year, Gray told the Joint Appropriations Committee Tuesday. In 1953-54 the State's percentage will drop to 33 per cent and is expected to decline still further to 26 per cent in 1955-56, he said.

Gray asked for an additional $341,155 for operations through the remainder of this fiscal year, which ends next June 30. This would bring to a total of $1,996,795 the State's appropriations for operating the hospital this year.

The request for 1953-54 is for an additional $286,824.

For 1954-55 the request is for an additional $426,941 bringing the total for that year to $790,219.

In 1955-56 the total need is expected to be $641,732.

There are only two ways in which the State's contribuation to support the hospital could be reached, according to Gray.

One way, he said, would be for "increased growth of voluntary health insurance plans" to bring the hospital more funds from patients participating in that coverage.

The other way would be for the counties to pay a more substantial portion of the costs for hospitalizing those who are unable to pay their hospital bills themselves, he said.

It is necessary for State support of the hospital to continue indefinitely Gray said, in order to make up for those who cannot pay for themselves or who for some other reason do not pay their bills.

In little more than a year of operation, the hospital has taken care of a total of 1,450 patients and about 4,000 out-patients who were treated but not admitted, Gray said. Now the hospital has only 104 beds available, but the total is expected to exceed 400 in 1955.

Lt. Hauser At Large

Mardi Gras, Bossomy Beauties Warm Hea Of Old Tar Heeler

(Lt. Chuck Hauser, our official Tar Heel at large, is Korea-bound. This is the first of several columns describing his trip over and this one is written about a town he knows by description and acquaintance. Chuck was Managing Editor (and everything else) of The Daily Tar Heel during his days here from 1947 to 1951.—Ed)

NEW ORLEANS—It's Mardi Gras time here in New Orleans; the temperature sits in the mid-80's, and if those two things don't combine to make this a hot enough town, there's always Lilly Christine, the Cat Girl.

Lilly, a Tar Heel favorite from Sugar Bowling days, is the golden-haired Venus with the body of a contortionist and the suggestive motions of an ocrean fern, in case anyone's forgotten. She's back at her old stand in Louis Prima's 500 club on Bourbon Street, and naturally, she's packing the house.

The act has slowed down some from the old Cat Girl routine that Tar Heels who made the great bowl trips of the Golden Era will remember. Lilly is going in for more interpretation and less out-and-out sex, but the body, the muscles and the ability to use them are still there.

I have seen one of the 15 assorted Mardi Gras parades during my one-night stand here. Hundreds of thousands of people sardined into the narrow streets and spilled out into vast Canal Street to watch the Krewe of Orion spectacle which snaked around the downtown area for better than two hours.

A taxi driver had given me a rather accurate gratis preview of the parade that afternoon.

"There's a bunch pay-pur-ma-shett flats whita buncha broads on 'em t'rowing away trinkets. Jeez, you should see them crowds scramble for them trinkets! Jeez!"

A six-hour session on Bourban Street followed. Split about half-and-half between strippers and Dixieland combo, in roughly the following order:

1. The Cat Girl.

2. Stormy, the renowned stripper who got tossed in a lake at LSU a few years ago when she went to the campus to help promote a student political campaign.

3. Evangeline, the Oyter Girl, who does a vulgar and rather boring routine with an overize pearl.

4. Alouette LeBlanc, billed as the Original Tassel Dancer. She's got a tassel hooked (somehow) on each oone and elsewhere, and she twirls them all in different directions at the same time.

5. Evelyn West and her $50,000 (insured) Treasure Chest, another Tar Heel favorite who's still doing the same old routine with the dummy who seduces her on stage (or vice-versa). Ev winds up her act by removing two jewels and displaying her king-size mammary glands in all their naked glory. Who's this girl Marilyn Monroe, anyway?

6. Octave Crosby, a Negro who makes up for his lack of sex appeal with the finest Dixieland in town, a six-piece combo holding forth at the Paddock Club; and George Lewis whose seven-piece ragtime outfit beats it out at the Mardi Gras Lounge. These are the boys who invented Dixieland in the cellars of New Orleans many decades ago.

7. Lizzie Miles, a Negress whose build and singing stlye are reminiscent of Sophie Tucker, but she's got Sophie's beat a mile and a quarter running. She sings her stuff in both English and Cajun French, which French 3 and 4 at Carolina don't quite equip you to translate.

But it's fun trying.

Probe Of Colleges Not For Congress

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 18. (Special)—The wife of a Washington newspaper publisher told public school educators yesterday "the time has come for a powerful counter-offensive" against Congress' plans to investigate subversive influences in schools and colleges.

In a speech which frequently brought cheers from educators gathered for the annual meeting of the American Association of School Administrators, Mrs. Agnes E. Meyer declared:

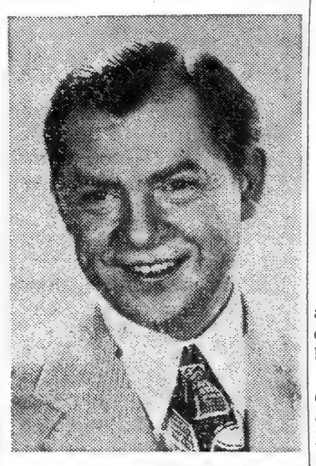
"It must be clearly established that only the board of education and the administrators have the right to question a teacher's loyalty upon sufficient evidence."

Mrs. Meyer, wife of Eugene Meyer, chairman of the board of the Washington Post, criticized Sens. McCarthy and Jenner and Congressman Velde in connection with their proposed investigations of the schools.

"The independence of our whole education system will be jeopardized if Velde, Jenner and McCarthy are not stopped in their tracks before they get under full sail," Mrs. Meyers said.

The proposed investigation has been condemned by many leaders among the 17,000 school officials attending the association's 79th annual meeting here. However, in official policy as contained in resolutions, the organization so far has not criticized congressional investigations.

Mrs. Meyer said, "If McCarthy is successful in his disruption of our educational institutions it is sure to go to his head. Nobody's freedom or dignity would be safe.



"It would be well if the press, the church organizations, the radio and television administrators should wake up to the fact that there is nothing to prevent McCarthy from putting them next on the list of his victims."

Sen. Jenner said of Mrs. Meyer's remarks he would "let the record and evidence speak for itself" about the merits of his investigations.

Rep. Velde said "no educator, student or citizen need have any fear of our investigations unless he or she is a subversive or has engaged in subversive activity."

Velde further charged Mrs. Meyer with writing pro-Russian propaganda. Mrs. Velde vehemently denied the charge.

Sen. McCarthy said of Mrs. Meyer's criticism of him: "I would waste no time reading speeches by the management of the Washington Daily Worker, much less answer than."

CLAUDE THORNHILL

Military Ball Gets Thornhill For Big Dance

Claude Thornhill, piano-playing bandleader, will bring his orchestra here March 28 for the Military Ball.

Thornhill, who is one of the few "name" bandleaders to boast of a french horn in his ensemble, will play in Woollen Gymnasium from 8 until 12 p.m. for Naval and Air Force ROTC students.

Uniform for Naval Midshipmen and Air Force Cadets will be formal, that is, standard uniform with white shirt and black bow tie.

The 15-piece aggregation of Thornhill uses many special arrangements made by the leader himself. It concentrates on smooth, danceable type music and has two vocalists.

Thornhill received his basic training in music at Cincinnati's Conservatory of Music and the Curtis Institute. From there, he served with Bing Crosby, Benny Goodman, Charlie Spivak and the late Glenn Miller.

Campus Seen

Two scholarly looking students lolling outside B-V-P shooting toy airplanes into the air with with rubber bands.

Y courters in afternoon sun flourishing mountainious ice cream cones instead of usual coffee cups.

English teacher asking students, "What does this sound like?" as he reads from Mickey Spillane novel.

Eatery Under New Manager, Opening Soon

A restaurant for students operated by students under supervision of former students is an idea now becoming reality in Chapel Hill.

The University Restaurant has changed hands. Employing student waiters and using student help in the kitchen, Dean E. Howard of Sapulpa, Okla., former student, and Mrs. Norma Bireline, wife of graduate student George Bireline, have assumed the new management.

Changes they have planned range from new menus to complete redecoration, with the opening scheduled for next Tuesday.

In design the place is going modernistic. Paintings and murals by Bireline in a modern vein, and also other student paintings will cover the walls. Sculpture on display will be the work of a visiting sculptor in the University Art Department.

Other physical changes include painting the floor in a free-style design and installing indirect ceiling lights and booth lights.

SUAB

SUAB Committee Chairmen will meet at 5 p.m. in the Roland Parker lounge today.

Correction

The Dance Committee did not suspend a student from the University but merely from dances over which it has jurisdiction.

A story saying a UNC male was suspended from school and carried on page 1 of yesterday's Daily Tar Heel, given this newspaper by a member of the committee, was incorrect. The committee does not have the power to suspend from school.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. Charles Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. P. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Tom Parramore, Louis Kraar, Dave Herbert, Jim Wilkinson, Harrison Dunlop, Don Thornton.

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell, Ned Whitmore.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Everett Parker

For Whom The Bell Tolls

To Mr. R. Ritchie (genial proprietor of the University Book Exchange): PUL-LEESE (!) use some of our $40,000 (which is going for scholarships) to employ five or six people behind the coffee counter between classes.

Yours hopefully, but in growing irritation,

The Source of Your "Profits"

Issue Reopened

"I want a referendum."

"Therefore we will have one."

This kind of talk seems to be logical from the student president's viewpoint, though the Student Legislature including many in his own party, have said a referendum isn't quite worth all the fuss.

Two weeks ago, the Student Legislature voted down a bill that would ask the students to vote on Carolina's membership in the National Students Association. The bill was defeated with a voice vote. Last fall the campus expressed itself when it elected representatives to the Legislature. Those legislators have decided that a referendum is unnecessary.

Horton has now reopened the issue.

If the Student Legislatures has spoken, why bring up the issue again. Is not the Legislature, which has we think, taken the time to analyze NSA, an adequate representative of the students.

Horton's distrust in the Legislature shows a lack of confidence not only in the majority party, which might be called natural, but also in his own party.

Horton's interest in NSA is enigmatic. He has said that he isn't opposed to the organization. He has said that he is opposed to it. The referendum move is for the good of students. Yet Horton did not go to the NSA congress last summer, nor did he send an official representative other than the Legislature's committee.

Carolina has contributed to presidents to NSA. Harold Stassen, Eleanor Roosevelt, prominent officials in the Eisenhower administration have backed up NSA. NSA costs a penny a quarter. In the near future we will discuss, editorially, some aspects of NSA.

If 10 per cent of the students actually want a referendum, The Daily Tar Heel will support wholeheartedly such a move. We still believe that when such interest has not been shown, that such a move is nothing more than a political maneuver to provide some sort of issue for the Spring elections.

Brotherhood In 1953

Not since the days of Adolf Hitler has the spirit which animates our annual Brotherhood Week carried such significance for Americans of every race and creed as it does again this year. It has been evident for some time, of course, that organized intolerance was being revived in postwar Europe under the Kremlin's auspices. But the last twelve months have seen virtually open persecution of the Jews in Communist countries added to the heavy disabilities long imposed there upon Roman Catholics.

Just as the infamous racial and religious policies practiced by the Nazis impelled us to examine our own consciousness in the 1930's, so now the apparent resurgence of those policies under Communism should furnish us a special incentive for more self-criticism of the same variety. Fifteen years ago we were saying that although human relations in the United States were still far from perfect, our democratic system at least gave us an opportunity gradually to improve them through a common effort. In mid-February, 1953, we might ask ourselves how well we have employed that opportunity.

Statistics in this connection possess only a limited validity. As a nation, we have certainly made some progress toward eliminating prejudicial practices, especially as they pertain to Negroes and Asiatics. But it is easier to correct a bad law than an undesirable attitude, as many persons who sincerely believe themselves to be tolerant are so only in theory—and towards ananymous groups. True brotherhood involves the relationship of individual to individual. It concerns our common, daily actions. By that test most of us could profitably do a little soul-searching on our own, as we thank God we live in a land dedicated to the preservation of human dignity and not in a dictatorship, black or red, where personal rights count for nothing against those of the state.

THE KANSAS CITY STAR

Roy A. Roberts

John Gibson

Pulque

Have you thought about the honor system recently? I mean really thought about it? Perhaps you have mused to yourself about the recent expulsions in connection with honor violations, and had come to the conclusion that the penalty was much too strong. This argument is used especially in relation to those who are of draftable age. "After all," the argument runs, "you are sending these men to possible death when you expell them from college."

This, of course, is not the proper way to look at the honor system, but let's, for the sake of argument, look at it in precisely this light. First of all, nobody sends a boy to possible death. He sends himself. The honor system is, or ought to be, thoroughly familiar to every student. The indoctrination program goes out of its way in this respect, and fails only when some individual entrusted with the obligation of imparting such knowledge fails at his job. Aside from the idealistic considerations (which we are setting aside for the moment) every student is aware of the scope of the honor system, and has the chance to act accordingly. When you lie, cheat, or steal, you are placing your entire position in jeopardy for the sake of some immediate goal. The time to think about the effect of expulsion on your sick mother or the possibility of "going to Korea," is before you decide to cheat, not when you are facing the Honor Council.

I cringe a little each time this Korean argument is used, because too many college boys seem to have the idea that it is a battlefield where "non-college" men go, and to which they have no responsibility. But it is a strong argument none-the-less, and needs a little answering.

Again, aside from idealistic considerations, the honor system seems to be the best method yet divised to prevent cheating. Recent studies, particularly one done at Cornell, indicate that the proctor system is not very efficient. When you couple this fact with the knowledge that a man's continuation in college depends upon his maintaining a particular position in the class vis-a-vis the other boys then you will at once see the importance of an effective honor system.

Let's take the case of the boy who is expelled, is drafted, goes to Korea (or some other place) and is killed as the result of cheating. He is dead, and that is too bad. However, have you ever looked at the other side of the coin? Say two just average students are in a class. One works, the other does not. Going into the final exam, the first boy is in the upper half of his class, the second is not. However, on the final, the second boy cheats and makes a very high score. Say the score is high enough to reverse the positions of the boys in regard to each. Perhaps, then, the boy (the non-cheater) who is now in the lower half of the class gets drafted, and ultimately winds up dead himself.

Do you see the difference? The first fellow had a chance. He did not have to cheat. The second boy did not have a chance. Because of factors which he could not control (cheating) he lost his class position to an inferior student, and we might add, an inferior person. He is, however, just as dead. Such are the practical implications of an effective honor system.

A final note that must be added is that to my way of thinking these practical aspects are not the most significant arguments for an honor system. But they are the most frequent criticism. Yet for every practical criticism, there is a more practical retort.

KEEP READING . . .

A headline in the Daily Nebraskan must have temporarily aroused the interest of many readers. It said, "Swindler Statement Published."

The story went on to say, "Dr. William F. Swindler, Director of the School of Journalism, was cited in the Dec. 6 issue of Editor and Publisher."

Senator James H. Duff (R.-Pa.) said last week that 18-year-olds should be permitted to vote in every state. He was interviewed by four college students on "Junior Press Conference" televised over ABC-TV. The movement to lower the voting age has already received support from segements of the college press and from various student organizations.

"Cut Something?"

Charles Haskett

'Nuf Sedd

The chance for a "fast buck" often overpowers principles. Such is the case with a few students who are hiding behind the label of dorm advisers.

I don't mean by any chance that all dorm advisers are loafers. They are not! But there are exceptions to every rule.

A good example of the exception was noticed recently. One of the freshmen entered school with the usual idea that Carolina was the country club of the South. Inspired by this conception, he opened his days of higher education with a royal straight flush. a sizzling round at Finley, and a jug of white lightning.

The misguided freshman was having the time of his life. He classified books as excess baggage and the library was an untouchable. Everything was beautiful; everything, that is, until final grades were sent home.

During Christmas vacation, his mother and father and his college associates informed him of the facts of life and the winter quarter was opened with a bang. No more poker, no more golf, and no more mountain juice—just all books.

A week or so later, he and his dorm mates were having an old fashioned bull session and eventually everybody was trying to take the floor at once.

The door was suddenly flung open and the person standing in the doorway requested the boys to keep the noise down. He informed them that the next person he heard would be turned in to the Interdorm Court.

The session died out with the wee hours of the morning. Early the next day a telephone call informed the freshman that his name had been turned in to the IDC and that he was on probation for the next four years.

Later the dorm adviser informed the freshman that he had turned him in for being too loud during quiet hours.

Why didn't the adviser take a couple of minutes to council the boys and instruct them that they were possibly disturbing other dorm members? How could he convict the freshman on his voice alone? How could he be sure that it was actually that one and only one person who was raising so much hello-pete? Out of a clear sky the befuddled freshman is placed on probation the remainder of his college days.

During my four years of struggling, I've become accustomed to dorm advisers as graduate students whose number one objective is to become acquainted with the various boys in their dorms and aid them with their various problems. They are the fellows next door in whom we can confide when the world seems against us. They are the fellows who make college just one jump happier. They are our big brothers.

But how can anyone confide in a total stranger?

If a person is too busy with his other activities to do the job properly, that can be understood. But why not give it to someone who does have the time, the interest and the ability?

If all a person has to do is place a sign on his door saying the dorm adviser lives here, then I want a job.

I want to be a dorm adviser.

AH, THOSE GOOD OLD TRADITIONS . . .

A fraternity man at the University of Oklahoma now knows that you can carry this "tradition business" too far. He complained to a student court that after his pinning, fraternity brothers tossed him into a pool and assaulted and injured him.

They said the dousing was a post-pinning tradition. The student also complained that his "friends" took his clothes and left him in the pool. "I had to walk five blocks to the house in wet underwear," he said. "I was very embarrassed."

FINDERS KEEPERS . . .

Classified ad in the Daily Northwestern: "Lost . . . Beta pin. Last seen on a west-bound Alpha Chi. Finder may keep pin, please return girl."

Ken Barton

NSA

Although I am fully aware of the need and value of local programming and the exchange of ideas among student governments, I feel that one of the greatest values of NSA today is as a voice for American students and above all a voice for the free student world.

NSA has taken on the task of working extensively with National Student Unions of the free countries in hopes of having a strong voice to answer the voice of the Communist Student, the International Union of Students.

NSA was formed as a result of a number of American Students attending the Prague Conference in 1946. These students realized that there should be a voice of the American student if the propaganda of the IUS was going to be answered. Thus, it was that NSA was formed partially with the idea of answering communism and as a result NSA finds itself as a leader of students in a fight against communism.

The communist-dominated International Union of Students professing to represent 5,000,000 million students in 60 countries has a tremendous program of activity.

NSA, realizing the harm the ISU could do has begun an extensive program in the international field. It has joined in the work of the International Coordinating Secretariat, an organization of non-communist national student unions. NSA has attended two conferences in the past two years, last year in Edinburgh and this year in Copenhagen, to further the cause of the free world and to cooperate with the Western nations.

Last January NSA attended the first Inter-American Student Congress in Rio de Janeiro, a group similar to the European group, only on a continental basis.

Further NSA has sponsored each year seminars for the purpose of students of the western European nations and the United nations and the United States to work together. This program is fundamentally "Point Four," on the student level. The lowest cost Travel program in the United States is operated by NSA. These and other programs are going a long way to help bring about understanding among the students of the world.

NSA is also affiliated with U.S. National Commission on UNESCO, the Young Adult Council, the World Student Service Fund and has helped these organizations further their programs.

NSA has also asked the U. S. State Department to work on a program of bringing foreign students to the United States for a year of study.

This quick run down of some of the programs of NSA in the international field fails to indicate all the work being done on the student level. A great deal is being done by students to aid our government in furthering the cause of freedom and democracy and making sure that the Communist world does not go unanswered.

Bill Dentzer, past president of NSA, in a statement on NSA's international program had this to say. "It will be a big job to get something like this underway and keep it going. Unlike the Soviets, we cannot regiment any group nor force it to do what it may not particularly care to take the trouble to do. But I think all of us clearly see the real need for something to be accomplished soon. True, there will be difficulties, technical and otherwise, in bringing it to fruition. The important thing is that the need is clear and that the will is there; the way must surely follow."

Tom Parramore

Eightball

Old Tech had suffered ill-repute
When its billiards team went rum,
And the situation waxed acute
In the seven years to come.

Despite a burning will to win
No efforts brought success.
No rich trustee, no student plea
Could clear the bloody fess.

But out of this confusion came
One thing that could be done,
They'd fire the guy who coached the game
And get another one.

They hired the best coach in the land
And the team he built amazed 'em
They termed its record simply grand
While all the nation praised 'em.

So twice a week they played at home
And twice a week the fans
Would jam their tiny hippodrome,
And overflow the stands.

The bleachers heaved with friend and foe,
The mob turned back grew greater.
They packed and piled 'em row on row
Come champ or second-rater.

And all decried the lack of space
Unanimously did grieve it
But not a soul was found to face
The issue and relieve it.

A CHARMING THEORY, BUT . . .

The faculty at Wheaton College, Ill., has turned down a student council proposal which would permit unlimited class cuts. The vote was close.

Supporters of the plan felt unlimited cuts would give students a healthier attitude toward classes they cited statistics indicating good attendance records at schools having unlimited cuts.

But the opposition declared that all this was "more theoretical than anything else." The plan, according to the dean, will not be discussed again this year.

Basketball fans at the University of West Virginia are being passed out "sportsmanship" sheets at the games, in a drive for more humane treatment of referees!

Psychologists looked deep into the heart of Texans last month and found that the majority of University of Texas males "are not yet ready to break down segregation in the public schools. . . ." But most of them are willing to accept the university's policy of admitting Negroes to graduate school. The doctors found that "students in such fields of study as education, social science and the humanities are more tolerant than men in the biological and natural sciences, pharmacy and business administration. Those who do belong to fraternities tend to be less receptive to the idea of a mixed classroom than those who dont'."

Sigma Chi, Phi Kap, Phi Gam Are Victors In Playoff

Down In Front

by Biff Roberts

Princess and Paupers

THE STORY OF RAGS to riches is an old one but it looks as though Carolina's basketball team might add a new twist and make it a rags to riches to rags tale before the season is out. Given little recognition before the season started, the Tar Heels played some of the best basketball in the Southern Conference; beat both Wake Forest and N. C. State; led the Conference for most of the year; and two weeks ago were regarded as already in the Conference tournament scheduled for Raleigh Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, March 5-7.

Monday we were ranked first in the SC on the strength of a 15-3 mark. But the loss to Wake Forest Tuesday night dropped us a notch and if we don't win one of our two remaining games we're liable to find ourselves all the way in ninth position and as crashers to the tournament instead of being on the formal invitation list. If we lose the two remaining games (with N. C. State, the present leader, here on Saturday night, and Duke, only the hottest team around now) then we would end up with a 15-6 record for .714 percentage. That's certainly not a bad mark and in past years would probably have us ranked third or fourth. But this year the Conference has been so split so definitely into winners and losers that it looks as though a 15-6 record won't make it.

Speaking Of Others

IF WE DO LOSE these remaining two games then we can only hope for a couple of other teams to do a little excessive losing, allowing us to back in. Even that will be a strain. At the present time there are nine teams actually under consideration for the eight tournament bids. Three of these teams, State, Maryland, and our friends at Wake Forest, have already clinched bids, leaving six of the teams to fight over the remaining five posts.

Duke, which was all but counted out two weeks ago and then came on to whip State and the Deacons, is a cinch to make it. They have a game with the expulsion-riddled William and Mary Indians tomorrow night, then follow up with South Carolina and Davidson, and end the season against us. Duke, now standing at 9-3, can lose one of those four and still make the playoffs. If they lose that game to us then we're in automatically.

Spiders Won't Bite—The Dust

IF RICHMOND HAD HANDLED West Virginia Tuesday night then we would be sitting all right, too. But the Spiders lost, 89-86, and West Virginia, considering its two remaining games with teams in the bottom half of the standings, is a sure thing now. The Spiders themselves stand at 11-5 right now, but they also have two easy games left. Figuring them to be sure to win those, they would finish with a 13-5 mark, or a percentage of .722, eight points above a 15-6 effort. Furman stands at 8-3 with two games to go. They, too, are blessed with weak teams and should inherit a tourney spot by licking them.

So we come to the final candidate, George Washington, and we find our only chance to back in to the tournament if we lose our last two games. The Generals now stand at 11-5 and have two games to go. If they lose one of the two then we'll find ourselves invited to Raleigh. Fortunately, from our standpoint, their two remaining games are fairly tough. GW meets William and Mary at Williamsburg, and although the Indians have had their reserves depleted, they could offer a little trouble. But after that game the Generals will have to meet Maryland on the Maryland home court—not too easy a task, judging from the Tar Heels' experience up there. Then, too, the Terps are still steaming over a double-over time loss at George Washington earlier in the season and should be up for the game.

What We Can Do

IRONICALLY, THOUGH, GEORGE WASHINGTON rates as one of the strongest teams in the Southern Conference and undoubtedly could whip most of the teams ranked ahead of it. The Generals lost two close ones to State, an overtime at Wake Forest, and split with Duke, handing the Blue Devils their worst loss in years earlier in the season. As much as they would add in prestige and excitement to the tournament we find ourselves forced to pull against them.

Of course, the easiest way to make sure we're in would be to beat either or both State and Duke, certainly not an easy task. Both of them will be favored but if we can catch Duke riding a 12-game winning streak when we meet them over there then the pressure on them would definitely be in our favor. The game with State will fortunately be at Woollen Gym and although hte Wolfpack will probably be hellbent on making up for the loss to us at Raleigh back in January, the home court will certainly give us some advantage. Our plight brings to mind the old adage that if you want something done right, do it yourself. I'd hate to have to sweat through the George Washington-Maryland game to make sure that we get in the Conference tournament.

Freshman Swimmers To Meet AMA, SMA Here Tomorrow

Carolina's freshmen swimming team, winner of five meets in as many starts, will attempt to stretch its winning streak to seven when it engages the Augusta and Staunton Military Academies in meets tomorrow. The first event is slated to begin at 4 p.m.

Although the three teams will compete in the same meet at the same time, in reality two meets will be going on, with a separate tally being kept.

The Tar Babies will probably face their toughest competition of the season in this meet as both of their foes placed high in the Southern Scholastic meet last year and are expected to do the same this year.

The freshmen mermen will take part in one more meet after the one tomorrow, this coming Monday when they take on the University of Virginia freshmen at Charlottesville.

Correction

In its story of the swimming team's victory over Georgia on Monday The Daily Tar Heel erroneously reported that Jack Edwards broke the school record in the 220-yard freestyle. It was co-captain Donnie Evans who set the record. He now holds three individual University records and helped set one relay mark.

Smith Paces All Scoring On 22 Points

By Biff Roberts

Phi Kappa Sig 1, Sigma Chi 1, and Phi Gamma Delta 2, won opening-round victories yesterday afternoon as the intramural playoffs commenced at Woollen Gym and the Tin Can.

The Phi Gams, led by Bill Smith's 22 points, had to pull away in the final half to beat Phi Delta Theta 1, 50-42.

The score was tied at 33-33 early in the second half but the Phi Gams, playing possessive 'ball, gained control of the rebounds and pulled away for the win.

Smith hit eight field goals and six foul shots for his total. Runner-up for the Fiji's was Garland Homes with 13. Lawton Gresham led the Phi Delts with 16 points while Van Weatherspoon added 12.

The Sigma Chi's held on to defeat ATO 2 in a close one, 37-34. Behind 17-11 at the half, the ATO's, aided by Tom Adler's 16 points, pulled up in the second half but couldn't gain enough to catch the winners.

Don McCormick led the Sigma Chi's with 11 points on five field goals and a free throw. Buell Moser hit for eight to get second scoring honors. Jerry Russell got nine in the losing cause.

The Phi Kap's had the easiest day of it, trouncing SAE 2, 71-27. Wyatt Dixon and Bill Koman each got 16 points to lead the Phi Kaps, while Tom Ruffin and Herb Browne hit for eight apiece to pace the losers.

TODAY'S BASKETBALL

Championship Tournament

7:00—Court 2, DKE 2 vs. Sig Nu 2; court 3, ATO 3 vs. Phi Gam 2; court 4, Joyner 4 vs. Victory Village.

8:00—Court , PiKA 1 vs. Phi Kappa Sig 1; court 3, Beta 1 vs. Sig Chi 1).

Today's Table Tennis

7:30—Med Sch. 3 vs. Med Sch. 1.
7:00—Med Sch. 4 vs. Winston:
8:00—Med Sch. 2 vs. Emerson.

Lettermen Meet Tonight

At its last meeting the Monogram Club decided that all old members, in order to be eligible for the Club's annual beach party, must attend 60 per cent of the winter and spring quarter meetings.

The Club will have a social meeting at the American Legion Hut tonight at 7:00. Attendance will count toward eligibility for the spring trip.

—Trustees—

(Continued from page 1)

sider the advisability of more full-time faculty members and a higher selectivity in appointing part-time instructors.

"5. That some consideration be given to a liaison with public school authorities in an effort to bridge the gap between high school preparation and college work.

"6. That more faculty-tudent contacts of the nature outlined above be encouraged.

"7. That efforts be made to induce more students to spend their weekends on the campuses.

"8. That more effort be made to explain the purposes and functions of the University to the students.

"9. That steps be taken to secure the assistance of parents in discouraging the use of automobiles by students at the University.

"10. That Saturday classes be put in effect at Chapel Hill."

GOLF TEAM

All students interested in trying out for the golf team should contact pro Ed Kenney at the Finley club house sometime before Saturday.

PRO TENNIS MEETING

Tennis coach John Kenfield has called a meeting of all officials for the pro tennis matches at 3:30 this afternoon in room 301 of Woollen Gym. All interested in helping out at the matches should report to him then. He is still looking for helpers.

KEN MCGREGOR (left and Frank Sedgman, who will appear here next Monday night in Woollen Gym against Jack Kramer and Pancho Segura in the touring world's championship of professional tennis, pose here in their amateur days when they were the best doubles combination in the world. The duo is presently leading Kramer and Segura in doubles.

Globetrotters Will Meet All-Star Team In Raleigh

RALSIGH—A game in the fourth annual World Series of Basketball, featuring the 1953 College All-Americans versus the famed Harlem Globetrotters, will be played in the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum at North Carolina State College Wednesday, April 1, at 8:30 p.m.

Announcement of plans to hold the game here was made by W. Z. Betts, director of the Coliseum, who said the All Americans and the Trotters will cover 19 cities in 19 days during the coast-to-coast world series tour.

The opening contest will be in New York's Madison Square Garden Sunday afternoon, March 29. Jack H. Gardner, now completing his 10th season as head basketball coach at Kansas State College, will coach the 1953 College All American squad.

Gardner and his Kansas State squad are currently gunning for their fourth Big Seven Conference title over a six-year span. The Wildcats have been at or near the top of national basketball polls since the start of the season.

The complete schedule for the world series tour follows:

March 29—New York City (Att.), March 30—Toronto, Ontario, Canada, March 31—Philadelphia, Pa., April 1—Raleigh, N. C., April 2 — Hershey, Pa., April 3—Indianapolis, Ind., April 4 — Milwaukee, Wis., April 5—Chicago, Ill. (Afternoon), April 6—Laramie, Wyo., April 7—San Francisco, Calif., April 8 — Los Angeles, Calif., April 9—Denver, Colo., April 10—Kansas City, Mo., April 11—St. Louis, Mo., April 12—Cincinnati Ohio, April 13 — Cleveland, Ohio, April 14—Detroit, Mich., April 15—Buggalo, N. Y., April 16—Boston, Mass.

Why Not Study In Mexico?

- Distinguished Faculty
- Stimulating Atmosphere
- Mild Climate the Year-round

MEXICO CITY COLLEGE

B.A. and M.A. Degrees

Approved for Veterans (P.L. 346 and P.L. 550)

Spring Quarter: April 6 to June 11

Summer Quarter: June 16 to August 26

For Information write:

Dean of Admissions
Dept. P
Chiapas 136
Mexico 7, D.F.

Carolina Caravan

Even Hard-Bitten Reporters Act Like People At Basketball Games

By Jake Wade

Even the press row apparently can't escape the emotional pressures generated by this wonderfully exciting but crazier-by-the-minute game of basketball. The old saw was that it's a game to drive the referees and coaches nuts—or you have to be a little daffy to be a referee or coach basketball—or something like that. The weird aspects are even touching the reporters now.

Our craft traditionally is composed of calm and unemotional workmen. Newsmen customarily dedicate themselves to getting a good job done and to heck with which team wins, being moved only by the clarity, accuracy and beauty of their own princely prose. That's the tradition, we say. However, the intimacy of the basketball arena and the vagaries of this wacky sport have strange influences.

For instance, reporters sit immobile in football press boxes with poker faces, carefully concealing any bias, if any such exists, and only rarely it does. At basketball games, on the other hand, they have been known to rise and shout at the referees, just like people, supplying an unmistakable tip-off on their leanings. Some go so far as to admit they are pulling for this or that team, even when both sets of combatants hail from their own immediate backwards.

Good For Duke

We ain't mad, and weren't even annoyed with one honest reporter who confessed, in our ringside working pew, that he was desperately hoping Duke would beat the Carolina Tar Heels in a recent number here. When we congratulated him after Duke had done us in, he said, "You'd a'felt the same way, if you had been in my shoes."

The point he was making was that the Blue Devils needed the victory to help them get into the Conference tournament, and, naturally, being a citizen of this area, he wanted to see Duke qualify for the charmed circle. And we conceded he probably was right. Had we been attached to a state paper, we likely and for the same reason would have been hoping for a Blue Devil win. We might not have been quite as candid about it, of course, having been brought up in a tradition of at least professed and outward neutrality in covering sports.

But that's basketball. And right now we hope the newspaper boys are up on the statistical tables and can see that the Tar Heels stand a strong risk of not making the tournament, even with only two games to play. In other words, root a little for us, if root one must, as we are in the same boat with Duke.

Meanwhile, congratulations to the Blue Devils for their magnificent stretch drive in the campaign. They deserve all the accolade they

(See CARAVAN, page 4)

For your convenience we have available

One-Hour Martinizing The Modern Dry Cleaning

Minor alterations, including matching buttons, at no extra charge

ONE-HOUR VALET

400 W. Main St. At 5 Points Durham

NOW PLAYING

Carolina

LATE SHOW SATURDAY—SUNDAY—MONDAY

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Due to the great interest in the Hughes Cooperative Plan for Master of Science Degrees, time limit for filing applications has been extended.

Eligible are June, 1953, college graduates and members of the armed services being honorably discharged prior to September, 1953, holding degrees in ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING, PHYSICS, MECHANICAL ENGINEERING. Those chosen will obtain Master of Science Degrees while employed in industry and performing important military work.

Write immediately for application form to:

COMMITTEE FOR GRADUATE STUDY

HUGHES

RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT LABORATORIES

Culver City, Los Angeles County, California

Another Weekend LOSSLEADER

MILLERS HILIFE

AT COST 4.17 plus tax

PER CASE—IN CANS—LIMIT 1 PER CUSTOMER

ALWAYS A GOOD DEAL AT THE

RATHSKELLER

DINNER WITH FREE BEER SERVED DAILY FROM 5:30-8:00 IN AN ATMOSPHERE YOU CAN ENJOY

BUDDY KLEIN

and the

Statesman Orchestra

Write Box 5533—Tel. 21873

Raleigh, N. C.

Sale

(Ends Feb. 21st)

TIMLEY, HARRIS TWEED & FORSTMANN SUITS SPORT COATS & TOP COATS DRASTICALLY REDUCED

SPECIAL GROUP FLORSHEIM & FRENCH SHRINER SHOES 25% OFF

GROUP LADIES CASHMERE SWEATERS 25% OFF

10% WOOL FLANNEL SLACKS $8.95

OTHERS AT SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTIONS

Julian's College Shop

'Heart Drop' Is Scheduled This Weekend

Hearts will be aflutter this weekend but it won't be because of romance.

A plane will fly over Chapel Hill Saturday in the afternoon dropping paper replicas of human hearts. Several of the hearts, described as "lucky ones," are redeemable at Miller Hall on Pittsboro St. for $1.

The hearts are in connection with the state-wide heart health campaign now on. The drive is seeking to raise $125,000 this month.

Assisting in the plane drop will be members of the Delta Sig fraternity and Pi Phi sorority.

Crisp winter weather, invigorating as it may be, brings with it the highest incidence of heart attacks and heart-failure of the entire year, according to a medical doctor.

Dr. Edward S. Orgain of Duke University, president of the North Carolina Heart Association, yesterday released six seasonal health precautions and pointed out information on heart attacks.

Deaths caused by diseases of the heart and blood vessels rise from the monthly average by approximately 13 per cent during December, January, February and March. This is largely due to the prevalence of colds, bronchitis, pneumonia and other illnesses during this period, which often impose a heavier-than-usual strain on the heart and circulatory system, he explained.

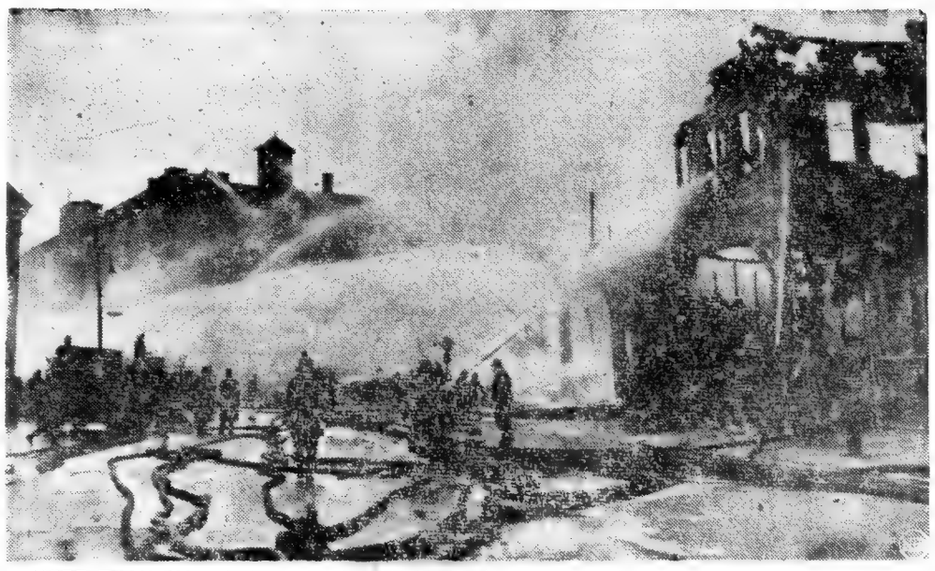
He also attributed the increase to winter activities, which call for greater physical exertion, such as wading through and shoveling snow battling winds, pushing stalled cars and stoking furnaces.

To guard the heart during the cold weather months, Dr. Orgain makes these suggestions:

1. Avoid self-diagnosis. Have your doctor examine your heart and lungs before the winter season gets fully underway, so that, if necessary, you can receive prompt treatment for any heart disease revealed. If treatment is not indicated, he will advise you what precautions to take. If the heart is sound, needless anxiety can be avoided.

2. Avoid over-exertion. Physical activity rarely if ever strains a healthy heart, but over-exertion can aggravate damage that already exists. Exercises in moderation should be the general rule.

3. Get plenty of rest. If a winter vacation is not possible, relax as much as you can. Aim for eight or more hours of sleep per night. Avoid habitual late hours.



4. Avoid over-weight. Watching your diet will keep your weight from going above normal for you. Extra pounds make extra work for your heart.

5. Avoid infections. Do your best to protect against illness, particularly respiratory infections. Should you become ill, seek treatment promptly. Immediate attention to "strep" infections is most important to guard children against rheumatic heart disease.

6. Don't worry. Worrying cures or prevents nothing, but it can place an extra load on an already damaged heart. Instead, find out the facts about your heart, and do all you can to protect it.

SHE WAS MISS NORTH CAROLINA not long ago and she's still catching ayes. Miss Barbara Ann Harris of Salisbury posed for this picture when the weather was a bit more on the bathing suit side, but we thought you'd like her any season.—Photo by Roland Giduz.

MORE THAN 400 FIREMEN fought this 18-alarm waterfront fire in Baltimore, Md., and three of them were injured as the wind-swept blaze swept through six industrial and commercial buildings and a lumber pier. Police said that all workers in the buildings escaped unhurt.—NEA Telephoto.

HIGH ADMINISTRATION sources have disclosed that President Eisenhower may issue a statement to allay fears of many farm-state congressmen about Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson's price support policies. Benson (center) is pictured with Sen. Frank Carlson (left) and Sen. George Aiken, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, after they met with the President—presumably to discuss falling farm prices.—NEA Telephoto.

NOW PLAYING

DARRYL F. ZANUCK'S Production of

THE RAINS CAME

by LOUIS BROMFIELD

A 20th CENTURY-FOX ENCORE TRIUMPH!

Myrna LOY
Tyrone POWER
George BRENT

Varsity

Late Show Sat. Nite
Sun.-Mon.-Tues.

The Warmly Wonderful, Lovable, Laughable Story Of A Ballerina And A Clown!

CHARLES CHAPLIN'S HUMAN DRAMA!

LIMELIGHT

co-starring CLAIRE BLOOM

STOREY CHAPLIN · Nigel Bruce · Norman Lloyd

JUST RECEIVED

GENUINE MOYGASHEL

Irish Linen SPORT JACKETS

Special Price

$28.50

Colors Natural and Rus

THE Sport SHOP

N. COLUMBIA ST.

WUNC

7 p.m.—Sketches in Melody.
7:30—Let There Be Light.
7:45—To be announced.
8:30—Man and the Universe.
8:45—Report from Europe .
9—Matters of Note by Dr. Wilton Mason.
10—News and coming events.
10:05—An Evening Masterwork.
10:45—Sign off.

Women's Glee Club

The Women's Glee Club will meet today at 5 p.m. in Hill Hall.

DANZIGER'S

Thursday, February 19, 1953

HOMEMADE GUMBO CREOLE SOUP ..... $ .20

SPECIAL STUDENT PLATE

MEXICAN CHILI CON CARNE served with spaghetti ..... $ .50

ITALIAN RISOTTO served tomato sauce, grated cheese and salad ..... $ .80

SOUTHERN MEAT PIE en casserole served with tomato and one vegetable ..... .85

VIENNESE LOAF served with mushroom sauce and two vegetables ..... .75

KNOCKWURST AND PASTRAME served on toasted rye bread with hard boiled eggs pickles and tomato ..... .85

FRIED CHICKEN served with potato salad and vegetable ..... .90

ROAST OF PORK served with mint sauce, egg-noodles and one vegetable .90

A-1 SIRLOIN STEAK with French Fries 1.75
Extra large 2.50

. . . your choice served with bread, butter and salad.

—Caravan—

(Continued from page 3)

are getting, and we secretly have been pulling for them, too, but not in Woollen Gymnasium. That's all over now, incidentally, for we are too much concerned with the fate of our own team in its unprecedented position. We have poured over schedules, ratings and standings. We have employed ready reckoners, our own higher mathematical skills, and slide rules, all in an effort to make the Tar Heels a tournament certainty. But it wouldn't come out that way. We know the score. Losses to these last two foes, both of them favored, likely would make the Tar Heels paying spectators in the March cage fiesta.

More Basketball

We had to await the return of the Tar Heels from their Palmetto invasion to learn their version of what happened at Columbia. One wire association report said there was a "near riot" and North Carolina forward Bud Maddie attempted to assault the official scorer after the game."

Well, let it be made clear, first, that Bud Maddie wasn't involved at all in the rhubarb to which the dispatch referred. Ironically, at the time, Bud and Vince Grimaldi were assisting an elderly lady, back of the grandstand, who had fallen. Which comes close to being the perfect alibi.

Teammate Jack Wallace actually was the protagonist. The game was all over and all the other players and coaches had left the floor, being either in the showers or on the way Jack had lingered behind and did, indeed, have words with the scorer (or timer). Just before the game ended, Coach McGuire had sent Wallace to the scorer's table to find out the time remaining. The official, says Jack, refused to give him the time and told him to look at the clock, couldn't he read, and altogether was pretty cute about it. The usu-

Incidentally, McGuire thinks that his request for the official time was perfectly justifiable, since he had discovered that clocks are not always perfectly synchronized with the official time, and those seconds are precious in close games. The Tar Heels were not on too good terms with that scoring table, anyway, because they swear that Al Lifson was put out on "three" fouls, which caused one prolonged argument during the game.

It must have been a stormy game, with officiating subject to questioning on both sides, as seems to be practically always the case in basketball these days. What a sport!

Mackie Troth IS Revealed

Dean and Mrs. Ernest L. Mackie, Chapel Hill, announce the marriage of their daughter, Anne Gallaway, to Daniel Francis Fitzgibbon, son of Mr. George H. Fitzgibbon and the late Mrs. Fitzgibbon, Arlington, Mass.

The ceremony took place Saturday, Jan. 31.

Mrs. Fitzgibbon is a student at UNC and a member of Chi Omega sorority. She has been active in student affairs including the Glee club and Carolina Playmakers. Her father is professor of mathematics and Dean of Awards here.

Mr. Fitzgibbon attended the Arlington schools and was a student at Boston University before enlisting in the U. S. Marines. He is now a staff sergeant at Camp Lejeune and expects to be discharged in March. After his discharge the couple plans to continue their studies at Boston University.

Worrying About Marks? Brush Up With A College Outline from THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. Franklin St.

Open Evenings

IVFC

Anyone interested in attending the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship conference this weekend at Camp New Hope should meet in front of Graham Memorial at 1:15 p.m. Saturday. C. S .Woods will speak at the confab on "What it Means to Believe" and recreation will be led by members of the UNC football squad.

Semper Fidelis Society

Members of the Semper Fidelis Society Project Committee are requested to meet with Howard Tickle at 7 p.m. today in the Naval Armory. The club will meet at 7:30.

Alpha Kappa Psi

Alpha Kappa Psi, professional fraternity in business administration, will tour the Chesterfield factory in Durham on Friday afternoon. Members are requested to be at the chapter house by 1:15 p.m. to leave for Durham at 1:30.

—News—

(Continued from page 1)

munist warplanes swarmed over from Manchuria in a vain attempt to break up a bombing attack by 379 U. N. planes on a Red tank and infantry training school near Pyonyang.

★

NEW DEDLHI — India's Prime Minister Nehru yesterday told Parliament "a soldier is a very fine person in his own domain, but this intrusion of the military into the chancelries of the world presents a very great danger." Without mentioning President Eisenhower by name, Nehru told the lower chamber of the Senate: "As some Frenchman once said 'War is far too serious to be entrusted to a soldier'—let alone peace."

CLASSIFIED

ONE FREE WESTINGHOUSE Portable Sewing Machine. New Motor, $37.50. Phone 9-5708. (1-c3475-1)

Mid-Winter Sale

Last 3 Days

Last call to Drastic Reductions on Choices Assortment of Clothes South of New York!

SPRING SELECTIONS ARRIVING DAILY

BILLS MAILED HOME AT YOUR REQUEST

MILTON'S Clothing Cupboard

16 German Teachers Off To See States

The 16 German school teachers who have been in North Carolina for the past several months bade farewell to the University last week and set out upon the next leg of their American travels.

No longer maintaining their status as a group, the young German visitors dispersed to individual destinations in the states of Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and Colorado.

Going first to the State Departments of Public Instruction in these states, they will receive orientation on the statewide educational system, and then be sent out to separate school systems where they will each spend one month observing the educational and cultural elements of that community.

This period will be followed by a similar one in another state, also for a month, after which all the German teachers on the nationwide program will assemble in Washington for a brief summary and evaluation seminar.

They are to begin the return trip to Germany on April 7.

While visiting North Carolina, the 16 young men and women received one of the most comprehensive and enlightening tableaux of "Americana" that any group of visitors, observing the American way of life, has been privileged to see.

Worried About Religion?

While your religious beliefs are something you'll have to settle for yourself, it sometimes helps to know that a lot of guys have sweated it out before you. And sometimes books can help. Here are some you might consider:

World Bible—contains the essential Scriptures of all the world's great religions, including the Hindu, Taoism, the Moslem and the Jewish-Christian. $2.50

The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam—If not the most complete, at least the best loved statement of the sceptic's position. $2.49

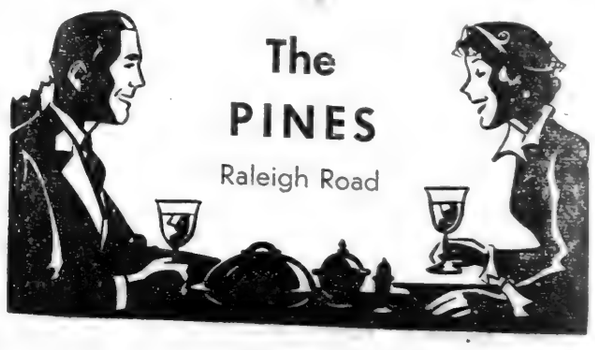
The Reach of the Mind—The raw material of religion as seen at Dr. Rhine's laboratory at Duke. $3.75

Man and His Gods—by Homer W. Smith. Religion viewed as an historical quest. $5.00

The Origin and Character of The Bible—by J. T. Sunderland. This into being, who wrote what, and book tells how the Bible came when. It may shock you. $3.00

Treat yourself to a browse in our religion corner.

The Intimate Bookshop



205 E. FRANKLIN ST.
OPEN EVENINGS

IT'S FUN TO DINE OUT

How long has it been since you've taken your favorite date out to dinner?

Carry her out to the Pines where the food, service and pleasant atmosphere makes dining out fun!

The PINES

Raleigh Road

U N C LIBRARY
SERIALS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Cloudy, windy, mild with 60 high. Yesterday's high, 56; low, 60.

The Daily Tar Heel

G-R-R-R
Go get 'em JWU, the editors urge. See p. 2.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 99 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

6 Germans 'Graduate' From UNC

By John Jamison

Carolina's German student government team set a new University record last night. They were granted diplomas by Chancellor R. B. House after only five months on the campus.

The team, consisting of six honor students from Goitingen University in Germany, came to Chapel Hill in September under the auspices of the State Department to observe student life in a democratic community. Last night at the Carolina Inn they were given a banquet and took part in simulated commencement exercises.

Prefacing the awarding of the diplomas, Chancellor House told them, "You are being given a diploma which will entitle you to entrance into the followship of our University's alumni."

He further advised them, as he does freshmen orientation groups: "If, while you have been in Chapel Hill, you have gotten some grit in your shoes, then you also have gotten Chapel Hill in your soul."

The diplomas are almost identical to their baccalaureate counterparts, and bear the following words (punctuation added):

"To all to whom these presents shall come, greeting. Be it known that (name) having resided at this University in good standing as a member of the student government team has accordingly been admitted to fellowship as honorary alumnus, with all rights, honors and privileges thereunto appertaining."

The documents were signed by Chancellor House, Student Body President Ham Horton, Dean of Students Fred Weaver and Alumni Secretary J. M. Saunders.

One member of the team, Dr. Fritz Hartmann, was not present for the ceremony, having already returned to Germany. Two others, Martha Schaeffer and Helmuth Deicher, will leave this weekend for home. Otto Vehrenkamp, Hans Lambers and Eberhard Kindiger plan to remain at the University until the end of the quarter.

All six have traveled extensively in this country during their stay. They visited Washington and New York as a group over Thanksgiving and split up for Christmas excursions all over the South and East.

Special Paper Monday Marks 60th Birthday

Students will get their Sunday paper on Monday this weekend.

A Daily Tar Heel birthday edition—we're strutting with 60 candles, harking back to 1883—will trace the growth of the newspaper and the news it's covered in six decades. The paper will publish eight pages.

Included in the birthday edition will be stories by Daily Tar Heel editors of old, including Jonathan Daniels of the Raleigh News and Observer, Phillips Russell and Oscar J. (Skipper) Coffin of the Journalism School.

Other features will be a column about politics of the '20's by polical reporter Louis Kraar, a historical sketch by Harrison Dunlop, and a couple of surprises.

Student Party Nominates For 2 Officials Monday

The Student Party will nominate for vice-president and secretary-treasurer Monday night, party officials said yesterday.

Publications Board and town men and women Legislature nominations will also be held.

The meeting will be in Roland Parker lounges of Graham Memorial.

Valkyrie Sing

The Valkyrie Sing, originally slated for this Tuesday, has been postponed until April 1.

The song chairmen of the 18 organizations participating voted to postpone the singing contest due to circumstances unforeseen at the beginning of Winter Quarter.

Penegar Opens Campaign With Appeal, Pledge, Issues

Ken Penegar, Student Party favorite, yesterday began his campaign for president with an appeal for "specific, concrete, positive proposals" rather than "a meaningless slogan contest."

"In such a contest the merits of the respective candidates are seldom presented and are seemingly unimportant. I believe that the student body has a right to expect more from its potential leaders than mere name-calling, mud-slinging and backbiting."

In his opening statement—which also opened the campaign—Penegar named Gene Cook as his campaign manager.

The naming of Cook confirmed reports that he will not be the SP vice-presidential candidate. Further checks showed that he is not academically qualified to run for office. To be eilgible, an average of C or higher is required for the two quarters previous to the nomination.

Gene Cook Appointed To Manage Race; Is Ineligible For Veep

The prospective president, specifically, outlined his stand on three issues. They were:

1. "If elected I propose to set up a civil service system, whereby executive appointments will be made on a merit basis, giving every student the opportunity to apply for positions in any area that interests him."

2. "Of immediate concern to us is what happened to the efforts to get a new student union building that would provide an active social program for the entire campus," said Penegar. He said that the General Assembly might recommend a bond issue to cover the costs of constructing the new activities building.

"I am, therefore, calling on President Horton to join with me in directly contacting the General Assembly to promote such a plan," he said.

3. "In the realm of the judiciary I am proposing that another attempt be made to remove the Student Council from politics by establishing an impartial selection board to take over the job of political parties of nominating candidates for our highest council. The board would not bar any candidate from running but would merely approve those it felt to be most qualified."

Penegar was nominated Monday with the unanimous approval of the party .

SEN. PRICE DANIELS, of Texas, is pictured as he testified before the Senate Interior Committee on proposed legislation which would give tidelands oil rights back to the states. Daniels attacked former President Truman's order creating a Navy oil reserve of the tideiands as "arbitrary" and "without any legal authority."—NEA Telephoto.

GENERAL MARK CLARK greets French Marshall Alphonse Juin as the latter arrived in Tokyo, Japan. Juin (left) will spend a week in Korea on a survey which is expected to influence France's decision on how far to cooperate with the stiffening American policy toward Asiatic communism.—NEA Radiophoto.

Time Has Jones Story; Ministers Lend Help

The case of the Rev. Charlie Jones is amply covered in this week's issue of Time magazine.

Mr. Jones, pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, has been asked to resign by the Judicial Commission of Orange Presbytery. He has refused. Time gives several columns to a discussion of the controversial case.

Seven Chapel Hill ministers rallied to the defense of Mr. Jones recently in asking the Commission to "alleviate suspicion in his case by making a direct statement of charges against him."

The ministers made public a letter given to the commission in which they suggested that the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church and its minister were being penalized for "the very things which have distinguished it in the minds of many Christians."

The Rev. Richard L. Jackson of the Congregational - Christian Church, a spokesman for the group, emphasized they had presented their appeal to the Commission as individuals.

Signers of the letter were Mr. Jackson, C. T. Boyd, Church of God, J. C. Herrin, Baptist student chaplain, W. M. Howard Jr. University Methodist Church, Maurice A. Kidder, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Family, and David W. Yates, rector of the Episcopal Chapel of the Cross.

They pointed out that the welfare of all their churches in some respects rested with the commission "and depends upon the way in which the whole matter is resolved."

The ministers' letter said "no doubt the commission of Orange Presbytery has its reasons for conducting its investigation in secrecy, but because it has issued no official statement of the charges and testimony, it is impossible for the people to know the nature of Mr. Jones's fault in the eyes of the commission.

"Since the church exists to proclaim the truth in love, we feel that a demonstration of the 'truth in love' in this particular case would ease the burden of anxiety

(See JONES, page 3)

Plane To Drop Paper Hearts Here Saturday

Paper hearts, 50 of them worth $1 each, are scheduled to drop on Chapel Hill tomorrow afternoon.

The hearts will be dropped by plane in connection with the current state-wide heart health campaign. The campaign is seeking $125,000 in funds.

The Chapel Hill heartfall is a repeat performance, having been tried last Saturday. However, winds put the hearts in the wrong place—fields surrounding Chapel Hill—and thus far not one of the paying hearts has been cashed in.

Members of Pi Beta Phi sorority and Delta Psi fraternity are assisting in the work.

Jones Battle To Be Topic

Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial the Carolina Political will discuss the current controversy in the local Presbyterian Church.

Chairman Bob Pace said the factions involved would present their views either through personal representation or statement, and failing this, from official records, reports and the like.

The purpose of the discussion, he emphasized, is not to say who is right or wrong, but to present clear and representative views.

The student body and general public is invited to attend, discuss and reach their own conclusions, Pace said.

Patients Here Get Individual Nursing Care

By Sally Schindel

(This is the third in a series of articles on the UNC Medical Center.)

The Nursing Service has a successful formula for patient care.

Treating each patient as an individual, giving him expert pro the North Carolina Memorial Hos for making the sick well.

In order to live up to this plan, the North Carolin aMemorial Hospital Nursing Service today is the largest department in the hospital from the standpoint of the number of personnel. In addition to over 75 professional nurses (this number is steadily growing), it has licensed practical nurses, ward aids and orderlies..

With its busy schedule of 24-hour service, the service is responsible for direct nursing care of all patients in the hospital proper and of those in the outpatient department.

How does this schedule operate? The 24-hour day is divided into three shifts so that each nurse is assigned eight hours five times a week. In order to keep one shift from getting a monopoly, a rotating plan has been devised so that a nurse will average about 10 evenings and nights at a time (longer on the day shift).

The service has been busy since before the hospital's opening day. The nurses assisted in ordering supplies, gathering suitable equipment and establishing nursing procedures, improving methods of nursing care and training plans.

Even among the nurses there is an unofficial volunteer service. In some instances, when a graduate nurse can't do active duty because of home responsibilities, she may volunteer to do extra work.

Active nurses do outside duties, too. One of the head nurses on the staff, having offered her services, is now conducting a Red Cross Nurses Aid Class during her free evenings.

The Nursing Service should not be confused with the University of North Carolina School of Nursing. Although there is close functional association between the supervisors and clinical instructors, the School of Nursing and the hospital, of which the Nursing Service is a part, are two units of the Division of Health Affairs. Consisting of six units in all, this Division of Health Affairs is also composed of the Dental, Public Health, Medical and Pharmacy Schools.

Campus Seen

Sign on Y lobby bulletin board: "Rooms at reasonable rates for weekend quests."

*

Student-teacher treating her class to a campus visit and then losing them among ivy-covered buildings.

*

Archaeology prof on finding organ in his classroom glibly remarks, "What do you want now, music with your lectures?"

NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON — Chances that an Allied blockade of Red China might lead to dangerous incidents involving Russian planes and warships are being weighed cautiously by State and Defense Department strategists. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles late Wednesday told a news conference the State Department is considering a naval blockade of Red China along with trade embargoes and other measures to place pressure on the Communists. It was learned that the risks involved in a blockade also are under study at the Defense Department, but final recommendations have not yet reached President Eisenhower.

★

SEOUL — American Sabre jets shot down two more Russian-built MIG jet fighters yesterday while protecting more than 200 UN warplanes attacking a Red training school, a freight yard and a large oil storage center. The Sabres shot down the Red jets in blazing duels near the Yalu River. A third detruction claim awaited confirmation.

★

RALEIGH — Legislation allowing Governor Umstead to direct a reorganizattion of the State Highway Commission was passed into law yesterday when it won House approval by an overwhelming 99-8 vote. The roll call vote on the bill came after Rep. Roger Kiser of Scotland spoke out against the bill. He called for a roll call vote, the first time this session a recorded vote has been taken on major legislation.

★

NEW YORK — The vice trial of Minot F. Jelke took on the aspects of a Balkan spy drama yesterday and easily qualified as the most unusual morals case in the last half-century. The latest note in an already bizarre trial was the appearance of seven or eight plainclothes detectives in the corridors outside the locked courtroom where the 23-year-old oleo heir was on trial for compulsory prostitution and living off the earnings of an alleged stable of cafe society call girls.

Legislature Votes NSA Referendum, Scheduled In May

By Louis Kraar

The Legislature decided last night to hold a referendum on the National Student Association question.

The referendum will be held in May, after the regular Spring elections. It will determine whether Carolina continues membership in the group.

A month of Legislature debate, highlighted by private parleys between Ken Barton, regional NSA chairman, and President Ham Horton, was climaxed in the session. Barton read a letter from Horton in which the president said NSA should be "relieved of the threat that continually hangs over it, of being interjected into the political campaign."

Barton said holding the referendum at the same time of Spring elections (April) would make NSA a political issue. He tagged Horton "a person whom I can't respect for his NSA stand."

Horton said his stand has been "neutral." He has in the past indicated he was not in agreement with certain NSA policies. Horton did not name which ones. When directly asked if he opposed the group, Horton previously has said, "I do not oppose NSA but I think the issue should be put up to the students."

By giving the students a ballot chance at NSA, the Legislature saved Horton the trouble. Yesterday, Horton pledged a personal campaign to get the necessary 10 percent of University enrollment to sign a petition requesting a referendum.

The swearing in of Gene Cook (SP) and Sol Cherry (UP) added spice to the lengthy meet. The pair spoke frequently. At one point when Cook caustically censured Horton for his stand on NSA, Cherry asked, "Is the gentleman germane?" Speaker Jim McLeod told Cook to briddle his invective.

Cherry, one of the main proponents of the NSA referendum and a former UP chairman, said, "If NSA is so wonderful, what are NSA opponents worried about? Are they afraid? I say they are, and I say let's bring this thing out in the Spring election." Asked by John Ammons (SP) which NSA policies he objected to, Cherry answered, "I don't think they represent the students on segregation and the Negro question."

The controversial bill designed to take the Student Council out of politics finally passed. It was vetoed last time by Horton and the opinion among many legislators is that the student president will veto it again.

Jack Stilwell, UP floorleader, voiced the major opposition to the bill, saying, "I think it's an admirable idea but I don't think it can be done." Stilwell proposed in place of the non-partisan selection board a plan whereby the parties would create a joint board. Honor council nominations are made by this type board now.

The Junior-Senior Class was granted $1,600 for their annual party—leaving $800 in unappropriated funds in the legislative money bag.

A bill also was passed making the local NSA representative one of the elected executive offices.

Absent legislators were Seymour Bane (UP), William Beebee (UP), Dave Clinard (SP), Sandy Dann (UP), Don Geiger (SP), Bob Glenn (UP), Bob Grimes, Tom McDonald (UP), Everett Parker (UP), Ed Stevens (UP), and Ben Tison (UP).

Law Prof Here To Help With T-H Revision

Prof. Maurice T. Van Hecke of the Law School faculty leaves for Washington Sunday night to serve on a committee of citizens to help draft administration proposals for changing the Taft-Hartley law.

Van Hecke was appointed by Secretary of Labor Durkin.

The committee's recommendations, according to Durkin, will receive close consideration in the proposals adopted by the new administration. The 15-member group has five members each from the public, industry and labor. Van Hecke is one of the public representatives.

The first meeting will be held Monday at 10 a.m. in a closed session with Durkin.

Durkin sees in this plan a possibility of working out desired changes without stirring up a battle between labor and industry such as occurred when the T-H law was enacted in mid-1947.

'Good Woman' Is Experimental By Playmakers

By Betty Johnson

Concert staging emphasizes the experimental note in the Carolina Playmakers' forthcoming major production "The Good Woman of Setzuan."

A little-known play by a little-known German playwright, this expressionist drama of the conflict of good and evil is being given its first southern production here, as well as one of the first in this country.

"The Good Woman of Setzuan" is the tale of how three gods found, after a long search, one good person on earth—a woman of the town of Setzuan — and how she tried to maintain her goodness in spite of the insistent greed and hate of people around her.

Bertholdt Brecht, author of the play, holds a theory that audiences should never get involved in the play, but should always remain simply observers. "The Good Woman of Setzuan" is written in support of this idea, and director Kai Jurgensen has staged it accordingly, using 12 actors playing the 24 characters of the play by changing costume and mask on stage. Special incidental music composed by Tom Nichols of the Music Department is calculated to add to this effect.

"The Good Woman of Setzuan" will play at the Playmakers Theater beginning Thursday. Tickets are now on sale at Swain Hall and Ledbetter-Pickard.

Fraternity At Williams Defies Religious Barrier

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—(Special)—The Columbia College Board of Student Representatives voted recently to commend the Williams College chapter of Phi Delta Theta fraternity for pledging a non-"Aryan" student despite a restrictive clause in the national fraternity's constitution.

The board also announced that it will hold a public meeting Thursday at which the problem of Communist teachers in the nation's universities will be discussed. The chairman of the board said the topic is important enough for the board to determine the sentiment of the student body before taking a definite stand.

In order to voice its approval of the stand taken by the Williams fraternity, the board voted to send letters to the president of Williams College and to the Phi Delta Theta national headquarters in Oxford, O.

The Phi Delta chapter at Williams was suspended from membership by its national last week because it pledged a Jewish student. The chapter accepted him unanimously and the president has since stated that the chapter does not regret its action.

Meanwhile at Boston University, fraternities and sororities have agreed upon a plan to remove all racial and religious

(See FRATERNITY, page 3)

Information Please

The attorney general of the student body is seeking information.

Students who would find it necessary to drop out of school because of Saturday classes and who have not had their names put on the list in student government office are asked to do so.

Those whose names are on the list but wish them removed also should contact the office, located on the first floor Graham Memorial.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. — Charles Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

Night Editor for this issue: Rolfe Neill

Sixth Day Frustration

Frustration is an enervating human experience, especially when it stems from Saturday classes.

A strenuous, well-planned protest made by Ham Horton and others in student government resulted in this paragraph in the report of the Visiting Committee of the Board of Trustees: "Many of the members of the faculty as well as the students who appeared befor the Committee expressed themselves as opposed to Saturday classes." Thus the tape recordings, the mass meetings, the positive approaches, the letters, have been ineffective.

We learn, too, that one member of the Executive Committee of the Trustees didn't bother to vote on the subject last week because he didn't have enough knowledge on the subject. We have heard of faculty, administration, and student responsibility, but what about Trustee responsibility?

There is yet hope of a hearing, despite President Gray's announcement that he will back the Executive Committee's order for Saturday classes. We assume the Consolidated President has done this because of the necessity of carrying out orders. Yet John Umstead's announcement that he will try to lay the matter before the full board is heartening.

The Daily Tar Heel objects primarily to the methods used by the Trustees to force Saturday classes upon students. This newspaper further disagrees with the Trustee analysis of student morale. The logic applied here is that Saturday classes will heighten student morale. That is a complete fallacy if student feelings now are any indication of things to come.

Monday is the last day for appeal. Most of us feel that Saturday classes are here to stay, that there is no chance for the continuance of the present system. Yet, that is no reason why the matter shouldn't be thoroughly discussed at the full board meeting. We strongly urge Mr. Umstead and other Trustees opposed to Saturday classes as well as those for the institution of the sixth day of labor to speak out Monday.

A Salute To APO

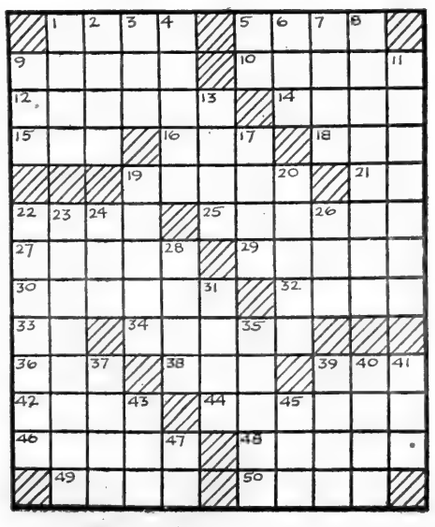
Over three million boys and men are in the Boy Scout movement. We see the Boy Scouts on Emerson Stadium each year participating in an annual camping jamboree. We see former Scouts active on the collegiate level through Alpha Phi Omega, national Boy Scout service fraternity.

APO goes about its work quietly and effectively. Among other things it has provided guide service for high school students visiting here; it sponsors Parent's Day each spring, operates first aid stations at football games, has cleaned up Battle Park, cooperates with the Red Cross when the Bloodmobile is here, and provides ushers for concerts and forums. One of the best things about APO is that you can count on the organization for results. It is an call every day to take care of some student need, to erase a deficiency, to promote the University.

APO's latest achievement has been the operation of a student Book X, incidentally a successful operation which has been a definite help in allaying some of the student dissatisfaction with the present Book X setup.

Last week the nation celebrated Boy Scout week. We may well be proud of the Boy Scout movement in colleges. Probably one of the most difficult things for a person to do is to continue his worthwhile activities, taken up in high school or earlier, through college. APO gives the Boy Scout program, learned in the early stages of youth, more meaning, more significance.

The Daily Tar Heel salutes APO as an outstanding contributor to the campus' welfare.



DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Sound of a small horn
5. Heroic
9. Debate
10. Wall painting
12. Attic
14. Asian desert
15. Affirmative vote
16. Beverage
18. Wooden block
19. Lance
21. Exclamation
22. Burmese measure
25. Most infrequent
27. Country in Asia
29. A star in Orion
30. Experts
32. Flower
33. Music note
34. Short stockings
36. Vex
38. Kettle
39. Place
42. Biblical name
44. Revolve
46. River (Fr.)
48. Citadel
49. Close to
50. Male descendants

DOWN
1. Trunk drawer
2. Monster
3. Belonging to us
4. Tines of a comb
5. Type measure
6. Kind of dog
7. Metal
8. Crewmen's cars on freight trains
9. Moslem title
11. Gently
13. Rip
17. At a distance
19. Cuts
20. Stumbles
22. Day books
23. An American author
24. Fish
26. Self
28. On top
31. Cicatrix
35. Tangles
37. Glacial ridge
39. Chessman
40. Shoshonean Indians
41. Thrice (mus.)
43. Hindu deity
45. Also
47. Erbium (sym.)

Yesterday's Answer

Charlie Haskett

'Nuff Said

Like typical college folks, Carolina students often have a passionate yen to gripe about certain phases of the University organization.

One which has been dragged up and down "Gripe Hill" is the Infirmary. Every so often a letter to the editor blasts away at the lengthy procedures of admittance and the quality of service and the meals.

I had been lucky enough until recently to have no occasion to visit the Infirmary. Having been saturated with pessimistic views, I hated to make the supreme sacrifice of marching back into the woods.

But after a three day visit, I'll gladly side up with the affirmatives.

A few questions aimed directly at the pessimists: How many days have you had breakfast, dinner and supper served in bed? How many mornings have you had your bed made up for you while you stood idly by and watched? How many of you have a loyal servant that appears every time you pull a string or push a button?

Some "children" complain about the food. They yell it's not what they would have ordered, or it's not prepared correctly. Why does the Infirmary hire dieticians to prepare balanced meals when the University is so gifted with thousands of food experts? Every patient in the Infirmary professes to know twice as much as the hired food specialists.

I heard one extremist sound off against the service. Perhaps as I was a patient during "Better Infirmary Week," because there were two nurses on duty 24 hours, seven days a week. The doctors made at least two rounds a day checking, observing, and recording.

Pessimists speak up, "Well, so what. That's what they get paid for!"

Granted. But I'm yet to hear an extra allowance when a nurse goes on a treasure hunt for an apple or orange for one of her patients; wanders up and down the hall looking for unused radios so they can listen to the ball games; relinquishes her personal lamp to keep her studious patients from going blind and freely hands out her own cigarets to the professional moocher.

Some pessimists can't understand why a little temperature calls for putting to bed. An excellent example was noted during my visit.

A hefty freshman had been in bed for a couple of days and his temperature had leveled to normal. When the doctor was making the morning rounds, the student pled that he was fully recovered and that he just had to attend the basketball game Friday night. The doctor checked his chart.

"Well, your temperature has been normal for some time now, and all the symptons have disappeared. Still, I think you should not leave until this afternoon."

But the student insisted that he was well and that his chart proved it. Since the chart agreed with the patient the doctor gave in, but he advised the student it would be best if he remained in bed until later in the day.

The freshman left.

Three hours later, a wheelchair was pushed through the ward door. A snow-faced form slumped in the seat. The freshman had returned.

After a first hand observation, my red, white and green corpuscles are extended to a hard working but little credited, group of first-class germ exterminators at the Infirmary.

CAMPUS ROUNDUP

Chicago (ACP)—The University of Chicago Maroon "needs help," according to a front page banner headline.

In the first place, "the lack of news space in this week's Maroon is no joke." In the second place, "we have not enough ad salesmen." And in the third place, "we do not want to go further into debt."

"Only through an increased amount of local advertising," said the Maroon, "can we afford to continue publication."

Laramie, Wyo.—As a student at the University of Wyoming remarked, "It isn't so bad to sleep through all your classes, but when you start to wake up automatically every 50 minutes during the night—you've had it."

Big Operator

English Club

In Distrust Of Liberty

I have not hesitated to candidly entitle this prospectus with the motto that has always confirmed the feelings of most men. Those who distrust liberty and believe that it is a dangerous heresy are increasing. It is therefore time to proclaim our land a land of Conformity. After all, who today is seriously interested in maintaining his share of the burdensome privilege of defending liberty? I have every encouraging reason to believe that there are not many of these die-hard Deviationists left.

What is liberty? To judge from the way it is practiced, it can be best defined by those who preserve it with lipservice as something they really know not of, they care less about, and besides it is considerably more of a bother than it's worth. Many of my converts have privately admitted to me that in their weaker moments they still found themselves entertaining thoughts of personal liberty, but preferably Liberty for themselves. After grave consultation they always confessed their errors in deviational thinking. My duty has been, of late, to sneak in some noble defenses of Conformity as opposed to this errant and ignoble aberration known as Liberty. But perhaps I should introduce myself.

My parental name is not important (it smacks too much of that abomination, individuality); my assigned name is Comrade Fine Print. The fraternal title "comrade" is used by me and my colleagues out of deference to our most vigorous well-wishers who, at present, dwell for the most part in a distant Utopia—a utopia constituted on the people's principle of Unthinking Obedience.

Of my past little need be said except to explain the origin of my name. It was my duty to supervise the insertion of the many useful and lucrative "fine print" passages found usually in contracts, constitutions and footnotes. As of late my pupils have become so apt—especially the lawyers, politicians, and scholars, that, unhappy day, I was out of work. Unrelieved was my misery until I created the new field of Conformity for the further enlightening of men and for the greater glory of the Infernal Politburo and their chosen deputy, Comrade Bigger Brother.

In my recent, annual report on Conformity to Comrade Bigger Brother I could state with pride that it is getting more and more dangerous to think; fortunately, human nature being what it is—lazy and indifferent—this has never been a serious problem. Moreover, it is becoming especially dangerous to believe in or praise men like Jefferson who taught that eternal vigilance was the price of liberty. Such free thinking? Even our Arch-Enemy's statement, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free" is being rewritten and sung to the pleasantly different tune of "We are the sweet selected few, obey us if you can; yours not to reason why, yours to conform or die." Progress is definitely being made.

One instance may suffice: that great bulldog of Miss Unliberty (I have heard that her name is being corrected after many years of individualistic ignorance), the American Legion, has banned and threatens to picket any showing of a film made by an individualistic actor; their reason is quite sound: the film though not apparently unAmerican is patently dangerous because the actor's right to return to this country has been questioned. Aristotle would have been struck dumb with the beauty of such simple, clear logic. Several people have informed the manager of a local theater that they intend to abstain from seeing the picture. Better and better!

It is with angelic, though fallen, glee that I can amend the patriot's statement to read, "These are the times that convict men's souls."

Yr mst Obt, Hmbl & Dvtd Srvt,
Comrade Fine Print

A.Z.F. Wood Jr.

Free Throw Line

The game of basketball is in a mess. When the players are on the move, it is an exciting and beautiful game to watch, but no sooner does a good play start to develop, than some guy in a striped suit goes "Tweet" and says, "Number fifteen, your little finger jabbed his elbow!" and the play stops developing or else some guy doesn't get credit for swishing a left-handed hook from the corner. And, as often as not, the foul committed didn't have anything at all to do with the play. The last three minutes of the game is often about as exciting as a hop-scotch game as "Tweet" follows "Tweet", and the spot behind the free-throw line is worn as Grandma's living-room carpet.

About twenty-five fouls are called on each team per game, and each team gets about thirty points on fouls. There are nearly always more free-throws made than baskets, often twice as many. The last ten minutes of the Duke game this year, for example, seemed to be little more than a free throw contest, which is all very skillful but not nearly as much fun to watch as a basketball game.

And then to top it off, somebody thinks it would be just dandy if the one and one rule were put into effect, whereby the guy gets another shot if he misses the first one and the whole philosophy of the game is junked.

I have a suggestion, which I admit has plenty of room for loopholes, but which I believe could be a step in the right direction: Combine girls' basketball with boys', and then strike out the time element.

Specifically:

(1) Divide the game into twenty point quarters. That is, the quarter ends as soon as one team has scored twenty points that quarter.

(2) Stipulate that no player can hold the ball longer than three seconds ANYWHERE unless he is dribbling.

(3) Instead of contact with another player constituting a potential foul, stipulate that only contact that hinders the execution of a pass or a shot or the movement of a player, such hindrance being consequential to the process of the game, should constitute a potential foul. (I realize that this puts the decision wholly up to the discretion of the referee, but isn't it in reality up to his discretion now anyhow? It would certainly eliminate a lot of meaningless and inconsequential fouls.)

(3A) If, of course, the contact is obviously intentional, whether consequential or not, a foul hould be called.

(4) If, after a two shot foul is called (ONLY if committed while the opponent is in the act of shooting), and the man makes both shots, his team automatically gets the ball out. If the man misses the first and makes the second, a jump ball is automatically called. If he makes the first and misses the second, the present rule stays as is (rebound).

These ideas have many loopholes, such as (3A) where it is hard to determine what is intentional and what is not, but I think that with these suggestions, there'd be fewer fouls committed, fewer fouls called, and maybe we could watch a basketball game. You might wonder if the elimination of the time element might tend to lengthen the game, but with the three second rule, I don't think so. And the object of the game at all times would be to make baskets, not freeze the ball so that the clock will run out, because there wouldn't be

Jim Wilkinson

Last Chance

The average man on the campus is usually willing to express with strong conviction his views on most anything from the state of the Union to world trade. You won't find that conviction in discussing the "Rosenberg case."

There are good reasons for this indecisiveness. In the first place, two lives hang in the balance. Many people are automatically repelled by the idea of capital punishment whatever the circumstances. This is especially true if there is the slightest doubt of justice.

Also, the trial in July, 1950 that resulted in conviction did not attract too much public attention at that time. But when Federal Judge Irving Kaufman, denouncing the pair as "worse than murderers" imposed the death penalty, the public was suddenly more concerned. Not that it questioned the decision, it was just a little surprised. It began wondering about the facts, but the trial was over.

Then began a series of delays appeals and stays of execution during which the cries for clemency grew from a whimper to a world-wide protest. Much of it, especially in the beginning, probably came from Leftist groups. But then respectable organizations and individuals, unquestioned in their loyalty, joined in. This compounded the confusion in the mind of the public. They wanted reassurance that the Rosenberg's deserved to die.

The couple was first sentenced to die last April. The Supreme Court has twice refused to review the case. Both President Eisenhower and President Truman refused executive clemency.

On Monday, Judge Kaufman once again set the date, this time for the week of March 9. But Tuesday, a three-man appeal court granted a stay of execution until March 30 or longer giving the defense a chance to appeal once again to the Supreme Court.

Said a member of the court in citing his reasons for not refusing the stay: "I would not want to have it on my conscience." Such remarks leave an unsettled feeling in the mind of the public.

Call it sentiment, Leftist, a desire for justice, anything you like—the people aren't sure and neither, so it would seem, are all the judiciaries of the country.

If the Supreme Court accepts this appeal to review the case, it will undoubtedly clear up the issues that are presently fogging the picture. Furthermore, a decision from the country's final and highest reviewing authority would go a long way toward allaying any doubts that persist in the mind of the American public.

Carolina, Case Five Appear At Woolen Tonight

Wolfpack, In Revenge Role, Favorites In Crucial Game

By Biff Roberts

Carolina's once-proud leaders of the Southern Conference humbly meet N.C. State at 8:00 tonight in Woollen Gym not in an attempt to regain first place, but only to secure one of the eight positions in the Conference tournament.

Regarded as sure bets for the tourney two weeks ago, the Tar Heels now find themselves given an outside chance of being one of the select eight to attend the annual playoff in Raleigh, March 5-7.

AL LIFSON
. . . his scoring needed

To be sure of being invited the Carolina team must beat either State tonight or Duke next Friday.

The Tar Heels beat State 70-69, in an earlier meeting of the two teams at the Reynolds Coliseum in Raleigh but the Wolfpack will still be favored tonight.

The reserve strength of the Wolfpack, which now ranks as the top team in the Conference, may be the deciding factor. Coach Everett Case has a deep bench to call on in case any of his starters foul out of the game.

Coach Case will probably go along with his usual starting lineup. That would put Bobby Speigh and Bill Kukoy at forwards, Mel Thompson at center, and Dave Gotkin and Bernie Yurin at the guards.

Dickie Tyler, usually regarded as Case's top reserve, may get the starting nod ahead of Kukoy in recognition of his play in State's past few games, however.

Coach Frank McGuire, who brought Carolina's first win over State in the past 15 tries, will probably send out the same group which started against the Wolfpack in the last game.

Al Lifson and Vince Grimaldi, who are fighting for scoring honors on the Carolina team, will be at the guards. Slim Paul Likins will be at center and Bud Maddie and Jerry Vayda or Jack Wallace at forwards.

This will be State's last Conference game and if the Pack wins it they will be assured of at least a tie for the Southern Conference championship. The State record now stands at 12-3. Carolina's mark is 15-4.

Coach McGuire, whose team is still shaken by the loss to Wake Forest Tuesday night, will probably string along with his starters as much as possible. He used these tactics, not substituting to any extent until the final minutes, in the first game of the series and it proved successful.

The junior varsity teams of the two schools will meet in a preliminary at 6:00 with the State boys highly favored. Regarded as one of the best jayvee teams at State in years, the Wolflets ran up 113 points on the Tar Babies in their first meeting this year.

Tonight's game has been a sell-out for two weeks.

Southern Scholastics Meet Is Scheduled Here Tomorrow

Approximately 125 swimmers representing some 15 schools will converge on Chapel Hill beginning today for the seventh annual Southern Scholastic swimming championships here tomorrow.

Trials will be held starting at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow with the final events scheduled to start at 3:30 p.m. in Bowman Gray pool.

The swimmers will come from various schools throughout six states, some coming from as far north as Kentucky and others journeying up from Georgia. Some of the larger schools to be represented at the meet are Granby High of Norfolk, Va., Male High of Louisville, Ky., and Augusta, Ga. Military Academy.

There will be two divisions of competition in the meet, the high school as well as prep school. Raleigh High will aim for a repeat of the championship in the high school bracket, while Ga. Military Academy, last year's prep champion, will also take part in the competition.

Several college scouts will probably be scattered among the crowd, as this meet usually draws some of the outstanding swimmers in the South to it.

Both the morning and afternoon session of the meet will be open to the public without charge.

INTRAMURAL PLAYOFFS

33	DKE	Sigma Nu	30
56	ATO	Phi Gam	45
64	Victory Village	Joyner	28
38	Phi Kappa Sig	PiKA	27
41	Sigma Chi	Beta	28

N. C. State Track Team Here Today

N. C. State's Wolfpack track team will meet Carolina in an indoor dual meet this afternoon starting at 2:30.

This will be the Tar Heels' only dual indoor meet of the season. Next weekend both teams will compete here in the Southern Conference Indoor Games.

The Wolfpack will feature Clyde Garrison and Buzz Sawyer as stars in the distance events. Garrison is the State indoor mile and 880 champion.

The Tar Heels will be led by Al Newton, Tom Higgins and Sam Marx, Bob Barden, Sonny Bell, Jeff Jordan.

The most ruggedly contested event should be the mile relay which was won by State in an earlier pre-season practice meet.

This will be a full-distance meet, including the following events: shot put, pole vault, broad jump, 60-yard dash, 70-yard high hurdles, 70-yard low hurdles, high jump, mile run, 440-yard run, two-mile run, 880-yard run, and the mile relay.

Gymnasts Meet Mississippi Southern At Gym Tonight

Mississippi Southern's young gymnastics team takes on Carolina's strong Tar Heels here tonight at 8:30 in Woollen Gymnasium.

Coach Bill Meade's Tar Heels have captured three victories in five outings and appear headed for their best finish since the sport was reorganized here four years ago.

The Tar Heels hold victories over Georgia Tech, Duke and West Virginia, while Army and Navy have handed the Tar Heels their only defeats.

In losing to the Army team last week, Meade's team put on one of its finest exhibitions. Check Goodin tied for first in the horizontal bars while Otis Hartsell took first honors on the rings, two rare winning performances against the classy Cadets.

Goodin, Hartsell, Gordon Hudson, Bill Howard, Bill Rivera, Dick Hallden, Andy Bell, Pete Brumley, and Dusty Rhoades have been the most consistent Tar Heels. Hudson, a sophomore from Winston-Salem, has been impressive in several events.

The meet ends the Tar Heels' home schedule for the 1953 season. An engagament with Duke at Durham February 28 ends dual meet competition for the Tar Heels.

Wrestlers Meet Generals, Terps Here Today, Tomorrow

Following a disappointing loss to N. C. State last week, the Carolina wrestling team will attempt to get back on the winning side of the ledger in a pair of tough meets today and tomorrow.

The Tar Heels have an opportunity to win against Washihngton and Lee tonight in a meet which may go down to the final bout, but they entertain slim hopes against a powerful Maryland team the following afternoon.

Washington and Lee wrestles at 7 p.m., while the Maryland matinee match is slated for 2 o'clock the next afternoon in Woollen Gymnasium.

The Tar Heels pin their hopes on Captain Eddie Haines, Arthur Gregory, Miles Gregory, Andy Holt, Harvey Bradshaw, Pete McGehee, Zack Waters and Harry Pawlik.

Haines, a senior from Philadelphia, paces the Tar Heels in scoring, having won four matches while losing three. He has scored 14 points and has given up 13. Miles Gregory, a Tar Heel football lineman, has been strong in recent meets and has split in six bouts. He has scored 11 points to his opponents' nine.

Scoring for the other regulars include Pawlik (10-12), A. Gregory (3-6), Bradshaw (9-12), McGehee (0-12) Waters (0-13), Forester (0-16), Stokes (6-3) Hill (3-0), Stevens (0-10), Barkley (0-5), Tice (0-5), Parham (0-8), and Thompson (5-0).

The Tar Heels wind up their schedule here February 28 against V.M.I. The team's record stands at 2-5 for the season.

—Jones—

(Continued from page 1)

in the minds and hearts of many sincere Christians, and clear the congregation, the Presbytery and the members of the commission," they said.

The letter said there seems to be an attitude of dismay and discouragement among those who had looked to the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church for its pioneer thinking on social issues and its spiritual leadership in the community.

"Because the influence of this church is widespread, this same attitude of distress will reach out wherever it is known," they said.

IVFC

Anyone interested in attending the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship conference this weekend at Camp New Hope should meet in front of Graham Memorial at 1:15 p.m. Saturday. C. S. Woods will speak at the confab on "What it Means to Believe" and recreation will be led by members of the UNC football squad.

—Fraternity—

(Continued from page 1)

membership barriers. This decision was reached following a conference between the Greek leaders and Dr. Harold Case, university president.

But the road may not be entirely smooth. A university personnel staff member has warned that the "dead hand of the past," meaning alumni groups and national officers, may thwart plans to remove bias from the Greek system.

DANZIGER'S
FRIDAY, FEB. 20TH, 1953

HOMEMADE CHICKEN NOODLE SOUP	$ .20
SPECIAL STUDENT PLATE
BAKED MACCARONI with ham and cheese	$ .65
FRIED SHRIMPS served with tartar sauce, vegetable, potato au gratin	$ .85
DEVILED CRAB served with tartar sauce, vegetable, potato au gratin	$ .85
HUNGARIAN PORKCHOP served with eggnoodles and vegetable	$ .90
MUNICH SAUSAGES served with sauerkraut and roast potatos	$ .85
SMOTHERED CHICKEN served with eggnoodles and vegetable	$ .90
MINUTESTEAK served on toast with vegetable	$1.25

. . . your choice served with bread, butter and salad

PREPARE FOR AN EXECUTIVE CAREER IN RETAILING — IN JUST ONE YEAR!

From New York to New Zealand, college graduates converge on "The Retailing Center" to train for an exciting, rewarding career—in just one year! Retailers need you—and look to our graduate school—for future advertising managers, buyers, merchandise managers, fashion executives, store managers, personnel administrators, researchers. Prominent retailers send their sons and daughters to the N.Y.U. School of Retailing to help carry on the family business successfully. Our one-year Master's Degree program includes courses in all branches of retail-store management, under well-known specialists, plus 10 full weeks of supervised executive training, with pay, in leading New York stores, plus valuable store and market contacts.

For details, write for BULLETIN CJ

New York University School of Retailing
100 Washington Equare East, New York 3, New York

NOW PLAYING
Varsity

Worried About Religion?

While your religious beliefs are something you'll have to settle for yourself, it sometimes helps to know that a lot of guys have sweated it out before you. And sometimes books can help. Here are some you might consider:

World Bible—contains the essential Scriptures of all the world's great religions, including the Hindu, Taoism, the Moslem and the Jewish-Christian. $2.50

The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam—If not the most complete, at least the best loved statement of the sceptic's position. $2.49

The Reach of the Mind—The raw material of religion as seen at Dr. Rhine's laboratory at Duke. ... $3.75

Man and His Gods—by Homer W. Smith. Religion viewed as an historical quest. $5.00

The Origin and Character of The Bible—by J. T. Sunderland. This into being, who wrote what, and book tells how the Bible came when. It may shock you. $3.00

Treat yourself to a browse in our religion corner.

The Intimate Bookshop
205 E. FRANKLIN ST.
OPEN EVENINGS

You've Heard Of These Things.
You've Had Them Other Places.
You've Missed Them
Since You've Been Here—

Come Into The NEW UNIVERSITY RESTAURANT On TUESDAY The 24th And You Will SEE WHAT WE MEAN .

CHARLES CHAPLIN'S HUMAN DRAMA! LIMELIGHT
Released thru United Artists

LATE SHOW
SATURDAY NITE
Sun.—Mon.—Tues.
Varsity

TIME FOR THAT CHECK-UP!

If you're like most folks, you've put a lot of mileage on your car this winter, driving in icy weather and occasionally rain and snow. It's time for a check-up by our master mechanics, to keep your car fit to drive. Stop by today, for sure.

POE MOTOR CO.
DESOTO 112 W. Franklin St. PLYMOUTH

Only Time will Tell...

Only time will tell how good a tyro photographer will be! And only time will tell about a cigarette! Take your time...

Test CAMELS for 30 days for MILDNESS and FLAVOR!

THERE MUST BE A REASON WHY Camel is America's most popular cigarette—leading all other brands by billions! Camels have the two things smokers want most—rich, full flavor and cool, cool mildness...pack after pack! Try Camels for 30 days and see how mild, how flavorful, how thoroughly enjoyable they are as your steady smoke!

More People Smoke Camels THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

R. J. Reynolds Tob. Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Campus Carousel

By Deenie Schoeppe

Ed's note: We have with us today a guest editor. And why not? Everyone else has one. This one just wandered in. He said he would accept full responsibility. For complaints call 91001.

Last weekend was quite a weekend in that nothing, but nothing happened. Every one took the Germans in stride and acted as if everything was strictly normal, which it wasn't. As Dr. Harland would put it, Hermes was on the loose and he left evidence of his work everywhere. On the same mythological kick we could also say that Dionysos was much in evidence and last summer's grapes were consumed by the jugful as one gay devotee after another entered the select circle of professional partygoers.

Continuing the pace set by the Germans the Dekes entertained Dook ADPi's with a champagne party Thursday night.

Chi Phi and Phi Delt pledges also got together Thursday night and partied.

In the "let's get cozy" department we have quite a number of folks who fell prey to the monster of marriage, pinning, engagement, and what have you.

First on the casualty list is Richard Rhodes of Raleigh who became engaged to Barbara Bullard, also of Raleigh.

At the Phi Gam house Dick Hoggard was the man of the week as he gave his pin to Becky Gordon, a Saint Mary's girl from South Hill, Va.

The PiKA's had a double header when Chris Bruning, Greensboro, gave his pin to Carol Keith, Greensboro, and Matt Wood of Enfield turned his over to Peggy Perry, Enfield. Both girls made the long trip from W.C.

Phil Cree at the Delta Sig house is really serious. He's to be married this weekend to hometown girl Deens Reid in Rocky Mount.

One of the few remaining unattached Sig Chi's also bit the dust this past weekend as Skippy Roddey, Charlotte became pinned to Nancy Rose also from the Queen City.

Talk about coming from W.C.! Ted McLaughin, Phi Delt, all the way from Bremen, Germany, pinned Ann Phillips, ADPi of Franklin. Another ADPi Sandy Klostermyer accepts a diamond from Sonny Braxton, a '52 grad from Godwin. The this time, found in convenient to wedding is planned for early June.

We missed this one a few weeks back . . . Chan Page of KA fame pinned Carolyn Chester, a hometown girl from Southern Pines now attending Dook.

There'll be more post-Germans activity at the Beta house when the boys whoop it up Saturday night with a combo and party.

The Chi O's are also brewing some sort of shindig Friday night with a dinner at the house followed by a party at the Legion Hut.

On the milder side, but no less welcome, will be the study break the Alpha Gams are giving next Wednesday for all fraternities after chapter meetings.

To celebrate or cry in their beer, the Theta Chi's are having a party after the game Saturday night.

On the same tangent the AK Psi's will also party at the house Saturday.

Back to Rosemary Street and the TEP house we find that Jack Handler, Sarasota, Florida has pinned Phyllis Fleisher, also of Sarasota.

The Lambda Chi's have finally decided to go to school, but it took a party to do it. They're having a party at the old schoolhouse on the Burlington highway Friday night.

The Phi Delts have found a new excuse for a party. The present pledge class and last year's pledge class will battle it out in a huge beer drinking contest.

WUNC

The following is today's program schedule for WUNC, a non-commercial FM radio station operating on an assigned frequency of 91.5 mc. and 1450 watts:

7 p.m.—The Children's Circle.
7:30—Adventures in Research.
7:45—Carolina Sports Review.
8—People under Communism.
9—Music Appreciation by Dr. William Newman.
10—News and coming events.
10:05—An Evening Masterwork.

WUNC Saturday

7 p.m.—Skitches in Melody.
8—Paris Star Time.
8:30—Folksongs and Footnotes.
9—The Hill Hall Hour.
10—News and Coming Events.
10:05—An Evening Masterwork.

Hicks Is Chi O President; Shaw To Lead Pi Phi

Epsilon Beta chapter of Chi Omega sorority elected Alice Hicks, Faison, president for the coming year.

Janet Cozart, Wilson will serve as vice-president and Peggy Trotter, Chattanooga, Tenn., houe manager. Other officers are Pat Smith, Hartford, W. Va., secretary; Mary Jo Paul, Washington, treasurer; Sandra Wright, Winston-Salem, rush chairman; Judy Landauer, Red Hook, N. Y., social chairman; Tollie Randolph, Chapel Hill, pledge trainer; Stella Eason, Tarboro, personnel; Nancy Uzzelle, Joiner, Ark., corresponding secretary; Laura Hayes, Durham, assistant social chairman; Joanne Murphey, Chattanooga, Tenn., assistant house manager;

Julia Kester, Winston-Salem, assistant rush chairman; Anna Redding, Manhassett, L. I., civic and social chairman; Betty Burch, Bronxville, athletics chairman; Jayne Adams, Charlotte, Pan-Hellenic representative; Ann Patterson, Edenton, assistant treasurer; Bonnie Baker, Carrboro, assistant secretary and herald; and Nancy Shaw, St. Petersburg, Fla., has been elected president of North Carolina Alpha chapter of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Other officers elected Wednesday night were Eleanor Saunders, Chapel Hill, vice-president; Rosalyn Gasque, Rockingham, corresponding secretary; Joan Gant, Atlanta, Ga., recording secretary; Mary Lowrey Atlanta, Ga., treasurer; Nancy Davis, Rainelle, W. Va., assistant treasurer; Nancy Brucham Orlando, Fla., pledge trainer; Sue Ambler, Ft. Myers, Fla., scholarship chairman;

Sara Rose, Chapel Hill, rush chairman; Jane Berryhill, Chapel Hill, assistant rush chairman; Ann McCulloch, Bluefield, W. Va., house maanger; Tish Rodman, Norfolk, Va., historian; Jenny Lynn, Savannah, Ga., assistant historian; Joan Blocker, St. Petersburg, Fla., social chairman; Jo Deming, Cynthiana, Ky., assistant social chairman; Len Daniel, Miami, Fla., Pan-Hellenic representative; Betty Otto Anderson, Port St. Joe, Fla., and Anne Benton, Wilmington, censors.

Kappa Sigma's Will Be Hosts

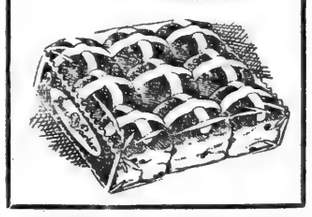
Alpha Mu chapter of Kappa Sigma fraternity will be host to some 200 delegates from seven North and South Carolina chapters this weekend.

Chapters to be represented on the UNC campus are Davidson, N.C. State, Duke, South Carolina, Wake Forest, North Carolina and Wofford. At this annual conclave problems concerning house management, rushing, alumni relations, scholarship and fraternity manners will be discussed in committees led by delegates from various chapters. A forum of the entire conclave will be presided over by Mr. Sim Wells, Raleigh, District Grand Master.

Dr. E. J. Woodhouse, UNC political science instructor and advisor for the local Kappa Sigma chapter, will be master of ceremonies at a formal banquet, 7 o'clock tomorrow night at the Carolina Inn. Principal speaker of the evening will be Mr. Christian A. Natvig, national treasurer of the fraternity. Awards for scholarship, house improvement and general improvement will be presented at this banquet. Individual achievement awards will also be given.

Highlight of the weekend will be a semi-formal dance to be held in the main ballroom of the Inn from nine to twelve Saturday night. Music will be furnished by the Duke Ambassadors. A party and combo at the house immediately following the dance will conclude the weekend's activities.

In Durham---------
HARVEY'S CAFETERIA
AND
BANQUET SERVICE
Breakfast 6:30 - 9:15
Lunch 11 - 2.30
Supper 5 - 8:05
Special Facilities For All Fraternity & Sorority Functions
103 E. MAIN STREET, DURHAM



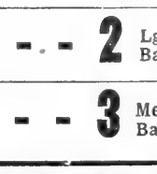
Carolina
& SATURDAY
T-O-D-A-Y
TRAPPED ...in revolt-riddled Ghandahar!
ALAN LADD
DEBORAH KERR
CHARLES BOYER
CORINNE CALVET
FOUR BIG STARS
in
THUNDER IN THE EAST
Produced by EVERETT RISKIN · Directed by CHARLES VIDOR
Screenplay by JO SWERLING · Adaptation by GEORGE TABORI and FREDERICK HAZLITT BRENNAN · From the novel by Alan Moorehead
A PARAMOUNT PICTURE
— PLUS —
PETE SMITH NOVELTY — NEWS
LATE SHOW SATURDAY—SUNDAY—MONDAY
THE JAZZ SINGER
COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR
WARNER BROS. HAPPY NEW HIT OF HITS!
STARRING DANNY THOMAS • PEGGY LEE • DIRECTED BY MICHAEL CURTIZ
WITH MILDRED DUNNOCK • EDUARD FRANZ • SAMSON RAPHAELSON • FRANK DAVIS & LEONARD LEVIN AND LOUIS HELTER

Translations And Outlines
For All Your Courses
THE BOOK EXCHANGE
At 5 Points
Durham, N. C.

scores of exceptional values

A&P 1853 1953

JANE PARKER
Cinnamon
BREAKFAST
ROLLS
13-Oz. Pkg. 25c



Ann Page Fancy Tomato
KETCHUP - - 2 14-Oz. Bots. 35c
Packers Label Standard Pack
TOMATOES 2 19-Oz. Cans 29c
A&P Grapefruit
SECTIONS - - 2 No. 303 Cans 27c
Ann Page Assorted Sparkle
PUDDINGS - - 3 4-Oz. Pkgs. 17c
A&P Fruit
COCKTAIL - - - 17-Oz. Can 23c
Our Own
TEA BAGS - - - 48-Ct. Pkg. 35c

Libby's Tomato Juice - - - - - - - 46-Oz. Can 29c
Libby's Peas - - - - - - - 17-Oz. Can 23c
Dromedary Ginger Bread Mix - - - - 14-Oz. Pkg. 25c
Lifebuoy Soap - - - - 3 Reg. Bars 23c
Lifebuoy Soap - - - - 2 Bath Bars 23c
Rinso - - - - - 23-Oz. Pkg. 27c 46-Oz. Pkg. 53c
Lux Toilet Soap - - - - - - - 3 Reg. Bars 23c
Lux Toilet Soap - - - - - - - 2 Bath Bars 23c
Swan Soap - - - - - - - 2 Lge Bars 27c
Swan Soap - - - - - - - 3 Med. Bars 23c

A&P "SUPER RIGHT" MEATS
Choice Western Beef—Chuck Blade
Pot Roast - - - - - - - Lb. 49c
Choice Western Beef—Boneless Rib, Club or
Sirloin Steak - - - - - Lb. 85c
Bone In—Brisket or
Plate Stew - - - - - - Lb. 19c
Choice Western Beef—7-In. Cut—Bone In
Rib Roast - - - - - - - Lb. 65c
Choice Western Beef—Top or Bottom—Boneless
Round Steak - - - - - Lb. 89c
Wilson's Corn King
Sliced Bacon - - - - - 1-Lb. Pkg. 49c
Smoked Short Shank Pork—4 to 6 Lb. Avg.
Shoulder Picnic - - - - Lb. 39c
Nice Thick
Fat Backs - - - - - - Lb. 13c

You'll Find Impressive Savings on Important Food Items Throughout the Store During the Last Big Week of A&P's
Founder's Week Celebration

Sunnyfield
Corn Flakes - - - - - 18-Oz. Pkg. 23c
Chicken of the Sea - Bite Size
Tuna Fish - - - - - - 6½-Oz. Can 33c
Jiffy Easy To Fix
Pie Crust - - - - - - 9-Oz. Pkg. 15c
A&P
Grape Juice - - - - - 12-Oz. Bot. 17c
White House Dry
Milk Solids - - - - - - 7-Oz. Pkg. 15c
Sultana Small or Large
Stuffed Olives - - - - 2-Oz. Bot. 15c

Crisp Golden
Carrots - - - - - - 1-Lb. Cello Bag 10c
Juicy Florida
Oranges - - - - - - 8-Lb. Bag 45c
Virginia Jumbo
Peanuts - - - - - - 8-Oz. Pkg. 23c
Bed Bliss
Potatoes - - - 5 Lb. 35c
California
Dates - - - - - - - Pkg. 25c
Juicy Florida Size 54's
Grapefruit - - - 4 For 23c

Surf - - - - - - - - - - Lge. Pkg. 29c
Silverdust - - - Lge. Pkg. 28c Giant Pkg. 55c
Spry - - - - - - 1-Lb. Can 31c 3-Lb. Can 89c
Breeze - - - - - Lge. Pkg. 30c Pkg. Giant 59c
Soap Ivory Personal - - - - - - 4 Small Bars 21c
Camay Soap - - - - - 2 Bath Bars 23c
Lava Soap - - - - - - 2 Med. Bars 19c
Oxydol - - - - - Lge. Pkg 27c Giant Pkg 65c
Dreft - - - - - Lge. Pkg 29c Giant Pkg 79c
Spic and Span - - - 2 16-Oz. Pkgs. 47c

Libby's Canned Meats
Corned Beef Hash - - - 16-Oz. Can 29c
Vienna Sausage - - - - 4-Oz Can 19c
Deviled Ham - - - - - - 3¼-Oz. Can 18c
Corned Beef - - - - - - 12-Oz. Can 49c
Potted Meat - - - - - - 5½-Oz. Can 13c

THESE PRICES EFFECTIVE THRU SAT. FEBRUARY 21ST.
A&P Super Markets
THE GREAT ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC TEA COMPANY

U N C LIBRARY
SERIARS DEPT.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.
8-31-49

1893

The Daily Tar Heel

1953

VOULME LXI, NUMBER 100 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

Last Review Today For UNC Sentence

Yea or nay on Saturday classes? The final decision comes today.

The Board of Trustees will assemble this morning in Raleigh for its annual Winter meeting. Trustee John W. Umstead is expected to see to it that the board considers a motion to reverse the Executive Committee's order to install a six-day week at Chapel Hill.

The question does not appear on the board's formal agenda. Therefore, if it is to be considered, a Trustee will have to make a motion from the floor. Umstead, who joined the student fight against Saturday classes last November, has indicated he will introduce the motion.

The six-day issue has had a long and turbulent history. The Trustee's Visiting Committee reported to the full board on Feb. 28, 1949 that to install Saturday classes here would be "too drastic a measure" simply to curb the "weekend exodus" from the campus. Then in May, 1952, the subject arose again, this time with the Executive Committee. It was decided to postpone action until the Executive Committee met again last September.

It was from this meeting that the Saturday class order came, invoking surprise and wrath from the student body. The most recent development is the Visiting Committee's reversal this month of its position against such a radical change in the University's teaching schedule.

Daddy Of DTH Was Hustler On, Off Field

Walter Murphy, a man of skill in education, legislation and athletics, fathered the Tar Heel.

While a student at the University, Murphy founded "The Tar Heel." The versatile Murphy, who had already won campus recognition as the star "center rush" on the grid squad, became the infant paper's first business manager and later was the second editor.

Murphy, called Pete by his friends, once wrote, "The paper of that day was a modest one of four pages bearing little comparison to the present sheet. However, it met the needs of that period and escaped with only minor criticisms of its defects."

The paper was published every Thursday, and Murphy saw to it from the very first issue that for the merchants the Tar Heel was the "best, quickest and surest means by when they can reach the students."

Weekend Holds Brotherhood For 17 Here

Seventeen international students representing eight countries made up Carolina's Brotherhood Week delegation which spent the weekend in Pittsboro.

The group living in homes of Pittsboro citizens and participated in a program designed for them, including a youth party, neighborhood teas and church services. One member of the group, Ram Singh of India, preached at the Methodist Church.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Singh, T. V. Narayana, India; Hirosi Takano, Japan; Mr. and Mrs. Toral Mignel and daughter, Ecuador; Purabi Bose, India; Taeko Fujita, Japan; Maria Fernandez, Brazil; Taketo Furakata, Japan; Joyce Dunn, Australia; Molly Sexton, England; Otto Vehrenkamp, Germany; Sadao Morita, Japan, and Mr. and Mrs. Enrique Mandiola Chile.

Velde Admits False Charge

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(Special)—Rep. Velde (R-Ill.) said today he made "an honest mistake" in referring to Mrs. Agnes Meyer as the writer of a letter that appeared in the Russian publication Pravda.

He said he learned his information was wrong, that it was Mrs. G. S. Mayer of Port Clements, British Columbia who wrote the letter.

Mrs. Meyer, wife of the chairman of the Washington Post, criticized Velde severely in a speech last week to an educators' meeting in Atlantic City. When Velde subsequently made his charge Mrs. Meyer vigorously denied it.

Today Is Yesterday

Today's issue is dated Sunday although it's being distributed on Monday.

The reason for the switch in dates is a postal regulation concerning the frequency of publication. The Daily Tar Heel therefore must put a Sunday date on today's issue.

Sufficiently confused?

Chest To Send Help To Dutch Flood Victims

An appeal ot Carolina for help will be answered.

This appeal for aid to the flood stricken students of Holland came from a Dutch student at Amsterdam University in a letter to the University.

"We students of Holland hope with all our hheart that this campaign may be accomplished and will achieve success; therefore we are thanking you in advance for your help and cooperation. It is in their name (those killed in the recent floods in Holland) that I ask you this," wrote the Dutch political and social science student, A.T.W. van Overbiek.

Stuart Jones, chairman of the Campus Chest, went into action and asked the Chest board for action. The board voted to earmark part of the funds given during the Chest drive to aid in this Dutch dis-

WSSF, World Student Service Fund, in connection with Unesco and CARE are the three organizations that have been selected by the board to receive the balance of student and faculty contributions.

WSSF helps students obtain an education, which without aid would be impossible. This fund furnishes books, clothes and food for the students.

This Campus Chest Drive for WSSF begins March 2 and continues through March 6. Everyone who contributes a minimum of $1 will receive a free ticket to the Campus Chest variety show on Wednesday night March 4.

Campus Chest is the student organization which combines the donations to all the worthwhile charities into two large annual drives. One for local and national charities and the other for WSSF.

Just what your money will do is this: $3 will buy a necessary textbook for a student in a country where libraries were lost in war, $6.65 will provide hot breakfast through the three coldest winter months for one student suffering from malnutrition.

Or as Campus Chesters say, "Let your heart decide."

YMCA Officials Return After Atlanta Conference

Four YMCA officials here returned home last night after a three-day conference in Atlanta for the southern area Student Council.

Attending were Clinton Lindley, Y treasurer; Bob Hyatt, chairman of Christian Heritage Commission; Claude Shotts general secretary of the Y and John D. Riebel associate secretary of the Y.

Tar Heel's Staffs Top All Fields

They have provided leadership for the State, the University, newspapers throughout the country, and other facets of industry—former editors and staffers of The Tar Heel and The Daily Tar Heel.

Among those who edited the paper: the late Edward Kidder Graham, '98, former president of UNC, during World War I, and father of E. K. Graham, chancellor of the Women's College, R. D. W. Connor, professor of history and first head of the United States Archives; Frank Porter Graham, solidated Univresity, now United '09, former president of the Con-Nations mediator; Oscar J. "Skipper" Coffin, '09, dean of the School of Journalism; J. C. B. Ehringhaus, '02, North Carolina governor from 1933-37; Jonathan Daniels, '21, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer; Lenoir Chambers, '14, editor of Norfolk Virginian-Pilot; W. T. Polk, '17, associate editor of the Greensboro Daily News; A. T. (Lon) Dill, '35, editorial writer for the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot; Victor L. Stephenson, '07, editor, Syracuse (N. Y.) Telegram.

Dr. O .W. Hyman, vice-president of the Medical School, University of Tennessee; Martin Harmon, editor of the Kings Mountain Herald; Thomas C. Linn, '16, reporter for the New York Times; Charles Phillips Russell, '04, professor of journalism; Walter Spearman, '29, professor of journalism; Jake Wade, '23, University sports news director; Spike Saunders, '25, General Alumni Secretary; W. H. Jones, '11, now connected with Hospital Savings.

One former editor, the late Quincey Sharpe Mills, '08 was considered to be one of the most promising editorial writers in New York. His work with the old New York Evening Sun was cut short when he joined the Armed Services in the first World War and was killed while on active duty.

Editors now living in Chapel Hill include Coffin, Russell, Spearman, Wade, Saunders, Jones and Orville Campbell, '42, president of Colonial Press.

The first editor of the daily newspaper was Glenn P. Holder, '30 who is now president of a pharmacentical company in Maryland.

Staffers of the Tar Heel include Robert Ruark, '35, syndicated columnist; Don C. Shumaker, '34, editor of the Asheville Citizen; C. Ted Leonard, editor of the Greensboro Record; Holt McPherson, editor of the High Point Enterprise; Spencer Murphey, editor of the Salisbury Post and three time winner of the North Carolina Institute editorial contest; J. P. Huskins, editor of the Statesville Daily Record; Floyd Hendley, managing editor of the Greensboro Record; Clifton Daniel, '33, chief of the New York Times bureau in London and Furman Bisher, Atlanta Constitution sports editor.

THIS WAS THE TAR HEEL'S STAFF in the Spring of 1895, two years after the paper began. On the floor left to right are J. A. Moore and Harry Howell. At the table left to right are E. B. Lewis, E. W. Myers (Chief), M. H. Yount, A. B. Kimball and George S. Wills. Standing left to right are J. A. Gwyn, D. Eatman, J. O. Carr and J. C. Eller. It is thought that this picture was given the paper by George H. Wills, '89.

No McIver . . . But It Thrilled Them

Gloves And Veil Were Campus Requirements For The First Coeds

By Deenie Schoeppe

"Why, in my day a lady never appeared on campus without gloves and a veil" said Miss Alice Jones, the first coed to apply for a degree at UNC.

Miss Jones was one of five coeds here in the Fall of 1898. They were preceded only by Miss Sally Stockard in the Spring of 1898, the first young lady to enroll in classes at UNC.

Miss Jones, now living in Chapel Hill, was recipient of two degrees at the University, but was never in the academic line at graduation exercises because "You see, one just didn't do those things." The young ladies did permit themselves to lift their veils and remove their gloves while taking notes in class, however.

Coeds didn't increase in number over about five a year until 1919 when Mrs. M. H. Stacy was employed by the University as a dean of women. Mrs. Stacy, who also still lives in Chapel Hill, had under her guidance 47 young women "of highest calibre."

"We had to beg for places for them to stay in town, for most of the townspeople only wanted to rent rooms to boys," said Mrs. Stacy.

Two years later the newcomers moved into Archer House, the first women's dorm. It was no McIver but it thrilled them. They had a dining room and a social room with only five chairs "which led to great confusion when there were gentleman callers."

A North Carolina University Women's Association had been formed, and an honor committee, corresponding to the Student Council for boys, was elected. The president of it was permitted to serve as an ex-officio member of the campus cabinet. This was the beggest break yet.

In 1923, with a coed enrollment of 79, sororities were permitted to come on campus. The first to do so was Chi Omega in January, followed by Pi Beta Phi in September. Dean Stacy noted "a friendly and most healthy competition between the two."

In March of 1923, after four years of pleading, the Legislature appropriated $100.00 toward the building of a women's residence hall. And so Spencer dorm came into being. Another milestone of that year was the publication of a women's handbook.

The main cry now was for a women's gymnasium, although all exclaimed over the "homelike atmosphere of the beautiful new dormitory." Already the student council was making plans for social evenings "when all students may gather around the open fire to read and discuss college and community interests."

By 1928, women's enrollment had jumped to 151. For physical exercise the young ladies were permitted to take over the gymnasium for a short period two evenings a week.

The year 1932 brought great rejoicing, for the University was permitting the grove behind President Graham's house (present site of Alderman Dorm) to be used for a recreation field. By this time they were no longer wearing the gloves and veils.

Then 1933 was recorded as being one of the most interesting years in the history of women at the University. A woman was actually nominated for editor of the Carolina Magazine. Dean Stacy reports that "her campaign was well managed and she was defeated only by a small margin."

The next year brought the Women's Glee Club, and the WAA for women students had their own physical education instructor now.

A startling innovation struck the campus this year, for women were permitted to enter fraternity houses at stated hours. Comments Dean Stacy, "This experiment, we hope, may solve one of our greatest social problems—the tendency of students toward complete disregard of a regulation."

And so it went. 1935 brought the YWCA with a whirl of activities, and each succeeding year saw more coeds in campus activities.

STYLES HAVE CHANGED SINCE THE staff of '95 had its picture taken, but the problems and work remain the same—tough. Shown here are the department heads of this year's Daily Tar Heel. Seated is Editor Walt Dear. Standing left to right are Subscription Manager Carolyn Reichard, Business Manager Jim Shenck, Society Editor Deenie Schoeppe, Sports Editor Biff Roberts and Managing Editor Rolfe Neill. Don Hogg, circulation manager, was not present for the picture.—Daily Tar Heel photo by Cornell Wright.

Embryo To 60 Years Is Traced

By Harry Dunlop

Entombment for posterity, varicolored issues, cutthroat competition from rival sheets, wartime emergencies—The Daily Tar Heel has experienced them all in its first tempestuous 60 years of existence.

There were but 18 members of the faculty and tennis, football and baseball were the only sports; we lost to the University of Virginia with discouraging regularity in all three that Spring of 1893 when the Athletic Association proudly heralded the advent of its newest protege: a weekly paper, to be called The Tar Heel, and costing $1.50 a session.

Appearing for the first time Thursday morning, February 23, Volume I, Number 1, of this ancestor of the present paper bore little resemblance to its later offspring. It consisted of four pages, 12 inches by 18 inches, of four columns each, with no pictures and no heads as we know them. It was published by a Mr. Thompson, a small printshop owner who had his shop in an upstairs storeroom of A. S. Barbee, next door to the old Methodist Church.

"The official organ of the Athletic Association"—a slogan which it bore for 30 years, incidentally—was nevertheless a venturesome attempt, as its editors well knew: "This new venture is necessarily entered upon by the present board with no little trepidation, nevertheless with a determination to make a success—"

White and Blue Debut

Trouble was not long in appearing. On March 30 of the following year all the non-fraternity members of the board resigned, voicing bitter criticism of the supposedly profraternity stand of the paper. There appeared a rival weekly sheet, the White and Blue, and a considerable conflict flared on the campus over the fraternity question.

The first manifestation of the more violent White and Blue had a truly revolutionary air, issuing a stirring call to arms for all non-fraternity men: "Friends of the University, lovers of justice and right, the White and Blue greets you! The Tar Heel is a publication controlled exclusively by fraternity men . . . (We must) abolish fraternities forever . . . (The White and Blue) calls upon reason, justice, precedent, and trustees to abolish them.") Throughout the controversy The Tar Heel maintained a more moderate attitude; after several conciliatory moves had met with no success, it completely ignored—or tried to—the whole affair. Far from being injured by the competition, circulation actually increased. After the smoke of battle had cleared somewhat, a consolidation took place, with The Tar Heel appropriating the assets, liabilities, subscribers and most of the editorial staff of its rival.

A Sardonic Smile

Glorification of the University's athletics was a prime motive for the very existence of the paper. The Carolina Magazine heralded the arrival of The Tar Heel, joyfully stating that at long last we could have our "athletic claims set forth in no uncertain strain." Which was done with great gusto, as witness this bit of baseball reporting:

"Stevens comes up, and was cheered, and cracked it over the fence for a home run; . . . Oldham, with a sardonic smile, caught Andrew's high foul which ended the game."

All was not good though. We beat Virginia exactly three times in the first 20 meetings with the Cavaliers in football, and not much more often in baseball. This vein was frequently heard: "The cup is bitter—the defeat is bad enough without being made worse by coming from Virginia."

When we did win our few contests the campus—and The Tar Heel—went delirious with joy. In '96, this Blue-ink screamer appeared: "Carolina Forever! We Win From Virginia by Superior, Scientific Baseball."

(See DTH, page 4)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough | Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgrs. Charles Collins, Charles Haskett
Assoc. Ed. Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ellen Downs, Jennie Lynn, Jerry Reece, Sara Leek, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Jes Nettles, Sally Schindel, Manning Muntzing, Dave Herbert, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell, Ned Whitmore.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Louis Kraar

Birthday Reflections

"This new venture is nccessarily entered upon by the present board with no little trepidation, nevertheless with a determination, to make a success which can only be done through the indulgence and assistance of our faculty and fellow-students. Therefore we invite honest criticism and any aid in the advancement of this new project will be thoroughly appreciated."

With these words some brave and hardy souls launched the official Athletic Association organ devoted "to the interest of the University at large." The trepidation mixed with determination venture has blossomed into an independent and free daily newspapr serving almost 6,000. And as this student newspaper celebrates its sixtieth anniversary, it does so with a sense of pride, yet a sense of humility and responsibility.

The Daily Tar Heel's greatest blessing is its ability to say what it wants to say, to print all the news and to interpret it as it sees fit. One of its freedoms includes the right to make a mistake, something we hope won't happen, but sometimes does. If freedom from administrative or faculty control is a blessing, then surely, another great blessing is its readers. We feel there is no better audience or critic than 5500 students, no better reader than the student. His mind is alive with thoughts. He glows with energy. He is making an attempt to think things out. As he learns, he contemplates. As he gains in knowledge, he questions, criticizes, compliments, or answers. The Daily Tar Heel is grateful for its readers and seeks, in humility, to satisfy their growing minds.

Perhaps some may think that the sponsorship of the Athletic Association in the early days is ironic. Those observers will note that the modern newspaper has been critical of the athletic program, its policies, and activities. We think this is more than just irony. It illusrates the establishment and growth of a tradition of freedom that we cherish. The continued inquiry of the athletic program, however, is not a question of Indian-giving. It is one of emphasis, we think: Emphasis on education as well as athletics.

The Daily Tar Heel has often criticized the University and will continue to do so. Yet The Daily Tar Heel is not ungrateful to to its early sponsors, or its present benefactors. While this newspaper is cognizant of its freedoms, it also recognizes the challenges of its duties and responsibilities. The Daily Tar Heel will continue to promote the cause of the University wherever possible.

In 1893 legislators, when visiting the campus, learned to know the needs of the University.

"All saw the need of a sufficient appropriation to fully equip, this, the most useful and important of all the State properties and give to a University of whose past brilliant record and whose future prospects are such as would make any State in the Union proud to be the possessor of such an heritage to posterity, a sufficient appropriation to put the University on a financial basis equal to its rapid expansion and growth."

There was the realization of this visiting committee, at least, of the State's responsibility to safeguard UNC, to provide for its future. Sixty years have passed since this paragraph was printed in The Tar Heel, yet it is still true today. The Legislators have the Board of Trustees as their visiting agents. Yet the University's future, to be bright, must get the necessaries for the present program. The fulfillment of the dreams for the University in 1953 are just as important as the fulfillment of the 1893 hopes were.

* * *

Freedom everywhere is in jeopardy. We can see this just by picking up yestrday's news of Congressman Velde's false slam at the wife of the editor of the Washington Post. Intimidation, innuendo, all the fundamentals taught in the new course called McCarthyism are haunting America's greatest heritages of freedom. So, it is with a sense of great happiness that we celbrate another birthday of a daily expression of freedom and promise to promote and continue this expression vigorously.

Sixtieth and Sixth . . .

Today is a day of odd and most unhappy comparisons for this column. This is the day of The Daily Tar Heel's SIXTIETH anniversary. This is the day of SIXTH day reckoning in Raleigh.

The Daily Tar Heel is celebrating while most students are lamenting the inevitable—at least from a Trustee and administration viewpoint, but not from the Student Government office which has had enough courage to stand by even in a one-way contest.

We have always thought of a board of directors, or a board of trustees as a general policy maker—not a rubber stamp agency by any means, but not a specifier either. The trustees have been indiscrete. Their action represents a backhanded effort at the Consolidated President, at the entire administration, and at the faculty.

The latest Trustee action looks like a trend established for continued interference. "We know what's good for the University" is a considerate philosophy, and it is well appreciated but in the case of Saturday classes, we also think our administration and faculty know what's best for the University.

Death As An Instrument Of Progress

(A few lines composed above Graham Abbey)

We are noble and good (just ask us).
Our reputation is impeccable,
Except among the majority.
And we rest upon our oars,
While from East and West can be heard
The shout of increasing student bodies
In every college unworthy of the name.

And why is it that our enrollment is low?
Why is it that our reflexes are slow?
Perhaps all can be traced—
This pathetic lack of haste—
To a tragic lack of mind
Brought on by looking behind.

We question the validity,
We announce the stupidity
Of a device so often here employed.
The increasing vapidity,
The alarming solidity,
Quite frankly is getting us annoyed.

To what device we do refer,
We'll no longer make demur,
But will tell you now without a word excess:
To us it seems lamentable
And morally unpresentable
To wait for death and then to call it progress.

If bodily expiration must continue to precede
The accomplishment of any worthy deed,
(And if the leaders do not lead but humbly plead),
Then we'll wait a thousand years,
And we'll shed a million tears,
And we'll get what we deserve, not what we need.

Suggestive Visitors

Other than the Saturday class recommendation, the report of the Trustee Visiting Committee has some noteworthy suggestions.

Some even border on the ludicrous stages. For instance: " . . . steps be taken to secure the assistance of parents in discouraging the use of automobiles by students at the University" or " . . . more effort be made to explain the purposes and functions of the University to students.

The philosophy on cars goes goes something like this: Make the University life more meaningful by keeping people here on weekends. Cars are here to stay unless a ban for freshmen and sophomores or the whole student body is imposed.

The "meaning and purpose of the University" is an excellent suggestion. But first, we recommend that the University ask itself that one.

We heartily agree with the Trustees on some other points. The request that the University have better relations with the public school authorities "to bridge the gap between high school preparation and college work" is a sound proposal.

Curt Ratledge

He Couldn't Write Enough

Out of the heart of the North Carolina mountains, some 35 years ago, strode a bulky man of near-giant proportions .He was but a youth, a kid of 17, the youngest son of Julia Wolfe-Thomas Clayton, and coming to Chapel Hill to enroll in the state university.

In the years that followed, Tom mastered his academic pursuits but found something else far more invigorating and satisfying—creative writing. He couldn't write enough and, too, there wasn't enough time for him. His lonely, pent-up soul demanded a chance to speak and hour after hour, usually under the shroud of night, the massive figure slumped over a table and poured out his tale.

No one form of expression was adequate for him, so he wrote out his story in plays and in prose, and on the pages of the Daily Tar Heel he edited his senior year, 1919-20.

The issues confronting the campus during that troubled year, when America was desperately trying to return to the vague vogue of normalcy, were not too unlike those of today. There was talk of permanent peace through an organization called the League of Nations. Tom one day spelled out his contempt for those who would deny us that hope:

"The University has voted overwhelmingly on the adoption of the League of Nations Covenant without reservation. We have undoubtedly brought down upon us the scathing invective of Messrs. Lodge, Borah, and "Hell-Roaring" Hiram Johnson, who comes from the Pacific coast and should be a walking recommendation for Nuxated Iron. We are un-American. These men stand for Americanism, which has become their keynote, is synonomous with provincialism.

"And now our University has become un-American. It was a dastardly thing to do. And now we can crouch down in our little neck of the woods and hope that Mr. Lodge and Mr. Borah and Hiram won't hear about it. And if they do—what will Hiram say, Hiram with his calm temperament, an dhis nobly restrained speech. What will Hiram say?"

But the editorial column was not reserved for blasts at national recalcitrants. At home there were those who were tampering with our Honor Code, an done day Wolfe leveled the blast of his vitriolic pen upon them:

"There is no intention to try and reform you, to 'give you another chance.' You have desecrated the temple, you have prostituted the honor of a place that is as dear to us as the honor of the woman we love,' and you must go. You have committed the unpardonable sin.

"You were offered citizenship in the cleanest and freest community in the world, you were given a chance to be men, along with your comrades, thinking your own lives through, and mastering the situations that beset you.

"There can be no excuse for such as you, you have attempted to dishonor a place whose worth you never realized—and you must go!"

Lighter subjects crept into the pages ,too, and when the snows came Wolfe offered a code of ethics for the conduct of snowball fights. He lamented, he said, organized assaults on naive freshmen who had the gall to proceed about the campus singly.

There were politics, as usual, in the spring, and Tom had his say on that facet of University life:

"You can't put your finger on politics. You see it before you, about you, to the starboard, the larboard, around and about you—but you can't put your finger on politics.

"It is as real as concrete and as elusive as a shadow. No man on campus is a politician but he can tell you of many who are. Political rings" are formed every year, but always with a noble purpose, of defeating the designs of "that dirty ring" across the campus. Political rings, like nations, hunt up, acquire, or manufacture a moral justification before entering the fray. In this light the politician becomes a campus benefactor."

Wolfe left Chapel Hill that June of 1920, an journeyed northward for graduate work at Harvard and teaching, briefly, at NYU. But he had to write, and a writer had to be free—free to trod the squalid alleys of Brooklyn and gaze into the faces of the people, the plain and honest people. Free to sit on the park bench at noon or in the last hour before the dawn. Free to travel and try to meet everybody adn see everything.

The next few years saw him, on several occasions, wandering over the face of Europe feeling the pulse of the people. He drank beer with them in Munich, sipped tea with them in London, and stalked among them along the Seine. There was so much to do—so many people to see— and there was so little time.

His short stories, extracted from the packing boxes, began to appear in various magazines. The door to the publishing world was opening.

Yet all the while he wrote. All the while the wooden crates were being filled with the story of the man who could love and hate and fear and hope and know supreme happiness at the very same instant of time.

Then literary America awoke one morning in 1929 to find a deserving aspirant for the front rank of novelists. Tom Wolfe and Look Homeward, Angel were accepted. There followed more short stories and Of Time and the River. The man from the mountains continued. He was driven ever onward by his mortal enemy, the "Dark river of time," and ever fearful that the river would not let him reach his goal.

It didn't.

One fall morning in 1938 the massive heart stopped beating.

Louis Kraar

Wolfe And Politics

Campus politics in the roaring twenties, viewed today, prove just one thing—man's problems are eternal.

A young writer called Thomas Wolfe became editor of the Tar Heel in 1920. Just a weekly then, the paper was published by the Athletic Association, a group that ran most other campus activities.

The top post of the school was president of the Athletic Association. Nearest thing to Legislature was a group called the Campus Cabinet which expressed student opinion on various matters. One of their most vigorous activities in 1920 was a clean-up campaign for the campus grounds.

Young Wolfe launched his own clean-up drive in campus politics. There were no organized political parties on campus, and campaigning was on a rather secret, personal basis. Wolfe lashed out at the dirty campaigners with a fighting editorial.

"The unpleasant feature of the whole business is the degree to which personal attacks on prominent candidates are carried on. Reports of this kind float by on the campus and are found everywhere, but whence they cometh no man knows," wrote Wolfe.

The editor suggested a little better setup for electing officers:

"For campuses afflicted by politics of this nature, why not adopt an open system of carrying on elections? Many universities and colleges, for instance, have two or more political organizations who meet, nominate candidates, hold primaries and carry out the plan in true political fashion.

"Where campus communities are more and more becoming places of citizenship, the plan of having two parties opposed to each other with definite platforms and tickets would be a further development of the expression of student life."

Settling back to normal after the first World War, the campus had problems. A lengthy Tar Heel editorial proclaimed the unreasonable prices of milk shakes in Chapel Hill. The price here was 15 cents, said the editorial, but every other town sold them for 10 cents. The editors were indignant, so the battle began. And from the looks of things it's still on.

The Editors Reminisce

Editors Note: Three former editors, Charles Phillips Russell, '94, now professor of Journalism, Jonathan Daniels, '21, now editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, and Oscar J. "Skipper" Coffin, dean of the School of Journalism reminisce about the Tar Heel of earlier days.

The AA Organ

When I was elected editor of the Tar Heel in the early part of the present century, the paper was the organ of the Athletics Association, to which all students were supposed to belong; and it was printed by he University Press in a little shop on the site of what is now Phillips Hall by student labor. One of the compositors was Victor L. Stephenson, now an editorial writer on a Syracuse, N. Y. daily.

The chief function of the Tar Heel was to give running accounts of all athletic contests, especially football. If too much news or editorial matter appeared in the paper, there was complaint. In reporting football games, the Tar Heel sports editor was allowed to take the field with the team and armed with pencil and notebook, he stood just behind the halfbacks so that he could note every move. If he got run over, that was his affair. But on account of this privileged position, the job of sports editor was much sought for.

I had written only a few editorials when I was waked in my room in Old East early one morning by a colored janitor who said the president of the University wanted to see me. I found Dr. Venable in his office in the Alumni building. He objected to one of my editorials on the poverty of the athletic equipment in the gymnasium, then installed in old Memorial Hall. He thought I ought to confirm my facts by consulting him; I held out for complete freedom of the press.

I realized later he was right. But I was right, too. It was my initiation into the problem of what to do when both sides to a question are right. I didn't yield. Neither did he. We remained friends.

When in trouble or doubt I used to go see E. K. Graham. later president of the University, for whom Graham Memorial is named. He was then just an instructor in English, and a good one, but handicapped in winning promotion because he was not a Ph.D. He helped me to maintain balance.

Every student ought to have at least one friend in the faculty, for college students are prone to follishness. But if a man is not to be foolish in his youth, when is he to be foolish? Wisdom does not always stem from wisdom alone. —C.P.R.

Never Free Of Trouble

It gives me a great deal more pleasure to join in celebrating the sixty years of the Tar Heel than to remember that I was editor almost exactly half that time ago.

We were pretty proud in 1921-22 when we changed the Tar Heel from a weekly to a semi-weekly. We felt practically metropolitan when we advanced from putting the paper together in a spare room in the "Y" to offices of our own on the ground floor of New West which even in those days was "new" only in nomenclature.

We had a good time. We were often in trouble. My hope for the Tar Heel in the future is that it never will be free of troubles and never fail to be a trouble-maker when good old productive editroial hell-raising is required on the campus at Chapel Hill.

Also I hope that in all relations with that thing called "authority" Tar Heel editors will always encounter the encouragement, good sense and good understanding of the virtue of a free student press which we met in those ancient days in the person of President Harry Woodburn Chase.

Good luck to you, and don't be surprised if in one incredible hurry you'll be celebrating your 30th anniversary too.-J.D.

Don't Shoot The Ed.

It seems that without either my knowledge or consent. I've been elected a Brother of the Brush or something in connection with the celebration of the Tar Heel's sixtieth or some such anniversary.

Well, I was an editor once, before, as Kipling's Mulvaney was wont to remind himself, "I was rejooced."

An editor, as I so clearly perceive now, by default. Frank Graham, elected unanimously by the Athletic Association, which then underwrote the University of North Carolina student weekly, was having trouble with his eyes at the close of the fall semester of the collegiate year 1908-09. I was a member of the editorial board, doing a bit of reporting now and then nobody else offered in competition, so by voice vote I took over.

Understand, I wasn't even Frank's stand-in. Had I been, I'd never been half so brash. I've been an editor of some sort several times since, but never since I walked out of Gerrard Hall as editor of the Tar Heel have I been so determined to edit not for chalk or marbles, but for keeps and up to the hilt.

I think that I deigned to assure Dr. Francis P. Venable. president of the University, when he sought to establish something of an entente cordiale, that I'd let him co-operate in the conduct of campus affairs, provided he'd keep his nose clean, and I actually listened once to Prof. Edward K Graham and kept out of a most promising jam; but I reckon I was as bumptious a lad as ever was tolerated by our liberty-loving, easy-going community.

I wrote most of the paper—no typewriter—and set a good part in 11-point type, made up its four pages and turned it over to a press which was fortunately operated by the son of the editor of the Methodist Protestant Church's paper then called, as I remember the Christian Record and published at Greensboro.

I was late for all early morning classes, including a double dose of physics since I had prep as well as the freshman stuff to do, barely skinned through everything except philosophy—Horace Williams liked 'em bumptious if the bumps were pointed in the direction of other members of the faculty—and fared forth in search of fresh fields to conquer.

After teaching one term of public school and resorting to other devices to keep body and soul unsegregated, I was in the fall of 1910 a full fledged reported, proof-reader, and advertising writer and solicitor and assistant pressman at a salary of $8 a week. I think I'd have been put to reporting a full year sooner if my less cognizant well-wishers had not insisted on stating that I had been an editor.

Did I then regret or have I since regretted my campus editorship? Rarely and never more than momentarily. So often I have been faced with a situation that I contrived to evade, cope with satisfactorily or at least break even with because of a similar past experience. Too, I think it has helped me get along with journalism students, and I know it has been of no scant service among us three—count 'em 3!

Former molders of campus opinion, Russell, Spearman and Coffin—in preventing ary one of the triumvirate from becoming superciliously shirty. —O.J.

SC Tourney Chances Downed

Tar Heels Fall To Growling Wolfpack Five

By Tom Peacock

Carolina's chances of making the Southern Conference basketball tournament dropped another notch Saturday night in Woollen Gym as the State Wolfpack poured in 31 points in the fourth quarter to gain revenge over the Tar Heels, 87-64.

State's reserves and a tight zone defense was too much for Carolina. In the final period Wolfpack coach Everett Case had a fresh team while the weary Tar Heels were forced to stick with their starters.

State's Mel Thompson was high scorer with 21 points, and the Wolfpack's Dave Gotkin and Bobby Speight followed with 17 and 15 points, respectively. Vince Grimaldi led the Tar Heels with 13 points and Tony Radovich and Jerry Vayda were runners-up with 10 points apiece.

UNC could make only 27.5 per cent of their gield goal attempts while the Wolfpack had a 40.5 per cent accuracy.

Carolina grabbed a quick lead by set shots by Vayda and Grimaldi, and led the Wolfpack 10-6 with half the first quarter away. State's Mel Thompson sank a layup at 6:45 to put the Pack ahead, 11-10, and State inched away, keeping the lead for the rest of the game.

Midway through the third quarter, the game turned into a mild stampede with Carolina stopping the Wolfpack zone with fast breaks. Two layups by Jack Wallace put Carolina within four points at 42-38, but the Pack slowed the action down, and extended its margin.

State's junior varsity routed the Carolina jayvees, in a preliminary 93-55. Vic Molodit was high scorer for the Pack with 23 points, and Bell was runner-up with 20. Joe Walker scored 14 for Carolina and Jerry McCabe followed with 12.

Carolina	fg	ft	pf	pts
Vayda, f	4	2	4	10
Maddie, f	1	5	4	7
Likins, c	1	5	4	7
Schwarz, f	0	1	1	1
Carter, f	0	0	0	0
Lifson, g	3	3	2	9
Winstead, g	0	0	0	0
Glancy, g	0	0	0	0
Grimaldi, g	6	1	2	13
Wallace, f	2	1	3	5
Phillips, g	0	4	1	4
Radovich, g	3	4	2	10
TOTAL	20	26	23	66

N. C. STATE	fg	ft	pf	pts
Kukoy, f	4	0	5	8
Tyler, f	0	0	1	1
Speight, f	7	1	4	15
Brandenburg, f	2	5	4	9
Thompson, c	5	11	4	21
Knapp, c	4	3	2	11
Gotkin, g	6	5	2	17
Scheffel, g	0	0	0	0
Yurin, g	1	1	4	3
Morris, g	1	0	1	2
TOTAL	30	27	26	87

Kramer, Sedgman Net Tour Appears In Woollen Tonight

The world-famous professional tennis troupe, starring Jack Kramer, Frank Sedgman, Pancho Segura and Ken McGregor, makes its only North Carolina stop tonight, appearing in Woollen Gym at 7:30.

Sedgman and Kramer, rated as the two outstanding players in the world, will meet in one match. Sedgman now holds a slight lead in what amounts to a battle for the championship of the world.

Segura will meet McGregor in the other singles match and then mer and Segura in a doubles match the two Australians will meet Kra-

Sedman is making the best showing against Kramer than any other pro has made on a tour. Kramer easily whipped Bobby Riggs, Richard Gonzales, and Segura in former nation-wide trips.

Tickets are still on sale at Woollen Gym. Student seats are $1.25 with passbook, general admission, $1.75 and reserved seats, $2.50.

Alpha Kappa Psi Inspects Durham Cigarette Plant

Twenty members of Alpha Kappa Psi toured the Chesterfield plant in Durham Friday.

As one of its professional activtivities for the Winter Quarter, the business administration fraternity went through the cigaret plant and had the procedures of operation explained.

Garth Payne Is Selected Delta Sigma's Best Pledge

Delta Sigma Pi recently honored initiates with a banquet at the Carolina Inn at which Garth Payne was presented the outstanding pledge award.

R. P. Calhoun, professor of personnel management in the School of Business Administration here, spoke on "Humorous Experiences in College and Industry." Delta Sigma Pi is a business administration fraternity.

Calendar

March SUAB calendar information must be turned in to the SUAB office by 1 o'clock this afternoon.

UNC Takes Two Victories; Defeated Once

Two Carolina teams took wins and one was defeated in sports events held in Chapel Hill over the weekend.

UNC's track team won its first dual meet of the season, defeating N. C. State, 70 3-4—33 1-4, in the Tin Can for a Southern Conference victory. Freshman Charlie Yarborough led the Tar Heels, taking a first and a tie for another first.

In a three-way match, Carolina gymnastic team scored 64 points while two intersectional rivals, Mississippi Southern and Northwestern State, could score only 15 and 14 points, respectively.

Washington and Lee University handled the Carolina wrestling team easily, turning the Tar Heels back, 25-5, in another conference match. J. B. Tyndall scored all of Carolina's points when he pinned Ed Werth of W & L in the 130-pound division.

Apologia

To those who attended the Carolina-N. C. State game on Friday night, as sponsored by The Daily Tar Heel to find it changed to Saturday night, as sponsored by the Athletic Association, the sports editor offers sincerest apologies.

Because of false information supplied by Etaoin Shrdlu we erroneously reported the game as being played on Friday night. Our condolences also go to the ticket office for suffering with us.—BFR.

4 UNC Debaters Attend

Four students represented the University at Florida State University's fourth annual invitational debate tournament held in Tallahassee over the weekend.

Attending were Al Levine, Bill Zuckerman, Beverly Webb and Bruce Marger.

DANZIGER'S
Monday, February 23rd, 1953
Homemade Vegetable Soup .. $.20

SPECIAL STUDENT PLATES
Mexican Chili Con Carne served with spaghetti and salad .... $.50

Creole Wiener served with baked beans, lettuce and tomato .... $.60
Breaded Pork Chop served with potato and vegetable ..... $.90
Hamsteak au gratin served with potatoes and two vegetables $.95
Buttered Spanish Mackeral served with tomatoes and boiled potatoes ..... $.80
Minutesteak served on toast with vegetables $1.25
Smoked Porkies served with sauerkraut and potatoes ..... $.85
Please ask for the Pastrywagon
. . . your choice served with bread, butter and salad

Varsity
T-O-D-A-Y AND TUESDAY
The Warmly Wonderful, Lovable, Laughable Story Of A Ballerina And A Clown!

SPOT NEWS
Well-Pressed Suit Wins Fair Lady
SPOTLESS grooming gets 'em every time—Send suits to us for speedy spot removal, cleaning, and pressing. We deliver!
CHAPEL HILL CLEANERS
Phone 9-2466 Phone 9-6386

COMING TO
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM
MISCHEL PIASTRO
AND THE
LONGINES SYMPHONETTE
SPONSORED BY
N. C. STATE COLLEGE UNION
Friday, Feb. 27, 8:30 P.M.
ADMISSION
$1.50
Tickets on sale at the YMCA Office and at door in the Coliseum

Religion Through The Ages
A book of intelligent and inspiring reading for Lent. Published at $5.00. Our Special
$2.49
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

To
The Daily Tar Heel
Congratulations
from
THE LITTLE SHOP

We Pledge Ourselves To:
Serving the Carolina students wholesome, good quality food that only Mother or Wife prepares. We are proud of our Grade "A" Health Rating and invite you to drop by for a delicious meal.
CAMPUS CAFE

Electrical Repairs
- Flourescent Lamps
- Desk Lamps
- Electric Razors
- And All Other Types of Electrical Repairs

Electric Construction Co.
169 East Franklin Street

SPRING
IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER!
Stock up now — on your Photography supplies — Don't let these pretty week-ends catch you without the necessary equipment for Spring "shots."
Open Sunday Afternoons
Foister's Camera Store

SPOT NEWS
Takes lots of know-how to do it right every time!
Our expert techniques remove stubborn spots and stains every time...make colors come alive again! And we have the know-how to clean those garments at lowest cost to you! Call us today.
NU-WAY CLEANERS
"We Mean — We Clean"

THE SPORT SHOP
has
MORE
Sport Coats Than Any Other Store!
You'll find more handsomely tailored, superbly designed Sport Coats at The Sport Shop than any other store. The Sport Shop is Sport Coat headquarters for these fine spring and summer beauties! Hurry in, select your Sport Coat Now!

SPECIAL FOR THIS WEEK ONLY
Imported Irish Linen
Contour Tailored
SLACKS $11.95
All New Shades Including Charcoal Grey.
BILLS MAILED HOME
THE Sport SHOP
N. COLUMBIA ST.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

DTH Begins Seventh Decade

(Continued from page 1)

A New Game

An interesting note appeared in an 1899 issue: ". . . interest has been excited recently at the introduction of basketball into our athletic sports. It promises to be an interesting game."

If the style of reporting has changed greatly in 60 years, subject matter has not. In an editorial of 1893, Editor-in-chief Baskerville raised a now-familiar point: "And they could be taught the rudiments of the game this Spring and save the coaches a wonderful lot of worry next fall."

The lack of school spirit was a favorite subject, of course, as was student conduct at athletic events. All was not criticism, though: we find this pregnant observation—"There is no college in the country with a higher moral tone, not even excepting Wake Forest." No sarcasm here.

By 1898 the paper had achieved such recognition that a copy was inclosed in the cornerstone of the Alumni Building during a ceremony at Commencement.

The Tar Heel was always interested in extending its subscription and advertising lists, often going to extremes. A front page story comparing very unfavorably the generosity of Chapel Hill merchants to their Durham counterparts was an example of such highly questionable tactics.

Good Years Ahead

1909 and 1910 were very good years for the paper, due to an enterprising staff. Dr. J. W. Lasley of the Mathematics Department was a member of that hustling group which put The Tar Heel on a temporary bi-weekly basis, and actually returned a profit. To top off a truly amazing year, we beat Virginia again and announced that fact to the world with a banner—in red ink this time — proclaiming that "Tar Heels Skin Sore Backs!"

This was, however, almost the last of the rainbow editions. The younger generation just didn't have the spirit of their precursors, or perhaps the Great War sobered youth in general—or maybe we just began to whip Virginia with some semblance of regularity at last and the novelty wore off.

All good things must come to an end, and in 1911 the paper reverted to a weekly status with this sad, but very understandable comment: "Facts are facts, and bills can't be paid every day."

The First World War seems to have had little adverse effect on the publication of the weekly sheet. The University boomed with training programs much as it did during the last struggle, and publication dates for The Tar Heel were a little less predictable—but then, in these early years those dates amounted to little more than a hopeful guess at best. No such such drastic cutbacks of publication were entailed as the last conflict forced upon the paper.

Familiar Format

During these war years, the practice of a large picture supplement published at Commencement was inaugurated. These supplements were very elaborate affairs, and marked the first extensive use of actual photographs in The Tar Heel. It was not until late in the twenties, however, that pictures began to make a regular appearance on the front and sport pages of each issue.

Drastic changes began to affect The Tar Heel in 1920—changes which, over a period of 10 years, were to give the paper substantially the form it has today. In July of that year a special issue of The Tar Heel announced that henceforth it would appear twice each week, on Wednesday and Saturday.

This new-look Tar Heel was to be four pages as usual, but the five columns were quickly increased to six and the size of the sheet to something closely resembling today's Daily Tar Heel.

"Boom" was sweeping the nation in the 1920's, and by 1923 Carolina's campus had fallen a prey to its heady influence. Millions were being poured into a vast building program which had just seen the completion of the Manning - Murphey - Saunders complex, many dormitories, Graham Memorial, and the Inn; Kenan Stadium and the Morehead-Patterson Bell Tower were not far in the future as the face of the campus began to take on the modern look it wears today.

So it was with the University's publications. In the Spring of 1923 the student body was voted into existence the Publications Union, much to the delight of the harried business managers of the various publications who saw with immense relief a steady income from student block fees presenting some sort of long-sought-for financial stability.

Boast By Inches

Thus it was after 30 years of faithful service as the servant and "Official Organ" of that ancient institution, the Athletic Association, that "The Tar Heel came of age.

The next to last step on the road toward becoming a daily was taken in 1925 when, with the proud boast that it was "in point of inches" the largest college paper in the South The Tar Heel went on a tri-weekly basis. Appearing every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, this immediate ancestor of The Daily Tar Heel was a flourishing six-column sheet with national advertising, a live front page, effective sports coverage and an enthusiastic outlook.

But it was in 1929 that The Tar Heel made the final drastic shift to daily publication, the first college in the South to do so. The move was engineered by Walter Spearman, now professor of journalism in the University. Except for a wartime break, The Daily Tar Heel has been operating on a five or six day a week schedule ever since.

War Hits Home

The storm of war that swept the world to the brink of catastrophy 15 years later almost proved fatal to the paper, too. "Staggered under an increasing loss of manpower . . .", The Daily Tar Heel went to war as did so much of Carolina. It was replaced by a weekly Tar Heel issued under joint Navy-University auspices.

Those war years were a time of trial even for a weekly. For the first time a woman became editor, and there were no less than four editors during one year.

The Navy would allow its V-12 students a mere four hours weekly for extracurricular activities, and every inch of newsprint was strictly rationed. Many were the dire prophecies voiced by the outgoing editors of the daily, but few of them had been realized when, scarcely three years later, in February of 1946, The Daily Tar Heel made its reappearance.

THE TAR HEEL.

VOL. I. UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, FEBRUARY 23, 1893. NO. 1.

The Tar Heel,
University of North Carolina.

EDITORS.

CHARLES BASKERVILLE,
WALTER MURPHY,
A. C. ELLIS,
W. P. WOOTEN,
PERRIN BUSBEE,
J. C. BIGGS,
A. H. MCFADYEN.

Editor in Chief
CHARLES BASKERVILLE,
Managing Editor,
WALTER MURPHY,
Business Manager,
A. H. MCFADYEN.

THURSDAY, February 23, 1893.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

Baptist Church.
REV. J. L. CARROLL, D. D.
Preaching every Sunday morning and night. Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night.

Presbyterian Church.
REV. J. E. FOGARTIE.
Preaching every Sunday, morning and night; except the first Sunday in each month. Sunday School at 10:30 a. m. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night.

Methodist Church.
REV. N. M. WATSON
Preaching every Sunday, morning and night. Sunday School at 10:30 a. m. Prayer meeting every Wednesday night.

Episcopal Church.
REV. FREDERIC TOWLES.
Sunday services at 7, 11 and 7 o'clock. Weekly services at 4 p. m. Friday. Sunday School 4 p. m. During Lent services daily at 4 p. m.

UNIVERSITY DIRECTORY.

University Choir.
PROF. KARL P. HARRINGTON, Leader.
Organists, J. A. MAXWELL and CHAS. ROBERSON.

UNIVERSITY MAGAZINE,
SIX TIMES A YEAR.
EDITORS.

Phi.	Di.
W. P. Wooten,	W. P. M. Carrie
J. E. Ingle, Jr.,	J. M. Cheek,
A. H. Koonce,	T. J. Wilson.

Business Manager,
Prof. Collier Cobb.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY.
DR. EBEN ALEXANDER, Librarian,
F. L. WILCOX Student Librarian.
Open every day except Sunday, from 11:30 to 1:30 and from 3 to 5. Open Sundays from 3 to 6 p. m.

University Reading Room
Open every day. Leading papers published in Union and State on file.

University Press Association.
H. A. Roudthaler, president,
Dr. B. Whitaker, Secretary.
Julian Ingle. Dr. B. Whitaker. H. A. Roudthaler, Walter Murphey, Executive Committee.

Object is to further the dissemenat of news relating to the University.
Meets at the call of the president.

University Athetic Association.
H. B. Shaw, president
J. L. Pugh, sec'y. and treas.
Meets regularly the second Saturday in September and January Other calls subject to the president

University Foot Ball Team.
Michael Hoke, captain,
Charles Baskerville, Manager.

University Base Ball Team.
Perrin Busbee, captain,
W. R. Kenon, manager.

University German Club.
J. C. Biggs, president,
C. B. Turner, sec'y. and treas.
Meets at the call of the president. Leader selected for each German.

University Glee Club.
E. Parson Willard, president and leader.
Charles Roberson, manager.
Prof. Karl P. Harrington, director.

Shakespere Club.
Dr. Thomas Hume, president,
J. M. Cheek, sec'y. and treas.
Meet in the Y. M. C. A. hall the third Tuesday night in each month. Library open one hour each day.

Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society.
Prof. J. A. Holmes, president,
Prof. J. W. Gore, vice president,
Dr. F. P. Venable, secretary and treasurer.
Meets in Person hall second Tuesday night in each month.
Journal issued twice a year.

Historical Society.
Dr. Kemp Battle, president and corresponding secretary.
H. M. Thompson, secretary and treasurer.
Meets at the call of the president

Philanthropic Society. (Secret)
Meets every Friday night in Phi. hall new east building.

Dialetic Society. (Secret)
Meets every Friday night and Saturday morning in Di. hall new west building.

The Order of Gim Ghoulds. (Secret)
Junior.
The society meets in February October. Banquet Thursday night of commencement.

Fraternities. (Secret)
Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Alpha, Zeta Psi Alpha Sau Amega, Sigma Nu, Phi Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta Sigma Phi. Beta Thata Pi Delta Kappa Epsilon, meet in their respective halls every Saturday night.

Y. M. C. A.
F. C. Harding, president,
George Stephens, secretary and treasurer,
R. E. Zachary, organist.
Meets four times a week in Y. M. C. A. hall. Members appointed to lead. Hand books issued every September.

Philological Society.
Dr. Eben Alexander, president.
Prof. Karl P. Harrington, secretary and treasurer,
Meets first Friday night in each month.

The Hellenian. (Annual)
Published by the Fraternities.

THE TAR HEEL.

A weekly paper published at the University of North Carolina, under the auspices of the University Athletic Association, devoted to the interest of the University at large.

Issued every Thursday morning. It will contain a summary of all occurrences in the University and village of Chapel Hill.

Space will be assigned for the thorough discussion of all points pertaining to the advancement and growth of the University.

A brief account each week of the occurrences in the amateur athletic world, with especial attention to our own athletic interests, and progress in Football, Baseball, Tennis, etc.

All society news, personals and every subject of interest both to the students and citizens of the village, will be treated each week.

The columns will be open to discussion on all appropriate subjects with an endeavor to do full justice to everyone. The chief and his assistants will decide as to appropriateness of articles—no anonumous articles will be accepted without authe. nam .sig known to the chief, which will be at confidence, if desired.

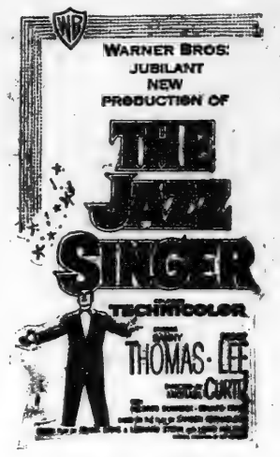
Advertisers will note that this is the best, quickest, and surest means by which they can reach the students. For notes see or write "Business Manager of TAR HEEL" Chapel Hill N. C, or drop him a card and he will call.

Subscription one Dollar and a half per session. This spring 75cts.

SALUTATORY.

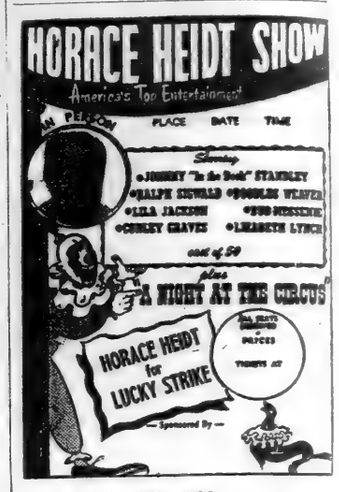
The growing demands of the University have shown the need of a weekly paper. The University Athletic Association regarding itself as the means by which such a need could be supplied, at a stated meeting elected a board of editors (chief and five subs.) and a business manager.

With this apology only, the first issue of the first volume of the TAR HEEL makes its appearance.



This new venture is necessarily entered upon by the present board with no little trepidation, nevertheless with a determination, to make a success which can only be done through the indulgence and assistance of our faculty and fellow-students. Therefore we invite honest criticism [illegible] aid in the advancement [illegible] new project will be th[illegible] preciated.

THE LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE VISIT THE UNIVERSITY.



The following members of the legislature composing the visitation committee arrived at the University on a special train Friday morning, February 3rd:

Messrs. Battle, chairman; Cheek Aycoke, James, Pou, of the senate; and Messrs. Holt (chairman) Buse, Parker, Starnes, Walker, Ward, of the house.

After breakfasting, the regular chapel exercises were attended, then visits were made to the reading room, libraries and various lecture rooms where classes were assembled. The numerous laboratories were inspected as well as some of the students' rooms. In the afternoon meetings of both the societies were held and the gentlemen who were not alumni were made honorary members. Just after prayers the boys called repeatedly for speeches from our visitors, a majority of whom responded most felicitously and gave words of encouragement for the future outlook of the university, from a legislative appropriation standpoint. All saw the need of a sufficient appropriation to fully equip, this the most useful and important of all the State [illegible] and give to a university of whose past brilliant record and whose future prospects are such as would make any State in the union proud to be the possessor of such an heritage to hand to posterity, a sufficient appropriation to put the university on a financial basis equal to its rapid expansion and growth. When some of the committee expressed their deep regret at not having had an opportunity of receiving an education, in their youth, we could not but feel that it was a duty that was owed to future generations, and which has been due to those that have passed away, that the supreme law making power in the State, ought to make tuition at the university free to North Carolinians as is done at the University of Virginia to Virginians and the only way to do this is to appropriate a sufficient amount to keep the university up, until resources from outside States and the technical courses shall make itself sustaining, and, too, we could not but think what a shame and loss it was to North Carolina, that it had failed, to open the doors of the university, in the past to such sterling manhood as represented the legislature on the committee. The body of the students were well pleased with our friends, if they are fair sample of our legislators this year. North Carolina is in good hands. They know the needs of the University.

Last Times Today
Carolina

Feb. 26, 8:00 p.m.
PRICES
$3.00 — $2.50
$2.00 — $1.50
$1.00
COLISEUM
STATE COLLEGE

We Proudly Offer You Chapel Hill's Largest Collection of 45 RPM Records
LATEST POPULAR HITS

TIME HONORED CLASSICALS
Lovers of first-class musical selections have learned to rely on the Carolina Sport Shop for the widest range of 45 RPM records available.
THE CAROLINA SPORT SHOP

For Flowers For Gifts
It's
UNIVERSITY FLORIST
Robbins Bldg.

COAL & FUEL OIL
HIGH QUALITY
STOKER and FURNACE COAL
GULF KEROSENE and FUEL OIL
Bennett & Blocksidge
105 E. Franklin
Phone 6161

ARE YOU HUNGRY?
DO YOU WANT A PLACE TO TAKE (WALK) YOUR DATE?
HOLD ON!
New University Restaurant
Opens Tomorrow
with
INTERNATIONAL MENU
CONTEMPORARY DECOR AND MUSIC
COOLEST ATMOSPHERE IN TOWN
UNUSUAL SNACKS
TRY IT! YOU WILL DIG THIS PLACE THE MOST FROM 9:00 a.m. to 12 Midnight

CONGRATULATIONS
For Sixty Years of Daily Tar Heel Success
Being a part of the Carolina campus life, we take this opportunity to wish all of you Daily Tar Heelers another million years of continued success.
DALE FAIRLESS SHOP
Open Fridays 7-9 p.m. Glen Lennox

AB'S GOT 'EM
* All-time classical favorites by the world's greatest artists
* The latest, bestest popular hits
* Children's Albums
* 33 1-3 — 45 — 78 — RPM's
OPEN 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Abernethy's
"Across From The Campus"

Our Dry Cleaning Service Is Making Front-Page News
Everybody knows that we have the neatest dry cleaning in Chapel Hill and everybody is pleased with our quick, efficient service.
Pick Up and Delivery Service
CAROLINA CLEANERS
310 W. Franklin St.
Phone 9-2741

CONGRATULATIONS
to
THE DAILY TAR HEEL
on their
60th ANNIVERSARY
wishing you continued success
THE TOWN & CAMPUS

We're Up In The Clouds Over Sanitone Cleaning
You too will be out of this world when you see how SANITONE preserves the appearance of your best suits and dresses. The University Cleaners is Chapel Hill's only dry cleaners that uses exclusive SANITONE.
For Expert Sanitone Cleaning, Call Us.
UNIVERSITY CLEANERS
Post Office Corner
Phone 4921

CLASSIFIEDS

HELP WANTED FEMALE 8A

CARRBORO BEAUTY SHOP—Two full time operators. Plenty of parking space. Reasonable prices. (1-c3471-4)

LOST

LOST FROM 215 PITTSBORO ST. triever. If found please call 9-2586. Large black puppy, a Laborador re- Reward. (1-3477-2)

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Fair and warmer. Today's high 58; yesterday's low, 32; yesterday's high, 55.

The Daily Tar Heel

3-D
Marilyn, Jane and Dagmar were made for the new medium. See why on page 4.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 101 CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1953 FOUR PAGES TODAY

Six-Day Week Is Here To Stay

UP To Choose President; Miller SP Veep Choice

Beats Lowet 5 Votes In Runoff; Forrester Secretary-Treasurer

Bob Gorham, Gross Hinted As Choices For Top Positions

By Louis Kraar

Baxter Miller last night barely won the Student Party's nomination for vice president after almost two hours of speeches by three other candidates.

Opposing Miller in the four-way race were Henry Lowet, Bill Brown and Wade Matthews. Unlike many of this year's party nominations, in which the nominees are well known before the official choosing, the race was open all the way. A runoff gave Miller 27 votes to Lowet's 22.

Gordon Forrester was picked to run for secretary-treasurer. He ran against Don Geiger who said after th erace, "I'm the happiest guy that's ever been defeated." Geiger went on to pledge his support to his opponent.

Miller declared in his bid for the nomination, "I'll try to take the Legislature back to the students I'll see to it that the students are informed about its activities through The Daily Tar Heel and other means of publicity."

"I will be fair," continued Miller. "I'll be as fair to the left side as to the right, to the UP as well as the SP." Miller is sergeant-at-arms in the Legisature, a member of the Inter-Dorm Council and has served on the Men's Honor Council. The vice-presidential candidate promised to give Legislative aid to the executive branch which would be headed by the SP's Ken Penegar if he wins.

Specifically, he said, "For instance I think that this thing (legislative aid) could have been done on the Saturday class deal."

Lowet's try for the veep's post was unique in using more speakers than any other candidate. Gerald Parker, John Ammons, Bill Acker and a half dozen others extolled Lowet.

In the original vote, Miller had Lowet 22 to 15. Brown and Matthews had four votes each; since neither of the top two had a majority, a runoff was necessary. Before the runoff vote was cast there were over 20 minutes more fo speeches by the same speakers who originally plunked for their candidates.

After his defeat, Brown said that rumors about a defeated candidates conspiracy to gain votes for a favorite were false. "I will leave the honor of voting up to you," he said.

Walt Gurley, the first speaker for Miller, said, "Baxter has fostered and maintained interest in dorms and dorm life. He has many friends. We can also be sure of a large coed vote."

Forrester, the secretary-treasurer choice, is a legislator, member of the wrestling team and was campaign coordinator for the SP last Fall.

Ed Starnes was chosen for the senior seat on the Publications Board. He is a former Daily Tar Heel sports reporter.

Next week the nominations will include editor of The Daily Tar Heel, two Publications Board seats and editor of the Yackety Yack.

The University Party will meet tonight to choose a presidential candidate—Bob Gorham or Ed Gross probably.

It is expected that the loser in the Gorham-Gross match for the presidential nomination will be the vice-presidential candidate. This selection will also be made tonight.

Nominations for secretary-treasurer, editor of The Daily Tar Heel and editor of the Yackety-Yack round out the agenda.

Gorham and Gross have been mentioned as the leading contenders for the top student government position since this fall. Both are long-time UP members.

Gorham, best known for his work as chairman of the orientation program, is a former legislator and member of the Phi Assembly. He is from Rocky Mount. Yesterday he had little comment to make on his position as a potential candidate. He did say that he was "thinking it over."

Gross, at present secretary-treasurer of the student body, also served in Legislature. He was chairman of the Finance Committee. Gross was president of the sophomore class and worked on the orientation program. He is from Harrisburg, Penn.

It is expected that the UP will endorse Rolfe Neill for Daily Tar Heel editor. Neill has been a staffer since his first quarter at the University and is now managing editor. No other candidates have been mentioned by either party, so it is generally believed that Neill will get the approval of both parties.

Yesterday leading party members hinted that Gorham would probably be the choice for president and Gross the second-spot choice. Jack Stilwell, UP floor leader in Legislature, has been prominently mentioned as the candidate for secretary - treausrer. Jerry Cook is also a potential candidate for the post.

UP officials would not commit themselves on their favorite for editor of the Yackety-Yack. However, a so-called dark-horse candi-

(See UP, page 4)

Confused? Answers Available

The deans of the various colleges will attempt to give students the answers about Saturday classes tomorrow.

All the colleges will have a meeting tomorrow at 3 o'clock, "to discuss the adjustment of programs of study to the semester plan, and especially to anticipate graduation probems." The deans emphasized that individual problems would be taken up with students.

Students concerned are excused from three o'clock class, laboratories and drill.

The assigned meeting places are: General College, Gerrard Hall; College of Arts and Sciences, Memorial Hall; School of Business Administration, 103 Bingham Hall; School of Journalism, 213 Saunders Hall; School of Education, 206 Phillips Hall.

Nash Speaks In Gerrard Hall Tonight At 8:30

"Can These Dry Bones Live?" is a good puzzling question. And there's a man who has the answer.

That's the subject chosen by Dr. Arnold S. Nash, James A. Gray professor of history of religion here, who will deliver the quarterly faculty lecture in the humanities in Gerrard Hall tonight at 8:30.

The lecture will present an analysis of the changing place of religion in the humanities from the Middle Ages to the present and will examine what can be done to restore religion to the central place it once had in humanistic studies.

Tonight's lecture is the second in this year's series of lectures by members of the humanities departments in the University. Students, faculty, and the public are invited.

One of the most active platform lecturers on the University faculty, Dr. Nash was invited to the United States from his native England in 1939 to lecture at Berkeley Divinity School and at Yale Divinity School.

Subsequently he lectured at many universities, including Nebraska, Michigan, Iowa, California, Prince-

(See NASH, page 4)

A RAGGED urchin assumes a Napoleonic stance in the streets of Seoul, Korea, as the wind and snow of winter swirl about him. There are thousands of these homeless orphans wandering about in Korea — their only source of food and clothing an occasional friendly soldier who'll share his rations and uniform.—NEA Telephoto.

NEWS IN BRIEF

NEW YORK — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky arrived here yesterday for today's meeting of the United Nations General Assembly and his first tussle with a new American administration which has pronounced itself "ready for the worst." The best guess among Western observers as to Vishinsky's intentions was that he would use President Eisenhower's de-neutralization of Formosa as a pretext for renewing charges of United States aggression against China.

★

NEW YORK — Bustling crowds streamed aboard ferryboats in Lower Manhattan today on their way to Washington, D. C. to seek clemency for atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. The hundreds of petitioners were traveling by ferryboat from Manhattan to Jersey City, N. J. to board a special 16-car train for the rest of the trip. The train seats 1,000. Members of the group said they will try to see President Eisenhower and members of Congress in pressing demands for commutation of the death sentence for the Rosenbergs.

Bribe Cry Raised In Jones Tiff

The Orange Presbytery's Judicial Commission has been charged with attempting to "bribe" the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church and with using extreme prejudice in its probe of the congregation's officers and pastor.

The charges were included in a strongly-worded statement issued to the press Saturday and carrying the endorsement of 14 of the church's 22 officers. Three others were out of town, and the remaining five were undecided, according to local church sources.

A number of church members have also signed the statement.

The "bribe" charge has as its basis an offer by the commission to help raise money for a finer building if the pastor was fired.

In Greensboro, Rev. Z. T. Piephoff chairman of the Judicial Commission, had no comment, adding that his commission would give no consideration to any statement made by the local group.

"The three papers we've given out is all that we've said," Piephoff asserted. "They were the report of the Judicial Commission, the report read to the congregation and the report given the presbytery. We haven't said anything further, yet," he added with emphasis.

The church statement further charges that seven members of the 10-man probe group were members of the Council of Presbytery which reportedly asked the Rev. Jones to resign last winter.

The statement is the first formal rebuttal by church officers and members since the commission told the Presbyterian Church pastor to quit or be fired.

Rev. Mr. Jones, who was told his convictions weren't close enough to Presbyterian doctrine, has declined the commission's demand that he resign but has conceded its authority to fire him. The commission has withheld all comment.

Free Films

Pi Delta Phi, French honorary fraternity, will present two films in French tonight at 8 o'clock in Swain Hall. They are "Defense de la paix" and "L'Universite du monde." Those interested are invited. The club will meet at 6 p.m. in the upper dining room of Lenoir for supper.

Gray Urges Vote For New System

By Rolfe Neill

RALEIGH, Feb. 23.—After an hour and 50 minutes of argument and repeated urging by President Gray, the Board of Trustees today ordered Saturday classes for the University at Chapel Hill. The vote was 46 to 28.

It was the last chance for opponents to stop the Saturday class snowball which began rolling in November when the Executive Committee ordered a six-day week for Chapel Hill. The measure becomes effective in September with a semester plan. It will not effect summer school.

Gray at the Executive Committee in November stated that "We do not recommend any change." Two weeks ago, however, he announced he would support the committee in its plan. Today he explained his present support of the committee as "in the best interests of the University."

He sent a letter to the Trustees in December, Gray said, saying it would be a "mistake" to consider the issue as "Saturday classes or no Saturday classes." "Saturday classes," he continued, "are only a narrow segment of the problem we face."

He defined the problem as one of undergraduate instruction and integration.

The student side of the question was presented by President Ham Horton. It took a suspension of the rules to allow Horton to speak and this was moved by Tom Pearsall of Rocky Mount, one of the staunchest supporters of Saturday classes.

Horton reviewed the "exodus" argument, that is that a number of students—estimated at from 35 to 50 percent—leave the campus every weekend to the detriment of their work. "The exodus is a manifestation of deeper causes," the student body president said. He reported the causes were being removed as soon as they could.

"The cure proposed (Saturday classes) is worse than the sickness," Horton said. Horton estimated that students caught in a change-over would spend $52,000 in an extra three months here. He computed this by 218 students (the estimated number immediately effected) by $80 a month living expenses for three months. The monthly figure included in-state-tuition.

Going further into figures, Horton said under the semester plan professors would have one third more students and one third more papers to grade. Also, he added, class recitations under the quarter plan number 50 while in the semester setup only 45 are given.

Concluding, Horton said, "We students and our faculty have done all we can. . . . We hope you won't ignore us. . . . We are determined to accept your decision in good grace. It's up to you."

Horton got a big applause from the Trustees and Gray subsequently lauded the student president's speech as a "forceful, intelligent approach."

Gray later said of Horton's speech: "My impression was confirmed by many comments made to me by Trustees after the meeting that Ham Horton made a splendid appearance. . . . In my judgment the students' point of view could not have been better presented."

Gray declared the administration "is cognizant" of the hardships the change would exact on students who have to work for expenses. However, the working students would have time under the semester although it might not be as "appropriate" in arrangement, Gray commented.

Gray had good news for students who would feel a financial pinch in the impending change. "It's fair to say we're working on a plan to see that no undue hardships are imposed," he said.

John W. Umstead of Chapel Hill brought up the Saturday class question when the Trustees session opened promptly at 11 a.m. in the hall of the House.

The presiding officer asked if the Trustees wanted to approve the minutes of the last board meeting and Umstead jumped up to say, "Feeling as I do about one recommendation in those minutes . . . in all good conscience. . . ."

But the chairman cut him off. Umstead was "premature" as Mark Lassiter of Snow Hill later expressed it. Umstead made it plain that "when the time comes on this Saturday class thing—and I'm not sure when it is—I want to say something."

He got his chance in a short while when the minutes of the last Executive Committee were put up for approval. It was at this point that under parliamentary law Umstead could state his case. Umstead had three points:

"The student isn't to blame for leaving the Hill on the weekend . . . it's the fathers and mothers back home who give them the automobiles. (The Visiting Committee has recommended that student automobiles be limited.)

"There are students who stay on the Hill and study during the weekend. . . .

"And thirdly, there are boys who can't go to school unless they work."

Umstead is a brother of the governor and a legislator from Orange County. He was the first Trustee to come to the aid of students when the Executive Committee took its action. He also is on the Executive Committee.

James C. Pittman of Sanford, another Trustee-legislator, also spoke out for continuation of the five-day quarter system. He made a motion to rescind the Saturday class order but it never came up for debate since the substitute by Pearsall was voted on first.

Pearsall spoke in behalf of the Executive Committee, offering four points for Saturday classes:

"To be truly a consolidated university we ought to have similar situations at them all," he said as he pointed out how such a plan would facilitate inter-institutional transfers.

His second point concerned appropriations. "We have to ask the General Assembly for millions and millions of dollars. . . . We ought to be able to say we're using the facilities to the maximum degree. . . . We think they (Chapel Hill) aren't."

"What's good for State and WC is good for Chapel Hill," was Pearsall's third plea. He added that 34 or 37 members in the Association of American Universities have Saturday classes.

The fourth point made by Pearsall was hammered on by several of the Trustees, including Victor Bryant of Durham, another leading six-day protagonist.

"It was not our intention," Pearsall said, "that this action be disciplinary toward students at Chapel Hill. On the contrary we felt they are being denied something."

Pearsall did not say what he meant by "something" but Bryant later listed several things the committee had in mind. Bull sessions, faculty contact and more work with the democratic processes were some of the things to be gained at Chapel Hill over the weekend in addition to studying, Bryant asserted.

Lassiter spoke after Pearsall and said it was the first time he had ever heard a minority report of the Executive Committee

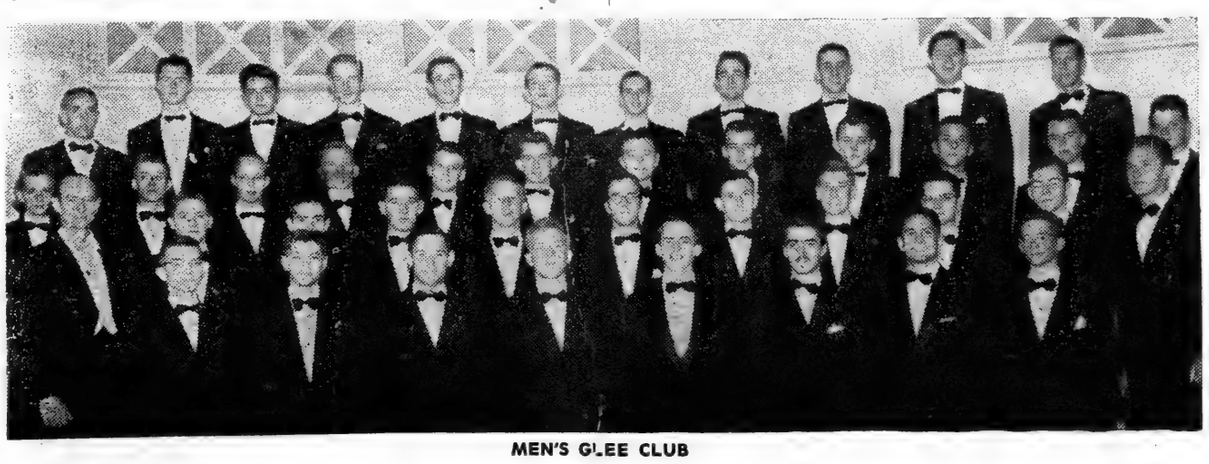
(See TRUSTEES BACK, page 4)

No Classes for 40 Students

Glee Club Makes Tour This Week

The Men's Glee Club of the University, under the direction of Prof. Joel Carter, will make its first tour in several years of a number of North Carolina cities today through Sunday.

During the week-long tour, the Club will appear in Wilson today (broadcasting from the radio station and giving a concert in the high school, respectively); Scotland Neck tomorrow afternoon, and Enfield tomorrow night; Nashville Thursday afternoon, and Elizabeth City Thursday night.



New Bern Friday night; Fort Bragg Saturday night; Fayetteville First Baptist Church Sunday morning; Veterans Hospital, Fayetteville Sunday afternoon and Southern Pines Sunday night, March 1.

Approximately 40 students of the Glee Club will make the tour, and in April they will sing in a number of communities in western North Carolina.

Eddie Hickman, Enfield, is president of the Club this year. Other officers are Tommy Sibly, Albemarle, vice-president; Robert Kirkpatrick, Charlotte, secretary, and Bill Chance, Norfok, Va., business manager. Club members serving as accompanists include Tommy Sibly, George Thomas of Carthage, and Hunter Tillman, Roxboro.

William Whitesides, graduate assistant in voice from Glenwood, is in charge of the Glee Club octet. A 1951 graduate of the University, he is tenor soloist at the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church, a member of the Chapel Hill Choral Club, and has appeared in various Carolina Playmaker productions, his latest role being the romantic lead in Gilbert and Sullivan's "Princess Ida."

The tour program will include selections from Bach, Beethoven, Wagner, Weber and will feature "The Testament of Freedom," a setting to music by Randall Thompson of four passages from the writings of Thomas Jefferson. The Club will also sing a group of American folk tunes.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

3 New BA Buildings Named By Trustee Board

The three new business administration buildings were named yesterday by the Trustees of the University.

The central building is named for D. D. Carroll, former dean of what was then the Commerce School. The south building is named for O. Max Gardner, a former governor. The north building is named Haynes Hall after the Haynes family, prominent University benefactors.

The names wer chosen by the Trustee Committee on Naming Buildings at Chapel Hill and approved by the full board.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Slough
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter
Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Adv. Mgrs. Charles Collins, Charles Haskett
Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Sally Schindel, Jess Nettles, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Ellen Downs, Tom Neal Jr.

SPORTS STAFF—Vardy Buckalew, Paul Cheney, Melvin Lang, Everett Parker, John Hussey, Sherwood Smith, Al Long, Dick Crouch, Benny Stewart, Wilbur Jones.

EDITORIAL STAFF—A. Z. F. Wood Jr., John Gibson, Dorman Cordell, Dan Duke, Curt Ratledge, Don Thornton.

ADVERTISING STAFF—Pete Adams, Bob Mason, Bob Wolfe, Eleanor Saunders, Buddy Harper, Dorman Cordell, Ned Whitmore.

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT — Roger Williams, Richard O'Neal, George Harris, Veneta Zeller.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Cornell Wright, Ruffin Woody, Bill Stonestreet.

Night Editor for this issue: Rolfe Neill

Try, Try, Again

If the University Party didn't try to secure better dorm interest each year about this time, we would be sorely disappointed.

The UP maneuver, sometimes sincere, oftimes whimsical, but everpresent, shows up obvious sensitivity towards the "fraternity party" label, attached to it each election. The UP actually can be the most representative of the two parties on campus. Practically all the fraternities and sororities send a representative to meetings. The steering committee, composed of these representatives plus any other representatives of groups of 25 students or more (dormitories, for instance) govern the party.

The Student Party works on an individual basis. Each member has an active voice. The SP may only represent 60 students. It tries to make up for this deficiency by an almost excessive amount of legwork each election, stirring up interest and activity. The UP, on the other hand, because of its guaranteed "bloc" never much bothers about elections unless they really want to win, whereupon they notify the houses that "fraternities will be abolished" if the SP takes over, or some candidate wins. And so the cycle goes.

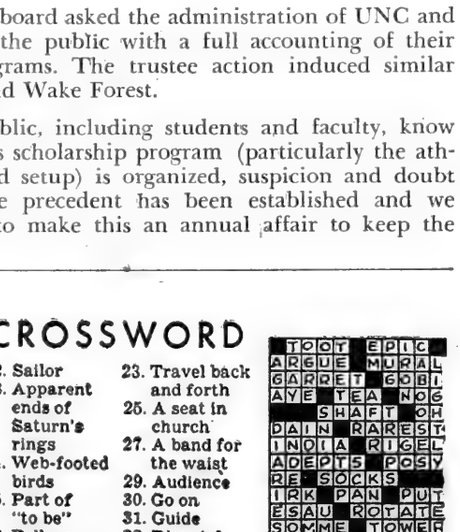
The UP's latest gesture, a reemphasis of the 25-students-send-a-representative policy is sound and may strengthen the party as well as enliven campus politics. The reason the yearly effort has failed is because students, particularly dorm men, don't give a hoot about party politics.

If the UP dorm scheme works, then the Student Party should wake up to the fact that some method must be found to obtain stronger party organization and greater representation. The fact that the UP controls the executive branch of student government for the first time in several years gives added weight to their push for the dorm vote.

Hat s Off To Trustees

Today we want to commend the Trustees. Tomorrow in this column, we will criticize vehemently what went in Raleigh yesterday.

Last year, the board asked the administration of UNC and State to provide the public with a full accounting of their scholarshhip programs. The trustee action induced similar moves at Duke and Wake Forest.



When the public, including students and faculty, know how their school's scholarship program (particularly the athletic grants in aid setup) is organized, suspicion and doubt evaporate. A fine precedent has been established and we urge our board to make this an annual affair to keep the public informed.

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Male deer
5. Native of Arabia
9. Hair on horse's neck
10. Burrowing animal
11. Pocketbooks
13. —— breve (music)
15. King of Bashan
16. Starlike
18. Self
20. Ever (poet.)
21. Spread grass to dry
22. Slide
24. Small explosion
26. Shouts
28. Percolates
32. Sweet potato
34. Skin tumor
35. Beast of burden
38. Droop in the middle
40. Spawn of fish
41. Swaddling
44. Cerium (sym.)
45. The Surinam toad
46. Bigger
48. Harbor
50. Prong
51. Sea eagle
52. Round-headed nail

DOWN
1. Import or export secretly
2. Sailor
3. Apparent ends of Saturn's rings
4. Web-footed birds
5. Part of "to be"
6. Bellow
7. Apportion
8. Misrepresent
11. Poetry collectively
12. Stair
14. Affix
17. God of love
19. Lubricate
23. Travel back and forth
25. A seat in church
27. A band for the waist
29. Audience
30. Go on
31. Guide
33. Dispatch, as a letter
35. Viper
36. Steal (slang)
37. Flavor
39. Insects
42. Mountain lake
43. Courage (slang)
47. Antelope (So. Afr.)
49. Tellurium (sym.)

Yesterday's Answer

English Club

Of Visiting

Visiting, for the visitor, is often a trial, for the visited often a burden. He that visiteth before he hath given some prevention goeth to torment and not to visit. It is most true of visiting that the ancient farmer hath said of haying: "The time to cut hay is in hayin' time." It is the proper sign of the worthy and thoughtful visitor that he chooseth not the hour before the meal, nor the day before the great party; whereby he may be ill received, unless he chooseth the moment when he may receive the greatest attention and give the least discomfort.

It is indeed a strange thing that in visits where great numbers of people assemble and where is nothing to be heard but idle talk, men should strive to make the greatest show; but in intimate visits, where there is much to be gained, men should put forth little effort; as if noise and confusion were more profitable than quiet and serenity. Let intimate visits, therefore, be more the fashion. As Thoreau saith, "One for solitude, two for friendship, three for society." Reduce the number of persons and observe wherein and how the success of a visit increases.

Seek to make sufficient room for "The big thoughts in big words" that visitors may freely express themselves; but be not too remote. Preserve the right of thy visitor to seek his own course, that he may be most natural, but place not the entire burden on him; and rather set food befeore him than let him starve for want of meat. As for entertainment, think it more hospitable to suggest in general than to ask in particular; preserve the right to direct but be not too positive, for ill feelings come of peremptoriness. Embrace and invite suggestions and expressions of preference; and do not put off such as contradict thy preference, but accept them in good part. As Emerson saith, "The foolish have no range in their scale, but suppose every man is as every other man."

If you will have a guest to enjoy his visit and to wish your conversation, this you must do: give him some say into the choice of diversions; provide him with some form of enteratinment as best suiteth his humour. And let it appear that he hath given thee great pleasure, but rather for his presence than for his pending departure.

Yr Mst Obt, Hmbl & Dvtd Srvt,
THEOPHRASTUS.

Louis Kraar

Party Line

University Party leaders had their heads together this week.

Tonight the result of that union of heads will come out as the UP chooses their man for president.

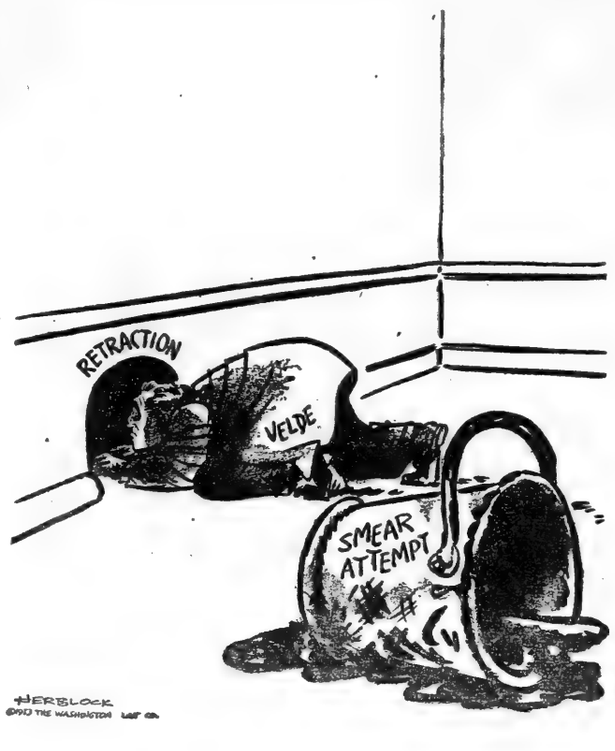
Bob Gorham, this year's Orientation chairman, and Eddie Gross, secretary-treasurer are the favorites.

Bob, a soft-spoken fellow who doesn't haunt Graham Memorial like many of his contemporaries, reportedly has gotten cold feet. His hesitation is due to one thing —he realizes the bigness of the job. Yesterday his answer was, "I'm thinking it over." And that's just what he is doing. He's the kind of guy who knows what a job the presidency is.

Meeting Gorham by chance weeks ago in President Horton's office, this reporter asked him if he was going to run. Bob smiled and said that he really hadn't thought about it. Asked if he would object to running if nominated, he smiled again and good naturedly said, "Gosh, I don't know any political answers." And he doesn't.

Eddie Gross, the boy with the budget this year, will probably come out of the race with the vice-presidential nomination. Like Gorham, he is a member of the Grail. He served as president of the sophomore class, was in legislature, and worked with orientation.

Gross is a little more in on the inside workings of the party. His handling of the budget and experience as Finance Committee Chairman in Legislature add to his qualifications.



Jack Stilwell, floor leader for UP now, is likely to get the nod for secretary-treasurer. There has never been a smoother speaker in Legislature than Jack or a quicker thinker on his feet. He's got vote appeal, and experience.

OTHER SIDE OF THE FENCE: Ken Penegar, the Student Party's favorite for president, started his campaign last week with a very appropriate suggestion. Present the issues and skip the slogans —that's what it boiled down to, and it sounds like a good idea.

POST MORTEM: Saturday classes. But student government made an honest try. Every trustee that walked into the meeting in Raleigh yesterday had a copy of the case against Saturday classes. They read it. Student government put it in their hands. As Phinn Horton, who co-ordinated the fight against the sixth day said, "If only a few more had seen their Trustees."

POUNDING THE BEAT: UP talking about a "dark-horse" for Yack editor . . . the life that returned to Legislature with the return of Sol Cherry (UP) and Gene Cook (SP) . . . and when will the Trustees want Sunday classes?

"Oops"

John Taylor

Limelight

Beginning today Chapel Hill will get a chance to see the movie that should win the Academy Award—but won't. The film is "Limelight" and it will be at the Varsity through Tuesday.

Because of the political deviations shown by Charlie Chaplin, who starred in, produced, directed, choreographed, and composed the music for this masterpiece, and the resulting ruckus staged by the American Legion among others, neither Chaplin nor the film has even been nominated for the coveted Oscar. This is a great shame and a grievous mistake, because despite Chaplin's mistaken political views and his sordid private life, the work itself is magnificent and should be judged on its own merits.

The movie depicts in essence the passing from the limelight of an aged clown to make way for a talented, young ballerina. Simple as the theme is, it provides Chaplin with a tour-de-force in each of his capacities connected with the film. The fact that he has succeeded admirably in each of these fields is perhaps the main virtue of the movie. For since one man had charge of every aspect of the production and fulfilled each of his duties well, it gives the film an overall artistic unity, instead of being the work of a group of heterogeneous individuals.

"Limelight" has everything that an audience could expect. It is a mixture of true pathos in its rendering of the gentle love of the ballerina for the clown and of the latter's utter dejection at seeing the end of his great career. It contains many of Chaplin's finest comedy routines sprinkled throughout to relieve the tension. There is fine dancing by Andre Eglevsky and Melissa Hayden in the "Harlequin" ballet, which choreographically speaking is the only weak spot in the production.

And above all it has fine acting. Chaplin is superb as Calvaro, the clown .His is a well-rounded characterization, showing with deft stokes of delineation the selfless nobility of the clown as he nurses the ballerina, an attempted suicide, back to a longing for life, the wistful sadness of Calvaro in his moments of defeat, and the dignity of the clown's death scene. It is a job well done and one that though it does not receive any awards, deserves the gratitude of his audience.

Though this is primarily a one-man show, it present American audiences with the opportunity of seeing Claire Bloom, one of Britain's most promising young actresses. In the difficult co-starring role of the dancer, Miss Bloom gives a completely genuine and endearing performance. Here is a young lady with a face, a figure, and most important of all, a tremendous talent. She is moving all through the film and in the scene in which, though supposing that she is a cripple, she leaps to her feet and declares to Calvaro that he is not a failure, then realizing that she has walked, screams hysterically and incredulously, "I can walk I can walk!" she is altogether magnificent.

In supporting roles Chaplin's son Sydney as the love interest, Buster Keaton as a vaudevillian, and Marjorie Bennett as a landlady all contribute lively performances.

A. Z. F. Wood, Jr.

The Prime Insult

If sometime you are possessed by an overbearing animosity toward a particular person, if he has offended you, insulted you, scorned you, or has written a particularly bad column, there are three most effective means of of gaining revenge, revenge that will not only fix him good, but will leave you with a feeling of satisfaction. The first means is to simply ignore him, completely and blandly, as if he didn't even exist. The second is to tell him that he is very dull, that you find it hard to stay awake when he is around. And the third, and I think most effective and cruel, is to tell him that he smells bad. This third means of gaining revenge should be used only in the most extreme cases. For revenge purposes, it is closely akin to homicide, and if you ever want to be on amicable terms with your victim again, you'd best use method one or two.

And it doesn't make any difference which part of his anatomy you choose to insult. Whether it's athlete's feet, B. O., or halitosis, your victim is equally vulnerable.

Cosmetics manufacturers, pharmacists, and advertisers have been making billions of dollars every year because they have capitlaized on the fact that nobody, man or woman, young or old, likes to smell like a human being.

Colgate toothpaste, for example, is one of the largest selling, and all it's advertisements are aimed at bating unpleasing breath. Tooth decay is also mentioned, but the Colgate manufacturers are well aware of the fact that people are unconcerned about decay if all it means is that their teeth will fall out and maybe they'll die. They are only concerned with the fact that decay can lead to unpleasing breath, and thus in the advertisements stopping tooth decay takes a back seat.

Lifebuoy, another large seller, points all its advertisement toward the stopping of B.O. (which so cleverly stands for "body odor.") The advertisements don't say anything about whether the soap gets you clean or not, for it really doesn't matter, so long as you smell clean and fresh as the morning dew.

And then if you'll turn the page of the magazine, you'll find the Mum corporation admonishing you that soap only stops present perspiration. To stay fresh for hours and hours, you must use Mum. If you will use Mum religiously, it is guaranteed that you will not smell anything like a human being. They don't tell you just what you will smell like, but their advertisements have pictures of exotic looking flowers and Goddess-like women, and it would be safe to say that the American people, being so imaginative, would easily get the idea that whatever Mum makes you smell like is certainly a good thing.

Thus with hundreds of other lotions, creams, and powders. Every time you turn around, there's another cosmetic on the market, and you don't see any of them going broke either. Not even a twenty per cent luxury tax can hurt the cosmetic manufacturers.

So you have a very formidable weapon in the words "smell bad." And you can put it any way you like: "Your body odor offends my olefactory nerve," or, "When was the last time you had a bath?" or just plain "You stink!" The wording is of no consequence. Just the idea will make an enemy for life; so use your weapon with care.

Norman Jarrard

Food, Sex, and Mind

Today we have food, sex, and something for the mind.

Food is represented by "The Southern Cook Book" (Pocket Book, 414 pp., 35c), compiled by Marion Brown. Many who read this will know that it was originally published by the University of North Carolina Press in 1951 ($4.50). It includes just about all of the "standard" Southern recipes, which actually doesn't amount to a great many. Most of the recipes come from private individuals and were not widely used until published in this form, although most of them are authentically Southern. We find something on poke salad, corn pone, hush puppies, and chitlins. There are also a lot of highfalutin things like Cafe Brulot, which is Southern by way of France and Louisiana. I was glad to find a good recipe for roast possum (my pardon to Pogo) because nothing is better on a cold winter day if it is fixed right—but nothing worse if bungled.

I would have liked to see more things from the truly rural districts of the South. I missed (or couldn't find them in the index) such dishes as liver'n lights, dandelion salad, hoecake, fried turtle, picked beans, leather britches (dried green beans), and catfish. Catfish particularly. You wouldn't think anything so ugly could taste so good. When it is taken out of the cleaner streams you get a meat that is whiter than that of any other fish I know.

Henry Clay's recipe for mint julep I quote from "The Southern Cook Book" without comment: "The mint leaves, fresh and tender, should be pressed against the goblet with the back of a silver spoon. Only bruise the leaves gently and then remove them from the goblet. Half fill with cracked ice. Mellow Bourbon, aged in oaken barrels, is poured from the jigger and allowed to slide slowly through the cracked ice. In another receptacle, granulated sugar is slowly mixed into chilled limestone water to make a silvery mixture as smooth as some rare Egyptian oil, then poured on top of the ice. While beads of moisture gather on the burnished exterior of the silver goblet, garnish the brim of the goblet with choicest sprigs of mint."

The best thing about this cook book. It doesn't duplicate recipes that you already have.

Another book that I promised is "The Sex Habits of American Women," by Dr. Fritz Wittels (Eton, 35c). If you don't want to read all of it, you can look at the thirty-eight self-explaining graphs which are provided by Herbert C. Rosenthal.

Last, but thickest (628 pp., Avon, 50c), the "Avon Webster English Dictionary and Pocket Library of Encyclopedic Information. The dictionary part is old but handy to have around as a spare.

Sedgman, Segura Win Tennis Match Here

Tar Heel Sports

By Tom Peacock

The Eighteenth Running

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE INDOOR GAMES, probably the most colorful athletic show staged in Chapel Hill, will unfold as smoothly as ever for the 18th time in Woollen Gym this Saturday afternoon and evening. There are hundreds of people in the East who make it a point never to miss the Indoor Games, and the event wins more friends every year.

Few of those hundreds of people know what goes on for months before the Games to bring them some of the best track and field talent in the country for 75 cents or a buck-and-a-half. The whole operation is a closely knit little affair, considering dozens of people and departments have a hand in its completion.

Ever since 1930 when the first Indoor Games were staged in the Tin Can, they were R. A. (Coach Bob) Fetzer's baby. Coach Bob, as Athletic Director and track coach, was the key man in the last 17 games and the six "Invitation Meets" held during the war years. He retired last spring from his office in Woollen Gym, however, and took a post as executive secretary of the Morehead Scholarship Foundation. Coach Dale Ranson, Fetzer's long-time assistant and Carolina's new head track coach, and Vernon Crook, the Athletic Association's treasurer and ticket office boss, prepared to direct the games for the first time without R. A. Fetzer.

Still Boss

COACH BOB GOT THE FEELING as Indoor Games time came around, though, and he agreed to relieve a lot of weary minds by taking over the coordination of the show for the 18th time. With a sigh of relief the Woollen Gym officials said "here," gave him the job and a new title—Meet Director. Since this is the very busiest time for the Scholarship Foundation because of the eminent appointment of money winners, Coach Bob is staying fairly well in the background until the day of the meet, when he will take complete charge and let Coach Dale give all his effort to the team.

In addition to Coach Bob, there are quite a few other reasons why this year's Games are among the biggest and best ever staged. Wallace Wade, the old Duke football coach and present Athletic Director of the Southern Conference, wrote a letter to all the Conference schools praising the Indoor Games and urging thier cooperation. Wade considers the Games to be one of the most effective diplomatic and publicity-gaining vents in the Conference.

Plenty of Problems

FETZER AND HIS HELPERS have gathered some of the best officials available to insure smooth sailing during the meet, which is nearly continuous all through the day and until 9:30 o'clock at night. Regular attenders of the Games delight in watching a super efficient, tall, dignified and graying gentleman perform as the starter. He is Frank M. Dobson, who has coached in the Conference for years and is a regular fixture as the Indoor Games starter. He, too, is giving up time from his Carlyle, Ind. home to help out.

The size of the Games is gigantic, one of the biggest ever staged. Over 400 athletes and coaches from approximately 42 schools are expected to participate—creating quite a housing problem in Chapel Hill that weekend. Twelve Conference schools, including Duke Maryland, West Virginia, and South Carolina will battle for the Southern Conference Indoor Championship. Twelve more outstanding non-Conference schools complete the college representation, and 18 high schools from three states round out the meet.

High-Powered Caliber

BUT THE MOST ATTRACTIVE part of this year's Games is the caliber of the talent. Next Saturday could be sort of a long range preview of the 1956 Olympics. Coach Ranson says, "Pick out any event in the meet, and you will find anywhere from two to four really outstanding competitors. I can't remember the Indoor Games ever having so much talent in such large amounts." In the shot-put alone there are six contestants who could easily establish a new Conference record. Joel Shankle of Duke, just a sophomore, is heralded as the man to make the Southern Conference forget Bill Albans. Shankle high-jumps, pole-vaults, broad-jumps, runs, and hurdles. Last year as a freshman he put Duke in second place with his points.

A lot of people think that watching Papa Hall of the University of Florida high-jump is worth the price of a ticket. Hall jumped six feet, eight inches in the AAU games in Boston, but could only place second because Ken Weisner, a Navy dentist, was establishing a new AAU record of six-nine and one-half. This is Hall's third appearance in the Indoor Games, and he improves with every jump.

Well, for whatever reason you go—I knew one fellow who spent the whole time counting the number of times the track was dismantled and replaced—be sure and go to the Southern Conference Indoor Games.

3,500 Watch World Champs In Woollen

By Vardy Buckalew

Woollen Gym's basketball floor became a tennis court last night and the crowd of approximately 3,500 couldn't have seen better tennis had they been at the center court at Wimbledon.

In the feature match Frank Sedgman took a one-match lead in his series with Jack Kramer by beating him 4-6, 6-2, 6-0.

In the other singles match of the World's Tennis Championship, Pancho Segura, the two-handed player from Ecuador, took the measure of Ken McGregor in straight sets, 7-5, 6-4. It was Segura's 26th win in the series against eight victories for the Australian McGregor.

The Kramer-Sedgman match was just about what one would expect to see in a contest between the two best tennis players in the world. At first, Kramer had the upper hand and appeared to be the better player. Then Kramer's service left him and he could do nothing right, and after the third set, one would have a hard time convincing anyone who saw it that Sedgman was not the better player.

The match was one of booming serves, perfect placements and beautiful passing shots, with first one and then the other player making his opponent look bad.

The match between McGregor and Segura was a real crowd pleaser because of the pigeon-toed Segura's unique two-fisted forehand. That shot often is called the most dangerous in tennis, and time and again McGregor was unable to return it.

McGregor's booming serves also drew some ohs and ahs from the crowd, and when the service was hitting right McGregor was almost unbeatable. Segura was the superior player, however, because he made fewer mistakes.

The turning point in the Kramer-Sedgeman match was in the second set when Kramer began to have

(See TENNIS, page 5-

TENNIS TRAVELERS FRANK SEDGMAN AND JACK KRAMER
. . . Segura defeats Kramer

Freshman Swimmers Triumph Easily Over Virginia, 50-25

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 23 (Special)—The freshman team from the University of North Carolina doubled the score on Virginia here today, 50-25, to finish its dual meet season undefeated.

Jim Fisher of the Baby Cavaliers was the top point man of the day but the depth of the Carolina team was too much for the Virginians.

The summaries:

50-yard freestyle — 1. Fisher (Va.); 2. Veazey (UNC); 3. Smith (UNC). Time: 26.9.

100-yard breaststroke — 1. McAllister (UNC); 2. Hardin (UNC); 3. Lipert (Va). Time: 1:09.7.

150-yard individual medley — 1. Boyd (UNC); 2. Anderson .Va.); 3. Hester (UNC). Time: 1:55.7.

Diving — 1. Hussey (UNC); 2. Anderson (Va.); 3. Martin (Va.).

200-yard freestyle — 1. Foulk (Va.); 2. Tice (UNC); 3. Michael. Time: 2:10.5.

100-yard back stroke — 1. Dieffenbach (UNC); 2. Woltz (UNC); 3. Coleman (Va.). Time: 1:04.9.

100-yard freestyle — 1. Fisher (Va.); 2. Owen (UNC); 3. Holmes (UNC). Time: 1:04.

150-yard meddley relay — 1. UNC (Cook, Huntington, Davis). Time: 1:30.

200-yard freestyle relay — 1. UNC (Dannenbaum, Parks, Baker, Eldridge). Time: 1:41.3.

Frosh Camp

A series of planning and training session for next Fall's Freshman Camp will begin tonight at 7 o'clock on the second floor of the Y. Those interested are invited.

Rifle Team Takes Title

The Naval ROTC rifle team won its second major match of the year by defeating four other schools to take the championship for the Sixth Naval District.

UNC scored 7318 of a possible 8000 points to completely outclass its nearest competitor, Georgia Tech. The 10 man team was awarded medals and will represent the Sixth Naval District in the national match.

Duke finished fourth in the tourney.

MURALS

Today's Basketball

4:00—Court 3, DKE-2 vs. ATO-3.
5:00—Court 3, Phi Kap Sig-1 vs. Sig Chi-1.
7:00—Court 3, Med Sch-4 vs. Winston-1; Court 4, Cobb-3 vs. Emerson-1.
8:00—Court 3, Winston-2 vs. Med Sch-3; Court 4, Vic Vill vs. Emerson-1.

Today's Soccer

4:00—Field 1, Chi Phi vs. Phi Gam-2; Field 2, Pi Lamb vs. Lamb Chi-2; Field 3, Chi Psi-3 vs. Zete-1.
5:00—Field 1, PiKA-3 vs. Kap Sig; Field 2, Phi Kap Sig-1 vs. Phi Gam-1; Field 3, Lamb Chi-1 vs. Phi Kap Sig-2; Field 4 ATO-1 vs. Sig Chi-2.

Today's Table Tennis

4:00—Sig Nu-1 vs. Kap Sig-1.
4:30—PiKA-1 vs. Sig Nu-2.
5:00—Zete-1 vs. SPE-3.
5:30—Chi Phi-1 vs. ATO-3.

DANZIGER'S

TODAY'S MENU

HOMEMADE POTATO SOUP $ .20
MR. "D"S FAMOUS ONION SOUP .30

SPECIAL STUDENT PLATES

MEXICAN CHILI CON CARNE with spaghetti and salad $ .50
Spanish RICE with mushroom sauce .50

ROAST OF PORK with hashed brown potatoes, vegetable $ .90
BARBECUED CHICKEN with hashed brown potatoes, vegetable .90
ALL BEEF FRANKS with sauerkraut or Boston baked beans, potatoes .85
CHOPPED STEAK with vegetables and potatoes .95
CHEESE OMELET with vegetable .65

. . . your choice served with bread, butter and salad

The Recollections of

Alexis de Tocqueville

Statesman and political philosopher, de Tocqueville has left us the astonishing inside story of France and the Revolution of 1848.

Another Intimate Bookshop Bargain At

$1.25

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. Franklin St.

Open Evenings

WARNER BROS. PRESENT

BURT LANCASTER in The Crimson Pirate

COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR

WITH NICK CRAVAT • ROLAND KIBBEE • DIRECTED BY HAROLD HECHT • PRODUCED BY ROBERT SIODMAK • A NORMA PRODUCTION • DISTRIBUTED BY WARNER BROS.

Carolina

NOW PLAYING

Swimmers Swamp Virginia To End Season Undefeated

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 23 (Special)—Carolina's varsity swimming team ended its dual meet season undefeated here this afternoon by topping the University of Virginia, 53-31.

Donnie Evans turned in the best effort for the all-conquering Tar Heels by setting a new pool record of 1:35 in the 150-yard individual medley.

The Carolina team won every first place except the diving where Joe Kelso was edged by Virginia's Tom Edwards by a single point.

In addition to setting the new pool record in the individual medley, Evans also won the 200-yard breaststroke. Buddy Heins also turned in a double win, taking the 50 and 100-yard freestyles.

The summaries:

300-yard medley relay. 1. UNC (Linker, Wolfe, and Baarcke). Time: 3:07.3.

220-yard freestyle — 1. Gill (UNC); 2. Lowe (Va.-; 3. Ware (Va.). Time: 2:26.

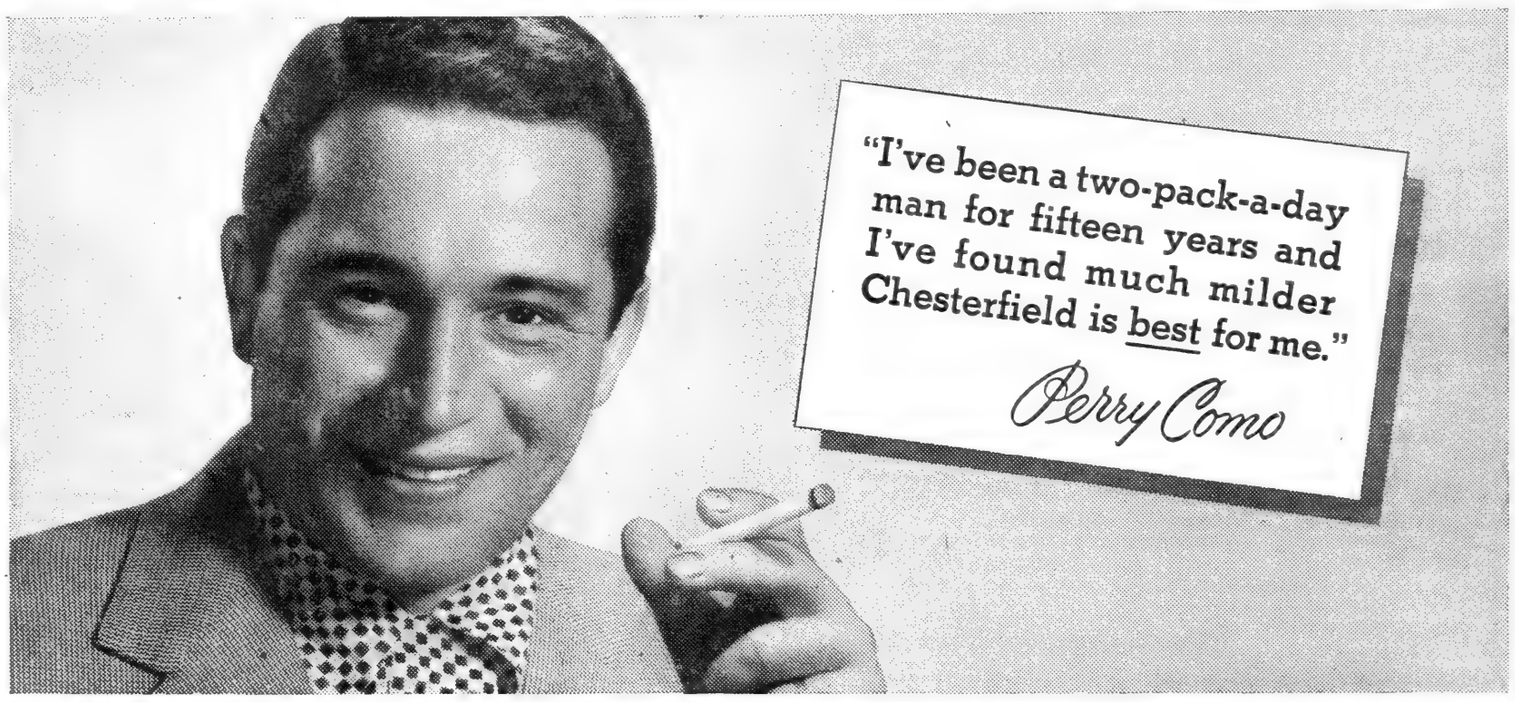
50-yard freestyle — 1. Heins (UNC); 2. Fasset (Va.); 3. Shackleford (Va.). Time: :25.

150-yard individual medley—1. Evans (UNC); 2. Foulk (Va.); 3. Wallace (Va.). Time: 1:35.

Diving—1. Edwards (Va.); 2. Kelso (UNC); 3. Westlake.

100-yard freestyle — 1. Heins (UNC); 2. Saer (Va.); 3. Anderson (Va.). Time: :56.8.

200-yard backstroke—1. Baarcke (UNC); 2. Jewell (UNC);; 3. Keldzig (Va.). Time: 2:19.



200-yard breaststroke—1. Evans (UNC); 2. Foulk (UNC); 3. Hannah (Va.). Time: 2:27.

440-yard freestyle — 1. Gill (UNC); 2. Law (Va.); 3. Ware (Va.). Time: 5:18.8.

400-yard freestyle relay — 1. UNC (Baarcke, Wall, Linker and Jewell. Time: 4:05.

Pi Lambs Win Handball Crown

Pi Lambda Phi fraternity defeated the Law School for the campus hand ball championship. Winning team members included Seymore Bates, Burton Burshaw, Sam Lerner, Don Kurtz, and Steve Sutker.

NOW...10 Months Scientific Evidence For Chesterfield

A MEDICAL SPECIALIST is making regular bi-monthly examinations of a group of people from various walks of life. 45 percent of this group have smoked Chesterfield for an average of over ten years.

After ten months, the medical specialist reports that he observed . . .

no adverse effects on the nose, throat and sinuses of the group from smoking Chesterfield.

MUCH MILDER

CHESTERFIELD IS BEST FOR YOU

Copyright 1953, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Teacher's Loyalty Oath Is Hit By Harry Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (Special)—Former President Harry Truman is unalterably opposed to the idea of a compulsory teacher's "loyalty oath" and feels it serves no useful purpose.

The ex-President stated his attitude toward the oaths in document, hitherto unpublished, which he distributed to his cabinet members while he was still in the White House.

In the document he said that "the system of American education . . . has not produced indoctrinated automatons, but individuals who will think for themselves, independently.

"In order to preserve the spirit of free inquiry which American education encourages, academic freedom must be protected.

"The teachers' loyalty oath demanded in some localities does not seem on the surface to be dangerous.

"But a loyalty oath serves no useful purpose; teachers bent on disloyalty would not hesitate at perjury in order to accomplish their goal.

"Furthermore, there are positive reasons why it is undesirable to drive teachers toward conformity. As expressed by Prof. Henry Steele Commager, conformity 'creates an atmosphere in which teachers find safety not in orthodox ideas—for they will never know surely just which ideas are orthodox—but in no ideas. In the end we will get a generation of children taught by teachers who are afraid of ideas'."

Continuing his advice to his cabinet, Truman said: "Dean Wilbur J. Bender of Harvard University has stated this problem in a brilliant fashion—'The world is full of dangerous ideas, and we are both naive and stupid if we believe that the way to prepare intelligent young men to face the world is to try to protect them from such ideas while they are in college. Four years in an insuated nursery will induce gullible innocents, not tough-minded reaists who know what they believe because they have faced the enemies of their beliefs."

"One of the reasons for the great strength of democracy," proclaims the document, "is that it encourages free didscussion. The free interchange of ideas has resulted in the development of domestic policies, which have forced an American economy which is the strongest in the world.

"During World War II, the free interchange of ideas, as contrasted with the strait-jacket conformity in the Nazi system, helped us gain the victory on the battlefield.

"In peace or in war, the freedom of a democracy produces strength; conformity stultifies and inevitably provides the seeds for disintegration."

AROTC Society To Initiate 15

The Jesse J. Moorhead chapter of the Arnold Air Society will tap 15 outstanding Air Force Cadets in a military ceremony at 3:45 p.m. on Navy field today.

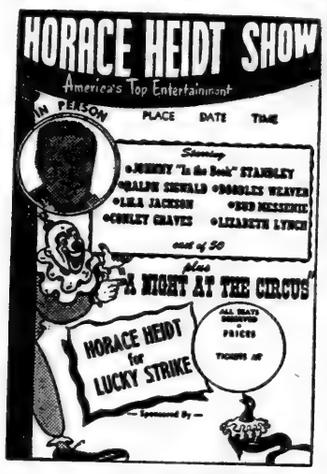
Arnold Air Society members are picked for determined qualities of leadership, scholarship, promise as future Air Force officers, and for general excellence.

The purpose of the society is to create a better understanding of the Air Force on the part of civilians, to further the mission of the Air Force ROTC, and to bring together persons of like interests in the Air Force.

The Moorhead chapter Commanding Officer, Cadet Colonel Kenneth Anderson of Durham, N. C. is assisted by his staff: Cadet Lt. Colonel Jere DuBose, Hartsville, S. C.; Cadet Major Al Samuels, Paragould, Arkansas; Cadet Major Al Perry, Charlotte, N. C.

Major J. O. Young, USAF is advisor to the group founded in 1948 in honor of General Henry "Hap" Arnold.

LAST TIMES TODAY
Varsity



Religion Through The Ages

A book of intelligent and inspiring reading for Lent. Published at $5.00. Our Special

$2.49

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

Feb. 26, 8:00 p.m.
PRICES
$3.00 — $2.50
$2.00 — $1.50
$1.00
COLISEUM
STATE COLLEGE

Crazy News!

Today Is the Day the NEW University Restaurant

OPENS

NEW

Management
Faces
Food Service
Decor
Cool Sounds by Duke
on Tues. & Thurs.
8:30-10:30
Unusual Snacks

The NEW University Restaurant is the NEW Date Spot in Chapel Hill

OHIO MOVIE CENSORS ARE WORRIED about what three-dimensional movies may do to Marilyn Monroe (left), Dagmar (center), or Jane Russell (right). Such extra-dimensional beauties as these may pass censorship standards on the old-type flat screens, but on the new 3-D screens they're a headache—at least for Ohio censors. (NEA Telephoto.)

Planetarium

"Birth and Death of the Earth," current Morehead Planetarium show, will be extended one week to run through Monday, March, 9, according to Manager A. F. Jenzano. Jenzano said that since its opening on February 3, 4,000 visitors have witnessed the startling sky fantasy.

Dental Dames

The Dental Dames will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Exhibition room of the Library. Two movies will be shown: Dare—Birthplace of America, and In the Name of Freedom. Pharmacy wives will be the guests of the Dental Dames.

Pi Sigma Alpha

Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary fraternity, initiated 16 new members at services held in Caldwell Hall last Week. Membership is open those political science students who maintain a 92.5 average in their major courses.

Those initiated: Naomi Garlick, Elijah Thomas Kirk, Leo Northart, Alvano Mendoza, Roger Williams, Donna Jean Danley, Naxman Goldin, Chovine Gordon, Carman Nahm, Joseph M. Parker, Archibald Patterson, Albert Rumbaugh, Alva Stewart, Spencer Pierce, and James Icenhoure.

WUNC Tuesday

7—Sketches in Melody
7:30—The Price of Liberty.
7:45—Vistas of Israel.
8—Ways of Mankind.
8:30—The Recital Hour.
9:30—To be announced.
10—News and Coming Events.
10:05—An Evening Masterwork.

—UP—

(Continued from page 1)

date, Rollie Tillman, has been mentioned by many. Bob Colbert, managing editor of the Yack now, has indicated that he is interested in the nomination. Both Tillman and Colbert are sophomores.

The meeting is slated for 7 o'clock in Roland Parker Lounges at Graham Memorial.

—Nash—

(Continued from page 1)

ton and Columbia. He has been invited to deliver endowed lecture series such as the Mead-Swing lectures at Oberlin, the Gates Lectures at Grinnell, and the Merrick lectures at Ohio Wesleyan.

In 1952 he attended an ecumenical conference in Switzerland on the relations between theology and psychiatry and psychology. During the academic year 1953-54 he will be lecturing in the universities of India, Burma, Siam and Japan.

TAIPEH, Formosa — Chiang Kai shek's free China, in a dramatic cold war move of open defiance to Soviet Russia, today announced it was declaring null and void the Nationalist Chinese-Russian treaty of 1945. The move clears the way for Nationalist participation in any blockade of the Red Chinese Mainland.

Trustees Back Executive Unit, Vote Saturday Classes At UNC

(Continued from page 1)

brought back on the floor. Fellow Trustee Jim Ficklen said he didn't see the point to being an Executive Committee "rubber stamp. . . . It's a healthy sign for the Trustees to disagree. . . . I'm going to vote against it."

Gray spoke intermittently through the meeting. Five times he reiterated to the effect that "The recommendation of the Administration is that this board not overturn the Executive Committee."

When he inroduced Horton, Gray said he thought the students should be given the opportunity to speak since "students as much as anybody I suppose, certainly more than the Administration, are concerned with the impact of Saturday classes."

Maj. L. P. McLendon of Greensboro made one of the longest and strongest pleas to leave the matter up to the Administration. "What's happened here is that the Executive Committee has assumed the prerogatives of the faculty." He implied that the faculty was coerced by the words "mandate," "compulsion" and "order" in their directions to figure out a way to implement a six-day week.

McLendon further stated he was not concerned with the issue of five or six days, but whether "we are going to set ourselves up as a board of scholars to decide on (faculty matters). . . ."

"We're laymen," he emphasized. It was the "principle . . . the precedent . . . the effect upon the morale of the faculty and students as well" that disturbed him, McLendon said.

Bryant said the theory of the long weekend was "excellent." However, he said, "The facts do considerable violnce to the theory." He then cited the "exodus" question. He reemphasized that the six-day classes weren't a "disciplinary measure."

In conclusion, Bryant said he felt "the purposes for which students come to college can be better achieved and better utilized" if there are six day classes.

DIETRICH'S DISCARDS — World famous for her lovely legs, Hollywood actress Marlene Dietrich donated a pile of her discarded nylons to a charity drive conducted by a New York television station. The stockings, some of which once sheathed the well-known Dietrich limbs, will be sold to buy TV sets for hospital patients.

2 Bills Under Discussion In Phi Meeting Tonight

Two bills are on tap for discussion by the Phi Assembly tonight.

One calls for the drafting of physically handicapped men into the services to replace qualified men for active duty, and the other demands support of the United States of all language groups who are seeking self-rule. The areas of Poland, the Balkan States, Indo-China, and Germany are mentioned specifically in the bill.

The Assembly will also hear a report from the committee organizing a debating society at WC in Greensboro.

—Tennis—

(Continued from page 3)

trouble with his service. Until then he was playing steadily with his superior net game being the difference between the two. Then his service failed and without it he was vulnerable to Sedgman's powerful forehand.

In the first set of the Kramer-Sedgman match it was a battle of the serves and Kramer won out. At one time in the ninth game he was behind 40 to 0 and then he scored two straight aces and came from behind to win the game.

The foursome will play in Norfolk tonight.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE 6B

FOR SALE: 1948 DELUXE 4-DOOR Chevrolet (black) Telephone 5392 between 5-6 P.M.

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES AND Sororities: One water-cooled coca-cola drink machine. Perfect condition. Call Cadet Maj. Foushee Ph. 9-9001.

HELP WANTED 8

WANTED: CLERK STENOGRAPHER GS 3 rating 3,000 per annum. Apply NROTC Armory Phone 7246.

For your convenience we have available

One-Hour Martinizing
The Modern Dry Cleaning

Minor alterations, including matching buttons, at no extra charge

ONE-HOUR VALET

400 W. Main St. At 5 Points Durham

INDIANAPOLIS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Fabien Sevitzky
Conductor

Page Auditorium Duke University
Thursday Evening, March 5, at 8:15 P.M.

Tickets: $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 (incl. tax)
On sale: 201 Men's Union . . . Duke University

For reservations phone Durham 9011, ext. 6225 or write to
J. Foster Barnes, Duke University, Durham, North Carolina

Program: Franck, Liszt, and Berlioz

Coed Orientation

Nancy Horne, new chairman of the Women's Orientation Committee says all applications for student orientation advisors should be turned in by Saturday, Feb. 28.

She has issued a call for interested persons who can help introduce the Carolina Campus to new coeds next year.

Spring and fall training programs will be conducted to help the advisers.

Miss Horne was chosen Chairman of the Committee last week.

Industry Leaders To Talk To Delta Sigs Thursday

A pair of industrial men will speak here on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, brought to the campus by Delta Sigma Pi, professional business fraternity.

M. T. Dunlap, personnel director of Carolina Power and Light Co., will speak in Gerrard Hall at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. His topic will be "What Industry Expects of the College Graduate." A discussion period will follow the talk.

Thursday night C. K. Emery of General Electric Co. will speak. Speaking at 7 p.m. in Bingham Hall he will tell "How to Plan and Prepare Profitable Industrial Advertising." He will ilustrate his topic with color slides on industrial advertising.

Emery, who is manager of the technical publication section of GE, will be on campus to interview graduating seniors interested in advertising and sales promotion.

The public is invited to both talks.

By Popular Request We Repeat.

The Banana Boat

LOADS OF BANANAS, HOT FUDGE, ICE CREAM AND WHIPPING CREAM

203 E. FRANKLIN—TEL. 9-8581

29¢

The Dairy Bar

As an Arthur Murray Student

You're Sure Of Popularity

Yes, good dancers are the sought-after partners at parties. How popular are you? Why not come in to Arthur Murray's now and let one of his experts develop your dormant dancing ability?

ARTHUR MURRAY
104½ Morris St. at 5 Points
Durham Phone 2-7872

Studios Air-Conditioned

STUDENT CLUB
Being Organized!

COMING TO
WILLIAM NEAL REYNOLDS COLISEUM

MISCHEL PIASTRO
AND THE
LONGINES SYMPHONETTE

SPONSORED BY
N. C. STATE COLLEGE UNION

Friday, Feb. 27, 8:30 P.M.

ADMISSION
$1.50

Tickets on sale at the YMCA Office and at door in the Coliseum

YOU CAN COUNT ON MILTON'S TO SET THE PACE FOR SMART CLOTHES

Just received large shipment of our extra choice A. Rivetz neckwear—finest quality 176 count silk—2.50.

Just received additional Windsor worsted flannel slacks in our special exclusive shades—16.95.

We've scooped the market with our charcoal tropical worsted all wool slacks, regular 20.00 value—our price 14.95.

We've been appointed the exclusive Haspel agents in Chapel Hill and are proud to offer you Dan River wrinkle shed cotton cords in either very smart Brooks cut or 2 button American lounge—24.50.

Just received large shipment of tab round button down shirts—also Brooks cut button-downs—new low price—limited time—3.95.

Lightweight worsted flannel suits in skipper blue or lightest gray—2 button lounge—56.95.

Extra choice assortment of pure shetland sport coats woven in Scotland, tailored especially for us in perfect Brooks cut—39.95.

Our tailor, Mrs. Blake can now take care of alterations on men's and women's clothes—1 day service.

Bills mailed home—No red tape.

Milton's Clothing Cupboard

U.N.C. Library
Serials Dept.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
8-31-49

WEATHER
Occasional rain and mild with 55 high. Yesterday's high, 50; low, 43.

The Daily Tar Heel

DEAD
The editors talk about the sixth day. See page 1.

VOLUME LXI, NUMBER 102 | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1953 | FOUR PAGES TODAY

UP NOMINATES GORHAM, NEILL FOR POSTS

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR Douglas McKay (right), shown here with Hawaiian delegate Joseph R. Farrington, has told the House Interior Subcommittee on Territories that Hawaii "is fully qualified" to take its place in the Union. McKay was the first witness called as the subcommittee opened its hearings on legislation which would make Hawaii the nation's 49th state.—NEA Telephoto.

LESLIE CHABAY

Noted Tenor Sings Tonight In Hill At 8:30

Leslie Chabay, noted tenor of the Metropolitan and San Francisco Opera Companies, will appear in concert in Hill Hall tonight at 8:30. There will be no admission charge and the public is invited.

An extremely versatile singer, Chabay has chosen for his recital here a choice selection these various styles. His program begins with a group of 17th century pieces by Heinrich Schutz, Allesendro Stradella and the English composer of airs, John Dowland. A group of German lieder follows, with selections by Schubert and Schumann, and to conclude the first half of the program, the aria, "Il mio tesoro" from Mozart's "Don Giovanni."

The second half will include a group of Chabay's own native Hungarian folk songs, in arrangements by Bartok and Kodaly and a group of serenades by Leoncavalla, Rossini and Schubert.

He will be accompanied at the piano by Prof. Wilton Mason of the Music Department, a member of "Accompanists Unlimited," whose members accompany various touring artists in different parts of the country. Noted as a concert artist in his own right, Dr. Mason has played numerous recitals in this area, and has accompanied a number of well known artists.

Chabay began singing operatic roles in Europe in 1933 and came to the United States in 1936 when he travelled with the Salzburg Opera Guild in performances of Mozart's "Cosi fan tutte" throughout the country.

Questions Today

Students in all departments of the University will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon to have questions answered relating to the semester plan.

Deans urge attendance.

The assigned meeting places are General College, Gerrard Hall; College of Arts and Sciences, Memorial Hall; School of Business Administration, 103 Bingham Hall; School of Journalism, 213 Saunders Hall, and School of Education, 206 Phillips Hall.

NEWS IN BRIEF

SEOUL—An Allied tank-supported raiding party in a four-hour battle yesterday smashed out of a Communist trap in no-man's land taking a heavy toll of Reds. Heavy clouds blanketed most of North Korea hampering air attacks throughout the night and yesterday.

★

WASHINGTON—Soviet bloc officials are playing diplomatic tag these days in a way that suggests the Kremlin is maneuvering for major international negotiations with the Eisenhower administration. Instead of their usualfrigid and stiff manners, Communist diplomats are turning on friendliness-behind-the-scenes.

★

WASHINGTON — The White House announced yesterday that President Eisenhower will fly to Augusta, Ga., Thursday afternoon for a weekend of golf. Press secretary James G. Haggerty said the chief executive will remain in Augusta until Sunday, reutrning late that afternoon.

★

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—A fresh U. S. team braced itself for a crucial diplomatic offensive against Iron Curtain veterans in the second round of the United Nations General Assembly's seventh session which opened yesterday.

BULLETIN

The Rev. Charlie Jones, who refused to resign his pastorate at the Presbyterian Church here, was fired last night because "the interests of religion imperatively demanded it."

A resolution containing this statement was passed 7 to 1 by the Orange Presbytery Judicial Commission. This automatically dissolves Mr. Jones' pastoral connection here. The commission added that it had not been their wish "to use our judicial authority." Earlier they had demanded Mr. Jones' resignation for alleged doctrinal departures.

Fair's Top Speaker Appointed

R. D. Warwick, general manager of the Statesville Chamber of Commerce and president of the North Carolina Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives, will be the keynote speaker at the opening night session of the third annual Business Fair here next Monday and Tuesday.

The fair sponsored by the Alpha Tau chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, national professional fraternity in business administration, and the theme this year will be "Personnel —Key to Business Success."

Warwick will speak at 7 p.m. at the first session in Carroll Hall, one of the new buildings for the School of Business Administration. His subject will be "Bringing Business and Keeping College Graduates in North Carolina."

The fair will feature a panel on "Industry Reports to Students" at the Tuesday night session. State officials, educators and industrialists will make up the panel.

Approximately 25 industries throughout the state will exhibit displays on various phases of business in Carroll Hall during the two-day fair.

A native of Charlotte, Warwick was educated in the Charlotte schools and at Duke University. Before entering Chamber of Commerce work, he was with the U. S. Public Health Service in five counties in North Carolina with headquarter in Winston-Salem.

Warwick, who has been in Statesville since 1948, has been president of the student body of the Southeastern Institute of Chamber of Commerce Executives held annually at the University of North Carolina.

'Not So Intimate, If You Please!'

The Great Gun Battle Of 1841 Jolted A Sedate Phi Assembly

(This is the first of several articles describing life o nthe campus in the school year 1841-1842. The material comes from the personal diary of Ruffin Wirt Tomlinson, Class of 1842. The diary was edited by John Sanders of the Law School and appears in the February and March issues of the North Carolina Historical Review.—Ed.)

By John Jamison

What would you do if you picked up a faded, handwritten sheaf of papers and your eye fell upon this statement?

"This is my private journal which I want no man to read while I live nor after my death."

Would you feel just a little disappointed and put the diary back where you found it? Or would you react like most people, light up a cigaret, settle down and read on with even more intense curiosity?

The writer of those words was a student here, class of '42, (1842). The age of the words, the long-ago death of the author, perhaps add to the somberness of their aspect.

Ruffin Wirt Tomlinson (1817-1844) came from a farm near Smithfield. During his senior year at Carolina, he made almost daily notations in his "journal." He commented shrewdly on dating on the campus, lewd professors, card playing, gun battles in the Phi and the wiles of Student Government.

The original diary is owned by Miss Emma Tomlinson, a distant relative of its writer. Miss Tomlinson's cousin, John Sanders, a law student here and former president of the student body, discovered its existence in the summer of 1948. He was preparing to enter the University at that time, so his interest in the document was personal and immediate.

For several reasons, Sanders felt the Tomlinson diary should become public record. It seemed to have considerable historical value to friends of the University. Also, says Sanders, "It affords an intimate and intrinsically interesting account of the life of its author during his final year in college."

The result of Sanders' interest in the project is the diary's publication in the February and March issues of the North Carolina Historical Review. Sanders' job of editing has added much to the value of the document as a contribution to the University's historical record.

The editor has "attempted to identify, with brief biographical notes, each of the persons referred to by Tomlinson in association with the University or Chapel Hill. Where it appeared advisable, explanatory footnotes have been added to clarify certain of his references to activities and

(See TOMLINSON page 4)

Dr. Paty Of TVA To Speak Tonight

Dr. Raymond Ross Paty of the Tennessee Valley Authority will discuss "The Multiple Purpose Program of TVA" tonight at 8 o'clock at the Institute of Pharmacy building.

Dr. Paty will be guest of the local League of Women Voters. He is a member of the board of TVA and a well-known Southern educator.

A native of Tennessee, Dr. Paty has served as dean of men at Emory University, president of Birmingham-Southern College and the University of Alabama, and as chancellor of the University System of Georgia.

Prior to his appointment last July to the TVA board, he was an executive and director of Rich's Department Store of Atlanta, and executive director of the Rich educational foundation.

Dr. Paty is a member of Sigma Chi and a veteran of World War I. He will be introduced tonight by Dr. Gordon Blackwell, director of the Institute of Research in Social Science here.

DR. R. R. PATY

Horton Asks Defeat Without Any Bitterness

President Ham Horton yesterday called upon the student body to accept without bitterness the decision of the Trustees concerning Saturday Classes. He thanked those who participated in the fight against the change.

Students expecting to undergo special hardship due to the switch are asked to notify the president's office as soon as possible. An attempt will be made to alleviate such cases.

Below is the text of an open letter issued yesterday afternoon by Horton:

"An open letter to the student body:

"The question of whether or not we are to have Saturday classes has been decided. We lost. We're gonna have them. Our only task now is to accept them with as good grace as possible.

"To blame the Executive Committee, the Trustees, or South Building for the switch to Saturday classes can do no good to anyone. And it can do harm to everyone.

"For their special help in the fight against Saturday classes we would like to thank the following people: the faculty for their response to the Saturday class poll; Phin Horton III, Julia Shield, the 30 organizations which passed petitions on the change; Ed Gross, Virginia Hall, Ted Daws, Dick Noll, Dick Zyler, Martha Bridges, Linda Vestal, Chal Schley, Jody Desmonds, Claude Efird, Jim Hill, Edith Cross—who were members of the final "last ditch" committee.

Jim Wallace, John Sanders, Joel Fleishman, Raymond Taylor, Don Aryell, Dale Ryon, Al Bryant, Frank Plott, Tish Rodman Mary Tom Battle, Cart Carmichael, Bob Suttle.

Ronald Pritchett, Ron Levin, Duke Whiting, Wallace Hanchey, Jimmy Prescott Carrol Berry, John Ammons, T. Kepley, Jimmy Adams, Louis Benfield, Walt McFall, George Madry.

Bob Gorham, Arthur Fountain, Bill Clark, Bill Howell, Walt Gurley, and especially, too, our thanks to those wonderful girls in McIver and the others who helped type letters to the Trustees."

CAMPUS SEEN

Elderly, grandmother - type woman peering into Battle Dorm and shrinking from window when she realizes it's a men's habitat.

*

Ardent Pharmacy student working in lab at 1 a.m.

*

Beefy construction worker leaning heavily on shovel and commenting, "That's what I liked about them Hoover days, at least you was always rested."

UP Chairman Takes Issue

Walter McFall, University Party Chairman, issued a statement yesterday on the principles of the UP, with particular reference to an editorial in Tuesday's Daily Tar Heel.

"Never, to my knowedge," said McFall, "has the UP 'Notified the various fraternity and sorority houses that fraternities would be abolished if the SP won,' as Tuesday's editorial 'Try, Try, Again' stated."

"On the contrary," McFall said, "the UP has never felt any distinction between fraternity and dormitory men other than their place of residence."

Editor Walt Dear commented in return: "Since, The Daily Tar Heel is a newspaper, it will continue to take stands on issues. The Daily Tar Heel is partial to all sides on many matters. It is impartial in its efforts to seek out the truth and in expressing its opinion.

"This newspaper will continue to take a stand on matters of campus, state, national and international issues."

'Good Lady of Setzuan'

Playmakers To Use Half-Masks In Forthcoming Chinese Drama

By Betty Johnson

A neat problem in characterdifferentiation was well on the way to solution when Kai Jurgensen, director of the forthcoming Carolina Playmakers' production, "The Good Woman of Setzuan," decided to use half-masks for the 24 characters played by his cast of 12.

The unusual production will be presented in the Playmakers Theater Thursday through Sunday.

Originally this modern German expressionist drama included some 30 citizens of the Chinese village of Setzuan, in addition to the good woman and her airline pilot lover. Cut to its present 24, the play was still considerably unwieldy for the limitations of the Playmakers' stage.

Through the use of concert staging and masks, Jurgensen has surmounted this difficulty adroitly and in keeping with the modernist tone of the play.

Sydney Litwack, graduate student from Los Angeles, Calif., designer and executor of the 22 caricature masks to be used in this production, brought extensive experience in scenic design to the problems at hand.

A native Canadian, Litwack worked with the Montreal Canadian Art Theater in the 1945-46 season both as actor and technician, and began his career as designer with their production of Chekov's "The Mar-

(See THE GOOD, page 4)

KAI JURGENSEN

We're In!

Carolina was assured of a Conference tourney berth last night as Maryland beat George Washington 66 to 53. Duke put itself into the tournament with a 99 to 72 win over Davidson. Carolina's game Friday night will affect only its position in the playoffs.

Frank Graham Lends Support To Campus Chest Drive Here

A delayed reply that arrived from Geneva yesterday showed that former UNC president Frank Graham heartily lends his backing to the International Division of the Campus Chest.

This, the first of two Chest drives scheduled for this Spring, will begin next Monday.

In addition to Graham, five other men whose names are well known in Chapel Hill have endorsed the drive that will include support for students in Korea as well as the stricken in the flood - devastated Netherlands. These men are officially listed as sponsors.

Included in the group are Fred Weaver, Dean of Students; Preston Epps, chairman of the Department of Greek; and Ernest Mackie, Dean of Awards. Also listed are Henry Brandis Jr., dean of the School of Law, and Robert House, chancellor.

In his reply, which was sent from the European headquarters for the the Palais des Nations in Geneva, UN, Graham said, "I am writing immediately to say I appreciate the opportunity of your invitation and will be glad to be one of the sponsors of this most worthy cause."

A new member of the Chest Board of Directors was announced by Chairman Stuart Jones. Barbara Burgess, a junior from Maplewood, N. J., is now the chairman of women's dorms solicitations.

Tillman Choice To Edit Yack; Race Is Rugged

By Louis Kraar

The University Party nominated Bob Gorham their presidential candidate last night by acclamation.

Rolfe Neill won the nomination for Daily Tar Heel editor also by acclamation. Neill, present managing editor of the newspaper, said he would try for a double endorsement.

The party O.K. for Gorham took less than a minute. This nomination followed an hour's battle to pick one of three candidates for editor of the Yackety Yack. Rollie Tillman won the nomination over Bob Colbert and Lib Moore.

Gorham outlined what he called "two principles for this campaign." They were "common sense" and "sincerity."

The UP nominee is from Rocky Mount and is best known for his work as chairman of the orientation program. Gorham is in the Phi Assembly, a former legislator, and a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. His nomination was not much of a surprise since he has been mentioned for the post for several months.

Neill, Daily Tar Heel candidate, was news editor in his freshman year. He enrolled from Columbus, Ga. but now lives in Chapel Hill. He became managing editor during his sophomore year and later served as executive editor. He re-assumed the managing editor's job last spring with the election of Barry Farber. He is a political science and history major and a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Gorham declared after his nomination "we, the University Party, have the opportunity to continue raise student government to a new a great service. We can further a level of dignity and respect, in which each student feels that he is a part. I firmly believe that the major factor in student apathy so prevalent here is the lack of respect that the average student has for student government.

"This lack of respect comes from the constant bickering, the political maneuvering by the campus politicians in an attempt to increase party fortunes. Politics has a place on the campus, but this place must not be over emphasized."

Contrasting the quick selection of president and Daily Tar Heel editor, nominations for editor of the Yackety Yack brought much debate. Tillman, winner of the nomination, was mentioned early this week as a "dark horse" candidate. He is not a staff member of this year's yearbook but is business manager of Tarnation.

The top issue in the Yackety Yack editor selection was that of rebates—the money refunded to the staff by printers in return for meeting deadlines. In the past, staffers have received this money. But recently there has been some question as to whether this practice should continue.

Colbert and Miss Moore are Yack staffers. Both are in favor of staffers getting the rebates. Tillman did not favor this.

Upon defeat, Colbert said, "I am dropping out of the race . . . because it is my conviction that politics have no place in the Yackety Yack. I am now going to do all I can to see that the Yack is taken out of politics."

The party will nominate for vice president, secretary-treasurer and class officers next week.

Food And Lecture

"The First Month of the Eisenhower Administration" will be the topic of a discussion led by Dr. E. J. Woodhouse today at 5 p.m. in the Main Lounge of Graham Memorial.

The discussion is sponsored by the Student-Faculty Relations Committee of the Graham Memorial Student Union Activities Board. It is open to the public and refreshments will be served.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official student publication of the Publications Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily except Saturday, Monday, examination and vacation periods, and during the official summer terms. Entered as second class matter at the post office in Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription rates mailed $4 per year, $1.50 per quarter; delivered, $6 and $2.25 per quarter.

Editor — WALT DEAR
Managing Editor — ROLFE NEILL
Business Manager — JIM SCHENCK
Sports Editor — BIFF ROBERTS

News Ed. — Bob Sleugh | Soc. Ed. — Deenie Schoeppe
Sub. Mgr. — Carolyn Reichard | Circ. Mgr. — Donald Hogg
Ass't. Sub. Mgr. — Bill Venable, Tom Witty | Asst. Spts. Ed. — Tom Peacock
Office Mgr. — Buzzy Shull | Adv. Mgrs. Charles Collins, Charles Haskett
Assoc. Ed. — Nina Gray, Jane Carter | Exch. Ed. — Alice Chapman

NEWS STAFF—John Jamison, Louis Kraar, Tom Parramore, Ben West, Jim Wilkinson, Sally Schindel, Jess Nettles, Hubert Breeze, Harry Dunlop, Ellen Downs, Tom Neal Jr.

Night Editor for this issue: Rolfe Neill

A Dead Letter

Harmony and the best interests of the University cost a fantastic amount.

They cost us an extra day in class, a new kind of going-to-school system, and another losing round in the battle of student opinion versus trustee and administration. When the Executive Committee is against you, you have a chance before the full board. But when the full administration, including Gray, Carmichael and House (Gray five times), calls for Saturday classes, your cause is washed away with the tide of surplus power.

It is a wonder, and at the same time, a tribute to the abilities of Ham Horton, that we mustered 28 votes in Monday's Trustee meeting, despite staunch opposition by these chief powers. Students are grateful for the support given them by Major L. P. McLendon and John W. Umstead, among others. Such friends in a heated discussion are heartily appreciated,

Before you or The Daily Tar Heel lambasts the Trustees, the administration, or any other part of the University, we think it's worthwhile to take a look at some of the causes of the Saturday class hassle.

The University community consists of students, faculty, administration, and trustees. Over a long period of time the University has maintained cordial relations with the board, but every once in a while there is a sudden outbursting of concern, or even anxiety among trustee members. One or two of the trustees, or even more, get overresponsible, and overexert themselves while performing their duties.

The Saturday class matter is a perfect illustration of this. Whether we had Saturday classes or not was purely an academic matter. It was a matter where the administration and the faculty could have dealt with much more effectively than the trustees.

A year ago we had a trustee by the name of John Clark who appeared as a one man investigating committee in the name of the trustees. Th trustees censured him by saying that they were not responsible for his activities nor could he use the name of trustees in vain. This time members of the visiting committee, particularly Victor Bryant of Durham, have consistently regarded Saturday classes as the healing element for some of the University's problems. Since 1948 the full board of trustees has been interested in Saturday classes.

When the executive committee met last November, President Gray told them he was against Saturday classes. The trustees didn't mention any semester plan, but just ordered that Saturday classes were to be put into effect.

Two weeks ago, Grey told the same executive committee that he was for the semester plan, including Saturday classes. Here, Gray was showing his approval of the main parts of the Faculty Council's report. We believe that Gray thinks that the semester plan is more valuable than the quarter system anyway. The faculty recommended Saturday classes because they had to. An order is an order, and while Gray could have made an issue of the principle of the thing, by offering his resignation, he acted otherwise.

This is where the "best interests of the University" come in. That phrase sounds funny. It is hard to define it simply because it means all things to all kinds of people. Gray figured he could accomplish more in the long run by accepting the Saturday class-semester plan than by fighting the trustees tooth and nail on general principles.

As students, it is difficult to understand this position. It is even more difficult to understand why Gray, once he had made up his mind, was so vehement in supporting the Saturday class semester plan.

The fact that Gray and the faculy vociferously objected to the way the trustees handled the problem by butting into an academic mattter, is of value, because there is some chance that in the future the trustees won't butt in (the faculty report blasted the trustees for improiety and indiscretion). Yet we still can't help feeling that the trustees, by getting the go-ahead sign on an academic matter, won't in the future, take a hand in picking out textbooks, courses, teachers, etc.

Students must now realize that six days a week will be a standard affair, come September. The Daily Tar Heel will publish articles on how the semester system works out, and how it affects you.

Express Yourself

Editor:

As long as everybody seems to be defending NSA, I thought I'd put in my two cents. I know very little about the organization but, what I do know about it, I like. I'm very glad to see that Ken Barton is writing a series of articles on the subjects, for I feel these will familiarize the campus with the activities of NSA.

There is one point I am extremely uncertain about, and that is, people on campus keep telling me NSA is supporting subversive organizations. In fact, there is a rumor going around that the Jutice Department is investigating the whole NSA setup.

I hope Ken will devote a future article to answer this question of extreme liberalism in the NSA. In fact, I think it would be a good idea to list the organizations under attack and show these Doubting Tom's the true function of these groups.

I'm glad to see Carolina taking its place beside the more liberal universities in this country. Ken is doing a fine job in the writing of these articles, and I hope soon we'll hear no more rumbing about radicalism in the NSA.

Lou Wolfsheimer

(Editor's note: Dick Murphy, former Carolina student and now National Student Association president, answers this letter in another column.)

Dan Duke

For Whom The Yells Scold

Each night from 12:05 to 1:00 a.m. NBC currently is re-broadcasting excerpts from Senator Joe McCarthy's daily investigations. For feelings of sheer horror, everyone should listen.

Following, certain aspects of McCarthy's brand of "Americanism" (McCarthyism) are compared with similar aspects of Russian Communism. Personally, it is very difficult for me to understand why people who are opposed to Communism are not equally opposed to McCarthyism. But, to continue with the comparison:

1. McCarthy views not only conspiracy but also political heresy (the right to disagree and to hold alternative views) as a concrete danger to America. Accordingly, he seeks any means to stamp out heresy. In verbal assaults he has even gone so far as to brand such people as Adlai Stevenson and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt as "un-American and Communist sympathizers." (Even though many may very much disapprove of such persons, is there any way in which they can be construed as being disloyal or un-American?) Perhaps, if McCarthy's type of logic were extended back into history, Thomas Jefferson would turn out to be quite un-American.

Russia, just one jump ahead of McCarthyism, allows no political dissension. They even have periodic purges to remove non-conformists from the political scene. The people are little more than robots subordinated to party policy. The administration is a hierarchy of yes-men with Stalin at the top with final authority.

2. McCarthy, to secure America from Communism and un-Americanism, uses any methods to obtain incriminating evidence and testimony against those he deems as un-American.

The Communist regime, to secure Russia from anti-Communists, heretics, and non-conformists, also uses many methods to convict their political "criminals."

Both McCarthy's and Russia's type of investigation and "trial" remind one of the days of the Spanish Inquisition. Ruthless, impersonal, and efficient is the constant spying and investigation. Both the McCarthy and the Russian method assume a priori that a man is quilty and that the evidence and the sources for that evidence must stand unchallenged.

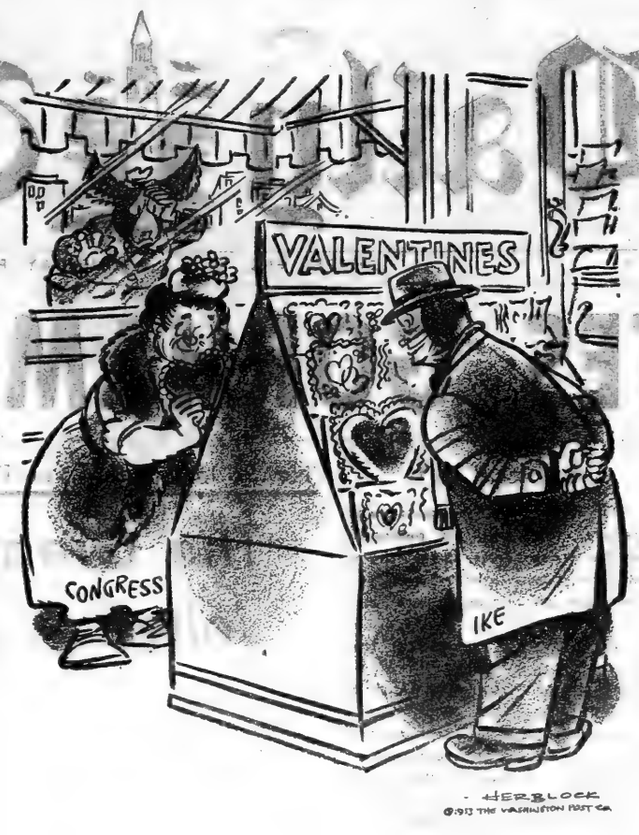
From FEAR of a few, the many are enslaved.

3. McCarthyism seems to claim absolutely to know what is "American," what is good and right for the people. According to the implications of McCarthyism, the American government and the American system—except for the unfortunate Communist and un-American infiltration—is perfected and beyond criticism.

The Russian Communists also lay claim to a monopoly on truth. They claim that theirs is the "ism" of isms. However, they too apologize for a few bourgeois influences which occasionally imperfect the system.

4. McCarthy is now correlating Communism with intelligence. Consequently, he is proposing an extensive investigation into the colleges to weed out the "disloyal, un-American, and Communist" teachers. Also favored is the elimination from the curriculum of certain subjects which the politicians feel are dangerous to the development of healthy, American minds.

The Russian Communists also have long been wary of intellectuals. Intellectuals, for the most part, are too reactionary to give up unconditionally their loyalty to the subordination and demands of the Party. (To reinforce this point, read "The God That Failed," a pocketbook telling the stories why six ex-Communists gave up Communism.) As for Russia's educational system, it is completely controlled and the curriculum dictated by the State.



5. Extreme McCarthyism favors a strict censor by the American government of so-called "pink" literature, drama, music, and art.

On this point, the Communist government in Russia today limits considerably what the people may hear, what drama they shall enjoy, and what music and art is most away from the bourgeois influence, and therefore is "acceptable."

Truly we have good cause to oppose Communism if we cherish our individual freedoms. Yet why aren't we also opposed to McCarthyism, since it also attacks these freedoms? Is it because the American public reasons that McCarthy is against Communism, they are against Communism, therefore they are pro-McCarthy?

What good is high efficiency in the exposure of particular Communists if the cost of that efficiency is the loss of that freedom you intended to preserve in the first place? What good are your efforts to oust those who would overthrow your government and your set of values if in the process you yourself overthrow the fundamental values on which your government is based?

In the last analysis, does the mere fact that one political system is called "American" (McCarthy type) and another is called "Communist" make any difference, if in function they are the same?

The NSA Story

The United States National Student Association (USNSA) has recently been charged with being a "subversive" and "insidious left-wing pressure group." These charges have been leveled by an extreme group known as Students For America through a monthly magazine and a speech delivered by its president before the National Interfraternity Conference in New York City last November.

USNSA takes no exception to the right of any group or individual to criticise its program, policies, and activities. USNSA, however, will not stand by and allow its reputation to be damaged by irresponsible and unfounded charges such as those that have been recently made.

USNSA is positively non-Communist and participates in absolutely no political activities whatsoever. USNSA cooperates with no subversive organizations. USNSA is not listed on any of the so-called subversive organizations listings, and it has not been cited by any of the security agencies for disloyal activities. Such charges are baseless and libelous.

USNSA is not engaged in activities to destroy fraternities as has been charged. Nowhere does USNSA demand conformity to any policies, and no policy calls for the destruction of the fraternity system. Many outstanding leaders in USNSA at present and in the past have been fraternity members. USNSA does stand for the eventual elimination of discrimination in all student organizations, a policy that has been adopted as a recommendation to member student governments.

USNSA claims to be the most representative student organization in the United States today by virtue of the active membership of three hundred student governments widely diverse in type of school and geographical location whose jurisdictions extend to over eight hundred thousand American college students.

Abroad, USNSA is successfully waging a campaign for the extension of democratic student life in the face of strenuous Communist propaganda efforts to win student support. Through the International Student Conference, USNSA works closely with thirty-five other democratic national student associations in promotion of mutual projects of assistance. At the present time, more student associations are cooperating in this effort than ever participated in Communist-inspired projects of the past.

USNSA is proud to have the active participation of an advisory group including such outstanding Americans as Harold E. Stassen, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Very Reverend Vincent J. Flynn, Dean Althea Kratz Hottel, and Reverend Celestine Steiner, S. J. Such Americans would not be actively associated with any organization of questionable loyalty.

As President, I call upon student governments in the United States and its territories to join in strengthening USNSA and in enriching its program and activities by active participation.

Richard J. Murphy
President, United States
National Student Association

Express Yourself

Editor:

It might be well to clear up the smell left by the utterances of Mr .Edward Bizzell in The Daily Tar Heel last week. Although I cannot believe Ed was really sincere, or that any of his colleagues took the letter seriously, it certainly behooves anyone who thinks to take a second look at just what is happening. And somebody needs to tell Bizzell it doesn't pay to be publicly insincere.

The Daily Tar Heel space was consumed essentially as follows: "Since when . . . you consider yourself qualified . . . consider instead your own narrow concepts . . . poor taste . . . clutter up student newspaper . . . babblings . . . "—the argument ad naseum. Deeper down, Bizzell says this. "The pastor preaches a mere personal philosophy rather than the Christian religion as interpreted by the denomination of which he professes to be a part . . . mere human philosophy . . . no matter how good . . . should be confined to the classroom and lecture, leaving the pulpits of our churches reserved to the preaching of Christ's Gospel." This is known as theological claptrap.

As for you Mr. Bizzell: Your charge, proposed in a highly emotive and general fashion, and completely lacking in any specific observation or evidence, is largely typical of supercilious reasoning from a narrow mind which is heavily prejudiced and from which clear thinking can be shed like water is shed from a new shingle. Nevertheless, permit me to put forward the following two questions:

What specific criticism have you of a church's supposed duty to clarify the application of Christianity, particularly Christian ethics, to the practical problems of everyday living? What would you do as a Christian pastor, if you were one, about intellectualism's unique challenges to the religious groundwork of students? Are you honestly saying that a pastor must confine his attention to reading from the Gospels? Would you deny the pastor freedom of conscientious judgment and subsequent obligation to respond and act in the concrete situations with which he is confronted in serving his community?

What is your own attitude toward racial discrimination? If it should turn out that you resent, out of your own personal prejudice and your own social support of racial persecution, Charlie Jones' willingness to fight for the true Christian doctrine of the brotherhood of men and equality of mankind, then the suspicion is shifted to your own sincerity, and I don't have much sympathy for your straightforwardness.

Bernard Taylor

Editor:

An open letter to the childish, vitriolic, vindictive, sophomoric and "bravely" anonymous writer of the odious ode (in which is questioned the propriety of said editorial):

I do not know whether Charles Jones read what you wrote (either before or after publication) but I'm sure he didn't appreciate or like it.

Of course, you have a right to your own opinion, but when you set yourself up to assay the worth of others' opinion you should be a little more conscientious.

I take issue and exception to several of the things you said as well as the general tone of the poem (?) which I consider an abomination of good literary taste and a subversion and prostitution of art (?) for political and theological purposes.

Charlie took his stand (well known) years ago and is content to stick to it. His life, far from "ruined", is a symbol of inspiration to us all, lending hope and courage to true Christian convictions—the living doing, acting, thinking of what should be "not just an ideal" but a realized personal conviction, attainable for us all—at least in part.

It may just be that Charlie does not feel toward them as you do. After all, they may be acting in what (in their conscience) constitutes the general over-all good of the church. Certainly no one doubts that dissension has existed for some time.

Also equally evident is the clear fact that the congregation is almost solidly behind him (about 11 to one). Now the breach can hardly be closed with the type of thing you wrote. Antagonistic attacks on the Presbytery can only serve to widen the already existing gulf of opinion between the pastor with most of the congregation on one side and the Presbytery with a few dissenting members of the congregation on the other.

Nothing in Charlie Jones' make-up indicates that he holds anything but Christian charity for those who differ with him or oppose him.

He's too big a man for that. He will come out of all this not smaller, but in the long run greater and finer—fully vindicated and justified.

Pebley Ernest Barrow

P.S. May I refer you to the Beautitudes as given in the 5th chapter of Matthew, verses 10 and 11.

And, oh, yes— sign your name larger and round (big and bold like John Hancock) for all to see —don't hide behind a cloak of anonymity.

Editor:

Senator Price Daniels' assertion (Tar Heel Feb. 20, 1953) that Truman's order creating a Navy oil reserve of the tidelands is "arbitrary" and "without legal authority" strikes this reader as being uninformed.

This reader is admittedly more in favor of justice than legality intelligent action than blind traditionalism; but these biases do not seem to be active in this problem. Therefore, avoiding the question of the justice of a natural resource belonging to a people through government control and the intelligent action of securing a reliable source for a military necessity instead of leaving that security to the tender mercies of a self-centered, opportunistic exploitation by private enterprise, the reader wishes only to point out the fact that only through national forest protection have we any surety of future timber, only through the bureau of fisheries regulation do we have an assured supply of unpolluted seafood, only through soil conservation practices have we saved the western Mississippi valley, only because of TVA competition do we pay three cents per kilowatt hour for electricity instead of thirteen as in New Hampshire.

It has been necessary to place each of these under government control, and each is administered by a Federal department. Further, and more closely parallel, the tidewater is already federally controlled in most aspects. State fish and game laws do not apply to tidewater, electrical development of tidewater is government controlled, tidewater build-

(See EXPRESS page 3)

Southern Conference Games Here Saturday

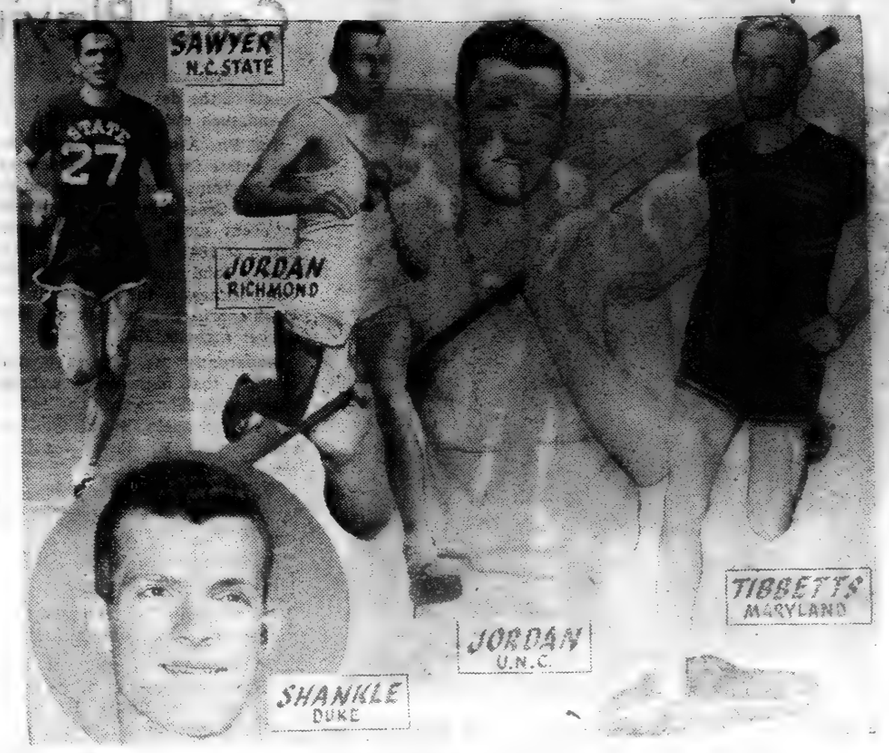
Annual Meet To Attract Vast Field

The track spectacle of the Southern Conference, the annual Indoor Games, will be presented for the 18th time here Saturday in Woollen Gym.

Long heralded as one of the top track meets in the nation, the meet is expected to attract some 500 high school, prep school, non-conference and Conference performers.

Tickets for the Southern Conference Indoor Games to be held here Saturday afternoon and night are on sale at the Woollen Gym ticket office. Student tickets cost 75 cents with passbook while regular seats are $1.50.

Although Maryland, Duke and Carolina will rank as the top choices for the Conference championship, a host of other SC schools are expected to pick up points.



VMI, N.C. State, VPI, Richmond, and West Virginia have some of the best individual performers in the Conference who may take the spotlight away from the "Big Three" of the meet.

Randy Keintz and Bill Jordan of Richmond, Bill Langford of VPI, Bill Thoburn and Joe Hunt of West Virginia, Johnny Mapp, Herm Decker, Ben Angle, and Frank Spencer of VMI all are given good chances in individual events.

VMI, too, is given a lot of support in the team race. The Keydets finished three-fourths of a point behind third-place Carolina last year.

Others expected to give outstanding performances in their fields are Joel Shankle of Duke, Sonny Beall of Carolina, and Poppa Hall, the high-stepping high jumper from Florida.

State will provide two of the best distance men in Clyde Garrison and Buz Sawyer. They finished one-two in the mile run last year and are expected to be leading contenders again Saturday.

THE QUINTET OF TRACK stars above are expected to score points in the Southern Conference Indoor Games at Chapel Hill this Saturday. The track spectacle will attract more than 500 runners and jumpers from all over the South. Buz Sawyer of N. C. State is a leading contender for the mile run crown. He finished second to teammate Clyde Garrison who won last year and also returns. Bill Jordan of Richmond is a promising newcomer in the distance events. Sam Jordan of North Carolina tied for first place in the pole vault event with Jerry Cates of Duke last year and both boys are back to battle for top honors. John Tibbetts of Maryland won the two mile run last year and returns to defend his laurels. Joel Shankle of Duke is an all-round ace who scored in the broad jump last time and is scheduled to hit the finish line among the leaders in several other events in the Games this year. Final running of most events will start at 6:30 in the eevning with the entire program completed by 9:50 in clockwork-like fashion.

Co-Recreation Carnival Is Set For Tuesday Night At Woollen

The Intramural Department and the Women's Athletic Association will hold the annual Co-Recreation Sports Carnival this Tuesday night at 7:15 in Woollen Gym.

Instigated a few years back to increase the interest of both male and coed students in the recreational setup at the gym, the annual carnival has been one of the most successful programs of the two organizations.

There will be 15 teams entered Tuesday night with the teams made up of a sorority or a woman's dorm and a fraternity or a men's dorm.

The carnival, which is scheduled from 7:15-9:30, will have 10 events and will also feature drill competition between the teams of the Naval and Air ROTC's. The drill is scheduled for 9:10.

Events included are foul shooting, archery, carnival games, shuffleboard, tether ball and box hockey, mixed table tennis, mixed badminton, mixed volleyball, bait casting, and mixed relays.

Winners in each event will be awarded Intramural trophies and a team trophy will be awarded to the co-recreational team amassing the most points during the whole program. The winning drill team will also be presented a trophy.

Teams entered in the carnival are Spencer-Pi Kappa Phi, Carr-Kappa-Psi, Kenan-Kappa Sigma, McIver-SAE, Smith-Phi Kappa Sig, Alderman-Cobb, Nurses-Zeta Psi, Alpha Gamma Delta-Law School.

Chi Omega 1-Phi Gamma Delta, Kappa Delta-DKE, Pi Phi-Sigma Nu, Tri Delt-AD Pi 1-Sigma Chi, Chi Omega 2-Stacy, ADPi 2-Chi Psi.

DANZIGER'S

TODAY'S MENU

HOMEMADE GREEN PEA SOUP ..... $ .20

SPECIAL STUDENT PLATES

MEXICAN CHILI CON CORNE with spaghetti ..... $ .50
GROUND BEEF with hashed brown potatoes, vegetable ..... $ .55
CHICKEN LIVERS on rice ..... $ .85
IRISH BEEF STEW with vegetable ..... $ .75
MUNICH SAUSAGES with sauerkraut and roast potatoes ..... $ .85
ROAST OF BEEF served with mushroomsauce, potatoes, vegetable ..... $ .90
STUFFED GREEN PEPPER with tomatosauce and boiled potatoes ..... $ .75

. . . your choice served with bread, butter and salad

Appointment Of Bill Edwards To UNC Grid Staff Adds Two Former Coaches To Carolina Tutors

Bill Edwards, ousted boss of the Vanderbilt Commodores, was welcomed yesterday to the brand new stable of varsity football coaches at the University of North Carolina.

Edwards becomes the second of head coach George Barclay's assistants to have been a big-time head coach and to have professional coaching experience .

One more aide will be named later, Barclay said. Jim Gill, the only member of deposed coach Carl Snavely's retinue to be retained, will coach UNC freshmen.

Edwards fled here immediately after his resignation under fire at Vanderbilt earlier this month. There were immediate reports that he woud join the Tarheel staff although Edwards claimed he only came to visit his old friend, UNC Athletics Chairman O. K. Cornwell. Cornwell was athletic director at Wittenberg, Ohio college when Edwards was a star lineman there in 1931.

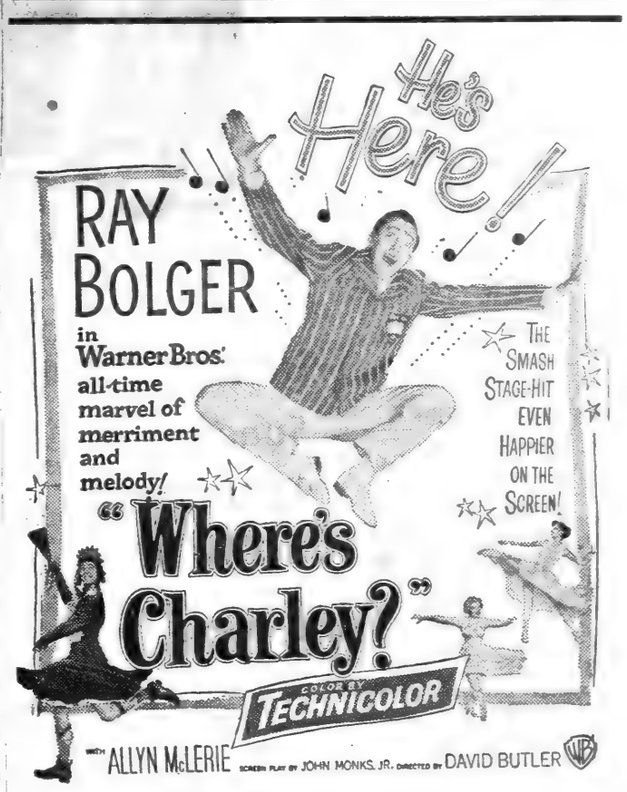
His appointment was approved Monday by the UNC board of trustees and was announced by Chancellor Robert B. House and Athletic Director C. P. (Chuck) Erickso nlast night.

Edwards, 47, coached Vanderbilt teams to 21 wins, 19 losses and two ties in four years at Nashville. Often the engineer of an upet, he was unable to whip Vandy's most-hated rival, the Universit yof Tennessee, and there was constant discontent after Tennessee thrashed Edwards' last Commodore eleven soundly in the final game of the 1951 season.

Edwards was replaced at Vanderbilt by former University of Virginia Coach Arthur L. Guepe.

"I'm very pleased," Barclay said. "I now have two assistants who have been head college coaches and also with experience in professional football." Line coach Marvin Bass is a former William and Mary head coach and served as an aide with the pro Washington Redskins.

Edwards went to Vanderbilt from the staff of Paul Brown, head coach of the pro Cleveland Browns. Earlier Edwards coached at Western Reserve where his undefeated team once played in the Sun Bowl. In 1941 he was head coach of the Detroit Lions.



Barclay announced that pring practice will begin March 21 and set the traditional Blue-White game closing spring practice, for April 18.

ATO's Win In Mural Semifinals

Superior height and more accurate shooting enabled the ATO's to beat DKE yesterday afternoon 60-29, in the semifinals of the intramural basketball tournament. The fast-breaking ATO's had too much speed and ability for the Deke's and after the first few minutes the score was never close.

Roger Kingsbury, who played both center and forward, made his shots with regularity and was high scorer with 26 points. Bill Kirkman was runner-up for scoring honors with 14.

Renny Randolph, usually a high-scoring guard for the ATO's, was held to one field goal on a nice job of guarding by Pete Sprague.

Carolina

—PLUS—
COLOR CARTOON
LATEST NEWS

—Express Yourself—

(Continued from Page 2)

ing and engineering is federally controlled. Tidewater water-ways are federally maintained and controlled. This seems to me to be adequate legality, as legality goes, and certainly makes the ruling seem unarbitrary.

Ideally, perhaps, there are better methods of preventing this generation from passing on a devastated country to its children, but we will not find that better method by thinking in terms which, used during the nineteenth and so far in the twentieth century, have littered the west with exhausted oil fields, made stumplands where timber grew, have cost the people billions of dollars in flood control and rehabilitation. Private enterprise has shown itself, in every instance, to be irresponsible towards natural resources: government control has effected the only conservation.

Not a great admirer of Truman, this reader is willing, nay, anxious to applaud at least one step in the right direction.

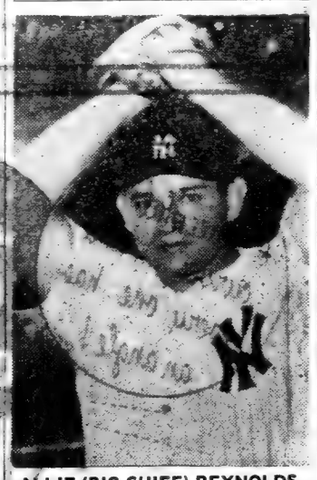
Peeps

MURALS

Today's Soccer

4:00—Sigma Chi 1 vs Phi Delt; field 2, ATO 2 vs KA 2; field 3, Joyner vs Ruffin 2.

5:00—Field 1, Delta Psi vs Kappa Sig; field 2, Lambda Chi 3 vs Zeta Psi 2; field 3, Law School vs Ruffin 1.



Today's Table Tennis

4:00—Sigma Nu 2 vs Kappa Sig 1.
4:30—Zete 1 vs PiKA 1.
5:00—ATO 1 vs SPE 3.
5:30—Chi Phi 1 vs Sigma Nu 1.
7:30—Med School 2 vs Alexander.
7:30—Med School 3 vs Winston.
8:00—Ruffin vs Med School 1.

Alpha Epsilon Delta

Alpha Epsilon Delta pre-medical fraternity will hold its bi-weekly meeting in Swain Hall tonight at 7:30. A movie pertaining to medicine will be shown.

WASHINGTON—The State Department yesterday suspended the chief of its Voice of America broadcasting division. It said he disregarded an order forbidding use of material from Communist and fellow traveler writers. The official was Alfred H. Morton, chief of the International Broadcasting Service, at New York.

ALLIE (BIG CHIEF) REYNOLDS, New York Yankee pitcher, has gone on the warpath against his club in protest against his proposed salary. Reynolds, who wouldn't come to terms with Yank general manager George Weiss because he wanted more wampum, has returned to his Oklahoma City home, saying he won't stay around the Yanks' training site at St. Petersburg, Fla., "doing nothing."—NEA Telephoto.

Ex-Tar Heels Congregate In Hawaii

LCDR G. Edward French, who served for four years on the Naval ROTC State here, recently wrote the Alumni Office sending news of North Carolinians he had seen while on duty at Pearl Harbor.

Vic Seixas was among the North Carolinians seen by French at Pearl Harbor. Seixas was in Hawaii last week to play an exhibition match with fellow U. S. Davis Cupper Straight Clark.

Seton Hall Leads Poll Sixth Time

Undefeated Seton Hall, with 26 straight victories and only four games to play, held the No. 1 position in the Associated Press basketball rankings yesterday for the sixth straight week.

In beating Villanova and Loyola of Chicago last week, Coach Honey Russel's team managed to keep a slim margin over the No. 2 team, Indiana, who has been getting closer and closer each week.

The Pirates received only 32 of the 113 first-place votes cast but showed enough balanced strength to gain a slender 12 point advantage over the second-place Hoosiers.

In the weekly basketball poll conducted by the United Press of it's board of coaches, Indiana was chosen as the No. 1 team in preference to Seton Hall.

Of the 35 leading coaches who make up the United Press rating board, all but one picked Indiana either first, second or third on his ballot this week. The Hoosiers, with 18 first place votes, 11 seconds, five thirds and oue fourth, thus compiled a total of 326 out of a possible 350 points.

Indiana has a record of 16 wins and 2 losses.

Special Group Appointed To Report On Bond Issue

President Ham Horton yesterday announced the appointment of a special committee to investigate the possibilities of a bond issue to cover expenses of a new student union.

The committee is composed of Ken Penegar, Bill Roth, and Jimmy Wallace.

The committee is "empowered to do anything in its power to promote the issue of the necessary bonds," President Horton said. A report on possibilities of such an issue is expected by March 9.

What Goes On Here

SUAB Meetilng

The Special Services Committee of SUAB will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Roland Parker Lounge of Graham Memorial.

Bible Study

The Bible Study Group will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the YMCA. The 13th chapter of Corinthians I will be studied. Interested persons are invited to attend.

Alpha Kappa Psi

There will be a regular business meeting of Alpha Kappa Psi tonight at 7 o'clock in the chapter house.

Phi Eta Sigma

Phi Eta Sigma, honorary scholastic fraternity, will hold initiation ceremonies tonight at 7 o'clock in the Di Hall.

WUNC

The following is today's program schedule for WUNC, a non-commercial FM radio station, operating on an assigned frequency of 91.5 mc. and 1450 watts:

7 p.m.—Holland Calling.
7:15—The UN Story.
7:30—Anyone You Know.
7:45—Famous Belgians.
8—The Jeffersonian Heritage.
8:30—Masterworks from France.
9—Concert Favorites.
9:30—Everybody's Business.
10—News and coming events.
10:15—An evening masterwork.

The Recollections of
Alexis de Tocqueville
Statesman and political philosopher, de Tocqueville has left us the astonishing inside story of France and the Revolution of 1848.
Another Intimate Bookshop Bargain At
$1.25
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Evenings

HEARTS WERE FLUTTERING over Chapel Hill recently when a shower of hearts dropped from the air as a part of the annual $10,000 drive for funds being contducted by the Durham-Orange County Heart Association. In the picture left to right are Mayor E. J. Evans and Dillard Teer of Durham; Robert Daughtridge, Fred Crawford, Helen Gufstafson, Jim Page, Lane Buckley, Jane Berryhill, Jean Gould, Mary Elizabeth Rodgers, Connie Moore and Clarence Heer, all of Chapel Hill; Rodney Hudson, pilot, and Ed Higgins of Durham, who served as narrator on the flight.—Photo Courtesy Durham Sun.

Tomlinson Talks About Card Playing, Dating

(Continued from page 1)

events of the day."

And such events they were!

The Phi Assembly of today, no less sedate for its fiery discussions of everything from Motherhood to the Red Cross, has never witnessed an event such as The Great Gun Battle of 1841 to which the diarist refers. Tomlinson records that he was a witness to the Phi Hall event which approached mayhem one September night in 1841.

Apparently the debates or the weather that night were warmer than usual, for towards the end of the session a Mr. Bunch took exception to a Mr. Rice's brushing him with his leg.

"Not so intimate, if you please," said Mr. Bunch, with scorn in his voice.

"Blankety blankety blank," replied Rice, even scornier.

"Here, here," interrupted the moderator, adding official scorn.

Things seemed to cool off then, for Bunch withdrew from the room. The debates continude. But about an hour later Bunch returned, armed with a pistol. Rice, who had somehow come into possession of a firearm, determined to duel on equal grounds.

However, as soon as Bunch revealed his weapon, the gentlemen of the dignified society grabbed both him and his adversary. They were summarily invited to remove themselves from the hall.

Next morning after breakfast, Rice hurried to Bunch's boarding house armed as on the night before.

"A fight in the street ensued, in the presence of many students, in the course of which Bunch's pistol was discharged, and Rice's cane was used freely, his pistol having dropped from his pocket. The pistol of each was charged with three buck shot."

The Phi was understandably shocked by this breach of the gentlemanly code and expelled both the men from its society. The faculty, equally shocked, expelled them from the University.

But all was not unpleasant for young Tomlinson and his fellows. There were those comfortable evenings passed singing in the parlor of the Eagle Hotel.

(To be continued.)

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE 6B

FRENCH IN 20 LESSONS—COMplete Cortina set of 12-inch records with lesson book, reading manual and dictionary. A good way of learning French. $40. Write H. S. Milligan, Box 156, Windsor, N. C.
Charge 1 x 1

FOR SALE: 1948 DELUXE 4-DOOR Chevrolet (black) Telephone 5392 between 5-6 P.M.

ATTENTION FRATERNITIES AND Sororities: One water-cooled cocacola drink machine. Perfect condition. Call Cadet Maj. Foushee Ph. 9-9001.

HELP WANTED

WANTED: CLERK STENOGRApher GS 3 rating 3,000 per annum. Apply NROTC Armory Phone 7246.

Hall To Speak Sunday Night To Unitarians

Dr. Everett Hall, chairman of the Department of Philosophy, will discuss "The Impact of Science on Society" at a meeting of the Unitarian Fellowship Sunday night at 8:30.

The meeting, which will be held in the YWCA lounge, will be informal and general discussion will follow Dr. Hall's talk. The public is invited.

The subject of Dr. Hall's address is the title of Bertrand Russell's recent book and the book will be used as a point of departure. Dr. Hall will discuss the rise of the scientific method and its significance for values social and individual; the questioning of goals and values; and possible bases and sources in modern times.

Dr. Hall came here this year from the University of Iowa. He is a graduate of Lawrence College, Wisconsin, and has a Ph.D. from Cornell.

'The Good Lady Of Setzuan' Opens Thursday Night At 8

(Continued from page 1)

riage Proposal."

